Kick Off Banquet For Farm Bureau Membership Drive Held Monday

Membership drive for the Farm Bureau got underway with a banquet Monday night at Veterans Hall.

Functions of the Farm Bureau and benefits derived in the past as well as those anticipated for the future were outlined by Glenn W. Thompson, T. M. Tanner, president of the Cochran County Farm Bureau, introduced Mr. Thompson and Johnny Watkins, organizational director of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Waco, Texas, who also spoke.

Both speakers emphasized importance of organization of agriculturists saying in effect, "Farmers must organize in self defense, or turn this government over to the control of those who are organized."

A few of the accomplishments of Farm Bureau outlined were: maintained legislative directors in Austin and Washington, kept tractor gasoline from being taxed, active in attending hearings in Washington on Farm Programs, allotments, sought enactment of Farm Bureau Rural Road Program to get farmers out of the mud, and established a Service Program for Farm Bureau members.

Listed two advantages of being a member of the Farm Bureau such as securing fair prices for farm products, so that individuals may become an important part of the democratic organization to promote, protect and secure the business of farming. So that local problems may have the support of the state and national organizations if necessary. More and better farm to market roads, more widespread private ownership and less Government ownership of farm lands.

Thompson cited as an example, the "Scrape Out Ranch" which was bought by the Government about 1938; with plans to copy the project at Ropesville, which did not materialize because of the war, later, Thompson stated the Government was negotiating a sale of the land to a Dallas individual which the Farm Bureau, Triple A and Cochran County Commissioners' Court opposed. Through work and concert, efforts of these groups the land sale was held up and later sub-divided and sold to individuals, mostly veterans, who were given 1/2 the mineral rights.

Details were also given of the current bills in the legislature concerning farm to market roads. At close of meeting the six communities represented selected a chairman for the membership drive.

Announcement was made of a meeting to be held in courthouse Monday night at 7:30 for the purpose of electing new Farm Bureau officers.

Texas Farmers Produced Great Quantities of Grass Seed in 1950

Grass, Man's best tool for anchoring soil against erosion, was given a sound vote of confidence during 1950 by Texas Farmers and ranchers.

Increased respect for this weapon against soil and water waste is reflected by last year's seed harvest, which shows 746,599 pounds of native grass seed harvested by Texas Farmers and ranchers, it was pointed out today by Louis P. Merrill, Soil Conservation Service regional director here.

Leading the native grass seed harvest parade in Texas were little bluestem (400,325 pounds), and blue grama (202,410 pounds) both warm season forage plants.

The 1950 seed harvest figures, Merrill said, also reflect widely increased use of King Ranch bluestem by conservation-wise farmers and ranchers. It is a deep-rooted introduced perennial grass known for its erosion-resisting and forage qualities and its adaptation to wide extremes of rainfall.

Throughout Texas, a total of 506,537 pounds of King Ranch bluestem seed was harvested, easily a new record seed take for the popular drought and cold resistant grass, the regional director said.

Of the KR seed harvested in Texas last year, 463,082 pounds or about 91 per cent of the statewide harvest were taken from the farms and ranches of soil conservation district cooperators, Merrill said. An additional 8,430 pounds of KR seed were harvested from the soil Conservation Service nursery at San Antonio and U. S. land utilization project areas.

From Texas' more than 4 1/2 million acres in close-growing, soil conserving legumes, a total of 25,216,000 pounds of legume seed was harvested during 1950, Merrill announced.

Leading in the Texas legume seed harvest was Hubam sweet-clover (11,258,947 pounds) a versatile conservation crop respected for its ability to overcome cotton root rot, decrease soil loss and runoff and improve soil productivity. Second was hairy vetch (10,819,087) a winter cover crop known as a veritable storehouse of soil nutrients.

The harvest of native and introduced grass seed and legume seed in Texas last year totaled more than 30 million pounds, the regional director said.

"The 1950 seed harvest is a clear indicator that the Texas Farmer and rancher is paying increased attention to the use of grasses and legumes as his best weapons in improving the soil and fighting soil and water waste," Merrill said.

