'Maid of Cotton' to be named

Nine candidates seeking title in Saturday contest

The Morton Area Junior Maid of Cotton will be crowned Saturday night at the County Activities Building in Morton.

Nine Morton area high school girls are vying for the title of the event, sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Selection of the young lady to wear the crown will begin at 7:30. The contest is open to the public, and no admission will be charged.

The Maid of Cotton contest is patterned after the South Plains Maid of Cotton Contest, except that only high school girls may enter. Entrants were restricted to living in Cochran County, or attending school at Whiteface, Bledsoe, Bula, or Three Way.

The Chamber of Commerce derived the contest as a means of promoting cotton and the cotton industry in this area. First place winner of the event will be awarded a $200.00 cotton wardrobe, with the first alternate winning a $100 wardrobe, and the second alternate a $50 cotton wardrobe.

Judges for the event will be Mrs. Carroll Cobb, Dixon White, and I. G. Holmes, all of Lubbock. Mrs. Cobb has been a member of the South Plains Maid of Cotton committee, while Mr. Dixon is president of Lubbock Cotton Oil Company, and a member of the South Plains Maid of Cotton Committee. Mr. Holmes, is owner of Holmes House of Photography. All three judges are exceptionally well qualified, and the chamber is indeed fortunate in having secured their services.

Gene Lynn, popular television and radio newsmen, will serve as master of ceremonies. He is associated with KCB, Channel 11, Lubbock.

Urge C-C forum participation

Letters are being sent out this week to all Morton businesses by Gene Snyder, president of Morton Area Chamber of Commerce, urging participating in the Area Progress Forum here Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22.

The forum, sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce, will be conducted by Ralph Duncan, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Abilene.

Local chamber of commerce officials pointed out this week that the clinic is for all Morton business people and residents, not just members of the chamber. "Purpose of the forum is to ascertain the wishes of the whole citizenry in matters of general community improvement economically and physically," one chamber official stated.

Seven sessions of one hour each are being set up by those planning the forum, with the classifications including retailers and wholesalers, housewives and women's clubs, high school seniors, services and trades, agriculture, profession-men, and employees. The original time schedules for the various sessions have been revised to better serve the groups, but final re-scheduling is not as yet complete. A definite time schedule will be announced later this week.

Duncan will personally conduct the forums, but each session will have a local chairman. Another thing pointed out this week by chamber officials was that each session will last only one hour and no longer. According to those who have conducted the clinics in other cities, this rule is strictly adhered to because quite often another group is ready to begin discussion at the end of an hour.

A meeting of the chairmen and attendance chairmen of the various sessions was held last Friday, along with a director's meeting of the C of C. President Snyder briefly covered the duties of the chairmen, and chamber manager Johnny Johnson told those present the need for a clinic and for widespread participation.

The forum is conducted along the line of Town Hall meetings, and everyone will have a chance to voice their opinion as to what would improve the Morton area most. Chamber officials were quick to point out that if it is impossible for a person to be present at the session scheduled for their particular group, they are invited to attend any other session. The most important thing is that everyone participate in the forum.

Tommy Lynch has been named as overall attendance chairman, and the following are chairmen of the different sessions: See FORUM, Page 6

County FHA plans tour of projects on Friday

Civic and area leaders have been invited to participate in a special tour Friday afternoon to acquaint them with activities of the Farmers Home Administration in rural Cochran County, it was learned today from Marvin Elliott, county FHA supervisor.

