Grassroots committee views bills

Plans for congressional re-arrangement were rejected today by members of the Morton County Legislative Council. A body created to advise Representative Jesse George on local feeling toward state legislation. Other action taken by the committee was to reject a tax package, endorse blanket sales tax, and consider two education proposals.

Two plans to reapportion Texas congressional districts in conjunction with Supreme Court orders were considered. One plan, Plan A, would include Cochran County with Hiley, Yoakum, Gaines, Andrews, Martin Howard, Borden, Dawson, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Hockley, Lubbock and Lama counties. The other, Plan B, would include this county with Lamb, Hockley, Lubbock, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Andrews, Martin, Howard, and Ector Counties. After a discussion of the matter, the council voted to reject both plans because rural interests would be subordinated to urban interests, the council said. A tax package recommended by the Committee on Local and State Tax Study was called to the council's attention. The tax package included a potential yield of $11.7 million in new revenue for the state during the biennium starting Sept. 1. It includes the repeal of the present admissions tax, a chain store tax, and an exemption of lease-use tax on natural gas, another exemption from the sales tax of vendors selling nothing for more than 24 cents.

Morton men confer with state officials in Austin

Representatives of the Morton Chamber of Commerce attended a West Texas Chamber of Commerce Banquet for State Legislators last week. Johnny Johnson, chamber manager, and committee members, including Governor Preston Smith, Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes, and a number of others. Johnson and Seagler attended a meeting of the commissioner of agriculture while in Austin, and all three Morton men heard state legislators from the State House galleries. On the basis of private conversations with a number of state legislators and officials, Johnson said, "I think we are going to find a great deal of state support for our projects to help ourselves." Johnson said he was referring especially to plans for local promotion of cotton consumption. Another local project for which state aid seems possible is library improvement, he said. Kenneth Jackson, head of the state library field service was contacted and

New revenue sources would total $24.4 million, bringing the net of the proposed bill to approximately $11.7 million, in spite of the $12.9 exemptions just mentioned. Exemption of tax on farm machinery now in effect would be repealed to bring a hope-for $7.2 million in new revenue, according to the bill. The council believed this measure of the bill added an unnecessary tax burden to this area. After rejecting the package measure, the council voted to endorse a blanket sales tax. The percent at which the tax was to be set was not included in the motion.

foundation for repaving is being made while traffic is limited to use of the other side of the highway.

★ Roping

Calf-roping and barrel racing will be featured Sunday, March 14, at the rodeo grounds of Cochran County Park near Morton. The events are sponsored by the Morton Roping Club, and will begin at 1:30 p.m. This is the first such show to be performed by the group.

Spokesman for the event said cash prizes for both roping and barrel racing will be awarded. Calf-roping times will be figured on a four-calf average, and barrel racers will have two chances each.

Ten candidates in race for three city councilman posts

Eight new candidates for alderman positions on Morton's city council filed papers asking to be placed on the ballot, City Secretary Elra Oden announced this week. These, with the two candidates who have already announced their intentions to run, brings the total number of candidates for the three alderman posts to 10.

The new candidates are E. L. (Snowball) Willis, an insurance man; William L. Taylor, retired postman; Paul Baker, retired; T. K. Williamson, farmer and businessman, G. G. (Dude) Halloman, service station operator; W. L. (T.) Hancock, grain trucker; Everett (Slick) Nichols, farmer; and Simon Marina, merchant.

Candidates who asked to be placed on the ballot last week were Elma Seaney, grocer; and

Grand jury hands down indictments on eight matters

A grand jury meeting at the Cochran County Court House in Morton Monday and Tuesday handed down eight indictments. County Attorney Jimmy Walker said 18 matters were brought before the jury this session. He told reporters that two matters had been passed, or not acted upon by the jury, and that about nine no bills were handed down. A no bill is issued when the grand jury believes there is not enough evidence to bring a man to trial for felony.

Officials said indictments were handed down against seven men on eight separate crimes. The men indicted and the charges against them were: Ben Garcia, Jr., theft; Wendel Saunders, removal of mortgaged property; John Ragland, theft; Robert Lee Brooks, forgery and passing; Juan Honesto, joy riding; and Juan Santos, two charges — theft by false pretense and forgery and passing.

Junior class play will be produced Friday, March 12

"Gone With The Girls," a three act comedy by L. Verne Slout, will be produced tomorrow, Friday, March 12, by the Morton High School Junior Class at the County Activities Building.

The junior class play will be directed by Mrs. Elvis Fleming and Mrs. D. Wayne Smith, junior class sponsors. Dress rehearsals took place this week as the cast polished its performance.

