CONTROL ANTS WITH INSECTICIDES

There can be a real household pest but applications of the insecticides will bring them under control in a hurry. Entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service say that dieldrin or dieldrin, sold in measures as roach and ant sprays, very effective against ants. Entomologists point out that the species of ants can be pests in the home, but most nests in the house, but most their nests outside and find they work inside through openings. Once they find a food supply they set up a regular route between the food and their nest.

The most common species found in Texas are the Pharaoh, thief, black crazy, fire and Argentine ants. They range in size from the tiny Pharaohs to the much larger fire ants. They feed on any kind of food material in the home including sweets and greasy foods. The thief ant prefers greasy foods.

For inside the home applications, the entomologists recommend a two or three percent chlordane or a five-tenths (.5) percent dieldrin household spray. Special attention should be given to drainboards, window sills, door openings and pantry shelves.

For outdoor applications the entomologists recommend a 10 percent chlordane, 2 percent dieldrin or 5 percent heptachlor dust. If an emulsion spray is used, they strongly urge that label directions be followed. They suggest that a band of insecticidal dust or spray be applied around the foundation wall and that all ant nests in the yard be treated.

They point out that repeated applications of the insecticides may be needed to give complete control of ants. They suggest that a copy of L-311, "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" be obtained from the local county extension office. The Guide lists control measures for the more commonly found household insects including those attacking fabrics, foods, structures and humans.

Quality Remains the Paramount Element in Cotton Production

Hayti, Missouri — Members of the Missouri Cotton Producers Association were reminded here today that quality remains the paramount element in cotton production because it is the element which largely determines the use of which cotton will be placed.

Ernest W. Carpenter, manager of the Cotton Department of Greenwood Mills, Greenwood, S. C., in address before the opening session of the producer's meeting said, "There is a tremendous range in quality requirements for different cotton fabrics. . . (But) the most important thing to bear in mind is this: mills will buy cotton that gives them the best results."

In a discussion of "Quality Requirements in A Modern Cotton Mill", Mr. Carpenter outlined the necessity for meeting definite standards at every point in the textile production process.

"It stands to reason," he said, "that we must adopt a progressive attitude in the cotton industry to keep from losing ground. Textile mills are meeting the challenge of competition by reducing costs, by purchasing new and improved machinery, and by developing new processes and procedures. Actually, we are demanding and expecting better performance from cotton."

Mr. Carpenter pointed out that in the processing of cotton from the point of the harvest to a finished product, "the less cotton is handled or processed until it becomes a fabric, the more we preserve cotton's natural quality and beauty".

He added, "... Modern ginning was developed principally to meet the problem of cleaning machine-picked cotton. It has performed this function adequately and well. No one could possibly foresee that the operation of the government loan and support programs would lead to the over-cleaning of cotton in order to secure high grade premiums. This has undoubtedly been the greatest source of trouble in the market place today."

In his own organization's search for the best cotton available, Mr. Carpenter said, "We plan to seek out cotton that has been ginned for maximum quality benefits and we plan to pay prices that will encourage the handling of cotton in this manner. I think everyone will agree that paying for cotton on the basis of true value will eliminate the motive to over clean cotton."

Carpenter explained that much of the effect of over-drying and over-cleaning cotton is latent, in that the damage "doesn't show up until it is processed" in a textile mill. Such damage, he said affects every phase of a textile mill's operation and results in production losses, decreased efficiency and lowering quality end products.

"We have ample cotton in the fields but we are losing a great part of it by the time it becomes a bale of cotton," Carpenter said. He added, however, "I'm happy to feel that with the sincere cooperation of all elements of the cotton industry, we are making sound progress."

