Engineer explains reasons for bonds

Douglas also expressed concern over the capacity of the present city water wells. He explained that two additional wells with a pumping capacity of 1400 gallons per minute were needed.

Despite the fact that the city purchased one well this summer from Fred Payne, Douglas commented that this was done as an emergency measure to prevent an actual water shortage this summer. He further explained that the purchased well does not meet the state health department requirements due to the fact that it does not have the proper casing and concrete work. "It would be cheaper," he said, "to drill a new well than to repair the present one."

The need for newer and larger water mains was also cited. With the present lines, Douglas explained that the water simply does not reach all of the homes in the area. There are adequate lines in the newer additions of town, but the small supply of water to these lines cuts down on their efficiency. Douglas said that one of the new Outgoing officers were James Dewbre, President; Kenneth Thompson Vice President; and S. M. Monroe Secretary - Treasurer. New officers are Kenneth Thompson, President; Pegues Houston, Vice President; and Johnny Johnson, Secretary - Treasurer.

A membership committee was formed to sell membership tickets and Booster Club hats. Named to the committee was Tipton Windom, Melvin McCoy and Nel Rose, Chairman of the committee was Johnny Johnson.

Needs are $280,000 to improve all systems

City residents go to the polls Saturday to vote on three bond propositions totaling $280,000. Funds from the sale of the bonds would be used to upgrade and improve the city's water, gas and sewer systems.

Voting will take place at the City Hall between the hours of 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. Each of the three propositions will be voted on separately from the others.

Any property owner whose name appears on the current approved 1963 city tax roll or whose name appears on the 1964 city tax roll as having rendered property for taxation is eligible to vote.

Taxes will not be involved in the payment of the proposed revenue bonds. The principal and interest on the bonds will be repaid solely from revenue derived from the three systems.

There will not be any increase in water, sewer or gas rates. The revenues received from the present systems are adequate to pay the principal and interest requirements on the bonds.

The three propositions include $200,000 earmarked for use in improving the waterworks system, $30,000 for use on sanitary sewer improvements and $50,000 to upgrade the gas system.

Providing the bond passes, the $200,000 allocated for use on the water system would be used to improve the present storage and distribution facilities.

The installation of new and larger water mains would alleviate the problem of water shortages in certain areas of the city. It would provide adequate room for expansion of future growth areas in the community.

Water storage improvements would also be instigated with the

CC board, Council vote aye

The City Council and the board of directors of the Morton Area Chamber issued statements urging passage of the proposed $280,000 bond issue to be voted on in Morton Saturday.

The Council made the following statement concerning the proposed bonds.

"For over a year the City Council has been working on the capital improvements for the city. After many long hours of study with the city engineer and financial advisors, the city called for this revenue bond election."

"A revenue bond election, such as this, by law cannot raise taxes. There will be no increase in water, sewer or gas rates."

"We, the City Council of Morton feel that in order to continue and improve the services offered by the city, the bond election to be voted on this Saturday is necessary."

The board of directors of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce met in called session Tuesday morning and decided to give their backing and support to the upcoming issue. A letter is being sent to all members urging them to vote for the three propositions.

In the letter the board of directors noted that the improvements are badly needed and are a necessity if Morton is to continue to grow. It also added that there would be no increase in either taxes or rates for city residents.

Cotton prediction set for 65,000 bales this season

Lubbock Cotton Exchange predicted a total cotton output in Cochran County of 65,000 bales. This is a decrease of 16,300 bales over the county's production in 1963.

Most of the decrease in production has been blamed on the poor quality of the dryland acreage this year. Lack of moisture has all but wiped out many dryland farmers.

Irrigated crops are reported to be in good condition over most of the area though a good rain is needed in almost all fields.

Area wide the Exchange predicted a bumper crop output, possibly the third highest in history. The crop in our county however will not meet up to this expectation.

Early planting dates and a decrease in insect infestation is noted as being an aid to many areas of the High Plains.

Many farmers in the Morton area are somewhat leery of the prediction of 65,000 bales depending on late summer rains and the advent of an early or late frost.

Speaking on the status of the school system in Morton, Douglas said, "In the 1964-65 school year Morton schools will compare favorably with any school on the South Plains. The curriculum is broad enough to encompass all students, regardless of their interest or ability. I think that the school will continue to progress because of the fine leadership exerted by the school board and the new administrators and the overall co-operation of the entire staff."

Scout relives moments of journey

By Charles Ledbetter

Three Explorer Scouts from Explorer Post 644 in Morton returned recently from a trip to the Boy Scout Jamboree. The scouts were Charles Ledbetter, Lem Chesher, Jr. and John St. Clair.

The Morton boys joined with 280 other scouts and leaders from the South Plains on a 20 day trip encompassing 14 states and Canada. A visit to the World's Fair was included on the tour.

First stop for the group came in Kansas where they visited the Dalton Gang Hideout in Meade, the Boot Hill Museum in Dodge City and Kansas City.

Passing through Missouri the Scouts visited the Mark Twain Cave and then crossed the Mississippi River into Illinois where they went through Lincoln's Tomb in Springfield.

While in Indiana the group spent a night outdoors in the Dunes State Park near Gary and had a swim in Lake Michigan. A stop at Notre Dame University in South Bend proved to be very interesting. Then, the delegation spent a night at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor before touring the Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. A trip to Detroit was also included.

Passing into Canada, the scouts found the Canadians to be very friendly and the residents and Scouts talked about everything from Canadian football to Texas rattlesnakes. A stay in Hamilton, Ontario was very pleasant. The view of Niagara Falls from the Canadian side proved to be the high point of the trip for many.

