Johnny R. Johnson is named to fill executive position

The son of a Methodist minister, the new chamber manager graduated from high school at Roswell, N.M., and is a 1962 graduate of McMurry College at Abilene.

Cotton allotment increased

Cochran County farmers will plant 4,365 more acres of cotton this season than last year. Figures recently released by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. show an additional 7,590 acres are allocated to Cochran County under the re-allocation system.

The original 1964 cotton allotment for Cochran County was 73,670 acres. The additional re-portionment acres bring the total to 80,260 for the county, as compared to a total of 73,695 for 1963.

As a result of the 1960 law which permits unwanted cotton acres to be reallocated within a state, the 23-county High Plains area represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will have an additional 140,150 acres of cotton to plant in 1964. This total represents an increase of over six and one-half percent above the 2,132,499 acre original allotment for 1964, and brings the total acreage available for planting to 2,272,649 acres. This figure is slightly more than three percent greater than the 2,202,533 acres available for planting in 1963.

On a normal year this extra acreage should bring the area some $21,000,000 in gross income from about 140,000 bales of added production.

The total figure of 140,150 acres gained by the High Plains was compiled from information released to Plains Cotton Growers by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office at College Station. The amount compares with only 91,684 such acres in 1963, which is an increase of 34 percent over that year. The law, referred to as Release and Re-portionment, provides for unwanted cotton acres to be released to the ASC committees and then re-allocated to those who request increased acreage.

The ASC office first uses released acres to fill requests for additional acres within the county and zone where they were released and the excess acreage is then available for filling applications for increased acreage in other areas of the state. The State ASC Committee slightly rearranged the two zones in Texas for 1964, and this fact accounts for the increase in acres coming to the High Plains area.

Final date for requesting additional acreage through Release and Re-portionment in Zone Two, which covers all of the High Plains, was March 4 and the date for making distribution of the acres to farmers filing requests before the date is March 25.

Limitations placed on the number of acres a county or individual farm was eligible to receive under the 1964 program are as follows:

No county or individual farm could be given re-portioned acreage that would bring total acres in cotton to more than 50 percent of the total land in cultivation, nor could a county's base allotment be increased by more than 50 percent.

No farm could receive re-portioned acreage in other areas of

Athletes honored by boosters at banquet

Morton High School athletes of 1963-64 were given six points to ponder over and think about at the annual athletic banquet Friday night, sponsored by the Morton Athletic Boosters.

Merrill Green, former Oklahoma grid great, and now assistant coach at Texas Tech, addressed the group, numbering some 150, and told them "These principles apply not only to your participation in sports, but later in life as well."

Four MHS athletes were honored during the banquet with special awards. Clem Kuehler was announced the Most Valuable Football Player of 1963, and presented the Morton Electrical Award, a traveling trophy. The presentation was made by Lester Dupler, the recipient of the award last year. Also announced were the "Hustling-est Indian" awards, to Bobby Dobson in football, and Ernest Chesshir in basketball. Evelyn Butler received the "Hustling-est Maiden" award for her work in girls basketball. Gene Snyder, publisher of the Morton Tribune, awarded the "hustling-est" honors. The Tribune inaugurated the awards three years ago.

In his short, but effective talk, Green told the athletes they had to:

1. Make a decision, and know where you are going.
2. Set standards, and challenge all comers to meet your standards. Don't lower your standards to meet someone else's.
3. Possess courage, but not necessarily physical courage. Mental courage oftentimes means much more than physical courage.
4. Possess self discipline. This is something every true champion must possess. Everyone can't be a champion, true, but, be the best you can be.
5. Realize that no one is so good they can't improve, no matter who they are.
6. Possess loyalty, not only to your school, but to yourself. You must create togetherness, because that is the only way you will reach your goals."

Green was introduced by James Dewbre, president of the Athletic in a plain wrapper".

These words are usually seen on mailings of acne removers, hair removers, and personal items that might cause embarrassment if the contents were known.

Often, packages sent in the "wrappers" contain obscene or illegal materials.

