Two Three Way Persons Injured In Truck Crash

A 15-year-old negro girl was receiving treatment in Lubbock Memorial hospital Sunday for injuries received when the pickup truck in which she was riding overturned in the Three Way community, in south Bailey county, after it was in collision with another vehicle.

The girl, Elsa Mae Frazer, resident of the Three Way community, was riding in the back of a truck driven by Robert E. Sowder, a white man, who also lives in the Three Way community.

The vehicle was traveling down a farm to market road and was in collision with a car which pulled out from a side road. The impact caused the truck to overturn.

The other vehicle involved was driven by Miss Jeanette Watson, about 16, also a Three Way resident.

Two other negroes were riding in the back of the pickup. They were R. L. Hill, about 31, and Hill's 15-year-old son, whose name was not known. Hill received treatment at West Plains Hospital. His injuries included numerous body bruises. The son was not hospitalized.

The girl, who suffered a fractured pelvis, was taken to Lubbock since West Plains hospital's weight equipment was in use. Attendants at the Lubbock hospital reported late Saturday night that she was resting satisfactorily.

Investigation was made by the Texas Highway department.

"Farmers are in a Hurry to Find Boll Pullers", Agent Thompson Advises

By H. E. Thompson

Farmers are in a hurry to find boll pullers to gather their cotton crop, advises county agent Homer E. Thompson. "The situation is more than acute because three-fourth bale of cotton per acre is open on the farms, but no pullers are around to do the harvesting. A good freeze came Sunday night and ice and frost greeted the people Monday morning, Oct. 31. This will step up cotton harvesting by increasing the open cotton on the stalk. About 60 per cent of the farmers have storm proof cotton; so if Latin Americans are not available, cotton strippers can go to work in a couple of weeks in most of the storm proof fields replacing the old hand method," advises Thompson.

"It will not be difficult for one man to harvest 15 bales a day by the mechanical stripper method. The grades will be about the same as hand method if done properly, as relayed by Don Jones, Supt. Experiment Station, Lubbock, Texas. Many farmers have not had the rank cotton before as now produced in Cochran County; so are wondering about what the cotton stripper can do with it. "This is to advise farmers in preparing their tractor and stripper for pulling rank cotton that they might go see Max Bower's stripper attached to his tractor five miles east of Morton. Max has done some improvement with his stripper and tractor by attaching shop made wings and 1/2 steel barrel with fenders to pick up the prone limbs and cotton stalks thereby preventing the wheels from coming in contact with the cotton stalks laying down," Thompson concluded.

Frantic Search Was Successful

An industrious senior girl has been going to typing every day, third period to practice.

Although she usually has her own package of typing paper, this particular morning she did not.

She carefully searched through all the desks frantically looking for paper. She even failed to find any on O. L. Tilger's desk, which was very thoughtful of him.

But wait, she over looked one desk and yes there in the grimy recesses of the drawer was a whole package of typing paper. Overjoyed at this discovery, our heroine carefully took one, yes only one sheet of paper and was just about to put the rest back when she noticed a note written on the front, it said, "If you are too tight to buy any go ahead and take some."

Astounded, the senior quickly wrote a sweet note of thanks.

Any similarity between this and any actual happening is purely intentional.

TOLERANCE

Tolerance—which must not be confused with indifference, especially religious indifference, is a virtue. It excludes unfairness and egotism. It is based upon reverence for my neighbor's personality and concern for his welfare. It implies my loyal adherence to justice and charity in every situation that involves the conduct, or the opinion, of another. The virtue of tolerance forbids me to attribute unworthy motives to him; or, if it is my duty to pass judgment upon him, he must be allowed to speak in his own defense.
We find it especially difficult to be truly tolerant when we possess authority, and again, when those around us fail to recognize our supposed excellence. Tolerance is difficult, also, when our interests seem threatened; when our emotions are deeply involved; when interference by others keeps us from moving forward as fast as we would. It is most difficult of all, when we are dealing with persons who dislike us or have injured us—our rivals or enemies. Then, circumstances put tolerance to the acid test.
I begin to see how fine a discipline the practice of tolerance will be for me. Let me adopt it as an ideal and an obligation—to be followed not only with regard to great issues and large groups of people, but in small daily affairs. In dealing with my neighbors, in thinking and speaking of them or to them, and especially in reacting to offensive words and deeds, let me possess that broad, deep, calm tolerance which is like a human reflection of God's infinite patience and understanding. To avoid judging when I can avoid it; to judge sympathetically when I have to judge—let this be my ideal. And especially, when there is question of speech, let me be most careful to shun words which might arouse unkind or hateful thoughts in the minds of hearers.

BOYCE HOUSE

The greatest shortcoming of youth is impatience. Youth wants to do great things but wants to do them overnight.
Somewhere, someone penned a profound thought, "Despise not the day of small beginnings."
There was a young lawyer in a medium-sized Middle Western town. He was not overly-burdened with clients and cases but he was receiving invitations to speak—usually to small crowds in hard-to-get-at places.
He accepted as many invitations as he could fill and, gradually, he came to be recognized as a leader in a cause which was attracting more and more attention—free silver.
And when the national Democratic convention met in Chicago, the 36-year old lawyer was chosen to close the debate on free silver, the most important issue of the campaign.
He arose with the confidence that comes from preparation and experience. The speech, in its thoughts and largely in its words was what he had been saying in small towns for two or three years—but here he had a great occasion: an audience of 10,000 and, beyond, a nation's eyes focussed on the scene.

'Gives You Texas'

And he stampeded that convention and was nominated for president. He was, of course, William Jennings Bryan.
Had he said, "I won't go to those obscure places; such gatherings are beneath my dignity; I will wait for my big moment", then probably the big moment would never have come—for him. Or if it had, he would not have been capable of taking full advantage of its possibilities.
William Jennings Bryan did not despise the day of small beginnings.
And speaking of youth—Bernard Shaw said, "Youth is a wonderful thing; what a pity it is wasted on the young."

