

TRAIL DUST

By
DOUGLAS MEADOR

Melancholy harps echo beyond the unknown frontiers of my soul. A year has approached its death throes. Yet time, the eternal mother has no dolour; no grievance. The days, weeks, years and centuries are the marks of fingers drawn across the surface of the sea. Time is the counterpart of space, infinite, small child sees nothing new in a new year, except a fresh calendar to replace the faded one that had become thin. Perhaps that I have known is self-pity magnified by the symbolism of time as an old man for whom I hold compassion.

Altho spring is still months away I am prepared. I have been presented with a packet of giant Texas Blue Bonnet (Lupinus texensis) seed. The brown envelope bears no picture but very interesting reading. This variety (probably all varieties) requires no preparing of a flower bed. No weeding, irrigation or enriching of soils; no work. I am ashamed of myself. A native Texan, I have lived up the better part of a lifetime without growing Blue Bonnets. If this thing works out like the seed packet describes, I think I will have solved a personal question of my life. The Blue Bonnet is the Texas state flower. Texans have always been resourceful; able to make a pretty showing with the minimum amount of effort. So any day which I feel is good Blue Bonnet weather, I will open the packet, scatter the seeds where I want the Blue Bonnets to grow, just off my hands and seek a chair to rest and relax. The responsibility from that hour will rest with Texas soil, rainfall, sunshine and magnificence. Another splendid feature of my variety of Blue Bonnets is: once I have spent my effort in garnering they will not require replanting the following year, but will return from their seed without further care. A caution on the envelope appealed to me; "Do not cultivate."

It is tragic our impulses are so directed that we find time for important things while dust settles on the unused stairs that might lead to attainment.

Some of the popularity of the electric razor may be traced to the small boy aversion of face-washing which men may still possess. The buzzing gadget requires no soap and water.

Beyond the raw-boned horse walking across a plowed field, two tractors spewed dirt from their plows. The animal was like the survivor of a flooded river, clinging to a small island doomed to be submerged by the rising tide.

It is a strange paradox of character that permits the man who needs the least to make him happy, to require so much more from the crock of granching destiny, to make him unhappy.

The tax-payer has misty visions of a fairland utopia, free of tax; a republic and commonwealth self sustaining. It is part of the privilege of being American to gripe at the government, and the immigration boys don't have much trouble with people trying to slip away.

Only recently I was aware that somewhere in my freakish habits, I have picked up one of starting a book, article or story at the end and reading backwards, paragraph at a time. First time I go to a psychiatrist I want to give him that one to play with while I bare my secret life.

Sleet and cold rain were falling in the dismal little town. Even the happy children had become silent with their toys. The houses were sheet iron, plasterboard and flimsy wood. In their midst was a little flower shop with its own greenhouse, made from the noses of battle-scarred bombing planes, cut off and placed in a row, points upward. The very machines of death in war had been changed to shelter flowers, the fragrant symbol of love. Even the Lonely Carpenter of Galilee, whose birthday the world was celebrating, must have rejoiced.

When the last moment has drained from tonight's black cup and the dream films are being rewound, the breath of a prayer will open the slow-moving petals of another dawn.

March of Dimes Chairman Glenn W. Thompson Urges Greater Effort

The 1949 March of Dimes, which is entering its fourth week, is gaining increasing momentum. Judge Glenn W. Thompson, Chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis' appeal in Cochran County, announced today, urging all citizens to redouble their efforts in the final week to make the drive a record success.

"So far," Mr. Thompson said, "Cochran County residents have responded fairly well to the 1949

March of Dimes. Judging by reports from our various committee chairmen, every segment of the public here seems keenly aware of the urgent need to make our current appeal a record success."

Mr. Thompson pointed out, however, that if the goal were to be reached, the efforts of every Cochran County resident must be redoubled. During the final week of the drive, he said, March of Dimes activities will be intensified because of the pressing need to prepare for the coming polio season.

