ANNUAL SCHOOL CENSUS IS UNDERWAY HERE

The annual school census is now being taken by officials of the Morton Independent Schools. This census must be completed during the month of January. Mr. William Hodge, Tax Assessor -

Collector for the school is the official Census taker and anyone desiring further information concerning the census should contact him at the Court House.

Every child born after Sept. 1, 1953 and on or before Sept. 1, 1951 should be enumerated. For every child enumerated the school will receive $76.00 from the state toward the operation of the school, so it is important that we have all eligible boys and girls on our census roll.

Census blanks are being sent to all families who have children in school. These should be filled out correctly and completely and returned to the school or Mr. Hodge.

If you do not have children in school, or if you know of people who do not have children in school, we urge them to come to the school or tax office and enumerate their children who fall within the age group but are not in school. This must be done before February 1, 1957.

The Morton Independent School lost $2,800.00 last year in the first grade alone because of inadequate census.

"We ask your cooperation," Supt. John Barnes said this week, "in securing a complete census. Urge everyone that has a child eligible for the census to be sure and see that his child is enumerated."

Nephew Dies At Hale Center

Funeral services for John Henry Shirley, 49, of Hale Center were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Lemon Chapel at Plainview, with the Rev. Bill Ratliff, pastor of the Hale Center Baptist Church officiating.

Mr. Shirley was a nephew of Mrs. S. T. Cox of Morton. Mr. Shirley died at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in High Plains Hospital. He had been in ill health for two years and became critically ill Saturday morning.

Born in Lindsey, Okla., April 5, 1907, Mr. Shirley lived in Roseburg, Ore., several years before moving to Hale Center in 1954. He was a carpenter.

Survivors include five daughters, Misses Marie, Elizabeth, Virginia, and Isabelle Shirley of Hale Center and Jeannette Shirley of Rosebud; eight sons, John Shirley of Rosebud; Jess Shirley of Monterey, California; 1st Lt. Jim Shirley of Albuquerque; S. C. Edward Shirley, Denver, Colo.; and Paul, Richard, Joe and Jerry Shirley of Hale Center. He also has five brothers, Jim, Sam and Herbert of Arcadia, California; Jess Shirley of Abbeville, and Roy Shirley of Lubbock; and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Laney of Hale Center and Mrs. Mack Blizard of Shamrock, and two grand-children.

Burial was in Hale Center Cemetery.

The entourage went about five or six miles south east to the farm of Raymond Worell where they stopped and took an extensive tour of the farm. Worell, his wife, and five children, all seeming well at ease, talked over their operations with the president as the group inspected Worell's land, his cattle and hogs, his tractors, and many other facts of his farming operations. Ike fired questions at the family, including some at Worell's 15 and 17 year old sons who provide valuable help for their father.

Orville Justice, one of the farmers from the Clovis area making the tour, said the group picked the Worell farm because he was one of the top farmers in the area, and despite his good farming and the good work done by his entire family, he was many thousands of dollars in the hole.

The Worell farm, though the stock and land seemed as well cared for as possible, showed the unmistakable signs of the drought. The almost worn out tractors, the badly faded and chipped farm home, badly in need of repair, and the dinky fences, barns, tool shed and other equipment would have long since been repainted and repaired, if the money hadn't been needed for something else.

"What'd you get off your feed was one of the first questions Ike asked of Worell, and in answer the farmer explained the financial investment and return. He took the group to his trench silo, which they inspected closely. Ken Scott of Washington and Walter Swan of Chillicothe were also present.

Local officers, aided by authorities from other area cities where burials were reported the past week, had uncovered evidence that led to some names - but they still considered the cases far from solved, even though they were holding some persons pursuant to making charges. Mostly the evidence, not divulged, was the kind that is linked together by a chain of events.

Sheriff Hazel Hancock said this week he had hopes of being a law way toward solving arrests in the case, whether our burials are solved or not, could well lead to the solving of other burials in the area, especially at Haskell and other nearby places.

Eisenhower made of a Clovis area farm and a four square mile section of drought parched land.

Perhaps the glimpse the President got at Clovis more nearly was the effects of the drought we have suffered. But a member of the Presidential party said, when asked Monday at Clovis, the situation at San Angelo was the worst they had seen on the tour.

At least two other Cochran Counties also made the trip to San Angelo on official business. T. A. Rowland and Bob Allen were called to San Angelo along with other units of the Highway Patrol to help maintain a stretch of road clear of traffic for the Presidential tour.

A throng of an estimated 10,000 persons gathered at Clovis at the Air Base to watch the Presidential plane, the sleek, super Constellation, Columbine, land and bring with it President Eisenhower, a group of secret servicemen, the President's press secretary, Jim Hagarty, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and Secretary of the Interior Seaton.