Sleep is Necessity Of Life and Health
Sleep is a necessity of life and health, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and habitual loss of sleep will tend to retard the body's recovery from fatigue of the day's activities.
"We may be able to go without sleep for a night or two, but too little sleep for a prolonged period will undermine the health of a rugged person and turn a cheerful individual into a cross, irritable one," Dr. Cox said. "When good health can be protected to such a large extent merely by sleeping, and thus avoid overtaxed bodies and minds to secure the proper rest, it is hard to understand why so many persons are heedless of this important health measure."
Some individuals require more sleep than others. How well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A good nights rest means a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each person to feel well, do efficient work, and to keep in a cheerful humor the next day.
"Some outdoor exercise each day, a comfortable bed, and fresh air in our sleeping quarters," Dr. Cox said, "will help us to sleep soundly at night. Do not mull over your problems and ideas after you have gone to bed. Make your plans early in the evening for a good night's rest by slowing down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning, rested and with a feeling of general well being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a good night's sleep."

Hadacol Now Nation's Best Selling Tonic
Sale of Hadacol, which is made with five of nature's B vitamins and four important minerals, has spread from a small section of Louisiana to more than 20 states, and is now the nation's largest selling tonic.
Dudley J. LeBlanc, President and founder of the LeBlanc Corp., Lafayette, La., makers of Hadacol, has announced plans to expand the sales of Hadacol to the entire nation within the next year.

Dudley J. LeBlanc
Mr. LeBlanc is directing the south's largest advertising campaign for Hadacol and newspapers, especially weekly newspapers, are playing an important part in this effort.
The LeBlanc Corp. is using every weekly and daily newspaper in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Alabama this week to tell the story of how Hadacol put the Chief of Detectives of Hot Springs, Ark., back on the job after all else failed. He had suffered from a deficiency of B vitamins and certain minerals, which Hadacol contains.
"You must use the newspapers, daily and weekly, if you want to bring your message to the grass roots of America, the towns and wonderful rural areas," said Mr. LeBlanc.
Besides being founder and President of LeBlanc Corp., Mr. LeBlanc has many other business interests, and is President Pro-tem of the Louisiana state senate. He is well known for his work for pensions for old folks and other social advances.

Cochran County's Famuliner Project Forms Good Neighbor Club

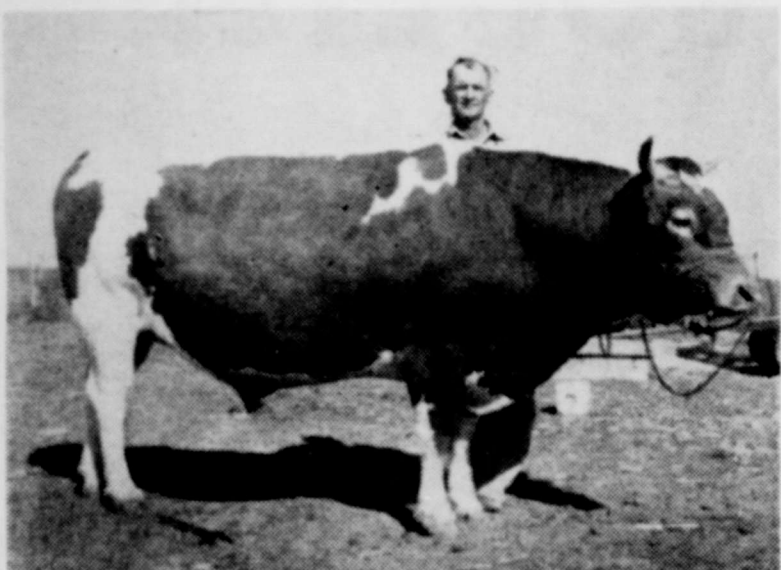

Agricultural Short Shots of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. W. Richard Key and their youngest child, Linda Gay, pose at the tractor he was using one morning recently when he began to harvest his feed. Mr. Key is president of the "Famuliner Good Neighbor Club" which was formed among the 27 farmers of the project and some adjoining neighbors. This club is planning a community hall. Mrs. O. D. Chesshir is secretary of the group.

Story by Nugent Brown

Cochran County has, not one, but two of those Farm Home Administration projects.

While a lot is heard about the 100 percent veterans project, on which oil was discovered a year ago, the first of the two is really the Famuliner Project, located several miles west of Morton. A total of 27 farm units were sold in this project on the 40-year farm loan plan in 1946. These units were sold to farmers of all ages without any preference being shown GI's. In fact there are only seven ex-servicemen in this project.

The third crop is now being raised by this group of farmers. Their first crop, in 1947, was only fair, but the crops in 1948 were almost total failures because of the severe drought. This year they have fine crops and are making big yields. Hail damaged some few of the crops.

"They only had four inches of rain in 1948," reports FHA supervisor Cross. "Burl Reed, the only one of this group who has paid off his loan already, only made five bales of cotton on 110 acres in 1948. But he had other sources of income."

However, the spirit of the 27 farmers in the Famuliner Project is as good as any group anywhere in West Texas. They must be born boosters for they have gotten together and formed what is known as a "Good Neighbor Club" and have entered their community in a magazine contest. There are 32 active members. They meet once a month and work on plans of betterment of themselves and their community.

W. Richard Key is president of this club and Mrs. O. D. Chesshir is the secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Key have a 280-acre farm with a nice modern home. His feed produced 1800 pounds to the acre this year and his cotton is expected to average half a bale. He has a diversified program as do all these farmers. He has ten head of cattle on his sudan pasture. He and his wife have three children, making him a typical farmer of the community.

Mrs. Chesshir, the secretary, and her husband and family are not in the project but their farm lies just south of it. So they have become part and parcel of the community. She writes a column each week for the Morton Tribune, which is a big help to the group.

