SURE HOPE THE churches and Clubs out Enoch's way get together on a plan to continue their fine work in beautifying the cemetery there.

THE LADIES... THROUGH THEIR home-maker's Club have used the cemetery as their main project during the past three years and have made a lot of improvements. However, it takes funds to carry on the work. Electricity bills must be paid, even with...

LOTS OF DONATED labor, they still need operating funds. Now they've said they will have to discontinue their work unless more funds are available. They have gone as far as they can on the project.

surely... "IN A COMMUNITY that has supported a softball team and a Quarterback's Club, reports one member of the area, "we can get funds to maintain the cemetery."

IF EVERYTHING goes right, there should be some more money available out that way as well as over the area. But right now, after two years of drought conditions almost all over and in some places even longer, it's kinda hard to get funds to maintain anything even the...

CITIES AND COUNTIES have trouble collecting their money on taxes, gas, water, etc. don't you know...

THE SENIORS of this area had some interesting, thrilling and unforgettable times on their annual trips, this year?

SENIORS sacrificed distance for a little more leisure time and one of the sponsors and chaperons on the trip which took them to South Texas. Their biggest time came in visiting Austin, San Antonio and taking life easy. Bet they weren't nearly as worn out when they returned as some of those who traveled cross country in buses.

BULA SENIORS were reported having an unforgettable time in Florida. They went by way of Louisiana where they took in the Louisiana Hayride, fanned network radio show. Then they visited several places of interest in Florida including Miami Beach.

SENIORS ALSO went to Louisiana only they stopped in the old city and toured on interest in New Orleans including Basin Street, Canal Street and the French Quarter.

FROM THE WHITEFACE seniors who went the other way, California Bound.

SMOOTHING out the lawn on the Courthouse square, in case any of you have been wondering what's going on over there. The lawn was built up so high, next to the sidewalk, it couldn't be trimmed with the mower. So now the Commissioner's Court has ordered it to be leveled off.

IS AGAIN $ Day in Morton. Your merchants have planned plenty of sales items for display, benefit by shopping $ Day in Morton with your home merchants who are not only here to serve you, but who pay taxes to support your city, your county, your schools, who contribute to your charities when you call upon them, who dedicated to helping build a better Morton.

ONE MERCHANT from any neighboring town who can qualify as a Morton booster on those terms

BECAUSE OF countless number of traffic violations and because they demonstrated conclusively to law enforcement officers and to the judges that they have no claim to being responsible drivers, some Mortonites lost their driver's license.

TO MANY PERSONS, that this is a drastic step. And yet, if these people would bother to check the records they'd see why such action had to be taken.

THE JUDGE had to take is usually because some parent failed to take the action that he is obligated to take. We hear lots of ballyhoo about problem children but we still say more often than not, problem children are the products of parents.

YOU'VE BEEN issued a special invitation to attend the Eastern Star Installation of Officers program tomorrow night (Monday) at 8 p.m. in the Activities Building.

OFFICERS TO BE installed will be Mrs. C. A. Baird as Worthy Matron.

YOU'VE NOTICED THAT Joe Hodge, the "always present" City Marshall hasn't been around for the past few days he's been fishing. In fact, by the time this gets in fine print he may be back with a load of fish stories, from Lake Kemp, but probably few fish?

RECEIVED through the mail tells us that Freddie Love of Morton, Texas has been elected reporter of the third quarter class in dental hygiene at the University of Tennessee College of Dentistry in Memphis. That's all the information available.

VOLUME II MORTON, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 6, 1954 NUMBER 4

Use of Mexican-Nationals Explained Here

Approximately 75 interested Cochran County farmers and businessmen got the lowdown on the farm labor problem, Thursday night in the Cochran County Auditorium and had several very important facts brought home to them with emphasis.

B. T. O'Connell, Texas Employment Commission; Fred Presley, Department of Labor and Joe Gore, representing Texas Producers Assn., warned the farmer that "as long as you're willing to treat the laborer right and live up to your agreement, there won't be much of a problem."

O'Connell, who's duties with the TEC are specifically to analyze any labor situation, farm or otherwise, and find the best possible solution said shortages in cotton choppers and cotton pullers are expected this fall. He said his office was "prepared to recommend importation of Mexican Nationalist Labor to help alleviate the problem." He explained what he called "the IP's, AND BUTS," about the use of Nationals.

Presley, emphasizing that his department is not selling labor but is here to protect the rights of the farmers in a nation to nation agreement between United States and Mexico; told the farmers his office will expect them to follow their agreements, keep accurate work records; and treat the imported laborers squarely.