The journey continued through Syracuse, New York and on into New York City. Scouts and their leaders stayed about five blocks from the United Nations building near the heart of the city and made excursions to the Empire State Building, Times Square, Grand Central Station, Radio City Music Hall, Yankee Stadium and the World's Fair. A ride on the subway was also included.

Following the setting up of camp sites in Valley Forge the group took a side trip to Washington, D.C., where they visited the Capitol, Arlington Memorial Cemetery, the Kennedy Grave, the Washington Monument, the White House and the Smithsonian Institute.

Highlights of the Jamboree now in progress were appearances by Dan Blocker, ("Hoss" Cartwright) Lorne Green, Anita Bryant, Jimmy Nelson and other entertainment personalities.

A large twenty-minute fireworks display thrilled the 52,000 Scouts on opening night. The theme of "Strengthen America's Heritage" helped each boy realize the importance of men like George Washington and what each of us should do to keep this heritage for our children.

President Lyndon Johnson spoke to the 52,000 Scouts from every state and 42 foreign countries and urged each of them to take the responsibility of tomorrow and to be leaders of the next generation.

While in camp, a favorite pastime of the Scouts was swapping articles from around their native home. Scout patches and badges were collected by most attending. A live Texas horned toad proved to be quite a prize for many Scouts living in the eastern part of the country.

On the return trip home the group visited in Roanoke, Virginia, the Natural Bridges, Virginia, Nashville and Memphis, Tennessee and Texarkana and Sherman, Texas.

All agreed they were glad to

Broken gas line halts irrigation on county farms

Cochran county farmers in the western part of the county had to postpone their irrigation recently until the Great Plains Natural Gas Company could fix a gas line that had been broken. The broken pipe paralyzed irrigation in the entire western system of the Natural Gas Company.

Workers drilling a new water well on the Cleve O'Brien farm about 13 miles south of town struck a four inch gas line while digging a slush pit for the well. A bulldozer struck the pipe in several places, but broke through in only one.

As soon as the pipe was broken, 250 pounds of gas pressure tore a large hole in the pipe, and the gas escaped for one and a half hours before it was controlled.

Adan Salazar, employee of the Great Plains Gas Company, rushed to the O'Brien farm soon after the accident, but the 10 ft. of damaged pipe was not replaced until 3:30 p.m. that same afternoon. A welder from Levelland was brought to splice the new pipe into the old.

But while waiting for the repair, about a fourth the county was without gas. Salazar reported that the company's entire west system was without gas for a period of about seven hours. At least 200 irrigation wells were off during the that time, and the Great Plains Gas Company was hearing about it.

The company's west system covers an area from Lehman, west near Griffith and north to the Henry Williams farm a little west of the radio station KRAN.

About 200,000 ft. of gas was lost in the accident, but it was fortunate that no one was hurt.

★ Band meets

All band members in grades 7-12 are urged to be at the band hall at 7 p.m. Monday to make preparations for the rodeo parade.

Thompson is elected consul of Sigma Chi

R. E. Thompson was elected Consul in the Texas University chapter of an internationally known social fraternity this past year at Austin. R. E. is a graduate of Morton High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thompson.

One hundred thirty five members in the Alpha Nu chapter of the Sigma Chi selected Thompson as a candidate for the position of consul, which is similar to a president's position in another type of organization, then gave him a majority vote on election day placing him in the chapter's top office.

Thompson held the position of rush captain before gaining the consul's seat. Rush captain's are in charge of encouraging prospective members to join the fraternity.

During his one year term as consul, Thompson will be responsible, generally for the overall operation of the chapter. More specifically he will see that national and chapter by-laws are enforced. He will manage the finances of the chapter and take care of correspondence to and from other chapters of Sigma Chi. Soon, he will leave for Muncie, Indiana where he will spend two weeks in a fraternity workshop preparing to assume his duties.

Sigma Chi has had a long and honorable past. This international fraternity was born June 28, 1856. Seven college students at Miami University founded its first chapter; today it boasts 155 active chapters and 110,000 members in the United States alone.

Alpha Nu chapter at Texas University was established in 1884. Today it has an active membership and $125,000 in assets which includes a large fraternity house and eighteen apartments.

Purpose of the fraternity as stated in its creed is to "promote friendship, justice, and learning among boys of different talents, temperaments and learning".

Some of Sigma Chi's distinguished alumni include President Grover Cleveland; actor John Wayne; Richard Kleberg, foreman of the world famous King Ranch; George Brown, president of the world's largest construction company, and Senator and Republican Presidential nominee Barry Goldwater. Two other members, Maurice Duke of Wichita Falls and James Saxton of Palestine, Texas, were twice chosen All-American football players in the last five years. These two are members of the Alpha Nu chapter.

Annual social events of the Sigma Chi include the Spring Formal, Round-up, Spring Rush Party, Christmas Formal and Rush Week. The year is highlighted by Derby Day, an exclusive Sigma Chi festivity day in which sorority members are participants in planned games.

Other members of the fraternity from Morton are Willard Cox Jr., also a member of the Texas University chapter, and Darrell Crum, a chapter member in Texas Christian University.

The Telephone Company has made this study so that they may plan future telephone service in advance of the date additional facilities will be required.

This is part of the telephone company's plans to provide their customers with the most modern up-to-date services at all times.