"One of the newer projects being attempted by the Good Neighbor club is that of marking the lanes and roads in the community," she reports. "This project, when completed, will add to the attractiveness of the community and will also aid visitors in locating the various homes."

She goes on to point out that "the project uppermost in our mind at present is a community building. This structure is needed not alone for the adults but also for the recreational activities of the young folks."

To show how the farmers in the Famuliner Project work hard to pay off their loan installments, there is the case of Ed Nieman. He sold three cases of eggs every week from November to June, which brought his family a monthly income of about $100. He sold nine hogs last February for $390.77. Later, he sold 11 more for a good profit. He had three brood sows from which he raised 30 pigs. In the meantime, he has put out a shelter belt around the north and west sides of his farm, which has shown a record growth in size during its first year.

"We have excellent cooperation from the farmers in the Famuliner Project and they also represent a high class of folks who will add much to the leadership in Cochran County's affairs as the years go by," said County Agent Homer Thompson.

Businessmen and county officials in Morton are mighty proud of the citizens in the Famuliner Project as well as those in the Scrape Out (Lehman) project.

There is not another county in Texas that has had projects like these two in Cochran County.

The complete list of those buying land in the Famuliner Project follows:

Jeter Hardware, of Morton, will be one of thousands of appliance dealers participating in a $2,000,000 "Giveaway to top all Giveaways." Dave Jeter, owner, has announced.

The "Giveaway" is to be conducted by the Crosley Division, Avco Manufacturing Corporation, and its distributors and dealers throughout the country.

Mr. Jeter described the "Giveaway" as "the simplest to enter and easiest to win—and by far the biggest—in history."

Prizes will include nearly $2,000,000 worth of New 1950 Crosley Model Shelvador refrigerator to be given away to grand prize winners nationally.

To enter, it will be necessary only to write, in a few words, "Why I Should Be Given a New 1950 Shelvador Refrigerator." Entry blanks on which to write may be obtained without obligation at Jeter Hardware.

The best local entry, as judged by a committee of prominent citizens of the community, will be awarded a new 1950 custom model Shelvador refrigerator, having a capacity of 9 cubic feet.

National entries will be forwarded to Crosley headquarters for the additional selection of national grand prize winners.

First national prize will be $10,000 in cash and a complete Crosley kitchen having a retail value of $1,520; second prize, $5,000 in cash plus a complete electric kitchen; third prize, $2,500 in cash and a complete electric kitchen; fourth prize, $1,500 in cash plus the kitchen; fifth prize, $1,000 in cash plus the kitchen; next 20 prizes, complete electric kitchens; next 100 prizes, new 1950 custom model 9-cubic-foot Shelvador refrigerators.

Both national and local entry blanks are now available, and the final deadline for the National contest will be November 30. Mr. Jeter said the local contest ends December 10th.

The complete kitchens include a 9-cubic-foot Shelvador refrigerator, electric range, 3.2-cubic-foot

Claims Must be Filed for Social Security Benefits

Social security benefits to workers who have reached the age of 65 and to the families of workers who die are not paid automatically. Mr. John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office, stressed today.

In every case where payments are due, a claim must be filed with the social security office to start the ball rolling. The law places a limit on the number of back payments that can be made when a claim is not filed promptly and no more than three months' back benefits can be paid.

When a 65 year old person stops work, he should get in touch with the social security office without delay. When a worker dies, someone in the family should make it a point to inquire about possible benefits to the survivors. In either case, if action is delayed more than three months after death or retirement, one or more monthly payments might be lost.

Any inquiries you may have should be addressed to the Social Security Administration Field Office, Box 1401, Lubbock, Texas.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

RUSSIAN INVENTION

Notice has been taken in the American press recently of various claims by the Russians of credit for inventions that head off by a few years those of Edison, the Wright brothers, and Marconi. I am not prepared to say whether this comes of Russian propaganda. Noising these claims about could be the Russian way of making friends. On the other hand, it could be that this is the Soviet way of making folks believe that atom bombs be stored away somewhere in the Ukraine.

At any rate, the Russians are far from dumb yokels, regardless of what we think of their way of life. They are not ignorant and uneducated. Furthermore, they are not lazy. Some of the most brilliant scientists yet to live on this earth have been Russians, and there are inventive minds in Russia today. An authoritative history of Russia, published by the Yale University press, does give credit to Russian experimenters for the electric light a few years ahead of Edison and wireless a few years ahead of Marconi.

Then Why Behind?

Granted that Russia has now, and has had for many years, some of the most brilliant scientists and inventors—what of it? Why, then, is her standard of living at least 50 years behind our own? A photograph in a recent issue of Business Week showed an electric refrigerator of Russian manufacture. It is a crude job, small and apparently of poor quality. In looks, design, and mechanical features, this refrigerator would be poor competition for an American model of 1920.

Yet, regardless of how poor this production model of Russian refrigerator is, the ordinary family in Russia will not be able to get one. Refrigerators in Russia, yes,

ATTENDED GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION IN MULESHOE

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill were in Muleshoe last Sunday afternoon, where they attended a golden wedding anniversary celebration honoring Mr. and Mrs. Will Mathis, in the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. S. Schuster. The mother of Mrs. Mathis was also present for the celebration.

but not for the proletariat. I imagine the boxes will go to those who have the rubles and to those who are political favorites, like some of our scarce 'deep freezers' were distributed during the war. Stalin's friends will surely not be without electric ice-boxes now.

Resources Not All

Why, then, if Russia has inventors and scientists and all the other know-how, do the Russian people not enjoy luxuries that in America are considered common necessities? Something is lacking. Russia is rich in natural resources, in lands, in minerals, she has superb assets. She has plenty of people to man the factories and farms, draw up the oil and dig the minerals. Then what is missing?

