Residents face bond issues

A $280,000 bond election is set for August 13. Improvements to the waterworks system is listed as a $200,000 item in the bond proposals. The funds would be used to give the distribution system an additional 30,000 feet of water mains to provide effective looping of water mains around the city. In memoriam

Our community has suffered a tremendous loss in the passing of Earl Crum.

His love for the people of this community and for the community itself were often exemplified through his great undertaking of civic responsibility. The problems of a town are many and it is a big challenge to solve them. He met many of these challenges and solved many more problems than one single man should.

Through a tireless devotion to duty and a tremendous feeling of pride for his community, he worked diligently in many ways to make it a better place for all of us to live. It is men like Earl Crum who form the bedrock of communities all across our great nation. Many responsibilities rest on their shoulders.

The City Council never will be quite the same without him. The people of this town were fortunate to have had a man of his caliber taking part in the decisions which affected their city. He was a sound businessman in private and public life.

He handled his affairs firmly yet a broad smile often found its way across his face.

The town and his many friends will miss him and there will never be anyone take his place. He was the one and only Earl Crum.

SAFE AND SECURE

How confidently he sleeps. Mother and Daddy are in the next room. Teddy Bear is right beside him.

We, also, desire a feeling of confident security. We want to do good and live with honor in this life, free of the fear of falling into sin. God wants this for us, too. And He sees and knows how hard we try.

In the New Testament, Jude writes, "God is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy."

Pledge yourself to Him and attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Members, sponsors enjoy long trip

Pam Reynolds
Members and sponsors of the Order of the Rainbow Girls from Levelland and Morton Rainbow Assemblies returned recently from a two-day tour which led to the Supreme Assemblies of the International Order of the Rainbow Girls meeting in Philadelphia. The group was privileged to attend the international meeting held in Philadelphia's spacious Convention Hall. The hall had been decorated for the occasion with the independence theme featuring a replica of the Liberty Bell covered with hundreds of tiny, twinkling light bulbs. Rainbow girls dressed in colonial costumes complemented the scene.

Members and dignitaries from across the nation and around the world attended the meeting.

For the local girls the trip included 13 states, the District of Columbia and Canada.

The group spent half a day in Washington D.C. where their activities included a dinner in the Congressional Building.

A tour of the Capitol was conducted by Tom Purdon, Lubbock, and Kay Loveland, Big Spring. The girls were guided through a tunnel to the Capitol which is used by members of the House of Representatives to reach the House chamber. The girls were privileged to sit in the chair of the Speaker of the House and to stand in the place where every State of the Union address has been made. A tour of the Statue Room was also made. This room includes a statue from all the states. The rotunda of the Capitol was the next stop.

In the Senate chamber the group saw the desk of former Senate Majority secretary Bobby Baker and the desk formerly used by Daniel Webster. A visit was then made to the older Senate Room which is one of the older rooms in the Capitol.

While in the Vice President's office many relics were viewed including a bookcase made from the lumber of the old warship, "Constitution," a mirror brought from overseas by Dolly Madison, a bust statue of the only vice-president to die in office.

The Supreme Court Room featured a beautiful eight floor marble spiral staircase.

Next, the group toured Arlington National Cemetery along the same route followed by the funeral procession of the late President John F. Kennedy across the Potomac River.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier was visited first and then the grave of Kennedy. Long lines were waiting to file pass the grave. The cemetery was notably quiet and serene and the eternal flame lit by Jacqueline Kennedy burned in the center.

The guide explained that people from all over the country brought fresh flowers each day to the grave.

The Curtiss-Lee mansion was then visited and then Lafayette Square where many of Washington's most famous residents have lived. Some of the city's oldest buildings are standing here.

On the trip from the White House to the Capitol the group followed the exact inaugural route taken by each new president.

The tour for the group was arranged by Congressman George Mahon of the 19th congressional district and conducted by members of his office staff.

Leaving Washington the group enjoyed a boat ride on the Delaware River and a trip under the Chesapeake Bay on the way to Buffalo, New York. The natural bridge of Virginia was also visited.

A tour of greater New York was taken including such spots as the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center, Broadway, the United Nations Building, the Bowery, Chinatown, Harlem, and the various financial and business districts.

Later on the trip a jaunt to Niagara Falls and the famous hydroelectric floral clock was made. Dinner was eaten in one of Canada's beautiful parks.

On the return trip the members of the tour saw Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and the National Indiana Sand Dunes Park on the shores of Lake Michigan.

Church was attended at the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield, Illinois, which was the church Abraham Lincoln went to. Lincoln's tomb was also viewed.

In Miami, Oklahoma the group was luncheon guests of Neil Horton who is a nephew of Mrs. T. W. Moore, Levelland, who was the planner and co-ordinator of the trip.

A stop was then made at the Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Oklahoma, which proved to be very interesting.

Members on the trip included Wanda Smith, Pam Reynolds, Kay St. Clair, Mary St. Clair, Jane Luper, Linda Hawkins, Barbara Kennedy and Barbara Harvey. Sponsors were Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Keith Kennedy and Miss Bobbie Jones.

States visited included Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Tennessee, Texas, Arkansas, Delaware, New Jersey, and Canada and the District of Columbia.

Beauty for the asking

By Inez Swicegood, Beauty Consultant
MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

With the so-called natural look really back in fashion again, you're probably discovering that it takes even more skill to look "natural" than to look "made up."

For one thing, you've probably long-since forgotten about rouge, and how to apply it to lend new brightness to your eyes and a new glow to your face. And now, fashion experts agree, rouge is as important to your new look as a clear skin.

It has been my experience that there's only one really effective rouge—a creamy blush rouge which changes color on your face to match your own complexion tone.

Learn to apply it correctly and you'll be delighted with the subtle way it enhances your face and eyes.

The procedure is really quite simple.

First, the thorough cleansing with all-purpose deep cleansing cold cream. Then a velvety powder base and now, your blush rouge, a soft gentle pink. Use sparingly. A little dab on the end of a toothpick goes a long, long way. Start at the cheekbone and blend smoothly, under the eye from nose to temple, and over your smile area. Smile, so you know the area I mean, and stop right there.

When you blend this creamy rouge to the very edge of the lower eyelid, you'll see a surprising thing—a new brightness to your eyes and an end to the white puffiness just under your lower lashes.

Your face acquires a warm glowing look.

For the finishing touches of your make-up, you're on your own, but be sure to add face powder, to set your cosmetics for all-day loveliness, and that natural look.

Don't be afraid to experiment with lipsticks and lipstick colors. Along with this new non-theatrical make-up, this fresh look, lipsticks are clearer and brighter and there's much more emphasis on the shape of your mouth. Keep it natural. Use a lipstick brush for a clean smooth tracing of your own mouth's outlines.

If you're unskilled with a lipstick brush, or afraid to tackle the new blush-rouge glowing look, please write to me, care of this newspaper, or phone me and please let me treat you to a complimentary make-up and an hour of beauty education besides.

the city. Another point on the water storage is the added capacity for fighting fires in the city.

Improvements to the water supply system would include the addition of two wells pumping a total of 1400 gallons per minute. Also necessary lines for supplying the water and booster pumps would be installed. The addition of these two wells should give the city an adequate water supply for the foreseeable future.

Gas system improvements slated to cost $60,000 would include the addition of approximately 25,000 feet of gas lines with the needed plug valves and fittings. The addition of these lines would aid in reducing gas pressure on the present lines and reduce leakage.

Sewer improvements would be the addition of 4500 feet of sewer line and a new sewer lift station.

Taxes will not be involved in the payment of the proposed revenue bonds. The principal and interests on the bonds will be repaid solely from the net revenues of the water, gas and sewer systems. The bonds provide that the holder shall never have the right to demand payment of these obligations out funds raised or to be raised by taxation.

There will be no increase in gas or water rates providing the issues passes. The present revenues of the system are adequate to pay the yearly principal and interest payments on the bond issue.

Beet farmers continue progress on different crop

A few years ago some interested citizens began an agricultural experiment in Cochran County. These men thought Cochran County farmers could successfully raise sugar beets in spite of natural geographical inconveniences, and they began to work on a sugar beet project for this area. Today the project, although still in the experimental stage, is an impending success.

Sugar beets in this area have withstood wind, sand and diseases peculiar to high, hot climate and are now looking as if they will produce a good sugar yield.