At the Base, President Eisenhower met Governor Meecham of New Mexico, climbed into his black Cadillac, waved to the crowd and immediately set off on the tour of about an hour's length. With him went five buses of newsmen. Some 35 or 40 of them were Washington newsmen, photographers, and radio and TV commentators who landed in a special plane, carrying them along the entire three day tour. About 120 others were news representatives of newspapers, radio and TV stations of this area who received special invitations to join the President in the tour from the Air base.

The entourage went about five or six miles south east to the farm of Raymond Worell where they stopped and took an extensive tour of the farm. Boys Win Three Basketball Games

Paced by Ed Gattis' 21 points and 19 by Gary Middleton, Coach Bob Travis' Morton Indians swept their third win in five days Tuesday night at Sundown as the beat the usually rugged Roughnecks, 66-56.

Travis boys had won their first conference game over Sprinkles on the previous Friday, returned to Morton to smother Childers in a non conference game Saturday.

Travis' boys, proving adept shooters from almost anywhere on the floor, piled up an early tremendous 20 point lead and then faded into what almost was trouble before winning easily.

Costly floor mistakes cost the local lads in all three games, but the young team, all the starters of who will return next year, continues to post the best local record for boys basketball in many, many years.

Three Way Cranes Lose; Play First TAAF Home Game Monday Night

The Three Way Cranes, an area entry in the TAAF district, lost their first conference game at Muleshoe Monday night, losing before a ranger, hot shooting five from the Bailey County seat. Don Lamar's Cranes, two men shy, put up a stubborn fight in the intermission, trailing by only a 35 to 33 count. But the Muleshoe's team height, extra men, and a period of red-hot shooting enabled them to pull away in the second half with apparent ease and they posted an 80 to 64 win. Pee Wee Reeves and Randy Hill each collected 18 points for the losers while Gordon Wilson's 22 was game high. The Cranes had to play with only eight men, two of their better players absent because of death in the family. Three Way had beaten Muleshoe three times earlier in the season. Monday, the Cranes play their first home league game to entertain the Armstrong team from Hart. The game for that encounter will be at 8:15 at the Three Way gym. Hart has also played one game but the score of that was not available at press time.

County Wide 4-H Club Met; Discussed Keeping of 4-H Record Books

The County - Wide 4-H Club met Saturday morning in the Agent's office, Dixie Lovelace, vice-president, presided. She led the group in the 4-H motto and pledge. A demonstration was given by Miss Leila Petty, County Home Demonstration Agent, on "Backgrounds for Bedrooms." This is the first of a series of demonstrations that will be given on bedroom. Bedroom improvement will be one of the demonstrations carried by 4-H members during the year. After the demonstration, Dixie Lovelace helped the group with 4-H Records. Several report forms were studied, with emphasis on the Standard Report form that is required in all contests. Dixie showed her 4-H record books to the group. Her good records earned her the talent club award honors in 1956. The award was a week's trip to Colorado. Dixie is now working on her records to compete for one of the $500 scholarships given by the Texas Home Demonstration Association. Club members decided to meet on February 9, which is the second Saturday in February. Attending Saturday's meeting were Dixie Lovelace, Paula Barber, Brenda Brotherton, Daria Brotherton, Judy McCuiston, Margaret Hodges and Miss Petty. VISIT IN CARLSBAD Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Drouth Tour...

...the two men who mapped out the Presidential three day tour, told the Tribune representative "It looked like Worrell was the best overall farmer we have visited yet."

With photographers snapping pictures almost constantly, the President nosed with the Worrell family. See Benson immediately took on with the two youngest children and promptly announced he would like to take them back to Washington with him. See. Seaton basked himself taking to the Worrell boys.

Then, after starting toward his car, the President peeked about the plowing, and Worrell took him to one of his tractors which he explained the type of plow he used.

The crew crossed the yard to an alfalfa field and Benson started through the fence to have a look at Worrell's hoos. Worrell yelled that there was a hot middle wire, but Benson got through and luckily did not touch the middle wire. The boy went to the shed and cut off the current. Benson took a good look at the Duroc, explaining he had Durocs on his farm and he complimented Worrell on a 600 lb. sow. After a brief comment to and about the children, Worrell described as "the great American crop." The president said "I wish you very much for your hospitality to each member of the family" and "goodbye folks and good luck to you."

The group boarded the buses and finished circling the four square mile area, and then at the Air Base, he conferred with P. C. Edwards of Covis, A. D. Brownfield of Deming, and Bruce King of Stanley. Meanwhile Press Secretary Haggerty met the press in the press room and informally answered questions, and posed for TV and news reels. Asked by the Tribune reporter how the area inspected compared, Haggerty said the San Angelo area was the worst he had seen. Asked how immediate any aid would be forthcoming, he said he didn't want to answer the question. He said he hated to call the halt that they could see was going to be needed. Shortly thereafter the president shook hands with Eric General William Wallace Momyer, Wine Commander at the Air Base, and boarded his plane for the flight to Tucson.

