Leases Completed For 150,000 Sq. Ft. Of Grain Storage

Leases have been completed for more than 150,000 square feet of the South Plains Air Field near South Lubbock for emergency grain storage use, it was announced this week by Duncan D. Myers, who is in charge of the storage program for the War Assets Administration, Grand Prairie regional office.

All buildings adaptable to bulk grain storage at the field have now been leased, he said. Available remaining buildings have wood flooring and could be pressed into service on an emergency basis for sacked grain, Myers declared.

The War Assets Administration undertook sponsorship of storage through use of government surplus buildings at the request of Congressman George Mahon. Following appeals by Mahon and other congressmen, buildings at the South Plains Field, at the Pantex Ordnance Works near Amarillo, and at other installations in the southwest, were made available in September.

Twelve buildings at the Lubbock field have been leased in the program. They will be used for storage of grain sorghum by the following firms: Wayne George of Anton, Lubbock Grain and Storage Company and the Herman Dawson Company.

Myers said he understood the Commodity Credit Corporation approved the flat storage leasing arrangement for all of the structures.

Primrose Heartbreaker, registered Gurnsey bull, belonging to Johnnie Brooks, Famuliner Project farmer, took top honors at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last week.

The near-perfect bull stands shoulder high to Mr. Brooks, an average size man, and is the pride of the Brooks family. Mr. Brooks has the making of a fine herd with one young bull and a few heifers in the pasture. Other farmers in the area are becoming interested in registered stock, largely through the results obtained by Mr. Brooks with his registered herd.

Five Courts In Session Monday At Court House

The Justice of Peace court ruled on a case, the County Court heard a drunken driving case, it was the regular meeting day of the Commissioner's Court, the Grand Jury was seated and the District Court was in session.

Judge Dan Blair empaneled the Grand Jury at 10:00 o'clock in the morning. One indictment, involving a burglary in Morton a few months ago, was returned. Investigations were conducted but no other bill was returned.

The Pettit jury was called Tuesday to hear a murder and divorce case. Reports indicate that witnesses were absent for the murder case and the attorneys asked for more time to assemble information in the divorce case.

The jury was dismissed in both cases until a later date.

One Cochran County youth was killed and three others injured in a car-truck collision 8 miles north of Denver City about 4:00 A. M. Sunday.

Bobby Scott was taken to a hospital in Levelland and Bobby Stegall, of Whiteface, was also hospitalized but was released before noon Sunday.

The four boys are well-known musicians in this locality and had played for a dance at Lovington, New Mexico, Saturday night.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the Bennett road and Plains Highway. A semi-truck, carrying tanks, pulled slowly into the intersection and the driver of the car was unable to stop on the wet pavement, according to a report from the Sheriff's department.

The extent of injuries received by Scott and Houghton is undetermined at present.

Some of the sweetest singing we've heard in a long time was Tuesday night at the Flower Show program. The choral club under the direction of Fred Danforth gave three beautiful sacred numbers, followed by three popular ones.

It is certainly amazing what Mr. Danforth has done in such a short period of time. And we don't think it a bit too early for the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club etc to get busy on a community Christmas program.

The Christmas lights are here. The choral club is perfectly capable of putting on a super cantata for the public and Santa Claus can always be depended upon to distribute candy and such to the youngsters.

A group from the same club was presented at Lions Club Wednesday, October 6, and again brought down the house with their lovely singing.

Every one thoroughly enjoyed the reading given by Carolyn Cox, at Lions Club. She has expressive brown eyes and the most winsome manner—an extraordinary reader too.

J. R. Eagan of Lubbock had told us about the piano playing of Emil Timian and junior was right as Mr. T can certainly play.

We know the choral club will be ding-donged from every group and organization in town to sing.

Reva Waddell gave a delightful book review at the conclusion of flower show. All in all the program was as interesting and worthwhile as any we have attended in Morton.

However the crowd was kind of slim. The Eastern Star was doing something that night and juniors were playing football.

