

Date set for Junior Maid of Cotton contest

Announcement of a Junior Maid of Cotton Contest in Cochran County was made today.

Rules and details on the event have just been released by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce who will sponsor the gala occasion.

In order to become a candidate in the contest the girl must never have been married and must be a high school student during the school year of 1964-65. Her home residence must be in Cochran County or she must attend school in the Morton area at Bula, Three Way, Bledsoe, Whiteface or Morton.

All contestants must be in excellent health before competing in the event. They should be photogenic.

In judging the contest an equal amount of stress and importance will be placed on background, personality and appearance of the candidates. In other words the contest is not strictly based on beauty or appearance alone.

Twelve finalists will be chosen to appear in the final judging session. A preliminary elimination period may be necessary if the number of entrants goes over the set twelve. The preliminary contest would take place September 12 if it proves to be necessary. Any preliminary judging would be held as soon after the closing date for accepting applications as possible. This would be September 12.

The winning girl who is selected the Junior Maid of Cotton will be awarded an all-cotton wardrobe valued at $200. The first alternate will receive a wardrobe valued at $150 and the third place winner will win a wardrobe worth $50.

All prizes will be made of cotton.

Candidates must pay all their expenses incidental to their appearance in the finals of the contest. It will not be necessary for those competing to purchase cotton clothing or to appear in cotton clothing for any part of the selection.

Girls entering should realize that the purpose of the entire program is to stimulate interest in cotton.

The contest will have four judging sequences. The candidates will be judged in street wear, a sports outfit, formal wear and on their individual talent.

Deadline for entering the contest will be August 15. Entry blanks will be distributed in the schools before the school term is over this spring. Schools will begin receiving their blanks in the very near future.

Candidates must have the full consent of their parents or guardians to enter the contest. The candidate must never have been married, and, in the event of her subsequent selection as the Junior Maid of Cotton, will remain unmarried until the completion of the promotion program for the event.

Choir announces spring concert tour record sale for plans in near future

The choir will present concerts at five West Texas high schools covering a wide range of the area. Schools slated to hear the local group include Matador, Paducah, Levelland, Whiteface and Sundown. Date for the tour will be May 12-13.

Much preparation has gone into the music to be used on the tour according to Guy McLain, choral director. Each student will have memorized over eighty pages of music in three languages.

The trip itinerary includes a scheduled stop at Mackenzie Park in Lubbock for a choir party.

Proceeds of the record sale will be used to purchase needed electronic equipment for the new choir room now under construction.

The Morton High a capella choir is currently making preparations for its annual spring concert tour.

Farmers urged to check closely for screwworms

AUSTIN, May — The Southwest could experience a serious explosion of screwworm cases this year. That is, unless farmers and ranchers diligently inspect their livestock and report infestation so that emergency eradication action can be taken, the board of trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation recently warned.

The board noted that during 1962 and 1963, when screwworm populations were reduced by more than 90 percent, temperature and moisture conditions were less favorable than normal for screwworm development. Ideal weather conditions could cause serious outbreaks by the insect anywhere in the state.

Some eradication program officials fear that livestockmen are relying too heavily on sterile screwworm flies to keep their animals free of infestation, and are not using good management practices such as treating wounds and spraying livestock after they have been worked.

"Our success in keeping the number of screwworm infestations to less than 5,000 cases last year was due only partially to the action of sterile flies," the board was told. "The most important factor was that producers used smears and sprays to prevent infestations and reported cases to us early enough so we could initiate emergency measures."

The trustees also expressed concern that too many stockmen were trying to diagnose their own cases. U. S. Department of Agriculture officials said that various species of blowfly larvae look so much alike that only trained technicians using high-power microscopes can definitely ascertain whether a sample contains screwworms or not.

In other action, the board commended Marvin J. Bridges, who has served as executive director for the Foundation for the past two years, for his contributions to the eradication program. Bridges, who is returning to his livestock business in Buffalo, was originally slated to stay with the program only until the sterile screwworm fly production plant was completed at Mission, but has remained on to assist in coordinating activities of livestockmen and producer groups with eradication workers. He has resumed the position as Foundation trustee, which he resigned when he became executive director.

Capacity crowd sees Indian Capers unreel Friday

The 1964 Indian Capers performed last Friday night was hailed "as a huge success" by all of those attending.

A capacity crowd filled the County Activities Building Auditorium to witness the annual musical event, one of the highlights of the school year at Morton High School.

Choral students, under the direction of Guy McLain, performed a wide variation of medleys for the audience.

The choral department has spent the past four months working and practicing on the performance which is the major choral event of the year.

In the highlight of the evening's activities Peggy Ramsey was named as Miss Indian Capers and Charles Ledbetter was announced as Choir Beau. They were chosen by a popular vote of the choir.

Other candidates for the title of Miss Indian Capers were Donna McMaster and Lynette Phillips.

Melodies sang by the group included "A Summer Place," "Never on Sunday," "There's No Business Like Show Business," "Tumbling Tumbleweeds," "Dry Bones," "Rain and the River," "Poor Man Lazarus," and "Broadway."

Guy McLain, choral director and director of the Indian Capers made the following comment in regard to the 1964 production, "Indian Capers gave our community just cause to be proud of its high school music students. Not many schools the size of Morton High School can boast a group of students capable of staging a performance of the calibre of Indian Capers. It was a real pleasure to work with students who have such a love of music and such a wholesome, teachable attitude. The credit for the success of Indian Capers must necessarily go to them."

Committee accepts challenge from Governor Connally

Accepting a challenge laid down by Governor John Connally in a forceful keynote address to the first meeting of the Governor's Committee on Aging, its members unanimously voted to give themselves the assignment of establishing a local unit of the Governor's Committee in every community in the State, regardless of size.

