Storm Proof Cotton Demonstration Held At Tech Farm During Thunderstorm

Superiority of storm proof cotton varieties were graphically demonstrated on the Texas Technological College farm during a recent severe thunderstorm, according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the college plant industry department.

DENTIST
Phone 133
LEVELLAND, TEXAS

Hard driving rain over a brief period caused heavy damage to open cotton of the ordinary varieties, but bolls grown from improved storm proof seed, developed recently by the agricultural experiment station at Lubbock, showed virtually no damage, Dr. Young stated.

Principal advantage of planting storm proof cotton is that farmers will be able to wait until all bolls in the field are open and

Wide Use Of DDT Spray Effective In Killing Flies

From all sections of the state, county agents are reporting to Extension Service headquarters at Texas A. and M. College that the wide use of DDT spray is mowing down houseflies right and left. People are commenting that they "don't have flies" like they used to—and many of the agents are convinced that DDT is doing it.

The long-lasting—or residual—quality of DDT is the factor that seems to be spelling death for houseflies. The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine—in experimental work with DDT—worked the new angle to DDT spraying, taking advantage of this residual effect. The Bureau's scientists found that by spraying surfaces where flies walk or rest, the insects could be killed off as long as three to six months after the spray was applied. Five percent DDT solutions in oils or water was the spray mixture they used.

The Bureau, reporting now on research work in housefly control carried on since 1943, says that through wide-spread use of residual-type DDT sprays, the housefly problem can be almost totally eliminated from farms and villages, even under the most difficult conditions.

"THE HEAVENLY ROAD"

Speaking of the Heavenly Road, we find that it is the Christian way of life. There are so many today that are not able to understand this way of living and have never traveled on this road. In traveling the Heavenly Road we have one guide that we can place all confidence in. When we are not traveling this road that is proof that we have not placed any confidence in the Master at all.

First, the Heavenly Road is a joyful road. Many today think that to be a Christian one must give up every thing and there

Winter Grazing Requested To Save Feed Grains

It's going to take plenty of winter and spring grazing during the months ahead if we're all going to fall in line with President Truman's request to save feed grains. When we've got that grazing out there, we'll of course save a lot of grain that would ordinarily go to fatten livestock.

E. A. Miller, Extension agronomist of Texas A. and M. College, offers us a few pointers on planting winter grain crops... and he says as soon as we get enough moisture in the ground, forage crops can go into the soil. If the land is not too hard, he says, it's safe to go ahead and plant even in dry soil. The seed will germinate then, when it finally rains.

Grazing crops differ, of course, from grain we'd plant for harvesting. It can be planted a lot thicker... which will provide more forage.

Oats, wheat, barley, rye and Italian rye grass are good winter grazing crops. And a mixture of oats, wheat and barley makes a good combination for grazing when you don't plan to harvest. With this mixture, the barley provides more grazing in the fall and early winter, while the oats and wheat will usually offer good grazing in the spring. Rye, especially abuzzi and halbo, are good crops on the sandy soils of East Texas and the West Cross Timbers area.

And don't forget the value of vetch or other winter legumes, which can be planted with grain to improve the grazing. Over a large area of Texas, hairy vetch is planted with rye or other grain crops for seed production and soil improvement as well as grazing.

In the southern half of Texas, when enough moisture is in the soil, hubam and annual yellow blossom sweet clovers are first rate crops... also good for grazing, seed and soil improvement.

Mr. Miller would like to see us all take advantage of winter and spring grazing. We need to save that badly-needed grain... and at the same time we'll be cutting down on the cost of livestock production.

"Something out of fairyland," says 3-year-old Rue Howell, of Dallas, at sight of the jeweled birthday cake, valued at $100,000, prepared for Arthur Everts, pioneer Dallas business man, on his Golden Anniversary celebration. Kue is 3 1/2 feet tall, while the cake measures over four feet. Iced with gold and blue sugar frosting, festooned with pearls and garlanded with diamonds, sapphires and other precious gems, the rare confection is the sort little girls dream of but seldom see except in fairy tales.