The forecast engineer has completed a house-to-house count of Morton. By taking the population per household dwellings, the number of occupied dwelling units, Morton population at this time is estimated to be 3010. In preparing the 20 year forecast the forecast engineer uses various mathematical equations, past history, comparisons and assumptions as a means for determining future growth. Business and civic leaders were interviewed for their views on the future growth of the population and the economy.

In summing up all the information, the telephone company announced that they are planning for a Morton population of 4200 persons, and 1500 primary telephones in 20 years.

Morton Scouts take Post trip

Five Morton Boy Scouts have returned from Camp Post near Post, Texas where they earned membership in the special Honor Camping Society of the Boy Scouts organization.

The five include Rusty Rowden, Dennis Clayton, Billy Baker and Loy Daniels. Two others went along on the trip. They were Lonnie Hamilton and J. Wayne McDermott. These boys had already earned membership in the Camping Society and are now working for a brotherhood merit.

The camp is set up for the purpose of testing the scout's camping skills. Boys are made to undergo some type of survival training.

The boys were chosen from local troop 601. They are voted on by members of the entire troop. Those who have exhibited the greatest camping skill are sent to the camp to gain membership in the Camping Society.

Eira Odon, sponsor of the group and boy scout counselor for many years, said Tuesday that this year saw "one of the best groups we've had".

SS representative to visit in Morton

Social Security representative will be in Morton Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in the basement of the Cochran County Courthouse.

People who will be applying for social security benefits in the near future should remember to bring certain documents with them which may very likely speed up the processing of their claims, said John G. Hutton, district manager for social security in Lubbock, Texas.

Mr. Hutton said that you can reduce the processing time on your claim by bringing the following things with you when you come to file your claim: (1) proof of age, such as your birth certificate, baptismal certificate or old life insurance policy; (2) A copy of your 1963 tax return if you are self-employed; (3) 1963 W-2 form (the statement of your wages from your employer); (4) A list of your employers during the year, amounts each paid you and their addresses, if you had several employers during the year.

It will also help if you have the following dates in mind or written down: your date of birth, wife or husband's date of birth, date of marriage, and dates or prior marriages and divorce (or date of death) of each. Bring birth certificates of any children you have.

Hutton explained that the person who brings these items on the first visit enables the social security office to start his claim without undue loss of time and gets his checks coming sooner.

Ray Luper is recuperating from surgery performed Tuesday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Ray entered the hospital late Sunday. His wife is with him. Mrs. Carlton Luper was with her son Tuesday.

In addition to three new tanks, two ground storage units and one elevated tank. These three tanks would give the city's water system an additional 430,000 gallons of storage capacity. At this time the city is deficient in storage requirements.

Two additional water wells and necessary booster pumps are also needed to provide adequate water for city residents.

The proposed $20,000 in bonds to be used for improvements in the sanitary sewer system would be used to install an additional 4,500 feet of sewer lines and would also provide for the construction of a new sewer system lift station. These improvements are relatively minor, but would improve the efficiency of the present sewer system.

Gas distribution bonds of $60,000 would allow the addition of more and larger gas lines with the needed valves and fittings. The addition of these lines would reduce pressure in the system and cut down on leakage caused from high pressure. More efficient operation of the entire system would also be achieved.

Wells should be drilled in the southwest part of town near the recently purchased one and that another was needed in the northwest section of the city. He explained that the wells located by the City Hall were too small and were inadequate to the needs of the city.

In regard to the sewer system Douglas noted that improvements needed to be made in the present lift station which is the first gathering point for sewage. He explained that the pumps are worn and that the wet well is too small. In addition the wiring in the pump is dangerous to anyone working there due to its delapidated condition.

Douglas explained that new and additional pumps are needed and the wet well needs enlarging.

A new tank is needed for the facilities where the sewage receives its final treatment. Also tops are needed for the present tanks. At his time the engineer said that the treatment of sewage was inadequate.

The gas system was noted as being plagued by small lines all over the city. During the winter when the peak of usage is hit, the high pressure caused by the small lines causes unneeded leakage. The addition of larger lines would solve this problem according to Douglas.

Douglas said that these improvements would suffice the city for

A HAT WOULD BE SO MUCH COOLER!

She must go to the native market for her physical needs. The straw hat would be so much better than the old scarf tied and knotted about her head. Sweet, cool air could come through that straw and that would feel so wonderful in this heat!

Where does she go for her spiritual needs? Is there a church on the island? Does she know that she will be told about a great God there who will help her, guide her, and refresh her?

How fortunate we are in this country that there is a church in every community. Spiritual help, refreshment of soul, fellowship and love awaits all who enter her doors. We invite you to attend Church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Defeat in Congress is forecast

According to the Louisville, Kentucky, Courier-Journal, the Administration's plan for establishment of a $500 million federal development corporation to finance projects to rejuvenate the economy of the Appalachian region appears to be headed for defeat in Congress.

It is noteworthy that one of this proposal's most controversial factors would be the creation of a federal power authority somewhat on the style of TVA. It has come under heavy fire. A spokesman for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce told the Senate's Committee on Public Works that there would be strong and emphatic resistance by his organization "... to a program of competition by the government as a utility operator or to the elimination of segments of private enterprise in Appalachia because of government."

It is a pity, on more counts than one, that the public versus private power issue should have become mixed up in the Appalachian relief proposal which is related to the general war on poverty campaign. By stirring up a deep and unavoidable controversy it will delay, and perhaps prevent, whatever may be sound in the plan. Then, beyond that, a primary consideration in any such plan should be to make maximum use of self-supporting, self-financing, tax-paying enterprise so that the government's commitments in this time of continued deficits may be held to the minimum. In the case of power, there can be no doubt but that private enterprise in Appalachia, or anywhere else, can produce all that is needed—and pay heavy taxes for that privilege, at reasonable state regulated rates.