By Eddie Irwin

THOSE WHO MISSED, and a lot of us did, the show put on last Friday night by the colored elementary school at the home of Dimes, evidently missed a mighty show. Not only that, but it would have been very cheap, owing to Mrs. Lula Mae Blanford, the excellent teacher we have over there at the colored school.

OF FOLKS showed up for the program. Mrs. Blanford had been asked in recent years why she didn't put on a show for the March of Dimes, but she couldn't because without a music teacher at her school, she just didn't know how a program could be worked up. This year, for the first time she had a teacher of music and she worked up the program. Mostly through misunderstanding and a lot of conflicts, what with the High School team playing out of town and the local school sponsoring a basketball tourney for grade school teams, there weren't enough people who attended the show to even pay its way. To make matters worse, Mrs. Blanford was afraid her group couldn't do a good enough job of entertaining, so she prevailed upon a couple of girls from down state to drive up here and help her out. From what the folks who were on hand say, this pair, and the local youngsters did a tremendous job, for the small crowd.

PEOPLE DIDN'T show up. All so sorry we didn't make it. But we are sorriest, most of all because we know the group worked hard on the program, and it will probably be a long time before they feel brave enough to try it again. Perhaps after all, we should be more to blame, for not taking the time to find out what kind of a show it really was, and giving it a more prominent buildup. But, we confess, we were like a lot of the others, we didn't know whether it was a show for Colored folk, or for everyone — and obviously, a lot of the colored folk stayed home because they felt the show was for others.

one thing we're . . .

SURE OF Mrs. Blanford is doing a fine job. Every school board we've talked with in the past several years has said so.

without a doubt . . .

THE SOJURN we made to Clovis Monday was one of the most thrilling experiences we have ever had — One we'll long remember. When we first got the invitation to go to the airbase and be with President Eisenhower's group to tour the drouth area, we at first decided we were too busy to go. Then we thought it over, and partly because we thought an invitation like this doesn't come very often, and partly because the partner said he thought it wouldn't make the paper too late if we decided to go. After it was all over we were just a little ashamed to have considered not having our paper represented. Not only was the experience reassuring, encouraging and thrilling, but we think we had a sort of duty for either Bill or me, or both to go & to report to the local folks what it appeared like was thinking about the drouth conditions.

HE PERSONALLY didn't have anything to say until the next day when his three day tour was over, but brother, he you Republican or Democrat, farmer or merchant, management or labor — you had a distinct feeling on the tour that he wasn't pollocking, that he was sincere about wanting to find a solution for this drouth problem. The farmers, the newsmen, all who talked with him expressed this same thought in their own words.

we had thought . . .

WE PROBABLY got within about 100 or 200 yards from the president, and then maybe his news secretary would tell us what the President had to say. As it turned out, Hagarty, who was available afterward for only a few moments had practically nothing to say. Benson, who was talking at the farm wanted to talk about less serious things, and it was the President himself who showed the real interest in farmer Worrell's problems.

THE OTHERS were not interested. It is to say that Ike deliberately relaxed the personal security measures because he not only wanted to get close to the Worrell family, and to get the first hand story of their troubles, but he wanted the reporters and photographers to be close enough to hear what was said. So, we were right with him, hearing most of his questions and comments to Worrell, wife, and also the children. And we, unsuspecting as we were, were caught without a camera. But, by wading through the photographers, and by taking the pushing away of the secret service men and coming back for more, at least had more time than the photographers to hear what was being said. We did feel sorry for the secret service men charged with the president's safety. They did all they could to hold back the 150 or 200 newsmen and cameramen on the tour, just so they couldn't get too close to the President, then Ike would see something that he wanted to inspect, and he would get away from them, and immediately he'd be surrounded by newsmen and the secret service men would have to elbow their way in to the group and get back around the president.

FOR AN unimportant Country editor to get mixed up with. In fact, a few of the Washington reporters and photographers felt it was an insult to have to shove the country boys around, but the rest of the boys from the area felt, as we did, that they should make full use of this opportunity that doesn't happen often.

at first, when he . . .

STEPS OUT OF the plane, the president looked tired and sick to us. However, he moved on the tour very spryly, and though he was in a serious mood, we decided maybe we had been looking too hard for signs of illness. He was a little pale in color, but an ill man could hardly have covered the ground he did, or would scarcely have been as interested as he was.

when he bade the . . .

