Electrical Storm Leaves Calling Card At Local Hospital Friday Morning

The electrical storm which lashed this area about 2 a. m. Friday morning left a calling card at the West Plains Hospital when a bolt of lightning struck the west end of the building just at the top point of the roof.

The bolt smashed into the building during the height of storm, one of the severest ever to visit this area. According to Mrs. Jeanne Ponder, R. N., on duty at the time, the building trembled under the impact.

The point struck was a half circle of brick, tile, and concrete about four feet across and 18 inches thick, surmounted by a heavy stone pinnacle. The lightning tore this completely off, scattering the stone and brick in all directions and doing some damage to the tile roof in the immediate vicinity. Extent of possible additional damage had not been determined.

"Each time the lightning flashed a spark of electricity from a foot to two feet in length would leap out from the telephone in the hallway," said Mrs. Ponder. "This practically stopped passage

Good Neighbor Policy Thriving In Local Project

In this day and age of hustle and bustle, the old spirit of "help on another" is often shoved aside or forgotten entirely. When a story comes to the front which shows that good neighbors still do exist, it seems worthy of a little public notice.

In the Famuliner project this spirit is thriving still and it was illustrated very recently.

H. H. Rosson, who has a farm in the project, became ill two weeks ago and was taken to the hospital. His case was diagnosed as undulant fever. Neighbors of Mr. Rosson proved themselves to be just that—neighbors. They arranged to have his cows tested for Bangs disease which transmits the disease. That not being enough, they went ahead and planted his cotton.

Bufford Webb, who also has a farm in this project, had his cotton blown out by the sand storms and it was necessary to replant. Last Thursday, neighbors came with four four-row tractors and helped him replant about 80 acres of cotton.

officials that small rubbish be placed in some sort of container so that it can be more easily loaded. All containers and large pieces of rubbish must be piled or placed by the trash barrel at a place convenient for loading.

Containers should not be heavier than two men can handle. It will be picked up, maybe not the first day but as soon as the trucks can get around. City officials have also requested that no rubbish be set on fire as this creates a fire hazard and tends to keep the fire insurance rates high.

Riding Circle Around Whitefaces

by Art. N. Wall

Mr. P. M. Williams of Whiteface died at the Dupree Hospital in Levelland on the afternoon of June 6th. Permanus M. Williams was born in 1873 twelve miles from Gainesville, Georgia on November the 4th. In 1892 Mr. Williams married Amanda Victoria Fraser. To this union two children were born who are, Lois Williams who is now Mrs. J. B. Neal of Whiteface and her brother, Mr. Burton Williams also of Whiteface. Mr. and Mrs. Williams moved from Georgia to the Indian Territory of Oklahoma and in 1936 moved to Whiteface. Mr. Williams farmed near Cobie Switch up to 1941 when ill health caused him to cease this work. For the past few months Mr. Williams had suffered from complications resulting from pneumonia that he had been stricken with this past winter. He had been in the Levelland Hospital nearly ten days before his death. Funeral services were held on the afternoon of June 7th at the Whiteface Methodist Church. Interment was held at the cemetery in Levelland. For the present Mrs. Williams will continue to make her home in Whiteface. Mr. Williams had made many friends in our community and he will be greatly missed.

Thanks, Lions Club for those neat street signs. They were needed too.

Mr. David Alvarado of Los Angeles is visiting in Whiteface. David formerly lived in Whiteface and has many friends here.

Miss Sue Brock of Borger, Texas is visiting her sister Mrs. Gerald L. Crupper of the Stanolind Mallet "G" camp.

Mr. R. A. Resner and family of Russell, Kansas has been visiting with his sister, Mrs. Claude Williamson of the Stanolind Mallet "G" camp. Mr. and Mrs. Resner left last Monday the 6th for California for a brief stay.

Those long looked for dial phones are being installed in Whiteface. That is a big step forward for our town and we should all be proud of this fine phone service. At the present while the dial phones are being installed our phone service is "out of kilter" but this is only a temporary drawback that will level off when this system is completed.

Mr. L. L. Bechtel, superintendent of the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, production department, is resting in the Brownfield hospital from an appendicitis operation. Mr. Bechtel was operated on last Tuesday afternoon the 7th. At the present he is recovering nicely.

It seems like everyone is taking vacations or long week-end trips. I am going to have to check over my camping equipment. This coming July, I get three weeks off and am heading for Northern New Mexico. I know a beauty of a camp spot there right close to a mountain stream and I know of a trout that lays under the banks of that stream. Last year he ployed with every fly I cast and I wonder if he will this year.

Talked with a fellow who sells "vacation kit" trailers. These trailers are all aluminum. They are all fixed up nicely inside, breakfast nooks, a place for fishing tackle, and what all. They are built light so you will hardly know you are pulling one behind a car. They are nice for a vacation alright but do you know—everything just tastes better cooked over a camp fire and ate out of a tin platter.

Here we go again on that swimming pool. Grown ups—you might as well get started and build these kids a good clean swimming pool. Now just imagine yourself a kid without a swimming pool. Here is one for some man or group of men to think about—everyone whom I have talked to about a swimming pool has said he or she would donate towards it.