Many of the problems facing senior citizens can be solved at the local level, the Governor said, especially if the Governor's Committee will provide guidelines and assistance. Much of the action taken by the Committee in its initial session concerned itself with precisely this type of programming.

Senator Walter Richter of Gonzales, chairman of the Committee, announced this week that specific procedures for the setting up of the local units are being developed. "We would like to hear immediately from communities which are interested in helping us launch this program, possibly on a demonstration project basis," Richter said.

He added that this would make "a wonderful project" for any local Chamber of Commerce.

Senator Richter stated that the Committee would give special attention to the first communities heard from and would "go all out" to help them develop effective local units of the Governor's Committee.

Governor Connally noted past progress in dealing with problems of aging citizens but stressed that much remains to be done. He pledged his full support to the Committee as it launched an intensive work program in such problem areas for older adults as health, free time utilization, and financial needs.

Mrs. J. G. Burson and Mrs. Bob Wadley of Amarillo were weekend guests in the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Garnett Bryan and family. Leigh Ann and Grady Bryan returned to Amarillo with them for a few days visit.

Mrs. Jean Lively of Lubbock was a weekend guest here in the home of her mother, Mrs. Hattie B. Spotts.

By ART WALL

Ghost towns. The two words seem to fascinate everyone. Ghost town clubs are being organized to buy ghost towns then follow up with efforts to preserve them. Information from Idaho reports that the forest service in that state is destroying ghost towns as a fire hazard. Preserve these vacated towns of our early west or destroy them seems to be a hot issue to those who love our west.

Some western historians argue that it is better to let the old towns that have died fade to dust. Far better to do this than commercialize them in our flamboyant 1964 manner, and desecrate the town's old wooden bones with flashing neon signs, imitation cowboys and pop corn stands. This is true to some extent that many of these towns have been carnivalized to where they lose their historical significance. The war of words rage on while our old western, vacated towns fall to age.

Some states through various organizations, have restored these towns, and have held strictly to the historic value of the western history that once created the town. "Historize our history" seems to be the proper way and re-build that Indian fort, that town, or monument that battle-ground. It is wrong to let our history fade away. True, there is probably lots of ghost towns that have deteriorated to such an extent that the expense of restoration would be very high, and it would be foolish to spend such an amount.

Our western history is important and we should use greater means in preserving it. Anyone who reads a six-gun roaring western magazine, or watches a western T show, or attends a western movie, certainly knows how completely falsified and exaggerated it is. Every effort should be made to do something in speeding up the preservation of western landmarks of history. Yet we should keep in mind that just because something is old doesn't mean it has historic value.

Our government is discussing a "War Against Poverty" measure with the idea of educating workers for new jobs and creating jobs for those who are unemployed. It might be good for our government to consider in this program a national survey of our country's historic markings. Such as battle-grounds, old forts, ranches of our west carrying famous brands, historic buildings and many other famous backgrounds that created this nation. In this program ghost towns could be valued as to their measure in historical significance. Another good angle to consider if the government would take this program as a project, historical societies would no longer be dependent on private donations. Waiting for contributions for the restoration of history is a slow process.

A National Historical Society could head this program with county and state historical societies assisting. Certainly this would employ lots of men in about the same manner as the old Civilian Conservation Corps did during the depression of the early thirties. Can anyone think of anything more worth while than re-building, restoring and conserving the history of our west and this nation? In these days of communism and other radical extremes, it might be good for the millions of traveling tourists from abroad and in our own country to see what actually built this nation into what it is today. The proof of our pride would be the spending of money to conserve this nation's history.

Some of our old historical buildings scattered over our nation need repairs. Many of our old monuments need re-building. Some of these places are un-attended due to lack of funds and are left to nature and souvenir snatching tourists. Every county has something of historical value, every town has a building that is a town marker. Far better government money be poured into preserving our nation's history than in a pot hole of waste.

Private corporations are casting an eye towards many of our ghost towns to see if they can be converted to commercialism by remodeling the towns to tourist attractions. Some of these towns are on side roads deep down into mountain valleys. Many summer travelers are seeking the place John Q. Public has not wrecked, or littered up. The old ghost towns on side roads that lead off into lonely spots will furnish the true west as it was years ago.

Here are a few ghost towns listed: Belmont, Nevada, once a county seat, the old courthouse still stands and several other buildings. Silver City, Idaho is a well preserved ghost town but off the beaten track. Hardmen, Oregon, located in the mountains has lots of empty buildings. Curlew, Washington, near the Canadian border with quaint buildings. Loring, Alaska, the site of the land's first salmon cannery. Pioneer, Montana built in 1862, near highway 10, Kerwin, Wyoming, east of Yellowstone Park. Jay Em, Wyoming, with scenic beauty and early day history. Mobeetie, Texas has no signs to mark the famous sets and the buildings are crumbling away. Madrid, New Mexico near Santa Fe, an old mining town with empty buildings. These towns listed are a very small handful compared to the ghost towns scattered over our nation and especially tucked away in our western states.

Lots of our old army forts are being re-built. Fort Casper, on the Platte River near Casper, Wyoming is very authentically re-stored. Fort Atkinson, Nebraska is now being re-constructed. In the sand hills country of Western Oklahoma, thirteen miles north of Woodward lies the remains of Camp Supply. It was once the capital of Northwest Indian Territory and the Panhandle Country. There are weathered headstones in a lonely cemetery there. It was established in 1868 as a temporary base for supplies to support General Phil Sheridan's forces while in the field against Indian uprisings. Eventually it became Fort Supply. It had buildings called Sheridan Hall and Custer House. There was a tree lined parade ground. Now tumbleweeds parade. We should salute the dead there.