"At the same time," Mr. Thompson disclosed, "funds given to the March of Dimes will be used not only to help those whom polio may strike but we still have to meet the continuing cost of care and treatment of boys and girls stricken in prior epidemic years, and insure that there is no interruption in research for a cure or preventive of the disease."

Mr. Thompson urged all shoppers to donate whatever loose change they can spare daily to the fight against polio and help speed the drive to victory.

"None of us," Mr. Thompson concluded, "can afford to take chances with a possible polio epidemic this coming summer. But all of us can afford a dime or a dollar toward assurance that we will be ready should infantile paralysis hit our county this year."

MEDICAL PRICES WILL INCREASE

Shortages always raise prices. The Texas Medical Association, by restricting enrollment in Texas medical schools to barely enough to replace deaths and retirement has cut down our supply of doctors, especially in our rural areas, thereby causing a shortage and higher fees for services, while 3,000 pre-med students find the gates barred against them.

This same medical association now plans to get control of the supply of all competitive healing professions, so they can cut off replacements in these healing professions and make the shortage even more acute and thus raise the prices higher than today.

The Basic Science Bill (S. B. 63) is designed to give the Medical Association complete control of all branches of the healing arts and it is being pushed by unlimited funds and a high-priced lobby. If we, the people, do not write, phone or visit our senators and representatives, we will have this infamous legislation forced upon us.

This is a call for action. If you want to know the names of your legislators, phone this newspaper. Address letters to them at Capitol Station, Austin. Stop that Basic Science Bill. Write, wire or phone today. (Paid adv.)

National Heart Week Scheduled February 14 to 21

AUSTIN—Throughout the United States the week of February 14-21, will be observed as National Heart Week, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has announced that the State Health Department will cooperate to the fullest extent in stressing to the public the necessity for full information and intelligent action in attempting to control this nation's major killer, heart disease.

From a national level, heart disease is the leading cause of death, and yearly takes a greater total number of lives than the next five leading causes of death combined. One out of every three deaths in the United States is due to diseases of the heart and blood vessels, and it is estimated that one out of every twenty persons suffer from some form of heart or blood vessel disease.

Great amount of research in the causes and treatment of the heart diseases has established the fact that some of them can be materially helped by certain drugs, or even surgery, and it has been proved beyond doubt that the heart patient who places himself early under competent medical care, has by far the best chance of survival. In many instances the patient can, under competent care, lead an almost normal life, with only certain restrictions as to activities and indulgences which might adversely affect his condition.

"Consult your doctor for a physical check-up at least once a year," Dr. Cox advises. "If heart disease occurs, he will have an opportunity to find it, and begin proper treatment in the early stages, thus assuring you a better chance to finish a normal, comfortable life span."

Officials of Public Schools to Hold Conference in July

A conference for public school administrators is scheduled for July 11 through July 16 at Texas Technological college under joint sponsorship with Lubbock public schools. The conference will come during the last week of the first summer school problems.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Tech and spokesman for the sponsorship institutions, said the conference is planned to give school men and women practical assistance in everyday school problems.

Plans call for experienced personnel in several fields outside the classrooms to lead some of the clinic sessions, R. W. Matthews, superintendent of Lubbock schools, said. He mentioned specifically the necessity for counseling on plans for new buildings and matters of construction as well as maintenance and expansion.

Details of enrollment, which will be free of charge, and a complete program as well as proposed housing for those attending the conference will be announced later.

Textbooks Needed In Japan Schools

English, history, philosophy, sociology, New Testaments and Bible textbooks are needed in the Methodist schools in Japan. W. B. Swim, a McMurry college graduate and teacher there, has written to the McMurry College Christian foundation.

"The library here was completely destroyed during the war," he writes and the need for books is great.

The members of the Christian foundation have set up boxes in the chapel of the religious building, and also at the bookstore, on the campus, and students have been urged to donate their used textbooks for this purpose.

A special collection to pay costs of shipping the books to Japan was taken at a recent meeting.