Mrs. Smith told reporters that the players have conquered the technical aspects of the production and are now working to smooth the action and become familiar with the stage where the play will be presented.

Leading roles will be played by Glenda Smith and Larry Embry who play Alecia Capp — mother of the Capp family — and Grandpa — a somewhat opinionated patriarch.

Other members of the Capp family are Grandpa and Grandpa. Other members of the Capp family are Grandpa and Grandpa.

Firemen appeal to county for truck

Members of the Cochran County Commissioners Court heard a delegation from the Morton Volunteer Fire Department Monday at the first March meeting of the court.

Fire Chief John D. Lackey and fireman Tom Rowden asked the county for assistance in the form of a new fire truck to be used at country fires.

"We have a 1939 Ford that is no good and a 1956 Dodge is good for pumping but no good for country fires," the commissioners court was told. The delegation explained that the Dodge has a gear for driving and a gear for pumping, but cannot do both at the same time.

A list of fires that took place last year was given to the court by the firemen. It showed that 44 fires were outside the city limits last year while only 14 were within the city limits.

Wear and tear on fire trucks is greatest in the country, the delegation asserted, because of the need to drive on rough country roads and over fields and turn-rows.

Speaking of the problems of the fire department with only one serviceable truck, Chief Lackey said, "We're going to be called to the county some day and something in town will catch on fire." The likelihood of this happening was stressed by the firemen who recalled a time when three cotton gins were afire at one time in the fall.

No action was taken regarding the truck requested by the fire department delegates. However, a motion to "spread the fire contracts between the City of Whiteface and the City of Morton" was passed. Reporters were told this means a continuation of the same amount of aid to the Morton Volunteer Fire Department that was granted last year.

The court also heard an annual audit report from John P. Haggard, a certified public accountant. The report showed that the largest percentage of cash disbursements last year were for salaries and direct payroll expense. This amount came to 42.12 percent. Other expenditures and their percentages were listed as: bond principal and interest payments, 9.59 percent; capital outlay, 14.3 percent; paving and seal coating, 6.78 percent; supplies and repairs 10.78 percent; contracted services 8.72 percent; welfare services, 8.72 percent; and all other expenditures, 4.91 percent.

Money taken in by the county, as shown by cash receipts were shown as follows: Ad Valorem taxes, 67.83 percent; automobile licenses, 18.46 percent; fees of office, 9.62 percent; county's share of state gasoline tax, 3.35 percent; fines, 1.05 percent; rent, .77 percent; and miscellaneous, .92 percent.

In his introduction to the report Haggard told the court that he had examined the financial reports of the county for the year ending Dec. 31, 1964 "primarily for the purpose of ascertaining that all cash received had been properly deposited and accounted for and that all disbursements had been properly authorized.

Haggard also told the board, "The general financial records of the county were maintained on a cash method which is consistent with the method followed by comparable Texas counties. However, this method does not encompass generally accepted accounting principles to the extent necessary for a determination of a composite financial position and results of operations of this county."

Haggard concluded his introduction to the report by stating "In my opinion the accompanying statements do not present fairly the financial position nor the results of operations of the county. However, in our opinion, the accompanying statements and schedules do present accurately the

Council ok's purchase of new fire equipment

Fire Chief John D. Lackey was authorized by the Morton City Council to buy three air packs with extra air cylinders, two claw tools, and one pike-pool for the Morton Volunteer Fire Department Monday. The council made the authorization after a comparison of three bids for the articles. The need to actually see the equipment before making final decisions as to which should be purchased spurred the action.

Lackey and councilman Tom Rowden who is also a volunteer fireman, reported to the council on their visit to the Cochran County Commissioners Court that morning. They told the council they had explained a problem stemming from an inadequate number of fire trucks and asked the county help. "We told them that the situation is critical," said Rowden.

The fire department representatives said they pointed out that 44 fires were fought in the country while only 14 were fought in the city limits last year, and stressed that country fires are harder on fire trucks because of the need to drive country roads and through fields where turn rows and rough ground put wear and tear on the trucks. The fire delegation said it left a list of fires and their locations for the county commissioners to consider.

Another matter before the council was the selection of a city auditor for the coming year. John Haggard, a Morton certified public accountant, was named auditor. Haggard held the post last year also.

Following a report by Ralph Douglas, city engineer, the council voted to pay the final payment of a capital improvements water bill to Hemphill Construction Company. The amount paid was $9,613.54.

Douglas also told the city councilmen that the city's capital improvements project is nearing completion, and final details are now being attended.

