SPECIAL EVENTS CALENDAR CHANGE DATE ON PANCAKE FEED

The date of the Troop 101. Pancake Supper has been changed. It was announced this week by Snoball Willis. Originally set for April 29, the supper had to be changed due to a conflict in the dates at the County Activities Building. A County teacher's meeting was already set for that date.

The new date will be announced as soon as further arrangements can be made, Willis said.

ANNUAL 4-H, FFA FAT STOCK SHOW, SATURDAY

FAT STOCK SHOW MEANS WORK

Saturday, the fulfillment of one of the most inspirational of all 4-H and FFA activities, will be reached at the Cochran County barn and you, as an interested citizen of the county can help add to that inspiration.

Through 4-H and FFA activities, Cochran County's farm youth are learning to care for their own stock. They're learning, through actual experience, what is important in the raising of hogs, sheep and calves. They're learning by way of a dollars and cents rating.

The effective raising, showing, and marketing of these animals raised by farm youth of our community isn't just a show, put on for their benefit. It can also benefit you, as an individual buyer; you as a local merchant; you as a consumer or you as an interested resident who might want to help. Not only do these boys look toward competent judges to say whose animals are the best; they look to you to say whether or not the animals are worth buying.

Actually any question of WORTH is foolish. Chances are, only in a rare case will an animal be shown that is not worth every penny that is paid, just for consumer value alone. Not to even mention the long hours of diligent care that has gone into the raising of the animals. You, as a consumer will come out long ahead. Not only will you get top quality meat, at a reasonable price, you'll be helping a most worthy cause.

In our farms lies the fate of our country, and more particularly, our County. If you don't believe that, ask any merchant who has sat through the past three rugged crop years, here. In our farm youth, lies the hope of tomorrow's farming. They formulate their sets of values for tomorrow by what attention we pay today.

You may not be financially able to purchase a calf, a lamb or a hog... chances are, together with a neighbor you could. But even if not, a few dollars to help bolster the premiums will help these boys see some value in their young business venture and the few dollars won't be missed, by you.

For your sake, and theirs, too; see a member of the buying committee, today.

Sale of Animals Will Start At 1:30 23 Calves Expected

From 80 to 100 4-H and FFA raised animals will be paraded before a group of judges, Saturday as Cochran County's annual Fat Stock show is held at the County Barn.

Mostly boys, and a few girls, will pit their animals for a varied list of awards, the top most of which will be the honor of being named grand champion and the added premium sale price that goes with it.

Friday (that's tomorrow) is the entry deadline, Homer Thompson, County Agent warned all youthful stock raisers. From 3 until 6 p. m., all animals are to be registered at the county barn, located in the county park. There the animals will be weighed in, tagged and prepared for the judging Saturday.

One of the real highlights on Saturday morning, before any of the judging takes place, will be a demonstration by J. K. Adams and P. E. Gross on the proper exhibition of hogs and calves for showing. Adams, Bailey County Agent will judge the hogs. Gross, assistant county agent from Gaines County will be the beef judge.

"Judging will start promptly at 9 a. m.," Thompson reminded. "That means you'll have to be there early to attend the demonstrations. The judging must be completed in time for the sales committee to complete their lists for the sale which will start at 1:30 p. m."

Approximately 23 calves are expected to be entered with 16-18 entering the lamb division and another 40-50 hogs to be judged. Those animals which are to be sold, may be resold by the purchaser. Buyers will be on hand to take care of that. However, all calves must be resold individually.

Judge, Agent Meet With Gov. Shivers On FSA Loans

County Judge Fred Stockdale and County Agent Homer Thompson were in Austin last weekend attending a meeting at which 28 Texas Counties were represented... seeking more lenient and more extensive FSA loans.

Governor Allan Shivers met with the group, listened to their proposals and will, with governors from several neighboring states, present the problem in Washington.

Stockdale said Cochran County was the only county that mentioned the needed change in the drought feed plan for this area. Local farmers find themselves unable to use the corn now being shipped through the drought feeding plan because of lack of proper processing mills; and the high cost and low protein value.

Just how many of these were poisoned is not known.

FAST APPROACHING the deadline and only a handful of County officials have drawn opponents. Consensus of opinion seems to be that every official should have a chance to serve at least two terms. We never could see that line of thinking because we don't feel that an unqualified man, who proves himself unqualified in his first term of office, will become very much more qualified the second term.