Over thirty acres of beets are growing in the county today. Gene Benham has planted seven acres, and Cliff Harvey, Donald Coleman and Raymond Deavors have planted ten acres each. As a whole the crop is looking much better than last year's crop although the beet growers have suffered a sixty acre loss because of blowing sand.

Willard Cox reported that some research in the variety of seed may solve the problems of raising sugar beets on the plains. The Great Western Seed Company of Denver, Colorado has developed a seed that will resist a common sugar beet virus called curly top. Curly top is caused by a small white fly that ranges throughout the entire plains area.

Other diseases common on the plains, destroy the plant in the latter part of August or in September. These diseases may be controlled by spraying.

Elwood Harris, manager of the D. E. Benham farm, reported that he planted the beets in April. Before that time the field had been pre-fertilized with 200 lbs. of N-A, 150 lbs. of P-A, and 40 lbs. of K-A. The field was pre-irrigated once and it has been irrigated three times since.

Mr. Knaus, an agriculture expert, recently inspected the beet crop in Cochran County. Knaus referred to Benham's beets as "one of the three best plots of beets on the Plains."

Knaus made the statement last year that "we are making excellent progress in trying to learn how to grow beets in West Texas."

George Boring home has distinguished charm

by ann england

All anyone can say with certainty about charm is that it defies definition. It takes forms as varied as the people who enjoy it.

The red brick home of Mr. and Mrs. George Boring and children at 621 East Garfield Avenue is a charming one.

Completed in 1961 the house was 13 months in the building. This seems a long time but as Mrs. Boring said, "It gave us time to select our furnishings and accessories, so that when the house was finally finished we were ready to move in. Fortunately both George and I were able to visualize each piece of furniture in its proper setting and we've made very few changes or additions since moving in."

They had a clear concept of what they wanted and worked together with a forthright purpose to achieve their goal.

Teamwork between the two of them created a valid decorating job.

Boxed out window housing makes a bay of a picture window in the formal living room; laced with diagonal mullions this provides exceptionally good daylighting and seems to expand the room's dimensions.

Glass curtains for the bay are of pure silk; drapes with an exotic design in blue and green draw across the silk curtained bay.

A tiled entry is inside the entrance connecting with the living room to the left and guest bedroom to the right.

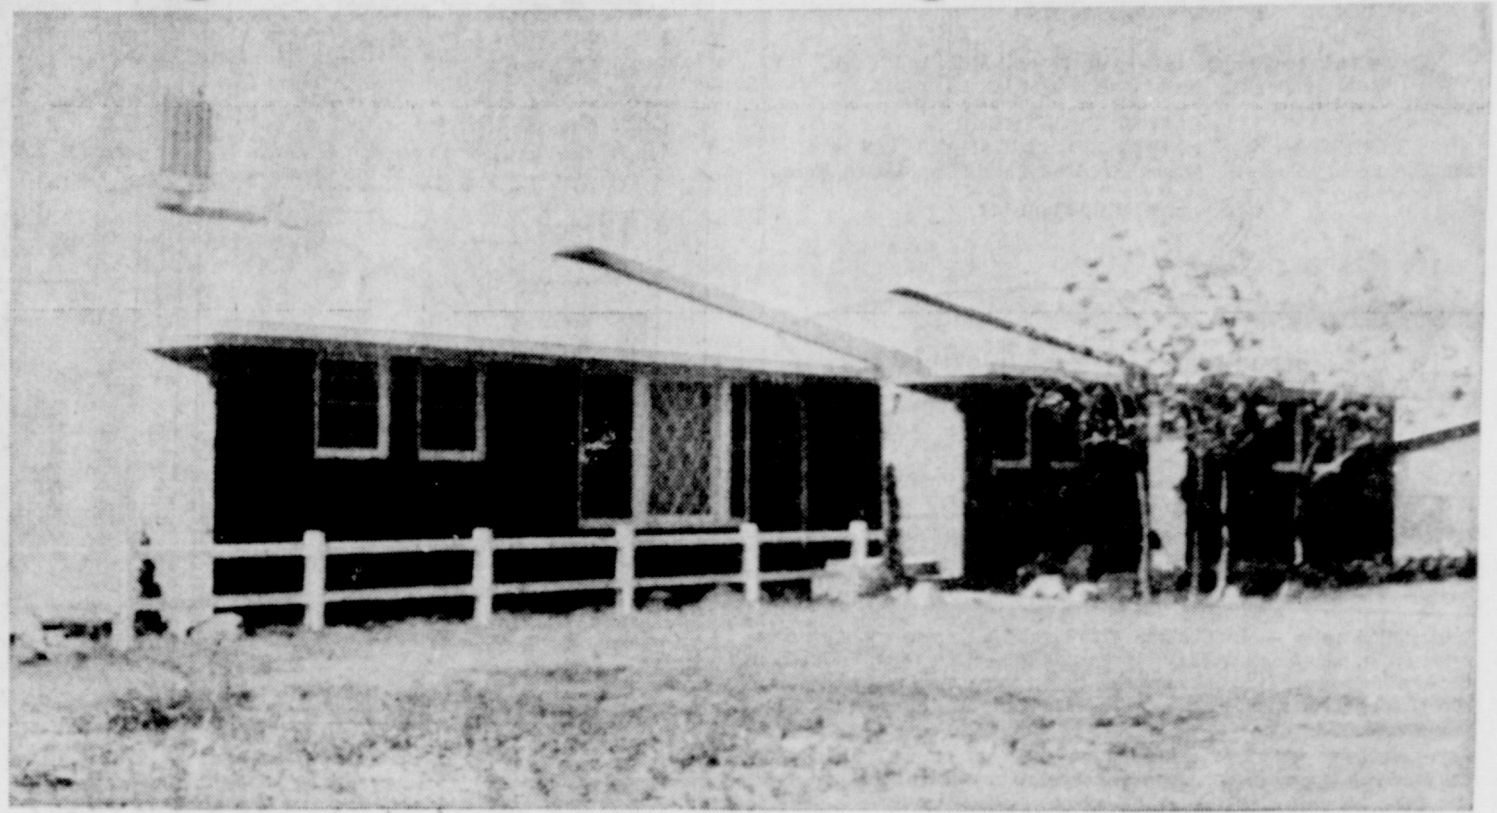

Furniture in the living room is in fruitwood with a French provincial design. Table tops are of marble. A brocaded silk sofa in antique blue is harmonious with a hanging wall clock of unusual design. The clock is hung on the north wall over a fruitwood credenza.

Since the days when cave men painted symbols on the walls of their adobes, man has decorated walls around him with items which appeal to his tastes.

"The clock," said Mrs. Boring, "was actually the first thing we bought for our home. George saw and fell in love with it, telling me we had to have the clock and we could go on with our decorating from there. We've never been sorry and continue to get much enjoyment out of it. Also it provides a wonderful conversation piece."

A small formal dining room is partially partitioned from living room by a solid lower portion with delicate iron grille upwards to ceiling.

One of the unusual features of the Boring home is the pass-through bathroom, adjoining the guest bedroom, which incidentally has been taken over by Brad,

George Boring home

BEAUTIFUL LANDSCAPING accentuates the red brick home of the George Borings located at 621 East Garfield. Plants in the yard include shrubs, evergreens and a cluster of Asiatic catalpas. Lava basaltic and white rock emphasize the plantings.

small son of the Borings.

Other entrance to the bath is from the kitchen hall which also provides entry to the double garage and patio.

Utility space is provided in the kitchen hall.

Custom crafted cabinets in the kitchen are finished to complement the family room paneling. A service bar is open to the family room for informal snacks. The kitchen is a pivot room for the homemaker and connects with the dining room, utility hall in addition to the family room. Counter tops are finished in turquoise.

Effective lamps and accessories can lift any room into something as distinctive and gay as a Paris hat. Accessories in the Boring home show the results of careful selection and discriminating taste.

Double, sliding glass doors provide entry from the family room to the brick-wall patio. A corner fireplace plus a charcoal broiler are put into service for outdoor entertaining. Ground surface of the patio is all concrete.

The family room is furnished in early American.

"This is where we really spend our time," Mrs. Boring said, "here we have the TV, our reading material and chairs that just fit all four members of the family."

The whole north wall of the family room is bricked with insets for a collection of mugs. The wood burning fireplace has a raised hearth. Other walls of this room are of warm toned birch paneling.

The master bedroom, furnished primarily in antique white, has twin closets with louvered double doors. The west wall has two short windows but the entire wall is draped. Drapes are framed by a cornice in solid color with appliques of the floral design. The cornice was made by Boring.