Gore was speaking in behalf of a cooperative association to which the farmers can belong, which offers specific benefits in the use of laborers such as: providing a sufficient supply of laborers where needed; protecting the farmer against need to hire uncooperative or unproductive workers and helping the farmer settle any claims which might arise out of the use of Nationals. Gore was selling a service. He told the prospective members that if they would live up to their contract with his association, they would not have any difficulties.

Throughout the meeting, the emphasis was on "fair treatment." Presley pointed up the moral obligations the farmer had toward the laborers. He made it clear that if the farmer kept accurate records and followed his contract agreement, the Department of Labor office was designed to protect his interests. But as one of the farmers who had used Mexican National labor pointed out, "if the farmer is a scoundrel in his treatment of the Nationals, he deserves to be prosecuted."

It was an important meeting from every point of view. While only a handful of Morton businessmen attended, facts brought out which showed they should have a very definite interest in the problem. The possibility of establishing a Morton office of the TEC was discussed and O'Connell said, "if the need is shown for a local office, we can send a man out."

The meeting, after proper introduction of speakers and some facts on need for grain storage facilities to guarantee a better price for the farmer, was turned over to O'Connell.

O'Connell pointed out that "farmers to take into account that farmers around the Plains area were ready to pull or strip cotton mechanically, created a problem last year." It took away much of the incentive for laborers to want to come out to Lubbock. They got a better price in East Texas and elsewhere.

The TEC is ready to take orders for the importation of Mexican Nationalist labor. "But," O'Connell warned, "There must be shown a need for them over and above workers available." They cannot be used to lower the prevailing wage standard. They must be signed to contract. He quoted price, among them, a $3 charge by our government for each laborer imported and the additional cost of transportation, meals, and insurance. He pointed out the housing regulations which guarantee reasonable living conditions for the workers. He said the Secretary of Labor will ascertain the prevailing wage rate but Presley was quick to inform the farmers that they themselves are setting the wage rate. By offering bonuses they raise the entire wage standard.

Workers may be imported individually by a farmer or by an association or group of farmers. They are signed to contracts for not less than six weeks, some for the year's work. They must be allowed a wage to equal three fourths of their contract and there are special provisions to allow them $115 per day for those days that they cannot work because of inclement weather.

"The contract is serious business," O'Connell told the group. "We expect to enforce it. Our government has guaranteed these wages and transportation. If any dispute arises, the Department of Labor will settle it."

Certification of use of Mexican labor must be obtained from the TEC office, regardless of who is using the labor.

In answer to questions from the floor, O'Connell verified a report that other farm areas have in several cases spent a considerable amount of money to guarantee themselves a large supply of laborers. They have guaranteed certain wages and a certain amount of work. The laborer soon finds out he can make more money and get a better deal by going to another area rather than to stay here.

Gore suggested the only guarantee of a sufficient supply of labor was to keep the prevailing wage in line with other areas. By looking ahead for these laborers, the association is in a position to have them on hand to ship wherever they are needed. The Association also protects the farmer in case of a worker or workers who cannot get along. They are simply transferred out of the area.

Suppose bad weather set in. A farmer had hired 10 Mexican Nationals to work for him. It was too wet to do anything. He must pay them the $115 per day even though they don't work. However, if the farmer was a member of an association, those workers could be moved to the farm of any other member of that association on bad days where work might be available. It could save the first farmer considerable money.

Gore said his association was trying to get enough signers to set up an office in Morton. He quoted specific costs including a $10 per year membership fee which

School Board Gets 57 Requests for Transfers

The County School Board will act on approximately 57 requests for transfer from one school district to another, sometime late this month, according to Judge Fred Stockdale, ex-officio Supt.

Stockdale pointed out that most of the transfer requests were continuances of transfers granted for the past few years in cases where a family lived closer to one district than another.

The majority of the requests were to transfer from Bledsoe to Morton. Six requests were to transfer from Morton to Whiteface.

75 Subscribers To Summer Rate On City Water

Approximately 75 persons have taken advantage of the City's summer water rates which were put into effect a month ago, Joe Gipson, City Clerk said this week.

In the first month of operation only about 6,000,000 gallons of water was pumped which is about half normal capacity. However, Gipson stressed that the month was abnormal in that a large supply of rain was received cutting down the need of water.

Gipson said that the city could pump 12,000,000 gallons of water per month, or about 400,000 gallons per day and still be operating efficiently. However, any more than that, would be placing an added burden on the pumps.

City Will Host Water and Sewer Workers, June 15

Fined $100, Costs in Liquor Case

A fine of $100 and costs has been handed out to a Levelland Latin American arrested Thursday night, two miles west of Lehman with a heavy load of beer.

Frank Madana, farm laborer, told law enforcement officers he was taking the beer to Levelland where he and friends were to drink it during a christening party of his 40 day old child. He was carrying in excess of 2 and one half cases.

The charge was "possession."