SINCE THE majority seem to feel that way, and the majority is usually right, one thing should be for sure. It shouldn't be hard getting the constitutional amendment passed next fall which will grant most county officials a four-year term instead of two years.

DOES JOHN 3:16 TEACH FAITH ONLY

We pointed out last week that John 3:16 does not mention the blood of Christ, baptism, or repentance. Yet the most ardent proponents of "faith only" based on John 3:16 claim that repentance is necessary to salvation, and even proceeds faith, but even beyond that according to the regeneration or the new birth takes place, and then faith, repentance, and newness of life are simply evidences of the new birth having taken place; and I quote: "We believe that in order to be saved, sinners must be regenerated, or born again; that regeneration consists in giving a holy disposition to the mind; that it is effected in a manner above our comprehension by the power of the Holy Spirit, in connection with divine truth, so as to secure our voluntary obedience to the gospel; and that its proper evidence appears in the holy fruits of repentance, faith, and newness of life." (Pendleton's Manual For Baptist Churches, article VII, page 49-50). From the above question it appears to me that many things are believed by "faith only" teachers that is not to be found in John 3:16.

This illogical idea of excluding all other conditions of salvation because they may not be mentioned in a certain verse with one certain requirement, leads these preachers into a religious dilemma. It would work mightily against the only condition they preach — FAITH. In Acts 22:16, Saul of Tarsus was told to "Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins." No faith mentioned here, just baptism! Is this baptism ONLY? No sir, no more than John 3:16 teaches "faith only." Together, as they are intended of God, they teach faith and baptism as conditions of salvation. And that is exactly the way Jesus put it in Mark 16:16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." And this is the way it is and this is the way men shall be saved.

The Bible no where teaches FAITH ONLY as the means to salvation. "Faith only" is spoken of only one time in the Bible and then it says "Ye see then how that works a man is justified and NOT by FAITH ONLY." (James 2:24). I ask you kindly, Can the "faith only" doctrine be right?

SCD OFFICE DISCUSSES

The Individual Farmer's Responsibility To Conservation of Underground Water

A lot of discussion has been carried out in this area on well spacing. The number one point in mind in the spacing of wells is the conservation of underground water.

The spacing is only a small point of consideration in comparison with the effective use after the water reaches the top of the ground.

The farmer's objective in the conservation of our underground water is the use of every inch of water pumped from under the ground applied conservatively and effectively in such a way to obtain maximum production.

Many farmers do not have any idea as to the actual amount of water that is being applied to their land. The term generally used is that it is "wet." The overall efficiency is given little thought.

The purpose of our pre-irrigation watering is to store the maximum moisture in the soil profile that effects root development and plant growth. The maximum average moisture that can be stored in the average soil being irrigated in the Cochran County Soil Conservation District is around two inches of water per foot of soil depth. The average soil depth of the area is three and a half to four feet.

Just for example, as to what has been the general practice being carried out, a farmer has a 900 gallon per minute well and is to pre-irrigate 177 acres of land. This farmer takes six weeks of watering day and night to cover the 177 acres. What has happened? First, the 900 gpm will put two inches of water on an acre in one hour of pumping. Total water pumped is two acres inches per hour. (At 24 hours per day, 42 days of running, 2016 acre inches of water are put out.) This amount of water, applied on 177 acres is equal to 11.5 inches per acre.

This farmer has an average soil for the area, which will store 8 inches of water available in the soil profile. Before irrigation there is some moisture in the soil profile. It should be determined before irrigation as to the approximate moisture, needed to bring the entire soil profile to maximum storage. Under average conditions, six inches would have done a sufficient job.

Eleven and one-half inches of water applied to where only six inches was needed. This is a waste of 5 and one-half inches of water per acre. (177 acres times 5.5 equals 973.5 acre inches of water wasted).

The soil will hold only so much moisture, so why apply moisture in excess of the soil building capability. This is the farmer's responsibility in conservation of our underground water. The objective of the Cochran County Soil Conservation District is the delivery of irrigation water applied according to the requirements of the crop being grown. The district's technical staff is here to assist in attaining this goal.