The Lubbock station distributed small amounts of the new improved seed last year for production of seed blocks. Dr. Young said, and interested parties can find out where to obtain seed of these varieties by contacting the experiment station.

HOME FOR THE AGED

Bill's retired

And he's only six months old! Yes, the Treasury Department says the average dollar bill holds up only about half a year before it goes to pieces!

But any housewife can tell you the life expectancy of a greenback is even shorter than that. When a dollar goes to market nowadays, it lasts hardly any time at all—and seems to buy less

But don't forget electricity! Actually the service you get for your electric dollar is just about the biggest bargain in your budget. If yours is an average Plains family, that dollar buys you about twice as much electricity as it did 15 years ago!

Break it down into terms of service, and that little greenback lasts a long while. It can run a radio for 100 evenings—or do your family wash for 5 months—or tell you the correct time for more than a year and a half! It'll even vacuum clean 500 rugs—or brew you 1,000 cups of coffee!

No matter what service you want it to perform for you, that electric dollar has a very long life, indeed!

We read of many accidents today of every kind, where life is lost. Homes are being broken up, hearts are filled with sorrow and eyes are dimmed with tears but on this road these things will not happen.

Fourth, the end is home. There is a day of rejoicing in the future for those who travel on this road. We are going to reach the end of the way and be at home with our Lord. The tragical thing is, that so many are not traveling in this way and the end will mean eternal death and separation from God. There are two roads through life, the broad and the narrow. Two classes, the many and the few. Two destinations, destruction and life. Two accounts, profit and loss. Neighbor, check on will be no joy at all. The Psalmist said, "My soul shall be joyful in his salvation." Solomon tells us in Proverbs that this is a joyful road and that it is a joy to travel with the Lord. Jesus stated in Luke 15:7, that there is more joy in Heaven over one sinner that repents than over ninety and nine just persons. Many other places in God's word verifies the fact that this is a joyful road.

Second, there is plenty of room on this road. Math. 7:13-14, "Enter ye in at the straight gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in there at. Because straight is the gate and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life; and few there be that find it." Do not stand back just because you think that there will not be room enough, or that it might be crowded. There are so few on this road that there will be plenty of room.

Third, there will be no accidents on this road. We are taught that he will give his Angels charge over us, to keep us in all the way. Jesus said a short time before he was crucified, that he would send the Spirit and that he would guide us in all truths.

FERGUSON HERE TUESDAY ENROUTE TO THEIR HOME

Dr. and Mrs. Travis Ferguson and daughters, Jane and Carol were in Morton Tuesday enroute to their home in Albuquerque, New Mexico. They had been visiting their parents in Slaton.

The Ferguson family formerly lived in Morton, moving to Albuquerque a few months ago where the doctor is associated with an osteopathic hospital.

BOYCE HOUSE

'Gives You Texas'

Remember they told us consumers that if the government would just remove the controls we would have lots of houses for the veterans and plenty of meat and an abundance of new cars and of course the newspapers would have all the paper they needed—also that prices would level off?

Hans Christian Anderson isn't the only one who could make up fairy tales.

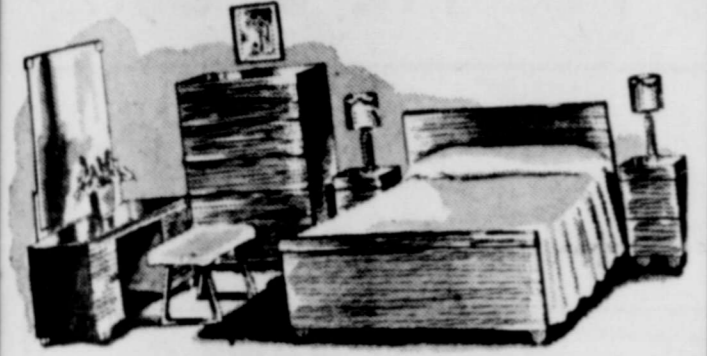

At the recent Palo Pinto County old settlers' reunion, I met Sam Savage who, when a boy, was carried off by the Indians and lived with them about a year before being freed.