MAKE A MEMENTO BOARD WITH SNAPSHOTS AND SCHOOL SOUVENIRS

Poster board, plastic tape, snapshots and a few souvenirs are all you need to make a memento board. Cut an ordinary piece of poster board to the desired size and shape. Add a bright touch by trimming the edges with plastic tape in two different colors. (It's good fun and sense to choose school colors.) Select snapshots not only of school friends and scenes, but family, home, and pets as well. The actual arrangement of the pictures is largely a matter of personal taste. But it's a good idea to place them so the subject matter faces toward the center of the board. A few enlargements here and there will serve as eye-catchers. And for variety and interest, include some snapshot cutouts. All may be mounted easily enough with double-faced tape. The cellophane tape is sticky on both sides and will adhere to either paper or cloth without buckling or staining. Too, the tape can be easily removed so you can re-arrange the snapshot gallery with minimum effort. Intersperse pictures with special mementos—such as class play programs, tickets to football games, dance cards—and you'll have a memento board that's interesting, fun and a real conversation piece.

Bowling Associations, One League Are Formed Here

Morton's newest recreational addition, the Frontier Bowling Lanes, scheduled to open September 15th, got their business off on the right foot Monday night at a meeting at the Chat and Chew Restaurant in Morton which resulted in the formation of the West Plains Bowling Association, and the Cochran County Women's Bowling Ass'n. The new establishment hopes to have league bowling five nights each week. The initial meeting drew fair attendance as the two Lubbock representatives went over the general rules of operation of league play and furnished material to let local folks know how leagues are formed and conducted. Leagues can be set-up in various manners, but as an example of one method of formation the Major League formed in this manner. They secured eight sponsors of teams who will pay $10 each entrance fee into the league's season fund. The sponsors will get together with their team members to decide what method, if any, will be used to purchase bowling shirts, which usually carry the sponsor's name on the back. Players will pay $1.35 for the regular weekly bowling fee. 10 cents per man additional to their league secretary for keeping the weekly records, and 15c per man into the league's trophy fund. Any players who desire to purchase their own shoes or bowling balls of course are free to do so, but shoes and balls will be available for use at the alley. There is a rental fee for shoes, not for balls. The Major League plans to get their bowling underway the second Thursday after the new lanes are opened to the public. Another meeting will be held to set up other specific rules. Leagues are usually run on a handicap basis so that any player no matter how new he is at the game, will have whatever handicap in scores is needed to equalize him with other players in the league. Construction of the new lanes continued at full tilt this week when a group of workmen began work Tuesday on the actual mallet alleys. Pinsetting equipment had not yet arrived Tuesday but regular weekly bowling fee. 10

Weatherstripping Keeps Heat In, Shuts Dust Out

Weatherstripping around windows and doors of a home is vital to economy, health, and comfort. Good weatherstripping sharply reduces heat loss, dust and unhealthful, uncomfortable drafts. From an economy standpoint, weatherstripping is worth its weight in gold. Tests on well-insulated houses without weatherstripping have shown that air infiltration around doors and windows accounted for as much as 37 percent of the heat loss. Ponderosa pine windows, bearing the seal of approval of the American Wood Window Institute, are weatherstripped with anodized aluminum or some other slow-oxidizing, resilient metal. Tubular vinyl frequently is used where it is not subject to friction. Windows bearing the AWWI seal are provided with weatherstripping that performs a better job of keeping air out than required by the accepted guides to quality, the Commercial Standards of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

TEC Report Gives Status of Nationals As Local Workers

A notice received this week from the Texas Employment Commission lists Cochran County as an approved area for Mexican Nationals employed from the period August 1 through September 30, as cotton, vegetable, grain, farm and ranch hands.

Farm Facts

Out of every dollar spent by the housewife for groceries, the farmer gets only 38 cents.

The ceiling on employment is subject to revision as agricultural activities are completed, or whenever domestic (citizen) workers become available in sufficient quantities to handle the work. The notice came from R. C. Bunting, manager, Lubbock office, of the TEC.

Lions Will Host Morton Teachers

The Morton Lions Club is in the stages of planning its annual 'ladies' night faculty banquet, in mid-September. Lion President E. L. Each year the Lions host the school faculty in a get acquainted banquet, soon after school gets underway.