It is the same thing that is missing from so many other lands where slave backs and slave minds do little else except toil for the master STATE. The right to be a person, to dream, to plan, to own property—these things do not belong to the people. Likewise, freedom to think your own thoughts, to worship freely, to speak what's on your mind, to work or to go wherever you please—these and all the others are not reserved to the people.

What It Takes

There's still one thing missing. There's a freedom that in America helps to support and to nourish all the other freedoms that we talk about. It is freedom of enterprise. You can call it the "spirit of wanting to". It includes the owning of property, the right to make a profit, the desire to better one's lot, the privilege of dreaming and then doing something about it.

You can look around today, and you can read your history books. It's freedom of enterprise that makes a country great and a people happy and contented. We in America have let our enterprise come to full flower, and we have profited from it in every way. We have had our share of Edisons, Bells, Wrights, De Forests, and Ketterings. But we have not stopped there. We have taken the dreams of these men and put them into being. We have not been slaves to the STATE. We have practiced free enterprise.

Sports News

The Morton next years Indians came from behind and led the fight to the Seniors during the last half to gain a six to six tie.

The two teams fought on equal terms through most of the first period. With but a few moments remaining in the first Clifford Wall, star senior tailback returned an intercepted pass 40 yards for a touchdown. The Juniors came fighting back in the second period but failed to gain back the touchdown as the Seniors held on their own 15 yard line. The half ended with the ball in Junior hands on the Seniors 12 yard marker.

Early in the third quarter the Indians took the ball on their own 40 and with Coats, Lackey and Baldwin alternating in carrying the ball drove for a touchdown. This made the score six to six and ended the scoring for the night but not the thrills.

The Morton B string went on the war path to Seagraves Tuesday night. The game was not scored in till the last quarter.

Johnny Green, outstanding back passed to Dewayne Burke for thirty yards to pay dirt, to give the Indians a 6 point lead. Seagraves came back into the game to drive two yards to tie the game up. Seagraves tried for the extra point but failed.

TRAIL DUST

Golden smoke rose out of the sunset where a delta in the river of heat spread across the horizon. A crimson cloud-engine pulled its long train of small thunderheads into the mountains of shadows, and car dimmer-lights glowed like hurrying fireflies. A screeching radio spilled the radio comedian's laughter in the wake of his own joke. Traffic churned in the travel flumes and street lights bloomed suddenly on their vines of wires. Somewhere in the closer darkness a sleepy baby was crying; a Christian sound in a pagan world.

The word-smiths have said that all women are made of identical material; but the same is true of a violin and a match.

A man's wealth is now measured in his ability to pay for regaining his health lost in gaining his wealth.

Flowers blossoming beside a grave speak a more tender sentiment than any words carved on stone.

The fair-haired youth is a copilot on a freight-wagon, to open the star gates in eternity. The roads he once traveled are plowed under and the wagons he drove are silenced under years of decay. Many snows have since fallen on the hills where he built a dug-out home; the rains have washed the walls together. Freight-wagons of time have crushed the memories; a few recall the slender girl who loved him, placed a wagon axle to mark the fresh mound of clay, knelt there for a moment and was gone.

Life is becoming complex for a human being possessing the reasonable facsimile of average intelligence, but it must beat on forms of lower life like the waves of a constantly stormy sea. There is, for instance, somewhere in this plastic and neon world, a frustrated mosquito, the victim of man-designed fate. While shaving this morning, the insect left its hide-away in my gathroom, and began executing intricate aerial maneuvers near my electric razor. It had confused the gadget's buzz with the love call of another mosquito.

All things are relative, each with its own orbit seeking brief favor of the sun. Both thief and saint are of the same clay and return with equal ceremony. A crumpled and fading cigarette package, rust eating at the edges of a bright soda bottle cap, the falling petals of a flower are mute testimony that the mills of nature must grind to dust, the broken pottery which held briefly a pleasure, beauty or a soul.

A "five-per-center" seems to be short about 95 per cent in respectable stewardship.

A perfunctory kiss has the same heart-beat value as listening to a radio torch singer with the conviction that you alone are listening.

Thin and grey, the bearded man watched crowded traffic at a busy intersection. He listened to the screaming horns, the clang of trolley wheels on bright rails, the police whistles and the heartbeats of a hurrying city. He saw the tired throngs pouring into the stubborn fields of endeavor and there was pity in his gentle eyes. He shifted the prospector's pack on his stooped shoulders and looked beyond the city to the mountains. The loneliness for solitude was with him like memories of a tender and affectionate mistress.

Little people are those unfortunate souls who struggle through a lifetime without ever attaining the simple goal of being themselves.

A yarn frequently jumps the fireguard of respect that protects an exceedingly dry conversation.

In the shadows of sorrow our friends wear small silver bells.

Shallow wrinkles have appeared in summer's so recently fair cheeks; a whisper from the north, like the sound of unseen wings, has caused the bloom to fade. The noonday sun beats the drums of heat but soft flutes of coolness are playing in the shade. Time has dragged its ancient burden to within sight of another milestone on the circular highway of seasons.

Lovers riding the high trail of dreams find compassion as sweet as the cold waters gushing from mountain springs.

C-Y-T S.C.D. Receives Applications For Assistance from County Farmers

The Cochran-Yoakum-Terry Soil Conservation District has recently received application for assistance from the following farmers in the county: L. T. Lemons, R. H. Langrill, Mary B. Moore, E. V. Sherley, Fred Young and English Cox.

New cooperators that have worked out a soil and moisture plan on their respective farms are: O. L. Castle, M. L. Jones, B. O. Hurley, E. V. Sherley, W. D. Ford, Fred Young, D. C. Cravens, J. N. Burnett, Clayton Stokes and C. C. Slaughter, Estate.

