

Morton Seniors Honored by WMU At Banquet Tues.

The Senior Class of Morton High School was honored with a banquet by W. M. U. of First Baptist Church, Tuesday night, March 15 in the church parlors.

Colorful balloons and silver stars suspended from the ceiling; lighted candles and a "wishing well" carried out the "wishland" theme.

Guests were seated at tables for four. Place cards were tiny graduates in cap and gown, with "Howard Payne" college banners, and programs with the wishing theme as programs.

The Rev. D. C. Wright, Pastor of Levelland First Baptist Church, was guest speaker. Music, singing and pantomime of wishes of various class members completed the program.

BOYCE HOUSE 'Gives You Texas'

A book store owner in a Texas city was relating an experience he had had with a publishing house representative. The latter had insisted that the dealer wasn't ordering enough copies of a book, whereupon the dealer exclaimed:

"That's the way with you fellows from up North—always trying to tell us Texans how to run our business."

I asked the dealer, "Where did you come from originally?"

"Wisconsin."

"How long have you been down here?"

"Two years—but I'm a Texan now!"

Phrases without which nobody could run for office:

"Economy and efficiency."

"Clean as a hound's tooth."

"Point with pride."

"View with alarm."

"Born on a farm."

"Poor but honest parents."

"Wage a clean campaign, free or personalities."

"A business administration."

"Bravest men and most beautiful women."

"Less government in business."

"Public office is a public trust."

It was Twain who declared,

"Hunger is the handmaid of genius."

WHY NAME CALLING?

The calling of names is a propaganda technique based on delusion and trickery. It has been common in politics for a long time, and has done its part to give politics a bad reputation among the people in general. The name caller is not satisfied with presenting his case on its merits, he must destroy confidence in his opponent. He therefore pins the worst names he can find upon the other fellow, whether accurate or not.

Americans are accustomed to a certain amount of this in election campaigns. But surely we have not come to the place where we expect it in the halls of Congress. In legislative sessions, when serious national problems are being discussed, it is a bit disturbing to hear so much name-calling. Any American has the right to disagree with another and to speak out his mind. But it is not necessary always to discredit those who disagree with us.

Freedom Is Fragile

The worst thing that has happened in America in the last twenty years has been the tendency to divide our people into class groups. Our country has long been known as the "melting pot", where immigrant lads and backwoods boys can become bankers and industrialists. High born or low born, rich or poor, in America it never really has mattered. The important thing in America is that a man may plan and live out his own dream.

Some folks apparently have forgotten that these freedoms of ours are fragile and perishable. Unless we attend to the keeping of each of them, it is possible to lose them all. The building of class consciousness is one of the very worst things we can do to our American life. It could be the entering wedge of all kinds of "isms", any one of which in time might well put us in chains. There is no place in our way of life for the fanning of race and class hatreds.

Unwholesome Effect

The term "big business" is used as name-calling, sometimes as scapegoat, by unthinking persons and by those who have isms up their sleeves. Name-calling of business, big or little or any size, can have nothing but an unwholesome effect upon the American scene. A U. S. Senator was quoted in the press recently as saying: "It appears that big business would rather risk a continued inflation of prices than balance the budget through increased taxes."

You see, all the people of the nation are paying about a third of their total income in taxes. Must anyone who believes that taxes should not be raised be placed on the receiving end of a name calling campaign? One senator on the Senate Labor Committee keeps branding as "fascist" certain of those who oppose increased taxation. Is it logical to accuse men of wanting inflation if they oppose higher taxes?

Public Opinion

Does this mean the Senators cannot make out a reasonable case for increased taxes? Does it mean that they can defend the case for higher taxes only by hanging ugly tags on those who oppose tax increases? If we must try to set the public against our business men who make the telephones, radios, refrigerators, and store bought clothing we buy—then we are ready to welcome the end of freedom of enterprise.

If we must try to set the public against business and turn labor against management, then we have sunk to a low level indeed. If we must turn the public in general against employers who are providing millions of jobs at the highest wages ever earned, if we would turn public sentiment and opinion against business and industry—then I am afraid we have reached a level that signals the end of our American way and our high standard of living.

QUOTES ON COTTON

Must Raise Our Sights—"Every year has brought improvements in cotton. Old goals have been reached and passed. Now we must raise our sights. Why not produce a bale of cotton on every acre planted in the Southeast in 1949?"—H. A. Woodie, South Carolina Extension Service.