Also at the reunion was Gib Abernathy, veteran peace officer. One day, while I was a reporter on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Abernathy was a Texas Ranger, he walked into the office and asked for me. Told it would be several hours before I reported for duty, he declined all efforts to get him to talk but just said, "Tell Boyce to get in touch with me." I did—and obtained a "scoop", in fact a double one. A hermit who lived in a tent had been murdered and Gib not only told me about that but he also had the slayer under arrest—a quick cleanup of a mystery.

"I'd rather know a little less than to know so much that ain't so."

Whiteface Seniors Soliciting Ads For School Annual

Whiteface seniors were in Morton Wednesday soliciting advertising for their school annual.

The school annual is an integral part of the student's last year in school; a record of school activities, pictures of classmates and teachers, plus personal items of special interest to those finishing school.

Advertisers who contract for space in the annual are effectively saying "We appreciate the opportunity for rendering service to this group."

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS WAA

Agricultural representatives for the War Assets Administration are encouraging the purchase of war surplus explosive agents for the use of farmers, ranchers and construction men. Approximately one million pounds of both TNT and demolition blocks, stored at the Red River Arsenal, are now on the surplus property market at low prices per pound or block.

Contrary to popular belief, handling of the powerful TNT has been demonstrated to be somewhat safer than dynamite, for example. The place for complete details and ordering of either type of the surplus explosives is the WAA's Customer Service Center, Grand Prairie.

World War II veterans will find it profitable to call in person at the Grand Prairie Customer Center when they are in the vicinity of Dallas or Ft. Worth. A new veterans counter for the sale of set-aside items on a cash and carry basis has been added to the center's facilities. Whenever supplies of these items become available, they are immediately placed on sale in the center, and rationed out to each veteran customer. No certification is needed other than discharge papers or other proof of service. Although such supplies have been quite limited this far, quantities of blankets, watches and clothing items have already been distributed over this veterans counter.

A survey of war surplus inventories in Texas indicated this week that while present stocks of personal property are comparatively small, the amount of real property, particularly camp buildings, available for sale in the area will be considerable in the coming weeks. Present disposal plans give priority groups the opening option period on such property, with buildings and plants then offered on a non-priority basis to the public at large.

A "We, the People" radio program in which the former "Dr. I. Q." outlined his plans for entering the ministry has resulted in the acquisition of a surplus Camp Bowie chapel by the Eastland, Texas, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. A member of the Grand Prairie WAA Information officer listening to the broadcast by Rev. James McCallin, former network announcer, mailed him a letter inviting consideration of his new congregation to the Brownwood camp's chapels, and the transaction followed.

First step in the disposal of another big Texas military installation, Camp Swift, at Bastrop, was undertaken this week with announcement that priority groups have until October 27 to claim some 2,150 buildings and 715 acres at the site. In accordance with WAA's new disposal plan, any real property not disposed of to governmental groups and non-profit institutions within the initial period later will be offered to the public at informal bidding.

Sanger Bros. Hunting Twin For Celebration

Will you be 90 years old on November 7, or thereabouts? A substantial birthday surprise awaits any Texan, or Texans, now residing within the state and whose birth date was November 7, 1857, the date from which stems the coming 90th anniversary of establishment of Sanger Bros., in Texas.

In the event none is found whose birth date coincides with that of this fine retail Texas institution, then the November date nearest November 7 will be honored.

"Texas has become the greatest of all of the states because of the thrift and perseverance of hardy pioneers. Therefore, Sanger Bros., proud of the confidence long held in this store, is anxious to celebrate jointly with its twin, or twins, and out of which will come worthwhile recognition for our guest or guests," declared E. P. Simmons, president of the firm.

Because birth certificates seldom are available for such a distant date, reasonable proof should be available from a family Bible, insurance policy, or some public record.

Information should be sent immediately to Eli Sanger, Sanger Bros., Dallas 2, Texas, and must arrive not later than Saturday, November 1.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

Loafer Type Shoes Often To Blame For Heel Dragging

Loafer type shoes are often to blame when girls develop the habit of dragging their heels when they walk, according to Miss Sue Rainey, associate professor of physical education for women at Texas Technological College.