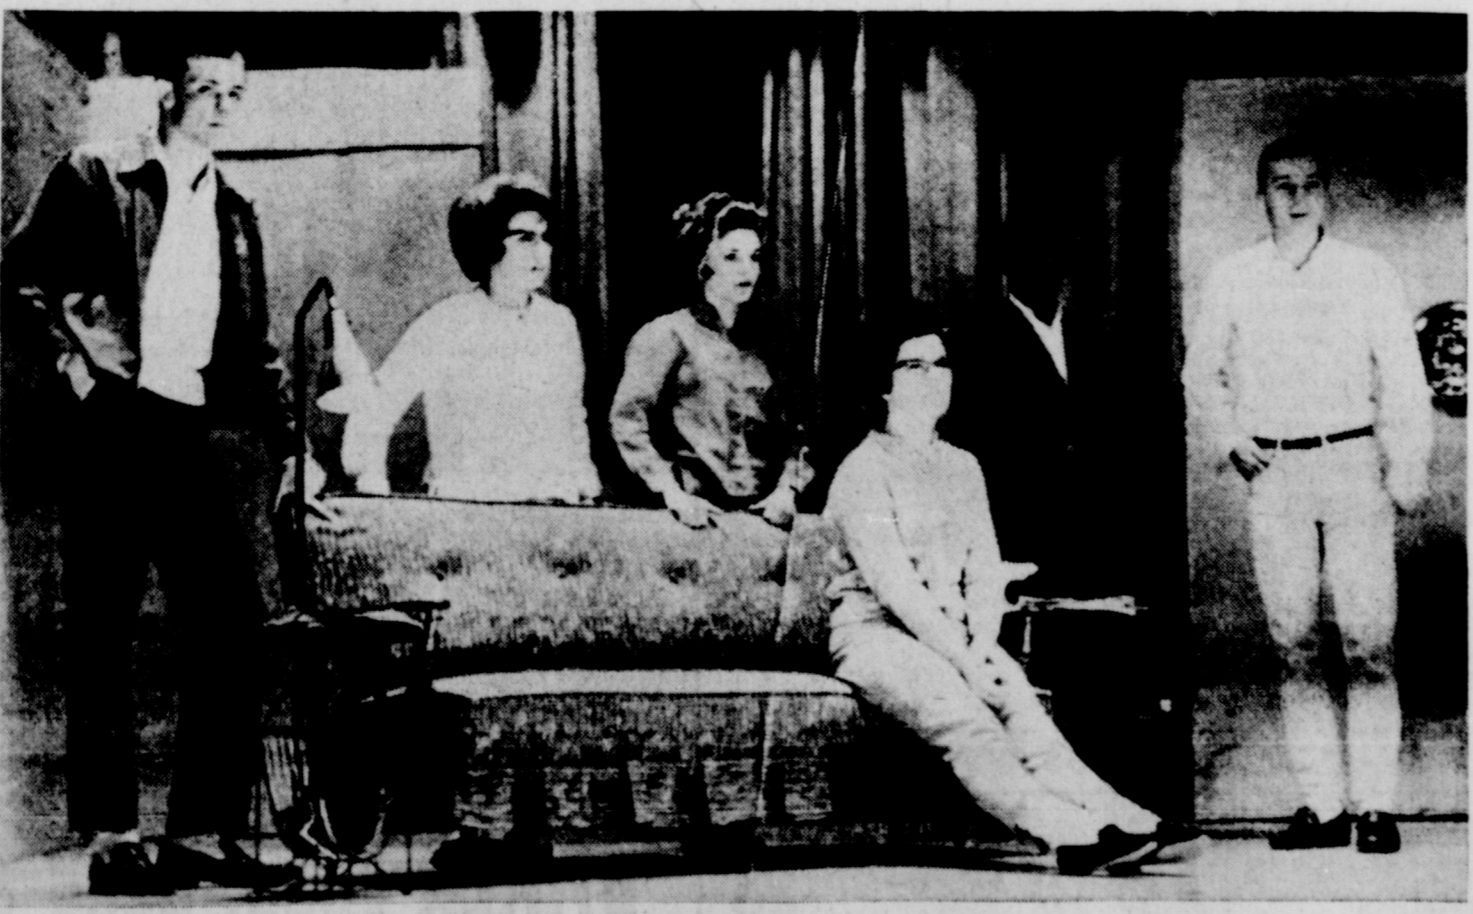

Ray Crone, Morton Postmaster, reported several instances of film strips received by the mail here. A "health" was also being peddled through the mails and the contractor to change their advertising methods.