Material used in the draperies in master bedroom took months to find. The Borings had first used this same design in an apartment in Dallas and like it so well they wanted the same thing in their home. A bedspread matches the cornice. In addition to the old-fashioned rocking chair there is a small boudoir chair of old rose velvet.

Large storage space is provided in the hall between the master bedroom and bedroom of Georgia Lynne, daughter of the Borings.

Lynne's bedroom furniture also is white with delicate floral design.

A two car garage opens on side-road at east, leaving the front uncluttered by a driveway.

Yard at the Boring home was recently designed and planted by a landscape architect. A white fence outlines one flower bed, with lava basaltic and white rock combined for interest at the base of a cluster of Asiatic catalpas. Black pebble rock is used in the flower beds.

In discussing her home Mrs. Boring said she was happy to have it for the children to grow up in and enjoy. "We planned it for convenience and to serve the needs of our family; we did not engage an architect but drew up our own plans, in turn giving these to our building contractor," she said.

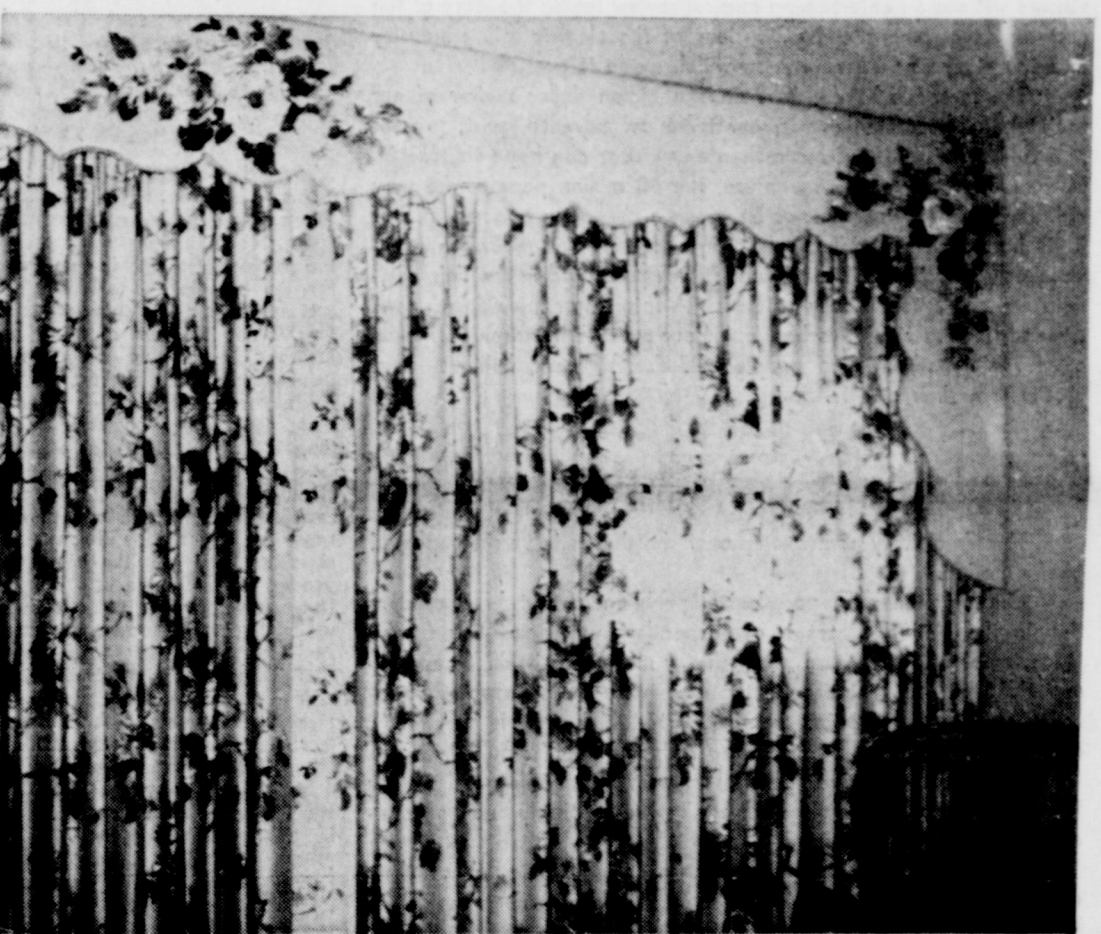

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Baker, Bill and Gerald and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Poor, Patricia and Jackie Ruth returned home Saturday following a week's vacation to Crede, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Barker and the E. L. Palvado family spent the weekend vacationing in Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reaves Sunday. Mr. Reaves is superintendent of Littlefield schools.

World's Fair—progress in review

The imaginative exterior of the electric industry's exhibit at the New York World's Fair is made up of over a thousand aluminum panels. They make a striking forest of triangular prisms reflecting the sun's rays during the day and highlighted by multicolored lights at night when from the central court, searchlights totaling 12 billion candle power beam a tower of light into the sky.

Some 140 electric companies are sponsoring the exhibit, and it is fully the equal of any of the other dazzling pavilions at the Fair. On a moving ramp passing through seven major exhibit chambers, visitors will see an entertaining musical review telling the story of the growth, development and aspirations of the electric utility industry and the story of free enterprise which made it possible.

The New York World's Fair is a billion dollar review of our society and accomplishments, our technical advance, past, present and future. It is indeed more than any visitor can hope to take in. In a mood for fun and adventure, the 80 million people who may visit the Fair this year cannot be given a collection of sermons. But it is hoped that a good percentage of them will realize that the wonders presented and the bright future predicted in the Fair pavilions will not automatically be theirs. A future worth waiting for will depend, just as it always has, upon our success in perpetuating an open society where free people can dream, work, achieve—and profit from their efforts.

Beef producers can aid their problems

There's a lively controversy over the domestic versus imported beef situation.

Cattlemen have a paradoxical problem in that beef production in the United States is overexpanded, yet, according to the Department of Agriculture, the industry must gear itself for an estimated 50 per cent increase in the next ten years because of population growth and greater demand. But right now it is overweight and many experts believe that a "reducing diet" would help the U. S. beef industry more than government intervention and tighter import quotas which would work against us politically and economically on an international level.

U. S. cattlemen feel imports are taking too much of their market. Yet imported beef is used primarily to fill a need that U. S. beef doesn't supply. Most imported beef goes into processed food — wieners, hamburger, lunch meat. U. S. beef goes mostly into table cuts — steaks and roasts. It isn't economically feasible to use fattened U. S. beef for manufactured foods.

A solution has been suggested by Herrell DeGraff, president of the American Meat Institute. He takes the view, and many experts agree, that U. S. growers and feeders can help their own cause best by intelligent marketing methods such as culling herds of old and barren cows, cutting down on overfeeding, eliminating market-flooding and getting behind beef promotion efforts—a few pounds more per capita consumption would help reduce oversupply. Beef producers can go a long way toward curing their own problems.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor

I want the Morton Community to know that I am completely in favor of any Community program which is creative and wholesome in nature, and that will bring good to the Youth and to the Community as a whole.

A Youth Center which is duly constituted to build Christian character, which will bar any activity or program which will be questionable in the light of the standards of Christ, might serve a good purpose in the Community. Such an institution will demand a great deal of money and responsible leadership.

At present the following facilities are available to our Community for recreational purposes and programs for our young people: the County Park, the swimming pool, the bowling alley, the golf course, the County Activities Building which may be used for special programs, and the various Churches. For nine months of the year our Public Schools have a program of activities that take up most of the time of our young people. They even complain at times of not having the opportunity for study because of the activities.

Since we do already have these facilities, and since so many programs are already provided, we would question the advisability of adding another facility or program. It might be well that some of us re-evaluate the programs which are offered our youth. It could be that we could use our facilities to a greater advantage, and produce a better type of program.

I am studying the situation with an open mind and prayerful spirit and then moving to do that which will bring good to our beloved youth and blessing to our Community.