Local farmers aiding nematode control tests

Jack Brodie, Plant Pathologist at Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is working with farmers on cotton root knot disease control in Cochran County. Tests are designed to determine fumigants with different rates of application.

Two farmers are Noel Crow and Earl Polvado, both of Mor-Texas, who are carrying out control tests.

Polvado has already applied some mechanically by placing material 14 inches deep in the hole of the 4-inch lister beds, as previously tried. Fumazone surface water irrigation. Now attempting to apply a new material in the sprinkler line. The work will be carried on on both farms mentioned above.

The work has previously been planned by the Crops Committee and Chairman of the Crops Committee is Mr. Ronald Coleman.

Other work planned by this committee with local farmers and agency cooperator assisting is with chemical weed control in cotton and grain sorghum, cotton seedling disease control, fertilizer test rates in cotton with limited irrigation. Announcements will be made from time to time giving who will be performing these demonstrations, locations, and kind of work being done. Specialists from local Government agencies, Extension people and Experiment Station personnel are working jointly with the local committee and farmers in planning and doing this work.

Leopards do most of their hunting by night. They are perhaps the most silent of all the larger hunters, being able to make their way through the most dense vegetation without a sound.

Prolonged drouth emphasizes import of water and conservation needs

LUBBOCK, Friday, May 1 — An April 17th meeting of the recently formed West Texas Water Institute's Research Committee, plus the dearth of rain and the excessive hot dry winds of late, calls to mind the weighty importance of irrigation water to these High Plains as well as the significance of the Water Institute, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, Texas Water Commission, and others concerned with the conservation of water.

No individual farmer, with or without irrigation, needs to be reminded of what underground water or the lack of it means to him personally, but the magnitude of irrigation on the Plains may not be so well known.

Total acreage under irrigation on the High Plains is something like 4,500,000 acres, including a million and a half each in cotton and grain sorghum, a half million in wheat, over 30,000 in vegetables and sizeable acreages in alfalfa, castors, sugar beets, legumes, permanent pasture and other crops. There are almost 18,000 irrigated farms and about 48,000 irrigation wells on the Plains.

According to W. L. Broadhurst, former Chief Hydrologist for the High Plains Underground Water District, over 45 million acre-feet were pumped from under the water District's area during the 10 year period 1953-62 and it is estimated that another five and a quarter million acre feet were pumped in 1963. The Water District only covers approximately half of the High Plains area, so the total gallonage since 1953 can be estimated at somewhere above the 100,000,000 acre-foot mark, and 1963 pumpings at around 10,000,000 acre feet.

It is neither necessary nor practical to place a dollar value on High Plains irrigation water or to specify what part of total production can be attributed to its availability. Suffice it to say that the mere thought of not having irrigation is enough to send a man shuddering up the spine of most High Plains residents. And yet, it takes no superior intelligence to know that the supply is not inexhaustible.

The "High Plains Irrigation Survey" for 1963, compiled by Area Irrigation Specialist Dave Sherril of Texas Agricultural Extension Service, carried two very revealing line charts depicting the percentage of total area wells producing over 700 gallons of water per minute and the percentage with pumping lifts over 125 feet in each year since 1948. A look at the figures for 1949, 1956, and 1963 will serve our purpose here.

In 1949, 63 percent of area wells produced over 700 gallons per minute and only 48 percent of them were lifting from over 125 feet.

It is no wonder that the big question in the thinking man's mind is: "At the present rate of pumping, how long will the supply of groundwater last?"

Mr. Broadhurst's answer to that question, which is as good an answer as we've come across, follows. "That is merely a theoretical question which can have only a theoretical answer. It is a foregone conclusion that pumpage cannot be continued at the present rate until the entire supply is exhausted. As the water table declines, the saturated section will become thinner and thinner, the yields of individual wells will decrease, and the quantity of water pumped per acre will become less and less. As a result, the water table will decline at a slower rate."

"If we disregard economic factors and think only in terms of physical limitations, it seems logical that large-scale pumpage throughout much of the region, but somewhat less than at present, can be maintained for a half century or so, after which decreased rates of pumping may continue for generations."

Broadhurst went on to say that

Indian Capers talent

MEMBERS OF THE CAST for Indian Capers go through one of the many selections on the program of the musical show. A capacity crowd jammed into County Activities Building Auditorium to view the annual show which is one of the highlights of the school year for students and parents alike. Participating in the show were students from all high school music classes. Guy McLain was director of the production.

"We should have no delusions about the fact that we are depleting our groundwater supply, but the water creates wealth only when it is pumped to the surface and put to beneficial use."

Studies of recharge wells in lakes, new cropping systems, rainfall, new plant species and many other factors will enter into the ground-water picture of the future, and every grower with irrigation should take advantage of the latest developments to stretch available water as far into the future as possible.

Plant discussion topic of talk by Mrs. Spotts

A discussion of shrubs and plants indigenous to this area was given by Mrs. Hessie B. Spotts at a meeting Monday night of Cochran County Garden Club. Mrs. Spotts pointed out the necessity of choosing plants adaptable to soil-alkalinity such as is found locally. Plants and shrubs that do well in the area in addition to beautifying the landscape and bringing pleasure mentioned by the speaker included: Forsythia, which was described by Mrs. Spotts as "Elegant, grows well with hardy any care, is an early and prolific bloomer. Forsythia should be pruned back in the spring after it has ceased blooming, the bush will then soon produce new foliage, providing an attractive and cool looking plant throughout the hot summer months." Other plants recommended by Mrs. Spotts for cultivation in Morton and environs were: Wisteria, Redbud, Pussy Willow, Russian Olive, Crab Apple, Pyracantha, Bridal Wreath, Althea, Lilac, Crape Myrtle, Purple Leaf Plum, Nandina, Snowball and Smoke Tree.