EDITORIALS

We Bring The News

A responsible newspaper regards as one of its most solemn duties . . . bringing to the attention of the citizens the details of public services which they pay for and control . . . The great task is separating the wheat from the chaff; getting that part of the news of public affairs that is essential to full understanding of government and its operations.

It is only through the fullest cooperation of governmental officials, local, state and Federal, that a newspaper is able to present the accurate facts and figures to its reading public.

Secrecy and the withholding of information that essentially belongs to the tax paying public only creates distrust for those withholding the information and quickly defeats its own purpose.

Planned Socialism For United States

Sometime ago the President created a Water Resources Policy Commission, and gave it the big and extremely important job of studying these resources and determining how they should be used and developed for the future. In this work, the question of hydroelectric power is naturally high on the list of topics.

The membership of the board is made up of several university officials, the manager of a large municipal utility system, and at least two men who have always plugged hard for government power development. It does not contain a single representative from the private electric industry—despite the fact that this industry supplies 80 per cent of the nation's power requirements! For that matter, it doesn't have a representative of any kind from a private taxpaying enterprise.

What we have here is one more rigged commission. The organization recently issued a lengthy report which recommends by direction and indirectness more Federal power systems, more authorities of the TVA character—in other words, more socialization of our resources and enterprises. Private industry comes in for some kind words, but they are few and far between. The whole weight of emphasis is on the virtues of big-time government planning.

This is one way in which the insidious, cleverly-camouflaged campaign for socialism is moving ahead. If the planners have their way, we will have statism on the British model. Senator George described the situation accurately when he said in Congress: "If the Federal government continues to move at the rate it is going . . . the great industries of this country will be federalized, because independent industry cannot compete with the government and we will have a system of national socialism."

More For Your Money

A very small number of services and commodities have not changed in cost since the pre-World War II era. Fire insurance is on that limited list.

The price of $1,000 worth of fire insurance on an average home in a typical location in the United States is now about the same as in 1940. In the intervening years, real estate values have almost doubled. A home which cost $5,000 in 1940 is worth around $9,950 today, and prudent policyholders have naturally increased their insurance coverage accordingly.

However, in terms of wages and commodities, the real cost of fire insurance on this home which has doubled in value is down, not up. The average factory worker, for example, needs 16 per cent less hours of work to insure his $9,950 home today than he did to protect his $5,000 home in 1940. In 1940, to take still another example, the wheat farmer had to grow and sell 13 bushels of wheat to pay for his policy. Now he can buy his protection for the value of only eight bushels.

In the long run, of course, the cost of fire insurance is determined by the amount of the nation's fire waste. If destruction by fire increases, the rates must eventually increase. And here is one more reason why every American should learn about fire hazards and how to eliminate them. It means, over the years, money in his pocket—just as it means safety for himself, his family and his property against a great destroyer and killer.

Mayville, N. D., Tribune: "We have grown into a self-centered nation of people, each separate section demanding the maximum of benefits from a munificent government, caring little whether others are treated likewise. As a result the national cost of living has grown to such proportions that our original dollar has been cut to less than half its former value."

by Jim Sparks
(FORMER MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATURE, NEWS AND RADIO COMMENTATOR)

Rep. Callan Graham, Junction, has a bill which will give us roads, roads, roads.

So has Rep. Max Triplett, Hillsboro.

Mr. Graham wants "farm-to-market roads, meaning: roads in rural areas including feeder roads, secondary roads, school bus routes, rural mail routes, milk routes;" and, he thinks they should connect farms, rural homes, ranches, churches, and sources of natural resources such as oil, mines, timber, water. They should serve points of public congregation, including communities and villages, and should be capable of assisting in the economic values in these areas.

Mr. Triplett thinks so, too. Fine, you say, just pass those bills and we'll all be happy.

But, no such luck. Somebody's got to build the roads, and there is where Mr. Graham and Mr. Triplett come to a parting of the ways.