Another report heard by the

Rites held for Gary Lynn Coon

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Missionary Baptist Church for Gary Lynn Coon, 18, a local truck driver.
Rev. W. S. Hobson, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Morton Memorial Cemetery under direction of Singleton Funeral Home.
Gary died of injuries sustained early Sunday when his car overturned twice and then flipped end-over-end near Levelland. Investigators said the car skidded sideways off the highway, overturning, flipped, and came to rest on its top. Coon was thrown out of the auto. He died a few minutes after arriving at Levelland Hospital and Clinic where he was taken by an ambulance.
Survivors are an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Coon, with whom he made his home; three sisters, Mrs. Joe Sabo, Roswell, New Mexico; Mrs. Melba Rodgers, Socorro, New Mexico; and Mrs. Joe Letonfield, Clovis, New Mexico; and three brothers, Jack and Lonzo from Roswell, New Mexico; and Don, of San Diego, California.

ing the 1964-65 crop year, August 1, 1964, — July 31, 1965.
1965 production
The national acreage allotment for the 1965 crop of upland cotton has been set at the statutory minimum of 16 million acres. Of course, total production for 1965 will depend on growing conditions, etc.

Domestic Mill Consumption
Domestic mill consumption of all kinds of cotton during the present crop year 1964-65 is forecast at about 9.7 million bales. This is 1.1 million more than was used in 1963-64 and the most since 1950-51.

Lower net costs of upland cotton to domestic users, provided for by legislation enacted last April, are contributing to the expected consumption increase. Some rebuilding of cotton textile inventories is expected.

Per capita mill consumption of cotton for the year 1964 was up about 5 per cent from 1963. However, cotton's share of total fiber consumption probably showed a slight decline for 1964 to an all time low of 55 percent.

Man-made fiber consumption probably reached a record high in 1964.

U. S. exports of upland cotton during the current season, 1964-65, are expected to total 5.2 million bales. This compares with 5.7 million for the 1963-64 season. However, exports during the present season should be above the average shipments of 5.1 million bales for the preceding four years.

Exports are expected to continue large because of the continued up-swing in foreign free world consumption which is expected to offset the increase in foreign free world production.

Foreign free world production has been estimated to be about 22.4 million bales for 1964-65, a new record. This continues to make more competition for the producers of the United States.

Since 1947, cotton production in foreign free world countries has risen faster than consumption. Production has risen as a result of expanded acreage and increased yields. Consumption has risen along with economic and population growth.

Prices
In recent months of 1964, farm prices for cotton have been trending downward to reflect the 2.5 cent reduction in the 1964 support price. As provided for in legislation passed last April 11, the basic support price for 1964-crop Midding 1-inch cotton, at average location, is 30.00 cents per pound, down from 32.47 cents in 1963.

The average price received by the farmers for upland cotton in mid-October 1964, was 30.95 cents per pound, compared with 32.93 cents in October 1963.

For the 1965 crop, the level of price support — between 65 and 90 percent of parity — has been determined by the Secretary after taking into consideration specific factors, including changes in production changes in production costs. Farmers who plant only their domestic allotment in 1965 will be eligible to receive a basic price support through loans plus an additional payment not to exceed 15 percent of the basic price support.

The basic support price for Midding 1-inch cotton, gross weight, at average location is 29.00 cents per pound. Farmers who plant within their domestic allotment in 1965 will be eligible to receive an additional payment of 4.35 cents per pound for their farm's normal cotton yield, as determined by the county committee.

There will be a sign-up period for participation in the 1965 domestic cotton allotment program. Sign-up dates have not been announced at the present time. Announcement will be made by local ASCS offices concerning the sign-up period for local counties.

In order for a farmer to be eligible and participate in the domestic allotment program, he must sign up during the sign-up period.

As for the 1964 crop, most farmers with 1965 allotments of 15 acres or less will not be required to reduce their plantings to be eligible for the additional price support.

Mrs. Eddie Crawford and Sherri of Levelland visited Monday in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burkett.

Visiting this week with Mrs. O. B. Williams is her grandson, Monty Lloyd from Lubbock.

Man — and not nature causes erosion of soil

By ALTON TAYLOR
Most wind and water erosion is caused by man. There was very little evidence of erosion of any kind when the first settlers came to this part of the country. The weather has not made the change but man has changed the plant culture that originally stood guard over this vast plains country. With this plant culture change came erosion in many cases because the introduced crops were not near as good an erosion guard as existed originally. Then to compound the problem, the protective values of the introduced crops were reduced or destroyed by mismanagement of these crops and their remains.

We must, as individuals, strive to do all within our power to keep our operations in balance with nature. There would be no better way to conserve soil and water than turning this area back to its original grassed prairie lands but the return would be so slow that no one would even suggest such a drastic measure. There are other ways that the same objectives can be reached. These are today's conservation objectives.