In the long run—aside from what the government needs to do in the short run—the elimination of poverty anywhere must depend primarily on the expansion of private enterprise. That goes for electric power as well as everything else.

Senate effort to end tax stopped

As was expected, Senate-House conferees killed a Senate-approved effort to rid the nation of a series of excise taxes which are hangovers from World War II. They were passed then as emergency measures, and everyone supposed they would die when the emergency died. But they are still on the books all these years later, and they are destined to remain there for at least another year.

It is argued that the taxes in question apply to luxuries. But that involves a definition of luxury that, it is safe to say, is hardly in consonance with the thinking of most of us. Among the items which are taxed, for instance, are handbags, luggage, watches and cosmetics. In a nation which prides itself on the highest of living standards, these are necessities used and needed by virtually every family. They are not comparable with the two classic sources of excise tax revenue—liquor and cigarettes.

The Korean War also saw increases in excise tax rates—also billed as an emergency measure—on such essentials as automobiles, auto parts and local telephone service. These too are to be continued.

At the same time, it is evident that there is growing sentiment in favor of either repeal or substantial reduction in these taxes and that the campaign will continue. The chance for success next year, or possibly the year thereafter, is considered good by Washington reporters. If that proves to be the case, consumers everywhere will benefit. And so will workers and all others concerned—for sales will certainly rise when these taxes are eliminated and prices of the affected wares go down accordingly.

IT NEVER FAILS

VIEWS . . . of other editors

Grand Dragon Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta, head of the Georgia Ku Klux Klan, became the first Klan leader to publicly announce his support for presidential nominee Barry Goldwater last week.

Historians, and those old enough to remember the hooded night-riders when they grew to be a national menace years ago, are all aware of the way in which the Klan leaders piled up personal fortunes by exploiting their followers. They preached hatred of the Jews, Catholics and Negroes, blaming them for many things.

If the present day Klansmen still believe this rot—and they believe it—this raises several interesting questions. For one thing, what will the Grand Dragon have to say about the Republican vice-presidential candidate, who happens to be Catholic?

Hondo Anvil - Herald

There's an old saying that you can never win in an argument about religion or politics. We suppose this is because your opponent on either of these subjects has a closed mind and you may as well whistle into the wind as to try and change it.

But there will be a lot of discussions, arguments if you please, about politics during the months to come as the Democratic and Republican standard bearers swing into action.

There is this about the Goldwater movement—he inspires fierce loyalty among his followers or equally fierce hatred on the part of his detractors.

Goldwater strikes fear into the hearts of liberals who quake at the thought of what might happen to the United States and the world if such an impetuous man were to be at the helm of the ship of state.

Conservatives are rejoicing that they have a candidate for whom they can work and vote without the slightest hesitation and this group is fired up right now more than the liberals in the Democratic ranks. Thirty years ago there was the same enthusiasm among the New Deal Democrats but these adherents have gotten fat on years of bureaucratic control and new vigor must be breathed into that party to match the enthusiasm of the new Republicans.

In arguing politics, your opponent will take your words and make them mean what he wants them to mean. Semantics, we believe is what this is called.

We wrote an editorial a while back denouncing extremists of left and right, and what happened? We have had a couple of visitors who think we are unfair to Democrats and have received a letter from a John Birchler who thinks we are way out in left field.

Maybe the old saying is still true—and you shouldn't argue politics and religion. But we'll bet we still do a lot of both.

Ochiltree County Herald

In all the screaming and squawling during the aftermath of the riots of Harlem and Rochester, New York, we can't help but feel sorry for the guys who are caught in the middle—the police.

We haven't been able to tell any difference in the action of the police in Harlem than in Birmingham. In watching a TV special report the other night, we noticed the police were receiving—and taking—about the same amount of abuse in Harlem as the police did in Birmingham last year.

And in both instances, brutality was the instant charge hurled at the law officers by both sides, white and black.

And as is the custom nowadays all over these United States, politicians, parents and pundits quickly rally to the defense of any punk yelling "brutality".

From the graphic filmed reports on the riots in Birmingham, St. Augustine, Harlem, and Rochester in which officers trying to maintain law and order were struck by bottles, bricks, rocks, clubs, spit upon, cussed, and screamed at by both whites and blacks . . . we don't know but what a little night stick swinging was in order.

Personally, we don't see how the officers have done as well as they have . . . standing up in front of hundreds and hundreds of howling citizens, formed into menacing, threatening mobs, be pelted by everything loose in the neighborhood, called every dirty name in and out of the book, and spat upon by both whites and blacks—for the record they have performed their duties admirably.

We can't help but feel that any citizen white or black who has such a low regard for the uniform that represents law and order in this country . . . perhaps needs a night stick laid across his skull.

We certainly are not in favor of any citizen being mishandled by an officer but the situation works both ways—we're not in favor of any citizen taking the law into his own hands or ignoring or ridiculing the duly authorized officer in charge of upholding those laws.

Andrews County News

The spectacle of liberal Republicans panicking—which has been a sorry sight on the political scene for months—as conservatives and moderates gain control of the Republican Party gives rise to serious thoughts on a possible party realignment.

Quite obviously, liberal Republicans like Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, are more at home with liberal Democrats than with conservative members of their own party (such as Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, whom Keating prefers not to run with).

And, likewise, it is obvious that many Dixie Democrats are more at home with the Goldwater-type Republican than with the super liberals of their own Democratic Party.