Miss Rainey pointed out that when shoes do not fit snugly at the heels, many girls drag their feet rather than exercise toe muscles to hold shoes on. The habit persists even when dress shoes are worn, causing some coeds to "look like they are walking through loose sand or a plowed field all the time," she stated.

Suggestion: Walk through loose sand or plowed field all the time so you'll look natural; or, exercise those toe muscles; or, buy a new pair of shoes.

Cotton Still Rules

"If we, in the rayon industry, could find a synthetic substitute as good as cotton we would be well pleased." That statement was made by an executive of a large rayon industry in a frank discussion of the merits of his product versus cotton.

America is first in the consumption of cotton, averaging 8,000,000 bales per year. Clothing of various styles and designs, fabric for use in conjunction with other materials and a tremendous variety of ornamental articles can be made from cotton.

The advent of new products, which have competitive potentialities, are making it imperative for farmers to increase the grade and staple of cotton to compete with the new industry.

Principal factors determining cotton grades are color, leaf trash, other foreign matter and ginning preparation.

At the beginning of the harvest season, unpicked cotton usually is of high grade, bright in color, and carries no great amount of leaf. Cotton left in the field very long after the bolls open becomes darker and dull in color as a result of exposure to the sun and wind, thus lowering the grade.

Spinners are concerned over the presence of foreign matter in cotton, since there is much less waste to cotton containing little or no foreign matter. Plant leaves, stems, seed coat fragments and sand and dust lower the grade.

Cotton picked and ginned when dry have the marked advantage of being a high priced product.

Put newspapers under grass or fiber rugs to prevent dirt from seeping through. On cleaning day remove the newspapers which have caught the dirt.

ADDING MACHINE PAPER AT THE TRIBUNE OFFICE.

Veterans' Jobs

It is an unknown problem how many Texas veterans are entitled by law to get their old job back. Veterans Reemployment Rights Committee, with Governor Jester as Chief, is under the U. S. Department of Labor and is the only phase of the Selective Service Act continued after last March 31.

At present the VRRD has 241 contested reemployment rights cases and 30 more are in the hands of the U. S. District Attorney at Dallas. More important is the fact that a number of veterans throughout Texas either have rights they do not know about or do not know how to exercise their rights.

Under the extended phase of the Selective Service Act, a veteran is entitled to reemployment at his old job if he applies for it within 90 days after his discharge or after he leaves the hospital. He may not be laid off without cause for a year after he returns to work. The law applies to veterans who served after May 1, 1940.

At present volunteer Reemployment Rights Committees of outstanding citizens are being appointed to arbitrate between veterans and their former employers. If negotiations fail to settle any case, the veteran may refer it to the VRRD headquarters in Dallas. The final step, providing the veteran himself so desires, is action through the federal courts by the federal district attorney.

This may seem a bit too drastic a step to take but a veteran who has been separated from a concern for seven years often has a difficult problem to solve when he seeks reemployment. Rotten apples in the barrel have spoiled the relationship between the veteran and employer.

A veteran with a grudge against his employer is a nuisance and worthless to the concern. Employers have been known to use various methods to provoke the veteran into terminating his employment.

In the majority of cases there has been no conflict between the two groups. Being an employer doesn't make the individual a heel, neither does the possession of a discharge create a new character.

Social Security Official To Visit Morton Oct. 30

Elliott W. Adams, Social Security Administration Representative, will be in Morton at the U. S. Post Office at 11:00 a. m. on Thursday, October 30, 1947, for the purpose of answering any questions you may have on Social Security; discussing possible benefits and taking claims from persons who seem to be entitled to benefits; and taking applications for Social Security account number cards.

Upon the death of a worker who paid social security taxes, his next of kin should check with the Social Security Administration office, Lubbock, Texas. They may be eligible for payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Use Plenty Of Raisins In Menu; High In Calories

Take advantage of the liberal supply of raisins on your grocer's shelf this fall and use them as a food that's high in calories, calcium and iron as well as one that's appetizing to every member of your family.

Louise Mason, specialist in food preparation for the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, suggests using raisins in pie, cake, cookies, in bread and rice pudding, cup cakes, gingerbread and candies.