Riding Circle Around Whitefaces

by Art. N. Wall

Our school in Whiteface has indeed had rough going through this term. Bad weather, muddy roads, and a boiler burner that refuses to function properly has caused students to stay at home. Now when school is discussed the question comes up as to when school will let out this year. Through the latter part of May or will it be up in June? Right now there seems no bottom to our rural roads. This week two buses got stuck and one had to be towed eight miles by a tractor. We all should remind ourselves that this winter has been unusual and the operations of schools everywhere, especially in a rural community, has been a problem. We needed moisture badly and we were blessed with it in a plentiful supply and the farmers still hope for early Spring rains and therefore every cooperation should be given to our school in getting our children there and back.

Mr. N. B. Evans, employee of Continental Oil Company, was released from the Morton hospital on the 4th of this month. Mr. Evans had pneumonia. You can get sick, stay in a hospital, and get well easier than anybody I know. N. B. Why don't you let someone know these things?

Also reported down with pneumonia is Mrs. R. G. Ledbetter who recently became a proud mother to twins. Everyone in this community sincerely hopes Mrs. Ledbetter recovers rapidly. Too, Mrs. Ledbetter, we are all anxious to see those twins so snap back to health to where you can show them off. We all are boasting for you.

I failed to pick up any Church of Christ news this week. Red Stephenson will quit jotting it down for me if I don't drop around once in a while and see him. Anyhow it is safe to say the Church of Christ will have Bible study at 10 a. m. on Sundays and church service at 11 a. m. This is a fine progressive congregation and all visitors are welcome. There is the Church of Christ, Baptist Church and Methodist Church in Whiteface. Choose one of these churches and attend services Sunday.

Mrs. Ed Whiteside from Paint Rock, Texas has been visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hays B. Robbins of Whiteface. Mrs. Whiteside was a former Whiteface school girl. She later attended T.C.U. Her husband is county agent from Paint Rock and at this writing is visiting the Fat Stock Show in Ft. Worth.

Mr. W. C. Whitaker has leased the Capps Barber Shop. Mr. Capps said he is going to help out at the barber shop occasionally and sell some ice on the side. But I'll bet that Mr. Capps is laying the way for some fishing this coming summer.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Whiteface Methodist Church met with Mrs. Orian Dennis Wednesday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Herman Elliot, the president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. O. C. Rankin was appointed Spiritual Life Chairman; Mrs. Nathan Tubbs, Recreation and Supply; Mrs. Herbert Lindsey, membership chairman. Roll call was answered with a favorite Bible verse. Minutes of the last meeting were read. Mrs. Dennis gave the 23rd Psalm in an Indian version which was very interesting. Plans for a study were discussed. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Elliot on Feb. 9th. Roll call will be answered with a scripture about love. The hostess served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Raymond Fitzgerald, Mrs. Herbert Lindsey, Mrs. O. C. Rankin, Mrs. Roy Patterson, Mrs. Elliot, and a visitor, Mrs. John Lindsey.

Roping strays—All the ice had melted where I work but a little piece about a foot square and I had to choose it to slip on and bust a rib. Now I am all strapped up and Doc says I have to wear this wide belt for three weeks. This is going to be bad when I eat at Ben Neal's house as I can't eat all I want to because of the wide belt being so tight. But thank you W. G. Hollingsworth, gangpusher for Stanolind, for coming over on my job and helping me out in starting my engine. You and your roustabouts have been good about this.

Dr. L. G. Grupe Gives Opinion on Basic Science Bill Facing Texas Legislature

Dr. L. George Grupe of San Angelo, vice-president of the International Chiropractors Association, charged in Austin today that enactment of a basic science bill now pending in the Texas Legislature would give the State Medical Association a "life and death" grip on all forms of treatment used by practitioners of the healing arts.

"The Basic Science Bill is still just as unsatisfactory to the people of Texas now as it was two years ago, four years ago, or six years ago," Dr. Grupe said.

"The State Medical Association is desperate this year to establish a medical monopoly—so desperate that it has cloaked its usual legislation in a new name in an effort to deceive the people."