If Wallace Blankenship doesn't get busy on that theatre building we stand a good chance of losing a bet. We took his side against one of our best friends too.

Mrs. Danforth, (wife of Fred) is a blonde and one of the cutest newcomers to hit town. We met her at Wesleyan Guild about two weeks ago.

Mrs. V. L. Lawson is another attractive newcomer. She is slender, has a lovely complexion and deep violet eyes. Judy, the Lawson's daughter, is a darling three year old.

We visited Dr. Lawson's dental office and he really has it fixed up. All he needs now is a few patients with the toothache.

Mrs. E. A. Miller amused us no end the other night at Guild. She has words of poise and when she discovered her notes were missing she said, "This reminds me of a time at Eastern Star when I hadn't learned my part, and they turned the lights out." We might add that Mrs. M did all right without her notes.

The Guild flower arrangement at flower show made by Mrs. Courtney Sanders, Mrs. John Tice, Mrs. Orville Tilger and Mrs. Raymond Ross was one of the cleverest we have ever seen. It was a large cornucopia entirely covered with purple asters with gold cross formed of asters on top and spilling out were miniature replicas of all the things the Guild does. Such as food packages for orphanages, clothing, household necessities etc. It won a blue ribbon.

Mrs. C. D. Windom and Mrs. Joe Michael are new members of the Guild. Both are attractive and a worthy addition to Morton.

Can't remember what everyone had on at the flower show program but all the members were in evening dress and looked mighty fetching. Mrs. J. A. Gowdy was wearing grey lace with purple aster shoulder corsage, a nice combination with her grey hair.

Mrs. A. A. Fralin, always exquisite, had on a perfectly beautiful rose beige dress with draped skirt and medallion trim of green sequins and pearls.

Mrs. Tom Arnn was wearing sequin trimmed black velvet. Mrs. Roy Hill had on wine velvet, her corsage was of snapdragons in shades harmonizing with her dress. Wish we had something pretty to wear.

Think Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Barrett won sweepstake awards at flower show. We certainly hate to play second fiddle to those gals but hardly see how we can do anything about it. With the spouse and Mr. Turknott can't improve our roses guess we will just have to be content with a back seat.

Mrs. Lester Baccus didn't do so bad either, in going through the ribbons we noticed a large number of blue ones on her entries.

Thursday morning we were doing all right until Mr. Barrett came in and told us there was ice, and from then on we nearly froze.

Vagabond house has a new coat of white paint and we hope to get the shutters painted and some new screens (when Halloween is over that is). After two years we have grown sort of tired of that lettering in chalk on the front window screen reading, "I Love You", surrounded by a bunch of X's. Especially since we have never been absolutely certain whether it was meant for us or the spouse.

Never saw so many hats with feathers as noted on our trip this week-end to Dallas. The bird population evidently is completely denuded. Oh, we tried on a $12.00 hat—it was furred instead of feathered tho.

Skirts are all lengths and suits very much in evidence. It was cool enough in Dallas for fur neck pieces and many women were wearing or carrying them.

After receiving letters from people in other portions of the country who read the Tribune and remark about the low grocery prices as advertised here we just wonder if the ones of us in Morton appreciate the bargains offered by our grocerymen.

The Fletcher Richardsons in Silsbee wrote that they were tempted to send their grocery order here to be filled; we have heard practically the same thing from California; and last Thursday when Bob Sisson was out he mentioned the lower coffee prices.

Glad to see Mrs. John Hollo-

Mrs. L. E. Huggins entertained with a party at her home on South Main Street, Thursday, October 7 in honor of her daughter, Cathy, who was celebrating her fifth birthday.