Wilt Disease On the Increase In Cotton Areas

Verticillium wilt is becoming more important in the cotton producing areas of west Texas. It is on the increase in the irrigated areas of the High Plains, Rolling Plains and the southwestern irrigated valleys. In recent years, the fungus disease has spread eastward to a line from Wichita Falls, Abilene and San Angelo. It has been found in a few fields near Greenville and Waxahachie.

Lower production by this wilt disease may range up to 75 percent in some fields. Losses also occur in the form of lower and spot grades and the production of immature fibres.

The disease is active only when the soil temperature is below 85 degrees. For this reason damage is usually higher during the early and the latter part of the growing season.

Affected plants may become stunted and the leaves turn yellow between the veins. These yellow leaf areas die and turn brown. Leaves are shed from the stalk. After cutting wilted stalks one will see brownish wood underneath the bark. The disease may be confused with root rot or fusarium wilt diseases.

Verticillium wilt is spread by the movement of old cotton trash within fields and from field to field. Gin trash and the movement of soil by cultivation can spread the disease.

The disease is best controlled by growing resistant varieties. Certain cultural practices also help to prevent serious losses. Local county agents can supply B-938, "Cotton Production in Texas."

Expenses On City Street Construction Have Doubled During Past Decade

Spending by Texas cities for street purposes has nearly doubled in the last seven years — from $50,000,000 in 1953 to an estimated $151,451,000 for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

This increase in street outlays by Texas cities is shown by a Texas Municipal League survey of street spending covering cities serving more than three-fourths of the total urban population in Texas.

Municipal street costs have been increasing at the rate of about $25,000,000 every two years since 1953, the League report noted. TML Executive Director Steve Matthews estimated that of the money to be spent on streets during the present fiscal year, $64,669,577 — or 42.7 percent — would come from bond funds and $86,781,423 — or 57.3 percent — would come from other funds.

Matthews commented: "Municipalities in Texas are financing a larger street cost burden than the state itself was carrying only a few years ago for the state highway system. But the cities' cost is being borne by the same tax base that they, the cities, have been using throughout the century.

"The critical problem in municipal finance is whether the tax base of our cities will be adequate to permit cities to keep up with their street responsibilities."

Matthews noted that planning policies of the Texas Highway Commission have been "of inestimable value to many of our cities both in relieving the traffic jam and some of the pressure on the local tax base."

"Cities appreciate the cooperation and coordination afforded by the state in recent years," Matthews said. "Despite all that the state has done, the fact remains that the city homeowners and businessmen are carrying about twice the load of annual streetbuilding costs that were being carried at the beginning of the 1950's."

BULA SCHOOLS —

Mrs. Elwanda Duke, vocational home-making (these two instructors are teaching half-time at Bula and half time at Pep); Charles Seagler, football coach and social studies (former Bula graduate and also football star at Eastern New Mexico for the past few years); Mrs. Casey, high school math; Mrs. Ruby Reid, commercial; Orley Risinger, coach of girl's basketball; Mrs. Risinger, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. B. T. Matthews, first and second grade; Mrs. Don Kemp, third and fourth grades; and a high school English teacher, yet to be named.

Mrs. Matthews, one of the new teachers, comes to Bula from Loop with a total of 14 years experience, the last four years at Loop.

W. C. Risinger will be custodian. Lunch Room personnel are Mrs. Fred Archer and Mrs. J. D. Bayless. Bus drivers are Hendrix, Seagler and Mrs. Risinger.

Members of the Bula school board are Chester Setliff, Paul Young, Dewitt Tiller, Ray Spence and Robert Claunch.

Mrs. Kemp, who comes from El Paso, has three years experience and a master's degree.

MEETING —

Invited guests meet and discussed the project, when it will start, what safety precautions have been taken, and attempt to get all of the information to the public so the public has an awareness of the construction going on, and will also take whatever precautions are necessary.

It has been proven that these pre-construction sessions have cut down the amount of accidents caused on roads where construction is taking place, mostly because of public awareness.

RESEARCH COULD MEAN A "LEADING SOUTH" IN THE UNITED STATES OF FUTURE YEARS

(This is first in a series of articles dealing with vital research programs in Southern and Southwestern universities that promise the master key for unlocking the region's vast treasures in the decade for the 1960's.)