We can keep the land protected most of the time by planning ahead. Sorghums and small grains provide even greater protection when drilled or close spaced than if they were in 4 feet rows.

Cotton being an introduced crop that produces very little residues doesn't have the erosion control ability. These short comings of cotton we must balance out in other ways. One of these ways is using a cover crop such as small grains or a mulch of cotton burs.

In all cases we are striving to

New official state highway maps available

The 1965 edition of the Official Highway Map of Texas, now being distributed worldwide, makes use of an old notion: A light line is the shortest distance between two points. The Texas Highway Department has this axiom to grind in its copies of short-line mileage computations appearing on the popular map for the first time this year. The map's mileage chart will indicate the shortest distance between all principal points in the State. Some of these routes may include travel over Farm to Market roads.

This innovation will have significance for most cross-country travelers, it should be helpful in compiling short-mileages for official purposes. So new on this year's map is a welcome message in Spanish for Latin-American visitors, a simplified table whereby you can easily convert miles to meters, gallons to liters, and brilliant photographs of Texas in living color and panorama in the 1965 version of the Texas Highway Department's popular publication.

Last year 764,000 copies of the map found their way to auto glove compartments — and homes of potential tourists — from Bangor to Bangkok. The Highway Department forecasts a circulation just as high or higher for the 1965 map.

Cumulative miles
 Numerous new cumulative short-line mileages (those in red) also have been added to the map for computing total mileage between points in the State. Cumulative miles shown represent the most direct route between points as reflected on the Official State Highway Map. In the past, inter-city distances on the mileage charts were computed only by primary routes, those highways bearing State, U.S. or Interstate designations.

The 1965 Official State Highway Map has been improved wherever possible for greater legibility and enhanced usefulness. Throughout the 1965 highway map, type faces, colors, and uniform nationally-recognized highway symbols have been employed to make the map easier for the average motorist — and the commercial traveler — to use.

Progress on the burgeoning superhighway system in Texas is graphically depicted on the 1965 map. Divided highways, including the Interstate system, now total some 3,330 miles in the State, an increase of about 130 such miles over last year. The new map shows the location of all 914 safety rest areas and roadside parks in the State.

New lakes
 The map indicates six new lakes in the "water wanderland" that is Texas. An inset map also depicts a new city, Abilene, bringing the total of cities of 100,000 population individually mapped to 13, superstition notwithstanding.

Officials pointed out other useful information might be desirable on the Official State Highway Map, but space limitations and concern for maximum legibility ruled out its inclusion. "Translating a 66,000-mile highway system into terms dictated by a map measuring just 26 x 28 inches," said one official, "doesn't leave room for much else."

The Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department is clearing house for distribution of nearly 900 different items of literature telling the story of Texas. Of all the items produced by the Division and by other travel-oriented organizations over the State, the annual Official State Highway map is easily the most popular.

Cost declining
 Highway Department officials pointed out that cost of the annual map has been steadily declining since 1959. That year the cost per 1,000 maps was $77.16. The 1965 edition cost per 1,000 maps is $55.45. Improved drafting, scribbling and production procedures are credited for the map's declining cost.

The Official State Highway Map is considered a good investment. It stimulates travel in Texas by out-of-state folk. Last year's edition went to 283,000 out-of-state addresses.

Moreover, Texans themselves are also inspired by the publication's vivid color scenes to "see Texas first." Last year 481,000 Texans ordered the map.

In the words of the map, balmy Texas is "yours for the basking." And the map depicting the charms of Texas is "yours for the asking."

Free copies
 Free copies of the 1965 Official State Highway Map of Texas may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Austin, Texas, 78701.

Or Texans buying 1965 auto tags between February 1 and April 15 may wish to order their map at the same time. Each Texas county tax assessor-collector's office supplies free postcards for convenient ordering.

Copies of the map are also available at each of seven Tourist Bureaus operated by the Highway Department at principal entryways to the State, the Department's Tourist Bureau in the State Capitol Building at Austin, and at all the 25 Highway Department district offices over the State.

Senior 4-H Club hold banquet
 The Morton Senior 4-H Club had a banquet March 1 in the County Activities Building Banquet Room. A meal prepared by the 4-H'ers consisted of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, corn, tossed salad, hot rolls, batter, iced tea and pie.

Those attending were Ronald Hale, Henella Nebhut, Ronnie Bell, Lupe Arozco, Maria Arozco, and Home Demonstration agents Jennie Allen and Homer Thompson.