As guests arrived they were presented with Halloween hats by the young honoree. Movies were made of the youngsters and Bluebird cake and punch served in the back yard to the following guests:

Carrie Ann Mullinax, Vickie Whitman, Shonnie Waddell, Penny Farmer, Jane Sanders, Jimmie and Sandra St. Clair, Bill Ed Rice, Ramond Davis, Gary Essary, Butch Hawkins, Patsy Ann Walden, Vivian and Betty Lou Ledbetter, Jan Hawthorne, Diane Robertson and Mrs. W. A. Whitman.

man and Mrs. Roy Hill out again after a few days illness. Mrs. Holloman was down at home with bronchitis and Mrs. Hill in the hospital at Littlefield with that old trouble with her ankle. Both are neighbors of ours but as is usually the case we never know what is going on until they get well and tell us.

A friend of ours with three children in college was badly upset when her physician told her she was going to have another child. "I simply can't go through it again, Doctor!" she wailed. "Did you have complications with your other pregnancies?" he asked sympathetically. "Heavens, no! Having babies never bothered me a bit, physically. It's the PTA that gets me down!"

Oil Industry Called Fast-Growing Infant Of Our America Way Of Life

The youth and virility of our American way of life is typified to a startling degree by the amazing development and growth of this country's petroleum industry. We have become so accustomed to saying "fill 'er up" at the nearest service station that it comes as a shock when we realize that the modern history of oil really started in 1901—the same year that Marconi sent his first wireless message across the Atlantic.

It was on January 10, 1901, that the Spindletop discovery well near Beaumont, Texas, let loose with a deep-throated roar and started hurling skyward 100,000 barrels of crude petroleum daily.

From that time petroleum became increasingly important. In 1900 it supplied only eight per cent of the power and heat requirements of the United States. True, adventurous men had explored the eastern part of the nation for 40 years, but they worked on a hit or miss basis and their shallow wells had comparatively small yields.

Then came Spindletop and the country went wild. Here is what the Beaumont newspaper had to say about it:

"The Beaumont oil boom will eclipse in significance, extent and human interest the Indian stocks, the Mississippi Bubble, the gold fields of '49 and even that pathetic melodrama of the Klondike."

That prediction came true to the letter. The new abundance of oil came just in time, the next decade saw the introduction of the Tin Lizzy and an almost limitless variety of oil-powered, labor-saving equipment. The oil age had begun, and it continues today, when petroleum and natural gas supply almost half of our heat and power needs.

In the early days most wells were put down by the percussion method. That has been largely superseded by rotary drilling, in which a bit revolves auger-fashion until it reaches great depths. Picture the difficulties of this operation in view of the fact that hundreds of holes more than 8,000 feet have been drilled. (The average well depth drilled in the United States last year was 3,593 feet.)

At 8,000 feet the drill is on the end of a pipe composed of 400 twenty-foot sections. Whenever a bit has to be sharpened or replaced—and this happens frequently—the entire pipe must be hauled up, unjointed and stacked. This becomes doubly difficult and expensive when a well has been curved in order to strike oil deposits lying under a mountain, swamp or off-shore in the ocean. Some wells go as much as three miles deep and present even more complicated problems. Hunting for the needle in a haystack is easy compared to fishing a broken bit out of such a hole. Sometimes the task cannot be accomplished. Then the well has to be abandoned, even though it may have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. (It should be added that four out of every five wells drilled in exploring for new petroleum have to be abandoned anyway because they turn out to be dry holes.)

The bottom of a hole gets one degree hotter for each 60 feet of depth. (In one three-mile well a thermometer registered 380 degrees—168 degrees hotter than boiling water). To lubricate and cool deep-going drills—as well as to plaster up the sides of holes so they will not cave in or blow out, and to carry out rock cuttings—force pumps circulate thick, gooey, special-compounded mud in and out of wells. Oil drillers spend $10,000,000 a year—just for mud!

It is by the use of such progressive methods that America's 13,000 competitive production companies manage to meet a demand for oil products which is running 18 per cent higher than in 1945, at the peak of the war, and 45 per cent above 1941, the last pre-war year. It is also the way in which they have pushed our reserves of discovered petroleum to the record high of almost 25 billion barrels despite that unprecedented demand. This year they plan to drill 40,000 wells, of which more than 7,000 will be exploration wells in search of new oil sources. These will reach an aggregate depth of more than one hundred thirty million feet—a distance equal to two and a half times the earth's diameter at the Equator.