Installation will be held at a dinner meeting May 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. B. McSpadden, it was announced.

Mrs. Charles Jones hosted Monday night's meeting and served refreshments to Mesdames H. A. Barnes, Gene Cade, Murray Crone, Roy Hill, J. T. Holloman, Cherylyne Inglis, J. J. Jenkins, W. B. Farmers to give demonstrations

There are 5 farmers in Cochran County who will be conducting grain sorghum variety demonstrations in 1964. The names of all the varieties each will be planting have not been determined, but this information will be given at a later report. None of the grain sorghum has been planted to date, because no rain has been received of any significance in the past 8 months. It is hoped that planting moisture will be received in the form of rain soon. Most all farmers want to plant early enough to get ahead of the sorghum. The five farmers who are conducting grain sorghum variety demonstrations are E. C. Hale, Jessie Clayton, Pete Lamb, Tommy Lyons and Ken Coffman. Mrs. B. A. Fuller of Denham visited last Wednesday through Saturday here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Hickman and her husband.

Legislature makes new worthless check law

The 58th Texas Legislature passed H. B. No. 457 dealing with the use of worthless checks to defraud. It has practical aspects for both the collection of such checks and the prosecution of offenders that were not available before.

It makes it unlawful for any person or firm to make, draw or deliver a check with intent to defraud, knowing that the maker does not have sufficient funds on deposit to cover its payment. It is no longer required that the check be given in exchange for property in order to subject the maker or drawer to punishment.

The new Act, similar to the old law, provides that the refusal of payment by the bank shall be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud and of knowledge of insufficient funds. "provided such maker... shall not have paid the holder thereof the amount due thereon within ten (10) days after giving of such notice that such check... has not been paid..."

New notice provisions state that notice shall be given in writing sent by registered or certified mail or telegram to the place listed on the check.

Penalties are provided which increase with each offense and depend upon the size of the check. First conviction on a check under $50 shall be punishment in the county jail for not to exceed two years and by fine not to exceed $1,000.

If the check is over $50 the penalty can be fixed at confinement in the penitentiary for not less than two years nor more than ten years.

Mesquite bean soon may be of food importance

COLLEGE STATION, April — The much-maligned mesquite bean might enjoy some semblance of culinary glamour in the near future.

As most Texans know, the mesquite tree and its bean pods are not always welcome in cattle country. The beans are eaten and scattered by livestock and wildlife, causing widespread infestation of pastures with new brush and trees.

Stockmen have for many years been trying to eradicate, or at least control the pest. Success of these campaigns has varied.

Ross LaGrange of Rio Grande City, senior horticulture major at Texas A&M University, figures that maybe man should learn to live with mesquite. As long as the plant persists so vigorously, it should be utilized.

LaGrange is working on a system of making mesquite bean jelly in his advanced fruit and vegetable processing course. The class, headed by Dr. E. E. Burns, has already come up with such novelties as prickly pear jelly and cantaloupe sherbet. Another project underway is the making of perfume from peach flowers.

Right now, LaGrange's research is a near-standstill because mesquite trees haven't put on any beans this early in the season. But once he does get a supply in the green pod stage, he will boil them down to extract flavor, sugar and pectin. The extract is then concentrated to the desired jelly thickness.

Burns said the final color is amber. The beans are high in pectin content, a jelling agent.

Actually, mesquite beans are nothing new on human menus. Burns pointed out, Indians ate them regularly. And pioneer women learned to make jelly from the pods in the early days when getting and keeping food supplies was often a problem.

Agriculture now widely diversified

COLLEGE STATION, April — How times have changed! Not too long ago, when you thought of the agricultural industry, you thought of the farmer. Kenneth Wolf, Extension economist - agribusiness, points out that today, the agricultural industry is a network of interdependence. In fact, of each 10 Texans employed, four are in agriculture; but three of the four are off the farm.

On one side of the farmer and rancher, Wolf explains, are such businesses as chemical, farm equipment, fertilizer, financial utility and many others. Each year, in Texas, they supply agricultural producers with $1.8 billion worth of things needed to grow the products. The products grown are then sold for about $2.4 billion.

On the other side of the farmer and rancher, he adds, are those businesses engaged in marketing the product. A few of these are storage warehouses, textile plants, railroads and trucking lines, packing plants, wholesale grocers and supermarkets. These off-farm businesses add about $3.9 billion to the value of the products raised by the farmers and ranchers.

This changing picture of agriculture has resulted in changes not thought possible 30 years ago. In 1930, for example, one farm worker produced enough to feed 10 people. Today he produces enough to feed 28. The average wage earner had to work 60 hours 15 years ago to buy a month's food supply for his family. Today it takes him 38 hours, Wolf says.

Business management in our present agricultural industry has played a major role in making the industry so efficient, believes the economist.

MOTHER

It is so important that a child feel secure and loved the first weeks and months of its life. Our foremost authorities say that if a child's spiritual and emotional welfare is neglected in the early weeks of life, there is a great chance of permanent damage to its personality growth.

Therefore, on this day, we honor not only the beloved mothers of our adults and youth, but the very young mother who has both the tremendous responsibility and the precious opportunity to mold the life and character of the very young child. May she seek early God's help, who in the person of the Son, said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Tourism to help Texas economy

Booming park business, linked as it is with tourism, is having a mighty impact on the Texas economy. J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, told a Federation of Women's Club meeting.

"Parks are a great factor in the populace's popular trend to keep in motion," he said. "We are providing places for them to stay, for them to play, for them to visit the state's many historic shrines."

"Now that a Texan is President of the United States, our parks are becoming even more popular. Many of the inquiries from outside Texas want to know how close such and such park is to Johnson City."