Mr. Graham's bill, No. 226, leans to the State Highway Department; Mr. Triplett's, No. 46, to county officials.

Mr. Graham believes the State Highway Department is better equipped to do the job, can build more roads, and roads that will be built where they're needed that will fit better into the overall pattern of a good road system.

Mr. Triplett, a former County Judge, knows that county officials think they should do the job, that they as local officials know the local situation. So he is offering what he believes is a plan that will satisfy all interested in better roads. He denies that his plan will result in a hodge-podge system of roads running nowhere.

So far, good roads have had to take a back seat to re-districting and railroad legislation and other matters.

However, nothing is more important to our economy and to our defense at this time than is a good road system. "Roads is roads," by whatever means the Legislature choose to build them.

Do You Know whether or not an oral chattel mortgage is valid?

A chattel mortgage is a lien created upon personal property. Generally, it is what the Bank wants on crops and machinery when a farmer borrows money from the Bank. It also covers other personal property, such as furniture and cars.

With several exceptions, chattel mortgages may be oral as well as written. An agreement between two men that a certain piece of machinery shall stand good for a specified debt, and that if the debt is not paid, that the Creditor can come get the machinery, will constitute a valid oral chattel mortgage.

Practically all chattel mortgages are reduced to writing and signed, and this is the preferred practice for several reasons. One is that it is easier to prove exactly what the parties agreed to and not have to depend on memory. Another reason, is that the written chattel mortgage may be filed for record, and put interested parties on notice. An oral chattel mortgage is not binding on anyone, except those who have actual knowledge of it.

THESE TEXTBOOKS SOW GOOD SEEDS

On the day we returned to America after 11 years in the Orient, and travels through Asia and Europe, our two daughters, my wife and I walked joyously along the wondrous streets of New York City. Singing in our hearts were the immortal words of Sir Walter Scott: "Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, 'This is my own, my native land!'" We all agreed then and there we'd never again take the blessings of America for granted—its freedoms, its great opportunities for all citizens, its friendly Christian spirit, its incomparable progress.

But unfortunately not all Americans can see the rest of the world and how truly fortunate, by comparison, we Americans are. And in the 14½ years since our return to our "native land," I've observed in my travels around the country that a great many teachers have never realized the importance of inculcating native pride and love of country in the hearts of our children. Believe it or not, I have actually been in a few schools in which American patriotism was frowned upon as "not in step with world citizenship."

The Youngstown Books
People in the Youngstown (Ohio) area of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley are doing an outstanding job teaching their children real American citizenship, stimulating love of country and even love of and pride in their own great industrial area which embraces one Pennsylvania and three Ohio counties. The school authorities and industry, employee and parent-teacher groups to carry on a unique textbook and teaching program. The project was conceived and has been spearheaded by the Industrial Information Institute of Youngstown.

Five textbooks have been written and placed in the schools and others are to come. They reach down to the third grade and up through high school. The 30 school systems of the area use the texts. They were written by a Youngstown English teacher, Howard C. Ale, under the supervision of a board composed of 17 school superintendents and two representatives of local industry. The books now in use are: "Interesting People of Our Community," "Our Neighbors Tell Us About Their Work," "Exploring Our Neighborhood With Our Friends," "The Beginnings of Our Community," and "Working Together We Serve the World."

The Important Facts

From these textbooks and the enthusiastic teachers who direct their use, the child begins at eight years of age to learn the important facts about the settling of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley, its great progress through 125 years, and what made that progress possible. He learns about the founding of many of the area's 700 diversified industries and what made them grow. He learns about local natural resources and the development of machines to process them.

He learns the colorful story of steel and about the interdependency of capital and labor in the American system. He learns that a single steel plant in the Valley is valued at $270,000,000—three times as much money as was deposited in all the 42 banks in the four county area in 1940!—and that 12,390 people have money invested in that steel plant. From the textbooks and in subsequent school tours of the area, he gets acquainted with his "neighbors"—industrial executives, professional people, steel workers, artisans, craftsmen. At first hand he sees how American business and industry operates.