Mrs. Johnson host for T and C Study Club

The Town and Country Study Club met March 3rd in the home of Mrs. W. L. Foust. Co-hostess was Mrs. LeRoy Johnson.

Theme for the program was "The Future of Texas in Her Youth." Mrs. Joe Seagler showed art display of the local third grade students. These students had made pictures of themselves showing what they would like to be when they grow-up. She then introduced guest speakers Peggy Ramsey and Mike McDermott.

These local high school students were sponsored by the Lions Club to go to the Attorney General's Youth Conference. Miss Ramsay began by reading "Texas our Texas" and interpreted the poetic song "What Texas Means to Me". Mike spoke on "The Challenge of being a Young Texan". He gave a brief history of the great men of Texas, who settled this state. They were men of courage and wisdom, and made an adventure that made it the great state that it is. Mike's greatest challenge is for an education so that he might be able to improve the state in many phases. Most of all, his challenge is to be loyal to the state of Texas.

Mrs. Connie Gray presided over the business session. Mrs. Willard Cox and Mrs. J. D. Glass' resignations were accepted with regret. Letters of thanks were read by several members. The president encouraged everyone to attend the Caprock District Convention in Friona. Members were asked to write their State Representative concerning funds for Library Education and legislation.

The club group plans to help paint the signs: "March to Church in March", that is sponsored by the local ministerial alliance.

News from Across the Border

By GAYLE LATIMER

Spring is beginning to show herself. I discovered her this past Sunday morning around 5 a.m. I had taken some old magazines out to our well house, when I found some of my early blooming bulbs were coming up. The bulbs were given to me late last spring by Mrs. Jack Baker. She told me she didn't know if the bulbs were any good. I planted them and waited in vain all summer for them to show some sign of life. I finally gave up and forgot them until early last Sunday morning I saw them peeping through the grass that had grown over the flowerbed last fall. It was like getting a late Christmas present. I ran and jumped and skipped all the way back to the house. My dogs sincerely thought I had lost my marbles.

Helen Pool told me that she and Gene visited Ray and Barbara Ashbrook last Monday evening.

They played forty-two and all had a nice visit. Helen went on to say that Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hinder of Portales came out last Sunday. Later in the afternoon they all went over to see Harvey and Ava Lee Balko's new home.

The Pools went to Lubbock on business last Wednesday. They went to Portales this past Monday for the same reason.

Floyd and Fanny Brown visited the James Newberrys of Causey Friday night. Kay went also.

Little Danny Gardner and Sandy Sowder spent Monday with the Browns. Danny is their grandson. Sandy is the daughter of the Sammys Sowders.

Jim Ann and Stanley Gardner went to Portales on business Monday.

Jim Brown called home Saturday to tell his parents that Gloria and the children had been in the hospital with the flu and pneumonia. They have been released and are all doing fine now.

The Browns visited Francis Inman and her brothers Sunday.

Coming home from the Inmans, the Browns stopped to see Harvey and Ava Lee's new home.

Charley let me out of the stockade long enough to do some visiting this past week. Last Thursday I went over to see Barbara Ashbrook. She is doing fine. Wednesday I went back over to Barbara's. We discussed the new spring fashions over coffee. While we were having coffee, my daughter, the brat, took Barbara's house apart. To Barbara, I apologize for Laurie for eating your flowers, crawling in your cabinet, sticking her head into the bathroom fixture, tearing up the house in general and the damage to your nerves. To the girls, I apologize for the books and dolls. Really, I don't know if I can make it until she is six and then heaven help her teacher.

Barbara and I went over to Ava Lees and "Wow!" That mansion is out of this world. The house has four bedrooms, three baths, a living room, a den, study, kitchen, utility room and a pantry bigger than my whole house. The kitchen, living room, study, utility and the pantry are all paneled in dark oak. Everything that can be built in is, including television, lazy susan, dishwasher, stove and electric mixer. Across on the wall of the living room there are built in china cabinets and book shelves. Across the front living room wall between two picture windows is a fireplace. Barbara noticed the electric plug-ins and electric switches that are carved wood.

Ava Lee got new living room furniture plus a stereo, two new bedroom suits and the kids got a television apiece for their rooms. I know they are both proud of their new home. I only had two complaints. One, you can't see the television from the kitchen bar and two, it isn't mine. Congratulations from all of us.

After Barbara and I finished our tour, we had coffee and gingerbread and visited with Ava Lee until the kids came in from school. Laurie found that when she hollered in the den, she got an echo. She had a time exercising her lungs. Mostly she was overwhelmed by the size of the house so she didn't bother quite as much, she only chewed on a dolls eyes and ate part of a broach of Phylis'.