Watson described 1964 gains in reducing the gap "between what we have and what we need."

"We have had this past winter a crash program going costing $2,958,610, involving repairs to the old parks and creating three new major park installations," he said. "As the average Texan knows this is good business because every dollar invested in parks is paid back manifold. Frankly, we are one of the few, if not the only state agency, that can claim that distinctive status."

Watson said great emphasis necessarily has to be placed on providing meager facilities. This year alone, he explained, work already accomplished involves fourteen modern shower-restroom combinations, 91 screened shelters, 800 concrete picnic tables, 1,100 grill cookers, 600 garbage units, 110 portable picnic tables, 67 trailer camping sites, 13 miles of water lines, eight miles of underground electric lines and six miles of paved roads.

These improvements, he said, primarily affect Garner State Park, Inks Lake State Park, Huntsville State Park, Lake Corpus Christi State Park and Fort Parker State Park.

Three major projects involving $1,241,965 in new construction, are occupying principal parks attention, Watson explained. They are at Falcon State Park, Lake Whitney State Park and Dam "B" State Park, where groundbreaking ceremonies have just been held.

Combined, these operations involve construction of the usual headquarters and concession facilities plus 13 modern shower-restroom units, 110 screened shelters, 140 trailer camping sites, 500 concrete picnic tables, 800 grill cookers, 400 garbage units, 110 portable picnic tables, 17 miles of water lines, 2 miles of paved roads, and nine miles of underground electric lines.

Watson explained the problem of keeping ahead of the demand. "We enlarged and improved Huntsville State Park, and now it's already running full to capacity on weekends," he said. "It will be the same story late next year when we finish improving the 705 acres at Dam 'B' near Jasper."

Letters to the editor

Editor, Morton Tribune
One week ago tonight we were made very sad at the sudden passing of our brother-in-law, Robert E. Merrell, of Clovis, New Mexico. He and my sister, Mrs. Merrell, were on their way to San Antonio, Texas for a ten day vacation. They stopped in Morton to have a cup of coffee at a cafe there and while sitting at the counter enjoying his coffee, he expired without ever knowing anything. So far as was known, he was in good health.

My sister was immediately surrounded by fine people who were in the cafe at the time of the tragedy. The waitress, I do not know her name, was very quick to call me long distance and tell me of the trouble. I asked that they do all possible for them. This they did such as: administer artificial respiration, mouth to mouth breathing, calling the doctor and ambulance.

My wife and I left immediately for Morton. Upon arrival we called at the hospital for instructions. We learned that some fine people by the name of Mr. and Mrs. George Boring had assisted Mrs. Merrell at the cafe and had gone to the hospital with them. When the doctor pronounced Mr. Merrell dead they took her home with them to await the arrival of her family.

The Borings did many things for us which I could never mention all of them, but to mention a few would show the kind of people who live in your town. They called the pastor of the Baptist Church, and a fine and devout person he is, they sent their small children to a babysitter to make for quiet comfort, she prepared hot stimulating coffee and good sandwiches. We found their home warm and welcome. Mr. Boring placed telephone calls for my sister. They sat with us until the ambulance arrived to return the remains to Clovis. We have never known people to open their hearts and homes in such a wonderful way as did these strangers.

We do not know the names of all the fine people who did so much for us, but to be sure because of them my perspective of Morton has changed considerably. For 30 years I have passed through very often and only slowed down, but from now on I shall always look right and left and know that because of the wonderful people we learned about that sad night there is a town with a real pulse for good living and understanding.

We wish that we might mention the names of those who helped, but we only met Mr. and Mrs. Boring and the minister, whose name has left me.

I would appreciate it very much if you would print this in your paper, expressing to your town and community appreciation for kindness shown us. We were truly a family with broken hearts in grief of our loss.

My wife and sister join me in this real feeling of warmth for Morton, Texas.

Our sincere regards,
Grady Beard
Mrs. R. E. Merrell

IT NEVER FAILS

VIEWS . . . of other editors

There is something akin to the life cycle in the operation of a newspaper line-casting machine. The same metal that was molded to print an obituary, may be melted, like dust in the earth's crucible, and recast to announce a birth.

Matador Tribune
Over in Russia the government newspaper Izvestia complains that Soviet advertising is boring and cites such examples as "Tea is a tasty and useful drink" and "Use the railway transport". When you get to thinking about it that is not very alluring advertising appeals. It may take a hundred years, but those people will have to turn capitalistic if they ever produce enough food and fiber or move merchandise.

Wellington Leader
The reports of President Johnson's speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce have it that he had the audience laughing half the time and applauding the other half. It was obvious that the business men enjoyed the President's performance, but Mr. Johnson had some objectives more serious than entertainment.

His war against poverty, he said was something in which they had a bigger stake than did any other group. He chided the business men for feeling sorry for themselves and then produced some profit figures. Then he built them up for his appeal for an effort to keep prices down. He told them he would make the same appeal to labor about wage demands.

Later in the day he talked to a meeting of labor editors to ask for support in the war on poverty. There he heard questions about raising the minimum wage. The President thought it might have to be raised, but not right now. There are many people, he said, who have no wages at all.

Mr. Johnson has an expression with popular appeal in the "war on poverty." He can be assured that everybody is against poverty. He can be assured of solid support of the nation's voters in combating poverty — until the war gets far enough along to get away from a general expression and into details.

Business, labor and the President can even talk about holding the line on prices and wages. But some businesses are going to find that expenses have increased, profits have fallen off, and an increase in prices is overdue and justified. Some labor groups are going to contend that they have refrained from asking raises long enough while their cost of living has increased and a demand for higher wages is justified. President Johnson told the chamber that:

"Some of the top and most valuable men to me are out in my office now wanting to see me because they are borrowing money and can't stand it any longer and want to go home, and I won't see them. I won't take their resignations."