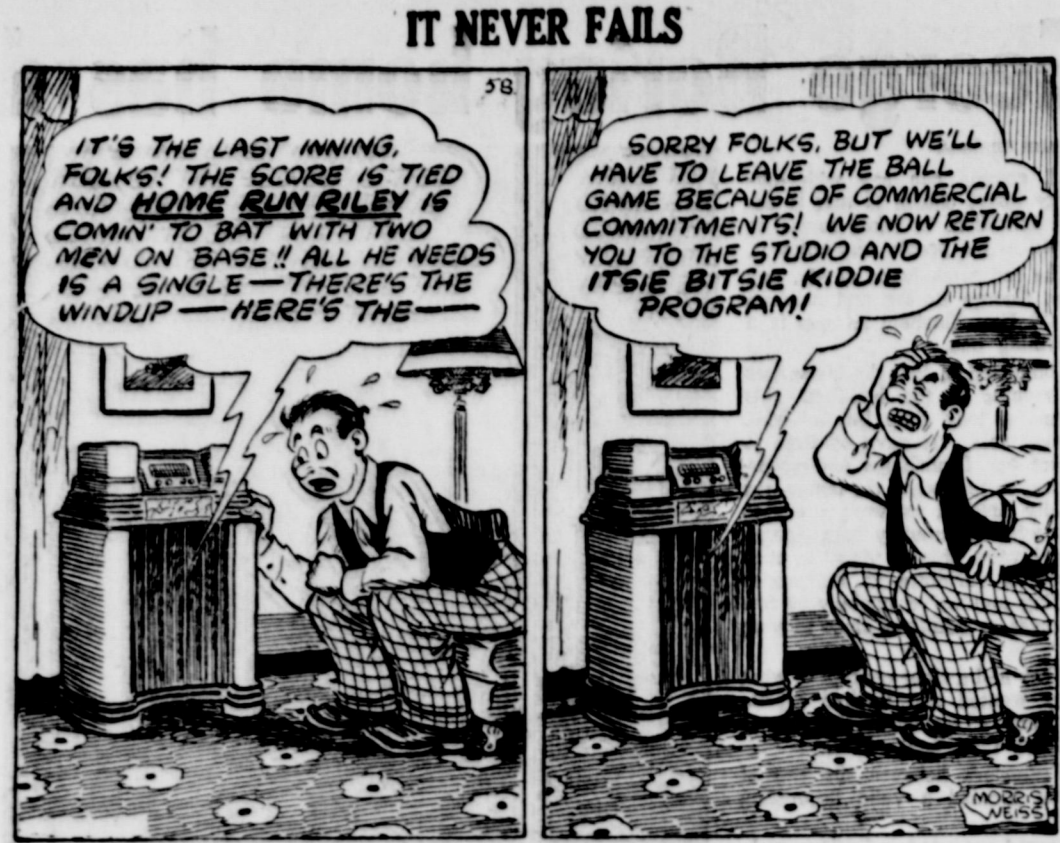

Sincerely yours,
H. F. Dunn

Someone has got somebody's goat in Texas City.

The someone is the Texas City Chamber of Commerce, which has proposed that the city buy 1,000 goats and turn them loose downtown to clean up the area. The scathing indictment of unsightly conditions throughout the city didn't please Mayor Emmett Lowry and other city officials.

Possibly the Chamber of Commerce could be accused of butting into city affairs, but some of the sheepish expressions around town indicated that the Chamber had found a way to get its message across.

Mayor Lowry said the City Commission will continue to take care of the city's problems — presumably without any help from the goats.

Houston Post

There is no doubt but that the Johnson administration will have things going for them in the campaign, chief among them being the prosperity theme in this country. And people are making more and spending more than ever before. What disturbs some of us, however, is that this prosperity is being produced to a great extent, on borrowed money. Our government is steadily spending more than it takes in and the national debt continues to climb. This is about like us buying a big car, new house, making a trip to Europe, giving money to various charities, and all the time renewing a bigger note at the bank. If we never have to pay it back, we have nothing to worry about. And apparently this is the type of thinking that controls us right now — the idea that we don't need to worry about the national debt. It is apparently old fashioned to worry about paying off debts. If you disregard this, then we will agree that we are indeed in a time of prosperity.

Ochiltree County Herald

The political prophets say LYNDON JOHNSON has one very difficult decision to make in Atlantic City, N. J. next month when the Democrats convene in convention to name a candidate for president and vice-president. JOHNSON has been cautioned by many southern Democrats that he will surely lose the south if he picks BOBBY KENNEDY to run with him. By another yardstick, northern Democrats want KENNEDY on the ticket. Some of the big labor bosses, now friendly with JOHNSON, would leave his team if he picked KENNEDY. JOHNSON right now, will carry the union support in the garment districts in the east, he will take all of the negro vote, but he is currently running behind in the midwest, west, far west, south and southwest. Political observers say it will be another toss up for Texas. And seriously, now, in some points in the north and east talk of putting a colored candidate on the Democratic ticket in November with JOHNSON is not farfetched. Almost surely, if PRESIDENT JOHNSON is re-elected, the country can look for more appointments of negroes to high places in the official government family — some cabinet post might be sought by the demanding, still adamant leaders of CORE and NAACP. It is plain to thinking people everywhere that such leaders as JAMES FARMER have no intention of quitting a good thing he has going with the blessing of the administration.

a detailed explanation of the envelope printing activity and legal action for the action, according to a recent Associated Press news release. The report is being asked by Rep. Robert B. Duncan of Oregon, who has questioned the propriety of the Post Office Department accepting orders for stamped envelopes with the printed return address of the customer. His action resulted from his agreement with several small town printers who had complained that it is unnecessary competition with private business.

We need to get the government out of a lot of other businesses too, that are competing directly with private enterprise.

The meeting between Prime Minister Douglas-Home and the leader of the Labor opposition in Parliament, Harold Wilson, is a belated recognition of the importance of the issue being raised by threat of a protracted postmen's strike in Britain. Sir Alec might well have given personal attention to the struggle between the Postmaster General earlier than this. That he has not done so has given Mr. Wilson an opportunity to score a considerable political point off the Conservatives in an election year.

The meeting between the Prime Minister and the man who would take his place in the event of a Labor victory was reportedly arranged on Mr. Wilson's initiative. The Labor Party leader's strategy was sound. A long strike by the postmen could be so costly to the public at large that its political consequences cannot be foreseen.

Right now the brief wildcat strikes and the one-day stoppage called by the Postal Union have cost neither the strikers nor the Labor Party anything in the way of public sympathy. On the contrary the crisis caused by the stoppages has focused public attention on the too wide gap between the average level of postmen's pay and that of other workers.

It was suggested several days ago that the postmen had lost confidence in the Postmaster General and in the Treasury official dealing with their demands, and that the Prime Minister himself should intervene.

The Trades Union Congress is now supplying unprecedented financial support to the postmen's union. There is also the possibility that a long strike would bring out British telephone and telegraph operators. So Britain is facing a potential tie-up of communications that could result in tremendous financial cost to individuals and the nation and in bitterness and recrimination out of which neither political party would have much to gain. This is the pass to which things have come before the postmen have won the attention which most of the British public seems to feel is overdue.

Christian Science Monitor

IN NOMINATING SEN. BARRY Goldwater for President of the United States last week, the Republican convention made many people happy.

Happiest of all, of course, are those conservatives who see Mr. Goldwater as the God-sent answer to blatant examples of "creeping socialism" such as Social Security, federal aid to education, and the income tax.

Then there are those Republicans and independents and perhaps a few Democrats who feel that Goldwater is not really reactionary and would provide a needed change in Washington. Their reasons are varied but understandable.

What is harder to understand is the reaction of many of the liberal and moderate Democrats to the nomination — they are overjoyed.

Their line of thinking runs along the lines that: 1) Goldwater cannot possibly beat Johnson in November; 2) he will not run for the Senate and for the Presidency at the same time (he would have too much work eating to do because of 1960) and therefore will be out of a job in November; 3) his defeat will be so devastating it will set the Republican Party back 20 or 30 years.

Following a somewhat similar train of thought, many anti-Goldwater Republicans seem to feel that since there is no way to win in November they might as well let the conservative-reactionary wing of the party blow off some steam and see for themselves that the GOP's past policy of nominating a moderate-liberal Easterner is sound policy if they can't find a general hand.

And judging from most of the polls taken recently throughout the country these would seem to be the reasonable ways of looking at the whole thing. But polls are not trustworthy, especially July polls on a November election.

Anyone with a sense of history and politics knows that the American voter is a peculiar and sometimes fickle species. Right now President Johnson is still riding the wave of support given to him by a grieving and shocked American public following President Kennedy's assassination.