ATLANTA, GA. — "I think research does mean a better south. It could mean a leading South."

With these words Governor Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia, chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board, recently gave the Southern States a master key to progress in the challenging sixties.

Proof of the past effectiveness of research activities in the South is found in a look at the past two decades of research in the area.

Research has provided 50 to 75 percent of the 250 percent increase in the per capita income in the South since 1939.

Basic research on long chain polymers has resulted in the development of nylon, the manufacture of which is located almost exclusively in the South.

University research into the electrical behavior of solids resulted in the development of transistors, of which a single Southern firm now provides one-third of the nation's supply.

More than half of the nation's chemical plants have located south of the Mason-Dixon Line in the last few years — a fact noteworthy since the chemical industry is one of the most research-minded of all industries.

Into the Space Age

Research has already launched the South into the age of space.

Ceramic engineers at Georgia Tech have discovered that ground fused silica molded at room temperature makes a substance so hard that it can be used for rocket nose cones. Their discovery could be the basis for a hundred million dollar nationwide industry.

Students and faculty at the University of Maryland designed the delicate instrument payload carried in the rocket which put the first U. S. satellite into orbit. The success of "Project Farside" brought personal congratulations from President Eisenhower.

University of South Carolina research into the effect of atomic waste on plant and animal life in the Savannah River area has provided a stockpile of information available for use at any other site where an atomic installation is planned.

These and other examples of important research have been cited by the Southern Regional Education Board in its recent publication, "University Research — What it means to the South."

There are three major sources of support for research in the South — government; industry and the universities. Here we are primarily concerned with basic research in the universities.

Universities, then, lead in the discovery of principles and processes which may be adapted to technological and economic pur-

New Breakthroughs Needed

"Our region needs the basic research our universities produce," said Dr. Robert C. Anderson, director of the SREB. "Without fundamental knowledge, and new breakthroughs into the unknown, all the applied research of our industries will become stymied before long. Without the new scientific talent which our universities produce, our whole way of life would come to a standstill."

The South Lags in Research

By 1960, the nation as a whole is spending over $10 billion annually on research and development.

Expenditures for organized research in the South's publicly-supported universities have risen from $23 million to $58 million in six years — from 8.5 percent to 12.6 percent of the educational and general budget. The national average is now 16 percent.

In spite of its recent advances the South still lags behind the rest of the nation in amount of research provided. Though it holds 20 percent of the nation's population and 23 percent of the nation's income, it provides only 17 percent of the nation's research.

clude the regular report of the President and this year will include a special report by Executive Vice President George W. Pfeiffenberger on his recent European trip.

Pfeiffenberger's report also will highlight some of the PCG's accomplishments this past year including such projects as crop-hail insurance representation in Austin; helped obtain USDA research funds — $30,000 for stripper harvesting and $10,000 for gin stand research, and $22,022 for cotton color study at Tech; contribution of some $25,000 to research projects at Experiment Stations in the High Plains area; investigation of instrumental classing of cotton; plus promotional activities such as technical meetings with European spinners on utilization of Plains cotton sponsored an all-cotton style show at Tech and helped sponsor the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest; conducted an international advertising campaign on Plains cotton, as well as compile and distribute area cotton quality reports and information on Plains cotton.

These projects were done in addition to regular programs of the PCG, Pfeiffenberger explained.

"We are justly proud of the work your Plains Cotton Growers is doing, and we hope you will be at our annual meeting September 2 to join with us in learning more about this organization," Fortenberry concluded.

Chicken Among 'Plentiful' Foods

Grocery shoppers will find a lot of poultry available in Texas food markets this September. They are featured among the six items listed as plentiful for the month, reports the Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M College.

Turkeys are another poultry plentiful. Lamb, melons, peanut butter, and a wide array of late summer vegetables complete the list.

These foods were selected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for special emphasis in this area because the supply of each is expected to exceed normal demand. Homemakers can take advantage of the abundance by serving these foods often.