Why don't some civic organization appoint a committee and see what a pool could be built for then see how much could be raised. There is towns who have built far more expensive structures under greater handicaps than we would have in building a swimming pool. What is more important in our way of life than our kids? Couldn't Morton and Whiteface work together on this pool? Here are some more letters:

Rural Route 1 Morton, Texas Mr. A. N. Wall, Whiteface, Texas Dear Sir:

If we had a swimming pool in Whiteface with a good swimming teacher everyone would learn to swim. About a year ago my little brother was playing along the side of the swimming pool in Odessa. He saw a boy about his size go by him and dive into the water. My little brother thought if the other little boy could do it he could too. He dove in and couldn't swim. He would have drowned if I wasn't in there. If he could swim he could dive in without someone helping him out. Everyone should know how to swim to protect theirs and others lives.

Sincerely, Larry Brooker.
Thanks Larry. Good thing you were in that pool. We will get a swimming pool here sometime maybe. That is a good pool in Odessa.

Box 1044 Whiteface, Texas Mr. A. N. Wall, Whiteface, Texas Dear Sir:

The reason we want a swimming pool is to learn to swim. I think it is one of the best sports and exercises you can do. Sometime you may need to know to swim to help someone else. I don't know how but I want to learn. Swimming is healthy also. We need an instructor to teach us how to swim. I have been in swimming before but it wasn't much fun because I didn't know how to swim. I know everyone will enjoy it.

Sincerely, Louise Walker.
Louise, that is a nice letter and very neat. I bet you would make a good swimmer and when you learn to swim its lots of fun. Write again anytime. Thanks. And thank you Ladois Sides for the following letter. It was very good and neat too.

Morton, Texas, Route 1 Dear Mr. Wall:

I would like to have a swimming pool in Whiteface because swimming is a good exercise, it will enable you to get enough energy, strength, and exercise. It would help the town and every boy and girl should know how to swim.

Sincerely yours, Ladois Sides

Arnn of Denver, Colorado; two sisters and five brothers, one brother being Tom Arnn of Morton.

Wheat Harvest Bulletin Report

Showers to heavy rains have continued over most of the wheat belt during the past 24 hours, leaving fields wet and approximately all equipment stopped. In-migration of equipment and workers is continuing, with equipment standing by both on the South Plains and in the upper Panhandle, waiting for the weather to clear. This equipment will be rapidly absorbed as soon as weather permits cutting.

Spearman and Gruver, in Hansford County, received from 2 1/2 to 3 inches of rain Thurs. night. Harvest should get well underway on the South Plains Monday, June 13, and reach its peak by the end of next week. Spotted cutting should begin in the upper Panhandle area by the middle of the week and will reach its peak about June 24, weather permitting.

No shortages of equipment are anticipated in the near future. A surplus of extra harvest hands is expected, at least for the next few days.

Young County—Harvest 80 to 90 percent complete. Only scattered small acreage left. Fields still wet from rain Wednesday night. Most equipment has moved to South Plains. Remaining acreage will be cut by local machines. This county will not be included in subsequent reports.

Coleman County—Harvest 69 percent complete. Should end by June 15. Clear and warm Friday with harvest progressing rapidly. Some damage to late oats reported. In-migration of labor and equipment has stopped.

Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Briscoe, Swisher, Hall, Childress and Collingsworth Counties—A few loads of early wheat have been cut in most of these counties, however rains the past few days have left fields wet and activity at a standstill. Cutting will be resumed first of this week, weather permitting. With clear weather, harvest should be in full swing by late this week.

"Beyond Glory" To Be Shown at Wallace Theatre

At long last, Hollywood has turned out a picture with a West Point locale which does not depict that vaunted American institution as a huge song and dance hall where most lessons are learned under the kissing rock along Flirtation Walk.

This movie milestone is Paramount's "Beyond Glory", showing Wednesday and Thursday, June 22-23, at the Wallace Theatre. Co-starring Donna Reed with Alar Ladd, the latter playing a role which adds dramatic stature to his already esteemed position as a two-fisted action star, "Beyond Glory" does not delve too deeply into the life of the Academy itself.

It tells, rather, a gripping story of the dramatic events leading up to and following Ladd's entrance into the military school, where he becomes involved in a scandal which threatens not only his future, but the Academy's.

UNDER TEXAS SKIES

A. Garland Adair, Curator of History, Texas Memorial Museum

Burt Giesecke of Austin, former commander of the American Legion of the Department of Texas, calls attention to an inspiring bit of news and a splendid advertisement to add to "Twice Told Tales of Texas" and the growing list of Texas Brags. He referred to Life Magazine's recent pictures and brief article concerning the last survivors of the war of secession, which Life correctly concludes terminated 84 years ago. It did not end at Appomattox. It was not over until several weeks after Jeff Davis went "AWOL" and Lee entertained Grant and rode home a paroled prisoner of war. Texans, down in the Magic Valley, near the home of Unreconstructed Senator Rogers Kelley, fought and won the last battle of the fratricide. The Union forces had come into the state after trespassing on Texas tidelands.

Life makes a real contribution to history in this production. It has been the work of many months of patient toil and exacting research, which other great publications and institutions will, no doubt, perpetuate and add a worth-while sequel thereto.