To The Citizens and Taxpayers

MORTON, TEXAS

An audit of your city records has just been completed for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1954. We found the records had been kept in the usual good manner. The funds were properly accounted for, and the financial condition excellent. You may see the Report of Audit at the City Hall at your convenience. The City of Morton is yours, and you should be interested in the success of each administration. You have nice balances in all funds, and sufficient reserves for most any emergency. Some of your bonds will be retireable within the next two or three years under special options, and with these reserves, you will be able to liquidate a nice block of them.

We made certain recommendations which we believe will be of great benefit to the incoming Councilmen, and we trust that they may enjoy a successful tenure of office such as the retiring members have experienced.

The following is a consolidated balance sheet, which shows the assets and liabilities, and the net worth of the City of Morton. This balance sheet includes the water, sewer and gas system.

PARR MERRIMAN

YOU LOW DOWN SCOUNDREL

Some day they'll catch him!
Him or her, that is.

. . . and when they do, we hope a few of the irate citizens get to the culprit before the law enforcement officers. It wouldn't be too much amiss if the guy who caused all the damage sported a couple of black eyes, a busted lip, perhaps even a fractured jaw.

Why the vengeance? Why wish someone all that bad luck? Certainly, not just because they poisoned a few dogs. We like dogs as much as the next fellow. We have had pet dogs that were as close to us as any human being, while we were growing up. Yet we don't want to see anyone beat up just because he killed a dog or two.

And certainly not because they deprived some child of his or her pet. Though there is nothing in this world quite like the true pal relationship between a boy and his dog; though there is seldom a heart break any more painful than the broken heart of a child who has lost a dearly loved pet; still we don't think that alone justifies taking such extreme measures of revenge.

But for the wanton and willful neglect of a child's safety. For the utter disregard for any youngster's health. For the complete abandonment of any kind of Christian principles which is evident in a person who would set out poison that might take a human life, certainly the punishment suggested is very meek. Not nearly strong enough.

After some child has picked up a piece of poisoned meat or cookie, or candy from the ground and eaten it, it may be too late. There is no chance to say, "I'm Sorry." The person who is adult enough to know how to go about setting out poison, is adult enough to merit every ounce of penalty the law can provide.

Yes, they'll catch you, someday. Whoever you are, your excuses are mighty pitiful. Two local citizens stand ready to shell out $50 to the person whose evidence leads to the conviction of one of our dog poisoners. Here's hoping the people who know that you are poisoning pets, will suddenly see you for what you really are, a low-down scoundrel.

Stock Show . . .

A total of $20 in cash awards, made possible by the Jesse Bond Legion Post, will be presented to the boy who has the best kept stall in the calf division ($5); the boy who exhibits his calf the best ($5); the exhibitor who has the best kept hog or sheep pen ($5) and the exhibitor who does the best job of showmanship of hogs or sheep ($5).

The agent advised this week that the quality of animals to be exhibited was very good despite the fact that drought conditions have made stock raising a tremendous problem here the past two years.

COUNTY AGENT

On April 7, fourteen Cochran County Farm Bureau directors and members met with three members of the Cochran County Drought Committee. The purpose of this meeting was three fold. One, to get more members in the Farm Bureau; two, to discuss the emergency drought cattle feed program as it is presently being carried out; and third, to get established a better emergency feed program for the cattle to help ranchers and farmers now in distress.

After discussing the present program it was unanimously decided to try to reinstate cottonseed meal and pellets into the program with some kind of roughage or forage filler.

Both groups agreed that the present drought feeding program for cattle was impracticable, too costly, and the equipment for feeding corn and wheat was not available. Thus, the present mixed feed program of wheat and corn with dealer mixtures of alfalfa meal or cottonseed meal and minerals added making a 16 per cent to 21 per cent protein ration runs from $50 a ton to $56 a ton. One rancher, Alton Ainsworth, Bledsoe, made this statement — "If they gave me the choice of feeding the mixed feed formula free of cost, or sold me the pellets for $35 a ton (cost of pellets before supply exhausted) I'd never feed the mixed ration."

Some of the cattlemen have culled their present herds to the bone. Ken Coffman is having to dispose of his entire herd within the next few days. He has 29 head, seven registered cows with calves and two registered bulls. If anyone is interested in good stock see Ken Coffman. Ken is not alone in this matter of getting rid of good foundation stock. There are several others. This shows how the present feed program is affecting future operation of these stockmen.

