Sudan Beacon News VOLUME 54 SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS; THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1978

How It Looks From Here By: Ray Freedman

A considerable number of people in this country get killed by guns that aren't loaded and drivers who are. ******

It is useless to hold a person to anything he says while he's madly in love, drunk or running for office.

If you could sell your experience for what it's worth, you would not need Social Security. ******

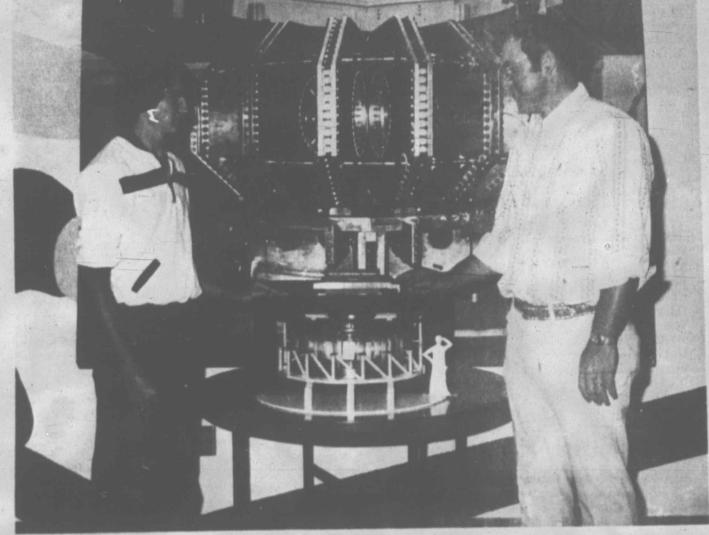

Probably most of us are saving a silent "Bravo" to those courageous folks in California who have set the stage for a major tax reform with their mini tax revolt. Possibly this is the catalyst needed to push our elected officials toward fulfilling some of their empty promises about reducing the burden of paying for the give-away programs.

There are, believe it or not, some elected officials who are truly interested in preserving some of the honesty that they promised prior to election. According to some news reports, Sen. Edward Zorinsky (Democrat from Nebraska) has returned more than $300,000 in unspent salary and office-expense allotments to the U.S. Treasury.

The senator said "I received $460,000 per year for. office funds, and due to my past business experience, I always look for the cost benefit ratio, particularly the expenditure of hard-earned taxpayers' money

'I don't believe in spending tax dollars simply because they are there. I believe one must spend just what is needed to get the job done ... I'm hoping that the first piece of legislation passed is that of balancing the budget of this nation which, in my estimation would resolve the biggest problem facing our countryuncontrolled inflation.

Maybe this is a precedent setting movement that the rest of our elected officials will follow:

Hosts RCA Meet

An open public meeting was held Thursday, June 1, at the Lamb County Court House in response to the RCA Act signed by President Carter in 1977. A slide show on the RCA Act and the history of SCS, its partnership with state and local agencies, conservation districts, and the individual land users was shown. Those attending the meeting voiced their views on what they considered to be major conservation problems in Lamb County.

The RCA Act (Resource Conservation Act) provides for public views to be considered as data and authority in systematically developing, funding, evaluating and keeping current soil and water conservation programs that are in the best long-term interest of the nation and its people. Former National Association of Conservation Districts President George Bagley said, "The enactment of Puplic Law 95-192 (RCA) is a milestone for conservation districts. It provides the best opportunity we have had in a long time to wake up the American people to conservation needs and to put federal funds where they can do the most good.' Those unable to attend the meeting are encouraged to send or bring a statement of their views on conservation to the SCS office in the Court House or mail to SCS. Box 912, Littlefield, Tc «as. Oral statements by telephone will also be accepted. Getting involved in soil and water conservation now will provide for more effective programs in the furture.

There's Fish In Them Thar Chug Holes

FISHING IN SUDAN-Have you ever wished for a fishing hole close by? Sudan has one! Have you fallen into a chug hole lately on the streets of Sudan? Sudan has many!! Has your car been practically torn up from hitting these chug holes? Have you had to call a wrecker to pull your car out of one? Back to the fishing hole-Above is pictured a local boy with about an eight inch catfish from one such chug hole at the corner of 2nd and Wilson Streets. The city has begun work on the holes that were caused from the extreme cold weather we experienced this winter, but until the work has been completed, drive carefully!!!