The magazine pictures all 68 of the venerable and honored surviving veterans. They disclose that 30 Federals still live as against 38 Confederates now called Dixiecrats. Of the grand total of 68, a little better than fifteen per cent of them, or 11 in number, reside in Texas. (Moral: Come to Texas and live to a ripe and revered old age).

The pictures portray an awful story of the inequities and injustice of war. The ages of the survivors are given, which disclose the tearful fact that some of the Confederates shouldered arms and went away to battle for states' rights at the tender school-age of 12 and 13.

Civil war days were bitter days. The bitterness should be buried with the past, but the memory of the high principles for which both sides fought should remain with us so long as Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis are listed among the great of American history.

"We'll hang old Jeff Davis to a sour apple tree, as we go marching on" and other miserable, tuneful tirades in the songs of the sixties sung largely by non-combatants against leaders in both north and south should have no permanently live niche in the music studios of true patriots above or below the Mason-Dixon Line.

The beloved Harry F. Estill, in his "The Beginners History of Our Country," devotes a most entertaining and beautiful chapter about "The Story of Two Kentucky Boys". Dr. Estill wrote: "A few years before the beginning of the War of 1812 two boys were born in the State of Kentucky who were destined when they were each about fifty years of age to be leaders of opposing sides in the great war between the Northern and Southern States. Less than a hundred miles separated the birthplaces of these boys, and there was only eight months difference in their ages... Abraham Lincoln's father moved northward from Kentucky; Jefferson Davis's father moved southward from Kentucky and settled in Mississippi."

The Texas Memorial Museum of the University of Texas campus and the Museum of the Daughters of the Confederacy on the capitol campus at Austin are both working on their labor of love in perpetuating the memories of the heroes and heroines of the southland. Inspiring collections have been assembled at both museums.

President Davis of the Confederate States of America was offered the presidency of Texas A. and M. College. He declined. His reasons were noble. However he was well qualified to handle the important assignment, by experience, training and education. His tenure of work in the cotton field was very limited, although he did grow up on a Mississippi plantation.

Before entering his teens, little Jeff decided he would have no more of school. His father listened to his plea and said, "It is for you to choose whether you will work with your head or with your hands; of course my son could not be an idler." For two days the future leader of his countrymen worked steadily in the cotton field beside his father's slaves who dearly loved him. And that was the extent of his cotton picking.

An inscription on a marble slab in the wall of the Baptist Church at Fairview, Kentucky reads as follows: "Jefferson Davis, of Mississippi, was born June 3, 1808, on the site of this church. He made a gift of this lot March 10, 1886, to Bethel Baptist Church, as a thanks offering to the Lord."

LOOKING AHEAD By George S. Benson, President, Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

SWEAT AND TAXES
"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors because they are a burden on production and are paid through production. Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay. They pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy, or in broad unemployment through-out the land." That statement is just as true now as it was in 1932 when Franklin D. Roosevelt said it.

Today, there is even better reason for applying that philosophy. The "reckless extravagance" that so alarmed Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 was like junior's allowance, compared with federal spending today. Then, the government was spending about $4 billion annually. Now, the federal payroll alone is $7 billion. The two-million-odd federal employees are costing taxpayers nearly twice the amount of the entire budget of only 17 years ago.

Into The Red
It is unfortunate that most of us are unable to think in terms of millions and billions. But perhaps this year's proposed budget of $42 billion can be understood if it is pointed out that it is more than was spent during five of the most spendthrift years of the Thirties: 1935-39. Expenditures of the federal government will therefore total more than $1,400 for a family of five, on a per capita basis. That is far and away too much, and it is soaring higher.

Despite the fact that federal, state, and local taxes are taking 25 per cent of the nation's income, latest reports show that the federal government is spending more than it is collecting.

VISITED ARMSTRONGS HERE
J. O. Haymes, district superintendent, Lubbock district of Methodist Churches, visited here last Thursday in the C. C. Armstrong home.

ing more than it is collecting. Deficits are beginning to show up. And unless something is done, the government will keep on going "into the red" a few billions more each year. That is exceedingly dangerous business. Deficits will never make it possible to cut down the huge national debt, that hangs so heavily over the nation's whole financial structure.

Not All War Costs
Why do these deficits show up, regardless of the high rate of taxes? That's a good question, for a person might think that with times so good and taxes so heavy, the government ought to be able to stay out of the red. In the first place, 75 per cent of our spending is now going for foreign aid, defense, and cost arising from wars. If we can find the way to peace, these expenditures will drop sharply. That must be done. But that's no excuse for not paring down the other expenditures.

In the second place, that other 25 per cent or less of the national budget is looking for every chance to expand, regardless of any possible drop in other types of expenditures. There are those who disarmingly ask: What hope is there to trim spending, when 75 per cent is for necessary aid to foreign countries and other necessary war costs? They imply that attempts to cut down other spending would bring no relief to the nation's distressing financial burden.

Would Shift Spending
If there is any drop in spending for European reconstruction and for defense, as peace comes, the only right thing to do would be to reduce the national debt and lower taxes to individuals and to business. Instead, however, our government is apparently planning to keep the budget figures high, by increasing our spending at home for various purposes. A glance at bills already introduced will prove this: federal aid, health insurance, security programs, etc.