All farmers who know now that they are not going to plant their full cotton acreage allotments, are requested to turn back to the County ASC Committee those cotton acres they DO NOT EXPECT TO PLANT. These "turned in acres," can be reallocated to other farmers in the county provided these acres are turned back before May 21, 1954.

It works like this — the farmer who does plant his entire cotton acreage quota — stands a chance of losing part of his future cotton acreage quota. This could LOWER the county quota and the individual farmer's quota, too.

If a farmer knows now he does not intend to plant his entire quota, he can turn back those acres he does not expect to plant to the county ASC Committee, and this farmer can get credit for having planted his full cotton acreage quota. By doing so, it will not reduce the farmers future cotton acreage quota on this particular farm; so can the county benefit in future cotton acreage allotments. By the same token other counties stand a better chance to maintain their present cotton acreage quota by turning back to county ASC Committees those acres the farmers know he does not expect to plant for redistribution in the county or to other counties in time for the acreage to be allocated and planted. This is a new flexible part of the program which guarantees that future allocated cotton acres will not reduce the farmer's cotton acres, and so help the county quota. Again may it be said that unless every acre allocated to the farmer is planted to cotton he stands a good chance of losing some of his future cotton acres. Now if he turns in the acres he does not intend to plant to his ASC County Committee in time for re-distribution and planting, this farmer can get credit for planting his full cotton acreage quota. Think this over and let's act as soon as you have determined your present planting cotton operations for this year, 1954.

It is time to think about spring clean-up and remember there is no place like home for accidents, according to Sadie Hatfield, Homestead Improvement Specialist. She lists 8 check spots to insure a safer home. They are:
(1) Is your driveway arranged so that you can head into traffic, rather than to back into it? And does your driveway have a clear view of all passing a and approaching cars? Cut your shrubs low enough so that you can see over them, and prune tree limbs off to a height which will enable the driver to have a clear view.

(2) Do you have a safe trash-burner? A large percentage of home fires are started by burning trash. A large metal container of almost any kind may be fitted with 1/4 inch mesh covering. This will keep flaming particles inside the burner. Trash-burners are easily built of rock, brick or cement block.

(3) Do you have 1/4 inch wire mesh over the top of all chimneys, flues, outside furnaces and barbecue pits?

(4) Is your clothesline a sagging snare? It should be raised above head level and the sag tightened so that one may walk or run under them without danger.

(5) Are you sure you have no holes in your lawn? Grass growing over the holes will obscure them and may cause someone to stumble or fall.

(6) What about stumbling blocks such as stone or stumps and bumps in the lawn? Walks that are higher than the ground may be filled along the edges with soil so that they will not rise above the ground level.

(7) Is your garbage can fly-tight and water-tight? Such a container should be arranged to hold cans, bottles, and other rubbish until these can be carried away. This will discourage insects and insure no broken glass in the yard for the children to cut themselves upon.

(8) Do you have a play area arranged to keep toys and children's play equipment in one place? Scattered playthings may lead to dangerous falls.

Fort Bliss, Texas (Spl). — Pvt. H. L. Shakespeare, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shakespeare, Box 452, Morton, is home on leave this week after completing eight weeks of basic training in the Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Training Center at Ft. Bliss.

The first eight weeks of basic are spent on fundamental Infantry subjects like Army drill, rifle, machine gun, and bazooka marksmanship, and familiarization with army technical subjects. This first phase of training is climaxed with a one-week maneuver in the field.

Upon completion of the first eight week cycle, Pvt. Shakespeare will either be assigned for further training at Ft. Bliss in the techniques of antiaircraft artillery, or he will be transferred to another Training Center for schooling in some other army skill.

Should he remain at Ft. Bliss, his second eight weeks will see him learn the uses of various electronic equipment employed by the AAA-ATC. He will also be expertly trained in the firing of light and medium antiaircraft artillery at low-flying and high altitude aerial targets on the one-and-one-half million acre Ft. Bliss ranges.

Miss Lenora Jackson.

The program for the meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Hazel Harrison was "Flowers of All Nations" by Mrs. Homer Thompson and "Double Duty Flowers" by Mrs. Harrison. The latter being flowers that you can use fresh or dry them for out of season use. There is quite a variety of these.

A report on the District Convention held at Odessa, Texas, the last of March was given by representatives of the club, show that Garden Clubs over the district are quite active. The local club won two ribbons with 75 clubs competing.