BOYCE HOUSE Gives You Texas

Texans are tremendously proud of their state and other people are proud of their states, too—though of course with much less reason than we Texans have!

Think of the proud Kentucky "Colonels," the Virginians, huh. It is even rumored that Californians have state pride.

So why not a book containing the humor of all the different states? Such a book would have entertainment as varied as the climate, topography and philosophy of states as different as Oklahoma and Maine or Illinois and Massachusetts.

Well, such a book has been written. The author was born in Arkansas, spent his boyhood in Texas, Arizona, Missouri, Mississippi and Tennessee; and heard such laugh-provokers as Will Rogers, Bob Burns, William J. Bryan, Jeff Davis of Arkansas and Bob Taylor, the "fiddling governor."

The book is entitled "Laugh Parade of States" (Naylor Company, San Antonio, publisher) and it includes 70 Texas stories that have never appeared in a book before—750 jokes in all.

The author? Well, I reckon you'd already guessed it was written by that "I Give You Texas" man.

Would you like to look at a sample or two from "Laugh Parade of States"? Just room here for some mighty short ones:

Massachusetts—The complacency of the people of Boston is shown by the remark of a matron there who, replying to a question, said, "Why should I travel when I'm already here?"

Tennessee—Gov. Bob Taylor used to declare, "The mountains of East Tennessee are so tall that you can stand tiptoe and tickle the feet of the angels as they go flying by."

Oklahoma—An Indian who had ordered a ham sandwich at a soda fountain, lifted the top slice of bread and then asked the attendant, "You slice-um ham?"

Texas—Recipe for a barbecue: Just set a forest on fire and drive a herd of cattle through.

THREE-MINUTE SERMON

By T. L. (Jack) Bullard, Pastor Missionary Baptist Church

THE PURPOSE OF PREACHING THE GOSPEL

In considering this thought, let us first notice what the Gospel is. "The Gospel is the power of God unto Salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first and also to the Greek." Again we find that the Gospel is the Death, Burial and Resurrection of Christ. Thus we find that the Death, Burial and Resurrection of Christ is the power of God, and it will bring Salvation to every one that will believe it regardless of who he or she may be. This was brought about by the dying of Christ on the Cross and his dying was a volunteer act on his part.

To the worldly minded person the preaching of the gospel may seem foolish. "For the preaching of the Cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us who are saved it is the power of God." "We preach Christ crucified, unto the Jew a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness. But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God." The Gospel was designed for the whole human race of fallen men. That is one reason why we should preach the Gospel to all men, regardless of creed or color. Another reason is, "God's love abounds to all men alike." He loves sinners but he hates sin and that is why He does not tolerate sinful ways. Some will say, that is the reason that the Lord can't reach me. I am beyond hope. The fact that the statement is untrue is another reason for preaching the Gospel.

Paul was a man that had gone almost as deep in sin as any one could go but the Lord saved him and it was done through the gospel. Paul was a murderer. He was on his way to execute suffering men for carrying the gospel to the lost. Brother, men who are in the death cell can hear the call to repentance and be saved. Men who are flouting their lives away with liquor can be reached by the power of God. We as christian people must remove the obstacle that they might hear the Gospel.

Morton Indians Defeated 37-0 By Levelland Lobos

The Morton Indians bowed to a powerful Lobo squad Friday night in Lobo Stadium, Levelland, to a score of 37-0.

The Levelland team scored on the fifth play of the game and followed with five more touchdowns and one conversion.

The revised Indian squad had four regular men out of action, but time and again began to move against the Pack's goal only to be stopped twice by pass interceptions, twice by fumbles and once by a penalty.

Early in the second half the Indians recovered on the Lobo 42. An off-tackle drive netted 3 yards and a pass from McDaniel to Winder put the ball on the 9 yard line. A fumble on the next play stopped the threat.