Bench leveling on some of our more rolling land has definite advantage, in that when properly bordered all the rainfall is held on the land. When irrigating, the exact amount of water applied, according to the soils ability to absorb and hold moisture and the growing crops need, can be controlled without waste.

Seeding to small grain as a first crop is an excellent practice on leveled land before seeding to a permanent crop, in that the farmer can see for himself how well the project will work. If there proves to be bugs in the project he can eliminate them before permanent planting.

C. H. Silvers, a cooperator of the CYT SCD has bench leveled 35 acres, of which 10 acres is in alfalfa and 25 acres in wheat. E. D. Courtney, another cooperator has bench leveled and seeded 19 acres to permanent grass. Other cooperators who have leveled and seeded grasses, alfalfa and clover are: R. Z. Dewbre, 9 acres to a mixture of Ladino clover and grass; C. A. Moore, 4 acres to grass and Ladino clover; E. O. Willingham, 3 acres to grass and Ladino clover; Max Bowers, 4 acres to grass and Ladino clover; Bill Harris, 4 acres to grass and Ladino clover; George Haskins, 9 acres to grass and Madrid clover and 1 acre to alfalfa.

Practically all grass plantings made in 1948 and 1949 have made excellent growth the past season. Most of the grasses have seeded, especially the Weeping Lovegrass and the King Ranch Bluestem. At the present there is only one planting of King Ranch Bluestem in Cochran county. This was seeded April 1, 1949 on the G. D. Lewis farm, southwest of

Luncheon with Wendy Warren

I guess I'm just lazy when it comes to luncheon interviews. I like the ones close to CBS, so I can leave after my "Wendy Warren and the News" broadcast at 12:15, and be at the restaurant in a matter of minutes. Today I took vivacious Betty Winkler, star of CBS's "Rosemary," to Louis and Armand's, which is directly across from CBS. But I'm beginning to run out of close ones... maybe I should save a few for a rainy day.

For a small restaurant, Louis and Armand's is almost "plushy". We took a table right in the middle, where we could scan the predominantly radio crowd, and spotted a lot of friends. The food is excellent, with a strong emphasis on sea foods, and a superb chef's salad, which was what we both ordered.

Betty Winkler, as you probably know, has the rare good fortune to be part of a husband-and-wife team... on a daytime serial! Betty first met her husband, George Keane, when he auditioned for, and landed, the part of Bill Roberts on "Rosemary". It wasn't too long before wedding bells rang on the program for Rosemary and Bill... but the courtship must have been mighty realistic, because Betty and George were married in real life soon afterwards!

Betty Winkler

Lehman. It made an excellent seed crop which will be harvested. The King Ranch Bluestem looks very promising, in that it will produce an abundance of forage in low rainfall areas. It should be vigorous and is very palatable.

There is a lot of interest being shown, among the cooperators, on terracing their farms as soon as the present crops have been harvested. Some 26 miles of terraces were constructed last fall and, with the exception of one terrace, all held the above average rainfall on the field, thus conserving our precious soil and moisture.

Winter legumes work for man while the land is idle.

Be sure and make a ring around Nov. 22 on your calendar and keep it open for a Thanksgiving supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Key.

There will be lots of entries from the community in the bake show to be held Saturday in the District Court room.

There will be 8 divisions with 4 prizes for each division. The divisions for yeast bread, butter cakes, angle food cakes and chiffon cakes.

The prizes are being donated by the merchants of Morton. The awards committee contacted the merchants and they responded very nicely.

The award committee decided to ask for prizes in merchandise instead of cash prizes. That way the merchant benefits as well as the winner.

Everyone is invited to enter the bake show and you will receive a nice entry prize just for entering and the products will help the council to raise funds for the nearly depleted treasury.

Morton Lions Club Regular Weekly Meet Held Wed.

Three visitors were introduced at the regular meeting of Morton Lions Club Wednesday noon, October 26. They were Dr. A. J. Lewis, Lubbock, J. C. Buchanan, who recently moved to Morton from Muleshoe, and Joe Gosch, Dallas, Mrs. Carl England was also a guest.

P. B. Ramby led the group in singing. Fred Danforth played piano accompaniment. Pledge to the flag was given in unison. Carl Macon gave the invocation.

Work with the blind and sight conservation is one of the projects carried on with great diligence by the local club. This year as in years past needy children are supplied with free diagnosis and glasses when prescribed. One male student was recently fitted with much needed glasses, reported Carl Macon, sight conservation chairman.

Lion President Todd appointed Lion Ramby tail twister for the day. Lion Ramby took advantage of the opportunity to the extent of finding something wrong with every Lion present and charging each a double fine. He even fined the only female guest present! However he wasn't too successful on this score as she was only able to produce three worn out one cent stamps. Sympathetic Lions chagrined at the ungentlemanly conduct of the tail twister, salted his food until it was unedible.

Lion Willard E. Cox, who had just returned from a successful big game hunt near Durango, Colorado, told of the trip and his and Tom McAlister's encounter with a bear.

Members present were: C. C. Armstrong, V. L. Lawson, Fred Danforth, Raymond and Strickland, Lloyd Allsup, Murray Crone, David Todd, R. D. Ormand, P. B. Ramby, Homer E. Thomson, L. W. Many Types of Trees and Shrubs Have Proved Their Value in West Texas

There are many types of trees and shrubs that have proved their value under growing conditions found in West Texas. For many years superintendent F. E. Keating of the Big Spring Field Station, Big Spring, has been testing trees and shrubs for use in this section of the state and his findings are now available in Progress Report number 1185. This report was released on Aug. 30 through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and your local county extension agents should have the report in their office.

Among the evergreen shrubs that have done well are: abelia, agave (the native barberries are host plants to black stem rust of wheat, so their use must be limited to areas where they will not affect the wheat crop), agave or Texas Silverleaf, evergreen euonymus, firethorn, Pfitzer Juniper and the privets.