The year 1964 is significant in that moderates and conservatives have won control of one of the two major parties. This offers conservatives in the other party at home, and it may be that many will seek it.

If any such permanent realignment of the parties is to come about, it seems that the moderates and conservatives of both parties must unite and that the liberals and left-wingers of the two parties join. This would really give the nation a choice between a liberal and a conservative party—as is the case in most democratic countries.

There is much to be said for such a realignment. It has happened before in the history of the American political parties, and it will happen again. The major obstacle at the moment is the fear of many that any new party, with a new party name, might not take root, that it might become a third party, that would disappear in a few years.

On the other hand, if a major merger takes place, with the bulk of moderates and conservatives joining together, it is likely that this element would always command many votes and be a major factor on the U.S. political scene.

The appeal issued by six national leaders of the Negro civil rights movement for a "broad curtailment" or halt of street demonstrations until after the Nov. 3 presidential election was a display of responsibility that merits both commendation and support.

By their action they put into focus the irresponsibility of the leaders of extremist elements within the movement and exposed these creators of turmoil for what they are—hoodlums and, in some cases, Communists.

To what extent the mass of those who are aggrieved will respond to the appeal and this display of responsibility remains to be seen. They must realize, as their moderate leaders do, that their cause will not be served by violence or by actions which provoke violence and strong emotional resentment, and that is especially true during the period of the forthcoming political campaign.

It can be expected that the extremists will do all that they can to discourage and prevent a favorable response to the appeal. They are more interested in opposing the moderate leaders than in achieving objectives of the movement they profess to espouse. If the moderate leaders prevail, the extremists will stand repudiated, and their influence will be destroyed rather than enhanced.

The decision as to who will prevail rests with members of the race, collectively and individually, and it is to be hoped devoutly that they will choose those leaders who have shown themselves to be responsible and repudiate once and for all those who are seeking to exploit their discontent for selfish and unbecoming ends.

It will be found that, in the end, reasonable restraint and responsibility will pay much greater dividends than anything that might be put upon a party by pursuing widespread demonstrations during the critical weeks ahead. Without this restraint and responsibility, indeed, there is very great danger that much of the ground already gained will be lost.

Highlights & Sidelights

Supreme Court takes recess

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Supreme Court took a recess last week after handing down a heavy volume of new rulings including one which in effect upheld the 1959 open beaches law.

High court declined to hear arguments attacking the law guaranteeing free access to the beaches and oceans. It left standing a Houston Court of Civil Appeals decision stating the public is entitled to use Gulf Coast beaches from the water to the vegetation line.

In other cases, the court:

Permitted Texas Liquor Control Board to continue regulation of liquor exporters along the Mexican border during court attack on a law authorizing such control.

Set down arguments by State Board of Optometry Examiners to force Judge Dallas Bankership of Dallas to rule on Dr. Ellis Carp's suit challenging its ethical practices order of 1959.

Overturned a contempt judgment against the city manager and mayor of Hurst, Tarrant County, in connection with a condemnation case involving land for drainage easements.

Agreed to review an Austin district court decision denying a state savings and loan charter to Metropolitan Savings Association of Houston.

Refused review of a $1,000,000 lawsuit in Hutchinson County brought by union members who claimed they were fired for following orders of their officials in a 1958 strike at Phillips Petroleum Company plants in the Texas Panhandle.

Refused a state AFL-CIO request to enjoin alleged "pro-employer lobbying" by Texas Employment Commission, leaving in effect lower court opinions.

Third Court of Civil Appeals overturned a district court ruling blocking Uphur Rural Electric Co-Op from building a $9,000,000 power plant near Ore City. However, it held the co-op cannot sell power to non-members.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Gov. John Connally appointed James S. Naismith of Corpus Christi and Donald C. Klein of Odessa to the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers. Col. Thomas C. Green of Austin was reappointed executive secretary.

Connally also reappointed Edwin Bucek, Edmund Hajovsky and Alfred Neumeyer Jr., of Hallettsville to the Board of Directors of Lavaca County Flood Control District No. 3. He selected James Zozka, Hallettsville banker, to fill the unexpired term of Robert Gindler, resigned.

SCHOOL TRANSFER UPHELD — Hockley County school board's approval of the transfer of 25 students from Witharral Independent School District to schools in Leveland, Littlefield and Anton was upheld by Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar.

Witharral authorities asked the commission to prohibit the transfer which had been requested by parents of the children.

REDISTRICTING IS "WORST YET" — Sen. George Moffett of Chilloothee believes redrawing of state congressional districts is the hardest job ever to face the Texas Legislature. Moffett is chairman of a special committee studying the problem.

Moffett, who holds the all-time record for continuous service in the Legislature (34 years), spoke out on the eve of his committee's fourth hearing in San Antonio.

Committee waded through five new redistricting plans at the Bexar County hearing. Fifth hearings will be held in Lubbock on August 20.

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba meanwhile announced he has called on Texas congressmen to support federal legislation authorizing states to retain full authority over both congressional and legislative apportionment.

BURIAL ASSOCIATION RATES TO RISE — State Board of Insurance has issued a notice to statewide and local associations and burial associations that they must adopt, by November 1, rates which will produce enough income to build their mortuary funds to the point where they can back up all benefits promised policy holders.

This action followed a hearing by the State Burial Association Rate Board at which State Insurance Department actuaries expressed alarm that many small local mutual and burial associations were not collecting large enough premiums to pay all potential claims.

Many associations already have voted to increase rates and two have obtained board approval.