Youngsters are often placed on "black lists" by companies selling literature," Crone said. Youngsters receive the items by mail, often without knowing they arrived. If no complaint is registered the materials become even more obscene, until photography is sent."

Parents find the literature and throw it in the trash can. It doesn't help anyone. We ask persons receiving such literature the item received to the office and register a complaint. Only with your cooperation this mis-use of the mails be stopped," Crone explained.

In December, 1963, 977 illegal mailings were suppressed by the Post Office Inspection Service, and Officers of the General Council about the United States. The less war against fraud and publicity is one of the least publicity services provided by our postal servants.

In December arrests totaled 139, and convictions 129, and convictions 129.

Bowling activities now underway at Frontier Lanes include Scotch Doubles and Alibi singles. The singles close March 22, the doubles, March 29.

Bowlers of the area are reminded to watch for the red head

A team of Lubbock Toastmasters will conduct a model demonstration of a Toastmaster meeting at the Wig Wam Restaurant tonight at 7:00.

The demonstration is part of an effort to organize a Toastmasters International Club in Morton.

A meeting last Thursday night was attended by 22 local men, interested in forming the organization.

John P. Haggard was elected temporary chairman of the fledgling Morton Toastmasters Club, Dean Weatherly temporary secretary, and Sid Saverance, temporary treasurer.

Carl Ray was appointed chairman of the steering committee to assist in the organization. Other members of the steering committee are Joe Seagler, George Borling, and the temporary officers.

Floyd Stumbo, of Lubbock, Lieutenant Governor of Toastmasters District 41, was speaker at the organizational meeting. Stumbo explained the ideals and purpose of the international organization.

The meeting was started by having each person give a one minute talk, explaining himself, his family and his occupation.

Stumbo explained the importance of speaking in business and the need for persons to be able to express themselves better.

"All of you here tonight use talking as part of your business or occupation."

"You need a Toastmaster's Club in Morton. The survival of the small community depends on leadership. Leadership depends on self-expression," Stumbo said.

"Toastmasters is not a service or a civic organization. It is an educational effort. A person can be an individualist and belong to the Toastmasters. We believe in association with others, learning together.

The officers of the organization are elected each six months rather than yearly, giving more people experience as an officer, teaching them how to conduct meetings.

Letters from our readers . . .

The Editor
The Morton Tribune
Morton, Texas

Dear Sir

Please let me take this method of expressing my gratitude to the many, many Cochran Countians who have shown interest in and encouragement for my proposed book about the history of this county. I have decided to name the book "Texas' Last Frontier: A History of Cochran County, Texas." I have been gathering material since January and have much information about the early days of the county. I am spending every spare minute, which are rare in the courthouse, in the Texas Tech Library, or in interviewing some early settler. The response has been overwhelming, and I am very thankful for the fine co-operation.

I would welcome any suggestions and information. If there are those who have old newspapers printed between 1925 and 1930, and between 1932 and 1945, I would like very much to see them. Also newspaper clippings from those periods would be welcomed. If churches in the county have bulletins with their history, that would be a welcome item. I need information concerning the development of Whiteface and Lehman. Other data not listed here which might be of interest is solicited. Size, cost, and date of publication have not been set, but I believe that I shall be able to finish the work by the end of this year. Watch the Tribune for further information concerning publication.

Yours sincerely

Oldest circus in US schedules show in Morton Monday

The true American circus, complete with Big Top, flying banners, menagerie and sawdust will be on hand when Sells Bros. 3 Ring Circus comes to Morton on Monday with two performances, 4:00 and 8:00 p.m. for one day only at the Rodeo Grounds.