More than 20 deciduous shrubs are described and most have done well in the Big Spring tests. Among this group are the Amur honeysuckle, beautybush, bird-of-paradise, chastetree (lilac and cut-leaf), Chinese lilac, desert willow, rebud, Vanhoutte spiraea and many others that can be used in the homestead landscape plantings.

Keating's report describes five species of vines that have done well at the Big Spring station. They are English ivy, everblooming honeysuckle, queen's wreath or mountainrose coralvine silvervine fleecflower and Virginia creeper.

Shade trees, says Keating, should have first consideration in the landscape plans for the farm or ranch home. In planting shade trees, the space requirement should be taken into consideration to avoid crowding later, he says. The Siberian or Chinese elm, American elm, green ash, velvet ash, thornless hollyhock and the native hackberry are all adapted to the section.

The Arizona cypress, Italian cypress, Chinese arborvitae, Rock Mountain juniper and Red cedar are the evergreen trees that have done best.

If you are interested in trees or shrubs for homestead plantings, then you'll want to see the detailed report on these experiments. It is still too early to plant the trees and shrubs, but it isn't too early to make your selections and plans for planting them in the spring.

'Pass the Pork' Is Familiar Saying

"Please pass the pork" is a familiar sentence around many dinner tables these days, as cold weather approaches. A juicy roast pork or pork chops are dishes that can't be beat, according to many connoisseurs of meat. However, pork can be dangerous if it isn't cooked long enough. So, be sure that pork passes the test of thorough cooking before you put it on the table. Otherwise, trichinosis may result, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Trichinosis is a big word, but the disease is easy to prevent. All you need to do is cook the meat until the pink color turns to white. When the change of color occurs, the meat is safe to eat. Farmers who raise hogs for sale as meat, and who feed them garbage, should cook the garbage first, or the meat may become contaminated. If butchered pork is stored at a temperature of five degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, for 20 days, trichinosis parasites should die, if there are any.

If a person eats a pork chop, for example, that contains trichinae, they are swallowed in the form of tiny capsules. In the intestines these capsules develop and discharge minute worms which are carried by the bloodstream to various parts of the body—settling in muscles, where after a period of time they become calcified and die.

What are the symptoms of trichinosis? Stomach upsets and muscular pains, a feeling of chilliness, sore throat, and sometimes considerable fever, are some of the signs. An acute attack of the illness lasts about one or two weeks. The disease has a low death rate, but recovery is fairly slow.

SOUTH PLAINS FARMERS CAN PROFIT FROM NATIONAL COTTON YIELD REPORTS

South Plains farmers can profit from national cotton yield reports which indicate that insects were responsible for a 63,000-bale decrease in 1949 production, despite the greater acreage and favorable crop conditions.

The plant industry department at Texas Technological college cited the figures today as an incentive for West Texas cotton growers to adopt rotation plans and apply insecticides at the proper time.

Flea hoppers, leafworms, aphids and red spiders can be controlled if the farmers will observe his crop closely and keep periodic counts. Weekly observation permits the farmer to keep pests in check if suitable sprays or dusts are used.

1. What do buyers look for in top market broilers?

The broilers that bring top market prices are those with good fleshing quality, good feathering, low shipping and dressing shrinkage, and absence of breast blisters and deformities.

2. What is a rex rabbit, and is it true that any breed of rabbits can be rexed?

Rex rabbits are any breed of rabbits that have under fur but no guard fur. A breeder who has one individual rex rabbit can, by proper matings, produce a rex breed in three generations, if a sufficient number of rabbits are produced. When the offspring of a normal-haired rabbit and a rex-appearing animal are bred together, 25% of the litter will be pure rex.

3. Should special attention be given to feeding and handling the herd boar?

Yes. Records at the Ralston Purina Company's Research Farm indicate that any improper feeding, mishandling, or neglect of the most important single individual in the hog herd, the herd boar, will be reflected in smaller litters, lowered production, and less profit.

$11,000 Listed Stock Gift Received by Museum at Canyon

A gift of almost $11,000 in listed stock has been received by the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State College. The stock was a gift of Earl Cobb, Fort Smith, Ark., in memory of James Lowry Smith and his wife, Marie Bynum Smith, pioneer Panhandle couple now deceased.

This is the largest single gift in the 23-year history of the Museum. Revenue from the stocks is expected to be around $400 annually.

Under the supervision of the executive committee of the Museum, income from the fund will be used annually in a Historical Essay Contest among high school students of the Plains area. Plans for the contest have been announced and ten prizes have been set. First prize will be $100, second $50, third $25, fourth $15 and fifth $10. These five prizes will be awarded in both boy and girl divisions.

Directors of the contest will contact high schools asking students to enter and suggesting topics about which the students may write.

Cotton Defoliation Demonstration Held Saturday

By H. E. Thompson

Saturday, October 22, a cotton defoliation demonstration was held on Max Bower's farm five miles east of Morton.

The chemical used for demonstration was furnished free of cost by Rowland and Co. of Plainview, Texas. 300 pounds of monosodium cyanamid was used. It was dusted on by airplane by Earl Crum free of charge. The results were very satisfactory according to county agent Homer E. Thompson.

"Although the chemical was not available on the market in commercial quantities, we were able to get enough for demonstration purposes at a late date, only 300 pounds and even though the cotton leaves had been toughened by wet frosts prior to application, a good result was obtained because the leaves had turned black and 90 percent of them had fallen to the ground by the first freeze Monday morning, October 31," said Thompson. About 15 or 20 farmers observed the application of this defoliant.

Nine acres were defoliated by the above chemical in dust form on the northeast corner of Max Bower's place. "It is right on the farm to market road; so everyone should observe this spot when passing along the road," the agent added.