But anything could happen before the election — a foreign policy setback of major proportions, a program of carefully planned scandal-mongering too close to election day to be completely disproved (Sen. Goldwater himself would never stoop to this, but there are certain unscrupulous men in both parties who would), or, perhaps, even an honest switch to Goldwater.

The Senator from Arizona is only one step away from the Presidency. It is improbable that he can overcome that last step; but it is not impossible. And anyone who sits back and takes it easy this election simply because "Barry can't win" is a fool. I for one will not sleep well until President Johnson is victorious in November.

Highlights & Sidelights

Tourists go halfway up dome

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Board of Control is willing to go only halfway in the drive to take energetic tourists to the top of the capitol dome.

State purchasing and housekeeping agency asked for $16,950 to open the dome to the fifth floor. Sightseers now must stop at the fourth floor landing. Board of Control looks with disfavor on tourists going up 41 feet higher, to the tip-top.

"Structurally," said the Board, "the capitol dome is thoroughly safe for its intended and original purpose — which was not as a tourist attraction."

Cost of opening the dome to the public — complete with guide service, security, repainting and janitorial service — was estimated at an additional $52,000.

Even opening the fifth floor landing is complicated enough, said the Board.

Included in its recommendations were $4,000 for a grill to catch objects dropped from the lofty landing; $3,000 for a ventilation system in the stairwell areas "to keep people from dropping out from exhaustion while climbing"; $2,000 to run a water line and install a fountain; $2,500 for annual repainting to hide the work of slogan-writers; and $350 for a first aid kit.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court has declined to reconsider an earlier decision holding off pipe shipping rates set by the Railroad Commission in 1962 while they are in contest. High court refused the Commission's request for rehearing. Oil field truckers called for suspension of the new rates, claiming they give railroads an unfair advantage.

In another case heard by the Supreme Court, a Railroad Commission production formula for Fairway Field in East Texas, the largest U. S. oil discovery in the last eight years, is under attack. W. L. Pickens brought the action to void the formulas for the field in Anderson and Henderson Counties. Pickens claims the formulas would allow neighboring leases to drain oil from under his property. Under the Commission order, allowables would be based 50 per cent on tract size and 50 per cent on acre feet of oil-bearing sand beneath. District court here has upheld the order.

Finance companies won a major battle with the State when the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin refused Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell's motion for rehearing the State's case against Terplan, Texas Public Finance, Beneficial Finance and Consolidated Credit.

Court affirmed the opinion of the 53rd District Court in Austin that the 1963 Texas Loan Act section which says a loan company cannot be licensed unless 51 per cent of its stock is owned by Texans is unconstitutional.

EDUCATION-JOB OPPORTUNITY — Texas Department of Public Safety is offering educational opportunities along with jobs for young men who can qualify.

Fifty will be selected between August and October for the DPS Law Enforcement Academy here. Graduates of the four-month school covering 800 hours of instruction in 95 subjects, will fill vacancies in the highway patrol, license and weight, motor vehicle inspection or driver licensing divisions.

Young men 21 to 35 who can meet physical and mental requirements will be given qualifying examinations on August 8, September 12 and October 10. School will begin on November 19. Students earn $375 a month while in training and $438 and $463 a month on graduation.

REDISTRICTING — Fourth in a series of public hearings held by the Legislative Council Study Committee on Congressional Redistricting will be held in San Antonio. Legislators seek public opinion on the way to draft redistricting to conform with the U. S. Supreme Court edict. It's a matter which must be settled during the 1965 session.

Speaker of the House Byron tunnel says he believes redistricting — both congressional and legislative — should be handled at the end of the session, after higher education proposals and tax matters are out of the way.

His idea conflicts with those of Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr who have said redistricting should be the first item on the Legislature's agenda.

PASSENGER TRAIN HEARING SET — Railroad Commission issued notice that it will hold hearings on the Texas and Pacific

TICK! TICK! TICK!

Railway's request to discontinue operation of two passenger trains now operating between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Fort Worth hearing will be held on September 15, and the El Paso hearing on September 17. Railroad claims it has suffered a net loss of $200,000 on these trains over the past year.

FOOD STAMP PLAN — William M. Herndon, who administers the commodities distribution program for the State Department of Public Welfare, says the Federal Food Stamp Program, just passed by Congress, will take at least five years to filter down into all counties which otherwise would participate in the surplus commodities distribution program.

Under the proposed program, low-income and no-income families may trade federally-supplied stamps for food at any grocery store, instead of limiting their supplies to those items declared surplus commodities and distributed on a county-agent basis. Luxury and imported items will be exempt from the plan. Barred from the stamp "shopping" list are bananas, coffee, coca and tea.

But the switch must be gradual because current surpluses must be used up, and it has not been determined yet how much Congress will appropriate for the program.

YARBOROUGH ASKS SCREW-WORM FUNDS — Sen. Ralph Yarbrough's Austin office announced he has urged the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture Appropriations to earmark $5,500,000 to continue the screwworm eradication program in the Southwest.

Unless a barrier zone is established along the Mexican border, Yarbrough said, reinfestation of "free" areas will occur and a $12,000,000 investment in the program will be lost.

PARKS OVERCROWDED — All state parks in Texas are overcrowded, says Director W. M. Gosdin.

Gosdin pointed out that 47,944 persons visited Corpus Christi State Park on Easter weekend and the level has held up through midsummer. Other major parks such as Garner, Inks, Gojose Island, Brownwood and Fort Parker are handling capacity over.

A $160,000 expenditure at Huntsville State Park provided only a third of the facilities that could be utilized, reports the parks chief.

New expansion projects at Falcon, Lake Whitney and Dam B will help take care of next year's visitors but probably won't come close to meeting demand for park facilities, Gosdin said.

APPOINTEE — Tom E. Beard, County Attorney for Hill County, has been appointed by Governor Connally as District Attorney for the 66th Judicial District.

Beard, a Baylor University law graduate who is also the Democratic nominee for the position he was appointed to, succeeds the late Jerry E. Clarke.

RETAIL SALES ON RISE —

UT Bureau of Business Research seasonally-adjusted index of sales in Texas shows a two per cent rise in June. Bureau says that in the first six months of 1964 retail stores recorded a five per cent over the half of 1963.

Biggest increases over the period were made by auto dealers and stores dealing in men's ready-to-wear. But a retail category showed a sharp drop — meat-less grocery stores. SHORT SHORTS — State Education Commissioner J. W. Egan still is looking into complex angles of an Eagle Pass case controversy in which former San W. T. Poulos was dumped superintendent two weeks ago and hired, in the wake of a board election.

The highway and heavy construction industry in the U. S. cuts its industrial accident rate half between 1948 and 1962, according to Hugh McMillan, president of the Texas Highway Branch, Associated General Contractors.

Yorktown Community Bank, Witt County, and Security Bank, Spring, Harris County, were ordered by State Banking Board.

Texas Employment Commission announced it had selected youth counselor Federal State to rehabilitate unskilled and employed youth.

Passing thoughts and shifting sands

By Art Wall

Seldom in reading western history do we come upon anyone with the name of Divine. Now our dictionary describes the word divine as Godlike, heavenly, religious, holy etc. Bob Divine of Wyoming was manager of a ranch for an eastern syndicate. Bob had within him religious convictions. He did not smoke, drink or curse. He stood tall and straight in his riding boots and sincerely believed when you went on a payroll you earned your pay or you quit.

Bob as ranch manager had problems. The ranch he operated set next to the famous Hole-in-the-Wall country in Wyoming and Bob was ranch manager when the Hole-in-the-Wall boys were at the height of their toughness. The location of the Hole-in-the-Wall and Bob's ranch was in the southwestern part of Johnson County, Wyoming.

Bob had one fault. He hated to write letters. The eastern syndicate had a hard time getting anything out of him. The tall ranch manager's letters were noted for brevity. On August 7th, 1896 he wrote this letter: Sir: Some of the Hole-in-the-Wall gang drove about eighteen head today. Took them behind the wall. I can't get the boys to go with me and get them back. I will go in by myself to-morrow. Yours truly, Bob Divine.

Two days later on August 9th Bob wrote another letter which he probably hated to bother with but he wrote it just the same. He had just stepped off a travel weary horse when he wrote this last letter. Sir: Got them cattle back. Two rustlers with them. They run. Yours truly, Bob Divine.

Now Bob was running things according to the way he figured they should be run then Buffalo Creek and flooded its banks. This caused Bob more worry for the creek washed down a bunch of brand blotted hides all wringed together. It was easy to see they had been weighted down with rocks and thrown in the creek.