"The oldest and proudest name in the circus world", the Sells Bros. had their first circus in 1872 and the name lives on even now. 90 years have passed, hundreds of circuses have come and gone, but the management of Sells Bros. long ago discovered that in order to endure, a circus must keep faith with the American Public. This season Sells Bros. again proves why it is the favorite of the public with more and better of everything that has come to be associated with a genuine 3 Ring Circus... a genuine, traditional tented circus.

With over 30 feature acts in all 3 rings Sells Bros. 8 ring Circus bring a full 90 minutes of arenic and aerial entertainment for all to see. They present in rapid succession, jugglers, tumblers, clowns, acrobats, death-defying aerialists, wire-walking wonders, and a host of trained animals acting including dogs, ponies, monkeys, chimpanzees, bears, high school horses, bare-back riders and tons upon tons of performing elephants; while also featuring many strange and unusual wild animals, jungle beasts from every land and climate.

The management this year has announced an all new low price policy made possible by a much larger tent and many more seats which by accommodating more patrons enables them to reduce the prices to less than has been charged by any major circus in over twenty years. They also pride themselves on the fact that no games of chance or gambling games are carried with this show, and that the entire circus is good, clean entertainment for the entire family.

Tickets are available at the ticket wagon on the circus grounds prior to each performance.

Morton students will show at science fair

Morton students will exhibit 31 science displays at the Hockley-Cochran County Science Fair Saturday, according to J. J. Jenkins, Morton High Science instructor.

The annual exhibit of science displays will be in the South Plains College Gymnasium and open to the public from 10:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Morton's 31 entries include 19 exhibits by Morton High School students and 12 Junior High School displays.

A tuition and fees paid scholarship will be awarded the top senior entrant at the fair. Other awards include three classes of medals and a fourth class will receive ribbons.

The science scholarship was won in 1962 by a Morton senior, Paula Burnett. Jenkins explained only seniors are eligible for the scholarship and are polled as to their interest in receiving the scholarship.

"The judges wish to make sure the entrants will use the scholarship and to not consider those students who are not interested."

The science teacher said he did not expect any of the Morton seniors exhibiting at the fair to show a desire for the scholarship.

The fair will present awards in three divisions, high school biology high school physical science and junior high general science. A special award will be presented the exhibit judged "overall best" in its mate.

Morton high school students participating in the fair are: Jerry Elliot, David Gentry, Terrell Hansen, Gloria Harvey, Linda House, Jerry Luper and Patty McClure.

Carol McCuiston, Terry Pace, Kenny Palmer, Linda Rose, Marjorie Rose, Armando Saenz, Janice Stokes and Shonnie Sullivan.

Mary Taylor, Lavoy Thompson, Martin Valenzuela and Carol Williams.

Junior high entrants include: Jean Raindl, Amelia Morales, Sharon Davis, Tommy Hudson, Karl Griffith, La Nelda Romans and Alton Black.

Lamell Abee, Loy Daniel, Sheri Driver, Patty McBee and Randy Kelly.

An estimated 250-300 entrants from the two counties are expected at the science fair.

Morton students take National Merit test

Charles Bowen, counselor at the Morton High School, reported 13 students have taken the 1964 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The test was administered at the school March 10, 1964.

The qualifying test is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the tenth annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts, and individuals.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1963, 1528 Merit Scholarships were awarded; 961 were provided by 179 sponsors and 577 by the Merit Corporation. There are 4114 Merit Scholars attending 425 colleges in the current academic year.

The test scores of students who are examined in March will be reported to their schools before May 13. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study. Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

Some 14,000 Semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. Names of Semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for undergraduates. Further, their names and test scores are sent to the colleges they express an interest in attending as their first and second choices. The order of preference is not shown.

An additional 35,000 students, selected on a national basis, receive Letters of Commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test. These students are considered for special awards made through the Merit Corporation, and their names and test scores are also sent to their first- and second-choice colleges.

Each Semifinalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance will become Finalists in the Merit Program. Winners of Merit Scholarships will be selected from the Finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extracurricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom. Each Finalist is awarded a Certificate of Merit attesting to his outstanding performance.

The scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1300. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1963 was $796 annually, or $3184 for the four years of college. Each scholarship constitutes a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend.

During President James K. Polk's administration in 1846, a treaty was signed with New Granada (now Colombia). One important clause in the treaty were two words. They were used in this manner — "covering transit". What those two words meant was "a right of way across the Isthmus of Panama". This right of way could be by two means of transportation, railroad or canal. The right of way would link the Pacific and Atlantic oceans. Commencing with the signing of the treaty and on up to this year our country has had 118 years of tension, armed force intervention, countless hours of diplomatic debate, yellow fever, malaria and angry mobs. All of this over a ditch 5 miles from the left bank to boundary line and 5 miles from right bank to boundary line, 41 feet minimum depth and 50.72 miles long from canal entrance to channel entrance — the Panama Canal.

It took us seven years to dig the canal and we removed 240,000,000 cubic yards of dirt. The first three years of this seven were spent in construction facilities, surveys and disease control. It cost us $336,650,000 to dig the water way which was started in 1907 and ready for operation August 15, 1914. Later in 1921 we made a treaty with Colombia and the treaty expressed regrets "for anything which interrupted cordial relations between the two countries (United States - Colombia)". With these apologies we paid Colombia $25,000,000 for canal right of way in Panama. We were lucky. Colombia was holding out for $50,000,000. Really what we paid for was the independence of the Republic of Panama, for following this 1921 money gift and treaty, Colombia recognized the independence of Panama.

Had the United States been able to foresee the coming years of trials and tribulations, we might have never signed the 1846 New Granada treaty but kept out of the whole Panama mess. If we had done this, maybe today England would be sweating out the canal problems. When Uncle Sam signed the 1846 New Granada treaty we placed Great Britain in a very difficult position. England's mighty fleets in that year were sailing the seas of the world and keeping an eye out for every conceivable canal route, and especially along the entire Atlantic coast of Central America.

The tension created in England by the United States signing and holding the New Granada treaty was so great that Great Britain spent Sir Henry Bulwer to Washington to try and arrange a compromise. The year was 1850 and due to Sir Henry Bulwer's visit to Washington a treaty was signed — the Clayton - Bulwer treaty. England and the United States agreed to support the building of "an interocean canal which should not be fortified and which should be open to ships to all nations on equal terms". We had to sign the treaty — England had us "over the barrel" so to speak. England, two years after we had signed the New Granada treaty in 1848, had made Sir Henry Bulwer's negotiation groundwork easy for him by the simple means of sailing into the mouth of the San Juan River and seizing a port called Greytown. This port was later described in this fashion as the "logical eastern terminus of a canal across Nicaragua." England's other reason for trying to get a foot-hold in Panama was due to a colony she had there, British Honduras.

So, when meeting with Sir Henry Bulwer we lacked a foot-hold and held a treaty, a treaty that would enable us to dig a canal so that Americans could move from New England states by boat to California and Oregon, without going around Cape Horn, and without having to take the hazardous trip across the Great Plains and the Rockies. We also agreed with England not to obtain exclusive control over the canal, or to exercise any power over Nicaragua, Costa Rica, the Mosquito Coast, or any part of Central America and we agreed in case of war to neutralize the canal. All of these agreements over a canal that so far was just in the imaginary stage. One other reminder while England and the United States were telling each other how they were going to handle things around the proposed canal, Colombia still owned Panama.

Colombia in 1878 — 32 years after the New Granada treaty signing, decided to dig the canal. Ferdinand de Lesseps, a Frenchman who dug the Suez Canal, began construction for Colombia. In a short time he and the firm he represented went broke. In 1855 an American corporation had built the Panama Railroad so there was some transit. In 1890 an American company formed to dig the canal. They soon gave up.