She says, too, that they add to the sauce or stuffing for your poultry or meat—especially in a fruit sauce served with baked ham.

Select the type of raisins for the recipe you're going to use. The small seedless type is used generally in puddings, mincemeat, fruit cakes; the larger raisins may be preferred for their dried in bunches, and especially packed and sold as a dessert delicacy.

Delegates Invited To Attend Annual Workshop At Tech

About 75 delegates representing home economics clubs in 34 colleges and universities in Texas have been invited to attend the annual workshop of the American Home Economics association department of college clubs, province 10, at Texas Technological College Oct. 30 through Nov. 1.

The program includes panel discussions, lectures and group discussions as well as a series of social activities. Delegates will present exhibits and scrapbooks depicting club activities during the year.

You can't beat Mother Nature!

Nature's Finest!

The Alaskan "Brownie" has been known to weigh up to 1500 pounds. Largest of the grizzly bear family (Ursus horribilis) it is mainly carnivorous . . . the strongest and fiercest of all American mammals.

The Crude Is The Answer To Phillips 66 Fine Motor Oils

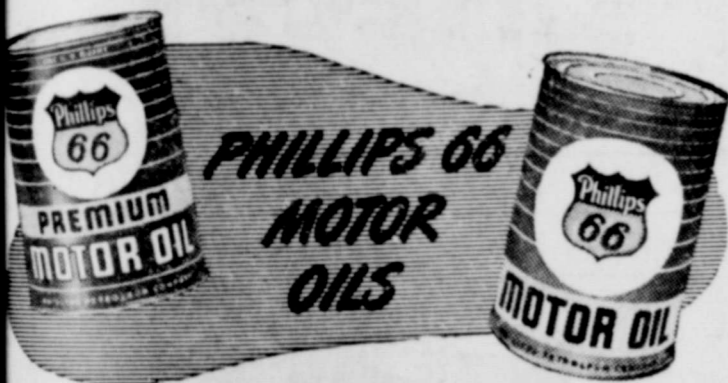

Nature outdid herself when she produced the great Alaskan Brown Bear, and she was doing a mighty fine job when she made the crudes that go into Phillips 66 Motor Oils!

Ask any oil man what that means in terms of protection for your engine. Yes, a fine crude . . . plus Phillips expert refining and practical experience . . . all these factors together turn out a smooth, tough, sturdy lubricant that's able to do a real lubricating job in your motor.

Phillips 66 Premium Oil is a brand new Phillips product. Detergent type and corrosion-resistant, Phillips 66 Premium Oil cleans, as it protects your engine.

And remember, too . . . Phillips 66 Motor Oil has given motorists years of satisfactory lubrication!

100 Of Nation's Leading Business Men To Visit Lubbock November 13

Over 100 of the nation's leading business men will visit Lubbock, November 13, on a special train which will make a week's tour of Texas promoting soil conservation. The train, which is sponsored by the Second National Bank of Houston and the Burlington Railroad, will leave Houston November 9, and will make all day stops at Corsicana, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Abilene in addition to Lubbock.

Plans provide for the train to arrive in Lubbock at 7:30 a. m. and to leave at 10:30 p. m. A committee of Lubbock citizens will meet the group and take them on a tour of selected farms and other agricultural facilities in which the party is particularly interested.

The special train is to consist of Pullmans, dining cars, and office cars, also some specially built soil conservation exhibits in baggage cars, to be prepared jointly by Texas A. and M. College Extension Service and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Local exhibits demonstrating conservation methods peculiar to certain types of local soils will be shown in each stop-over point.

It is anticipated that 150 or more executives and industrial leaders of the nation, who are interested in preserving the natural agricultural wealth of Texas, will make this trip and join in the effort of preaching the gospel of saving Texas' prosperity by saving Texas' topsoil. The entire November effort, however, will be built around the nationally famous author and lecturer, Louis Bromfield, who will deliver lectures on soil conservation and agricultural development at the afternoon and evening meetings in each of the six towns in which programs will be held.