Under the order, each of the 528 associations must appear before the Insurance Board between now and July 1, 1965, and prove they have rates in effect which will bring mortuary funds up to the reserves required by law.

LEGISLATIVE INTERNS — Seven State government trainees who will participate in the 1964-65 program to interest qualified persons in government careers have been appointed by Speaker of the House Byron Tunnell.

How Long Do We Support Him?

Program is co-sponsored by the State of Texas and the Ford Foundation.

First-year "interns" are Charles William Hoehne, Schulenburg; William G. Reid, San Marcos; Jo Ann Pankratz Stiles, Comfort; Hubbard Scott Caven and Mrs. Clarence J. Davis, both of Austin; Jonathan S. Day, Houston; and Edward Lamar Farley, Delhi, La.

ALAMO HIGHWAY — State Highway Commission heard requests from a group of Texas representing cities from Texarkana to Round Rock. They asked that a route through their area be called "the Alamo Highway" and sought recommendations on ways to bring it to top condition by 1968.

Alamo Highway Association is made up of prominent boosters from cities and villages along U. S. 59 from Texarkana to Marshall; S.H. 43 from Marshall to Henderson; U.S. 79 from Henderson to Round Rock, and I.H. 35 from Round Rock to San Antonio.

F. B. Elliott of Jacksonville, president of the association, said 1968 will be a banner year in which to attract people from all over the east and the north to follow the Alamo route to the HemisFair in San Antonio and to the Olympics in Mexico City.

Highway Commission did not grant the request immediately. But its members, Herb Woodard of Carrizo Springs, Hal Woodward of Coleman and JJack Kullgen of Waco, expressed interest in the tourist attraction idea.

WATER AID — Texas Water Commission has been busy trying to help communities suffering from the extreme drought.

In little more than a week's time, the Commission sent one of its members, H. A. Beckwith, to Brackettville to help that city drill a water well when Las Moras Spring went dry; granted Thordale a permit to pump 20 acre feet of water from the San Gabriel as an emergency measure; and secured a Kerr County court order restraining irrigators in the county from using water from the Guadalupe River and its tributaries for anything except domestic, municipal and livestock purposes.

NEW ANIMAL HEALTH DIRECTOR NAMED — Texas Animal Health Commission has picked Dr. S. B. Walker to replace Dr. R. G. Garrett as Executive Director of the commission when the latter retires to his Taylor farm in October.

Dr. Walker now is a supervising veterinarian for the Animal Health Commission. He received a bachelor's degree from Texas A&M in 1955, and his doctor of veterinary medicine degree in 1959. He is a native of Hillsboro.

Whiteface grad seeks position on top cage team

Vying for a berth with the world famous Hutcherson Flying Queens of Wayland Baptist College in September will be Miss Linda Faye Jennings, Whiteface, according to Coach Harley J. Redin.

While freshmen seldom make the team, this year may be an exception for Miss Jennings as marriage has taken a heavy toll of Flying Queens this summer, leaving a larger than usual number of openings. Some 25 to 30 freshmen from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, California, Illinois and Iowa will be competing for these openings.

Miss Jennings is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jennings, Whiteface, and was graduated as valedictorian of the Whiteface High School senior class. She expects to major in English, looking toward a career in teaching.

For many years the Flying Queens have been known for their beauty, brains and ballhandling. This year is no exception, thinks Coach Redin, as a high percentage of the young women who will be trying out for the Queens was graduated in the top 10 per cent of their class, besides winning many titles for their attractive appearance.

Enrollment at Wayland will exceed all previous enrollments, according to the registrar who reports that the largest ever number of permits-to-enter have been issued already. Many residence halls have reached capacity and more housing is being opened for September.

Henderson finishes specialist course

FORT GORDON, GA. (AHTNC)—Pvt. Joe E. Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Henderson, Whiteface, Tex., completed an eight-week communications center specialist course, July 31, at the Army Southeastern Signal School Fort Gordon, Ga.

Henderson was trained in the use of teletype sets, in tape relay operations and in manual switching procedures.

The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in February 1964 and completed basic combat training at Fort Polk, La.

He is a 1962 graduate of Whiteface High School and attended South Plains Junior College in Levelland, Tex.

Remaining five Moore children, two boys and three girls, were parceled out one each to relatives.

Clifford, seven years old at the time, went to live with an aunt, uncle and their son on a farm in Murray County, Okla., it was here he learned to cook, helping his aunt, also to farm, assisting his uncle.

This weeks favorite recipe was submitted by C. A. Moore at the request of a number of people. Moore prepares the stew especially for fall hunting trips but it is a whole meal and good any time of the year.

Hunters Stew
3 pounds good beef, cubed
3 cloves of garlic
Cook until almost done and add:
1 teaspoon paprika
1 quart canned tomatoes
3 medium size onions, chopped
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
3/4 pound cabbage, chopped
4 large potatoes, cubed
3 carrots, diced

Cook one hour on simmer. Then add one cup macaroni snails and cook until done, about 20 more minutes.

This recipe makes about two gallons. If lesser quantity is desired, simply cut down on ingredients. Moore cooks the stew and then packages it in plastic cartons of desired size for servings anticipated. These cartons are then frozen and taken by Moore when he starts on a hunting trip. Virginia, Mrs. C. A. Moore, says Clifford often makes the stew especially for her during the winter months here at home.

An ardent sportsman, Moore is pictured in a white leather jacket made from the center part of the hides of two Elk, one weighing 800 pounds and the other 750.

Mrs. Moore usually joins her husband for his annual fall hunting trips, made in the past in October at the opening of season in Colorado.