Barbara, the girls and I went to Causey to pick up Neil. He had stayed after school to get a hair cut.

After I dropped Barbara and the children at home, I made one more stop. I stopped and visited with the Jim Simpsons. They are the parents of Jerry Simpson who used to be our neighbor. Jerry and Gin have just bought them a three bedroom home in Dallas. The Jim Simpsons live part of the time here at Lingo and the rest of the time at Maple. Mrs. Simpson is giving Dormin (Butch) Taylor's wedding shower next Sunday at Maple. Butch went to school at Causey.

My grandparents, the W. C. McCelvey's came over Tuesday afternoon. They came after Laurie. They kept her while we bowled.

Harvey Lee Balko attended a Spanish class in Morton Tuesday evening. He later went out to the bowling alley where Charlye and I saw him.

Marie Vanderventer of Morton told me to tell all of you Hi and that she often thinks of you. Goodbye for this week. It's spring time, so clean your house and your mind and start afresh.

John Johnson is heart memorial chairman

The appointment of Johnny Johnson as Heart Association Memorial Gifts Chairman of the Texas Heart Association's Cochran County activities was announced recently by Robert H. Mitchell, M.D., president of the state association.

"Johnson will serve the entire county, receiving memorial gifts which will be used to support programs aimed at conquering the Nation's Number One Health problem — Heart disease," Mitchell said.

Contributions mailed to Johnson in care of the Chamber of Commerce, Morton, will be promptly acknowledged to the bereaved family and a receipt sent to the donor, it was stated.

Johnson explained that more deaths result from heart diseases in Texas than from all other causes combined but that research has already developed much that is cutting this heavy toll. He pointed out that rheumatic fever is yielding to drug therapy and that we frequently read of heart operations that enable patients to live normal healthy lives. Some of the most dramatic developments, he said, have been made in the heart research centers in Texas.

Johnson is anxious to let everyone know of the Heart Association over-all program and expressed a willingness to provide interested readers with additional information about the Texas Heart Association and the Memorial Gifts Program which he is heading.

Contractor of farm labor may need to get license

Under the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act of 1963 anyone who hauls 10 or more farm laborers from one state into another must have registered with the Department of Labor and obtained a license on or before March 1. R. L. Coffman, Texas Employment Commission administrator reminded Texas crew leaders recently.

"This federal act requires that anyone who for a fee, either for himself or on behalf of another person, recruits, solicits, hires, furnishes or transports 10 or more migrant workers other than members of his immediate family must register," Coffman explained.

"Immediate family" is interpreted by the act to include only husband or wife, children, step-children, foster children, parents, step-parents, or foster parents.

If a crew travels in several cars or trucks, every driver must be registered under his crew-leader and must carry identification at all times.

The act applies to "any corporation, partnership, association or other organization which is a farm labor contractor" as well as to individuals. Failure to have complied by the March 1 deadline can lead to a $500 fine, Coffman said.

Detailed information is available at the Texas Employment Commission in Levelland, Texas, according to local representative A. B. Whiteaker.

Plan volleyball tournament

Mrs. Ted Whillock, girls athletics director at Morton High School announced this week that a girls volleyball tournament will be organized from 48 high school girls who are now meeting twice a week after school to practice volleyball.

Mrs. Whillock said the girls will be divided into six teams of eight girls each that will compete against each other in the tournament. They meet an hour and one-half after school on Tuesdays and Fridays, she said.

This is the first time that such a tournament has been held, Mrs. Whillock said.

Practice games have been going on for about a week and one-half, but the girls have not yet been divided into permanent teams. Mrs. Whillock said the division into teams will take place as soon as the girls have had a chance to show their ability on the temporary practice teams.

Neil Brown speaks to Women Democrats

The Women Democrats of the Cochran County Area met February 3rd in the dining room at the Malt Shop for lunch. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Bud Thomas.

Mrs. Roy Hickman, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Willard Henry, who was in charge of the program for the day. Mrs. Henry then introduced Neil Brown who spoke on the current farm situation. He pointed out the difference in the cost and consumption of farm management from the lenders' point of view. Mr. Brown said that farmers need to permute cotton in research and advertising so that it will be able to compete with the synthetics. He said that he feels that the national farm programs are good, but that the farmer himself must implement this program by working out his own problems. Mr. Brown ended his talk with the quote by the late President John F. Kennedy, "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

Mr. Bill Woods was recognized, and he told about his recent trip to Washington. A question and answer session followed.

Mrs. H. B. Barker, president, pointed out that as women, their roll in the current farm problem, should be to demand cotton products from the stores, instead of synthetics. They can also learn to manage the income they have better.

