Runoff election pits candidates

Cochran County voters ballot on three offices

Cochran County voters trek to the polls for the second time in a little over a month to cast their ballots in the second Democratic primary which will decide runoff races and name the party's nominees for the November general elections.

Three decisions face county voters as they select the Commissioner for Precinct One between Leonard Coleman and E. G. Gardner, state representative for the 90th District between Howard Ragland and Jesse George and a Congressman-at-Large from Joe Pool and Robert Baker.

It is generally expected that only a modest turnout of voters will come out to cast their ballots.

The race for Commissioner of Precinct One will be of high interest to local residents. This contest will pit incumbent office holder Leonard Coleman against E. G. Gardner. In first primary balloting Coleman led the ticket of four candidates with a total of 392 votes. Gardner ran second with a 338 vote count thus giving Coleman a bulge of 54 votes in the first balloting.

In the contest for state representative of the 90th District comprised of Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties Howard Ragland, Levelland, is opposed in the runoff by Jesse George, Brownfield. Ragland carried Cochran County in the first primary with a total of 608 votes. George ran third with 278 ballots behind A. B. Carpenter of Plains who polled 384 ballots. Ragland was the overall leader when the final results were in from the four county area.

Joe Pool and Robert Baker vie in the runoff contest to decide the Democrats' nominee for Congressman-at-Large. Pool of Dallas is the current holder of the Washington position. Baker of Houston made a runoff on the basis of his statewide showing despite only polling a total of 92 votes in Cochran County's first primary. In the Whiteface is proving to be the better team of the Frontier Babe Ruth teams in the beginning games. The Whiteface team slammed the Morton Indians 27-4 and took the lead of the Morton Tigers 15-

8 in another game. In other action the Morton Indians won out over the Sundown team by the lopsided score of 17-4. In the Cardinals - Indians encounter Whiteface jumped off to the polls for the second time in a little over a month to cast their ballots in the second Democratic primary which will decide runoff races and name the party's nominees for the November general elections.

Then Whiteface pushed across six runs in the top of the second by combining three hits, including a double by Summerlin, and several Indian errors. Morton was held scoreless in their half of the inning.

Whiteface then unlimbered their heavy timber to send 13 runs across in the third inning. The scoring went like this: L. Alaniz, A. Alaniz and Summerlin scored on Stegall's two bagger. McCoy scored on a hit by Howard. Kitchens smacked a base hit to score Howard and Sweeney. Kitchens crossed home plate on an error. Taylor and A. Alaniz were pushed across by L. Alaniz. McCoy batted in L. Alaniz with a single. Stegall, McCoy and Howard finished the scoring for the inning coming across on two hits and an Indian error. When the dust finally settled the Cardinals had a commanding 21-2 lead over the Indians.

Cardinals scored six more runs in the fourth inning to complete their scoring for the game. In the fifth inning the Indians pushed across two more runs as Legan and Hoover scored on passed balls.

Time was called on the contest with the score Cardinals 27 - Indians 4.

In the Cardinals - Tigers contest Whiteface jumped off to a 5-0 first inning lead. Summerlin scored first on a base hit by McCoy. L. Alaniz came in on a bases loaded walk as did Stegall. Seward doubled to push McCoy and Howard across to score. Kitchens wound up scoring for the inning

Focus on milk produce during month of June

June is Dairy Month, the time when we stop to remember that milk isn't meant just for babies, but as one of nature's most perfect foods, containing more than 200 nutrients, is a vital part of the entire family's diet.

This month the Texas Department of Agriculture will make extra efforts along with the National Dairy Council to focus the spotlight of attention on the health giving benefits of all milk products.

Approximately one million families are financially involved in the dairy business from the farm through processing and distribution.

Dairy foods supply over three-fourths of the nation's calcium requirements. One glass of milk, for instance, supplies the same quantity of calcium as 19 eggs, or 7 oranges, or 7 pounds of potatoes or 2 pounds of carrots. In fact, limitations in the capacity of the stomach make it virtually impossible for the human body to receive the recommended quantity of calcium unless dairy foods are regularly included in the diet.

Over a fourth of the nation's protein needs are furnished by dairy food. Protein is required for growth and repair of body tissue. Scientists have estimated that every seven years — throughout life — each body cell is replaced. Thus the human body never does outgrow its need for milk.

In 1962 the average person consumed 17.9 pounds of ice cream, 9.2 pounds of cheese and 7.2 pounds of butter. This average person consumes 1.61 pounds of milk daily.

