Merchants Oppose Proposed Tax On Gross Receipts
Twenty-nine members of the Morton Chamber of Commerce and interested local businessmen sent a telegram to Senator Kilmer Corbin this week urging that he vote against a proposed tax bill which would place a one fourth of one percent tax on gross sales over $200,000 in some department stores and other businesses.

The prevailing local sentiment was to oppose the issue on the grounds it was unconstitutional and on the grounds that Texans are against any form of sales tax. The bill, if passed would appear in the form of an amendment to be voted by the people of Texas.

Several local merchants voiced the opinion that the bill would most certainly be found unconstitutional and unreasonable, but they felt to oppose it now might save a lot of trouble later on before the constitutionality would be decided.

The bill probably would not directly affect any local merchant but, as many said, would open the door for later sales taxes that would reach into every business.

ANYONE WHO doesn't think there are lots of working plans to be passed on and squared away before you can get a Little League into operation, just hasn't looked the situation over.

SEVERAL MEETINGS, and we have the directors and some of the other jobs partitioned out. However, there are a lot of other things to be considered before we can finally name who will do what. Those who have tried to get the League rolling, do very much appreciate everyone who has helped and those who have volunteered to help.

LIKE TO PASS this word on. You may think the thing isn't getting started quickly enough. Believe me, we're working on it just as fast as we can. Whether you are an interested parent or a prospective player, don't get to feeling that everything has fallen through. we'll probably . . .

HAVE THE SCHOOL rolling by the second week in June and the league should be in operation just about two weeks later. And when we reach that stage we'll have a field in shape, uniforms found, scorers, umpires and coaches and managers named, teams selected, and many other details attended to that have required a lot of man hours.

OVERANXIOUS boys, we want to get started just as bad as you do, but when we get it started we want to have it done right—so there'll be as few hitches as possible.

BETWEEN THE ages of six and 15—that is, at least six and under 15, and you haven't signed a slip at school, be sure to get your name into the Tribune office, if you want to play ball. We'll find a place for you. That means any and every boy in Cochran County or the Buja-Enoch school district, regardless of race or color, regardless of experience. And remember, you must play in the league according to the rules we must set up as we affiliate with national headquarters, there can be no deviation.

IF YOU ENJOY Rodeos at all, you'll plan to attend the Morton and Buja FFA Junior rodeo this weekend, either Friday, May 20th or Saturday, May 21st. They're making lots of plans to give you a great show and we know you'll enjoy it.

THOROUGH CHECK of the form community surrounding Morton we've been pretty well convinced that a small strip running from a few miles west of Morton to the Hockley County line, was the only area that didn't receive at least 2 inches of rain during the two week wet cycle we've just gone through. There were several dryland farms in that strip. They received from seven-tenths to nine-tenths of an inch of moisture. Some will try to plant anyway, others will wait.

SOME OF THE very best dryland farming country we have on the Plains, if they just get a little moisture to start on.

A LOT OF TALK since the Post Office department announced it was looking for a building for the Morton Post Office. Don't know how many persons who own buildings have applied, but there certainly are quite a few business buildings in town vacant, right now.

HEARTIEST CONGRATULATIONS to Jack Rice in Lubbock, former Morton Cobb's manager, who now has two stores in Lubbock to manage with the opening of the new shopping center last week. It's going to be a huge job for Jack, already has been. But if there's anyone we know of who will give it all his got, it's Jack Rice. We also thought he probably won't see him in person for a long time, would like to congratulate an old friend Bob Chastain who is Jack's assistant manager in the new building.

BILL AND I knew Bob very well in Levelland when he was manager of the Dunlap's store there he's a mighty nice guy and should go a long way with the Cobb's chain.

DENNIS WALKER nephew of Bill Williamson, past President of the Corpus Christi Jaycees has been submitted as the outstanding local Jaycee president in the State of Texas.