We must, then, reduce federal expenditures. Economy-minded observers in Washington say that a 10 per cent cut in every budget item would not impair the essential functions of the government. With a reduced budget, tax increases will not be necessary and reductions would soon be in order. Taxes, as Mr. Roosevelt so well said, are a levy on the sweat of every man who works. With all unnecessary government spending eliminated, everybody's standard of living will be better.

Gifts were received from many unable to attend; after the honoree had opened the gifts a refreshment plate was served to Mesdames Neta May Beakley, Y. D. Leavitt, Lingo, New Mexico; Cleburn Owen, Enoch, Ray Keys, Arizona; and Marie Stewart. There were several children present.

Wheeler flunked public speaking in school; then, in true Horatio Alger tradition, he not only "came through"—but went all out and became one of America's most dynamic speakers. Last year Wheeler addressed more than one million people.

Whiteface 4-H Club to Sponsor 'African Adventure' at Auditorium Fri., June 17

In this day when most of the world is "civilized" and one part has almost the same physical appearance as the next, it taxes the imagination to visualize a country where wild animals and the jungle still influence the lives of human beings.

Such is the untamed country of British East Africa where the Law of Nature is still supreme and the tribes of natives are still trying to prove they survive because they are the fittest.

The rudimentary way of life of these people, whose daily existence depends upon a new conquest of the wild, shows not the slightest trace of influence from the great "civilized" continents.

That is why W. G. McMillan's motion picture, "African Adventure," taken during a four-month hunting expedition in Kenya Colony is a genuine and unique interest to the public at large. To his knowledge, no such film, representing a complete cross-section of animal and human life in this last great wilderness, has been shown. "African Adventure" has received a big ovation everywhere. The animals are the actors and the jungle furnishes the props. Who would believe it possible to see 100,000 animals of hundreds of different species in one day? You will, when you see the scenes of mass animal migration in this film. Kenya Colony is the last great concentration of animal life in the world. It's a picture you will never forget.

"African Adventure" is a most entertaining jungle picture. The Whiteface High School 4-H Club is sponsoring the picture Friday, June 17 in the school auditorium at 8:00 p. m.

Hints on Packing a Man's Suit in Travelbag Given

Packing a man's suit in a traveling bag often presents a problem... especially to men. It's a pretty hard job trying to pack a man's suit without wrinkling it at the end of the journey with more creases than there should be.

Mary Routh, extension clothing specialist of Texas A. and M. College, has a few tips on how to get where you're going with the least number of wrinkles. Such practice lengthens the life of the suit and saves pressing bills as well.

Don't spare the tissue paper in suit packing, Miss Routh advises. Use it generously. It helps keep the wrinkles out of suits. Now, for the average suitcase—wider than the gladstone—lay the coat flat on a table or bed, with the collar and lapels turned up. Lay the right front over the left front, bringing both sides over as far as possible without wrinkling the suit.

Sleeves should lie smoothly along the coat. Turn them a little above the elbow and fold up. Then pick up the lower edge of the suit and fold toward suit's top.

With a gladstone bag, the only difference is making one more fold in the body of the coat—up and back. The coat sleeves are not folded separately as for the suitcase.

Trousers are no problem. Miss Routh says. Just make sure the creases are straight and the pockets smooth inside. Fold them over once or twice, depending on the size of the bag.

Suits aren't hard to pack if the job is done right.

'A Southern Yankee' to Show at Wallace Theatre

Red Skelton and Alene Dahl in a scene from M-G-M's howling new comedy, "A Southern Yankee," showing at the Wallace Theatre Sunday and Monday. The picture offers Skelton one of his funniest roles as a spy "for both sides" who makes a three-ring circus of the Civil War.

SERMONETTE

MAKING A HOME

Some young folks are a bit stunned at where they have to start in making their home. "Be it ever so humble"—but they never imagined it would be this humble. It takes them a little while to realize that they just can't begin their home on the same standards of comforts where their fathers and mothers left off. Sometimes when the girl threatens to go home to mother's, perhaps she just misses mother's home.

Besides the economic difficulties, there may be also the emotional one. Marriage is a merger of two different personalities. Now it is a hard enough job to throw up a bridge between two opposite shores, but it is a still harder job to build a permanent bridge of understanding and harmony between two opposite temperaments, two utterly different dispositions. After all, by the time you marry your partner, that partner is pretty well set in his traits and his character. The concrete has hardened; and frankly, there is precious little you can do about it. As the school girl wrote in her eighth grade composition: "We get our parents at so late an age that it is impossible to change their habits." And the same applies, probably with compound interest, to husbands and wives. You do not marry something like a bouquet that you can take apart and rearrange as you would like to see it. You marry someone who is more like a book, already bound and the pages numbered. Often the best you can do is thank God for the good qualities there, and pray God about the bad ones.

Just for the rare luxury of the experience, every one of us should now and then own up to the fact that we, and not the other party, were at fault. Elocutionists may say that the hardest words in the English language to pronounce are: "If Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers," and so on, or something like that. Oh, no! The hardest words in English to pronounce are: "I was wrong," because you have to say them not with the tongue and teeth but with the conscience and the heart. That is why, when one of the parties in a marriage flies off the handle like an axe-head, the noble party is the one who, right or wrong, first buries the hatchet—and not in the other party's skull, either. For, if we do not take the first step toward reconciliation, what are we but ersatz Christians or church-going pagans!