Boys drink more milk than girls, regardless of the age group. Girls under 12 years of age, however, drink more whole milk than girls 12 years and over. Boys maintain about the same rate of whole milk consumption.

Ice cream making dated back to about the first century A.D., when Nero sent slaves to the mountain tops for the required snow and ice. Commercial production dates back to 1851 in Baltimore by the hand-cranked freezer invented in 1846 by a woman, Nancy Johnson.

Butter has been churned for thousands of years as a homemade product. The first butter creamery established in the United States began operation in 1878 at Goshen, New York. From this inauspicious beginning, the butter industry spread across the nation to become a vital part of dairying.

Dairying is the greatest single source of farm income in the nation. About 20 cents of each dollar of cash receipts from farm products comes from dairying. In other words, one-fifth of the nation's agricultural income is from dairying.

Miss Suzy Hawkins arrived home last weekend from Pasadena, where she has been teaching school. She is the daughter of Mrs. Scott Hawkins and the late Mr. Hawkins.

THEY FOUGHT FACE TO FACE...OR SIDE BY SIDE! M-G-M presents RANDOLPH SCOTT and JOEL McCREA RIDE THE HIGH COUNTRY

WARNING!

THE BOLL WEEVIL IS HERE!

A SERIOUS PROBLEM:

- BOLL WEEVILS, virtually unknown on the High Plains in 1960, have made their move. In 1963 they caused from 10 to 90 percent damage to 150,000 acres of cotton in seven of the 23 High Plains counties.
- BOLL WEEVILS have proven their ability to live through the winter above the Coprock. They did survive the winter of 1963-64.
- BOLL WEEVIL control in infested areas of the cotton belt costs from 5 to 6 cents per pound, or $25 to $50 per acre.
- BOLL WEEVILS, where they are established, cause average yield losses of 13 percent despite control efforts.
- BOLL WEEVILS have practically stopped cotton production in some areas.
- BOLL WEEVILS threaten THE ENTIRE HIGH PLAINS. THEY MUST BE STOPPED!!!

A PRACTICAL SOLUTION:

- DIAPAUSE CONTROL, according to the most eminent authorities in the U. S. CAN PROTECT THE HIGH PLAINS from the boll weevil.
- DIAPAUSE CONTROL has been proven effective in commercial operations at the Texas Prison Farm and in the Presidio area of Texas.
- DIAPAUSE CONTROL kills weevils in the Fall of the year when they are "Diapausing", or preparing for hibernation. A dead weevil can't hibernate through the winter and come out biting and scratching in the Spring.
- DIAPAUSE CONTROL is cheaper than in-season control, the need for which will be greatly reduced after 1964.
- DIAPAUSE CONTROL does not kill beneficial insects.
- DIAPAUSE CONTROL, carried out over ALL infested acreage back to the range land to the East, can reduce the weevil problem to a small patrolling operation in just a few years.

A comprehensive plan for getting the boll weevil out of the PCG area . . . and keeping him out . . . is near completion and will be announced soon. Watch for it.

TDE in your insecticide formulation means sure cotton bollworm control

Control the hard-to-kill cotton bollworm with TDE. It works effectively where other insecticides do not. For instance, where cotton bollworm has developed resistance to DDT and other insecticides, you can get sure control with TDE in your insecticide formulation. Hundreds of tests throughout the cotton belt proved time and again TDE really works.

TDE is low in toxicity to warm-blooded animals and is long-lasting. It eliminates frequent re-sprays. There are many cotton formulations containing TDE. Ask your supplier about the TDE formulation most suitable for your crop. And remember—whatever other insecticides you use, make sure they're combined with TDE—it sure kills cotton bollworms.

FHA supervisor to attend regional meet

Arch Fowler, area supervisor for the Farmer's Home Administration located in Muleshoe, will be in Dallas this week for a three day regional meeting of the FHA. Measures proposed by President Johnson to eliminate rural poverty will be discussed.

At the meeting the federal officials will also discuss steps being taken to help young farmers take over the farms of retiring elders, progress made in developing rural community water systems, and the housing assistance given senior citizens in rural areas.

During the past three years under a vastly expanded program the agency has advanced $2 billion for the strengthening of family farms and rural communities.

The $613 million loaned in the first 10 months of fiscal 1964 was nearly 100 percent greater than the amount loaned during fiscal 1960.

Washington officials attending the meeting will include Howard Bertsch, FHA, Administrator, and Division Staff Members.