A Lively Pride

Aided by this unique textbook and teaching project, the school children develop a deep and lasting pride in their Valley and an appreciation for the American free enterprise system that brought about its growth. "Bill" and "Nancy" and "Grandpa" are principal characters in one of the primary-grade books.

"Don't people ever move from our community to other places, Grandpa?" asks Bill.

Tribune, Morton, Cochran County, Texas, Thursday, Feb. 22, 1950

"Why, of course they do," Grandpa says. "Sometimes their work takes them to faraway places. But they never forget our neighborhood. Wherever they go they tell about it."

"What do they tell about it, Grandpa?" Nancy asks. "They tell that our community is one of the greatest places in the world. They tell about the opportunities they found here. And, most important, they tell about the fine people who live in our community . . . they say that they wish they might come back here to work and live."

This "Grandpa" (and similar textbooks) ought to be in the classrooms of every region in America.

Printing was hailed as an invention to hand down wisdom to posterity; the only trouble is that posterity is too busy to read what was handed down.

Next Thursday, March 1, will mark the beginning of our sixth year here. The time has gone by swiftly—much too, we'd say off hand.

★ Here it is George's birthday again, or will be tomorrow, or was yesterday, depends on when you read the Tribune. Of course we are writing this column last week. Well we wrote the col you are now reading last week. Heavens — nothing seems to make sense.

★ What we are trying to say is that we have to write this piece several days in advance—AND projecting one's self into the future isn't the simplest matter in the world. No wonder we are eccentric. Our friend Charley Guy over in Lubbock expresses it very aptly, "It isn't absolutely necessary to be crazy to be a newspaperman, but it sure helps."

★ Last Monday (a week ago now) we were highly amused at Tooter (Mary Katherine) Miller, as she gathered up Valentines to send her friends. It occurred to us, "what a cute thing for ae," and then it dawned on us that the column was already written.

★ Don't know who teaches Tooter's Sunday School class but she is bound to be "special" as T said, "Why Mommy I HAVE to have two Valentines for my Sunday School teacher."

★ Youngsters seem to enjoy Sunday School so much it seems a shame for so many not to have the privilege of attending.

★ Mrs. C. A. Moore looking mighty pretty at the joint meeting of Guild and W.S.C.S. the other night. Don't see how she manages to keep up with her family, home and attend beauty school in Lubbock and still look fresh as a daisy.

★ At that same meeting the Reverend's mother, Mrs. Nora Stephens, gave such an interesting talk. Afterwards she was kind enough to tell us we had pretty hair. Of course, we could have told her just how much time and money was consumed in keeping it that way—but we didn't.

★ Mattie Ramby was overheard prior to Camp Fire banquet. "Just let me start in on plans for some thing like this and we have a big rain or snow." Sure enough we did. Now we've decided that instead of spending thousands for rainmakers, why not put Mattie on a committee for a big party each time we need moisture out this way.

★ The party was nice—all the little girls in their party dresses, corsages, etcetera, they were the proudest things of their dads and vice-versa.

★ Several of the little girls, who had sisters attending the same affair, invited escorts of their choice. Mary Ledbetter had her handsome Godfather, Hume Russell, as her dad for the evening. Deanna Rose invited Dr. Monk. Elmo Smith was Treva Jo Thompson's escort. Benny Carol Robinson was accompanied by James Vanderford.

★ Billie Lee Crockett was "sweetheart" to her grandfather, Mr. Walter Holt, and little Dona Malone was squired by Rev. Clarence Stephens. Dona has beautiful blonde hair.

★ Shirley Miller was proudly showing off the lovely corsage sent her by her dad, Lloyd.

★ Think everyone enjoyed the Saxophone concert. Actually we never knew so much melody could come out of a horn—takes a little skill too we imagine. That Mr. Rascher was very clever but had the funniest looking hair we ever saw.