BEEN A REMARKABLE president of a very large Jaycees organization, when you examine the record submitted with his application. He and a brother are partners in an appliance dealership in Corpus Christi, and we rather imagine, with the full schedule he had last year, that the brother bore the brunt of the business problems. But then, in most cases, this is expected and very necessary, and we're sure Dennis will give his brother the credit due in that respect.

JAYCEES VOTE each year on an outstanding local chapter president and these names in turn are submitted as candidates for outstanding Jaycee president of the entire United States.

RECEIVED WORD on the proper display of the American flag. We'd said after we printed one man's opinion on the subject, and then got called down by a couple of others, that we would apologize if we'd been wrong.

FOR THE ENLIGHTENMENT of all who are interested, we were not wrong. For those who don't know what this refers to, perhaps it's better forgotten. We certainly don't want to hurt anyone's feelings who thinks he should be allowed to display the flag as he chooses.

WHO DO KNOW what the problem was in question the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion contends that the flag should be placed in the position of superior prominence, in advance of the audience and in the position of honor at the speaker's right as he faces the audience.

TO SAY, platform or no platform, that's the way it should be. They do not think it reasonable that the flag should be displayed with less honor or accorded less respect, just because a room had or had not a platform.

THAT THE ARTICLE went on to state that many times the flag has been displayed improperly because it was easy to misunderstand the unwarranted use of the words "chance" and "speaker's platform."

WE DON'T EXPECT to receive an apology and won't getting one, it might make our critic feel a little better to know that he isn't the only one who ever got the instructions confused or misinterpreted them.

CALLED TO OUR attention that recently when we carried a couple of advertisements for a preacher out Maple way, the ad was down up in news style and some thought it was submitted as news matter.

FAR FROM THE truth. We have no axes to grind, no cases to plead, on religion. We've always felt everyone has the right to his or her own belief.

RUN COLUMNS which concern a specific faith or religion, they are paid church advertising, paid for at our church rate which is the same to all denominations.

WE ALWAYS ATTEMPT to make any changes that are necessary, in case something that might be libelous or completely poor taste. Any who might have thought we charged one church and gave space to another, can certainly dispute the thought. Entries in our ledger and accounts book can illustrate that.

JESSE BROOKSHIRE and wife returned from a three week trip to California. They'd run into a lot of rain out there the first week they were gone, and wrote back that they saw so much rain they kinda' felt they'd like to see a good ole' West Texas duster.

WHETHER IT WAS like Jesse says, that they had so much extra rain out there they decided to send some this way, or like others might say, that as soon as we got Jesse out of town it rained, makes no difference. We had the rain for which we're thankful and we're also glad to welcome Jesse back.

WILL BE LEAVING, soon he says, for Rochester, Minnesota and Mayo Brothers where he probably will undergo a delicate heart operation. John's been trying to get some land and other things squared away before he makes the trip.

Ask Your Preacher

where the Bible says "once in grace always in grace" You have heard that statement many times, haven't you? Preachers proclaim over and over again that if a man is once in grace he is always in grace. In other words they say if a man is once saved, he is always saved. This simply means that a child of God can not possibly do anything that would cause him to fall from grace; that if he is once saved, he could not possibly commit a sin that would cause him to be lost in hell. There are several preachers in this community that preach such a doctrine and if your preacher preaches it, go to him today and ask him for the passage that says "once in grace always in grace."

God can not possibly do anything that would cause him to fall from grace; that if he is once saved, he could not possibly commit a sin that would cause him to be lost in hell. There are several preachers in this community that preach such a doctrine and if your preacher preaches it, go to him today and ask him for the passage that says "once in grace always in grace."