Mr. Bromfield's latest books deal largely with economics and the preservation of our dwindling natural resources and real wealth. He is one of the most consistent exponents of the new agricultural revolution and the

Protect Open Fires Around Wash Pot Or Burning Trash

Protect open fires around the wash pot or while burning trash, warns Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist for the Texas A. and M. Extension Service. Open fires may spread to dry grass or weeds nearby and soon be out of control, or your clothing may catch fire as you work.

She suggests two ways to protect the open fire—one, a simple method of using an old galvanized tub or sheet metal to surround the fire. Just cut out the bottom of the tub and an opening in one side . . . and then a few holes a little higher in the other side for cross ventilation. The wash pot can be placed in the opening with fire underneath. A grate could be placed over the opening for other uses.

The other method is to build a brick concrete or stone furnace. You can follow direction given in bulletin Barbecue and Utility Pits, B-133—and you'll find this in your own county agents' office.

Building a furnace or enclosing the fire will keep it from spreading, save fuel, keep your own clothing from blowing into the fire, and help you to work more comfortably and closer to the wash kettle.

A Harvard professor says education is contagious. If so, we know a considerable number of persons who are entirely immune to this form of contagion.

importance of an increasingly abundant food supply and better national and world wide distribution of food, raw materials and manufactured products.

Lubbock is making extensive plans to accommodate large audiences composed of rural people and town folk as well, so that it may be brought home to everyone just what the saving of Texas' topsoil means to him individually. The lecture will be free to the general public and is scheduled to take place in the High School Auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

Another "First" For Texas Agriculture

Here's another "first" for Texas agriculture.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that Texas has more farmers than any other state who planted cotton this year in groups organized under the Smith-Doxey Act of 1937.

Smith-Doxey, you know, authorizes the government to provide free classing and market news service to any group of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton . . . the big aim of the Act being to enable growers to sell cotton on the basis of quality.

Texas has well over one-fourth the total U. S. Smith-Doxey membership . . . over 94,000 farmers in this state. Mississippi is second with 57,600 . . . and Alabama third with 31,600.

Sixty-four percent of this year's U. S. cotton acreage was Smith-Doxey cotton . . . and that's a record, and an increase of about two million acres over last year.

Just one more column about "Our Operation" and then we expect that deal to be settled once and for all.

After our effort last week the spouse said, "I think your column was sort of vague." In our opinion that was a mild understatement but the very least we expected from our office here was some sort of mention that we were hospitalized and that we had had major surgery which would have explained our column after a fashion.

The too, for some obscure reason our name was left off the list of admissions at the hospital so as a consequence a lot of people didn't even know we were in the hospital.

Anyway we did have surgery on Friday morning, October 10 and by the following Monday we were up walking the full length of the hospital corridor at liberty.

No one is more surprised than we at the splendid recovery we made. The least we expected was to be horribly ill for several days and on the strength of our expectations we had made arrangements to be away from the office until the first of November.

We will have to live at least another 100 years to get even with all the people who did love.

1936 Study Club Meeting Held In Jess Burns Home

Mrs. Jess Burns was hostess to 1936 Study Club Wednesday afternoon, October 15, and Mrs. J. D. Hawthorne spoke on the subject "Let us be practical about peace."

Mrs. Hawthorne discussed how club women in our own community might aid by having Christian homes, sharing our abundance of supplies and by educating ourselves by reading, listening to the radio and by taking part in civic organizations.

Mrs. Burns served a delicious refreshment plate to the following members: Mesdames Charles Cravy, Truman Doss, Joe Gipson, Mary Gowdy, Scott Hawkins, Luther Hargrove, Pat Hatcher, J. B. Knox, Albert Morrow, F. I. Roberts, James St. Clair, H. S. Hawkins, and Mrs. Elizabeth Greer.

The next meeting will be a Hallowe'en Party October 29 in the home of Mrs. Jess Burns.

er of greasy face cream and hair up in curlers.

When we accused him of same he said, "Why Mrs. England, I just thought that was part of the treatment."

We didn't make any super human effort to be big and fine—it was just a lucky break more or less that we did exceedingly well. Too, maybe we should give a little credit to the fine work done by Dr. W. S. Dove and his excellent staff, who really did take beautiful care of us.