State leaders of the agency participating in the conference will be FHA state directors and staff members from Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Farmers Home Administration through a network of 1,500 county offices located throughout rural America provides credit assistance in farm and financial management to owners and operators of family farms and aids farmers and rural residents in improving rural housing and other rural community facilities.

The agency's funds supplement the credit provided by other lenders.

State directors and county supervisors of the agency serve as chairman of RAD technical action panels organized to help rural communities develop their local economies.

During the past three decades the Farmers Home Administration and its predecessor agencies have loaned nearly $7.4 billion. Approximately $5.9 billion in principal and interest has been repaid. Interest collections far exceed the amount written off.

Drills are believed to be the first rotary tools invented.

Some boll weevils overwinter

Most recent report on Spring boll weevil emergency from "cages" placed on top of the Caprock last Fall shows that 10 have successfully lived through the winter and emerged this Spring, alive, kicking and presumably hungry for succulent cotton squares.

No further doubt can exist as to the boll weevil's ability to hibernate above the Caprock on the High Plains. This leaves cotton farmers in the area standing toe to toe with the cotton industry's most costly insect.

The report, made to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. by W. L. Owen, Entomologist for the South Plains Research and Extension Center, includes live weevils found in cages through May 25. Five of the pests came out in Garza County, two in Dickens and three in Crosby County. These are three of the seven counties on the Plains suffering economic damage from the weevil in 1963 and are the only three in which cages were installed.

Interesting to note, though not necessarily conclusive according to Owen, is the fact that all emerging weevils were from cages containing weevils collected here on the High Plains. One cage at each of the locations was filled with weevils collected in the College Station area, but none of these have emerged alive to date. This at least gives rise to the possibility that weevils in this area are of a strain better adapted to the cold dry winters on top of the Caprock.

The belief that the weevil problem was strictly one of migration to the eastern fringes of the High Plains from the area below the Caprock where weevil populations have made cotton production increasingly costly and hazardous for the past several years. Now, with what appears to be a newly-found ability to withstand High Plains winters, there is nothing to stop the weevil from engulfing all cotton acreage on the High Plains and even farther west.

Already the boll weevil is a significant factor in the operations of over 95 per cent of all farmers in the cotton belt, and control costs vary from $25 to $50 per acre where the weevil is firmly established. Furthermore, production losses to the pest are estimated at 13 per cent annually in spite of control measures, and cotton quality suffers as well.

Agricultural leaders in the area have worked with Plains Cotton Growers for the past several months on a plan to stop the weevil before these high control costs, production and quality losses become to the High Plains, and the Nation's leading entomologists have recommended a "diapause" control program for the area.

"Diapause" is the name given to a stage in the weevil's life during the Fall of the year when he is preparing himself for winter hibernation, and the program will require from two to four chemical sprayings of all infested cotton during that period. Killing weevils before they have a chance to go into hibernation can be done in the space of a month or six weeks, while in-season control requires sprayings throughout the summer at much greater expense. And too, spraying in the Fall does not kill off beneficial insects so important to keeping down boll worm and other insect problems.

The "diapause" system has been used successfully on the Texas Prison Farm and in the Presidio area of Texas, and entomologists connected with those projects predict that the same principle can be applied here with even greater success. This is due, they say, to the existence of a "natural barrier" to the East consisting of range land on which the weevil has nothing to feed. Consequently, plans call for spraying all infested cotton (possibly 150,000 acres) back to that barrier, and it is believed that in this manner the problem can be reduced in a very few years to one of patrolling small local outbreaks.

To finance diapause control, a plan is near completion whereby all cotton producers in the 23-county High Plains area will be asked to contribute on a per-bale basis through area cotton compresses. In addition, there is hope that matching federal funds can be secured for the program.

Cost of carrying out the diapause control program cannot be set at any definite figure until it is known how many acres will become infested this Summer and early Fall, but the cost is estimated for the first year at somewhere in excess of a million dollars, perhaps as high as two million. Even so, that cost would be a great bargain when compared to control costs of from $25 to $50 per acre over the High Plains' two million acre allotment.

Scientists conduct boll weevil survey

A survey to detect the emergence of overwintered boll weevils on and near the caprock was completed May 29, 1964. Early planted cotton in Lynn, Garza, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, and Briscoe Counties was examined for weevils.