While he is looking for the passage you might call his attention to the words of Paul in Gal. 5:4 where he said; "Christ is become of none effect unto you, whosoever of you would be justified by the law, you are fallen from grace." Here we notice some who had been in grace but were trying to be justified by the law of Moses, hence in going back to that law Paul said "you are fallen from grace." Of course if a man can fall from grace, the theory of "once in grace always in grace" cannot be true. The two ideas are contradictory and the Bible says "you are fallen from grace." I don't know about you, but somehow I believe that the Bible must be right. If you believe in following what the Bible says and your preacher has been telling you that "once in grace always in grace", then ask him to read I Cor. 12:10 for you, or if he is unwilling to read it to you, then you read it to him. The passage says: "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." To "take heed" means to be careful, therefore Paul tells Christians to be careful lest they fall. Now would not that be absurd if the Bible tells us somewhere else that it is impossible to fall? The same inspired author said: "Take heed, brethren, lest they be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God." You might ask your preacher these questions in connection with these passages. Can a man depart from the living God and still be in grace? If a man departs from God is he still with God? And if he is without God, will he still be saved anyway?

Do not let him mislead you by telling what a person will do. That is not the question at all. The question involved is what the Bible teaches about the possibility of a child of God doing. And if there is a possibility, then there is always the danger of a person falling from grace.

Mrs. Elmo Smith took over as president and Mrs. Paul Goodman was councillor. Programs for study for the year included religion, home, marriage, children, education and many other subjects. Guest speakers for the year were Mrs. J. A. Gowdy, Rev. S. Frank Weir, Mrs. Charles Jones and Mrs. Roy Hill. The club sponsored three money making projects. Letter to the EDITOR . . .

Dear Editor: That mean person has struck again. The second time at our house, and as a result we have a very unhappy little boy. Someone poisoned his pup Thursday morning. They threw it out here at the house. We live four miles out in the Country, and our pup never was away from the house. Our little boy is five years old and his name is Loy Vern his dog's name was Boots. They were always together, now Loy Vern doesn't have anyone to play with for his sisters are both in school. Boots was a full blooded Collie puppy, black and white. Loy Vern is broken hearted as only a little boy who has lost his dog can be. I just wonder how this person is going to feel if a child ever gets some of this poison he is putting out. Reckon it will ever bother him, sometimes I wonder. At the start of this I said this was the second time that mean person had struck before Christmas our grown dog was poisoned but as Loy Vern had Boots left it didn't hurt so much but now he doesn't have a pup at all. We think we have him one located but I wonder if he will ever love it like he did his puppy, Boots.

Thanks Mr. Editor for letting me sound off, but I hope that person stops putting out poison before he is responsible for the death of not a little child's pet, but for a precious child's life. Yours very truly, Mrs. J. T. Daniel

Fifth Protection For Rugs and Carpets

Clothes moths and carpet beetles do a good deal of damage to wool rugs and carpets. Many homeowners have learned to their sorrow, but they can be protected by careful cleaning and spraying with DDT.

Frequent cleaning, especially with a vacuum cleaner, prevents dirt, lint and hair from accumulating and offering extra food for these insects. It also may remove insects themselves and their eggs.

Insects usually feed under heavy furniture where it's difficult to clean rather than in the open where they are exposed to regular cleaning light and movement. It's a good idea to rotate rugs and carpets occasionally to make sure all areas are protected.

It is advisable to use a 5 percent DDT oil solution on rugs and carpets every 12 to 18 months. You will need 1 1/2 to 2 quarts of spray for both sides of a 9x12 rug of average weight if you spray the parts of the rug that will be under a piano, sofa, bookcase or other heavy furniture, under radiators or around heat registers. Unpadded pads under rugs will need spraying on both sides if they contain animal hair or wool. In spraying wall-to-wall carpeting, give special attention to the edges all the way around. The oil spray should not be used in a room where there is a fire. It will not stain the rugs or upholstery.

For expensive broadlooms or oriental rugs, you may want to have a reliable pest control or carpet-cleaning firm to do the job of moth-proofing for you.

Beans may be planted at intervals to insure a fresh supply at a time during the summer. Varieties that are especially suited to this area are Top Crop Tendergreen, Wade, Bluejake and Kentucky Wonder. Tendergreen, Top Crop and Blue Lake are especially good for freezing.