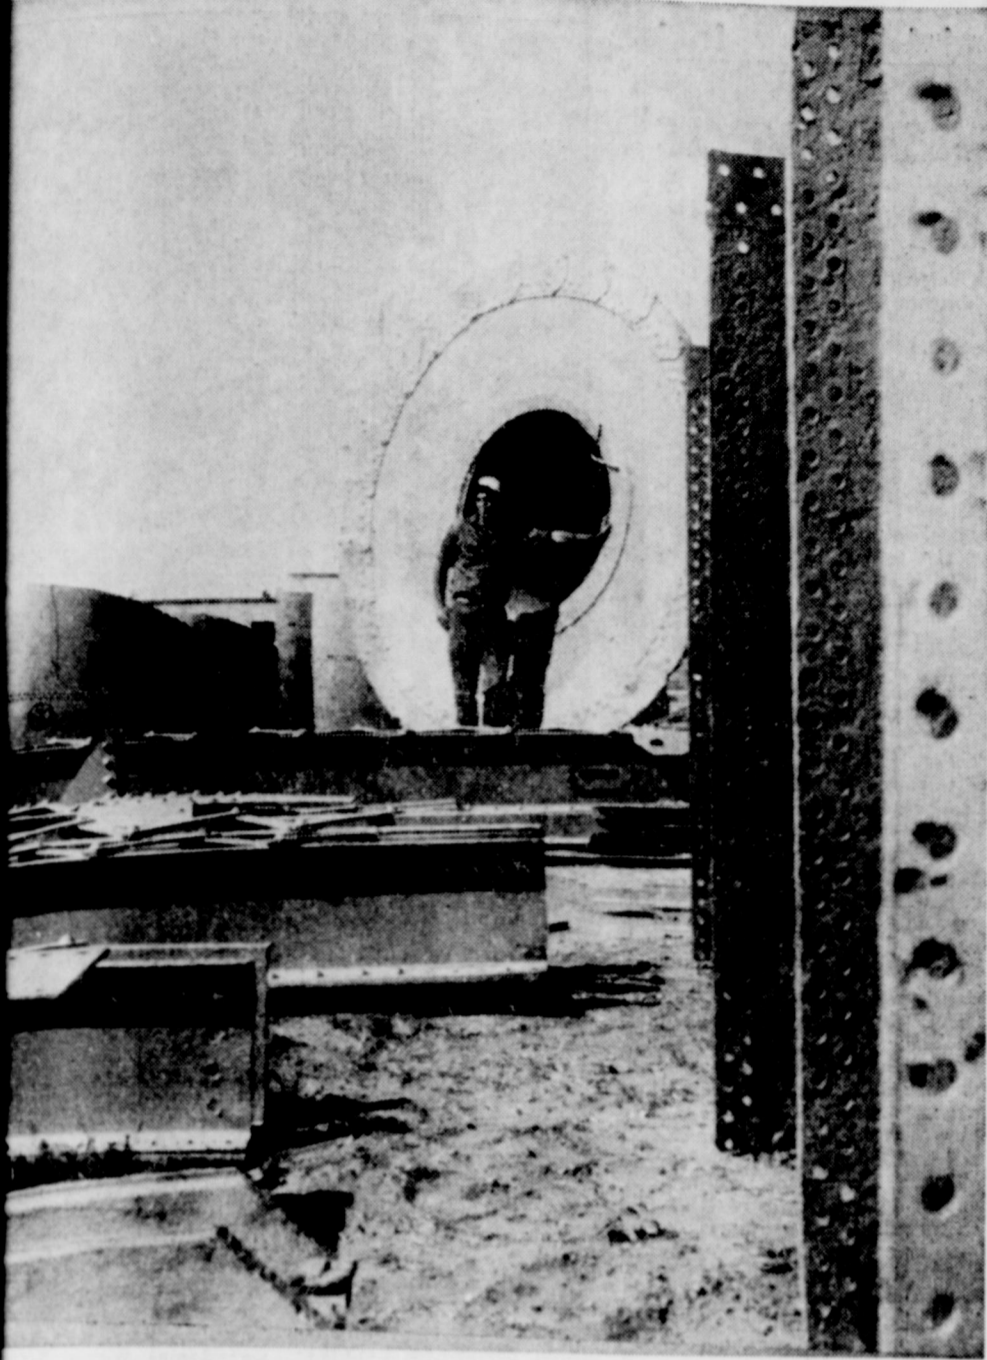

Initial stop will be made at the farm of W. O. Fluit, Jr., three miles west of Lehman. Fluit, a "new" farmer, is this fall harvesting his second crop from the 400 acre farm, the enterprise being made possible by a loan from the FHA. The farm has two small irrigation wells, and a 23 acre cotton allotment.

Elliott pointed out that the original loan last year was made to Fluit by the FHA when no other funds were available to the farmer.

The group will then continue to Bledsoe, to inspect the Bledsoe Water Supply District, its pumping and distribution system, and review progress made during its first year of operation.

Elliott reported that the water district has been meeting its financial obligations on the $82,000 loan granted on a 40-year-pay basis. The loan made possible for the first time a water system for Bledsoe. Starting with 51 water meters when the system became operative July 26, 1963, Elliott pointed out that since that time five new meters have been added, all for new homes constructed in Bledsoe.

Supply the system is one well 6 1/2 miles north of Bledsoe, which See TOUR, Page 6

Indians-Mules duel slated

Fullback looms Friday night as two of the best in Texas meet along with their teams when Morton Muleshoe for their second contest of the season.

Dobson, of Morton and Smith of Muleshoe are both among the tops in their classifications, and performances in the season proved the critics right. In last their opening contest Muleshoe, 21-6, while Smith was blanking Dimmitt, Dobson and Smith were outstanding for their teams. Muleshoe, who moved into class 3-A this year, is defending champion of Morton's old district, and the Mules upset highly-rated Denver City in bi-district play.

The Mules list four seniors on their starting lineup, along with six juniors, and one sophomore. Scott Oliver, a senior halfback, was all district last year, as was Ronnie Swint, a junior tackle weighing 190 lbs. He is reported to be Muleshoe's best all around lineman. Fullback Smith didn't come into his own until halfway through district competition last fall, so was not mentioned on the all-district selections, although he was named honorable mention all state for his work in play-off competition. Smith rambled for 237 yards against Dimmitt Friday night, and scored two touchdowns. The other Mule tally was by Joe Adams, who returned the opening kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown. Muleshoe runs from a straight T formation, and didn't show too much air power last week against the Bobcats, although they didn't have to.

Morton's line-up will be a little different against the Mules than it was in last week's opener. Sheerill Griffith has moved into the halfback slot, moving Kenny Pal-

New city water tower arrives; erection slated

Erection of the new 250,000 gallon elevated water storage tank for the city is expected to get underway shortly, with a special crew scheduled to do the work.

The tank was recently purchased by the city from William H. Ladew Co. of Dallas at a cost of $30,500, and arrived here this week. The crew is specially trained for this type of work by that company, according to Elra Oden, city secretary.

Oden said the company is allowed 90 days from the time they were notified the footings were cured — which was August 28 — to complete erection of the storage tank. However, it is expected that it will be done before the deadline.

The crew will also fill and test the tank, as well as painting it aluminum over the orange sealer coat, Oden said.

The new tank, located on West Grant Street, is immediately to the rear of the new high school building, and on the same location as three city ground storage tanks of 1,000 barrel capacity each. It will greatly augment the only other elevated water storage the city has a 50,000 barrel tank in the downtown area.

Oden said the new tank would benefit the city in at least two ways, providing for more equal distribution of water through the system with equalized pressure, and through keeping in line city fire insurance rates.

Lions Club plans Ladies' Night Oct.

Indians drop season opener to Olton, 21-6

Morton Indians exploded early when they lost their offensive punch, they dropped their opening grid contest to the Olton Mustangs by a 21-6 count. The game played before one of the largest opening night crowds in Morton history, estimated at around 1,000.