September broiler-fryer marketings are expected to run about 5 percent more than a year ago. Look for meaty, tender, flavorful young chickens, from 2 to 3½ pounds.

The number of turkeys expected to be marketed in September is about the same as a year ago, but total weight may be higher because there will be more of the heavy breeds. Both chicken and turkey provide ideal fall-weather entrees for family fare.

There'll be lots of lamb for National Lamb Week, September 15-20. Slaughter has been averaging about 6 percent more than a plentiful melons include watermelons, cantaloups, honeydews, Cranshaws and Casabas. The late summer watermelon crop is expected to be especially huge.

Choice of late-summer vegetables will vary in different localities but good supplies of onions, carrots, squash, cabbage, eggplant, potatoes, sweet corn and many others will be available.

Seek Persons Deserving of Heroism Awards

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council is looking for Texas heroes, people who have exhibited exceptional bravery at a time of crisis or disaster.

That organization will again recognize these outstanding Texans through presentation of "Rural Heroism Awards" on a local and state basis.

Three engraved plaques will be presented to state winners during the Texas Safety Association's annual meeting in March, and local presentation to all nominees are also being planned, said L. O. Tiedt, chairman of the Awards Committee.

In 1959, the single state award was presented to J. Manuel Corral, a Mexican bracero laborer who was lowered into an abandoned irrigation well to rescue a three-year-old boy. The incident occurred in the Dell City area of Hudspeth County.

Any heroic act involving personal danger or sacrifice to aid and assist others in a time of crisis is eligible for participation in the awards program, Tiedt said. However, the act must have been performed in 1960.

Deadline for nominations is Feb. 1, 1961.

Nominations may be made by any person or any group prior to that time, and should contain complete information and substantiating evidence of the heroic act. This will be utilized by contest judges to determine the three state winners.

Nominations should be sent to Heroism Award, Texas Safety Association, 830 Littlefield Building Austin, Texas.

Wheat yields increase 12 to 20 bu. per acre with ammonia application

Well-known West Texas farmers like WADE MILLS apply 100-120 lbs. ammonia per acre on wheat

Wade Mills, who farms approximately 765 acres in Castro County, reports: "The first time I used ammonia on wheat land I got increases from 12 to 20 bushels per acre. We applied 100 to 120 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia per acre."

"Applications of 120 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia on maize land has produced an average increase of 2000 pounds per acre. On maize following maize, Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia is a must," he explains.

Thousands of Texas farmers are using Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre. Actual field reports prove that Phillips 66 Ammonia (1) boosts wheat and small grain yields (2) increases maize yields (3) produces more high grade cotton (4) improves forage production.

See your local Phillips 66 Ammonia Distributor now. You can depend on better ammonia service.

With Your... COUNTY AGENT

By Homer E. Thompson HARVESTING AND STORING The harvesting of grain sorghum crops are just around the corner. Grain sorghum will thresh free from the head when the moisture content is 25 to 30 percent. In this area a moisture content of 13 percent is essential for safe storage. In the south, 11 percent is better.

Grain does not dry in the bin. A musty smell or a clumping of the grain indicates excessive moisture content. Those who have storage facilities should clean bins thoroughly before storing grain sorghums. Spray walls and floors with a spray that contains methoxychlor, pyrethrin, or malathion. Remove any litter by hand and feed sacks.

Stored grain that becomes infested with insects should be fumigated. Generally grain sorghum needs higher dosage of fumigant than wheat does, because seeds pack together more closely. See your County Agent for publication on storage and fumigation of grain.

COCHIRAN COUNTY COTTON DISEASE SITUATION There has been some misunderstanding on hail damage and disease damage to cotton this year in the county. An item appeared in this column a few weeks back on this material which was misunderstood, misquoted in part and needs some clarification.

Since the item was written, the Experiment Station and Extension Service people have examined and have made a comprehensive report of their findings on the cotton situation here. It does not agree in part with the material in item mentioned above. A copy of this report is now in my possession.

Most hail insurance policies carry the following exclusion "This Company shall not be liable for loss by an uninsured cause or causes, whether or not combined with or in conjunction with an insured peril."