Mrs. Barker said that they had been sent a new picture of President Lyndon B. Johnson, compliments of Jesse T. George. The meeting was closed with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Next meeting will be April 7. The program will be one concerning the teachers' pay raise now pending before the Texas Legislature.

Many motorists may be violators of state law

Facts revealed in the recent break-up of two Texas auto theft rings indicate that some Texas motorists could be unwitting violators of state law.

C. C. Benson, manager, Texas Division, National Automobile Theft Bureau, warned today that "having in possession or operating a motor vehicle from which the manufacturer's identifying number has been removed" is a punishable violation under Texas law.

His statement came when it was learned that a Houston based theft ring specialized in "lifting" serial plates from cars of innocent citizens, then substituting those serial plates from the originals on stolen cars.

Mental health topic for ELS Study Club

Elma L. Slaughter Study Club held its regular meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Herman Bedwell, Mrs. Willie Taylor presided. Texas Heritage was the theme for the day. Mrs. Leonard Coleman brought the program on "Mental Health". She said that a mental health plan was drafted by more than 100 citizens, and is now being offered for consideration of the people of our state. It has concern for the child, the gifted, the ill, the underachiever, the deprived, and the older people. The Texas plan would recommend treating mental illness in or near our local communities.

Mrs. Coleman pointed out that the public still regards mental illness as an informal offense against society. The goal of mental health is to prevent mental disorder and disability. She said that new skills, followed by the opportunity to work in a healthy community are some of the ingredients that support growth, recovery and durable rehabilitation of the mentally ill. Prevention and early detection of mental illness is the duty of every citizen of every community.

Mrs. Coleman stressed that troubles which can develop into mental illness arise in family relationship, school work, financial difficulties, poor health, alcoholism, drug addiction, aging and retirement. People unable to cope with these problems must have someone to guide them to rational solutions before their problem becomes unbearable to the point of mental illness.

The goal of mental health is to do everything possible to prevent mental disorder and disability. There is a shortage of persons capable to work in this field. She asked members what kind of heritage they will leave their children on mental health? Will they look back with pride or with shame? Next meeting will be March 18, in the home of Mrs. W. M. Butler Jr. Mrs. John L. McGee will present the program. Refreshments were served to said a representative will be in Morton soon to assess the situation here. Johnson said the library here is especially short of reference material and basic adult literature, which may be available on a loan basis from the state.

Johnson told reporters he believed the trip to the capitol was of considerable benefit to the area and that it enlisted support for local projects.

The opportunity to speak with a number of state officials was arranged for the group by State Representative Jesse George, Johnson said.

Committee

"An across-the-board tax is fair and everyone would pay his share," one spokesman for the council said.

Another matter considered by the board was education. Two measures, one sponsored by Texas Governor John B. Connally, and another sponsored by the Texas State Teacher's Association, were examined. Sentiment at the meeting favored the teachers' bill but no action was taken on the matter in order to give the council members time to study the governor's proposal in more detail.

After reviewing the audit report, the court authorized payment of $2,000 to the accountant.

Another action taken by the court was to authorize payment of eight cents a mile for travel expenses to Leonard Groves, county tax assessor-collector to cover his expenses while assessing taxes.

Finally, the court reject all bids on a sheriff's department car to replace one being used in the Whiteface area, and voted to advertise for new bids. The new bids will be opened at 10 a.m. Friday, March 26 at the Cochran County Court House in Morton.

The committee, composed of City Secretary Elra Oden and councilmen W. L. Foust and Kenneth Thompson, said it has considered some metal buildings, but it continuing the study before making any final recommendations.

City Secretary Oden read a letter from the State Department of Health to health officer Dr. McSpadden telling of a refuse collection and disposal clinic in Lubbock March 27. Oden and perhaps others will attend the meeting.

College in Lubbock, as well as representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Texas Rangers.

An assembly will open Career Day with a musical program and introduction of the representatives of the various occupations. The assembly will be followed by two fifty-minute sessions during which the consultants will disperse to special rooms where they will talk with students interested in their occupations. Bowen said the manner in which the session will be handled will depend on each consultant. He said the usual manner is a brief presentation followed by a question and answer session.

The opening assembly and two sessions will be held in the morning. A lunch break will follow the second session, and two more 50 minute sessions will take place during the afternoon.

Bowen said more detailed information will be released as plans become more exact.

Candidates

C. G. Richards, who is in the water well pump business.

Most of the new candidates made last-minute applications on Saturday, March 6, the last day applications could legally be made. Oden said Taylor, Baker, Williamson, Halloman, Hancock, Nichols, and Marina all applied Saturday, Willis applied before Saturday, and the other two candidates were announced last week.