Indian fullback Bobby Dobson led the home-town crowd early in the first quarter, as he sprinted 57 yards for a Morton touchdown with only a minute and 35 seconds gone. His amazing dash to the promised land was an exceptional run, as the game film showed that no less than seven players had hold of him at the time or another, but couldn't get on.

Dobson tallied their first score only four seconds remaining in the initial quarter, and added extra point from placement. Mustangs fought the clock at half-time and won, again crossing the goal line with less than a minute remaining to play. The score of the contest came 13-0 left in the third quarter. Olton halfback, Richard Hall, Olton halfback, and the first and third touchdowns for the Mustangs. The first was a 12 yard gain around the left end, and the other on a 10 yard sprint on the same play. End Charles Church snagged a 25 yard pass from quarterback Joe Priest for the middle Olton score. Don Mitchell kicked all three extra points.

Both teams failed to cash in one additional scoring opportunity. Olton had a first down on the Morton six yard line in the first period but fumbled with the Indians recovering. Late in the fourth stanza, the local eleven failed to make a first down on the Mustang seven yard stripe to foil a scoring attempt.

Play by both teams was typical of season openers. Missed assignments on offense and sloppy tackling on defense bothered both squads.

Olton far out-distanced the Morton club on statistics, but the game was actually much closer than the stats indicate. The Indian defense completely relaxed just before the halftime and let the Mustangs score from 47 yards out in just three plays. Morton was completely suckered on a fullback draw play good for 17 yards, and then

Church got back of the defensive halfback to catch the TD pass. Olton completely dominated play during the third quarter, with the Indians running only four offensive plays in the entire twelve minutes. Mustangs took the kickoff and put together the only real good offensive drive of the night as they tallied their third score on a series of 13 plays. The longest single gain of this drive was a 14-yard pass play, while a 10-yard advance on the ground was the best effort there.

The Indians' best sustained effort came in the first part of the second quarter. They took over on their own 38 after receiving a kickoff, and pushed to the Olton 23 before an offside penalty temporarily throttled them. A fourth down pass was incomplete at the 33 yard stripe.

Morton has a lot of work to do before they jell into a good ball club, but the job is not overwhelming. Their fundamental block and tackling has to improve, and they will have to work at keeping themselves alert at all times.

Dobson did a fine job of running for the Indians, and he showed that he will be one of the best in West Texas before the year is over. Kenny Palmer also did a commendable job of running with the ball.

Mike Irwin showed that although he is one of the smaller Indians, he can scrap with the best of them, and Eddie Holloway came through with a well-played game.

Although losing the first game of the season is always disappointing, the Indians seem to have realized their mistakes and have been working hard this week to correct them before their game this Friday night with Muleshoe.

Boundary extension for water district proposed

Cochran County landowners proposed an extension to the boundaries of the High Plains Under-ground Water District in Cochran County at a Water Commission hearing Thursday in the County Activities Building.

Texas Water Commission members were present at the hearing to discuss possible alteration of boundaries of the High Plains Under-ground Water District No. 1. Witnesses from Deaf Smith and Bailey Counties were present to present their data requesting some of the dry land areas in their counties to be dropped from the District.

Members of the Texas Water Commission were Mr. Otho Dent, Austin; Frank Rainer, engineer with Texas Water Commission; Mr. Beckworth, also an engineer; W. G. McMillan, Director of the Under-ground Water Div.; Frank Rogers, Hydrologist and Mr. Adams, Legal advisor.

Those from the High Plains Under-ground Water District of Lubbock were Tom McFarland, Manager; H. G. Wells, legal advisor; Wayne Wyatt, engineer.

The Morton group suggested that the extension include land five or six miles south of Whiteface to the Yoakum - Cochran county boundary. It should extend west from the Hockley - Cochran line to include half the county.

Frank Rainer, a member of the Commission had been investigating the Cochran County water situation for several weeks. He illustrated on a map the cultivated and uncultivated areas of the county. Also illustrated on the map was land in the county that was known to have an underground water supply.

Evidence submitted for the extension of the district was given by Weldon Newsom, Daniel Valentine, Carl Ratliff, Roy Hickman, and Jim Greener.

Valentine testified that the land in question should be included in the District because it did have an underground source of water. Valentine has drilled oil wells all over the area in question. He said that "90% of the proposed extension will support 4 inch water wells."

The hearing ended with a plea from a commission member to local farmers to be conscious of conserving water. He stated that in twenty years Texas will need three times as much water as it is now using.

The State Water Commission will determine, from the evidence submitted, the boundaries of the proposed extension in Cochran County. An election then will be called, wherein all landowners in the proposed extension may vote and the landowners in the existing district may vote as to the acceptance of the proposed projection if the election carries in the extension.

Bledsoe school now underway

Opening days of school at Bledsoe was reported by Supt. Otis Parr to have been completed very smoothly, with some 140 students enrolled.

Average attendance last year, Supt. Parr said, was 137 scholars, and approximately the same number is anticipated for this term.

Supt. Parr reported a fine attendance Monday, despite the fact that many of the larger schools in the area were closed for Labor Day holiday.

The administrator said the school is again publishing a weekly school newspaper, which is distributed to each home on Fridays. Staff organization is expected to be completed this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brown and family; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones and daughter, Bobbie; Mr. and Mrs. John Duke and son, Jimmy; Robert George and Mrs. R. J. Hill, Lubbock were weekend visitors in Ruidoso.

Rambys recent hosts to visitors from Turkey

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Ramby were recent hosts to Turkish visitors who stopped by at their home here for a brief visit. The Turkish couple, Seleule Ergin and his wife, Miray, are both students at Texas Tech in Lubbock. Mrs. Eula Ramby, mother of Mr. P. B. Ramby, has been the couples' landlady since they arrived in Lubbock to enroll in school.