He was urging support of a move to raise the pay of federal officials. This, it also is contended, is justified. Possibly it is. So may be a lot of other requests.

The war on poverty can raise applause in all parts of the country and in all elements of society. But the arguments will warm up when it comes to deciding on the methods of carrying on the war.

Tarzan is Outlawed

Latest target for the anti-discrimination forces is our old childhood hero, Tarzan of the Apes, who is now in disfavor because the Negro people feel that it is not fair that one white man is always stronger, faster and smarter than any number of blacks.

The re-run of the old Tarzan movies, where Tarzan not only outsmarts the apes, but generally subdues a swarm of howling black savages, must be stopped, according to the current Negro spokesmen.

This creates a poor image of the black man and hampers the current fight for full social equality in this country.

Much preferred would be television series with Africans in their exotic robes discussing literature like Oxford dons in their common rooms.

It is pity that old Tarzan has become a symbol of white supremacy. His creator, Edgar Rice Burroughs, dreamed up Tarzan in a time when things were more simple and when an African savage was a savage and that was that.

Our own recollection of reading the volumes of Tarzan books is that Tarzan is no more to be censured for white supremacy than are characters in Zane Grey's Western heroes outfit and outfit the red savages, American Indians, in this country.

All of it is fiction and should be considered as such. It's getting to be a pretty touchy country when an established figure of African and American folklore, Tarzan of the Apes, is forced to either retire or put on blackface—all in the name of social equality.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a change in the recently enacted '64 voluntary wheat program. The change provides that wheat produced on any farm on which the 1964 wheat acreage is within the farm allotment will be eligible for price support loan or purchase based on the national average of $1.30 per bushel. Eligibility for price support only will be determined on the basis of the wheat acreage on each individual farm and not as previously announced.

Highlights & Sidelights —

Governor in new quarters

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally has moved into the plushiest quarters ever occupied by any of this state's governors.

Last week workmen put finishing touches to the first overall remodeling of the offices in 76 years. Until now Texas governors have been tending to state business in cramped and poorly arranged offices.

Construction has been under way since last January. Capitol visitors once again are welcome all day in the mirrored and flag-draped gubernatorial reception room.

The governor occupies a large, gold-carpeted, crystal-chandelier-hung office. He also has an adjoining conference room, small kitchen unit and shower cabinet.

Gold carpeting runs throughout the second floor suite. Modern ceilings, lighting and air conditioning have been installed, and the fine old woodwork sanded and refinished to its original state.

Redecoration of the governor's downstairs offices will not be complete for 30 days. Meanwhile, part of his staff will continue to occupy temporary quarters on the Capitol's first floor.

APPOINTMENTS — Mrs. Richard M. Kleberg Jr., of Kingsville and Dr. Hesiquio Rodriguez of Harlingen were named by Governor Connally to six-year terms on the Texas A & I College board of directors. Connally re-appointed John F. Lynch of Houston to a new term on the board.

Mrs. Kleberg and Dr. Rodriguez succeeded J. H. West of Bishop and the late O. E. Van Berg of Mercedes.

SCREWORM ERADICATION—The financial fate of the Southwest screwworm eradication program should be apparent by May 8. That's when the appropriation bill embracing eradication plans is supposed to come out of the agricultural subcommittee of the U. S. House appropriations committee.

Pierce Johnson of Austin, attorney for the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, says the bill was written to provide $2,750,000 in federal funds, to be matched by local funds. But SWAHRF officials have asked Congress to put up all $5,500,000, since the screwworm has been eradicated in Texas, and maintenance of a barrier to prevent migration of screwworm flies from Mexico is an international program.

SOIL CONSERVATION — Planning costs for watersheds on Upper Bosque River, Hondo Creek and Donahoe Creek cost the Texas State Soil Conservation Board $134,938, according to State Auditor C. H. Cavness' report on the past two fiscal years.

Cavness said the Board spent a total of $552,930 on its continuing efforts to conserve state soil resources and reduce effects of flooding in small watersheds.

Legislative appropriations of $572,579 were provided during fiscal 1962 and 1963. Biggest outlay was $215,001 for almost 200 soil conservation districts which the board administers around the state.

MOSQUITO ERADICATION — First allotment of federal funds—$174,198—in a five year, $750,000 program aimed at wiping out the mosquito in Texas was received by State Budget Director Bill Cobb.

Texas State Department of Health will administer the program. The federal government, co-sponsor of a Pan American Health Organization agreement to stamp out yellow-fever-carrying mosquitoes, is underwriting the plan in a nine-state area, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Mosquito abatement and education teams now are being organized for assignment in key areas of Texas. Dr. James L. Goardard of the U. S. Public Health Service said the mosquito must be eliminated from the U. S. to prevent its spreading to other western hemisphere nations.

BUILDING BOOM SLACKS — Despite a spring boom in apartment building, issuance of building permits in Texas in March dropped 8 per cent from March, 1963.

UT Bureau of Business Research thinks a slump in non-residential construction accounted for the overall drop.

TOURISM EXPANDING — Two Texas officials predicted tourism in the state is going to start booming.

Governor Connally said tourism will become the "fastest-growing Texas industry." He called the state's new advertising program "one of our soundest investments in the economic and recreational future" of the state.

J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said the fact that a Texan is President makes Texas more popular with visitors. Many of them want to know "how close such and such a park is to Johnson City," said Watson. He sees tourism and park use as having a "mighty impact" on the Texas economy.