Shed-A-Leaf, another defoliant, was used as a spray on Tommie Lynch's farm four miles southeast of Morton, on highway 290 on Oct. 14. 20 farmers observed the application and are watching the results of this defoliant. It did not give as good a results as expected said Thompson, although a casual observer could tell where the defoliant was applied.

Two Texas Tech Graduates Operating Own Textile Factory in Guatemala City

Two Texas Tech graduates who now live in Guatemala are doing their best to give feminine wardrobes a Latin American look.

Joyce Dobkins and Louise Ohlenbush, Texas-born-and-bred, have set up their own textile factory in Guatemala City and are already importing skirts, blouses and other wearing apparel to the United States bearing their "Mayatex" label. The trade name is a combination of the Mayan native weaving process and—naturally—Texas.

The 100-loom factory which the two Texans are setting up is the latest step on their pathway which began several years ago when they first entered the textile business. Miss Ohlenbush was visiting friends in the Central American capital and became interested in the native weaving process. She had studied textile weaving and design in home economics at Texas Tech and wasn't pleased with the native artcraft.

After trying the home factory system for a while, the girls decided to set up their own plant. The enlarged capacity should permit them to double their previous monthly output of 4,000 yards.

Miss Dobkins graduated from Tech in 1934. Her partner is a Tech graduate of 1940 and former school teacher at New Braunfels.

Had RHEUMATISM So BAD That He Had To Quit Working

Mr. Jerry Watkins, chief of detectives of the city of Hot Springs, Arkansas, suffered with rheumatism so much and the aches and pains were so terrible that he had to quit working in an effort to regain his health after he had tried everything which his friends recommended.

Detective Watkins is well known and his countless number of friends throughout the country will rejoice to know that he is now healthy, free of rheumatic aches and pains and now working hard.

"For several years," Mr. Watkins says, "I suffered from a rheumatic condition in the hip and leg. I was very nervous and finally developed migraine headaches. I tried all kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good. I seemed to be growing worse and worse and was finally advised to take a leave of absence from my work on the police force in an effort to recover my health."

"The pains in my head sometimes were unbearable. I suffered tortures and I was miserable. At night particularly I lay awake and could not sleep."

Mr. Watkins said that someone finally persuaded him to try HADACOL, and after taking the first bottle he said he could see an improvement in his general condition.

"On January 14th of this year," he said, "I felt so much better I decided to go back on the job. The examining doctor told me I was in perfect health. Now I am

Nene and her 3 minute icing recipe! Sunday (October 23) was the spouses birthday—so Saturday evening when he announced he had to be out awhile, getting anti-freeze (can't men think up the darndest excuses to get out?) for the car, we decided to whip up a little frosting for his birthday cake. Got it made, spread on the cake even added little pink rose-buds, candles, Happy Birthday etcetera.

Turned our back to do something else and when we looked around those little letters were slipping and sliding all over the cake. Even the candles were hanging precariously on the edge—the pink roses and green leaves were making little rivulets down the sides. That frosting must have been too soft. Needless to say we aren't much of a cook.

Think the only time we've actually been mad at that Avalanche-Journal bunch of weather reporters was one evening when none of them called. We were trying to make an apple pie—had everything ready and couldn't find any cinnamon—wanted to ask what to use instead of and thought some one in that outfit would surely know.

Sure enough that was one of the evenings they got all the weather they wanted somewhere else.

A letter a few days ago from Mrs. A. M. Curry in Snyder. She inquired of Mr. W. E. Miller. The Millers at one time lived near the Curry family in Snyder. Understand Mr. M's health is improving.

Didn't have a bit of trouble getting ready for the Garden Club the other night. Mrs. C. A. Baird—sweet sweet Bea—told us at Guild Monday night that she wanted to make a cake—with that the refreshment problem was solved. A slice of Bea's wonderful-cake and coffee is enough for anyone.

Mrs. Baird not only brought a huge chocolate cake for the club meeting but the absolutely most beautiful white cake—embossed in pastel colored sugar pansies, violets, rosebuds and lilies for the special consumption of ae and spouse. She said she'd whip us if we told—so she'd just as well get a big stick ready.

Half the pleasure in having ones friends do such lovely things is in bragging about it.

Mrs. Gowdy is a very compatible person; and each time we talk with her find a number of things we have in common.

Mrs. Clemons, wife of the supt. of schools at Whiteface is a charming person. She had trouble finding Vagabond House but Wayne Buchanan straightened her out—after telephoning us and asking directions.

Dashed home—late as usual—and threw on an old moth eaten black velvet that we've had hanging around for at least ten years—maybe longer as it looks quite juvenile.

Anyway with a black slip underneath the holes weren't too conspicuous. Which reminds us—anyone around here old enough to remember wearing long black ribbed stockings? We did, on top of brilliant white union suits and of course you know the standard procedure for a hole in the stocking—application of black ink with resulting polka-dots on union suit—which made mama very unhappy.

She not only stuffed us down in those things but put black sateen bloomers on top—no wonder people called us "chubby" and to this day we hate pants.

That Elk Willard Cox killed in Colorado weighed over 1000 pounds. We saw the head over at Dosses, it is a huge thing. Tom McAllister told us that W. E. stalked that Elk for 6 miles over the mountainous terrain of Colorado. One would encounter difficulty trying to persuade W to walk a block here in town.

Had a nice talk Fridov morning with Mr. Charles A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal, he did all the talking. This will probably surprise some of our friends but we do occasionally run into some one more long winded than ae.

Mrs. N. J. Russell took us to task a few days ago; said the column hadn't been at all like ae—too solemn. Mrs. R. may find out that we do not stay on the peak ALL the time and when we do get that sunk feeling it takes the combined effort of the spouse, all our friends, the entire hospital staff and a complete new wardrobe to pull us out.

Mrs. Paulk doesn't call our usual exuberance by that name; she says, "Ann you burn the candle at both ends." Anyway we have fun and seldom ever reach that stage where we wish we were dead.