The survey was concentrated in areas above the cap where weevil infestations occurred last year. However, several areas just below the cap were also examined. No weevils were found in early planted cotton above the caprock. An overwintered boll weevil was found on May 27 in Dickens county near the Afton community in a field of April planted cotton. This particular field is approximately three miles below the cap. The first overwinter weevil found in the area in 1963 was found in this same field. Survey teams will continue to check these areas of possible infestations.

The first automatic looms introduced in Holland at the end of the 16th century were limited to narrow ribbon and lace.

Bookmobile completes successful journeys

High Plains Library Bookmobile has completed two trips to each of 44 stops in Bailey, Parmer, Lamb and Cochran Counties and "Business is Booming." After six weeks of operation, there has been a total of 846 borrower's cards issued to readers in the four counties. The summer months are the biggest and the busiest for the Bookmobiles, so it appears that the next three months will be the peak period for the year. Some borrower's cards are issued to individuals, but a great number of the 846 have been issued to families which means that there might be several borrowers checking out books on one card. The bookmobile is leaving book deposits at several school libraries including Whiteface, Bledsoe, Bovina, Spade, Springlake, Threeway, Sudan, and Lazbuddie.

As many as 300 books at left at these school libraries so that the schools might in turn, circulate them to their students. The Bookmobiles will discontinue going to the schools during the summer, but will start again in September.

The Bookmobile is also assisting the Modern Study Club in Friona in a summer reading program. The Study Club has asked for 150 books to circulate to children wishing to take part. Children who qualify for reading certificates will receive them at the end of the summer.

Up to date, the largest number of books have been checked out at Olton, Friona, Earth and Farwell, but there are several other towns close behind them in the number of checkouts.

There have been a total of 3315 books checked out from the Bookmobile after 6 weeks of operation.

H. B. Kings place antiques in rooms of country home

by ann england

The question about homes and basic essentials of a good one is a leading one. Primary requirements are light, air, comfort and a harmonious arrangement of all other elements which lead to a feeling of relaxation and serenity in a room.

These last qualities derive from an interior planned by people who are at home with themselves, and who want surroundings suitable to their way of life and not something pretentious designed for show.

This is noticeably true in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. King located about 7 1/4 miles from Morton on the Muleshoe Highway.

Both Mr. and Mrs. King are avid collectors of antiques, having spent a good bit of their married life rummaging through second hand and antique stores. "Actually," Mrs. King says, "we prefer searching out wanted pieces of furniture or bric-a-brac in second hand stores."

Exterior of the home is worthy mention as it is finished with used brick. Brick from a building in Sudan which housed the first business operated by the Kings, a furniture store. This structure burned in 1960 and the Kings bought the used, burned brick, keeping them until they were ready to build their home.

The house was years in the planning stage; designed for and around the Kings' possessions. It was built practically board for board and nail for nail as they planned. Mr. and Mrs. King did a great deal of the work in the building this home, particularly interior decorating. They did not employ an architect.

At the front entrance, the porch is sided by part of a bannister taken from inside a fine old mansion in Little Rock, Ark., bought as the house was being demolished. King wondered how they would get it to Morton. Mrs. King knew, she made arrangements to have it freighted.

Original Newell Post is used on the bannister; remaining portion of the bannister will be utilized later, either in or outside the home. Shake shingles are used on the roof of the house, which is on a modified old fashioned plan.

Antique glass is used in the front door. The glass, a combination of cut, pressed and art glass came from Philadelphia. The piece was carefully packed, crated and shipped to Morton. The Kings especially enjoy the beautiful colors and light reflections made by the sun through the glass.

The house has an entrance hall, where the East sun is filtered through the antique glass of front door; a parlor and long, open back area which includes kitchen, dining area and sitting or "keeping" room.

Linens in a red floral design on antique white covers the walls of entrance hall. Mrs. King hung the linen (not without difficulty), also made matching window blinds for window bay in parlor.

A cut down mantel piece is used in the hall. Light fixtures are the two lower ornaments from a larger light fixture used in the keeping room.

Interior woodwork is soft finished Ash. Hardware throughout is from the old home in Dalhart of Mrs. King's parents.

Three slender glass insets in the south end with angled beans just above give a cathedral appearance to the parlor, which is carpeted in turkey red, deep pile wool. An antique bellows organ and carved chest from China are featured in this room.

The organ was the first antique acquired by the Kings. "We traded a buggy and horse for it years ago and ironically enough neither of us can play it," Mrs. King related.