MORRELL family goodbye, the President wished them the best of luck and later Hagarty, his press secretary said, he felt the area they saw around San Angelo was the worst they had seen. This was verified by our local Highway our thanks to the . . .

AIR FORCE, not only for their wonderful hospitality, but for the invitation in the first place. It was they who invited us to be on hand, and, actually it was a more representative tour for Cochran County than the San Angelo tour was, the land was nearer like ours and the drouth conditions, too.

RATHER AMUSING problem of their own with the little boy's and girl's room that we thought was quite amusing. When we entered the Officers' Club we noticed that the two rest rooms had dogs on the front instead of signs. One dog was pointing, tail out-thrust, the other was sitting on its tail. WANDA MAY HALL IS MARRIED TO J. E. LAYTON IN ENOCHS SERVICE

ENOCHS, Jan. 12 (Sp.) — First Baptist Church was the scene at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the marriage of Miss Wanda May Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hall and J. E. Layton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Layton of Morton.

The Rev. J. A. Green read a double ring ceremony before an arch of candles highlighted by baskets of gladioli. Palm trees formed the background. Mrs. John Hunter played piano selections and accompanied Mrs. Jessie Lyles, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of lace over tulle and net, edged with a Valenciennes of scalloped lace. The fitted bodice featured long petal-point sleeves and a pointed waistline. Her waltz-length net veil was joined to a plateau cap of shirred lace embroidered with pearls and she carried white roses atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bill Barris of Goodland attended her sister as matron of honor and Mrs. Cleo Hall, sister-in-law of the bride as bridesmaid. They wore identical shirred dresses of pale blue velveteen styled with square necklines. They carried matching muffs decorated with white carnations.

Best man was Raymond Hall, Cleo Hall and Bill Barris of Goodland ushered and lighted the candles.

Blue and white were featured in lace at a reception which followed in the church annex.

For wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride selected a brown wool dress with brown accessories. After Wednesday the couple will be at home on Route 2, Morton, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

A graduate of Bula High School, the bride has been employed in the county clerk's office at Littlefield for three years. Her husband was graduated from Bula High School and Texas Tech.

W.S.C.S. Hears Report on History of World Fed'tion of Methodist Women

The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church on Tuesday, January 15th, with the president, Mrs. J. D. Hawthorne presiding.

Beginning next week, the Society will have the nursery staffed so that members with small children may attend the meetings and leave their children in the nursery if they so desire.

Mrs. Willard Henry presented a history of the World Federation of Methodist Women, using as a theme, a quotation from Scripture, "For Such A Time As This." She recalled that in 1925 the Women's Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church appointed a Commission to study the work of Methodist Women, their status, and to discover and define their place of largest usefulness in the church at home and abroad. It was proposed that connectional societies be formed to study the task of the World Church and their own relation to it. The one requirement was that each society should have as its purpose, "To Know Christ and Make Him Known." — with the ultimate goal of forming a World Federation of autonomous national units. In 1929 fourteen countries, having met the conditions, became affiliated with each other. No one can estimate the spiritual strength and power that came from such comradeship across national borders, racial and enemy lines in "such a time" of crisis, change and suffering as the world knew from 1914 through the years of re-habilitation.

In 1939 twenty-nine national societies met in Pasadena and signed the Constitution of the World Federation of Methodist Women. Before the meeting closed, World War II burst upon the world, and channels of communication became closed soon thereafter. But through such a time the organization grew and in 1950 the Federation had a membership of four million women in thirty-five countries.

Mrs. W. W. Smith closed the lesson with prayer.

Refreshments were served to eleven members by the hostesses, Mrs. N. H. Steed and Mrs. C. S. Silvers.

Information On Use of Thimet Is Forwarded

Farmers interested in the use of Thimet, or Compound 231, may be interested in a letter received by County Agent Homer Thompson from F. M. Fuller, Jr., Extension Entomologist, of the Extension Service.

Mr. Fuller says: "As you know Thimet was used in the State of Texas last year on an experimental basis, for the control of early season cotton insects. As we understand it, a certain amount of this insecticide will be available in 1957 for farmer use. There will be two places in Waco, one in Rockwall and one somewhere in South Texas where these seeds can be treated. The cost will be about $3 per acre if 25 lbs. of seed are planted. It is necessary to get at least 1 pound of the active material per acre in order to obtain the most effective control. I suggest that you write Dr. C. M. Meadows of Southwest Sprayer and Chemical Company, Waco, Texas, concerning the cost of treating the seed and just how long they can be stored and any questions you might have on delivery, etc."