The costs of labor, materials and other items necessary to the company's operations continue to skyrocket. Despite the fact that we have adopted programs for cutting expenses and capital expenditures, it becomes increasingly difficult for us to keep up with these rapidly rising costs.

Although we have been operating in a highly inflationary atmosphere for the past several years, there has been no general increase in SPS electric rates since 1974. Now however, we are forced to seek rate relief if we are to continue to provide the electric service needs of our customers

Our goal is to provide the best possible service at lowest possible cost, now and in the future. The increase in our rates that we have requested will allow us to realize that goal

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor, Since the people of Sudan have become interested in cleaning up our city, there has been a few blocks that have been overlooked.

The cotton trailers that have been left on the gin yards since ginning season was over several months ago, are very unsightly and a big nuisance to the residents in this area. When the wind blows, at least one gets blown out into the streets and has to be moved or the driver of vehicles either have to go around it or hit it. They have to call someone to come move them out of the streets.

Perhaps the farmers dc not realize just how unsightly these become week after week and or into months .. weed grow up under themmakes a great place for breeding mosquitos-and these trailers are dangerous as well. When the wind blows like it does in Sudan, the trailers are blown out into the streets and can cause a wreck. We residents do not mind these trailers during the ginning season but the rest of the year it is terrible to have to look at them or to have to go around them when they have been blown out into the streets. It would be nice for the farmers to come get their trailers and take them to their farms where they belong until next ginning season.

We want our area of the community to look nice also.

> Thanks Name Withheld

Another "gripe" that has been called to attention is the dogs roaming around town or loose. Dogs-can be a nuisance to others, such as messing in other people's yards, digging in one can not take a restful nap or watch TV or even carry on a conversation with another person in the same room, for all the 'revving" up and constant noise of these vehicles. At times it sounds as if they are right in the middle of your living rooms. There is so much noice from these that it even messes up the television sets. Maybe these "Bike Enthusiasts" need to be a little more considerate of others-there are those who can watch TV only on weekends and there are times when people try to take a Saturday or Sunday afternoon nap or perhaps have been or are ill and need a rest but what happens- A bunch of bikers revving up their motors and going around and around !!!! Perhaps the license law should be applied or maybe the enthusiasts need to find a place out of city limits to ride these noise makers. It surely would be appreciated by all who have to listen to them almost every night in the week besides all Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evening Name with held.

From Your Agent. John Farris

FERTILIZER NEEDED FOR TOP HAY PRODUCTION-Most Texas farmers and ranchers are faced with empty hay barns and need to harvest a bumper crop this year. However, that potential depends on two things, fertilizer and rain.

Producers can't do much about the moisture situation unless they have an irrigation system. However, they can and should fertilize their hay crops.

There are several reasons why producers shouldn't spare the fertilizer on hay crops this year. In addition to the hay shortage, cattle prices are up, which means that a good supply of hay will pay dividends this fall and winter. Also, fertilizer prices are reasonable and supplies are adequate.

Chances of rainfall remain good during June before the hot summer sets in. So fertilizer should be applied as soon as possible to take advantage of any moisture that comes. Of course, waiting on rain before fertilizing will not help much. If the rain doesn't come, all is not lost. Most of the fertilizer usually remains for _rain that will come sooner or later. Not nearly as much of the fertilizer is lost as is commonly thought by many procucers.

As producers get involved in hay production they need to keep the 1978 Texas State Hay Show in mind. This year's show will be November 4 at Austin. Producers will want to give special attention to producing and harvesting top quality hay for their livestock as well as for entry in the state show.

PESTICIDE SAFETY STRESSED-Tis' the season when everyone gets into the act of using pesticides. Ten points for safety pesticide use are:

1. Keep all prestcides in their original labeled container and always avoid transferring to containers ordinarily used for soft drinks or fruit juices.

2. Enforce a "no-play" rule for children when using pesticides. A couple of "no-no's" will certainly be better than the "Oh, no!" In fact, there's really no reason for anyone else to be in the larea when you're mixing or applying pesticides.