Among the King collection of small items are many pieces of fine china and glass. Their pride and joy is an antique silver tea service King brought his wife from France. She also has an extensive collection of antique jewelry both precious and semi-precious brought to her from Europe by her husband.

Mrs. King has a large Chinese incense burner in amber and crystal which will eventually hang over the Chinese chest. It is an ornate and beautiful piece with brass hanging chains.

The chest was brought to Morton from China about the time of World War II by a family who had lived in Asia for many years. It, with a number of other pieces was bought by King's mother, the late Mrs. Cora King, from whom H. B. and Zelma got it.

Guest bedroom at front of house is furnished in the main in antique white, some of the pieces are modern blending well with the old. In this room a dressing area at entrance to bath features a round wash basin set in dressing table counter top.

The keeping room which adjoins the parlor is a long room, combining dining and kitchen area as well as informal and entertaining room.

Comfortable chairs are arranged near a wood burning fireplace. The fireplace, with raised hearth, is constructed of same brick as used on exterior.

Particular weakness of the Kings in collecting runs to clocks and light fixtures. They have stored more of these than they are using in the home.

A clock over the large mantel is from the old Sudan Hotel which was owned and managed for many years by King's uncle.

Collector's items on the mantel include a kerosene lamp, very old, very rare and a very expensive small antique. It has a satin glass bowl, frosted chimney with design, figure on the pewter and brass base is thought to be the German "Goddess of Sleep."

Candles in a pair of squat, heavy railroad candlestick holders are used on opposite end of mantel.

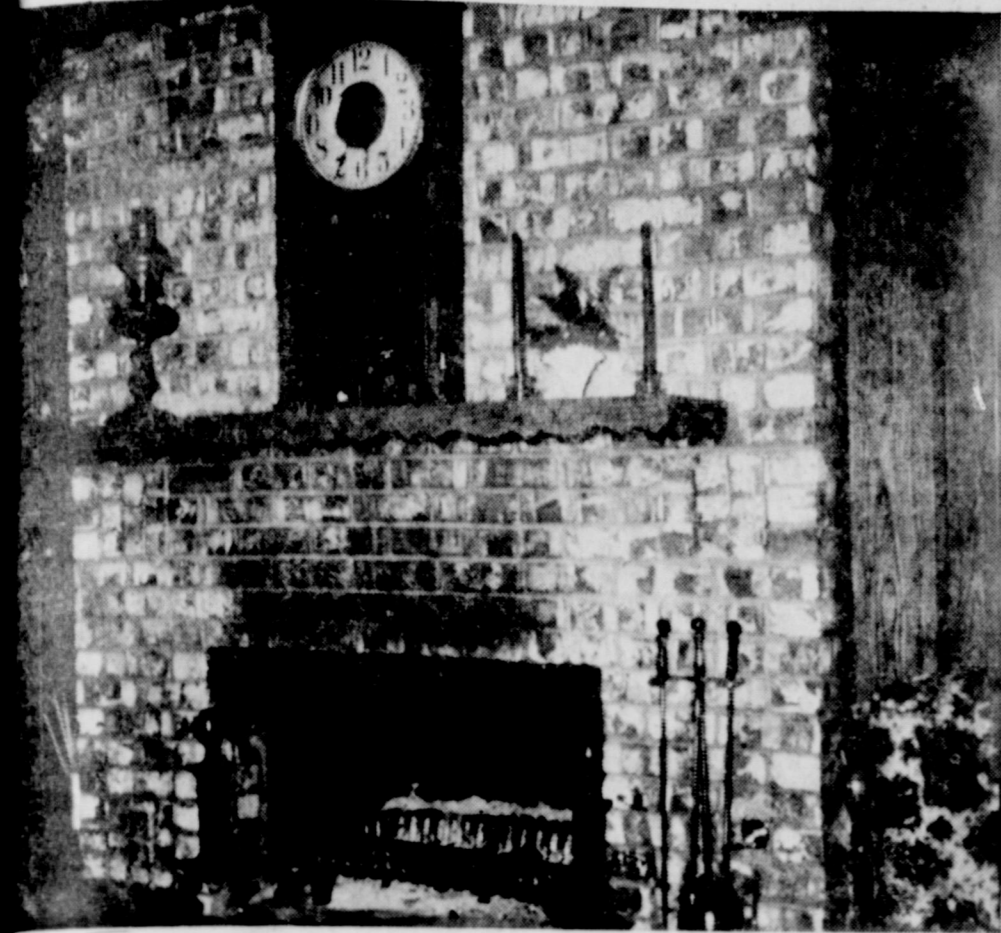

A spool type fireplace screen has a hand painted center panel flanked by smaller ones of variously colored glass squares. The screen and a very fine pressed glass fruit bowl cost the Kings a pretty penny as they had to buy a bunch of junk in order to get the screen. She just happened to find the bowl after buying the lot.