He pointed out that the legislation the medical association is seeking is called a minimum standards act this year.

"It is the same Basic Science bill the people of Texas through their representatives in the Legislature have rejected time and time again."

"The State Medical Association is still demanding that practitioners of all healing arts approach the question of disease, causation and correction from the same point of view—that all should be masters of certain medical subjects from an allopathic point of view."

"The chiropractor does not, and never has, claimed to be a general practitioner of medicine. He is a specialist, who believes that many ailments originate in the nervous system of the spine and can be corrected by adjustments."

"Requiring chiropractors to be proficient in certain allopathic medical subjects, many of them in no wise related to ailments originating in the spine—such as the basic science bill proposes—is like requiring a newspaperman to appear before a board of radio announcers and pass a voice test before he becomes qualified to write a news story or an editorial."

"Members of the State Medical Association claim they are interested in passage of a basic science bill because many inefficient practitioners would be eliminated.

"The sincerity of the Medical Association's interest in health standards can be judged by the fact that chiropractors of Texas have presented the chiropractic minimum standards bill each session for a number of years to set up high educational standards for their profession, but that their efforts to protect the public have been thwarted on each occasion by the selfish opposition of the State Medical Association."

"Make no mistake about it, these leaders of allopathic medicine want to rule the roost and tell every Texan—'We know what's best for you. You go to the doctor we tell you to go to or remain sick.'"

Dr. Grupe said the chiropractors have the highest educational standards for their limited field of practice of any professional group and again this year are attempting to pass a chiropractic minimum standards bill to compel all chiropractors to meet high standards of educational qualifications.

"On the other hand, if there are any incompetent allopathic medical practitioners—and the State Allopathic Medical Association in its latest propaganda admits there are—then the obvious step is for all the allopaths to take corrective action in their own field, like the chiropractors are attempting to do in theirs."

"The State Allopathic Medical Association, however, is apparently not interested in cleaning its own house. For the basic science bill specifically exempts its members from provisions of the bill."

YOUR BUSINESS APPRECIATED

B. H. Odom, Owner Homer Wheeler, Welder and Mechanic

This is a diesel . . . a modern locomotive that means better service to you.
Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed . . . a "make work" grab that means less service to you.

● Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste—a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs—for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving faster, better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front. The engineer handles the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened a strike. You may not be interested in this dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads—of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol. Diesel crews are among the highest paid railroad employees—real aristocrats of labor! Their pay is high by any standard. Granting of these demands, therefore, would mean that the railroads would be paying out millions in unearned wages to those in the very highest pay brackets.

We'd Like To Spend This Money On You

You know how much the diesel has meant to you in increased speed, comfort and convenience. The railroads have many more of them on order for even greater improvement in service to you. But needless drains of money, such as this present demand of the unions for needless men on diesels, reduce the ability of the railroads to spend money on better service for you.

Proud as the railroads are of the diesel, it is only a small part of their improvement program. Since the War, literally billions of dollars have been spent on improvement of tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But brazen feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement programs. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

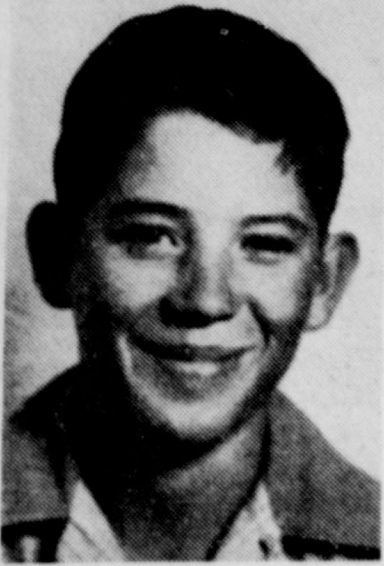

These demands are against YOUR interests—as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the last ditch—and why they are telling you about them.