Seleule, a chemical engineering student, is a graduate of the world famous University of Istanbul. His wife also attended this University where she earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry. Mrs. Ergin is hoping to secure employment as a lab instructor at Tech this year.

The couple arrived in New York upon first entering the United States, then flew directly to Texas. Ergin explained that he has traveled all over Texas but has had very little travel in other parts of the U.S. But he said it was very easy to detect an atmosphere of informality and friendliness not easily found in the eastern states of the nation.

He admitted that his ideas of Texas before coming to the U.S., were very stereotyped. Oil and cowboys were emphasized most in his education of Texas.

He was not anxious to discuss the Cyprus problem, but commented freely on his country. He pointed out that Turkey is a little larger than Texas with a population of 28 million. The city of Istanbul has two million inhabitants and there are other large cities, but most people live in rural areas. Turkey's wealth depends a great deal on its agriculture, but mining of copper and chromium is also a lucrative industry.

Seleule and his wife will stay in Lubbock at least two years before returning to Turkey.

Mrs. Hattie B. Spotts spent the Labor Day holiday weekend in Lubbock with her daughter, Mrs. Jean Lively.

Town and Country has president's breakfast

Mrs. Connie Gray, president of Town and Country Study Club, was honored by the club with a breakfast Saturday morning in the Golden Arrow Room of Wig Wam Restaurant.

The president expressed appreciation to the program and yearbook committees for preparatory work on the year's club work and for the breakfast. She made note of the various talent and knowledge among members of Town and Country saying, "It is by coordinating these talents and knowledge that makes for success."

Theme for the 1964-65 club year is "Rhapsody in Love" which Mrs. Gray prefaced by saying, "We begin our Study of Woman's many Loves."

Mrs. Wade Strother was toastmistress. Yearbooks were presented and discussed by Mrs. Charles Bowen.

"Adult Literacy" and "Special Education" as new projects of the club was discussed by Mrs. Joe Seagler. She told of the new classes in local schools for exceptional children.

"Special education in school for these children is of great value and as an art teacher assisting the teachers of this group I am proud to be a part of it," Mrs. Seagler told the group.

"Education of parents of exceptional children is of prime importance as most parents will not admit that their child is exceptional this fact needs to be accepted in order that the child may be trained to utilize his special talents. Also we have the problem of uneducated parents who are unable to even read their child's report card, these are monumental tasks but projects in which we should all be willing to devote time and effort."

Mrs. Bowen told of plans for an art contest among school children which will be climaxed with a display of art work. Mrs. Alvie Harris was asked to contact Otis Parr, superintendent of schools at Bledsoe, regarding this project. Mrs. Roy Hill is chairman of the "Art Contest for Children in the Elementary Schools."

"Hobbies for Senior Citizens" was discussed by Mrs. Strother. She asked for suggestions from members. "In this category the club will display and sell items made by senior citizens during April," she said.

Pink roses and red hibiscus were arranged in a large blue brandy snifter at head of table with blue bottles stacked in threes at intervals on the tables. Table decorations were designed and executed by Mrs. Willard B. Cox.

Mrs. Carl England was a guest for the president's breakfast. Members attending: Mrs. Don Samford, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Strother, Mrs. Ross Shaw, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Eugene Bedwell, Mrs. J. L. Cox, Mrs. Vernon Blackley, Mrs. Cherolyn Inglis, Mrs. Harold Arant, Mrs. Seagler, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. A. E. Sanders, Mrs. Weldon Newsom and Mrs. Sammie E. Williams.

mer to tailback, Jimmy Joyce takes over the split end chore, with Eddie Holloway going to tight tackle on offense. Irwin Cooper has also nailed down the starting position at split tackle.

Morton mentor J. P. Jones reports that his squad is in good condition physically, and that they feel they have corrected many mistakes that occurred in the contest against Olton. "The boys are ready to get after Muleshoe," Jones said, "although they know it's going to be a tough one." The men who scouted Muleshoe reported they were probably on a par with the Olton club.

Besides the changes already mentioned, the Indians will probably start the same men who went most of the way against Olton. They are center, Jerry Elliott; guards, Mike Irwin and Ronald Smart; tackles, Cooper and Holloway; and ends, Joyce and Ernest Chesshir. Joining Dobson, Griffith and Palmer in the backfield will be quarterback Charles Ledbetter.

has a pumping capacity in excess of 700 gallons a minute. Water from the well has to meet the strict specifications of the Texas State Department of Health, and is regularly tested.

The Bledsoe system was the first to be installed in West Texas, and as such has served as a pilot for similar installations, Elliott explained. At the time of installation, Elliott pointed out there was only approximately 13 such systems in the state. Since then, FHA funds have made possible water systems in Dora, Causey and the Floyd Community near Portales, all in New Mexico. Systems have been installed in Smyer, Cotton Center and Spade, and are now in the process of being installed in Whitharral, Maple and New Deal. In the state, Elliott said, there are now approximately 80 water systems financed by the FHA.

The local supervisor pointed out that FHA funds can be utilized for such water systems only in rural communities under 2500 population, and then only when attempts to secure funds from all other sources have been exhausted.

A Letter From Daddy

Her father has sent a letter and a picture, too, to show his family what he's doing while they are apart. It makes them feel close and it comforts them.

Our Heavenly Father has written us a love letter and given us a picture of what He is doing for us while we're apart. Both are contained in the words of the Bible.

In Jeremiah 31:3 He says, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have drawn thee."

And Our Lord tells us in John 14:2, 3, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you.

I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself: that where I am, there ye may be also."