BANKING - LOAN HEARINGS — State Banking Board will hear application on May 13 for charters of Peoples State Bank of Marshall; Southwest State Bank of Brownwood; and Expressway Bank and Trust of Dallas. Action is due at that time on applications of Texas State Bank of Abilene and Royal Bank and Trust Company of Dallas.

LIFE IN THE ROAR by KANE

Savings and Loan Commissioner James O. Gerst set a June 17 hearing on the application for Trinity Valley Savings and Loan Association at Madisonville. Proposed directors are from Midway, Normangee, North Zulch and Buffalo, as well as Madisonville.

TOO SLOW FOR PENSION — Some long-time Harlingen firemen who recently decided they want to participate in the Firemen's pension plan waited too long, according to Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

Carr ruled that the 1957 Firemen's Relief and Pension Fund Act provides that a fireman forfeits his right to participate if he failed to enroll, and the 1963 firemen's pension law covering full-time firemen in part-volunteer departments embodies the same terms.

GOLIAD MEMORIAL PLANNED — Governor Connally named a Texas Committee to work with a Mexican group on plans and financing for a suitable memorial at Goliad to Gen. Ignacio Zaragoza. The general's victory over French forces on May 5, 1862, is celebrated throughout Mexico. General Zaragoza was born in Goliad.

The Texas Legislature in 1961 accepted the birthplace of Zaragoza as a state park historical site but provided no funds for developing it.

Good Neighbor Commission Director Glenn Garret heads the Texas planning group. Other members are Parks and Wildlife Director J. Weldon Watson; Tourist Development Agency Director Frank Hildebrand; and Historical Survey Committee Director George Hill.

COURTS SPEAK — Supreme Court in a 7-2 decision refused to direct the military servicemen who enlist out of state be permitted to vote in Texas.

The majority held servicemen have no "federally-protected right" to vote where they are stationed. El Paso-based Sgt. Herbert N. Carrington, who enlisted in Alabama, brought the suit, challenging a state constitutional provision which limits servicemen stationed in Texas to voting in the county where they resided when they entered the service.

In a dissenting opinion, Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert and Associate Justice Clyde E. Smith said the ruling denies some servicemen the right to vote in all elections. They further contended the state constitution violates the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Same issue is soon to be tried in federal court at San Antonio where two other servicemen have filed suit.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld district court ruling against an AFL-CIO suit charging Texas Employment Commission with "pro-employer lobbying." Court's new opinion said TEC members have a duty to advocate needed changes in unemployment compensation laws. Court also held former Commissioner J. J. Pickle (now congressman) acted within his authority in recommending amendments.

Supreme Court agreed with lower courts which nullified incorporation of Mayhill near Denton.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for ex-Railroad Commission engineer L. D. Murphy. He had been sentenced to two years on a charge of conspiracy to bribe a fellow worker to make a false report on a glant-ed oil well.

Glancing back in Tribune files

One Year Ago
Morton's ambitious efforts to provide the community with good spring cleaning got underway this week with a skeleton crew of civic-minded workers engaged in rigorous chores of cleaning up vacant lots around the area.

The wooden nickels that were to serve as the bonus tokens in the city wide retail promotion of the CBD have arrived and will be distributed to the participating merchants in the near future, with the initial "wooden nickel" day set for June 20 and others to follow on the third Thursday of each month throughout the summer.

The Morton School Board, given the green light on $550,000 school improvements program, indicates that plans to have remodeling of the elementary building shortly after the first of June have been made.

Crop prospects in Cochran County are regarded as better than last year at this time, even though that perennial parole of not enough rain is again plaguing area farmers.

A 230 foot deep well that will produce upwards of 800 gallons of water per minute will be available to homeowners at Abilene by June 1, according to Otis Purdy, a member of the Bledsoe Water Supply Corporation.

Five Years Ago
The Morton City Council had rather stormy and heated meeting this week as two of the members of the City Commission, in a prepared statement read by the City Secretary exhibited their displeasure at the special election called the week before by Mayor Roy Tarver, Jr., and a group of people also discussed the situation at length.

Treasurer Jesse James reported . . . State Securities Commissioner William King warned licensed securities dealers they may not handle secondary sales of stock of the Southwest Cattleman's Investment Co. of San Antonio . . . UT Bureau of Business Research statisticians predicted the federal income tax cut may lead to relief for citizens suffering from too much debt in their water systems, since manufacturers plan to put reusable gradable detergents . . . State Board of Education will appoint the 1964 State Textbook Selection Committee this week . . . State Hospital Board at a May 11 meeting will take up a progress report on an application for a $200,000 grant for planning in the mental retardation field and review budget requests of state institutions.

State Highway Department took low bids on $36,900,000 worth of projects . . . State Health Department warned Texans to protect themselves against tetanus reported dangerous spores are found most everywhere — in soil, food and animal droppings, particularly in manured soil . . . Water Commission members approved the application of Merrill Community of Floresville to build a 572-acre foot reservoir on its ranch for coastal Bermuda irrigation . . . Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon was named chairman of the Texas Olympics Committee state advisory council for the petroleum and transportation industries, which seeks to help finance American participation in Olympic games at Tokyo . . . County auditor, clerks, treasurers and other county officials dealing with financial will attend a training course here on May 14-15 . . .

Piano recital slated for Monday

The program, and a first recital in the area, will be held Monday night, May 11, in the County Activities Center. A recital with the theme "Pianos," will be given by two pianos from 8 to 10 p.m. The use of two pianos is a new and unusual feature in the performance. The program is universal in appeal and one of the most appealing means of educating young people. Not only that, but it is also most appealing to the young. Ensemble playing is the perfection in rhythm of texts.

Legin and Julie Brown in "Airplanes" by Montgomery. "Six Little Kittens," a nursery rhyme, a sing and play number by Sandy Hill, Treva Lemons, Arlene Crow, Carolyn Gray, Teresia Loran and Renee Anglin.