Fall of 1964 they hope to vary the scene by combining a hunting trip and a visit with their son, Clarence, his wife and family in Idaho.

Moore has his name in the Idaho pot for a chance at a Moose. He and his wife have made at least five hunting trips to Colorado.

They make an annual trip in the spring to San Diego, Calif., for deep sea fishing. They have been going to Conchas the past several years for fresh water fishing, owning a cabin there for 15 years.

In-between fishing and hunting Moore farms 170 acres of irrigated land northeast of town. He does all of his own work. Producing in the main, cotton, wheat and peas.

Around their comfortable farm home just in the outskirts of Morton proper on Country Club Road, he also has a small orchard.

The Moores have lived in Cochran County since December 1933, moving from Lubbock. Their first home was a two room place at County Line. Later they moved to the present farm living in one house about 15 years.

Their present home, modern in every detail, was built in 1956.

Moore was born in Parker County moving with his family by covered wagon to Sulphur, Okla. When they'd been there three months three members of the family were drowned in a tragic accident in the Washita River. A 15 year old sister, while wading, swimming and playing in the water, got caught in an underwater whirlpool when the parents saw what was happening they tried to save the girl; all three were drawn under and drowned.

Remaining five Moore children, two boys and three girls, were parceled out one each to relatives.

Clifford, seven years old at the time, went to live with an aunt, uncle and their son on a farm in Murray County, Okla., it was here he learned to cook, helping his aunt, also to farm, assisting his uncle.

C. A. Moore

His only brother, Carl, died of tuberculosis, here in 1937. The three sisters are scattered, one living in Weatherford, one in Houston and one in Santa Clara, Calif.

The family has never been together all at the same time since being separated after the loss of their parents and sister.

Moore graduated from high school at Hickory, Okla., which was later abandoned upon consolidation with school in Sulphur.

He left Murray County and worked in the Borger oil fields as a trucker for a trucking concern. Later moving to Lubbock where he farmed. It was while there he met and married Virginia Hall of Acuff.

Cochran land was raw when the Moores moved out here. He bought broke out and put in cultivation land owned by R. B. Stanford of Waco (Judge Stanford still has considerable holdings in Cochran County.) Purchase of acreage at that time was mostly on the "Bale Cotton Plan" and according to Moore nearly all the families coming to the area at that time bought land by the same method. That is the purchaser agreed to pay the owner 20 bales of cotton a year for each 160 acres. Payment in full would have taken about 20 years.

Moore let his land revert, as did a good many others. "However," he said, "our owners were in the main very lenient and if a purchaser failed to make the crop we could hold on and try again the next year."

Moore says he put in the second irrigation well near Morton and possibly in the county, Merlin Roberts the first one.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore are Methodists. He is a Mason, Scottish Rite Mason and Shriner.

He and Mrs. Moore are the parents of two children, Mrs. Jack Tice (Mary Carolyn) of Roswell and Clarence Moore, a civil engineer with Phillips on a government contract in Idaho. Both Carolyn and Clarence graduated from Morton High School. Both attended Tech and Clarence has a Master's degree in engineering.

Carolyn and her husband have three sons. Clarence is the father of two daughters and a son.

Moore is very proud of his children and grandchildren, even though the little Tice boys do raid the peach and apricot trees on the sly, when they visit here with their grandparents.

Greene family returns from western journey

Mr. and Mrs. Van Greene and children, Andy T. Wilson, Becky and Bob, have returned from a tour which included a visit in Phoenix with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilson, grandparents of Andy. Grand Canyon, Ariz., and Durango, Colo., from where they took the all day excursion by narrow gauge railway to Silverton. They also visited Mesa Verde National Park and the cliff dwellings in Colorado.

Mrs. England back from Colorado trip

The Morton Tribune welcomes Ann England home from a two week's vacation with her aunt, Mrs. R. L. White of San Diego, California. Mrs. England left July 17 with her aunt on a sight seeing tour. The two enjoyed the rugged Western beauty of the land of enchantment and colorful Colorado.

The first stop was in historic old Santa Fe where they visited the Fine Arts Center and browsed through the many art galleries in the Santa Fe art colony.

A visit was made to the prehistoric cliff dwellings near by in Frijoles Canyon.

Next stop was in Los Alamos, one of the United States' most atomic cities, then they traveled on to Durango, Colorado. From Durango a narrow rail train was taken through the pine forests which have been appropriately called "the Alps of America". The small train, which is a reproduction of a 19th century locomotive, carries tourists from Durango to Silverton, a restored 19th century mining town.

On the return trip, the two stopped at the Ledbetter summer cabin in Ruidoso.

Bledsoe graduate now in Germany

8TH INFANTRY DIV., GERMANY (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. Don I. Brooks, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie F. Brooks, Star Route 2, Morton, Tex., was assigned to the 8th Infantry Division in Germany, July 12.

Brooks, a rifleman in Company C, 1st Battalion of the division's 39th Infantry near Worms, entered the Army last February and completed basic training at Fort Polk, La.

He is a 1963 graduate of Bledsoe High School.

Visiting in the home of Lee Sergeant this week was Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gipsan and family from Rockdale, Texas. Mr. Gipsan is the brother of Mrs. Lee Sergeant.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kennedy this week was Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Mrs. H. M. Banta of Coldwater, Kansas and her family. Also visiting was Mrs. Kennedy's nephew, James White of Sundown.