★ Last week we were a guest of Lloyd Miller's at Lions Club. L. apparently would rather pay for our dinner than to write up the Lions News (he is the new publicity chr.)

★ Johnny Watkins, main speaker, had a nice voice, but talked more and said less than any one we've listened too in a long time.

★ We clipped the following from pot-pourri in the Childress Index. It is to the point and the very thing we are ALWAYS trying to impress on YOU.

"If you have—been on a trip entertained guests celebrated a birthday caught a big fish killed a big deer moved eloped had a baby
been in a fight sold your hogs cut a tooth sold out
had an operation bought a car remodeled your home had company been married been arrested been robbed been shot stolen anything lost your hair
— or done anything at all—— inform me.
— I will try to make it terrific."

ANOTHER SLOW RAIN FALLS EARLY THIS WEEK

Three-quarters of an inch of rain was recorded by Paul Russell of the Beeville Feed & Seed Co. Tuesday and Wednesday. At the Experiment Station, five miles east of Beeville, 47 of an inch of moisture fell. R. A. Hall, superintendent, said.

The slow-falling rain was preceded by a cold norther which sent the mercury down to 26 degrees Wednesday and 30 degrees Thursday morning. Some sleet also fell.

The precipitation, coming a week after the drizzling rain and sleet of two weeks ago that measured 1.52 inches, is considered as highly beneficial to farmers and ranchmen. — Beeville Bee-Picayune.

A BILL OF RIGHTS
A few days ago, I heard someone say that we need to think more of a "bill of responsibility" than we do of a "bill of rights." Perhaps we need to think of both. The thought here is that we are wanting to get more than we are willing to give; that we want more than we are willing to merit by service rendered.

The idea of getting something for nothing has done a terrible hurt to many. When an individual is unwilling to pay a fair price for what he gets; when one is unwilling to render an honest day's work for his wages, he becomes a parasite and makes of himself an entry on the negative side of life's ledger. It is true in business; it is true in the civic and social world; it is true in religion. When we begin looking for the opportunities to serve instead of the opportunities to be served, then we will be beginning to travel in the right direction. —Lynn County News.

CASTOR BEAN PROGRAM TO BE OUTLINED AT MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

Details of the castor bean program for the Chillicothe area in 1951 are to be explained by B. M. Beard and Cline Churchill, representatives of Baker Castor Bean Corporation, Tuesday night, Feb. 20, in the Chillicothe high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Beard is agronomist for the company with offices in Oklahoma City, Okla.; Churchill managed the hulling unit at Vernon this past year.

A castor bean hulling unit located in Chillicothe for the 1951 season is a definite possibility, according to the representatives. The vital role of castor bean by-products in defense mobilization has increased the need for production of the crop. A support program for the Brownwood area was announced last week by PMA officials there.

Castor beans have been grown as an experimental crop for six years on the Chillicothe Experiment Station. A number of local producers grew the beans under contract with the Baker Company during 1949 and 1950. —Chillicothe Valley News.

MOTORISTS WHO IGNORE FIRE SIREN WARNED AFTER WEDNESDAY ALARM

Efforts of an oil field service worker to thaw out a gasoline motor on a truck sent Seminole Volunteer Firemen racing to the Austin courts on the Hobbs highway over slick streets Wednesday morning.

The driver, assisted by two on-lookers, had the fire put out by the time firemen arrived, with only slight damage being done. The city fire truck narrowly escaped crashing into a pick-up driven by an unidentified man who refused to pull over to the side of the road and stop as directed by the truck's siren.

City Commissioner Charlie Benson, who doubles as a member of the fire department, had this to say about failing to heed the siren's warning to pull over while he was trying to get warmed up after the cold, wind-blown ride on the back of the truck:

"Motorists who hamper a fire truck in an effort to get to a fire can be given heavy fines. They endanger their own lives and property, lives of men taking their own time to afford the city fire protection, the city fire truck and gamble on giving a spreading fire valuable headway because they are too indifferent or obstinate to give right-of-way." —Seminole Sentinel.