Surely, if only one party is determined that there will be no quarrel, then there will be no quarrel. Not even Joe Louis can have a fight alone. It always takes two. Naturally there will be times when one party's nerves are jangled and out of tune and off-key, but that is precisely the time when the other party has to hold the melody, sweet and sure, so that the other can get back. If both get off, it will be bedlam. They say that at the battle of New Orleans, Andrew Jackson stopped the British bullets with bales of cotton. On the same principle, the soft answer is still the best defense against wrath. But the softest answer is that whispered to God in prayer. With His powerful help and our humble self-control, friction can be reduced to a fraction.

Five Features That Every Farmhouse Should Have

Housing experts agree on five features that every well-planned farm house should have.

Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says these features have been named "Farm House Specials" by Mrs. Lenore Sater Thye, who is in charge of housing and household equipment research in the USDA's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics.

- Briefly, the five features are:
- 1) Entrance to both living and work rooms convenient to the main driveway, which also should be convenient to the farm buildings.
 - 2) A well-located kitchen, with a view of the drive and farm buildings. "This feature has a number of advantages," Mrs. Thye says. "The house wife can see any visitor arriving, keep in touch with the children outdoors and have a watchful eye on the farmstead when the men are in the fields."
 - 3) Good traffic lanes, so that all parts of the house may be reached without passing through the kitchen work areas and other centers of activity.
 - 4) Adequate work areas for preparing and preserving food.
 - 5) Adequate dining area in a pleasant place, with enough space to serve and eat regular meals.
- "These farm house specials are important in any farm and ranch home, whether in Texas or in some other part of the country," Mrs. Claytor points out. "They are also points to be considered in building a home in town."

COTTON MECHANIZATION SESSION SLATED JULY 27 AT COTTON RESEARCH, DALLAS

Wednesday, July 27, will be the date of the cotton mechanization session of the tenth annual Cotton Research Congress in Dallas in a change in plans announced by the Statewide Cotton Committee of Texas in order to permit larger attendance of cotton growers.

Originally scheduled for Saturday, July 30, the cotton mechanization session was changed to Wednesday after conferences between agricultural leaders, members of the committee and representatives of implement firms developed the desirability of the earlier date.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Don't Fence Yourself In

Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They walk along talking—Easy on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.

Afterwards, over a friendly glass of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is a nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."

"Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing."

From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful. Take the "walls of intolerance" that people build up against each other. I like a temperate glass of beer now and then, you may prefer buttermilk—but that's no reason for me to criticize you, or you, me. Let's live and let live together—making more friends and fewer "walls."

Grasshopper Bait Station Now Open For Farmers Use

By County Agent

The grasshopper bait station is open and farmers who need grasshopper bait are urged to take advantage of getting this bait. The grasshopper mixing station is open and available to farmers who wish to get bait any time of the day. This station is at the Co-op Gin in Morton.

The bait will be mixed and given to the farmers in a sack. The farmers are required to furnish a sack to pick up the bait. The bait is furnished free by the Division of Grasshopper Control but an overhead price has been set to partially take care of the overhead expense of this station.

The bait should be put out late in the evening or before sun-up in the mornings to get the best results. That way the bait will be wet and the grasshoppers will come nearer eating it. If there are any further questions concerning this poisoning contact the county agent's office.

It is advised that the bait be spread out thinly along the turn rows where the insects are most likely to exist. The bait will not harm cattle if properly distributed over the land, because the bait is spread out so thinly that one wet sack will cover approximately four acres. Caution—do not put out in lumps or leave empty sack in pasture with cattle as this may prove fatal.

Would suggest that farmers burn sacks or put them in secure place to be brought back for refilling.

The slant nose grasshopper does not do much damage on crops. The jumbo grasshopper and the grasshoppers with three spots are the crop eating type. Mr. Jack Watts, southeast of Morton has lots of grasshoppers, consequently he has lost some cotton. This may have been avoided if he had gotten the bait in time. Any way he can save the rest of his crop by using the bait. Other farmers are urged to watch their crops daily where the number of grasshoppers are increasing to a damaging stage. It is to be remembered that the jumbo grasshopper can do ten times more damage than an ordinary grasshopper and can ruin a crop in a few days. Pre-use of the bait can go a long way toward control of the grasshoppers.

Fly Eradication Commended by Health Officer

During the last several summers, considerable enthusiasm was shown by various local organizations such as Chambers of Commerce, many Civic Organizations, and others in the arranging of a fly eradication program. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that for taking interest in this work, the responsible parties are to be commended.

However, without year-round community sanitation the ultimate result, which is so important has not always been too successful; in some areas this has given rise to rumors that flies are DDT resistant.

"The Texas State Department of Health heartily endorses a fly spraying program, provided it includes a general clean-up program carried out during the entire year," Dr. Cox said. "For example, why spray a garbage heap that not only invites but actually breeds flies when it should have been removed. Why spray the city dump when it really should be covered. I fear the unplanned spraying program is similar to the application of perfume or toilet water to overcome B. O. or the application of powder to cover dirt."