Gene Williams, stellar right end, will be absent from the line-up the remainder of the season on doctor's orders. "Bo" Allsup and Joe Coleman also are out for the season, each having received a broken leg in former games. Coleman was the reserve quarterback and Allsup right tackle.

The starting line-up, Morton position, Levelland, respectively: Winder, le, Rainey; Chapman, R, Neill; Wood, lg, Watson; Shuler, c, Morris; Hill, rg, Tyler; Winder, rt, Kennedy; Smith, re, Couch; McDaniel, qb, Taylor; Yeary, hb, Branch; Baldwin, hb, Pugh; Evans, fb, Northam.

TEC Establishes Branch Office In Levelland

The Texas Employment Commission has established a branch office in Levelland in an effort to aid farmers of this area in securing cotton pullers.

A penny post card addressed to C. P. Mills, Texas Employment Commission, c/o County Agent's office, Levelland, Texas, with the following information is requested:

Name of farmer, location, housing available, number of hands needed and when needed.

In giving this information the farmer should indicate whether he has housing for a large crew or two or more small crews. An accurate description is imperative as it will permit the employment agency to accurately describe the situation to the cotton pullers and they will not be disappointed with the housing when they arrive.

The Texas Employment Commission was set up for the sole purpose of aiding farmers with

Efficiency & Economy In An All Electric Kitchen

There's little "kitchen heat" from an electric range, even when you have all the cooking units and the oven in operation. When you cook electrically, you use only enough current to heat the cooking utensil, none is wasted to heat up your kitchen. With dependable electricity, and the scientific construction of heating units on your electric range, you can cook many dishes with the cooking unit "off", once it's heated.

Those are just a few of the reason why more and more folks are going "all-electric". Look over the new ranges, refrigerators, roasters, and other appliances and see if you, too, won't want to go "all-electric."

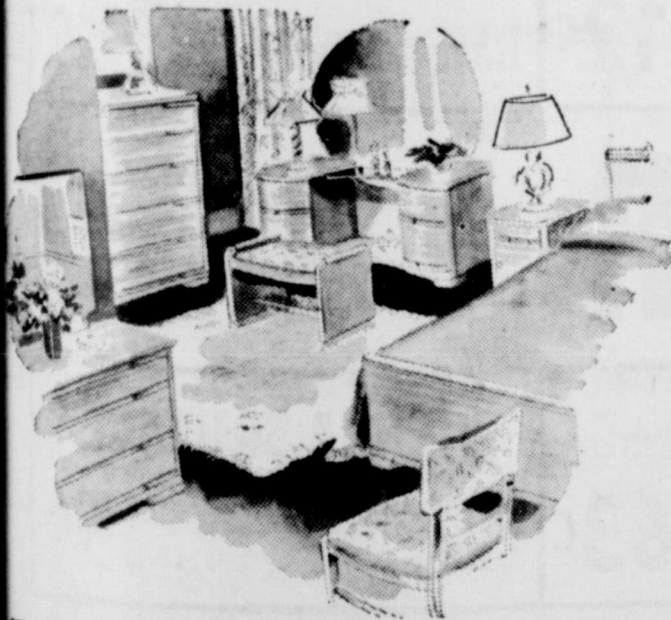

You'll find electric living is low-cost living.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

FLIGHT OF BUSINESS

What should a business firm do when it finds that wage demands have put its expenses up higher than the income it can reasonably expect? This is the plight facing many businesses today. Some of them are taking flight to fairer climes. Perhaps you have heard of the big textile factory that is leaving New England. No, it didn't decide to go to the South. It will leave the States entirely and go to Porto Rico. It had to go somewhere. It had to stay in the black, or close down.

Our industries will not all go to Porto Rico, but this incident is a handwriting-on-the-wall message addressed to all of us. When a business reaches the saturation point, where it cannot collect more income (in the form of new business, increased sales, or higher prices), then something's got to happen. If it cannot cut expenses, then it may go broke. This situation is tough on little businesses especially, but it's dangerous, even to big ones.

