

4 FORMER COUNTY OFFICIALS INDICTED

SECOND GRAND JURY SPECIAL

EXTRA! Morton Tribune

VOLUME XV MORTON, TEXAS. SUNDAY, AUGUST 14, 1955 NUMBER 22

edlines..

By Eddie Irwin
WELL, the Grand Jury hearings have subsided for awhile, at least until September 8th, at which time the April term of the Grand Jury hopes to go back into session and complete its investigation into the case definitely charged misapplication of funds in Cochran County. But because the hearing has been halted for awhile, doesn't mean the talk will subside. Mortonites still are in somewhat of a quandry, trying to figure out just what is what, and where this jig-saw puzzle fits together.

THEY'VE HEARD so much rumormongering in the past three months, they just don't know what to think. As they first read what findings the Grand Jury has made public, they began to think... what does it all mean? Have we been hearing wrong about the amount of money missing? Why didn't the Grand Jury do something about this? Or that problem. You've been in on the talk as well as we have. You know what all people have been saying. So, in this column, it is our intention to make clear, a few of the facts that haven't been completely understood.

for instance
THERE COULD be more indictments later. Don't misunderstand the adjournment. This Grand Jury isn't through. They've certainly made it very clear in their report that they had not been able to interview at least three men they definitely want to talk to. Their actions and their application to a duty some of them wanted a more than you or I, should convince everyone they are trying to get to the bottom of any wrong doing, regardless of who is involved. That they will have a tough time getting together on all he points, is a foregone conclusion. When was a mess like this ever easy to bring out in the open?

they've said...
THE OUTSIDE audit won't be completed for another 30 days. And they added that the hospital audit is among that not yet completed. Certainly you don't expect them to even try to base any findings on an incomplete report. As to whether there will or won't be any more indictments returned, only time can tell. Those boys may have an idea what other indictments could be necessary. But they are sworn to secrecy, and even if they weren't they wouldn't be the type of men you'd want on a grand jury if they had already made up their mind about matters on which they have yet to get the whole story.

Grand Jury members, said after the hearing had recessed, the job wasn't exactly a tasteful one. One had sat on a lot of Grand Juries, but this was the first of its kind for him, and it's a good thing they don't occur more often. Especially, in a small town, it isn't easy to punge headlong into a matter that you know will not only hurt those involved, but will hurt many innocent people too. We've a feeling they are going to be mighty glad when it's over, so that the 'heat' is off. That's why we're glad they were able to make some kind of a return, even though the matter is far from settled. It will put an abrupt end to some of the wild rumors that have been flying around, and should take a little heat off the county workers who are not in anyway involved.

SOME OF THOSE involved in the indictments would make a statement to the people through the medium of the newspaper. But, it now appears they do not choose to do so, and all we can do now is wait and see what develops.

one of the...
THINGS THAT made the job of returning indictments so difficult, was the fact that there was so much to investigate, the group undoubtedly got off on tangents, many, many times. To have reported in just six days, is a pretty good job in view of all the angles different people seemed to want looked into.

some are...
WONDERING what would happen if the boys didn't get their investigation completed before time for a new Grand Jury to be called. According to the District Attorney, over the reins to the new group. This jury must go out automatically when the next grand jury is appointed. They cannot be held-over, Shelton says. That could make the problem even tougher. For the new Grand Jury, should they have to continue the present investigation, might not want to take the recorded testimony as fact. They might want to actually hear the information from the lips of the people who told it. And, of course, there are those who are sure the next group won't be as "hard" as the one now in session.

but we shouldn't...
WORRY TOO MUCH about this possibility yet. After all, between September 8th and October 10th, the date the Grand Jury goes out, he present 12 men have another month in which to complete their task. It's not only possible, its probable, they will complete it in plenty of time. They've proved, by asking and receiving permission to reconvene in a month, they want to finish the job. They aren't trying to pass the buck or they wouldn't have done so Saturday. In just a matter of six short days—short to us but no doubt long to those on the grand jury and those who had to sweat it out waiting to be called to the stand—they've collected a mass of information. They have a pretty good idea, by this time, in what direction they're headed.