H. B. built the cabinet which houses their collection of records. Both enjoy music, although their tastes are somewhat dissimilar. He prefers Western songs and melodies while she is partial to more melodious tunes, light operas and popular stage and screen musicals.

They have a number of oil paintings for the home, presently unhung because Mrs. King hasn't got around to framing them exactly to her liking. A pair of these will hang in the master bedroom. They were painted by a member of his family. Already framed, Mrs. King is toying with the idea of a frame within a frame for the pair.

A hand painted panel over the couch in keeping room is an antiqued harvest scene, done by a contemporary New Mexico artist within recent years.

A ceiling light fixture near the music cabinet was bought in Oklahoma. This large, unusual fixture is art glass with grape relief design in natural color. The fixture originally hung in a saloon in the frontier town of Bethany.

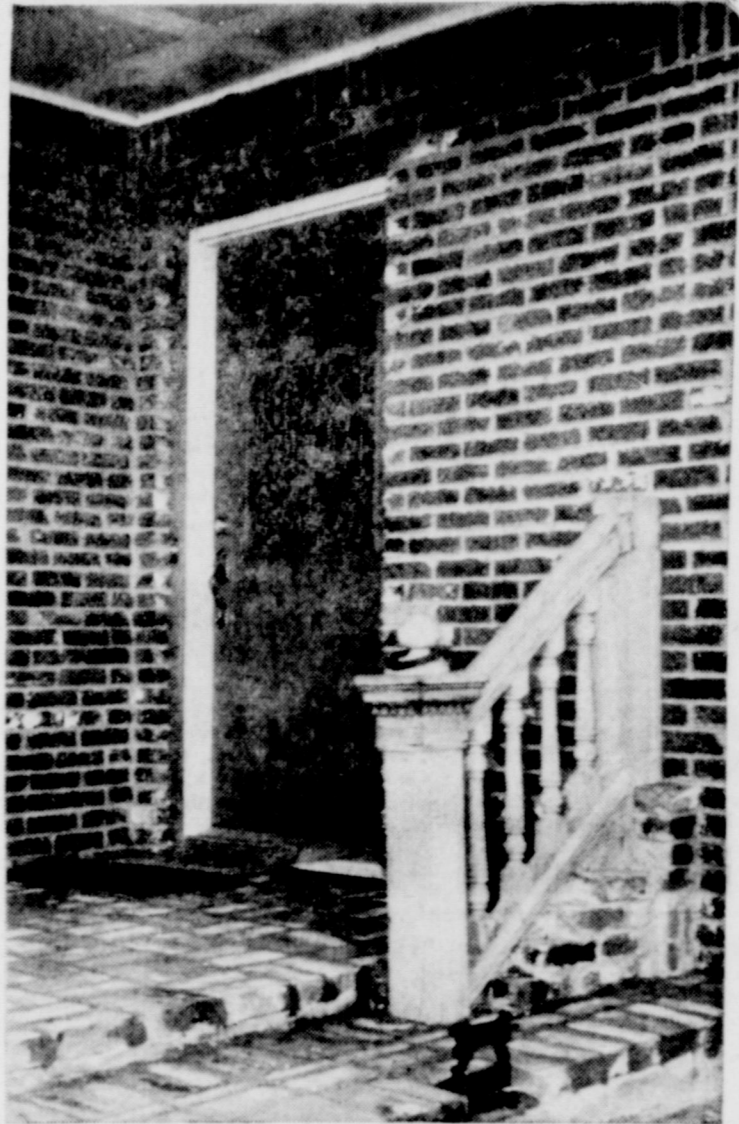

Old bricks build new fireplace

ANTIQUED BRICK from the building housing Kings first business venture was used in construction of the wood burning fireplace. The clock is from the old Sudan Hotel.

Oil lamp at left is very rare as are the weighted railroad candle holders on the right.

Entranceway

ENHANCING the entranceway to the King home is a portion of an old bannister and newell post from an old home in Arkansas. Colors and light reflections provided by the sun shining through the antique glass in the front door are very interesting.