Sen. K. B. Corbin Opposes the Graham Bill

Passage of the Graham Bill, now the subject of a House of Representatives fight, would cost the counties in the 30th Senatorial District more than $600,000 next year, Sen. Kilmer B. Corbin of Lubbock and Lamesa charged today.

"This bill is mistakenly labeled by its backers as a 'rural roads bill,'" Corbin declared. "Actually, it is nothing but a buck-passing bill to make the counties increase property taxes, so the State can avoid passing a natural resource tax bill which would be paid largely by non-Texans."

The Graham Bill, Sen. Corbin explained, would divert from the counties their share of one cent of the State gasoline tax, amounting to more than $8 million next year, and force the counties to raise property taxes so they can keep up rural roads and keep paying on county road bonds.

Sen. Corbin said that figures from the County and District Road Indebtedness Board show that the 24 counties in this district last year received $549,992 from the surplus available in the road bond assumption fund and that this year they would receive $620,348. The money must be used in some cases to pay off county road bonds, but most of it goes into actual rural road construction or upkeep, he continued.

"If the Graham Bill passes, then the counties won't get that money, and they'll have to dig it up somewhere," the Senator declared. "And the only place a county can raise money is from property taxes."

Sen. Corbin listed the following amounts which the counties in his district will receive in 1951 from the surplus fund, emphasizing that the money will not be paid in the future if the Graham Bill passes:

Andrews, $14,480; Bailey, $25,897; Borden, $11,358; Cochran, $16,927; Cottle, $18,682; Crosby, $31,517; Dawson, $34,608; Dickens, $22,107; Floyd, $37,804; Glines, $22,310; Garza, $18,226; Hale, $45,229; Hockley, $38,711; Howard, $26,203; Kent, $14,202; King, $8,280; Lamb, $48,782; Lubbock, $48,960; Lynn, $38,328; Martin, $20,737; Motley, $17,162; Stone-wall, $18,442; Terry, $27,570; and Yoakum, $13,466.

Sometimes Good Intentions Aren't Enough

That fire at the Griffin place didn't do much damage last week, but Volunteer Chief Murphy was pretty angry about it. Spoke to some of us over dinner and a bottle of beer.

"Griffin's farm is a good mile from town," he said. "And by the time we'd dodged all the people on the highway who were going to watch, we hadn't a minute to waste."

"Then blamed if those sight-seers hadn't parked cars right in Griffin's driveway and there was a mob of people milling around the house—just gawking. Joe, tell folks a fire's no sideshow. Ask 'em to think of the other fellow!"

From where I sit, some of us need to be reminded occasionally that even though our intentions are good we may be unfairly interfering. Whether it's blocking the right-of-way of fire equipment or criticizing a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer now and then—the American Way is to give way, and give the other fellow his fair "share of the road!"

Talk From Around Here By ART. N. WALL

We didn't get to make the Girlstown meeting on Jan. 30th due to a March of Dimes benefit show at the Home Theatre. We talked to Miss Anthony later concerning this meeting. She said they had a very good meeting and a social afterwards. She pointed out that the next meeting would be on February 27th.

You know these meetings are for the purpose of letting people in our surrounding towns and those in our own community, know how Girlstown is operating. There are so many of us that cannot give money to Girlstown but lots of us can give support by donating a little of our own time in doing some work.

task some motor company could do for Girlstown that really would be appreciated. The truck has Girlstown written in big black letters on the doors. Miss Anthony said it was given to her. I don't know, but I believe it was some motor company in Lubbock.

She wants to get it going so she can haul in some bailed hay, feed for chickens, has a load of spuds up at Hereford, some elm trees, and I don't know what all. Anyhow the truck is needed. For instance over at Devonian camp there is a bunch of wood that could be used might well up at Girlstown in repairing buildings and so forth. A lot of that junk wood that cannot be used can be burned in the fireplace. If that old truck would roll I know half a dozen guys who would drive it over to Devonian camp and get that wood.