In a well-planned fly control program, Dr. Cox declared, all places where flies gather, such as dumps, rubbish piles, garbage piles, decaying vegetation should be cleaned up by hauling away and burying. Proper garbage and rubbish containers with fly tight covers should be demanded from all. All buildings should be screened. Then, secure a sprayer outfit, preferably with one or more hoses each manned by a skilled operator to spray the areas where flies and other insects will light. It does little good to spray the center of the street, the ball diamond, or the sidewalks. Spray the surfaces where insects light or breed.

A residual spray remains active until the DDT washes off or is covered with grease, dirt or soot. This usually lasts four to six weeks. After that, a second spray is recommended provided the item of clean-up is still being carried out.

"Snake Pit" to be Shown Sun. and Mon., Whiteface

Darryl F. Zanuck's presentation of "The Snake Pit," which comes to the Home Theatre at Whiteface Sunday and Monday, is a motion picture that is destined to rank as one of Hollywood's finest efforts. Based on Mary Jane Ward's best-selling novel, the film is a realistic portrayal of a compelling love story—an emotional drama on a rare and pregnant theme.

"The Snake Pit" is great entertainment. For in addition to the love story, there is pathos, sympathy, understanding and emotion. It has all these, plus humor and faith, the striving for security and mental calm which combine into one all-encompassing, beautifully produced motion picture.

In the able hands of Director Anatole Litvak, who with Robert Bassler co-produced the film, the story moves swiftly, surely through a series of carefully contrived flashbacks which tell the compelling story of Virginia Cunningham. Tracing the insidious forces that lead to her breakdown, the film honestly and accurately pictures Virginia's experiences inside a hospital where a successful attempt is made to restore her normal place in society.

Olivia de Havilland's performance as Virginia is brilliant. It is a portrayal that has fire, force and compelling drive, marking her as the screen's outstanding dramatic actress. Her complete mastery of the demanding role marks a climax to her distinguished career.

Leo Genn is perfectly cast as the kindly and idealistic Dr. Kik, while Mark Stevens contributes his finest work to date as Miss de Havilland's understanding husband. Olivia, contributes a compelling portrayal while Glenna Langan turns in still another smooth and convincing performance.

"The Snake Pit" rates with the best—it is a "must see" for every last.

Tribune, Morton, Cochran County, Texas, Thursday, June 16, 1949

-- annegrams -- by ann england --

The younger Cravys, Dan and Ray, and their guests have had a rollicking time at their birthday party recently. From all accounts Alva just turned them loose and the sky was the limit on their activities.

A nice note from Mrs. W. K. Courtney out County Line Way, she wrote, "I enjoy your column very much and can't do without the Tribune." Thanks Mrs. C.

We know exactly how the editorial writer on the "Hesperian" (Floydada) felt; we inadvertently left off a capital on a trade-marked name and received letters from the company, their lawyers and a series of pamphlets for over a year. Our ire was up but we couldn't put it into words quite as well as the following:

A Pesky Situation—Recently The Hesperian had complaint from a group of Texas tech exes who felt unhappy about the abbreviation for technological being put in the paper with a lower case "t" (thus tech) whereas it appears from grammatical authorities that slang or shorts for proper expressions should be capitalized. We did not know of this rule of grammar, having wrestled with English as it should be done only up to (and including, mind you) the seventh. We sympathize with these souls who have been more fortunate in their educational program. The fact is we envy them with green eyes and we do not mean maybe. Now comes the Coca Cola company (lower case c for company you note) which has a hired hand who is compelled by court order to write a letter to every newspaper which prints "coke" with a lower case "c" calling attention to this error. The phact is this newspaper is limited in the number of capital tees available and also capital cees. We would like to get along with Mr. coke-acola and we want the Texas tech people to like us but we have a technological problem which is ever present and compelling. These phactory people charge us for the capital tees and the capital cees. We know they have to and we do not complain at that. Nor do we complain when the up and at them exes of Texas tech fall out with us. But when Mr. cocacola who puts a sign on every tourist cabin in the United States (but no ad in The Hesperian because we do not qualify) gets his man Friday to write us a letter that is bad indeed. We are going to write tech with a capital tee every time we have a capital tee available but we hesitate to write coke or cocacola with capital cees just to get along with a federal judge with a New Jersey complex. We will attempt to get a certificate from the phactory that they charge more for capital tees and cees, also cees exes and aiches than they ought to. This may satisfy the high court and mollify the courtee.

Apparently the Steens (there is a whole flock of them on the Hesperian, papa, two sons and probably three wives) have more courage than we; as a matter of fact he hid for months each time a stranger started in the door—I just knew he had orders for our arrest.

Despite the hustle and bustle (and the worry) of getting off to the hospital Mr. M. T. Beard took time out last Sunday to send us an ad and a very humorous note, both of which were greatly appreciated. The ending was particularly appropriate, "Yours for bigger and more prolific tree-growing on the inside of one's house." We might add that the tree around which we built a room is growing beautifully.

Think everyone in town knows by now we decided to add photography to our list of accomplishments (pure redundancy).

So the spouse bought us a book—a five dollar one—and we started reading, the first four lines explained how to open the press camera—it isn't very clear as it took us exactly one hour to get the thing open, and that only after we'd disturbed the spouse's nap to tell him we thought there was something wrong with the apparatus. Everyone so far has been very generous with suggestions, especially Bill Harris and Milton Brown, both of whom we ignored entirely and completely.