Glamour Prosperity

Maybe this thing explains our increasing rate of business failures. When the breakeven point is so high and so close, even a little drop in income or a step-up in expenses can put a company in serious danger. It doesn't make any difference, either, that the volume of business today is so big. Most of our companies have to do two to five times the amount of business they did before the war, just to break even.

This present glamour prosperity of ours can deceive us. If we are going to depend for our prosperity upon round after round of wage boosts, along with less work and lower production, then we are headed for a severe jolt. So far, business has been able to pay the cost because it could sell goods at almost any price. This means that both wage and price increases have been made possible by inflation. They can continue to come out of inflation. But if they do, the whirlpool will finally engulf us.

A Mutual Interest

American workers are smart. Their good sense is needed today as never before. They can do a lot to help industry get on a sound footing. They know we can avoid misunderstandings that are so common if everybody sees that industry's problems are also America's problems. Labor can seriously consider the important things. Labor can help work out solutions that are to the best interest of both industry and the general public, knowing that these are also very important to labor.

Take this inflation, for example. That old spiral, that always catches you right between the pay-check and the grocery store, can be scotched. One solution is greater production. Labor knows a lot about production problems.

Are workers any less interested in higher output, because high output is something that also interests the management and the public? No, they still want production to be high. Increased production, if it delivers goods to the public, softens the danger of runaway prices. High output also makes it possible for the company to pay continued high wages.

Our Own Creation

Some American workers have had experience with businesses that couldn't pay. A company that is in danger of folding up is no good as an employer. Therefore, the problem facing the boss in his effort to show more income than expense is also the problem of the workers. If a business gets on the run (it may not want to move to Porto Rico), this indicates that something is seriously wrong. Ten to one, the income is not up to the outgo. Labor may have some of the answers.

A lot of Americans may be fooled by the seemingly endless bounty of business. Government, also, is expected to give and give. Yet, it doesn't make sense to expect either of them to keep on giving forever. Neither government nor business ever actually creates a dollar of wealth. Each can give benefits only out of that which it receives. By the same token, our high living standards are actually the products of our own intelligent work and continued high production.

Texas Motor Transportation Assn. Wins First In National Truck Safety Contest

For promoting safety and courtesy on the highways of Texas, the Texas Motor Transportation Association has placed first in a national truck safety contest sponsored by the American Trucking Associations, Inc.

The Texas group competed with other Associations from all over the country.

Roy Sanderford, president of TMTA, will accept the award plaque at the ATA convention in Washington, D. C. on October 13. Throughout the past year the Association has:

Sponsored a safety tour which visited 65 cities and towns to check on Texans' driveability. Over 20,000 individuals took the tests on visual acuity, night blindness, reaction time, steadiness, color perception, depth perception, and field of vision, while over 50,000 visited the exhibit;

Selected a "Miss Courtesy and Safety" for 1948 at the annual convention;

Sponsored a fleet supervisors training course at Texas A. and M. College;

Promoted a safety and courtesy campaign, enlisting the aid of the Junior Chambers of Commerce in the State.

Held a truck rodeo contest and named two champion truck drivers for the state.

During the Texas State Fair at Dallas, the Association's safety unit is again on exhibit. It will go on the road for another safety tour at the end of October.

Lynn B. Shaw is general manager of the Association, and Charles M. Ogle is the safety director.

Retirement Plan For State's Judges To Be Voted On Texans will cast a heavy vote on November 2 in favor of the amendment authorizing the legislature to set up a practical retirement program for the State's court judges.

That prediction was made this week by Ralph W. Yarborough, Austin attorney, after a survey of voter sentiment in rural and small town areas of the State.

The important amendment will be last on the ballot at the November 2nd general election.

Yarborough said: "Most folks I talked to were surprised to know there's no way for a judge on Texas' Supreme Court or the district courts to retire, even if after serving faithfully for 30 years he becomes disabled.