We invite you to attend church this week. You'll receive a blessing from having done so.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

MORTON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1964

The big question-mark

"Although President Johnson hasn't asked our advice, we have a suggestion for a ballot symbol for him—the sure Democratic nominee—to run in this fall's campaign. Discard the rooster or the donkey on the ballot and substitute a great, big question mark."

So writes MacLellan Smith, Washington correspondent for the STATE NEWS of Dover, Delaware, in the lead editorial for his paper in recent days. We continue to quote in full an editorial that has our hearty endorsement:

Better than anything else, the question mark symbolizes L.B.J.'s political career and his conduct of the Presidency since last November 22. What turn will he take on any given issue? Who knows? Doubtless, whatever seems politically expedient at the time will dictate his action.

If the past is indicative of anything, L.B.J. qualifies as the largest muggump ever to sit on an American political fence. We name a few examples:

In the area of foreign policy, Johnson was emphatic in 1960, declaring, "We must have a complete global policy . . . a national strategy for the war in which we are presently engaged." In 1964 he declares that, since there are 120 other countries in the world, we must have 120 foreign policies. Hardly a tower of strength in these troubled times.

Four years ago he said of our defenses, "I don't think we're going far enough fast enough in armaments . . . Stack the rifles, ground the planes, scuttle the fleet and Communist aggression will not have been halted." Today, Mr. Johnson oversees the disarming of America, cuts the development of new weapons, throttles military research and development, and refuses our troops the use of modern jet planes in Vietnam.

In 1959 L.B.J. said of relations with Russia, "It would be tragic if we suffered from the delusion that Mr. Khrushchev can be charmed into changing his course." Today Mr. Johnson is following the left-inclined State Department line that says, "Be nice to Russia and she will be nice to us."

Asked in 1960, "Do you believe much in labels—liberal, conservative, radical?" L. B. J. answered no. Yet, this same Lyndon Johnson, as reported by Columnists Evans and Novak, declared in 1963, "No matter what you may think, I am a Roosevelt New Dealer."

It was in 1959 that Johnson piously said, "We must not play politics with human misery." But in 1964 Johnson went on "poverty tours" during which his advance men told people in the areas to be visited to go barefoot and hang washing on the line to "look poor."

In a 1957 rap at President Eisenhower, L.B.J. said, "I believe we could expedite legislation a great deal if all outside forces would refrain from attempting, by telephone calls, to direct Congress in its activities." Yet, this same L.B.J. is a non-stop Congressional caller, telephone pressuring the legislators to support his program.

It was in 1957 that L.B.J. called civil rights legislation a "sham" and a "farce," said in a letter later made public, "I don't know where you could have gotten the idea that I am supporting the so-called bill for Civil Rights." Yet, in 1964, he solemnly chanted that the Nation had talked long enough about civil rights and that it was time for Congress to act.

Ten years ago, Mr. Johnson defended the right of citizens to criticize their government, declaring in a Senate speech, "We will not abdicate our right to make legitimate criticism . . . It would be a sad day for the country if the voice of legitimate principled opposition was silenced." A few months ago he attacked those who "like to jump on their government, people who like to criticize."

The examples are almost without end. The only clear thing about L.B.J.'s views is this. Since he entered public life, he has been on BOTH sides of nearly every major issue before the country.

This November the American people will have to decide just what L.B.J. REALLY stands for—that's the Big Question Mark!

A New Year began this week for Texas. Sept. 1 marks the start of fiscal 1964-65 for the state government. During the past 12 months, this state spent approximately $1,553,900,000—the exact figure is yet to be announced.

In the next year, the State of Texas has a budget of $1,576,939,672 with which to meet rising costs of providing the services its citizens seek.

For Texas to have been able to walk its fiscal tightrope so successfully last year is no minor miracle. And it did not just happen. Gov. John Connally deserves much credit for his insistence upon observance of the constitutional requirement that income and outgo be equal.

Veteran Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and many other state officials and boards share largely in the credit. The Legislature contributed much to this goal by declining to appropriate money Texas did not have to spend.

UNTIL NEXT Aug. 31, Texas state departments will operate under the restrictions of the second year of the biennial appropriations made by the 58th Legislature. In so doing, they will face increasing problems brought about by a rising population, greater demand for services, inflation and other factors.

In the meantime, a new Legislature will be meeting, starting in January, and some new faces will be in Austin, no matter to what extent the November election goes Democratic or Republican. This election aftermath always tends to influence the views of state officials and employees, even before the full influence is effective upon financial operations.

Not to be overlooked, either, is the possibility that economic trends could be downward, reducing state revenues and requiring re-evaluation of Texas' state financial operations.

From these facts, it should be obvious that extraordinary care should be exercised in the conduct of state affairs—as well as those of local, county and federal governments—within the next 12 months.

Fiscal stability is fundamental in good government. Certainly this state's government must provide more and better schools, better services and better roads for the population now headed toward the 11-million mark. But this must be done by pruning out waste, by eliminating those activities that are not needed, by finding the funds to pay the cost of essentials, instead of piling up burdensome debts for another generation to pay, or ignore.

This is the challenge facing Texas on this first day of September. New Year's Day traditionally is a day of resolution. Let Texans resolve fully to live up to the wise provision in the Texas Constitution that the state government must pay as it spends. Without such a resolution, there can be no Happy New Year for the State of Texas.

—The Dallas Morning News

When Vernon Stewart, former Vindicator news editor, was assigned to fill editorial columns in the Stamford American while Publisher Roy Craig was on vacation, he decided to write about parking in the West Texas city.

"The parking situation in Stamford would be comical if it weren't so tragic," Stewart wrote.