To date we've wasted one film out of a pack of twelve and burned up four flash bulbs unnecessarily. The surprising thing is that we got any pictures at all. Occasionally tho we have to prove to these men (and ourself) that we aren't as dumb as we look (or act).

That supper and get-together the Methodists had Wednesday evening was really nice. More people and more food—the latter probably responsible for the former or vice-versa. Never saw so many cakes, pies, etc. but after eating a whole spring chicken and all the trimmings we could only hold two different kinds of cake.

One of the cakes was baked by Mary Lois Ledbetter and was delicious. She is the most versatile gal—Thursday she was climbing trees, and sawing off dead branches, and a few days before we heard her say she'd been repairing the screens.

We'd been sort of worrying and wondering (out loud) what effect our red hair would have on the boys but received a clipping Wednesday that allayed all our apprehension, it read: "Discrimination—sign on cross-country truck: This truck stops for all crossroads, railroad crossings, blondes, brunettes, and will back up 20 feet for a redhead."

That pleased us, of course, but the spouse really made us happy when we queried him thus, "I wonder if you'll love me when my hair has turned gray?" And he said, "Why not, I've loved you every time you've changed its color so far."

Well so much of that. We are off to the convention with stops enroute to eat with our relatives—they do come in handy occasionally.

Heard that Dr. Lawson told this to a patient recently, "Sorry, but I cannot give you an appointment now. I have eighteen cavities to fill," with that he picked up his golf bag and left for the country club.

Lack of Adequate Storage for Grain Creates Problem

The lack of adequate storage for the bumper grain crop that is now beginning to move in the state is causing much concern. This, coupled with the drop in price, has brought the producer face to face with a real problem but fast action may yet save the day. It isn't too late to provide much on-the-farm storage and at the same time qualify for a government loan on the crop says, W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer - buildings of Texas A. and M. College.

According to Allen, 500-bushel capacity grain storage bins or granaries can be built for about 50 cents per bushel of storage capacity and 1,000-bushel bins for about 40 cents per bushel capacity. These construction costs can be further reduced through the use of materials that may be available around the farm, adds Allen. Due to the high cost of materials, it may be advisable in some localities to buy prefabricated bins or granaries. Allen says such structures in some instances are selling from .28 to .31 cents per bushel capacity.

Whether you build or buy prefabricated bins will depend on the local situation, he says. If you need a blueprint for building on-the-farm storage, go see your local county agent. Through him plans are available for many types and sizes of grain storage structures.

When you get the plan, says Allen, get a local estimate on the cost of construction and then compare this figure with what a prefabricated building would cost. Then take your choice. It is well to keep in mind, continues Allen, other uses that can be made of such structures after the grain is taken out and plan them for such.

Grain storage structures, concludes Allen, should be well built so they'll last for many years. And, too, one of the qualifications for a government loan is that the grain be stored in bins or granaries where it will not be subject to damage from moisture, insects, rodents or from other causes.

Indian Pow-Wow At Flaastaff, Ariz. Slated July 2-3-4

If you are planning a vacation in the Indian Southwest this summer, don't miss the Southwest All-Indian Pow-Wow at Flagstaff, Arizona, on July 2, 3 and 4.

At Flagstaff, lumber and trading center in the shadow of the towering San Francisco Peaks in the colorful Grand Canyon country of Northern Arizona, approximately 10,000 Indians from the Southwest and other parts of the nation will gather on those dates for their 21st annual celebration of friendship with the white man. It is the Indians' own celebration, their own get-together to dance, chant, compete in rodeo contests trade and chat with old friends. But the whites have just as much fun watching the Indians cut loose at this, their own annual fun fest.

BOYCE HOUSE 'Gives You Texas'

Back in the days of ancient Athens, there was a brilliant teacher of law and, in his class, was a brilliant pupil. But the young man said, "I am no longer able to pay you and will have to drop out."

The instructor replied, "Go ahead and finish the course and then you can pay me when you win your first case." The young man agreed—but, after he was licensed to practice law, time went by and he did not get a case, so at last the teacher sued him for the tuition fee.

When time came for the argument, the teacher said, "Gentlemen of the jury, it is a matter of supreme indifference to me how you decide this case because I am bound to win. If you decide in my favor, I will win by virtue of your verdict and if you decide against me, I will win by virtue of the agreement, which was that he would pay me when he won his first case."

The young lawyer proved that he was indeed an apt pupil. He said, "Gentlemen of the jury, I too do not care how you decide because I am bound to win. If you decide in my favor, your verdict will mean that I am released from the agreement and if you decide against me, the agreement will save me because I was to pay when I won my first case and I will be losing it."

1949 Resolutions Adopted by Cochran County Farm Bureau at May Meeting

1949 Resolutions unanimously adopted by Cochran County Farm Bureau in a County-Wide meeting May 4, 1949.

1. Be it resolved that all farms in Texas be allocated a cotton acreage base which has grown cotton one or more years in the past 10 year period shall be entitled to a cotton base acres allotment on a percentage basis in proportion to the total cultivated acres on that respective farm. That is, all cotton farms be allocated cotton acres base on the same percent, which percentage shall be designated by the Secretary of Agriculture and the cotton base acreage established by applying said percent to the farms total cultivated acres—to determine the cotton base acres.