Too Early To Be Scared—"The 1949 cotton crop may be large. Then again it may be small. Weather conditions will determine that. It will be time to be concerned about the overabundance of cotton this fall when and if a large crop is indicated by plantings or the conditions on August 1. It seems too early now."—Gerald L. Dearing in Memphis "Commercial Appeal."

Thinning Not Needed—"By finding the potential germination of his cottonseed and treating the seed before planting, the grower can now select a planting rate which makes thinning unnecessary."—North Carolina Experiment Station Annual Report.

1947 Clover Still Paying—"A hubam clover seed crop harvested in 1947 is still paying dividends for Jack Davis of Ellis County. The yield of cotton following clover was 210 pounds of seed cotton per acre higher than where cotton followed cotton. Cottonseed quality also was better, analyzing higher in oil and protein content."—Texas Extension Service.

Winners Tell How—"If you could talk to winners of the various 1948 cotton contests, practically all of them would tell you: 'My cotton followed a legume and was fertilized liberally—I planted certified seed, treated to prevent disease, I poisoned as many times as needed to control insects.'"—"Southern Agriculturist".

New pots and pans with copper sandwiched between two layers of stainless steel distribute heat evenly and are easy to keep clean.

 Conduct Classes
 In Tailoring Here
 On Friday, March 25, Miss Mary Ruth, clothing specialist from the Extension Service, will be in Morton to start classes for a tailoring school. These classes will meet one day a week for four weeks.
 The following ladies have enrolled for the course: Mesdames Andrew Essary, V. H. Bewley, W.
 K. Courtney, Francis Cunningham, G. D. Keith, Cecil Masten, P. E. Liles, and F. L. Fred. Each lady will in turn teach four others, making a total of forty women who have had the course.
 The tailoring school will be climaxed by a dress review in the fall where garments made in the school will be modeled.

FHA Gypsy Party
 Held in Benham
 Home March 19
 The gypsy party held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Benham, Saturday night, March 19,
 was well attended.
 Entertainment consisted of games and contests directed by Jean Alford and Peggy Lillje-dahl. One of the most interesting contests was that of designing and modeling hats. The boys designed the hats from paper plates, tin cans, vegetables, fruits,
 etc. and the girls modeled them.
 Johnnie Green and Jean Alford won first prize. Beverly Blackley and David Stewart won second place. Nell Brown, Jimmie Winder, and Martha Willis, Royce Smith tied for third place. Ruth Williams came out the winner of the gypsy contest and Jo Beth Russell second.
 Fortunes were told by Mrs.
 Carl Wiechmann, sister of D. E.
 Benham, and this was thoroughly enjoyed by all.
 Ruth Baker and Vera Dale Coon made the delicious cookies and punch for the occasion.
 Those attending were: Peggy Lilljedahl, Jean Alford, Martha
 Willis, Janelle Jones, Nell Brown,
 Beverly Blackley, Martha Wood,
 Joyce Daniels, Jo Beth Russell,
 Ruth Williams, Sybil Neagle,
 Twila Daniels, Kat Kennedy,

Texas Sportsmen
 To Hold First
 Statewide Meet
 Texas hunters and fishermen hit the trail for Brownwood April 7 for the first Texas Sportsmen's Competition and selection of state champions in plug and fly casting, skeet and trap shooting, pistol and rifle marksmanship,
 and hunting dogs.
 The competition, the first ever to be held on a state-wide basis in the United States, will last four days, April 7-10 and will be the "biggest camp meeting in Texas history," according to Conrad Fath of Austin, general chairman for the event which is sponsored by the Texas Wildlife Federation. Participate and observers will camp on the site of the competition.
 Events are open to participants of all ages. In the plug and fly casting events, special divisions are set up for men, women and children with merchandise prizes, medals and trophies in each division. Fishermen's accuracy and fishermen's distance events on Saturday, April 9, will prove especially attractive to the ordinary, everyday fishermen, because anybody who has ever placed in any casting contest is barred from entering. Sunday's open casting events, however, are open to all who want to enter.
 Merchandise prizes, medals and trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in all events with extra prizes for third and fourth place winners in some events.
 The only qualifications for participation in the competition is membership in a club affiliated with the Texas Wildlife Federation, an organization of 250 hunting, fishing and other sports clubs. Clubs not at present affiliated with the Federation may do so by contacting Conrad Fath at 506 Lamar Blvd., Austin.