Antique organ

FIRST ANTIQUE ever purchased by H. B. and Zelma King is this very old organ. They traded a horse and buggy for it years ago. The upper portion of the organ has been removed and will be used in another part of the King home.

In discussing the fixture Mrs. King said, "It is difficult to imagine Bethany as a rip-snorting frontier town, as now it is the home of a wide spread religious group."

A claw footed round table with authentic early American high backed chairs in acorn and leaf design highlight the dining area. A white pitcher and bowl stands beside a hutch cabinet in traditional design. A reproduction, the hutch is constructed of several types of hardwood with pierced tin doors on upper portion.

Every possible convenience was built in the kitchen. A unique server makes table service easy. It has the mobility of a tea cart with the addition features of storage shelves. When not in use the server slides under cabinet counter.

You must certainly remember rooms where you felt happy and at ease and, if you analyze the reason, you will usually come to the conclusion that somebody cared. Such rooms may not reflect the latest chic but they will have the kind of touches that mean home. That is the feeling one enjoys in the King home.

Comfort is achieved by harmony in color, by thoughtfulness in lighting effects, by the provision of chairside elements that make for ease — a place to lay something on an ash tray, a reading light or by a traffic pattern which permits persons in the room to move around unimpeded, without stumbling over furniture or becoming immured in one spot.

In addition to the guest bedroom there is incorporated in the King home other provisions for overnight guests with hide-away beds in wall of keeping room, hidden by lowered doors.

Louvered doors also serve other purposes such as the folding ones in back hall.

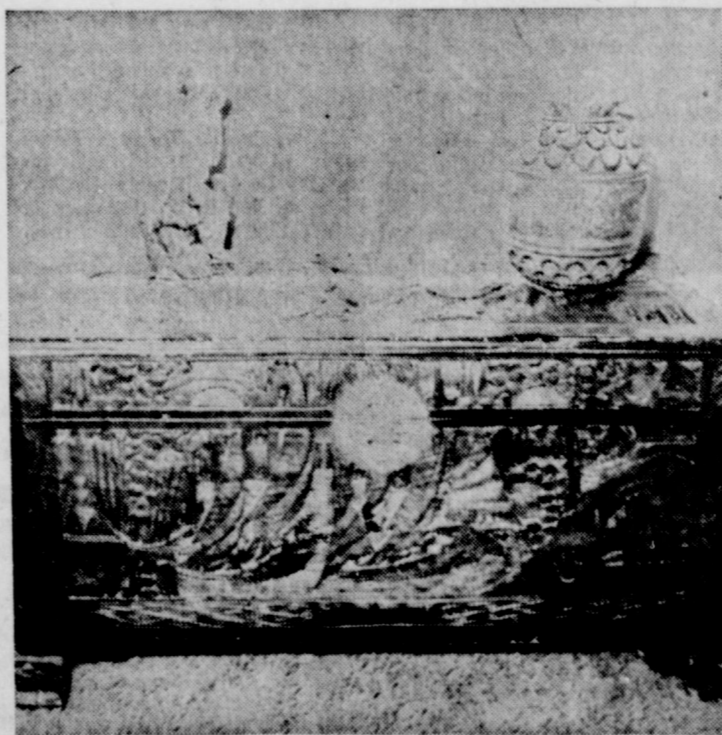

A complete office with desk, typewriter and other equipment is stashed away in a closet like portion of the back hall. When either Mr. or Mrs. King want to work on their farm records or business accounts they've only to open up the doors and there is the office. In all likelihood Mrs. King does the major part of the bookkeeping and office work.

Immediately adjacent to the office is the laundry room; sewing center also is hidden away by the same method.

A Dutch door leads from back hall to the triple garage, which accommodates not only the family boat, automobile and deep freeze but sundry items of antique furniture in process of restoration and refinishing, extra beds and excess accumulation, for which as yet Mrs. King has found no other place.

"Because" as she says, "the garage is apt to be littered and I loathe an open garage we installed an electronic device on garage which automatically closes the doors when a button on the car is pushed."

A combination of the old with new and modern innovations emphasizes the importance of comfort and emanation of personality from one's surroundings. The King have achieved all this and more. Their generous spirit and a talent for caring; firelight, a few fresh flowers, the gleam of polished brass all add a filip to the King home.

Chinese chest

HAND CARVED by oriental craftsmen many years ago, this Chinese chest is one of the show pieces in the parlor of the H. B. King home. A Chinese figurine and vase top the beautiful antique.

the latter part of last week but is now completely recovered, according to his father.