In 1899 Congress authorized President McKinley to appoint a commission to explore routes suitable in Panama to dig the canal. Our State Department began talks with England to revise the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. The results were in 1900 a treaty was signed for the

Water legislation seen for cotton

There is now a possibility that the months work by the various segments of the cotton industry to get new cotton legislation passed for 1964. It is like the revised version of the 1964 crop. Now being considered by the House early last December and is being considered as of this writing. The chance of becoming law for the 1964 crop. Now being considered by the House early last December and is being considered as of this writing. The chance of becoming law for the 1964 crop. Now being considered by the House early last December and is being considered as of this writing. The chance of becoming law for the 1964 crop.

National acreage allotment of 16 million acres. Release and re-portionment law unchanged. Roughly 2/3 would be domestic allotment and 1/3 export, based on total allotment plus any reallocated acres. Loan at 30 cents per pound. Middle Inch at average location. In future years loan level would be set as under present law between 65 and 90 percent of parity, with cost of production as an added factor to be considered. If farmer plants only his domestic allotment he would be eligible for the 30 cent loan plus direct P.I.K. certificates on the normal yield from his domestic acres, thus bringing his price up to a point not over 15 percent of the basic loan, or a maximum premium of 4.5 cents per pound (total 34.5 cents). These P.I.K. certificates would probably be cashable at county A.S.C. offices. He would receive these P.I.K.'s on normal yield regardless of actual yield for that year. He could overplant his domestic allotment but could plow back to it, if he sees fit, early enough to qualify for P.I.K. certificates.

If farmer plants over his domestic allotment to any degree up to his total allotment, he would be eligible for a 30 cent loan only, with no P.I.K.'s on any portion of his crop. For the farmer taking the low-price support, an overplant privilege of up to 10 percent of his allotment, strictly for export at world price, might be allowed above the 16,000,000 acres national allotment. For farmers with 15 acre allotments or less, the entire allotment would be considered domestic and he would receive P.I.K.'s on his total production. Under no circumstances would a farmer have to reduce below 15 acres if his allotment were above that. A farmer could plant any non-controlled crop on diverted acres and preserve his history. To make cotton available to U. S. mills at the same price as to foreign mills, P.I.K.'s would be issued, to some one other than the producer, equal to the P.I.K.'s issued on exports (at present this is 8.5 cents, but with a 30 cent loan abroad at about the 24 cent world price.) These domestic P.I.K.'s at full value would go into effect when the farmer's choice program became effective. Until then the value of domestic P.I.K.'s would be left to the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture. Domestic P.I.K.'s would be paid on inventory stocks of raw cotton as of the date program becomes law. As originally written the bill was applicable to the 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967 crops, but amendments may be attached limiting life of the bill to either two or three years.

Tail water erodes top soil

Muddy water. Worst of all is muddy tail-water. The term "tail-water", as we use it, applies to that water which pours from the furrows at the lower ends of irrigated fields. And mud? Mud in this case, is good fertile top soil. When tests were run by the Water District on a series of tail water samples to determine how much top soil was actually being washed away, the results were astounding. They were even re-checked to make certain there had been no mistakes. As much as 14 tons of fine West Texas top soil was found to be moving with each acre-foot of tail water. The smallest amount the scientists found was five tons per acre foot of tail-water. Using a nice round 10 tons as an average and multiply that figure by 160 feet, which would be an acre foot of water over 160 acres of land, how much top soil is being removed annually from the irrigated farms of West Texas? All of the water doesn't run out the ends of the rows. Most of it soaks into the ground. It is fortunate that most of it is soaked by the soil, for if it were not, our lakes would be filled with top soil and much of the High Plains would be caliche desert. Actual measurements showed as much as 25 percent of the water pumped from the wells on a certain farm escaped into the barrow ditch or was picked up and recirculated through a tail-water return system. In the cases where the water left the field, one out of every four acre-feet of water pumped rushed down the barrow-ditch, carrying with it an average of ten tons of fine top soil. "It's a sin against God as well as our children. Anybody with any common sense ought to be able to understand what we're doing to ourselves", a Cochran County farmer exclaimed. In tail-water return pits there is a problem too, when the top soil settles out and begins filling the pits. The soil, as well as the water, is collected in such a way it can be saved and redistributed. When the soil settles in the pits it is usually referred to as "Silt". It is rich in fertilizers and organic matter so necessary to the productivity of High Plains land. The Water District is experimenting with ways of keeping the silt in suspension until the pit pumps can pump it back into the distribution systems and back onto the land again. A few farmers who are using recirculating pits began noticing that small deltas of soil were building up a few feet down the rows from the sox attached to the outlets of their gated aluminum pipe. One farmer using tubes in a section of open ditch, watched his furrows become almost level when the silt-laden water began dropping its load with a few feet from the ends of the tubes. "Spreading it back out does not worry me nearly as much as having it run off the low side," he remarked. Conscientious farmers, who have convinced themselves that continuous irrigation is not only lowering their water table, but is gradually removing the layer of rich top soil that has made West Texas Agriculture great, have begun reviewing the situation as an interrelated problem: Water, as well as soil management.