I think that Thimet is an effective compound and that it will last 4 to 6 weeks after planting according to research conducted in this state. However, unless you have thrips on young cotton very early, such as you had in 1956, I doubt that Thimet will be of value on the Plains. It replaces two early season applications usually and the cost is $3 per acre. The farmer can apply two early season applications of a conventional spray material for about $1.75, therefore, you see that the cost is rather prohibitive. Another point to remember in your area is that usually you have to replant many times and if replanting is necessary, you have spent $3 an acre before your seed ever come up.

Should you have additional questions concerning the use of 3911, please advise me."

FATHER SUFFERS STROKE

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Smith were called to Lubbock last Wednesday to be with Mr. Smith's father, C. P. Smith of Crosbyton, who had suffered a stroke on Tuesday night.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

During the Great Depression the British government, to combat further economic disruption, promoted by the "Buy British" idea through which propaganda was carried all through the Empire imploring British subjects for their own welfare to buy only British made goods. It is considered a substantial degree.

There are many who now wonder if grass roots drive to sell American products on the principle of buying American would not be to nation's long range advantage.

It is doubtful that the internationalists in government would permit such a step to be taken by the United States government at present. Probably the best evidence of this was the recent raising of the tariff rates on imported wools and wool products. This action was taken to stop the death of the American textile industry, but as usual, it was a half measure in the opinion of mill operators who must compete with foreign goods.

It has now become that the label on merchandise "imported" means nothing. At one time some fine British wools were shipped into this country. But lately, all grades of British material is brought into the U. S. riding on the coattails of the reputation enjoyed a few years ago. But the cheaper British material is not the only goods riding on the coattails of this reputation. Since the war, largely through American aid, the Japanese have also become big makers of woolen goods.

Thus, as witnessed many times in the past few years, government's first solution to any problem seems to rest on taking it out of the hide of the American.

In other words, what is given away to foreigners, it is hoped will be made up by the American consumer paying higher prices for lamb.

So the U. S. government made a deal with them. Out of the tariffs on wool imports, funds are being given by the government for the sheep industry to carry on a nationwide advertising campaign urging people to eat more lamb. This it is hoped that the campaign will be so successful that it will raise the price of lamb, thus making up to the grower what he loses on wool due to cheap imports.

Probably the best evidence of this was the recent raising of the tariff rates on imported wools and wool products. This action was taken to stop the death of the American textile industry, but as usual, it was a half measure in the opinion of mill operators who must compete with foreign goods.

County Again Has To Borrow Funds For Polio Fight

A check for $900 received by the Morton County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will help provide financial aid for local patients, it was announced today by Mrs. Roy Hickman, chapter chairman.

"Despite receipt of this check from national headquarters to supplement our own 1956 March of Dimes funds, we are carrying bills totaling $2,655.50 over into the 1957 year," Mrs. Hickman said. "Funds to pay these bills will have to be raised by the March of Dimes in January, which is NOW."

"We had hoped that national headquarters would be able to advance us sufficient money to meet all our 1956 bills," Mrs. Hickman continued. "However, aid to chapters for polio patients, amounting to $6,700,000, has exhausted the funds available for this purpose."

Although polio incidence has lowered across the nation, Mrs. Hickman said, National Foundation chapters will have spent or incurred obligations exceeding $23,200,000 during the year for medical care and rehabilitation of polio patients.

This underscores the great financial cost of continuing care and rehabilitation for those seriously involved patients whose lives have been saved by prompt March of Dimes assistance.

"In all good conscience we must continue to provide assistance for such victims of polio for whom the Salk vaccine came too late," Mrs. Hickman emphasized.

The 1957 March of Dimes must be successful to keep faith with these people.

With a safe and effective vaccine now available, we must see that everyone under forty years of age gets the full protection of three inoculations to prevent attacks of paralytic polio.

A PENNY SAVED

A smart girl knows that "a penny saved is a penny earned." She also knows that the neat Ivy League look of today's clothes is smart. Tie-print pajamas of classic cotton broadcloth have that Ivy League look. They're trim fitting and will wash without shrinking.

Mrs. E. C. Roldy entertained the Busy Fingers Sewing club in her home Thursday, January 17, with nine members present. Those absent were all out due to sickness.

The club voted to contribute to the March of Dimes. Refreshments were served and all had a very enjoyable evening. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Boydston, an honorary member, who now lives in Lubbock. The meeting is set for January 17.

Change Standard On Bracero Housing, etc.

LUBBOCK (Jan. 15)—More specific minimum standards for housing Mexican National Workers, effective immediately, have been issued by the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security under the authority provided by Public Law 78 and the Migrant Labor Agreement of 1951, as amended.

Charles E. Johnson, Field Representative for the Bureau here, received a copy of the amended standards yesterday.

"Employers who do not meet these amended standards will get no more braceros," he said, "and those who now employ braceros must meet the revised standards within a reasonable time or lose their braceros."