"Dear, What Can the Matter Be" will be played by Dale Tilger, Jimmy Hunter and Phil Barker at one piano and Mary Cadenhead, Cindy Tanner and Mikella Windom at the other.

J. Wayne McDermott, Sue Srygley, J. L. Hutcheson and Rickey Lemons will play "Little Drummer Boy".

A special arrangement by Sehaum for two pianos of "Mexican Hat Dance" will be played by Vicky Goodman, Terry Shifflett, Glorietta Gray and Marie Davidson.

"A Medley of American Tunes" by McGregor will feature Sheri Cadenhead, Vicki Shifflett, Rebecca Greene, Trezell Hill, Kay Armistead and Rita Kaye Bedwell.

Doug Corey, Ronnie Windom and Edith Davidson will play "The National Anthem" as arranged for two pianos by Smith.

"Military Parade" by Bilbro will be played by Susan Blackley and Sam Feagley.

Rheda Jane Brown and Lanita Anglin will be heard in a concert arrangement for two pianos by Kasschau of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

High point of the program will be the presentation of a famous selection by Milhaud of his exceptional composition written only for duo-pianists, the third movement of "Scaramouch" called "Brazillera," played by Diane Fields and Susan Birdson.

At the close Mrs. McCarty will give recognition and awards for special accomplishments for this year's work; three theory awards, several best musicianship awards and the pins won by the students in the 1964 National Piano Audition. The public is invited to attend the recital.

Tom Standefer suffers broken hip when thrown by his horse Monday

Tom Standefer, rancher and former Cochran County Sheriff, suffered a broken hip when thrown from a horse Monday morning.

Standefer was on his way home to lunch after an inspection of pastures and cattle when the horse he was riding shied and pitched. Standefer told friends he did not know why the horse pitched but theorized that he stepped on a snake.

Mrs. Standefer became uneasy when her husband did not come in for lunch and sent a ranch hand to look for him. Standefer was found lying about a quarter of a mile from a well traveled highway but behind a slight rise which vented his being seen.

The ranch hand used the phone at the M. W. Standefer Jr., house, about a mile from the scene of the accident, to get help, which was approximately an hour in arriving. Standefer lain in the sun for five hours before being found. The man was standing by his side when there all the time was to the injured man.

Standefer was taken to Plains Hospital, where he was performed Tuesday morning. His condition is good according to reports.

Mrs. Elwood Harris, the former Tommye McAlister, was born in Brownwood, moving with her family at the age of one to Alabama. She was 13 when they left Alabama.

Tommye attended school in Montgomery, Ala., and is a graduate of Lubbock High School. She attended Texas Tech for two years.

During the war years she taught school in Morton.

Presently Mrs. Harris is secretary to D. E. Benham, president of the First State Bank. Before accepting this position she was employed six years as office clerk for Farmers Home Administration.

Tommye is outgoing president of L'Allegro Study Club. She says she thoroughly enjoys club work, all of its projects, activities, and especially the association with such a fine cooperative group of young women.

Somewhat incongruous with her southern beauty appearance is the fact that she "loves" fishing and says, "I can sit on a river bank all day and fish." However she seldom has the opportunity of indulging in this recreation.

The Harris' are members of the First Baptist Church and the Morton Country Club.

She has bowled on the Morton Insurance Team for four years. Tommye also is very fond of gardening and puts in as much time as possible in the yard of their new home at 502 East Hayes Avenue.

In addition to membership in L'Allegro, Mrs. Harris is president of Friends of the Library and will be a member the new fiscal year of City Federation Council.

Other members of the family include their children, Terry Hans, a junior at Texas Tech and Patsy a Morton High School junior.

Tommye is one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McAlister. Her brother Bill, his wife and their three children live in Austin where he is an athletic coach in the Austin school system. Their sister, June (Mrs. Joe Bob Nunley) her husband and three sons live in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Huebel of Lubbock were weekend guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Winder.

The BIG Inch

The ruled box above is a one-inch ad. It measures one column wide by one inch deep.

It costs advertisers 80c.

It looks kinda lonesome by itself.

But look at it this way.

What you get when you buy a one-inch ad in the Morton Tribune is not just a single inch of space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by 2,055 copies.

So you're really buying 2,055 inches, which at 164 inches a page would be some 12 pages of printed newsprint.

That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of only 80c. And that price includes delivery to the reader. Just imagine the cost of reaching all those Tribune families by post card. It would amount to more than $82 just for the postage. But the Tribune does it for a measly 80c per insertion.

So you can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in The Tribune. And the figures show that it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people in this area know that you have wares and services that they could use.

Just call 266-2361 and let a Tribune representative show you how a little BIG inch can wake-up sales for you.

WCS Meeting

Four ladies from the Three Way Methodist Church attended a District Women's Society of Christian Service meeting at Wesley Methodist Church in Levelland April 30. A feature of the morning program was a "style show", during which the presidents of each local society modeled a "hat" demonstrating some of the outstanding work of that society during the past year. One hat was a model church, which advertised the painting of the church interior by the ladies. One hat was covered with baby dolls, signifying a church nursery for the young mothers. The Three Way "hat" had on it a cardboard model of a nativity scene.

to represent the large outdoor scene on the church lawn last Christmas.

Outstanding speaker for the meeting included Miss Joyce Hill, missionary to Argentina; and Barbara Sommerville, deaconess and director of the Latin-American center in Lubbock, which ministers to 650 people. Ladies attending from Three Way included Mrs. Rayford Masten (who wore the "hat"), Mrs. R. L. Reeves, Mrs. H. W. Garvin, and Rev. Ruth Cooper.