County Agent's report

By HOMER THOMPSON

SUPPLY QUAIL FOOD
Now is the time to begin supplying quail food for next winter, suggests County Agent Homer E. Thompson. Many people don't think about supplying winter food for quail and other game birds until the cold weather arrives then it is too late. During the spring and summer months there is an ample supply of food. These are supplemented by green plant material and insects. Following the first killing frost, these foods begin to diminish and other animals compete with quail for the summer's seed crop. Under normal conditions, this food supply will reach a critical point during February and March. However, under drought conditions the critical point will be reached much earlier, comments Thompson.

The cheapest and easiest way to supply winter food for game birds is to disk small strips or plots around existing cover. Disking will usually bring good stands of dove weed, partridge pea or other suitable food plants. Disking about 1/2 acre of range for each covey is sufficient. However, new ground should be used each year, because old strips will continue to provide food for at least two years. When grass starts to suppress the food plants, it's time to rework the old strips, the county agent said.

Fertilization is necessary only on poor land and fencing is usually not needed since cattle rarely eat plants used as food sources for game birds, Thompson said. INCLUDE WATER SUPPLY
A safe adequate supply of water is even more important than food in case of a nuclear attack. We can survive several days without food, but only a short while without water. For each family member, store at least 1/2 gallon of water per day or 7 gallons for two weeks for drinking purposes. Some liquid needs can be met by fruit juices and soft drinks. Water for bathing, brushing teeth and dish-washing should be of the same high quality and quantity. Plastic and glass jugs with tight fitting covers or stoppers are good storage containers, but must be protected from blast. Water for emergency use should be changed every 3 months as undesirable taste and odors may develop. Stored water should be purified.

by one of the following methods: boiling 3-10 minutes, addition of household bleach, 2% tincture of iodine or water purification tablets. These are methods to kill bacteria only; not radioactive particles. When it is safe to leave the shelter, contents of the water heater, water softener, toilet tanks, or melted ice crumbers should be sources of safe water. Following a nuclear attack, water from unprotected sources such as streams, lakes, ponds, uncovered wells, springs, and cisterns may be dangerously contaminated with radioactive fallout. Such water would not be safe for people or livestock to drink, and it should not be used until civil defense, public health, or other monitoring services have found it to be within safe limits or radioactive contamination. Most of the contamination would be in the form of suspended materials (dust) but some would be dissolved in water. These materials would be diluted in ponds and lakes and slowly would settle and be absorbed by clay and mud on the bottom. Water from these sources should be used only in an extreme emergency.

Water from covered wells, underground wells, covered cisterns, and storage houses would be safe, unless radioactive fallout had contaminated the supply in some way. Remember — use water known to be safe first, check on contamination of water before drinking, and use water you are unsure of only in an extreme emergency.

THE HIGHEST POINT

A steeple was first built on the town church so that anyone anywhere in the village could look out and locate the house of worship. The steeple on the church was the highest point in town. This was a physical fact and the people of the Lord knew it was a spiritual fact also.

Although a church's steeple is no longer the highest physical point in the city because of all the many-storied buildings and towers, the church itself is still filled with people who have reached the highest point of Godly maturity and who are filled with the highest degree of Christian love for God and man.