The following is a statement made by Dr. Harlen Smith, Extension Plant Pathologist. "Our cotton is being hit hard by diseases. These diseases have been made worse by higher rainfall, hail damage and blowing sand. Diseases have caused more damage than bad weather. Seeding disease damaged our cotton early in the season. Seed rot and damping-off, soreshin, and pseudomonas wilt disease occurred as a part of the seeding disease complex. Ascochyta blight occurred when plants were young. These diseases helped cause a lot of replanting and therefore a lot of late cotton was the result."

"Hail further damaged the diseased weakened young cotton. The combination of disease and mechanical injury caused much of the young cotton to die or recover very slowly." "Seeding disease organisms are carried over winter in old field trash or on the seed. Organisms enter primarily through the roots of the young seedling. These and other organisms can enter through wounds, however, in most cases little damage results. Ascochyta blight and soreshin are fungus diseases.

"Pseudomonas wilt is a bacterial disease. Plant disease specialists with A & M College have recently made studies on this disease." "The disease causes young cotton plants to be stunted. In larger plants the soft center of the stalk may be discolored by irregular black or brown streaks. Usually these streaks are only 1/2 to 1 inch in length and are not continuous. Larger plants may be stunted or killed." "Other diseases that are present are root knot and bacterial blight. Root knot causes irregular swellings on the root and stunting of the plant. Bacterial blight causes angular leaf spots, loss of leaves, and oily round spots on bolls. Boll rot and stained lint are caused by bacterial blight."

Propose New Teacher Legislation For Next Session of State Lawmakers

AUSTIN — A beginning salary of $4,002 for Texas public school teachers will be requested at the next session of the Legislature, a spokesman for the Texas State Teacher's Association announced today.

This and other TSTA proposals are in line with recommendations made two years ago by the 254 county Hale-Akin committees, and costs have risen then, TSTA Pres. Mary Alexander of Palestine said. Mrs. Alexander made these two points: — The Gilmer-Aiken Minimum Foundation School Program has not been changed since 1949, except for two modest teacher pay raises, and cost factors then are unrealistic now.

— State increases in Texas teacher salary in the last ten years are the lowest in the nation. In one proposed bill, TSTA will ask the Texas Legislators to strengthen the three basic parts of the Gilmer-Aiken program — teacher pay, transportation, and maintenance and operation — as follows:

— Provide an annual salary of $4,214 for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree (now $3,204) and $4,239 for an M. A. degree (now $3,429). — Annual salary increments of $108 per year (now $54) with ten increments for bachelor's degree teachers and 17 for the master's degree. — Add $30 per school bus to help pay increased transportation costs for school children.

— Increase to $500 per teacher the allowance for maintenance and operation of school plant and program (now $350 - $400). Larger cities, and other areas with rapidly expanding population, would especially benefit from another TSTA proposal, to allot State aid for teaching personnel on the basis of the current year's attendance instead of last year's. This would save local taxpayers at least $8 million the first year, Mrs. Alexander noted.

Other legislative requests by TSTA call for: five days sick leave annually for teachers, cumulative to 30 days; additional special service teachers and principals; and regional film and audio-visual libraries.

Miss Dolores Stephenson, Wayne Lee Davis Exchange Wedding Vows Here

In a double-ring ceremony performed at 4 p. m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church in Morton, Miss Ellen Dolores Stephenson and Wayne Lee Davis were united in marriage by Rev. W. H. Hughes of Levelland. In a background of lighted tapers, white gladioli and baskets of greenery, she was given in marriage by her father.

Dolores is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sammie E. Williams of Morton. Wayne is the son of Mrs. W. L. Davis and the late W. L. Davis, also of Morton.

The traditional something old was a white lace handkerchief of her mother's. The something new, a single teardrop diamond, gift of the bridegroom; borrowed car clips; and a blue garter. She also carried a six pence in her shoe. Chantilly, hand-clipped lace over satin was chosen by the bride for her gown. A modified sarrina neckline, and bracelet-length sleeves were complemented by short white kid gloves. From the fitted bodice flowed a magnificent skirt, highlighted by a tiny bustle back, accented by satin American Beauty Roses, which swept into a chapel train. A double-tiered crown of sequins and seed pearls held a billowing veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, centered with a white orchid, carried atop a white Bibie.