This is the 1954 Chevrolet Bel Air 2-door Sedan. With 3 series, Chevrolet offers a model to meet every individual and family need.

These facts about the New Chevrolet can help you make an important decision

Don't you agree that buying a new car calls for careful consideration? Regardless of make, it involves a substantial amount of money and a lot of future satisfaction. This information can give you a better idea of comparative value and help you decide which make to buy.

A good customer of ours was telling us the other day how he sizes up a new car. Because he's bought a number of them over the years, we were interested in what he had to say. We think you will be, too.

Actually, what he does is to ask about seven basic questions. The answers give a pretty complete picture of the car and its comparative value. Here's what he wants to know.

How well do I like its looks?
That's one question, of course, that only you can answer. You're the one who buys the car and you, above anybody else, should be proud of its appearance.

All we can tell you is that we hear a lot of nice things about Chevrolet's new styling. People seem to like the new front-end and rear-end designs, and the way the bumpers curve even farther around the fenders. They like the new styling touches all around the car and the wide choice of bright new colors and two-tone combinations. A good many tell us that Chevrolet has a decided edge over the other cars in its field for smooth and graceful lines.

Who makes the body?
This question takes in much more territory than the appearance of the car. It involves the quality of the interior as well as the strength and safety of the body construction. That's why we think it worth your consideration that Chevrolet has the only Body by Fisher in the low-price field.

You can see the difference outside and inside. We'd especially like you to look over the new interiors. Just sit in the car, if you will. Feel the quality of the fabrics and notice the more generous use of vinyl trim.

In all these ways, you'll find evidence of superior quality and workmanship. And after all, isn't that what you would expect in Body by Fisher? As you know, Fisher is the largest and most famous manufacturer of automobile bodies in the world. Doesn't it stand to reason that Fisher can build extra quality into the Chevrolet body? It's there and you can see it.

What's under the hood?
You hear a great deal of talk these days about engine power. The truth is that the number of horsepower isn't nearly as important as what the horsepower does for you.

In this year's Chevrolet, you get increased power in two finer engines. There's the "Blue-Flame 125" engine teamed with Powerglide automatic transmission and optional on all models at extra cost. In gearshift models, you get the more powerful "Blue-Flame 115" engine.

But, actually, the increase in horsepower is only a sort of by-product of design changes made for other reasons. Chevrolet engineers were after greater engine efficiency, not just greater power. So, you get improved acceleration, with greater and safer passing ability. You get quieter, smoother operation. You climb the steep hills with new ease.

How hungry is it for gasoline?
A car's reputation for, and record of, economy of operation is certainly an important consideration to most people. We'd be glad to have you compare Chevrolet in this respect with any car at any price.

And, in the case of this new Chevrolet, you do not have to sacrifice economy for finer performance and more horsepower. That's because the Chevrolet engines are high-compression engines. Their compression ratio of 7.5 to 1 is the highest in any of the leading low-priced cars.

This means simply that the engine compresses, or squeezes, the fuel mixture to a greater degree in order to wring more work out of it. That's how Chevrolet is able to give you an important gain in performance along with money-saving gasoline mileage — and on regular gas, of course.

Is it up to date in features?
We can't think of a new feature or development you might want that you can't have on the new Chevrolet.

Now you can have Chevrolet's zippy and thrifty Powerglide automatic transmission on any model. You can have Power Steering on all models and at a new, lower price. You can have Automatic Window and Seat Controls on any Bel Air or "Two-Ten" model, and you can have Power Brakes on any model equipped with Powerglide. All are, of course, optional features at extra cost.

How popular a car is it?
When you come right down to it, there's no better way to judge the satisfaction a car gives its owners than by its popularity. How many people buy it and keep on buying it?

Well, as you may know, Chevrolet is by far the most popular car in this country. That's true today and it's been true for a good many years now. But it couldn't be true — or wouldn't be true — unless Chevrolet gave its owners an extra measure of satisfaction and value.

How much does it cost?
There's a short, sweet answer to that one: Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. This lower cost is made possible by the greater production facilities and purchasing power of the world's largest manufacturer of automobiles. That is why Chevrolet can offer you all the advantages we've told you about here — and many more, too.

We'd be more than glad to have you see all these things for yourself and to try out this new Chevrolet on the road. We'll be happy to see you at any time.