Mr. Spears and Mrs. Merrill kept our room spic and span and we never had to ring our bell as there was always some one popping in and inquiring if there was anything they could do for us.

We had time to attend to a lot of things that had been neglected, like manicuring our nails, brushing hair, etc. Incidentally the nail on our typewriting finger grew out and we are tempted to quit the typewriter entirely in order to keep our hands nice. In short our visit to the hospital provided us with a nice rest and we really enjoyed practically the entire procedure.

Of course if we were just half as smart as we think we are we would hold our own tummy in and not have to wear this darned girdle.

We are taking advantage of "Our condition" to accept a lot of coddling. The girls (Norine Frazier and Ione Purvis) cleaned the house; for which we are deeply grateful and the spouse is very generously permitting us to loiter around home until way up in the middle of the morning before expecting us to show up at the office. Such luxury is appreciated.

Plains folks are now enjoying the most delightful season of the year. The weather is superb, clear and crisp.

Just to be outdoors in the sun with the blue skies overhead is wonderful.

In case we haven't mentioned it in sometime the people out here are among the finest on earth.

Mrs. J. B. Knox is busily getting ready to attend some sort of an Eastern Star to-do in San Antonio. She is a grand person and so thrilled and appreciative of the lovely shower given her by members of the O. E. S. They gave her things that would be especially handy on the trip.

The fields around here are beautiful with cotton. Too bad there are not more laborers to get the cotton pulled in short order.

Everyone is busy doing his or her job. The school children are helping the farmers with the cotton harvest. Don't know what the teachers are doing now that schools are closed. They may be helping too.

Kathryn Burns Brennan expressed our sentiments very well in the following:

Sufficiency
The things that I desire in life are relatively few:
A coat of fur; a jewel rare;
A dress of azure blue.
A home complete with fire-place;
A flower garden bright;
Candles glowing, silver gleaming;
And linen snowy white.
But all these things I'd gladly trade
Without a change of face,
For that always non-existent thing—
Sufficient closet space!

Swing Of Southwest Farm Markets

Many southwest farm products lower trends last week, but gains and cotton continued to climb, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Despite current grain saving efforts, corn and milo advanced to 26 cents, and wheat and soy followed with gains of 5 and 6 cents. Large world requirements remained the principal strengthening factor.

Cotton harvesting made good progress but car shortage hampered movement to market. Spot prices scored a record volume for the season, although some farmers still held for higher prices. Cotton advanced around $3 for the week.

Poultry showed considerable weakness off and on during the week, but most markets steadied somewhat toward the close. Eggs were mostly unchanged. Dallas and Fort Worth bought select candeled eggs at around 55 cents per dozen. New Orleans paid 93 cents for fresh grade A large eggs, and Denver gave 55 to 60 for large white. Heavy hens turned generally at 24 to 28 cents per pound, and fryers 32 to 37.

Texas hog markets closed steady for the week, while other southwest terminals suffered losses up to 50 cents or more. Top hogs sold late in the week at $28.50 at San Antonio, $29 at Ft. Worth, $28.85 at Wichita, $29.50 at Denver, and $29.25 at Oklahoma City. Sows ranged mostly from $25 to $27.50, and pigs $20 to $26.

Most cattle markets lost 25 cents to $1 compared with a week earlier. One exception was Houston, where common to medium cows sold steady at $12 to $14.50. Another was San Antonio, where cutter and common cows brought $11 to $14. Cutter and common cows turned at $11.25 to $13.50 at Fort Worth, and $10.50 to $13 at Oklahoma City. Wichita took common and medium grades at $13 to $15.

MOVES TO COCHRAN

Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Deen and 14 year old son, Conley, have moved to Cochran county and are making their home at the Phillips-Standish pipe line headquarters. Conley plans to attend Whiteface school.

JACK RICE, manager of Cobb's Department Store attended market in Ft. Worth this week.

90,894 Bales of Cotton Damaged By Fire 1945-46

The boll weevil is a deadly enemy of the cotton industry, each year consuming millions of dollars worth of cotton, and is consequently the object of a mighty battle on the part of the farmers.