L. S. Tilger surveys his farm

Tilger breaks irrigation tradition

L. S. Tilger, whose farm is located 20 miles south of Morton, Texas, has broken the tradition of most irrigated farmers on the South Plains. He has combined with row crops. As a feed company representative, Tilger has been closely associated with the livestock industry for several years. He believes that livestock will have a stabilizing effect on the income from small irrigated farms in this area.

Sixty of the 150 acres in his place have been planted to grass. The rest is used for milo and various kinds of forage sorghum. Tilger started this operation in 1961 when he began participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program. He first planted cane for a dead litter cover crop on the land that was to be planted to grass. Then in the spring of 1962, the grass was seeded in this cover to protect the seedlings from wind damage.

His initial planting consisted of 30 acres, divided equally between weeping lovegrass, Indiangrass, and switchgrass. A good stand was secured on all but the Indiangrass and the land was covered by the end of the 1962 growing season.

The Indiangrass was overseeded in the spring of 1963 to improve the stand.

"I could have started grazing the grass in 1963, but I believe it is very important to get grass well established before livestock are purchased. I didn't want to get in a tight for enough pasture and do a lot of feeding," Tilger said.

He is currently grazing this 30 acres with about 30 cows and calves. It is fenced into three pastures with a different kind of grass in each pasture. He rotates the livestock about every two weeks. "I watch the grass rather than moving the cattle on a set period of time. I never like to graze it too close," said Tilger.

With proper pasture management, fertilization and irrigation the pasture is providing excellent forage. His good management does not stop with the pasture. Close care is also given the livestock. A complete mineral supplement with a systemic insecticide fed free choice. No other supplemental feed has been provided and the systemic insecticide controlling flies as well as canteen grubs.

Tilger completed his grass planting program this year with 10 acres of Midland Bermudagrass, 10 acres of switchgrass and 10 acres of weeping lovegrass. This is well established but he expects the number of livestock to increase the number of livestock.

"I will need to feed some protein supplement this winter, other than that I plan to grow the feed I will need here on the farm," Tilger said. "I have 100 acres of hegari for hay and I plan to seed eye in the grain sorghum stubble," he said.

A combination grain and stock operation such as this should give more profit than grain sorghum alone according to Tilger.

What is fashion's newest favorite? The wrist-length sleeve.

And with the wrist-length sleeve, your hands—and your manicured fingernails—will be sharply in focus this season. Your hands and your nails not only can, but should, be inspection-perfect at all times.

Efficient, too, for keeping your nails looking just-manicured seven days a week!

Not at all! There's a lovely manicure kit that will help you give yourself an "instant manicure"—or almost.

First, select the color of polish you want to wear. Shake the bottle well to be sure color, oils, and other elements are well blended. Then, remove your old polish with the non-scorer remover that wipes off with a single stroke, from cuticle to nail tip.

Next, file your nail tips smooth, rounding them gently, preferably with an emery board.

Wash your hands with warm soapy water. Dry thoroughly. Now apply pearl base. It's so good for helping your nail enamel adhere, as well as stay fresh longer. Apply first to the thumb of one hand, then, in sequence, from little finger to forefinger.

Next, brush on nail enamel, in the same sequence, one hand, then the other. Finish with sealer.

For early fall, fashion says blend, don't match your nail enamel to your lipstick. This new look gives you marvelous leeway to use lighter or darker than lipstick shades to suit your taste and fancy.

If, through habit, you've been sticking to creme nail enamels, experiment with luminous polishes for an exciting change of pace. The luminous enamels look so pretty with your dressy blacks and dark summer chiffons.

Pretty nails need pretty hands to show them off. Use hand & body lotion liberally and often.

If you'd like to see some of this season's newest and most beautiful nail enamels noted with gorgeous new lipstick shades, please be my guest.

Just phone me or write to me, care of this newspaper and let me treat you to a free hour of beauty—and a complimentary make-up. Take advantage of beauty for the asking.

Summer cookout ideas

by Jennie Allen

As a change of pace in summertime eating, the cook-out is usually a big success. On a trip to the mountains, lake or in your own back yard, the cook-out is simple to prepare, convenient and delicious.

One of the easiest ways to cook out-of-doors is to use aluminum foil. Complete meals can be prepared with little effort. Most meats and vegetables can be prepared by wrapping them in foil and covering them with hot coals for 20 to 40 minutes. Here is an example of foil dinner that might be prepared.

Cut a piece of foil twice as large as is needed to completely cover the food. Fold the foil so that it makes a double thickness. Place a hamburger patty on the foil. On top of it, stack three peeled potato slices, a slice of onion, and several slices of carrot. Fold the foil to completely cover the foods. If it is not wrapped securely, it will burn. Place in hot coals about 20 minutes.

To complete the meal, serve a beverage, a salad, and a baked apple for dessert. To prepare the apple, remove the core. Stuff the apple with raisins, cinnamon, and brown sugar or marshmallows or peanut butter. Cover the apple with foil and place it in the coals with your dinner.

This method of preparation can be used with many foods — corn on the cob, baked potatoes, beef chops, (any meat except pork.)

One pot meals are also good and easy. For a one pot meal meat is usually cooked in a large pot and seasonings and vegetables are added to make a stew. An example of this is a dish named Ring-Tum-Didy. Fry hamburger with finely chopped onion till browned. Add salt, pepper, corn and tomato puree. Simmer until stew thickens. Serve on a slice of bread.

A hint to the pot-washer, mix a little water with detergent to make a thick paste. Coat the outside of the pot thoroughly with the paste before food is cooked in it. When clean up time comes, the black residue on the pot will wash right off without scouring.