Bob along with the other ranchers inspected the skins. Some of the branded hides showed TOY, OXO, OBO brands. Closer inspection showed a very poor job of blotting they were changed from CY to TOY from YU to OXO from SO to OBO. There were other blotched brands on enough hides to start a range war. The beef had been sold to the B and O railroad and the Union Pacific to feed track workers.

What do you say we just saddle up and take a jaunt up through the Hole-in-the-Wall country just to see what Bob and his neighbors were up against? Over on the west and north you can see the foothills of the Big Horn Mountains. That ridge there over east is a rock walled, red colored ridge and it runs for twenty-three miles. The ridge and the foothills meet in the south. Down through the center of this rugged country twines Buffalo Creek and it sure makes a beautiful scene. Buffalo Creek finds an opening between the ridge and foothills and thus is the name of the Hole-in-the-Wall. Two brothers from England were the first to name this The Hole-in-the-Wall after a beautiful spot back in their homeland.

The rustlers stronghold was a cabin. At first the cabin was fourteen by twenty-two feet in size then a lean-to was built on it. No one knows for sure who built the cabin but it was well provisioned and well armed. Bob and his neighbors knew other things about the Hole-in-the-Wall that made the stronghold appear very weak. The foothill country contained small ranches that were nothing more than hideouts for stolen beef. Too, these small ranches kept fresh horses for the rustlers. Rustlers from Texas and our entire west for fifteen years used the Hole-in-the-Wall a refuge.
After the blotted hides were found, which after all was just more stacked evidence against the rustlers. Bob continued to ride his range. He kept his cartridge belt full of shells and his saddle bags full of grub and often he rode back of the wall for his beef. He was tough and fast with a gun so naturally he became a marked man.

Propaganda was spread about Bob. He was supposed to be operating with the rustlers. He was attacked through the papers. Informers for the rustlers who pretended to be honest ranches pushed this propaganda. Bob went on alone and managed his ranch and ignored it all. Bob's spread was the CY and he ruled it like a king. It happened one day when Bob came upon Kid Curry trailing CY beef. To Bob's cowhands it proved what a reputation they had. When Kid Curry saw Bob the kid threw spurs to his horse and got out of there. Bob just set in his saddle, hands resting on the horn, and watching the kid grow dim in the distance. The kid's real name was Harvey Logan, notorious as an outlaw.

Probably it was this incident that elevated Bob. Cattle men came to him and in 1897, the Ogalalla, the CY and Pugsley cow outfits recognized Bob Divine as the leader to clean out the Hole-in-the-Wall. With hard riding, well armed men, these cattle men spurred their horses through the valley of Buffalo Creek. They staged a running hard shooting battle. They ripped aside the belief the Hole-in-the-Wall was impregnable. The red ridge and the foothills of the Big Horn echoed with rifle fire. When it ended the Hole-in-the-Wall gang was no more. Bob Divine and his son Lee both received slight wounds in the battle. Bob wrote a letter: Sir: Got things straightened out. Cleaned out the Hole-in-the-Wall. Yours truly, Bob Divine.

the Sharp Trader

buys at better than wholesale

...because he buys where his bread is buttered

A REAL sharp trader doesn't need "connections" or "special discounts" or catalogs, or any other gimmick to get what he buys at BETTER than wholesale.

Maybe you think we're kidding?

Not at all. It's a fact. When you BUY in the community you LIVE in, you know that every cent you pay for goods and services above wholesale cost stays here at home with you. By staying here, it can get around to buying MORE good things for you and your family.

It's trading material . . . and TRADE ALONE builds communities with better opportunities, better schools, better churches, better neighbors.

Any ONE of these advantages could bring you returns beyond measure in a BETTER LIFE, as well as real CASH returns in the form of increased business, improved property values, a better job, more people to help you carry the load of normal community expense.

All of this — which you don't get for your money when you buy somewhere else — makes the cost of the actual GOODS very low . . . when you buy them at home.

That's how the SHARP TRADERS get BETTER than wholesale values.

Rural people have the same need for electricity that city people have, plus hundreds of additional uses. Years ago, they tried desperately to get electric service and when everything else failed, they built the BAILEY COUNTY Electric Cooperative. This modern, efficient, dependable system furnishes a low cost electric service that is first rate. The member-owners of BAILEY COUNTY find that electricity in addition to being a good mixer is a good blender, cutter, heater, cooler, grinder, lighter, freezer, dryer, pump, sander, slicer, cooker, trimmer and a lot of other things you can probably name. BAILEY COUNTY Electric Cooperative is a proud accomplishment of determined people building a better way of life in the rural areas. Rural electrification is good for all Texans.

Hot weather brings along with it pleasant summer get-togethers with family and friends. One of the things most enjoyed by Van Greene during the long twilights of summer are cook-outs at which time he does the cooking. Charcoal broiled hamburgers and hot dogs are almost regular fare for the Saturday evening meal at the Greene home. Being somewhat on the conservative side Van doesn't like to waste the coals left in the barrel-like out-door grill so he utilizes these coals along with some additions for his famous cooking.

Smoked Prime Rib Roast

A four or five pound prime rib roast is seasoned with salt, pepper and garlic salt and placed in a shallow aluminum pan, something similar to those in which TV dinners are frozen.

Water in a separate pan is placed on grill over coals to keep the temperature in tightly closed barrel-barbecue from getting too high.

Pick a spot for the roast not directly over the coals.

Before closing the grill-lid, add a few hunks of water soaked hickory to the existing coals.

Van says this is usually done about 8 or 8:30 in the evening after the grill has been used for the evening meal. He especially likes to prepare a roast on Saturday night for Sunday's mid-day dinner.

After putting the pan of water, roast and adding the hickory, Van checks to see that lid of the grill is closed as tightly as possible.

Before retiring for the night he again checks the fire and perhaps adds a bit of hickory and if needed a mesquite knot and three or four charcoal briquettes.

Arising fairly early the next morning one should check the fire; adding again if necessary the hickory, mesquite and or charcoal briquette.

Van says, "One should never have too much fire, just slow, smoldering coals and the wet hickory for the smoke."

"When you get home from church, prepare the remainder of your meal and by this time the prime roast will be about right, medium rare in center; and more thoroughly cooked on outside, and with a fine smoke flavor."

Van a keen fisherman, also smokes fish in this manner but instead of 18 hours of slow cooking and smoking the fish only requires about four hours. He has prepared turkey for holiday feasting by the same method.

When serving the prime rib roast the Greenses like a tossed green salad, baked potatoes and usually cauliflower or asparagus.

Dessert may be anything from fruit and cheese to cake, gelatin, pie or ice cream.

Why this particular pickup is the most popular truck in Morton

What's the secret of this pickup's popularity? Many people say that it is its many quality features . . . good ride . . . and its double-walled body and cab.

Yet, perhaps what convinces people the most that it is a good, sound value . . . is the name on the back of the truck. A lot of people have come to rely on the name — CHEVROLET — the emblem that appears on more than 22 million cars and trucks on the road.

AUGUST 13-14-15

Down in the rugged, hilly country of Texas north of San Antonio, around Boerne and Bandera, there ranges a strange kind of animal. Scant few humans ever have seen one of these elusive critters. Indeed, many find it difficult to believe that they exist at all.

But they do exist, all right, and you can take the word of Bob Snow for that. Bob has killed more than 100 of the wild creatures and in the process has some hair-raising experiences.

This animal of which we speak with awe is the Russian wild hog, a lean and muscular animal with the speed of a race horse, unbelievable stamina and a viciousness when cornered that has left many pursuing dogs bloodied and dead.

Despite man's best efforts to eradicate the Russian hog, its numbers continue to rise. According to Bob, there are more today than ever before. So many, in fact, that landowners openly are soliciting hunters to come to their ranches to hunt the hogs.

Snow, who is from Kerrville, is a hunter of wide and varied experience. For many years he was with the Texas Game and Fish Commission. But today he is retired to a life of hunting.

He has traveled to Mexico after jaguar and mountain lion. He has hunted about everything Texas has to offer. But he states unequivocally that the Russian hog is the meanest, most vicious critter on four feet.

And coming from Bob Snow, that's saying something.

Snow recalls a vivid incident which gives an inkling as to the character of the Russian boar. His pack of dogs cornered this large and mean specimen and Bob got in close enough to blast the hog in the head with a .45 automatic.