But another deadly enemy who gets only a fraction of the industry's attention compared with the weevil, is the "fire-packed" bale, according to John H. Todd, spokesman for the National Cotton Compress and Cotton Warehouse Association.

The "fire-packed" bale is one in which a spark or bit of fire is accidentally encased at the gin.

In the 1945-46 season, 90,894 bales of cotton were damaged by fire. At today's prices, that would be more than 14 million dollars worth of cotton. This staggering loss brought about a drive throughout the cotton belt to fight cotton fires and particular emphasis was placed on the "fire-packed" bale. Results of the drive were reflected in the fine record of the 1946-47 season, when in the first half of the season the number of cotton fires were reduced by 40 percent and the total number of bales involved in fires by 79 percent.

Records of the Cotton Warehouse Inspection Service show that for the most recent period studied the first half of the 1946-47 season, 47 percent of all cotton fires were definitely caused by "fire-packed" bales. On top of this it is believed that the majority of the 39 percent of cotton fires attributed to "unknown causes" also resulted from fire-packed bales.

It is reasonably believed that approximately 87 percent of all cotton fires occurring during the first half of the 1946-47 season were attributable to "fire-packed" bales, Mr. Todd stated.

The "fire-packed" bale is the scourge that the industry must choke out, Mr. Todd declared, and urged that all ginners either segregate bales suspected of being "fire-packed" for 48 to 72 hours or notify the warehouseman of each bale that is suspected in order that the warehouseman may segregate it.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

A SPEECH WAS MADE

A letter came to my desk a few weeks ago containing one paragraph that astonished me. It read: "At the church conference held in this southern district a speech was made against the profit motive." That any American group, particularly a religious group, should raise its voice against the profit motive struck me as amazing.

To get rid of the profit motive, you would have to find some substitute for economics in modern civilization. You would have to eliminate all trading and marketing buying and selling. You would have to get rid of money and other mediums of exchange. You would have to cease bartering and swapping. In fact, you would have to reduce your modern civilization to self-sufficiency of the individual.

Only Two Ways

A modern and complicated civilization like our own could not do without trade, exchange, manufacturing, raw materials production. You just have to ask more than it cost you. That is what profit means. And without the profit motive, trade and commerce would die.

There are only two ways that an economy may operate. In America individuals own farms, stores, factories, and run them for the chief purpose of making enough profit to live on. Americans also want to buy some of the products of other people who work. If demand and opportunity are there, these businesses may be expanded and enlarged. The other way is for government to own everything, operating all production merely for the purpose of feeding the people and supplying what it thinks are their needs.

Compare The Two!

The profit motive is the very foundation of our American way of life. We have always encouraged private ownership of farms, stores, manufacturing plants. This is the constitutional way in our country. It has produced more enthusiasm, finer cooperation, and a greater abundance of clothing, food, housing, and transportation than the masses of the people have ever known in any other country.

The other kind of economy, owned and operated by the government, attempts to do away with the profit motive. Actually, it does away with incentives, individual initiative, and efficiency. This kind of economy soon settles down to a "what's-the-use" status, offering only the barest necessities to its people. Russia is a good example of this. Russia has attempted to substitute other enthusiasms for those of owning property and making profit, but she has found that whenever she wanted increased industrial output she had to imitate some of the incentives that are so common in America.

Advance Agents?

The very concepts of freedom of the individual spring from the Bible. Therein you will find the foundation for the freedoms and liberties that America has built upon. Wherever Christian concepts prevail, there you will find the truest freedom and prosperity. I am unable to explain why church leaders are willing to attack the profit motive. To do so indicates tremendous misunderstanding of the American way of life, of our constitutional government, and the freedoms of the individual.

Let us not confuse greed and sin with the profit motive. There is nothing un-Christian, nor anti-social, in fair and honest buying and selling and trading. One who is against the profit motive is in reality opposed to ownership of property, for when the profit motive is taken away the right to own things must go with it. It is high time for some of our religious people to start thinking through these things. Doing this, perhaps they would refuse to be used as advance agents of socialism and communism.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.