2. Be it resolved that new sod land put into cultivation be included in the total cultivated acres and entitled to the same percentage of cotton acres as for old cultivated land. The new land on any farm receiving cotton base acres in said county be determined by the local county agricultural committee as to the year said farm receives the new cotton acreage allotment.

3. Be it further resolved that the Congress of the United States be responsible for controlling the national cotton production, by controlling the nation's cotton planted acres on the cotton farms. The national cotton yield to be more or less determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, by reducing or increasing the percentage of cotton base acres equally the same on every farm for controlling the national acres, there by controlling yield directly or indirectly. This method of control will increase soil conservation and increase cotton yields and will render marketing quotas as has been established in past years unnecessary.

4. Be it resolved that large farm units when determined that the cotton base acreage exceeds 500 acres, but not more than 1,000 acres when the percentage set by the Secretary of Agriculture is applied to the total cultivated acres of said farm that an extra 25% deduction in cotton base acreage be applied to all acres in excess of the first 500 acres.

5. Be it resolved that a farm unit shall be defined as a unit operated and controlled by the landowner, or one that is operated by a tenant or operated by a share cropper on customary agreement.

6. Be it resolved that all payments made to a farm or unit be limited to the soil conservation payments for carrying out approved soil conservation practices. Be it further resolved that Congress with full powers to limit the national cotton acreage guarantee full parity prices (100%) on cotton by establishing a loan for eligible cotton commensurate with the parity price index. Parity to be based on the 10 year period 1939 to 1948 inclusive, including farm labor on a par value with labor and industry.

7. Be it resolved that cotton graded below grade value be made eligible for the loan. Be it further resolved that all cotton classed as 3/4 inch staple length be made eligible for the loan. Be it further resolved that a cotton loan be provided for all cotton classes with 1/2 grade values. In other words cotton classed as strict low middling light spot should have a better loan value than cotton classed as strict low middling spot. Example, this year, the market was about $10 different in value on these grades, but loan value was the same. Be it further resolved that all cotton classed as dusty be made eligible for the loan.

8. Be it resolved that the Congress of the United States provide a loan for full 100% parity price on all basic commodities. The loan to be set up annually by the Secretary of Agriculture based on the parity price index the same as cotton.

9. Be it resolved that all basic commodities so designated by the Secretary of Agriculture, as grain sorghums, wheat, corn, etc., have the allocated base acres for each crop established on the respective farm, the same manner in principle as the cotton base acres are established. The percentage factor to be determined by the Secretary of Agriculture on each basic commodity.

10. Be it resolved that farms shifting basic commodity crop acres may do so by diverting these undersirable acres to the State Agriculture Committee for new allocations to other counties

CHEVROLET'S TRADE-MARK

Chevrolet's trade-mark, which has appeared literally billions of times through its use on products in advertising and literature, had as its inspiration a piece of hotel wall paper. According to the story, W. C. Durant copied the design from a wall paper figure after weeks of fruitless search for an emblem that would be both simple and distinctive.

and at the same time receive in turn basic commodity acres, desired when it meets the approval of the State Agricultural Committee.

8. Be it resolved that acres on farms not permitted to growing of basic crops to be known as "Left out Acres or fallow acres", the improvement or holding crops to be left for the consideration of each local County Agricultural Committee, to determine their use under the supervision of the State Soils Board Committee and State Agricultural Committee.

Signed May 10, 1949:
Charlie M. Cravy, President.
M. A. Tanner, Vice-President.

Agricultural Short Shots of Interest

Grain storage bins must be built to certain specifications in order for the farmer to get government support loans. The bin must protect grain from rain, snow and surface moisture; permit effective fumigation; provide protection against loss by fire and rain; and protection against insects, birds and rodents.

Gelsoy, a new soybean product developed by the USDA, can be used for gluing purposes, as well as in a variety of foods. It's the first vegetable protein product that "jells", and it can be whipped like egg-whites to make pie meringues.

Oiled dustclothes and mops do a good job of picking up the dust, but should never be used on wax surfaces. An oiled cloth used on furniture finished with wax makes the wax sticky and dingy because the oil softens it up, just as an oil mop does on a waxed floor.

Gather eggs three times a day—mid-morning, noon and evening. Poultry men have found that about 75 percent of the eggs laid are laid by noon.

After the old vegetables have been removed from the garden, the next step is to keep the soil stirred up to prevent weed growth. Weeds take up soil moisture that can be better used to start fall vegetables.

New Acid Treating Station Opened At Snyder, Texas

The Western Company has opened a new acid treating station at Snyder to serve the oil industry on the east side of the Permian Basin and in the West-Central Texas areas surrounding Abilene.

The Snyder station will serve oil development operations in Garza, Jones, Haskell and Taylor counties, Walter Beadie, manager of Western's acid department, announced.

The Snyder station will start operating with several acid trucks, including a recently completed 2,000 gallon unit powered to a 350-horsepower engine, which furnishes motive power to the truck and also, through the use of a specially designed transmission, drives the acid pumps.