The amended minimum housing standards include some 50 items dealing with six aspects of bracero housing including living and sleeping quarters, cooking and eating facilities, sanitary facilities, lighting, laundry and general standards.

Regional Director Ed McDonald of the Bureau of Employment Security in Dallas is mailing a copy of the amended standards to all approved employers and associations of employers of Mexican National workers. They are advised that they are responsible for seeing that the amended housing standards are met by all user-members to whom Mexican workers are assigned.

On-the-spot housing inspections by Field Representatives of the U. S. Department of Labor will be made to determine whether employers may keep the Mexican workers they now have, or be eligible for the contracting of Mexican workers in the future.

But we understand the boys took Springlake, Childress and Sundown right in stride. That means they have one conference win in the column. We had thought Sudan would be the team to beat in the conference, but the way Farwell handled the Hornets the other night, we're convinced that it may be Farwell that will lead the parade unless we beat them. We, though having only seen the local boys in action a couple of times, think they have the stuff to win the conference. They'll be in action Friday night on the local floor, why not plan to attend and help root them to victory.

Jaycees Are Told Fair Association Is Disbanded

The Fair Association has been dissolved, were the startling words given the Morton Jaycees Monday by Elwood Harris, who for the past two years has served as president of the event.

Harris continued by saying that two county-wide meetings have been held recently to plan the '37 Texas' Last Frontier Fair, and only he and Mrs. G. C. Kiehl of Whiteface were in attendance.

Thunder struck the Jaycees' postponed further discussion of the event until next Monday.

Roy Tarver, Jr., president of the Jaycees, said anyone desiring to express opinions regarding the fair would be welcomed Monday.

Harris introduced Duane Knott, Morton FFA instructor as a guest. Harris, also county MOD drive chairman, asked the Jaycees help in the current drive.

Other activity included a report by Joe Sengler that he met last week with the County Commissioner's Court asking that the County help meet some of the expenses of a county fair. He said the officials promised consideration.

Sengler was also elected by the Jaycees as their representative to the Texas Last Frontier Rodeo Association. J. T. McManis has served the group in this capacity for the past two years.

Special thanks were voted the Young Matron's Junior Study Club the Jaycees and St. Clair's Variety store for the help given in the purchase of toys for the Christmas party.

Nagel to a Committee to develop a way for the Jaycees to contribute to the March of Dimes drive were Bob Husekabay, S. M. Monroe and Sengler.

Mexican Border Troubles of 1915-17 Hatched in Parr Capital, San Diego

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, TEX.—Like his father, George Berham Parr is a small man as Texans go. In him there is a curious touch of Pancho Villa, or Robin Hood.

A psychologist could explain Parr much better than I can explain his sometimes baffling behavior.

Unlike his father, George Parr is trigger-tempered, often to the point of rashness. For example, there is the incident of a few weeks ago when a Duval County commissioner, Tomas H. Molina, angered him. Parr grabbed a rifle and raged out of his office and into the Courthouse across the street, shouting for Molina. He was cornered in the basement by Ranger Walter Russel and disarmed.

Parr's white hair is dyed red, a mahogany red. In contrast to both the "Anglos" and the Latins, he always dresses neatly in a business suit. He is deep-tanned, soft spoken and there is much about him that is charming—and disarming. He lives high and among other things, loves fast horses and bull fights.

"And he won't listen to anybody," one of his top lawyers told me. "If he'd listen to his attorneys when they flash a red light on him he wouldn't get into half as much trouble."

George Parr, age 55, is a lawyer himself although his only client is George B. Parr.

I watched Parr on the night of the July 28 primaries. The polls were just about to close when I talked to him. He was a very busy man, issuing orders right and left in rapid Spanish, giving followers crisp green bills and sending them on errands. He seemed harassed, even wistful. The scene was the Mexican-style plaza in front of the church of San Pablo.

Parr's people, hundreds of them, milled around in the dusk under the trees. Across the street from the Parr forces was anti-Parr headquarters—and between the two groups armed Texas Rangers under Captain Alfred Allee moved quietly. The atmosphere was tense and electric. San Diego police, often called Parr's pistoleros, under Chief Manual Amaya, circulated through the two groups, guns slapping against their thighs. The street in front of the City Hall, across the plaza from the church, had been roped off by the Rangers.

I was watching Parr when the soft bell of the angelus rang from the Church of San Pablo. He stopped talking and stood quite still. Around him his people became silent. Hats came off. Here and there a woman lifted her mantilla, nun-like, over her dark hair.

The last echo of the Angelus had long gone when the spell was broken by juke box music from a candy store.