Jackie Outlaw, a school maie, served as Maid of Honor and bridesmaids were Daylene Little, a Stanton; Linda Easter of Albuquerque, N. Mex.; LaRa Petit, San Antonio. Mrs. Francis Young, cousin of the bride, Plainview, was matron of honor.

These attendants wore waltz length frocks in blue silk organza; over taffeta, fashioned with scooped necklines, short, capped sleeves, and complemented with white gloves. The slim bodices of the dresses were lined with white Alencon lace. A softly folded cummerbund encircled the waistline of each dress with a silk fabric rose highlighting the front. The full billowy waltz length skirts flared gracefully. They wore headpieces of ice blue orange blossoms and pearls with circular illusion veils.

The mother of the bride wore a chantilly lace mauve dress with muave and white hat and shoes to match and bone, elbow length gloves.

The mother of the bride groom wore a pink lace dress with white shoes and carried a green orchid corsage.

The flower girl, Jan McWilliams, cousin of the bride, Levelland, wore a light blue cotton-satin dress with white organdy apron trimmed in white lace, white accessories, and a white and blue tinted corsage of Calogladis in her hair.

Dean Williams served as best man and ushers and groomsmen were Loy Kern, John Pool and Bill Ed Igo, all of Morton and of the bride, Levelland. Terry Davis, brother of the bridegroom also served as a candlelighter.

Ringbearer was Danny Lee Stanford, cousin of the bride, of Levelland.

Mrs. J. J. Jenkins of Morton was organist and Mrs. Earl Polvado of Morton was pianist. Miss Sara Jo Wallace of Morton sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Oh! Promise Me," and "The Wedding Prayer".

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. A 3-tiered wedding cake with white bells, blue rosebuds, and the bridesmaids bouquets served as centerpieces for the table. Punch was served from a silver bowl. The table was covered with a blue net, ruffled cloth over another blue cloth.

Serving on the house party were Mesdames Roy Hill, Charles Jones, LeRoy Johnson, Earl Outlaw, Bea Yarbrough, Wayne Mitchell, Bob Polvado, Allan Williams, all of Morton, and Mrs. Paul Easter of Albuquerque; and Misses Nancy Cagle, Betty Waller, and Sara Jo Wallace, of Morton, and Miss Tawana Cravens of Big Spring.

For her wedding trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado the bride selected a jacket dress of coffee and white imported cotton, matching accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

The couple plan to reside in Morton. Both are Morton High School graduates. She attended Hardin-Simmons University where she was a member of the Cowgirls. The bridegroom is engaged in farming.

Those from out of town attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt McCraw, Anton; Mrs. Ed Cooley, Richard and Gail, Hawley; Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Stephenson, Sr., Idalou; Mrs. Bryan Dunigan and Beth, Merkel; Rev. and Mrs. W. H. THE HIGH DEGREE of optimism expressed here Tuesday night at the Meeting of the Cochran Cotton Growers is indeed a good sign for Cochran County and the "Texas Last Frontier" area.

for several . . . YEARS, the feeling was definitely one of depression among area farmers. Not necessarily because of the condition of one crop or another, but mainly because it began to look like King Cotton was being forced off the market by a concerted effort by the synthetics industry. And it was no idle thought. Fact is, there was a time when the synthetic group had poured millions of dollars into research and was coming up with materials that would outperform the materials made from cotton fibres.

THE FORMATION of the Plains Cotton Growers, was not the sign for all of this to abate. But the PCG did have a huge share in the concerted nationwide drive by the Cotton Industry to win back some of their markets.

ON THEIR SIDE, certain basic qualities of cotton that no synthetic could match. Their job was to find other basic qualities that would convince the American Housewife that cotton was the fibre for her dresses, for her husband's shirts, and for the many, many other articles of ready-to-wear which are bought often.