"Our community is blessed with ample parking spaces on the post office circle, but still there are those persons who apparently prefer to park in the few prime parking spots in front of stores to leave their cars all day rather than park in a less desirable spot and leave the best parking areas to persons who might come to town to put a few dollars into circulation in our local economy.

which more than a few persons who work in the downtown areas choose for their own personal all-day parking.

"Then there's another little game we play in Stamford that might be called 'block your neighbor's store.' Most of us realize we are taking money from our pockets if we take up the prime parking spaces in front of our businesses. But to save a few dozen steps each morning, it is the fashion to go down the street a little distance and park directly in front of a neighboring business.

"Since parking meters were taken out here, little can be done to stop the business owners and employees from using up those prime parking spots. But a few parking tickets carefully placed on the windshields of those cars that sit all day in the post office parking spots could quickly convince the guilty drivers that they could easily afford the few extra steps to the other side of the square."

The shocking Dallas incident in which two teen-age boys struck down a 10-year-old girl, and left her seriously hurt and helpless, hidden behind bushes at the street-side, is the sort of thing that just might provoke needed reform by forcing attention on some of the factors involved.

It is simple enough to brand the two boys—one 16 and one only 13—as young monsters and degenerates. But there are many factors involved, some far-removed from the incident.

Society and government must take a large share of the blame for such a shameful incident, for they contribute on several fronts. Newspaper accounts indicate that the car which struck the little girl down "belonged" to the 13-year-old boy, resident of a Dallas suburb. It was being driven at the time, however, by the 16-year-old, who had a record of bad driving which already included two speeding offenses and a negligent collision incident.

That the boys panicked after striking the little girl, fled from the scene, and failed to report it so that she might receive prompt assistance is very bad indeed—but can be attributed to the fact that the boys panicked after the accident, and were incapable of proper thought by virtue of their fright.

Which is exactly what might be expected of youngsters of that age, and is an indictment not only of their parents, but of other parents and law makers as well.

Certainly a 16-year-old boy is physically capable of driving an automobile, and of doing so safely, and many of them are excellent and conscientious drivers. But a great many are too immature to accept the frightening responsibility which goes with the operation of such a lethal weapon as a speeding automobile.

The hit and run incident focuses attention on the fact that too many youngsters are getting too much freedom and responsibility too soon—long before they are emotionally equipped to handle it in emergency situations.

We submit that the driver education program is doing a fine job of teaching proper driving habits and of instructing young people in their responsibilities as drivers, but it is given them too soon—about two years early, in fact—and forces them into adult situations and responsibilities at an age four years younger than that which is necessary for holding a job using power machinery.

We need to take a long, hard look at the laws which set minimum ages for driver licenses, as well as those which restrict the youngster who would like to be working and learning a trade, and instead is forced into idleness which creates boredom, unrest, and such irresponsible conduct as that exhibited by the Dallas youngsters.

As just about everyone must know, the standard public opinion polls all give President Johnson a wide edge over Senator Goldwater. Some have placed the Johnson lead in popular vote at the almost unbelievable figure of seven to three. And most of the commentators have pretty well written off the Goldwater chances and assume a Johnson election.

These are facts of moment to the Republicans who are concerned not only with electing a President, but in holding and, if possible, increasing their strength in Congress, in the state capitals, and in lesser political divisions. But they certainly have not caused any noticeable despair within the ranks of the Goldwater followers. For, the Goldwater strategists clearly believe, the polls have shown a capacity for major errors in forecasting primaries and other political contests. In their view, the situation of today will not be the situation in November after Goldwater has had a chance to stump the country and present his programs harder and in more specific detail than has been the case until now. Most important of all, they believe that there are millions of voters in this country who have not had a candidate representative of their views and wants and that these voters, whose strength is far greater than any poll indicates, will enthusiastically turn out for Goldwater and bring him, and the party generally, victory.

U. S. News & World Report has done an excellent job in summing up Goldwater strategy and in pointing to historical precedents that deny the idea that any candidate is at all likely to garner in 70 percent (or so of the vote). In all the elections since the Civil War, in fact, only two Presidents have received as much as 60 percent of that vote—Harding, in 1920, with 60.4 per cent, and Roosevelt, 1936, with 69.8 per cent. Two Presidents—Truman and Kennedy—gained office with a trifling less than half of the popular vote in elections in which minor party candidates received some popular support.

What, then, is the Republican strategy, on a state-by-state, region-by-region basis? U. S. News describes it this way. Heavy inroads are to be made in the deep South, and 74 electoral votes gained there. Then 30 will come from the Rocky Mountain states, 106 from the Middle West, and 24 from the Border and New England states. That, should it happen, would bring the GOP to within 35 electoral votes of the 270 needed to win. California, with its 40 votes, thus becomes the key. And in California, Senator Goldwater has shown great strength and has a potent organization as his primary victory over Governor Rockefeller demonstrated. Every effort will be made to cement and to increase these vital assets.

That seems to be the basic strategy. Johnson and the Democrats, obviously, will have something to say about it. And, as of now, Senator Goldwater needs to gain much ground in some of those states and areas if the plan is to become a reality. There are some very big unpredictable elements involved—as, for instance, what ultimate effect the civil rights law, and the ominous racial conflicts which show no signs of abating in either North or South, will have on either of the top candidates and on the candidates for either partisan office.

A safe prediction: It will be one of the hardest-hitting, no holds-barred campaigns of recent times.

Water supply talked about

AUSTIN, Tex. — "Interbasin diversions," the process of moving water from where it is to where it is needed, is being talked about more and more in Texas where half of the state's water supply is centered in the eastern one-seventh of the state.

It will be the topic of three speakers at the Association of Western State Engineers in Austin on September 21.