"Vegetable Gardening" is a new bulletin that you may have by calling at the Extension office.

Soil Conservation District News . . .

N. H. Steed whose farm is eight miles southwest of Morton, has recently seeded an additional seven acres to alfalfa. The alfalfa will be utilized for livestock grazing as well as for soil improving purposes. No land preparation was necessary prior to seeding. Since Steed applies irrigation water on the entire one hundred and seventy-seven acre farm by the use of a sprinkler system which he purchased in the spring of 1954. The land on which seeding was initiated was fertilized with super phosphate fertilizer to furnish forty pounds of available phosphorus per acre prior to seeding.

Seed were inoculated with the proper inoculant. Steed states phosphate fertilizer and proper inoculant are necessary for good stands of alfalfa which will produce large quantities of high quality hay. Steed, who has been a cooperator of the Cochran Soil Conservation District for several years, has plans to use alfalfa in his long range cropping system as a cash crop as well as a soil improving crop to be plowed up every three years and followed with such crops as cotton and the grain sorghums.

Peas For Soil Improving Crop
Summer Peas or the new Era are widely adapted to this area and are of primary conservation value when planted with grain sorghum.

The following cooperators have purchased pea seeds: Max Bowers, Melvin Chandler, J. E. Culpepper, E. V. Thompson, Roy Alsup, J. H. Chesshir, and W. A. Woods. The recommended seeding rate is eight pounds per acre when planted with grain sorghum. The District has purchased special planter boxes for this purpose.

Anyone interested in further details on alfalfa in rotation with the commonly grown row crops or planting summer peas with grain sorghum are urged to contact anyone of the local Soil Conservation Service personnel for such information.

Stanolind Oil Declares Stock Bonus for Workers

FORT WORTH (SoL)—A total of 6,900 Stanolind Oil and Gas Company employees divided $1,096,160 worth of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock last week as a result of their participation in Stanolind's savings and stock bonus plan and trust.

Of the 6,900 stock recipients, 2,998 were employees of the North Texas-New Mexico Division; these employees received 7,246 shares. In all, 24,800 shares of stock valued at $44.20 a share were awarded employees at no charge to them. Ninety-nine per cent of eligible employees participated in the plan. During the five years the savings and stock bonus plan has been in effect, 96,750 shares of stock, worth today a total of $4,276,350, have been awarded Stanolind employees under the savings and stock bonus plan.

The plan is open to any employee of the company who has over a year's service, joins the company's retirement plan, and buys U. S. savings bonds under the payroll deduction plan.

An employee may allocate from two to four per cent of his annual earnings for the purchase of savings bonds. At the end of the plan year, which closes March 31, he receives one share of Standard (Indiana) stock for each "bonus point" he has accumulated through bond purchases. The "bonus point" is 1-1/2 times the book value of the stock at the end of the calendar year preceding the plan year.

For the fifth year, the bonus unit was $70. For each $70 worth of bonds purchased, employees received one share of stock. For the next plan year, the unit will be $73.

Although the employee pays nothing for the stock, it is considered as income and is subject to payroll deductions for income taxes, social security and the company's annuity plan. The stock bonus trust, an alternate program, makes it possible for an employee's stock to be delivered to a trustee, who accumulates the stock as a savings measure over the period of the employee's service with the company.

For those employees who have taken part in the plan since the beginning, and who received one or more shares of stock in the spring of 1951, each share still held has paid $16.22 in dividends.

The stock itself has gained in value. On April 1, 1950, when the plan started, the market price of the stock was about $46. The first stock issued under the plan had, on March 31, 1951, a market price of about $61. On April 30, 1954, the market price per share was about $82. A stock split last year doubled the issued shares and each is now valued at $44.20. Under the split, an additional share was issued for each share held by each stockholder.

Stanolind places no restrictions on how long either the stock or bonds must be held.

From we who are looking back To you who are looking forward . . .