McDaniels, Alford Chosen Favorites

Marvin McDaniels

Jean Alford

Marvin McDaniels and Jean Alford, were chosen sophomore favorites in a contest recently. The staff is presenting the favorites of each class in a special column of the paper. Marvin is a handsome brown eyed lad who is a typical American. He has played the cornet in the band for two years. Having a birthday on January 10, he was 15 years old. Jean Alford was also favorite of the freshman class last year. She is vice president of the MYF, member of the Pep Squad, basketball team, and makes the honor roll steadily. She was the Football team's candidate in the Beauty Queen of Morton School contest sponsored by the War Whoop last fall.

Agriculture Short Shots of Interest

The housefly carries typhoid, tuberculosis, dysentery and intestinal worms. Many folks wonder why Noah didn't take advantage of the situation and kill both flies when he had such a good chance.

The offensive, sickening odor left by cockroaches is caused by an oil secreted by their scent glands. The odor can be removed by washing the articles in hot soapy water.

Neat's foot oil, cod liver or castor oil may be applied very evenly and softly with a cloth. After it has been rubbed well into the leather, shoes will take a good shine when dry.

Corn cobs are used in making some types of abrasive hand soaps such as mechanics use. The corn cobs are added to give a mild rubbing action for a faster, better job of cutting grease and paint.

Families are planning fewer children, are waiting longer to have them, and are setting increasingly higher objectives and attainments for their children.

Most garden soils should be prepared for spring planting in February. Be sure to allow for good drainage of the garden plot.

The outlook is going to be good for the dairyman who does a good job.

"Road House" to Show at Wallace Sunday, Monday

The year Ida Lupino spent away from Hollywood before appearing on the Twentieth Century-Fox set for her role in "Road House" was one of the busiest in the brilliant star's career. Miss Lupino, one of the screen's most-in-demand actresses, was engaged in a self-imposed boycott on her services until she found a story she really liked.

"During the year," she says, "I read 52 scripts, 34 original stories and 20 novels."

Of these, only three interested her, one of which was "Road House." While Ida was reading the story, Darryl Zanuck had already negotiated for its purchase. When he heard that Miss Lupino was interested in playing the part of Lily Stevens, it was only a matter of days before the contracts were signed. The blonde, blue-eyed star joined a cast of top players which, in addition to herself, includes Cornel Wilde, Celeste Holm and Richard Widmark in the film opening Sunday at the Wallace Theatre.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our many friends and neighbors for the words of kindness, the beautiful flowers and other expressions of sympathy during the protracted illness and death of our wife and mother. We especially thank those who brought food and the kind ones who stayed with us when it was necessary. For every kind word and deed we are deeply grateful.

L. B. Bass, Edwin and David.

-- annegrams -- — by ann england —

Those Miller boys Ermon A. and Lloyd C. (no relation) certainly fouled us up on Lions program last week. They came in and gave Bill (Bill H. that is) the program schedule in advance, he in turn passed it on to us and sure enough the picture Mr. Peters ran had nothing to do with Tech or Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

We do have an advantage—if anything goes wrong (and something usually does) we can TRY to explain it through this column. Something not everyone can do. However we have found that explanations sometimes lead to confusion and often it is best to just keep quiet—which happens to be a large order for us.

Van Greene's new yellow Oldsmobile convertible is a dilly; hope he invites us to make a trip to the mountains—we'd love to see the tops of the tall timber from an open car.

Speaking of mountains we heard that skiing is grand now at Ruidoso—two new 600 ft. ski tows have been added and according to Buddy Boyce "everyone is having a wonderful time."

Hazel and Teener Hancock pulled our car out of the alley Friday morning. We got stuck in the mud trying to get in the garage Thursday evening. Certainly is nice to have such fine accomodating neighbors.

N. H. Steed was in Saturday to renew his Tribune. Mr. Steed is like a lot of other folks, ignores the cards we send as reminders that their subscription has expired—but when we take their name off the mailing list they quickly remember. Mr. S. is nice tho—not only does he read the Tribune but when he has finished he sends it on to his daughter, Katherine Miller in Colorado.