IF THERE IS more money that has not been accounted for, it will be reported by the auditor later. Remember this. Usually, bills are returned only on a small percentage of missing funds. This is because of the case has to be prepared by attorneys, and a long drawn out list of charges would be much harder to get a conviction on. After all, it is the District Attorney's job to get a conviction, if at all possible. And, if it all isn't as 'bad' as has been whispered, then let's just be thankful.

rumors that...
THE COUNTY is "broke" aren't true, yet, according to Commissioner J. N. Foster. The funds are very low and have been lower, but so far they haven't reached rock bottom this year and haven't had to borrow any money yet. If the judge gets well quickly, they'll get together and set the rate, and money will again start to roll in before they go broke.

the assessor...
SAYS HES ready to get the tax roll figured as soon as he gets a tax rate set by the Commissioner Court, and its evident everyone is in earnest about getting this done as quickly as possible.

one more point...
WE'D LIKE to set the people straight on. Shelton was asked if he could say how much money had been paid back if any, into the County by the former officials indicted. Shelton said he felt sure some was paid back but could not say how much. That would have to come from the auditor (Nemier) in his report and that report isn't completed. Would that have anything to do with the indictments? Probably not. If the money had been wrongfully used, it shouldn't make any difference whether it is paid back or not, as far as the indictments are concerned, though in court, when the accused go on the stand, it would naturally have an effect on the judge or jury as to whether leniency be allowed the accused.

so in closing...
WE SAY, thanks to the men of the Grand Jury for a very evident conscientious job. We only hope, some of these explanations will tend to keep people from asking so many questions you won't be allowed to answer. But if they do, try to remember this. The general public isn't trying to pry out something you aren't supposed to tell. They're just wrought up over the situation and they've mostly rumor, not fact, to go on.

They said they had a partial report from the auditing firm which is making an outside audit and find it will take at least another thirty days to complete the audit, including an audit of County Hospital records.

They also said, "we have been unable to talk to one of the witnesses under subpoena because of illness and two other witnesses were never served because of temporary absence from the state. It is our sincere desire to talk to these witnesses, along with others that will be subpoenaed in an effort to make the investigation as complete as possible."

"We therefore request that this be considered as a partial report and that we be adjourned until Thursday, September 8, 1955, at 10 a.m., at which time we will re-

Cabbage Worms Most Prevalent of Cotton Damaging Insects Found

The weekly insect report of the Morton FFA chapter reveals that cabbage worms are in the largest number in cotton fields with insects and bollworm infestation is light to medium, in general, with a few heavy infestations reported.

Aphids are still present in some fields of late planted cotton and in those fields that have no control measures. Aphids in general seem to be on the decrease.

Very few thrips have been reported in the past two weeks.

In fields where control measures have been used there are very few fleahoppers. In fields that haven't used control measures, a few fleahoppers can be detected.

Bollworm infestation throughout the county is light to medium according to all reports.

Rodeo Draws About 3,000 In Two Nights

Approximately 3,000 persons got into the Morton rodeo arena during the two night stand last Friday and Saturday, and saw a well executed show, and one that brought thrills and chills but no serious accidents.

At least two of the few locals who competed in the cowboy events did right well. Bob Polvado did a tremendous job of roping at one time having best time and average in each heat.

The local rider was Jimmie Goodman who rode the bulls for two check awards in the one event.

Compete results weren't yet available but it is reliably reported that some $1,900 was collected in gate and this did not include he advance sale on tickets.

City Electric Has second Repairman

Bill Hise, TV-radio repairman, is now associated with Walter Sanderfer in the City Electric firm on the eastside of the square here.

Hise attended Scott radio school and an Air Force radar school as he served some four years with the Air Force.

Sanderfer says the addition will enable the firm to give quicker service on TV and radio repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hise have two children. They are residents of Morton.

The 72nd District Grand Jury, after bringing seven indictments involving four former County Officials, requested and received permission from District Judge Lindsey, Saturday afternoon, at about 3 p.m. to adjourn until Thursday, September 8th, at which time they hope to resume questioning of persons who were originally subpoenaed but were unable to appear.

Indictments of misapplication of funds were brought against T. W. (Joe) Pierce, former County District Clerk; Earl Cadenhead, former County Auditor; Odell Smith, former County Treasurer and C. G. (Charlie) Shaw, former County Commissioner from Pct. 4.

Smith, Cadenhead and Pierce were each indicted on two counts. The Grand Jury, in their report to the Court said in part "... we have heard testimony for six complete days dealing with the financial affairs of the County. In this connection, we have talked to approximately 35 different witnesses and have studied the financial records of the different offices in detail."