This is a time you'll always look back on with regrets. Not because it isn't an occasion of which to be proud, and not because it isn't an important milestone in your career.

As the years roll by you'll have more and more regrets that you cannot re-live the wonderful high school days.

You'll see, from time to time, how many more things you could have crammed into those busy and eventful days when you were in school.

Multiplied again and again will be the things you wish you had taken time to learn, the activities you'll wish you had participated in.

But even as you reminisce about the things that might have been, you'll take for granted all the things that you did accomplish by staying in school. You'll be apt to underestimate the advantages you gained in this land where education for all is not only a privilege but a responsibility.

But hark you this! Whatever you do with your hours and days and years following your high school graduation, education is not over. Education is and should be a never ending process. We are expecting you to continually increase your capabilities through education and you have a right to expect us to do the same.

In this, one of your moments of triumph, you may wonder why everyone doesn't seem to understand the importance of it all. The answer is, they understand it far better than you. For the world is full of teachers, if we would but listen.

Be proud in what you have accomplished but humble in what is yet to be learned. Be not afraid, but certainly not overconfident. Close not your ears to those who would teach you more. For we sin against mankind, who refuse to learn our lessons each day in our associations with mankind.

Dust Bowl No Longer What It Used to Be

The following editorial appeared recently in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The people of the Southwest will never forget the dreary Dust Bowl days of the thirties when the sky was obscured for days by dense clouds of dust which had blown off the parched farms of the Great Plains.

Today the Dust Bowl area of such ill repute is back in the news. Recent dust storms and continued drouth in the susceptible areas have called attention again to the fact that this is a national problem, affecting all the people of the United States, not just the farmers in the area blowing.

The old Dust Bowl isn't what it used to be. Times have changed. Farmers have learned a lot since the blows of the thirties. Farms which literally blew away back in those days have been handled in such a manner in this critical period that they are being damaged little or not at all.

And the economic situation which existed in the previous period does not exist today. Farm prices were at extremely low levels in those days and savings just did not exist. Good years in the late forties have put the farmers of much of the old blow area into good financial positions, where they are able to take action which they could not afford in the other dust days.

Many of the farmers operating in the old Dust Bowl areas are farmers who came through the other period and learned how to handle their land. They have developed a system of farming which takes into account times of drouth and dust storms. They are practicing a system of trashy farming, depending on chisels and listers to do much of their cultivation and getting rid of the old one-way plow which once was considered the only implement you could use in raising a wheat crop.

Of course, not all farmers are practicing this good farming system. There is some blowing even in the areas of the Texas Panhandle where there are outstanding examples of proper land handling. But more and more, farmers are adopting these practices which have been time-tested and proven good.

As a matter of fact, much of the area which is causing the greatest blow troubles today wasn't even in cultivation during the other dusty days. This land came into production in the war years when wheat prices hit high levels and farmers and speculators saw a chance to turn a quick profit on some cheap land which nature intended to stay in grass for livestock production.

Some of the land needs to go back to grass. But there is no reason for any big government purchase program because the bulk of the farmers know how to take care of their land, know that the rain which will fall one of these days will solve many of their problems.

The farmers in the area are to be admired for their courage and their determination. They are trying to care for their land and preserve its fertility. The job they are doing is important to the nation's well-being and they need all the encouragement they can get in the tremendous job they are doing.

Encouragement Not Enough . . .

The farmers of the Southwest — that is the farmers of the Plains area — will not be able to rebuild their wind blown lands by words of encouragement alone. They have been hit a telling blow by nature. Many are now just hobbling about on (financial) crutches . . . to destroy these crutches will only serve to drop these farmers to their knees again . . . and that is something no one wants to see. Let's face the problem squarely: Many Plains farmers must have continued financial aid if they are ever to get themselves into the position whereby they may set aside time and money to rebuild the soil that must pass on to the coming generation. And . . . that financial help must come from the government until other means are offered and made available.