In a very short time J. L. Winder has completely mastered those new store bought teeth—we saw him the other day in the post office eating, of all things, lemon drops. He is one of our favorite people and actually looks younger each time we see him.

We opened Josephine Cox envelope from San Francisco with eager anticipation (she usually writes a note) this time it contained nothing but a check for renewal purposes.

San Francisco is one of our favorite cities—we lived there on the corner of Pacific and Gough while attending the University. Occasionally we have a nostalgic longing for the flower stalls on every corner, the fog, tea dancing at the Mark Hopkins, golfing at the presidio and driving our Ford roadster, Mr. Perkins, (named so for some reason long since forgotten) to Yosemite National Park for holidays.

We have only been completely "turned-around" and "lost" twice in our life and one of those times was when we first arrived in the City. After asking directions for the fourth time from the same policeman he finally suggested, "Lady why don't I just walk you to your hotel, I think we will both save time that way."

We loved Golden Gate park, especially the tropical gardens, China Town, Market Street, the Embarcadero and the funny up and down streets.

The most embarrassing thing that happened to us there was the ringing of doorbells hunting an apartment. We did it for two weeks before someone explained that the answering buzz opened the door.

We were so short of cash that one of our dear friends sent us a box of groceries each week from the San Joaquin valley. If our friends hadn't been so generous in inviting us out to dine we would probably have starved to death. Can't remember but sure we felt at the time as if we were undergoing terrific hardship but in retrospect it was sheer joy.

Oh, the only other time we were lost was in a wooded place near grandpa's farm where the horses were turned loose to graze. Grandpa had given us a pony and we went alone to the woods to get it. Got in there and couldn't find our way out, after walking around for hours (so it seemed) we finally climbed on Pokey and he carried us to the woods gate and path to the house.

Ye gods! we've been told one is getting old when he starts reminiscing—we seem to be on the down grade.

Hope the tickets for Lions tenth anniversary hold out, from what we've heard of the program it is really going to be "super." As everyone knows Dr. Jackson is a raconteur and Bill Rutherford is also an able and popular speaker.

Paul Goodman has worked himself to a frenzy on the Lions program and his pretty little wife, La Vina, is in a dither getting ready for the L'Allegro party this Friday night. Last year the L'Allegro party was extra special and we feel confident this one will be even better.

Don't crowd boys but we have an extra "comp" ticket to the L'Allegro party. The catch is, we go with it. The spouse is usually "too tired" for these affairs.

The Plainsmen, vocal quartet from Lubbock, singing Wednesday night at Veterans Hall, have been out here before. They are really good.

Homer E. Thompson asked us to let everyone know that this farm bureau meeting is open to the public. Which is very nice but a little difficult to handle as we don't know whether to write the story in the past or future tense. As we mentioned at the beginning of the column writing things in advance isn't always a good idea.

Anyway if you read this before too late Wednesday evening, February 9, and want to hear some good music, drink coffee and eat cookies for free—dash right up to Veterans Hall where you will be welcome.

We are still wondering what H. S. Hawkins meant when he said, "Why, Ann if I had parked there I could have gotten out." The thing is Mr. H parked at church Sunday and then directed us into a spot where we stuck immediately—it took Mr. H and several others to push us out of that mud. He probably had in mind his Oldsmobile versus the Buick—surely he doesn't think a woman's driving ability inferior to that of a man?

Why don't we get all of our streets paved? Goodness, Morton is a big town now. Just as well vote some more bonds we already have so many we will never get out of debt anyway.

We haven't met preacher Bryan's bride, but those who have say she is mighty pretty—ditto Bill Crone's new wife.

Someone was telling us the

other day that James St. Clair's doctor told him to slow down—someone went on to say that if James slowed down anymore he'd have to be wheeled around in a chair.

Noticed our bright little friend made Wayne C. Sellers' column in the Star-Telegram via annegrams last Sunday. Just about the time we give up and think Wayne has forgotten us along comes a quote in "Talk from Texas Towns" that gives us a lift no end.