The boar only shook its head, brushed the dogs aside and took off again. Sometime later the dogs bayed the hog once more and the scene was repeated. Again the hog shook off the effects of the .45 slug and continued to fight.

Fight times Snow brought the hog to bay and five times shot it with the .45. The boar never did go down and soon escaped into the brush when Snow ran out of ammunition. Later, some deer hunters found where the hog had crawled under a brushpile and died. In all, the hog ran for something like 10 miles and killed a couple of Snow's prized hounds in the process.

Yes sir, that Russian hog is a tough one, all right.

This hog got an inglorious start in Texas. Legend has it that many years ago a man with a traveling exhibit came to San Antonio. He was down on his luck and wished to get rid of his animals. Included in the lot were several Russian hogs.

A rancher bought the hogs and transported them to his ranch in the Bandera area. He hoped to crossbreed them with domestic stock. But soon thereafter the Russian hogs escaped and vanish into the underbrush. They all but disappeared for several years. Then ranchers started seeing the elusive hogs. Their numbers had increased appreciably.

Hunters like Bob Snow have found the Russian hog to be a sporting big-game animal. A few are slain each year by deer hunters. But in most instances the hogs have to be pursued by trained dogs which trail them in the dense oak and cedar brush characteristic of this part of the state.

There are no special dogs used in hunting the Russian hogs. Just about every kind of breed imaginable might be represented in a typical pack. Snow usually carries a new dog along on a hunt and if it shows any aptitude for hog hunting, it becomes an official member of the pack.

Bob follows along on horseback as the dogs take off into the underbrush, noses laid against the ground, trying to pick up the fresh scent of a hog. The porkers leave telltale evidence of feeding by ground burrows where they're rooted along the side of draws or along ridges. Sometimes they even kill young goats and sheep. This is one reason they are causing some concern among ranchers. Another is that they tear up fences.

The Russian hog has a long snout for digging. It also carries two imposing tusks rising from the corners of its lower jaw. When engaged in a closein fight, the hog will sling its head back and forth, swishing these tusks through the air like sabers.

Increase in boll weevil infestations

Boll weevil infestations are increasing above the Caprock. A report from Area Extension Entomologist Don Rummel says 25 weevil cases were confirmed above the Caprock as of Monday, July 20. Heaviest infestation above the Caprock to date have been found in Crosby County, with other cases reported from Floyd and Dickens counties.

Weevil infestations in cotton below the Caprock are widespread. Populations of the damaging insect continued a slow — but steady — increase this past week. Heaviest weevil infestations below the Caprock were noted in the Afton and East Afton areas of Dickens County. Light to heavy weevil infestations exist in several other counties off the Caprock.

Many farmers have started spot-spraying where weevil infestations have appeared in their fields above the Caprock. Infestations above the Caprock are still light and confined to fairly small areas of the field. Spot spraying will help prevent a buildup and spread of the weevils further into the Plains. This is an important part of the overall weevil control program.

Farmers below the Caprock should begin control when infestations reach the 10-15% level. Infestations of 50-60%, which are present in some fields below the Cap, are much more difficult and expensive to control than if treated earlier.

Bollworm populations are still light over most of the area. However, increased egg-laying has been noted during the past week. Producers should be making regular inspections of their fields for bollworms. Where control is necessary, insecticides should be applied as soon as possible after eggs hatch. Accurate timing of applications can be determined only by regular field inspections.

Overall fleahopper populations have been light, although hot spots have developed in some Rolling Plains counties. Late cotton should still be checked closely for fleahopper infestations.

County Agent Homer E. Thompson cautions that early detection of damaging insects in cotton fields is necessary for effective control.

Candles for Heat

Take along with you to your next deer camp a couple of those thick heavy-wax candles used by plumbers. Some cold night or early morning you'll find they can take the chill of a fairly large tent or trailer in a surprisingly short time.

Services held for cousin of resident

Funeral services for Harold Simpson, 22, of Portales, New Mexico, were held Monday at 3:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Portales. Burial was in the Roosevelt Cemetery.

Simpson was a cousin of Mrs. John D. Lackey and Mrs. C. E. Dolle and a nephew of George Heflin, all of Morton and W. G. Heflin of Axtex, New Mexico. He died last Tuesday following a car accident.

Other survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simpson, one sister, Pat, and three brothers, John and Jimmy, all of Portales, and Bob of Long Beach, California.

A burial jar, or several of them, buried to the neck around the camp traps ants and keeps the ant population under control.

Fall semester at South Plains will begin Sept. 8

LEVELLAND (Special) — The 1964-65 fall semester at South Plains College, Levelland, will begin on Sept. 8 at 9 a.m. with Sophomore registration in the College Library and Freshman testing and orientation in the College Auditorium. Registration for freshmen students will be in the College Library at 9 a.m. on Sept. 9.

Dormitories will be open on Monday, Sept. 7 at 2 p.m. for those students who will reside in the college dormitories.

Registration may also be made on Sept. 10 when classes will begin and for several days thereafter.

Evening College registration will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 8 in the Library Building.

Construction started last year has been completed and students will be using all facilities of the new $680,000 expansion program. This includes the new science building, new agriculture building and greenhouse, fine arts building, addition to library and student center, gymnasium and administration building expansion.

An increase is expected in both the day and evening school enrollment. Last year SPC was one of seven junior colleges in the state to experience more than a 20 per cent increase in enrollment.

Cote Trout of Tokio is SPC student council president for the coming year; Virginia Paschali of Lorenzo is vice-president; and Shirley Evans of Paducah is council secretary-treasurer.

South Plains College administrators are: Dr. Marvin L. Baker, president; Nathan Tubb, academic dean; W. L. Walker, administrative dean; and Frank Hunt, evening school director.

Any additional information may be obtained by writing to South Plains College, or by calling at the office of the administration building.

Officials issuing snakebite warning

An unusually high incidence of snakebites, mostly from copperheads, has occurred this year, says the Parks and Wildlife Department.

There's no apparent reason other than there are years with higher copperhead populations than other years. So, Denver City campers and outdoorsmen stand cautioned when in the woods and on the lakes.

The Department advises that the copperhead bite is seldom as serious as that of the rattlesnake. Even so the venom causes much pain and swelling, requiring immediate medical attention.

Be careful around brush piles, leafy areas, in weeds and around debris, officials advise. A good clean-up around the yard will destroy the reptile's natural habitat, making things much safer for playing children. Campers should

Poultry Congress meets in Dallas

The "World Series" of all Poultrydom is coming to Dallas says Homer Thompson.

The three day meeting will feature the largest display of poultry equipment ever assembled in the southwest. There will be 75,000 air-conditioned square feet of the most modern, up-to-date poultry equipment available ranging in scope from nest pads to large bulk feed trucks.

Persons attending the Poultry Congress will have an opportunity to hear some of the nation's leading poultry scientists discuss a wide spectrum of topics.

Theme of this year's program is "The Market's the Target." In carrying out this theme, the daily educational sessions will include discussion of such interesting subjects as "Chicken Every Sunday", "The Growing Market for Egg Products", and "Bargaining for Better Broiler Prices."

Over 4,000 persons are expected to attend the 1964 American Poultry Congress and Exposition. Registration fee is $3 for men; $1 for women; and NO CHARGE for persons under 18 years of age.

Military draft calls for physicals for 18-year-olds getting under way

The first official call directing the physical and mental examination of 18-year-old males by state draft boards is in the mail, according to Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director.

The quota, effective in July, directs the examination of 1,816 Texas 18-year-olds in that month. These youths will not be considered for armed forces service at this time. Colonel Schwartz pointed out. Normally, a man is not reached for draft induction until about age 22.

Instead, their examination is action of January 5, announcing that he was ordering the Director of Selective Service and the Secretary of Defense to examine all newly-registered men who are out of school and otherwise available for service.

Men married at age 18 and those known to be continuing in school currently will not be examined under the program. Also, high school graduates whose draft files show they intend to enter college the following semester will not be ordered for examination. If a high school graduate plans to enter college this summer or fall, he should notify his draft board immediately.

The 18-year-olds going for the examination in July will be primarily those who registered with draft boards in January 1964.

Millard Townsend named chairman of Cochran County chapter of NFIB

Announcement of the appointment of Millard Townsend of the Townsend Gin, at Morton as chairman of the Cochran County Chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business, was made today by Frank M. Judah, District Manager of the Federation in this area.