3. Pesticide safety actually starts long before you buy a particular pesticide for a problem at home. It's based on a great amount of scientific knowledge developed by industry scientists, government agencies, fieldmen and many others. All this knowledge is boiled down into the wording you find on the container label. This label is a legal document and the directions must be followed. To fail to do this is taking a needless and perhaps costly chance.

4. Never trust your memory. Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label! If you can't or won't follow directions, you really shouldn't be using any pesticide. Each is scientifically designed to give best results at the exact rate specified on the label.

5. There are many different kinds of pests so it takes many different types of pesticides with specific formulations for proper contro Thus, the homeowner can be selective in choosing, liquids, dusts, granules or powders, depending upon equipment available and the nature of the pest problem.

6. Don't apply the aspirin theory, that if one is good, then twice as much will be better. It simply isn't true with pesticides and could cause poor results or other problems. Use only the recommended amount.

7. When handling concentrated materials, it's a good idea to follow the lead of professionals and wear gloves and goggles. This cuts down on the possibility of contaminating your hands or getting the concentrated material in your eyes.

8. When using a pesticide, apply only to the areas needing treatment and avoid walking through the treated areas as much as possible by spraying slightly to the side. If it is too windy to avoid drift, wait for a calmer time. The label will also tell you whether you should avoid making applications during extreme temperature conditions.

9. Proper disposal of all containers will avoid environmental eyesores and possible damage to the environment and wild creatures. The key to proper use and disposal of containers is in mixing only the amount of material you need to do the job. And remember never to pour unused amounts of any such material down the drain. It could cause problems when it reaches a stream. Rinse empty containers three times and add each rinse to the spray application.

10. Final cleanup is important. Wash and bathe thoroughly and give special attention to cleaning and checking your equipment to make sure it's in good condition the next time you need it.

The grant will allow the State to weatherize an estimated additional 2,150 homes of low-income persons under a plan developed by the Texas Department of Community Affairs. Texas began the DOE Weatherization Program in October, 1977.

'The Texas Weatherization Program for the low-income citizens is a significant program that will not only conserve energy but will also assist greatly in lowering the energy costs of elderly and handicapped Texans," said Carlson.

AND ANLAN MEACON NEWS, THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1978

The third chapter was written June 7 in the story of regulations determining eligibility for prevented planting payments under the 1977 Farm Act.

First, from the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, in April, there were-reasonable and fair guidelines. These would have provided producer protection against unseasonable conditions -- as Congress intended.

Then, on May 25 in the waning days of the required planting period, from Washington, came a directive that was impractical and unfair. It would have required senseless planting of other crops after the required cotton planting date, thus denying producers the protection envisioned by the law.

Now, there's something in between.

Following Washington's ill-advised action May 25, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, by telegram and telephone, protested. Repeated conversations with USDA high-ups brought contradictory responses and assertions of good intentions.

And, at long last, action. The State ASCS office in College Station was authorized June 7 - well past the May 31 required planting date - to issue a "clarification" of Washington's May 25 communication. Although late, some producers may yet see some benefit from the prevented planting section of the 1977

As received by PCG in a telephone conversation with the state office, the new instructions to county ASCS offices read as follows.

"Producers are expected to plant other non-conserving crops (after being unable to plant cotton prior to May 31) to the extent that:

"(1) Moisture is available for the planting of such crops during the normal planting period for the crop;

"(2) Non-conserving crops that can be planted are normal to the area;

"(3) Equipment is available for the production of other non-conserving crops;

"(4) Non-conserving crops normal for the area are tolerant to herbicides that were applied to the land in preparation for planting the intended crop this year;

"(5) Other non-conserving crops normal to the area are normally grown on the type soil and under cultural practices normally carried out on the farm.

"For example, a producer would not be expected to plant soybeans under dryland conditions if soybeans grown in the area are irrigated. The term cultural practices does not include rotation in the sense of Fall and Spring seeded crops." Each producer who has not been able to plant, say PCG officials, whether too wet or too dry, should consult with his county ASCS office for any change these new instructions may bring about in his particular circumstance.

is a great concern to many parents. They tend to worry if their youngster is eating too little or too much. However, a very important aspect of young people's dietary habits may be overlooked - the nutritional value. of the food he or she is eating. So says Dr. Albert H. Domm