It was difficult just then to imagine San Diego, Texas, as the hottest spot in Texas politics, as the scene of plundering, of murder—sixty three murders in just over a dozen years according to Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

Yet the story of San Diego, of the Farrs and of Duval is on the record. Beside my typewriter as this is written is a long list, three foolscap pages, of men and women who met sudden death in Duval in recent years. Duval from the first has been a county of violence. The man whose name the county bears, Capt. Burr H. Duval, was massacred with Fannin's men at Goliad.

That frightening list of homicides, most of them unsolved and unpunished, might be doubled if the truth were known about many cases listed officially as suicide or accident.

For example, the death of Border Patrolman Ed Wheeler was first listed as accidental. Wheeler was, to use his own words, "about to blow the lid off Duval" in a narcotics report when his car went off the road and his body was found in the flaming wreck. Then the undertaker found a small bullet hole at the base of his skull.

Just for the record here are a few of the cases officially on the books as homicide: Horacio Garza, knifed to death in San Diego; Jacinto Gutierrez, shot, San Diego; Ricardo Escobar, shot, Freer; Juan Elizondo, shot, Benavides; Rolando Ruiz, shot, San Diego; John F. Gilbert, shotgun, Freer; Thomas Bank, shotgun, Freer; Rodolfo Munoz, shot, San Diego; Hastings, shot, Freer; Frank Lotto, shot, San Diego . . . but why go on!

There is nothing on the record to show these murders were political. Certainly the wanted slaying on September 9, 1932, of Jacob Floyd, Jr., was political. So were the killings of radio newsmen Bill Mason and of Edwin Wheeler.

Assistant Attorney General Sidney Chandler puts it this way: "Before Shepperd came here, if a man committed a crime in Duval, including murder, it depended on which side of the fence he was on whether he got punished or not. The evidence didn't matter. It was how the jury voted. If the machine wanted you acquitted, you were acquitted. If it worked another way, too, if a man killed another man, in a fit of temper or for any other reason, and he was acquitted, then the machine could count on his loyalty and the loyalty of his family from then on."

No matter how the figures for violent death in Duval are interpreted, one fact is grimly clear: they are far higher than the national average. The suicide rate, for example, is more than four times that for the United States as a whole—and Latins, being Catholic, do not commit suicide. The Mexican-American is intensely religious and to him suicide is a mortal sin, punishable by an eternity of damnation.

It was just forty-one years ago

January 20, 1915, when George Berham Parr was in his town that a man named Basilio Ramos, age 24, was arrested in McAllen, Texas, with a copy of the utterly fantastic "El Plano de San Diego" on his person. Ramos, alias Garza, promptly became a celebrity and the Federal Government moved fast to take over jurisdiction.

The plan was for revolution against the United States.

In San Diego today they show you the sun-blasted building where the plan was hatched in August, 1914, and they'll tell you of the future coming and goings of mysterious German supposedly agents of the Imperial General Staff in Berlin.

The San Diego plot wasn't taken too seriously at the time, but in 1917 when the famous Zimmerman note, a document that helped put the United States into World War I, was intercepted and translated in Washington suddenly realized that the plan was real and not the product of raving crackpots. The mysterious strangers who conferred in San Diego with Mexican-American agents with Huerta agents from Mexico were what they seemed to be.

Huerta, it will be remembered, was violently anti-American because President Wilson had refused to recognize his government by assassination. American had captured Vera Cruz and Marine snipers had killed many Mexicans. Feelings ran high on both banks of the Rio Grande.

Under the plan Mexicans in five states—Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and California—were to revolt on February 21, 1915, and declare an independent Mexican republic. A "liberal" Army would then "free" six states to the north and set up a "New Anglo" men's government.

The whole insane idea from Germany's point of view was to keep the United States so busy with the Mexican border that she'd be unable to join the Allies in fighting the Central Powers in Europe.

Certainly the plan was mad and just as certainly it did have part of the effect the plotters wanted. The border area, including Duval, seethed with excitement and killings, with raids from both sides of the Rio Grande, with train robberies and the dames of burning ranch houses. More than 500 Americans lost their lives in the fighting before General Pershing and his troops restored a semblance of order.

A curious fact in the border troubles just preceding America's entrance into World War I was the deference paid to the word "Aleman"—German—by parties of raiding Mexicans. More than one "Anglo" saved his life by proclaiming himself "Aleman" when guns were leveled at his head.

It is against this background that the Parr political empire was erected and it is against this background that it still lives, teetering on its last leg under the continual legal slugging of Attorney General Shepperd, but still alive.

Mrs. H. T. Gardner Hosts H. D. Club

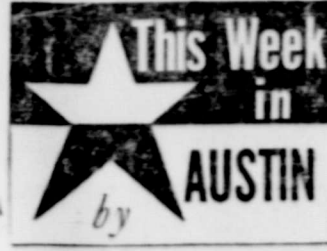

The Friendly Circle Home Demonstration Club met January 11 in the home of Mrs. H. T. Gardner. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. B. H. Kelley. Mrs. Kelley led the Lord's Prayer and Mrs. Gardner read the Bible reading. Roll call was answered by the five members present with a current event. After the report of the council delegate, Mrs. Bernard Nebhut, the committee for the year were appointed.