Each business and professional man member of this organization maintains a voting membership, and is polled by ballots regularly throughout the year on bills and issues that affect independent enterprise at the national state levels.

In an effort to do everything possible to maintain the American way of life, and keep our free competitive system of business, the businessmen express their own personal opinion on the ballots each month and turn them over to Millard Townsend, who makes tabulations of the total number and manner in which they voted.

These tabulations are sent, with the underlying signed ballots, directly to the desk of Congressman George Mahon, at Washington, D. C., and to State Senator H. J. Blanchard. They are the only means whereby independent business and professional people can keep in continuing, organized, personal, direct contact with their national and state legislators on measures that affect, locally and nationally, free enterprise opportunities.

THE National Federation of Independent Business is a non-profit organization that has the largest individual membership of any business organization in the United States and independent busi-

Should report accidents

Nine traffic accidents occurred on rural highways in Cochran County in which the driver failed to notify the proper investigative or law enforcement agencies.

These uninvestigated accidents made up 17% of the rural traffic accidents in Cochran County in 1963.

Sergeant A. E. Roberts, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area, said that his office investigates every accident they are notified or become aware of.

The Sergeant said "The driver of a vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury or death of any person shall immediately by the quickest means of communication give notice of such accident to the local police department if such accident occurs within a municipality, otherwise to the office of the county sheriff or the nearest office of the Texas Highway Patrol."

The Sergeant also said, "The law requires the driver of a vehicle involved in an accident resulting in injury to, or death of any person, or total property damage to an apparent extent of $25.00 or more, shall within 48 days after such accident forward a written report of such accident to the Department of Public Safety. Any person who shall fail to make such a report shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished."

Lucas Gusher Monument historical marker re: Spindletop discovery

With so many holidays in 1964 falling on the weekend, why not make this the year for exploring Texas with a series of "long weekend" trips to visit some of our state's places of historic and scenic interest.

Beaumont and the surrounding area, for example. Beaumont is located on U. S. Highways 69, 90, 96, 287 and Interstate Highway 10.

Local residents point with pride to historical places, outstanding educational facilities and one of the nation's busiest ports where ships flying flags of all nations drop anchor. Lamar Tech, with more than 6,500 students and its many modern buildings, is recognized as a leader in the educational field.

Gusher monument
Beaumont's most historical point is the Lucas Gusher Monument which commemorates the discovery of oil by Anthony F. Lucas at Spindletop, January 10, 1901. The Spindletop monument, a towering shaft of granite 58 feet high, stands on a site near where the discovery well was drilled. The famous field is still producing substantial quantities of oil.

The Clifton Walking Beam, a civil war relic, is located in the city, and a monument to Richard Dowling, hero of the Battle of Sabine Pass, is located at the battle site of Sabine Pass.

One of Texas' great shrines, the San Jacinto Monument and Battlegrounds is located near Houston and can be reached from Interstate 10.

If you are interested in fishing—there is salt water fishing in the Gulf of Mexico and its bays. Deep sea fishing boats are available for day-long trips into the Gulf.

Year-round activity
Year around, there's something doing in this Southeast Texas city. Some of the community events include the Neches River Festival in April, the Spindletop Charity Horse Show in May, YMBL Big Thicket Trek and Rodeo in July, and the South Texas State Fair in October. Although any time is a good time to be to Beaumont, these are especially fine times.

The Institute is located in Los Angeles, with a branch in New York City.

This world-renowned jeweler's training program, which encompasses the entire diamond curriculum offered by the Institute, involves a study of all phases of diamond technology, including evaluation procedures and grading for color, clarity and cutting. In addition to the study involved, Gayle

Lubbock Production Credit ranked in top ten associations in United States
LUBBOCK — (Special) — Lubbock Production Credit Association ranked among the top 10 associations in the nation in three categories, according to figures recently released by the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C.

Get it at your FAVORITE GROCER

Serving a nine-county area of the Texas Plains, the Lubbock association ranked 10th in total loan volume, fifth in member-owned capital stock and eighth in total stockholder-owned net worth, all climbing in ratings over the previous year.

In all three categories, the Lubbock PCA ranked second among the 36 associations in Texas, trailing only the Plainview Production Credit Association, largest among the nation's 484 agricultural financing institutions.

The Lubbock association had a loan volume of $21,572,000 capital stock totalling $1,982,775 and total net worth of $2,655,629.

"We are very pleased with the growth of our association as reflected in these figures," General Manager Alton Strickland commented. "However they are important only in the increase in services and in benefits we can provide all our members."

The Lubbock Production Credit Association serves Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza and Gaines counties, and is owned and operated in its entirety by more than 1,300 farmers and ranchers.

"We have but one reason for our existence, Strickland pointed out, "and that is to provide a dependable source of agricultural credit at the lowest possible cost to our stockholder-borrowers."

Serving on the Lubbock association's board of directors are President C. E. Hicks of Meadow, Vice President Cleve Littlepage of Tahoka, Leon Fouts of Seminole, A. B. Roberts of Levelland and Dewey Wells of Ralls.

Morton branch of Lubbock Production Credit will be in operation as soon as the new building to house the firm reaches construction completion. At this time work appears to be going along at a rapid pace.

Pete Moore still top Ruidoso jockey
RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — The riding Whited Brothers — David and Danny—are such fierce competitors that they're killing their chances of collaring Pete Moore, who still leads the jockeys here with 44 winners at the 31-day half-way mark of Ruidoso Downs' 62-day meeting.

Nevertheless, both David and Danny (that's D.W.), rode with such gusto last week that they were named to a "dead heat" for "Jockey of the Week" honors. The elder David, at 22, won four races, finished second three times and third twice, while young Danny, 20, notched five winners, two seconds and three thirds. Both were born in Houston, Texas.

Sunflowers may be cash crop in future

Will sunflowers be a profitable crop on the High Plains of Texas? Scientists at the High Plains Research Foundation, near Plainview believe that sunflowers will be a cash crop for many areas of Texas and the Southwest within five years. The foundation is conducting research to find out. A sunflower breeding program was started at the foundation in 1937.

Several hundred strains have been selected which show considerable promise for sunflower production. The objectives of the program are to investigate sunflowers as a crop that could be profitably grown under existing conditions of soil, available water, and climate of the High Plains; and to develop improved varieties of sunflowers adapted to mechanized harvesting. The search is for a sunflower variety that will have: (1) high yielding ability with a large single head with good seed set; (2) a short, sturdy plant that can produce a maximum amount of grain with a minimum amount of water; (3) disease resistant; and (4) exhibit a high degree of insect resistance, especially to the larval stage of the sunflower head moth. This insect has been the number one menace to sunflower seed production.

There were 670 strains of sunflowers in the 1963 breeding program - 440 of these were original strains received from all over the world on a private exchange basis. To initiate this program, twenty four strains were inbred. Two hundred and twenty strains were obtained from the Plant Introduction Service of the U.S.D.A.

Two hundred and thirty open-pollinated heads were selected for planting, and a number of self-pollinated heads were selected for the 1964 breeding program. The entire row of two strains were harvested to obtain seed for planting this year for the purpose of increasing seed. When sufficient seed is available, these strains will be subjected to further testing.

The sunflower is valuable as a food for livestock and people. It has good quality protein and oil. It is a profitable crop in Canada and several areas in the United States.

The modern sunflower has a large head, one to the plant, with bent head that prevents bird damage. A yield of 3,400 to 4,000 pounds per acre is being sought to produce a profitable crop. The sunflower plant desired has a strong stock resistant to early wind damage and can be produced with less irrigation water than other crops.

Campers warned to use caution

Outdoor vacations, camping trips and even family picnics can be ruined by accidents, injuries, illnesses and many seemingly insignificant quirks of nature.

A little care and caution, plus some advance information, will eliminate and lessen these inconveniences.

The addition of a snake bite kit, sun-tan oil, insect repellent and a spray-type disinfectant in your camping gear, will alleviate many possible discomforts. Those susceptible to the toxicity of poisonous plants need to visit their physician for advance shots or medication, and the thoughtful camper will do well to get a tetanus shot, or if this has been done, a booster.

Brushing up on first aid techniques may save a life, and knowledge of boat safety rules may prevent disaster. The cautious boater knows to stay with his boat, using it as a life preserver, if an accident occurs.

Guns, boats and cars do not kill people; people kill people! But the careful camper has the fun-filled outdoor world at his doorstep!

Got an old hula hoop lying around the house? It makes a perfect casting target, floating in a swimming pool.