You are invited to attend the church of your choice this Sunday to learn of the love of God and His people toward you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Here Is What You've Been Looking For... BEST TIRE DEAL IN MORTON

DUNLOP ELITE

... the premium nylon Safety Shoulder Tire!

In addition to being America's first Safety-Shoulder tire, the Dunlop Elite offers you a host of other premium tire features. New Maxgrip polybutadiene tread compound imparts unusual road gripping qualities to the tire, absorbs tire vibration and deadens cornering squeal. The broad, flat tread pattern puts more rubber on the road for surer starting and stopping in all kinds of weather. Wide center ribs and sturdy, siped outer ribs give you increased stability, positive steering control—especially at turnpike speeds. And the tread is deeper for extra miles of carefree, comfortable driving. Naturally, the distinctive new twin slimline whitewall styling is in keeping with the thoroughbred qualities of this remarkable new tire. But the Elite is not merely an exciting new premium tire... it is an entirely new driving experience. Stop in for a test drive on a set of Elites... you'll see what we mean!

Big Double GUARANTEE

★ AGAINST ANY ROAD HAZARD

EVEN LOW or FLAT RUN

★ AGAINST ANY DEFECT IN WORKMANSHIP or MATERIAL

New Safety Shoulder

Makes Your Driving Safer

Ever had the blood-chilling experience of running off the road at high speed... even for just a second or two?

Dunlop construction alleviates this danger with tread ribs on the sides of the tire. Treads that climb down pavement edges and right back up without losing their grip. When you go off the edge of the road there's no lurch, no sickening jolt. They lean into turns, giving you traction where ordinary tire treads quit, especially at high speeds or on wet roads.

We call these new side treads SAFETY-SHOULDERS... a brand new concept in tire construction. So new, in fact, it's patented. You'll find SAFETY-SHOULDERS on the Dunlop Elite premium nylon tire. Pat. No. 3,024,825

Camp Fire Girls' Month is observed by local members

By Ann England
March is designated by the National Council as Camp Fire month all over the nation. During this month special emphasis is placed on publicizing Camp Fire activities and programs.

This year the council, with headquarters in New York City, decided to raise dues from one to two dollars annually, due to increase in cost of operating. Local dues paid by members to leaders are turned over to Mrs. Eddie Irwin, Camp Fire registrar. Necessary forms and the money is sent by Mrs. Irwin to Camp Fire Girls Incorporated, New York City, N.Y.

Registered leaders receive a "Leader's Magazine" each two months, plus other beneficial literature.

The girls participate in an annual candy sale. Each box is bought for 60 cents and sold for one dollar; 30 cents of this money is kept by individual clubs with 10 cents to local council.

One of the prime purposes for which the collective 10 cents is used by council is to help in defraying expenses for camp every other year.

As a special observance of Camp Fire month, Sunday March 15 was designated as Camp Fire Day in the churches. Each Camp Fire Girl and Blue Bird was encouraged to attend the church of her choice in full dress uniform.

Another event was the annual Father - Daughter social which was held here on Camp Fire Founder's Day, March 17.

Camp Fire Girls Incorporated was founded for the purpose of helping a girl to be the best woman possible. The Camp Fire program is designed to help a girl keep her femininity and that this conscious effort represents a most unique contribution by leaders and the national organization.

Camp Fire work in Morton is carried on entirely by volunteer workers, who donate their time and effort and quite often their money in trying to make this program worthwhile.

for 1964-65 are Mrs. Willard Henry, president; Mrs. Jesse Clayton, vice president; Mrs. Herman Bedwell, secretary and Mrs. Dexter Nebhut, treasurer.

Committee chairmen: Melvin McCoy, finance; Don Allsup, camp; Mrs. W. G. Dolle, program; Mrs. C. E. Dolle, group organization; Mrs. Doyle K. Brook, adult leader and Mrs. Carl England, public relations.

There are 39 Blue Birds, 40 Camp Fire Girls and 13 junior high Camp Fire Girls. The girls, council members and group leaders have expressed deep appreciation and gratitude to Mrs. M. C.