Which reminds us, we met Mrs. Sellers while in Austin recently, she is a lovely girl and we teasingly accused Wayne of having a rabbit's foot in his pocket when he found her. Actually we are quite fond of Wayne and think he deserves Mrs. S.

We take off our hat to Mrs. Q. V. Winningham and her pupils; they donated their prize money in the March of Dimes contest to the fund drive. A committee composed of Barbara Jo Ramby and Ray Ann Ross came to the office last Friday to notify us of the decision.

The two little girls made a nice committee and we appreciate their coming in very much.

Was it Sadi who said? "Have patience! All things are difficult before they become easy." Hope he knows what he was talking about.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

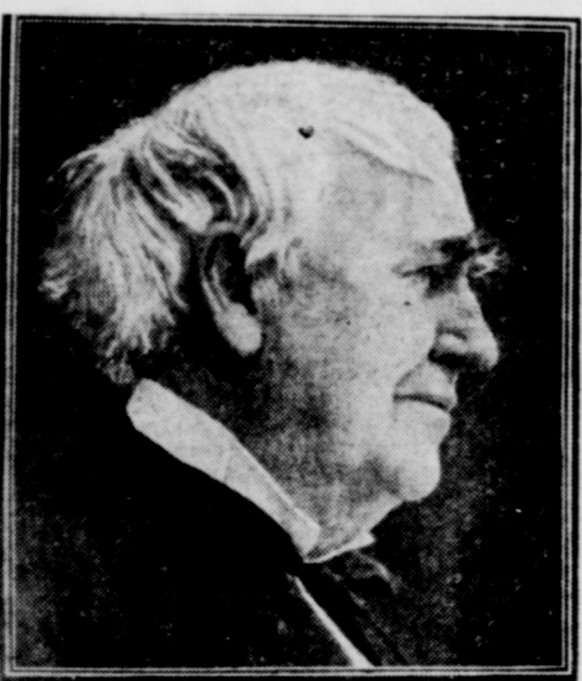

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke. "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

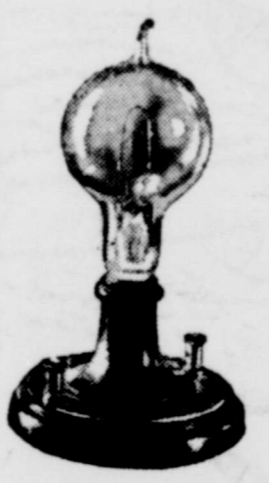

From where I sit, it's that spirit of understanding that helps make our democracy so great. Understanding for the other fellow's problems and respect for the other fellow's rights—whether it's his right to earn a living, his right to cast his vote against your candidate, or even his right to enjoy a moderate, friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when he chooses. Let's always keep it that way!

YOU AND YOUR SHARE
 If ever this nation needed an economy-minded Congress, it is now. The cost of government has shot up all out of sight. Current high costs of government represent more than just dollar inflation. What we have had, without clearly realizing it, is a boom in government. This boom has flourished until there is danger of collapse from the very size of the superstructure itself. Our ship of state is indeed top-heavy.
 Lumping all government together—federal, state, local—tax collections for the 1948 fiscal year came to 26 1/2 per cent of the national income. Perhaps you can see it better if we should divide up that $55.2 billion dollars of tax collections, to find what was your part. It amounts to $377 for each man, woman, and child in the nation. You didn't pay that much? Brother, your share was tucked away in the price of everything you spent your money for!

Fuel For Bureaucracy
 You can see how much taxes have grown, if you compare the above figures with those for 1940. Then tax collections were $14.4 billion, or 18.9 per cent of national income. The amount for each person in 1940 was only $109. In eight years, therefore, we have more than tripled our taxes. A lot of it results from the war. We're spending a lot in Europe, certainly. But let us not use that as an excuse for lack of vigilance about the rest of it. We ought to find a place to stop this mushrooming of government.
 The biggest collector and spender is the federal government, of course. A government can spend only what it receives from the people. The fuel on which bureaucracy feeds is public money. For this reason, Americans ought to be more conscious of taxation and its purposes. Tax bills should interest us even more than budgets. It may be impossible to educate federal bureaus to lower their budgets. But lower taxes will turn the trick.