They said they had a partial report from the auditing firm which is making an outside audit and find it will take at least another thirty days to complete the audit, including an audit of County Hospital records.

They also said, "we have been unable to talk to one of the witnesses under subpoena because of illness and two other witnesses were never served because of temporary absence from the state. It is our sincere desire to talk to these witnesses, along with others that will be subpoenaed in an effort to make the investigation as complete as possible."

Morton School To Open Labor Day; Still Need A Number Of Faculty Replacements Here

The Morton Independent School District Board had a flock of business to handle and problems to face in its two most recent meetings, as the minutes of the meetings, now on file in the office of school business manager will show.

Here, not necessarily in the order in which they were faced, nor in order of importance, are the various decisions reached by the board in their July and August meetings:

SET LABOR DAY AS OPENING SCHOOL DAY

Perhaps of prime concern to the students and parents was the date on which school will open this fall.

The Board stayed with the policy for the past few years in setting the first Monday in September as the opening day of school. This school will open on Labor Day, the 5th of September.

There had been some talk among merchants in Morton to observe Labor Day as a holiday but it was not known whether anyone had approached the board to ask them to open on another day. Labor Day is observed almost all over the nation as a holiday except in this area and Lubbock has been increasingly interested in also joining the observation. However, its almost been a tradition for South Plains schools to open on the first Monday in September.

LOCAL BOARD SETS POLICY ON RACIAL INTEGRATION

The Morton School Board took the most pressing school question in the nation, racial integration, into advisement in a recent board meeting and voted to delay it still another year.

According to the notes taken by the business manager, McCasland, who serves as meeting secretary at the board meetings, the board differed with many schools in the Plains area, in the way they will approach the problem. They will

CADENHEAD, LAWYER FOIL MAYS BID FOR PICTURE

Earl Cadenhead, with the aid of his attorney, Dan Blair, successfully evaded Photographer Kenneth May of the Avalanche-Journal, Saturday evening.

May, after being refused a picture, told them he would wait for one. After a couple of hours' wait, Blair walked out of the north side of the building and engaged the photographer in conversation, asking that he not take the picture of Cadenhead, while the indicated former official sneaked out through the basement door on the South side of the Courthouse.

same our investigation." Judge Lindsey granted the request which was signed by Jury Foreman, Syd Coffman.

The specific indictments were as follows:

(1) That Odell Smith, on March 27th, 1954, unlawfully and fraudulently drew a check for $280.90 upon the County Depository from the Officer's Salary Fund, allowed by the Commissioners' Court.

(2) That O'Dell Smith, on September 10, 1954, did unlawfully and fraudulently take and convert the same to his own use by the amount of $300.

(3) That Earl Cadenhead, on June 24, 1953, did make out a check to himself, to which he was not entitled, in the sum of $387.18, drawn on the Officer's Salary Fund.

(4) That on June 19, 1954, out of funds that had been deposited in the County Depository, Earl Cadenhead did deliver unlawfully to O'Dell Smith, by drawing a check on the Officers' Salary Fund $380.-

(5) That on October 2, 1952, the said C. G. Shaw came into a check drawn on the Levelland State Bank for machine hire, delivered by Harrison Durham, as compensation for the use of a county machine, in the sum of $189, and did unlawfully and fraudulently convert the same to his own use by filling in the name C. G. Shaw and cashing it for his own use.

(6) That T. W. (Joe) Pierce, County District Clerk at the time, did on October 15, 1952, unlawfully convert to his own use the sum of $321.85 in money and checks which he had received through his office between the dates of September 1, and October 15, 1952.

(7) That T. W. (Joe) Pierce did on or about December 1, 1952, convert to his own use fraudulently, $259.66 in checks and money received through his office between the dates of November 1, and December 1, 1952.

The four men were placed on bond of $2,000.00 on each count. Dan Blair, former District Judge, said after the hearing he would have Cadenhead's bonds posted "as soon as I can get back here (the Sheriff's Office), in an hour or so. There was no immediate word as to when the other men would make bond.

The County Sheriff's office records revealed that 25 men from this county were subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury and the other 10, presumably were from out of the county.