Speakers are Frank Raab of Oklahoma, David Hale of New Mexico and William Warne of California. All three are water officials in states which have turned to interbasin diversions to solve some water problems.

Some moving already has taken place in Texas. In the Trinity watershed, for instance, Dallas is completing a pipeline and treatment plant for moving Sabine River water from Lake Tawakoni to Dallas. Also Houston has signed a contract with the Trinity River Authority to move Trinity water to Houston.

Interbasin diversion will become the subject of more conversations for Texans when the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation releases its pending report. It proposes a 400-mile canal to move surplus water from the Sabine and Neches basins, southward to link all major rivers in Texas and meet the needs of the Gulf Coast to a point below Corpus Christi.

Gov. John Connally has asked the Texas Water Commission to speed up water planning to seek alternatives to the Bureau of Reclamation's forthcoming proposal. But the commission is strapped by the bounds of a budget inadequate for such a study, unless the 1965 Legislature increases its funds.

INSURANCE INTEREST — An effort by the Allstate Insurance Company to knock out the State Board of Insurance order requiring a minimum charge of six per cent interest on insurance premiums paid by installments has failed.

Board said it found nothing in the hearing to change its mind. It reported that abuses of Texas laws, prohibiting inducements to prospective policyholders and prohibiting discrimination between policyholders, were taking place under deferred payment plans.

"Net costs of handling premium payments financed by insurance companies at cut-rate interest, or no interest, will ultimately be paid by insureds," said Board Chairman Hunter McLean. "Those electing deferred payment plans should bear such costs."

A spokesman for one company charged that criticism of ruling by the National Association of Independent Insurers laid the groundwork for "an attack on the Texas rating system and policy control." N.A.I. claimed the order discriminates against Texas policyholders, and that the board had no authority to adopt it.

OUT OF THE RED — State government ended its 1963-1964 fiscal year on August 31 with a fat general revenue fund balance of $73,000,000.

It was the brightest year-end figure since 1949.

"It looks better than it has for a long time," beamed State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. "Years of deficits still are fresh in his memory. One year the State ran $110,000,000 in the red."

Calvert declined to speculate on the amount of surplus which will be available for legislative appropriation.

Governor Connally predicted earlier that the general revenue surplus may reach $80,000,000 next year. Despite the abundance of money, the Governor said the Legislature likely will have to pass a new tax bill or amend the existing rates in 1965. This because of demands for more spending in education and other areas.

Calvert noted three factors in the favorable fiscal 1964 close-out: a $24,000,000 increase this year over 1963 in general sales tax revenues; an $8,000,000 jump in the auto sales tax; and a $3,000,000 crude oil tax increase.

Comptroller's report showed state revenue collections during 1964 were more than $1,600,000,000 compared with $1,500,000,000 in 1963. Expenditures totaled $1,500,000,000 compared with $1,400,000,000 the previous year.

General economic growth of the state; the federal income tax reduction designed to prime spending; and removal of the $10 clothing exemption from the state sales tax were seen as largely responsible for the bigger yield from that levy.

"I Pull The Strings"

CABINET MEETINGS — Governor Connally has resumed his schedule of unofficial "cabinet" meetings with top state agency heads.

He started the sessions last October, but had to discontinue them when he was wounded by the same assassin who killed President Kennedy.

Last week's meeting was held in the offices of the Texas Education Agency. Emphasized was overall operations and financing of public schools. A general discussion of agency problems with the governor followed.

These sessions have a two-fold purpose: to analyze workings of departments one by one; and to familiarize the governor and other officials with mutual problems.

HURRY-UPS ASKED — Citizens from San Antonio, Corpus Christi and the counties which connect them asked the State Highway Commission to "hurry up" and schedule work on a proposed Interstate Highway between the two cities so that construction will be completed by 1968.

That is the year when San Antonio will produce the HemisFair; Padre Island National Seashore will be in full-scale operation and Mexico City will host the World Olympics. Nueces County Judge Noah Kennedy Jr. said, "We would just like to be in a position to swap tourists with the city of San Antonio."

"Hurry-up" urgings also were heard from Vally leaders who pleaded with the High Commission to hasten construction of the Valley Expressway (US 83) because the current system of routing traffic on access roads is hazardous.

Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce vice-president Jack H. Drake of Weslaco told commissioners the Valley death rate has risen 40 per cent this year — compared to a statewide rise of 13 per cent — because of accidents on the access roads adjacent to the expressway route.

Commission immediately authorized construction of a 1.7-mile section of the expressway within the city limits of Mercedes.

SHORT SNORTS — John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, advises that Rio Grande cotton farmers will vote September 30 on whether or not to include an escrow program as part of pink bollworm controls during the 1965 season. . . . Director Homer Garrison Jr. of the Department of Public Safety reminds motorists that the new auto inspection period began September 1 and ends next April 15. . . . Women now lead in another field: there are 68,763 more women drivers than men drivers in Texas, specifically 2,542,756 women compared with 2,573,993 men. . . . Longer terms for water district board members can be provided only by constitution amendment, says Atty. Gen. Wagoner Carr in a recent opinion from his office. . . . Carr also concluded that the school board has authority to reduce royalty from that provided in an original lease by entering into unitization or pooling agreement at a lower royalty figure. . . . Texas' business activity, on a steady upswing for three and a half years, rose three per cent to a high during July, says the UT Bureau of Business Research. . . . State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools is expected to select a site for a new special school for mentally retarded in West Texas at a September 14 meeting here. . . . Women democrats hold workshop September 2

A workshop for Women Democrats of the Cochran Area was held Wednesday in the ranch home of Mrs. Dona Doughty.