THE PEOPLE in the cotton industry had to be awakened to their own responsibility to help pay for the tremendous job that lay ahead. Then, proper legislation had to be available to allow the cotton farmer to produce in competition with others, and to find ways and means of getting rid of huge surpluses that had been built up.

FOUND. NOT ALWAYS as rapidly as we hoped for, but they were found. And last year, with the exports and the amount of figure will exceed by some 2 million bales the amount of cotton predicted for this year's crop.

THINK THIS IS a bad indication. But to the contrary, it's a good sign. It's a good sign for a favorable price for cotton, an available market, and the possibility of increases in cotton allotments. True, the increase couldn't be very great at this time, but any increase would be welcomed by the cotton farmer.

THE BEST SIGN of all is the optimism itself. Optimism can become as infectious as pessimism. And, if those who are in the know, keep on preaching the optimistic outlook, the prevailing attitude it could develop would be a big boon to this area, as well as any other cotton producing area.

LOOKING FORWARD to the day when we will have to get out of the cotton business and begin farming some other crop, we can look forward instead to working harder on finding more ways to use cotton in our American way of life.

WILL SPEED THE finding of these new uses. And already so new that it isn't even describable is a process by which cotton can be made into a positively crease resistant cloth, which certainly will find a big market among American housewives.

OUTLOOK IS ROSIER . . . much rosier. And for this we can all offer a vote of thanks to the Cotton Council, the PCG and yes, even the Cochran Cotton Growers, who have also been doing their part. It's great to be in on an achievement in a manner in which one can look with pride toward the future and say to himself, I had part in this . . . and Cochran County's farmers did have a part in it.

THE HOSPITAL news this week might cause some football fans to be a little worried. At first glance a fan might suddenly wonder if football practice isn't getting a little rough from the large number of football players included on the list.

BECOME ONE of the alarmists let us hasten to add, that it's not football injuries that caused the sudden list of hospital inmates. Seems to be some of that early fall (a little earlier than usual, too) virus that has been coming to this area and sending a large number of people to the hospital with dysentery.

EVERY FALL, and everyone, has his pet theory as to what it comes from, but regardless of which theory is right, the virus seems to have hit Morton a little early this season.

A LITTLE EXCITED OVER the prospects of a bowling alley in Morton, and it's to be expected. One of the things Morton was so shy of for so many years was entertainment of a variety. The addition of the bowling alley won't solve the problem, and probably won't have near as much effect as most folks think, but even after the newness wears off, it'll be on more type of activity to keep folks at home in something in which they have an interest, and that should be cause for more optimism.

ARE ALREADY interested in bowling as a one night a week pastime, should begin to think about getting together with others of the same accord and forming teams to be enrolled in the leagues. For to have a good league, they should get started soon after the bowling alley is completed, for most of the other leagues across the country will be underway in early September.

THE CITY ASSOCIATIONS have been formed, it should be a relatively simple matter to get the various leagues sanctioned.

OF DISCOURAGEMENT to Whiteface residents, was in the news this week with the definite announcement that U. S. Highway 82 will go from Lubbock through Brownfield and Terry County, rather than through Levelland and Whiteface as had been hoped. Area officials just got the word too late, and even though they fought a delayed action, aided by members of the Cochran County Commissioners' court, it was to no avail. Lubbock had sided with Lovington and Brownfield, and the campaign by these three groups was already pretty well completed before we even learned of the idea.

HAVE COME THROUGH Morton anyway, that wasn't proposed at all. But it might have gone through Whiteface and Bledsoe if the area officials had made their move a little sooner.

LONG NEEDED to be included on a federal highway. It's a big enough disadvantage to a growing town, not to be located on a railroad right-of-way, and one way to compensate for some of this loss would have been a federal highway. But then, as Mortonites always seem to have been prone to fight progress, a few years ago efforts were made to widen the highway from Lubbock to the New Mexico State line, through Morton, and we couldn't even get the property owners in the city limits to agree.

HAVE HAPPENED, anyway.