A check of those going before the Grand Jury revealed that County Judge Fred Stockdale did not appear, and reports from the Hospital on his illness, corroborated the fact that he is the man referred to as "not talked to because of illness." The two men out of the state, and thus not served subpoena, according to County Attorney M. C. Ledbetter were L. G. King, Jr., of Dallas and Thomas Y. Piclett, also of Dallas. Piclett is head of an oil evaluation firm.

Present in the Courtroom when the Grand Jury made its report were Judge Lindsey, former Judge Dan Blair, District Attorney Travis Shelton, County District Clerk Lee Taylor, the members of the Grand Jury, Avalanche-Journal reporter Kenneth May and Morton Tribune publishers Bill Glasford and Eddie Irwin.

Blair said he and J. E. Vickers of Lubbock would defend Cadenhead and said both had known the former auditor for many years.

Blair was the man who appointed Cadenhead in 1945, to take office on January 1, 1946. Cadenhead was the first County Auditor ever appointed here.

Cadenhead resigned his office effective the first of this month and Smith resigned his position also last month. No treasurer has yet been appointed. The Commissioners said they wanted to "hold up" the appointment of a treasurer until the County Judge could meet with us," according to Ran Holman, Commissioner of Pct. One.

No date has been set for the hearings of the defendants.

Only One Posted Bond Before 1 A.M.

Three of the former county officials who were indicted Saturday for misapplication of county funds were contacted by telephone or in person late Saturday evening but had little or nothing to say for publication.

Earl Cadenhead, former auditor, was the first to be contacted and refused to comment. He also refused to allow an Avalanche Journal reporter to take his picture. He was contacted in the office of County Sheriff, where he had come with his lawyer, Dan Blair, former District Judge, to sign papers for $4000 in bonds. He was the only one of the four men to make bond Saturday evening. The others, however, were not picked up & the word Saturday night, at midnight, was that they would probably complete their bond sometime today (Sunday).

Contacted by phone around 6:50 p.m., three and one half hours after the hearing before Judge Lindsey, Pierce said he had not been informed that he had been indicted, but that he had been expecting it. Lubbock Avalanche Journal reporter Kenneth May read the indictments to him and Pierce thanked him and said he would be in to the Sheriff's office shortly to get the papers and try to get bond posted. He did appear shortly but had not returned the signed papers by midnight.

Smith, also contacted by phone, said he had no statement to make. Shaw was not contacted, though he was reported to be a resident of Morton, after having moved here from New Mexico only a month or so ago.

None of the men indicated how they would plead before the District Court. It was assumed they would be brought to trial in the October session of District Court.

There also was no word given out as to how long the men were to be given to make their bond or whether or not they would be jailed. Chances are, the District Judge has instructed the Sheriff's office how long to give the men to make bond. In view of the fact they are well known Mortonites, it was not anticipated they would have any trouble posting bond.

70 which check was signed as an officer's salary check by Mrs. Lee Taylor, County Clerk and Deputy Clerk Helen Ingle, and which the said Earl Cadenhead knew Smith was not entitled to receive.

(5) That on October 2, 1952, the said C. G. Shaw came into a check drawn on the Levelland State Bank for machine hire, delivered by Harrison Durham, as compensation for the use of a county machine, in the sum of $189, and did unlawfully and fraudulently convert the same to his own use by filling in the name C. Strict Tests Through Every Process Assure Safety of Salk Polio Vaccine

For the first time in history, a vaccine is protecting millions of human beings from paralytic polio. While the Salk vaccine will not work in every case, American children are being safeguarded against the dread disease, with no more risk than they would take in a vaccination against smallpox or a typhoid shot. The Salk vaccine must pass elaborate tests under the watchful eye of a government inspector at every stage of production. Then the final packaged vaccine is approved by the U.S. Public Health Service for distribution. Here are shown a few of the steps that assure American parents their children are being given a safe vaccine.

This technician is filtering dead cells and all other foreign matter from polio virus after it has grown on animal tissue in glass containers.

Virus is "cooked" in tank with formaldehyde (from bottle) until it is rendered harmless, after which it must pass exacting safety tests.

Animal tissue in tubes is inoculated with vaccine and let stand. If any live virus remains, it will multiply here, hence can be detected.

This expert is examining tissue after contact with vaccine, to determine absence of live virus.

It's all over and it didn't hurt a bit! Salk vaccine makes this little girl safer now from paralytic polio. And her parents feel better too.