The TRIBUNE'S favorite RECIPE of the week

This week's favorite recipe was submitted by Mrs. Roy Gunnels.
It is a general favorite with her family and each year during the Christmas holidays when the Igo family get together for a reunion she is asked to bring this particular cake.

Irish Potato Cake

1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
1/3 cup cocoa
1 cup boiled mashed potatoes
1 cup sweet milk
4 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 cup nuts
1 teaspoon baking powder
If desired one may add a cup of either dried peaches, apricots or raisins.
Cream butter and sugar together, add well beaten eggs, cocoa, spices, potatoes and milk, mix well; add flour, baking powder and nuts, then the fruit. Bake in layers in 350 degree oven. A loaf or tube pan may be used.

This cake is delicious as is but the following frosting may be added when the cake has cooled.
Frosting
6 tablespoons shortening
1 egg yolk
3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
4½ tablespoons cocoa 5 tablespoons hot water (or more)

Cream shortening, blend in egg yolk, sift sugar and cocoa together and add alternately with enough hot liquid to make smooth and easy to spread.

Mrs. Roy Gunnels, the former Wanda Igo, is one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. George Igo.
She has three sisters and four brothers.

Born in Oklahoma Wanda moved with her family to Cochran County in 1933. She has lived here ever since. Attending Morton schools and graduating from MHS.

She has worked as clerk in the office of United States Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation
County Committee for three years.
Wanda and Roy, (oddly enough he is called Jack) are parents of three children, Rita, Jimmy and Cindy. Rita is receptionist at Morton Memorial Hospital, much to her embarrassment she is often asked if her mother is her sister.

As a family they enjoy fishing and camping trips.

Mrs. Gunnels says she loves music but is not musically talented.
Her favorite pastime and recreation is yard work.

Along with holding down a full time job Mrs. Gunnels sews for herself and daughters, does all of her household chores, laundry, ironing, cooking et cetera.

She is a member of the First Baptist Church and has taught a beginner's Sunday School class for 10 years. She is Circle chairman of Women's Missionary Union.

She has recently become a member of the Elma L. Slaughter Study Club.

The Gunnels family live at 304
East Hayes Avenue. They moved into their present home in 1955 and she says, "When we moved in, the streets had only been dragged,
we still had to drive around Mes-quite stumps right out in middle of street; so many changes, beautiful new homes and wide, paved avenues have taken place in past nine years."

SUNDAY MORNING...

What a wonderful day... what a wonderful time. This is a time to be happy... this is a time of joy... this is a time to worship the Lord in His house. This is a time for all of the family to enjoy being together. Today, the sun shines bright... next Sunday it may rain, but all are days of joy for this is the day to be with the Lord in His house.

"I was glad when they said unto me,
Let us go into the house of the Lord."

Psalm 122:1-10

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Beauty for the asking
By Inez Swicegood, Beauty Consultant
MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

greatest news from beauty this season is the return of the natural look, the casual do, the healthy-pink complexion, and eyes and eyebrows way nature intended them, with some small corrections.

Perhaps the most difficult cosmetic skill for any woman to master is eye makeup. However, if you're determined to get your eyebrows back into their own shape, there's a painless way to camouflage the re-rowth. Use more than one color of eyebrow pencil.

If you're a dark brunette, use black and light brown or brown and platinum, if that's better, in short hair-line strokes. Nobody's eyebrows are all one color.

Shape your brows the way you want them to be. Pencil lightly - then fill in. And don't be afraid to practice. You'll be amazed at how different you can look.

To train those wild new hairs, smooth a little super-lube into your brows each night with a tiny eyebrow-brush.

If you're in doubt about what blend of colors are best for you, you can phone me, or write to me, care of this newspaper, and we'll set up an appointment for an hour of beauty free.

Once you think you've mastered your new eyebrows, you're ready to correct the white puffy look above your eyes. Brown eyeshadow, or dark retouch, is the answer, blended delicately over the puffy part, up into your eyebrow. Then add the color of eyeshadow you want on your eyelid - to blend with your eyes, or complement your costume.

Now for the eyeliner-liquid or pencil. Confidently, for your upper eyelids, liquid is better. Use a pencil liner to accent your lower lashes.

For the new look, use a fine brush to line your lid as near your lashes as you can and only a fraction beyond the outer corner of your eye. Keep the line thin.

Better yet, let me give you a whole new look, free. Just phone for an appointment, or drop me a note, care of this newspaper, and an hour of beauty is yours for the asking.