Mrs. H. B. Barker, president, was in charge of the meeting. She introduced Mrs. Charles Cobb, Lubbock, who spoke to the group. In making the introduction Mrs. Barker said, "Mrs. Cobb met her husband in Ireland, she came to Lubbock in 1946 and since that time has been active in League of Women Voters, Junior League, Lubbock Little Theatre, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, the Presbyterian Church and in addition taught freshman English at Texas Tech for five years."

Mrs. Cobb told the group, "I have been interested in politics ever since coming to this country; we are fortunate to have a democracy. I had a choice of two parties and after much thought and consideration I chose to be a Democrat as I felt the Democratic party had done the most for more people."

"With whichever party you choose to affiliate, stay with it; stand for what you believe in and don't change parties; if you are unhappy or dissatisfied with some things advocated by your party write to your representatives and congressmen but don't complain to others."

Mrs. Cobb compared the government of Ireland and the United States. She also mentioned the physical cleanliness of this country, making a case in point by saying, "In most European countries one would not think of stopping some where ordering and eating at the curb."

Mrs. Cobb told of the good established between peoples of this country and foreign countries by such men as Will Rogers, Gary Cooper and Bob Hope, who served as examples of Good Americans abroad.

She presented and explained a score card entitled "What Have Democrats Done for You." In closing she said, "The democratic party is the party with a heart."

"God Bless America," sung in union with the benediction. An invitation to attend an all day open-house of the Holly Sugar Plant in Hereford on September 11 was extended to members by the delegation from Hereford.

About 25 members of the local organization met before noon at the home of Mrs. Barker for the trip to the ranch. Each brought a portion of the lunch that was served.

Out-of-town guests attending were: Mrs. A. L. Frazer, Mrs. W. C. Masten, Mrs. G. W. Masten, all of Sudan, Mrs. C. N. McClure, Mrs. Joe H. Deavenport, Mrs. C.

Applications for Navys NROTC test available

Applications are now available for the Navy's nineteenth annual NROTC qualification test, according to Charles Bowen, counselor at Morton High School. The nationwide examination will be given December 12, and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

On the basis of this test, personal interviews, physical examinations, and other factors, Mr. Bowen explained, over 2000 young men will be given college educations as midshipmen in NROTC units in 52 well-known colleges and universities throughout the country.

Registrations for the test will close November 20. Informational bulletins and applications are available from Mr. Bowen or the nearest U.S. Navy Recruiting Station.

A successful applicant receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition, books, uniforms, miscellaneous expenses, and a $50.00 per month retainer fee. After successfully completing college degree requirements and naval science training, NROTC midshipmen become commissioned officers in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

During their training, Regular NROTC midshipmen enjoy three summer cruises with various naval units, including visits to foreign ports. These cruises help them learn more about the variety of interesting and challenging opportunities available to them as naval officers.

Male citizens of the United States who will be over 17 but not yet 21 on June 30, 1965, and who are now high school seniors or graduates, are eligible to apply for the December 12, 1964, NROTC qualifying test. Those who attain qualifying scores will be interviewed and given physical examinations next February.

Miller, 210 East Taylor, is the maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Childs and Mrs. T. D. Marshall are aunts of the bride.

A mass arrangement of white gladioli formed background for an open Bible on the altar. Flanked by altar candles, Candelabrum entwined with lemon leaves were at either side of a lighted background cross.

"Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach was presented as the processional by Mrs. Hugh Carson at the organ. The recessional was Parcell's "Trumpet Voluntary". Vocal selections "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "O, Perfect Love" were sung by Hugh Carson, accompanied by Mrs. Carson.

The service departed from the traditional bridal ceremony into a worship service. Following a vocal solo and the processional a call to worship was given by the officiating minister. Guests then joined in the singing of a hymn of praise, followed by scripture reading by the minister. After wedding vows were exchanged the congregation joined in the Lord's Prayer.

Miss Susan Watson was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Nita Eads, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore floor length dresses of imported needlepoint brocade in open blue, fashioned with scooped neckline and three gore, side gathered skirt, accented at the waist by a tailored bow. Their headpieces were circlets of blue net held by a Dior green velvet bow. They carried cascade arrangements of pale chaireuse chrysanthemums with green velvet streamers.

Mike Donovan, Tucson, Ariz., served his cousin as best man. Wendell Watson Jr., was groomsmen. Candles were lighted by Tom Watson, Mike Palmer, Spearman; Rush Snyder, Canadian; Jerry Lane, Panhandle and Ben Johnson of Pampa, ushered.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of her own design which was made by her mother.

The sleeveless gown of white linen featured a scoop neckline, side-gathered three gored skirt enhanced by an over-jacket of Venetian lace with bateau neckline and elbow-length sleeves with linen trim. A Watteau train of matching linen trimmed lace was attached to jacket shoulders by linen covered buttons. The shoulder-length bouffant veil of double illusion was secured to an open crown pillbox covered with linen and lace re-embroidered with pearls.

She wore an heirloom brooch worn by her mother at her wedding which belonged to her paternal grandmother. She also wore an heirloom cameo pin belonging to her maternal grandmother. Her blue garter was made by her mother and she wore a silver six pence sent from England by her sister, Terrie.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of gardenias, split mums and English ivy.

For a reception in the church parlor the bride's table was covered with pearl and sequined net embroidered by friends of the bride, centered with branched candelabra entwined with smilax and the attendants bouquets.

Music for the reception was provided by Misses Sue Wiens and Susan Carr, both of Pampa. Misses Linda Meech, Pampa and Kathy Kleiss, Borger served the cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Coy Palmer, Spearman and Mrs. Bob Keagy, Pampa, assisted by Mrs. Norris Hall of Peryton.

Guests were registered by Miss Brenda Mullinax and Mrs. Ed Clevenger of Lawton, Okla.