Mrs. L. F. Hargrove has accepted appointment as fund chairman for the winter March of Dimes Drive. Katie will make a good one.

Some one at the surprise birthday party for James St. Clair and Bill Williamson had the courage to give them a card reading, "You may be looking older—BUT you haven't gotten too old to look." of course the card carried a picture of a couple of dudes looking at a pretty girl coping with a march wind.

We could mention the very embarrassing situation Roy Hickman found himself in but we won't. Zippers can be the contrastiest things.

Oh yes, while we were listening to Mr. Guy he said, "You sure have a bunch of pretty girls out your way." Take a bow beauty candidates. He told us that he had mailed the pictures back Thursday—he had no idea of the identity of any of the girls. Mr. Guy has good taste—we've met Mrs. G and she is very attractive as well as charming.

As usual the Smiths, Floyd and

Book Lovers Club Meeting Held in Watson Home

The Book Lovers Club met Thursday, October 27th in the home of Mrs. Wendell Watson. There were seventeen members of the club present. Mrs. W. L. Miller was a guest of the club.

Mrs. Frank Barker reviewed "Raising A Riot" by Alfred Toombs.

The book is the first book written by Toombs, who is a newspaper correspondent. He was at one time associated with Ernie Pyle in the newspaper field. The story tells of Mr. Toomb's experience in rearing his three active children without the aid of his wife. The story has a thread of comedy running from the opening page to the end of the book. For anyone interested in the book it can be obtained from the county library.

Mrs. Watson carried out the Halloween motif by serving pumpkin pie, coffee, nuts and Halloween candy to: Mesdames Charlie Cravy, Norman Monk, Joe Gipson, E. L. Willis, Frank Barker, Reba Farmer, Fred Danforth, Bob Waddell, Ermon Miller, Carl Macon, D. E. Benham, Bill Garrett, Lloyd Miller, Will Miller, Jess Burns, and Misses Lavern Mullins, Lanora Jackson and Mabel Ann Manley.

The next meeting of the club will be in the home of Mrs. Lanora Jackson, November 8th.

Merritt and Jeanette Shue.

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTENDING EL PASO BAPTIST CONVENTION

Rev. W. C. Wright and Ike Harris, pastor at County Line Baptist Church left early Tuesday morning to attend the convention.

Roy, permitted use of their store window last Saturday for the Garden Club's bake and bulb sale. Floyd and Roy are so generous—two of our favorite bachelors also.

Just wonder how many know that David Todd gave a large oak table to the Legion Auxillary and during the flower show he loaned a beautiful period table for refreshment purposes.

And while handing out bouquets we'd like to mention that R. C. Ross, manager of E. L. Banks Company, is responsible for that nice big mechanical refrigerator now in use in the kitchen of First Methodist Church.

Reminds us that we promised to get some new kitchen curtains for up there and Mrs. H. S. Watkins said she'd see that the curtains were hung and she'd also provide a cover for the work table.

How many of you saw the 7½ pound Star-Telegram received here Sunday? It is a whopper and will provide reading for sometime to come. It commemorates Ft. Worth's centennial.

The spouse commenting on the golden wedding anniversary of the Lindsevs said, "If a golden wedding signifies 50 years together, and a silver wedding means 25 years, these quickies of today that are ending in divorce courts might be called the wooden nickel weddings."

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Liles visited in the W. G. Freeland home Sunday night.

BOOK NOOK

New books that have reached the shelves of the Cochran County Library are as follows:

"Root Out of Dry Ground"

By Argye Briggs

At last we are happy to offer you this best seller which was released to the public in 1949 and is the Eerdman $5,000.00 Fiction Award Winner. Not in recent years has a more significant literary achievement been registered for both author and publisher than this dramatic, forthright, tender and profoundly Christian story. This is a real American story with a real American flavor—its scenes laid amid the Texas hills and the common people of our great Southwest.

"Beloved Bondage"

By Elizabeth Yates

This book is proving a vital influence in American life. There is a saying that marriages are made in heaven. But here is a striking story of a marriage that was shaped and brought to final fruition right here on earth by two young people who found their way anything but simple and smooth. It is a tender and uplifting modern story of patience and loyalty, of faith and growth, of search and discovery. You will like this book.

"The Golden Salamander"

By Victor Canning

Do you like mystery and adventure? If so, then this is your book to read. It is by the author of "Panther Moon" and is about David Redfern who arrived in the North African town of Kabarta with no idea that he would soon be the center of a tense, enveloping drama. But the night of his arrival he made a startling discovery—and finds himself confronted with a vital question: does a man ever have the right to turn his back upon evil. If David had not answered this question as he did, would he have been plunged into a desperate contest in which the stakes were life and death? The meaning of the golden salamander is something that makes this unusual story as truly worthwhile as it is absorbing and exciting.

VISITED PARENTS HERE

Mrs. A. R. Latham and son of Ropesville visited here Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kap Lindsey.

Miss Ames to Play In "Hasty Heart"

For one girl to be perpetually surrounded by eight men seems almost unfair to less popular womankind.

But when the eight men include an incredible variety of accents and nationalities—Scottish, Irish, English, New Zealand, Australian and African—then it might be a pretty hard lot for the girl.

Barbara Ames, 24, pretty young Broadway actress, finds herself in this fix everytime the curtain goes up on the Theatre-On-Tour production of "The Hasty Heart" in Lubbock.

"The Hasty Heart" is sponsored by the Levelland Concert association and will be seen in Levelland at the High School Auditorium on November 10.

Miss Ames plays a nurse. Her patients speak eight different dialects. "It would just get too confusing if they spoke with really broad accents," she said. "They've toned them down a bit."

The young cast—average age "21-plus"—has a wonderful time traveling on the road with the Broadway play.

"But we have just as much fun on the stage," they agreed. "It's really a very funny comedy—laugh in every line."