"Generally, I believe the people think it is important for judges to be able to retire when they reach an advanced age and sickness or other handicaps make it hard for them to keep up with the strain of court work. It is an economy and will save taxes in the long run to permit a man to retire when he is unable to work.

"It would be fair to the judges and to the public to enable a man to retire after he has served long and faithfully," he continued. "Besides, a retirement system for judges will mean a more efficient judiciary.

"We believe that Texans are interested in having the most efficient court system in the country. This amendment is one step in that direction."

Asked if he found any opposition to the amendment, Yarborough said he had not.

"The only votes against the amendment," he explained, "apparently will be by folks who don't understand it." The state's editors, however, are doing a fine job of explaining clearly what it means. People believe in efficiency and economy in government, and once they have studied the amendment, they will support it."

After approval of the amendment by the voters, the legislature will work out the details of a retirement plan. It applies to members of the appellate courts and judges of district and criminal district courts, of which there are less than 200 in Texas.

Yarborough, a former district judge of Travis County, heads a committee urging passage of the judges retirement amendment. Yarborough said many members of his committee are also former district judges. Since they are no longer on the bench, they have no financial interest in the amendment, but they well know the problems of judges from past experience.

Renovate Pastures For Better Grazing And More Milk

Renovation means to repair, make over, rebuild or restore to freshness. So when renovation is tied in with pastures, it means rebuilding your pastures to new freshness—giving them a new start.

The renovation of old bermudagrass pastures this fall will make more lush grazing and more milk for years to come, says R. R. Lancaster, extension pasture specialist of Texas A. and M. College.

Pastures contribute more than one-third of all feed eaten by livestock generally, and more than one-third of the feed furnished by farm pastures is used by dairy cattle. The yield and carrying capacity of poor and woody pastures can be built up by disking or plowing, fertilizing and reseeding either in the fall or spring, or both times.

To keep good pastures at a high production level, says Lancaster, fence off one-fourth or one-fifth each year for renovating. Take an old bermudagrass pasture, for instance. You can restore it to new freshness pretty easily. It might be limed and well torn up by disking or plowing. The next step is to fertilize with 400 pounds of 0-14-7 or 4-12-3.

In Texas, dallis grass and some adapted clovers may be seeded in second bottoms, deep valleys and moist prairie soils. Lespedeza may be seeded in upland bermudagrass sod in East Texas and the Gulf Coast. Land that is too poor to grow clovers or Lespedeza may be seeded to vetch or singletary peas and rye. This provides supplementary grazing while the bermudagrass sod is being renovated.

Two thirds of the U. S. Senate must concur to make a treaty valid.

MAPLE NEWS

(delayed from Oct. 7)
Miss Jean Kirby of Maple and Eugene Ramsey of Causey, N. M. were married Sept. 30 at Clovis.

Quite a few people visited the fair in Lubbock.

The Three-Way Eagles won the football game Friday night. They beat Bula, 20-6.

The four churches were well attended Sunday. The Assembly of God Church has services each Sunday. Church of Christ has services each Sunday. Preaching twice each month. Baptist has full time pastor, services twice each Sunday. Methodist full time pastor with services each Sunday and Sunday night.

Rev. C. A. Norcross, pastor of the Maple Methodist Church, is ill, but Rev. E. C. Rainey filled the pulpit for him.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Garvin went to Lubbock Saturday evening after their daughter, Bonnie Jean. She spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, returning to Lubbock Sunday afternoon where she is a student nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tyson are remodeling their home 2 miles south of Maple.

The new Baptist pastor has moved into the parsonage at Maple. We welcome him and family to our community.

The Gins and elevator at Maple are quite busy these days. Rev. E. C. Rainey and John Norcross of Lubbock were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Garvin Sunday.

There was a wonderful program rendered by the pupils of Three Way school Friday night at the gym. A very large crowd was present and enjoyed it a lot.

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his missus have got along together—in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to two things: Temperance—as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance—for their own differences of opinion—and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.