Government Unlimited
 We are inclined to justify boom government and resulting high taxes in a number of strange ways. In depression times, we call for more and more spending. That mean staxes, but we put them off until later. Then in time of plenty, we think up more things that government can do "better" for us, feeling sure that we can afford it. At the same time, we make little or no effort to catch up and get out of the red. Today, we ignore war-time debts, and forget that we ever did any "deficit" spending!
 Must we dedicate ourselves to unlimited government? Since the founding of America, we have looked to Congress to control taxes. Knowing that "power to tax is power to destroy," the founding fathers placed tax power upon Congress. This power was not meant to be abused. Citizens then were aware that government was meant to serve them, not they to serve the government. That viewpoint still means good citizenship. It is the viewpoint of taxpayers.

Voters Are Taxpayers
 But times have changed. Nowadays American voters (though they be taxpayers to the tune of billions) look upon themselves first as receivers of government benefits, last as payers of tax. Our federal government is now making payments direct to 15,830,899 persons. Some of these are necessary. But too many of us, far too many for the good of the nation, have a personal interest in seeing government expenditures continue. Will any of these 16 million bite the hand that feeds them?

 You see, this is the way we ourselves can undermine the cornerstone of freedom. Almost without knowing it, we have created a huge central government, then given it power to perpetuate itself. If big government can minimize the dangers of entrenched bureaucracy, keep public waste and extravagance out of sight, and go on taxing—then this thing will continue regardless of the party in power. When big government sells people on the idea of lavish hand-outs which they themselves pay for by high taxes, you can call this bribing people with their own money!

'Gives You Texas'
 More memories of a sojourn in California (to help write "Boom Town" nine years ago):
 Of course, in Hollywood, you could go to church. And they have more sects out there than anywhere else in the world—Oriental, metaphysical and many more, including the denominations we are all familiar with.
 Your columnist one night attended a service conducted by Aimee Semple McPherson. The preliminary part of the service was already under way; a brass band was playing. The man next to me said I had missed a xylophone sextet. The main floor, first and second galleries were full and the third gallery was almost filled. The roll of states was called and there were people there from 47.
 Then Sister Aimee appeared. She was wearing a white robe; and the sleeves, when she raised her arms, looked like wings, and she had on a sort of gold halo. She had a brilliant smile, was very fine-looking and had a rich speaking voice. Her subject was "And the Rains Came." (A motion picture with that title had been made a short time before and was a big hit; the title is, of course, taken from the Scriptures.)
 She told the story of Noah. As she was speaking, a curtain parted behind her and there was Noah warning his fellow townsmen that a flood was coming but they scoffed at him. (The scene was acted out, silently.) Sister Aimee went on preaching and there was a second scene which showed Noah and his sons building the ark. Then the animals were shown entering, two by two. Another scene showed the flood; the ark, in the distance, was being tossed on the waves while the lightning flashed from the angry sky.
 It was the most remarkable sermon I ever saw.
 The service closed with a song by a choir of young women who wore robes; each held a colored arch above her head and they sang "Over the Rainbow."
 Apparently honesty isn't the best foreign policy.

Kitchen Komment
 When you buy sheets, don't be over economical on size. Sheets that are too short or too narrow wear out much faster and are not economical in the long run.
 A good way to use the last precious bits of left-over meats is to combine them with macaroni in a smooth cream sauce or canned mushroom soup. Top the casserole dish with margarine bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes.
 Serve quickly-made muffins rich in dates and nuts to add a special touch to a simple meal. They are doubly good when served hot and spread with creamy margarine.

Ask a man when he was born and he will tell you the year. Ask a woman and she will tell you the day.