Mrs. Dexter Nebhut was appointed program chairman. Mrs. Woodrow Self and Mrs. J. W. Jeffcoat were appointed to the finance committee. Mrs. Dexter Nebhut and Mrs. Bernard Nebhut were named to the Recreation Committee. Mrs. B. H. Kelley and Mrs. H. T. Gardner were appointed to the EEE committee; Mrs. Mayme Cartwright and Mrs. Gene Clark were appointed to the Civil Defense, Health, Safety committee. Food leaders were Mrs. Woodrow Self and Mrs. Jack Cartwright. Family Economics Leaders were Mrs. B. H. Kelley and Mrs. Gene Clark. A program on Etiquette was given by Mrs. B. H. Kelley. Mrs. Mayme Cartwright, Mrs. H. T. Gardner and Mrs. Bernard Nebhut. Mrs. Dexter Nebhut discussed recreation in the club and led two games. The constitution and by-laws were read and approved. Refreshments of cookies, cakes, and coffee were served as the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be held January 18 at Mrs. B. H. Kelley's home. Mrs. Petty will give a demonstration on main dishes at that time. Everyone is invited to come.

Senator Preston Smith

With the formal opening of the 55th Texas Legislature, January 8, Austin once again became the center of important activity necessary to operate the largest state in the union.

For the next 120 working days, the 150 members of the House of Representatives and 31 Senators will be at work considering new bills, levying taxes and appropriating funds.

The 55th will be an experienced Legislature by usual standards. In the House, 54 Representatives were re-elected and in the Senate there are only 8 new faces this term, counting mine.

Highlight of the opening ceremonies was the introduction of House Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock. Amid the applause of hundreds gathered in the House galleries, Carr handed the gavel that designated him Speaker of the House.

Carr had been in Austin a month making preparations for the session. He clearly outlined the need for early consideration of appropriation of funds. And naturally taxes will rank high on the list of "hot things" to be handled by the House.

During the next 60 days, the Legislature will set on bills and resolutions. Starting the second 30 days, at hours when the House and Senate are not in session, committees to which the bills have been referred for study will hold public hearings.

It is during that second 30 days of the Legislature that you, as a private citizen, have your strongest voice in state government. For it is during this time that you can appear before the committees to voice your approval or objection to any legislation pending.

All in all, the opening of the 55th Legislature ran according to schedule, with dignity, color and excitement. Even after serving three terms in the House, the opening days of a new Legislature never fail to impress me with the responsibilities and pride that go with serving in public office. It's good to be back. And while I'm here, this non-political column will report regularly on what's going on in the massive chambers and halls of your State Capitol.

Conaressmen Seek Quick Leaislation On Drouth Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (Soc.) — Rep. George Mahon of the 19th District has joined with several other Texas Congressmen and Senators in introducing legislation in the new session of Congress designed to bring early assistance to the drought-stricken areas of Texas and the Southwest.

The proposal as worked out and presented was termed a "two-fold approach to the drought problem."

The bill was described on the floor of the House by Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, as calling for immediate assistance to farmers and ranchers in the wide area of Texas and the Southwest who are in desperate need of help.

Mahon and Poage pointed out that the prime purpose of the bill would require the Department of Agriculture to make payments to land owners who will agree to defer the use of their depleted pasture lands for periods of not less than 12 months. The program would become effective immediately and would continue over a period of three years after the drought is broken.

The Congressmen explained that the present crisis "could well become a permanent condition unless steps were taken to give the parched pasture land a chance to recover."

Another feature of the bill would instruct the Secretary of Agriculture to assist in providing protein feed concentrates such as cottonseed cake. Members of the group said they felt the cake was needed immediately to maintain the range herds of the Southwest and that type program would be cheaper and more effective than the hay or grain feeding program now being carried out.

"This bill would enable the stricken areas to take the steps which they know to be sound from a conservation standpoint but which they cannot afford to take in the absence of some Government program," the lawmakers explained.

Splints Alone Won't Heal a Broken Bone...

Glasses Alone Won't Correct Faulty Vision

If you should fall and break a bone you wouldn't send out for splints. You'd want a doctor — and quick! Splints alone never healed a broken bone. A splint applied by a doctor with skills and knowledge based on education and experience is the combination that you want.

It's the same with vision. Glasses alone won't correct your faulty vision. And glasses with a bargain price tag are not substitutes for the skills and experience of the ethical, professional doctor of optometry.