The election has been set for April 6. Three council positions will be vacated by Van Greene, Neal Ross and W. L. Foust, none of whom are candidates for reelection.

The candidate drew lots to determine their position on the ballot Monday morning, March 10. They each selected a number from a hat at the office of the Morton Tribune, where the ballots will be printed. Five candidates were on hand for the drawing, and numbers were drawn for the other five. The names will appear on the ballot in the following order: Hancock, Williamson, Nichols, Seaney, Taylor, Willis, Richards, Marina, Halloman, and Baker.

McLain said the festival will be the climax of this year for the high school's acappella choir. Choir members will participate in the festival which is described as an "opportunity for wholesome competition in the field of music," and is judged by nationally known musicians.

The sole means of financing the choir trip will be the Indian Capers presentation and recording, it was stated.

McLain said further details about the variety show and record will be released later this month.

Legislative swindle

Some of the slickest brains in Congress are now working overtime trying to solve a difficult political problem. What the legislative wheeler-and-dealers want to do is to fulfill the President's campaign promise to Big Labor that he would repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, but do it without attracting the attention of the people to the loss of another individual freedom.

Now in the legislative hatchery is one so-called "compromise" bill supposedly aimed at protecting the legal and civil rights of individual workers — more are expected. But look out! The real purpose of the measure is to provide a smoke screen for repealing 14(b), the 44-word section of the Taft-Hartley Act, which gives the states the right to legislate and enforce voluntary union membership.

Such bills are a sly effort to swap nothing for something. And here's why:

Enforcement of Title 7 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 will prevent discrimination among workers on account of race, color or creed.

Enforcement of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act of 1947 — and the Supreme Court ruling in the Allen Case in 1964 — will prevent the use of compulsory dues for political purposes.

Enforcement of the Landrum-Griffin Act of 1959 will prevent a union from fining or penalizing a member for exercising any legal or civil right guaranteed by the Constitution or laws of the United States.

The amazing thing about these "compromise" efforts is that while they claim to be concerned about the civil rights of the individual they would actually repeal a civil right of the first magnitude: the worker's freedom to join or not to join a union. To camouflage the repeal of 14(b) under the guise of offering protections already established by law, reflects a shocking political cynicism. And this attitude is particularly revolting when we consider that every Congressman knows that the one effective control over the political and financial abuses practiced by labor bosses on rank and file workers is voluntary union membership — in short, the Right to Work!

Every Congressman should also realize at this late date that an impressive majority of his fellow citizens believe in voluntary union membership; and that with them this is an article of faith, with which there can be no compromise or negotiation. Surely, if Mr. Johnson, himself, fears to move boldly against 14(b) lest he tarnish his image as "President of all the people," most any Congressman would do well to tread softly, and tiptoe out of any involvement in this nothing-for-something swindle.

We need Asian help

Between Mao to the East and Kosygin to the West, screaming choice insults at America — charging us with the slaughter of women and children as well as the stock Communist indictment of aggression — we, the plain people, may be in some danger of losing our patience.

As the static from the blood-drenched peoples' paradises on either side of us grows more shrill, it becomes more difficult to reflect calmly on our unhappy experience in Southeast Asia and why Americans, in the uniform of our country, are dying there; to analyze our situation or to think constructively of a better course than our off-again, on-again aerial strafing of what we hope are the Viet Cong.

Thinking back, we are reminded that we went into Southeast Asia as advisors and to train these freedom fighters in the use of strange, new weapons. It was inevitable that, as the months dragged into years, there would be American casualties — and now, as they top the 300 mark, Americans are shooting back and piloting attacking planes.

Sentiment for a "negotiated settlement" appears to be running out of the Washington peace-makers' shoes as Democrats join Republicans in backing President Johnson's policy of seeing the job through. Most forthrightly, Louisiana's Senator Russell B. Long says we must be prepared to fight both Red China and Russia if necessary to win in South Vietnam. And now comes word that U.S. Marines may be landed to close the border between the two Vietnams against further infiltration from the north.

But the issue is far from settled. And, if we are to see it through — as we must if we are ever to stand up to Communism anywhere — it is time to accept the help of the still-free nations of Asia. No less than 20 of them — from the free Republic of China on Taipei to Thailand and Korea to the Philippines — have offered. And we have been stiff-necked about letting Asians help in resolving a fundamentally Asian crisis. Chiang has pleaded for the chance of wiping out Red China's budding nuclear capability while there is yet time, and of invading the mainland whose teeming millions will flock to his support. Korea has offered up to 100,000 troops — and other Asian countries in proportion.

Let us stay on the job. But let us welcome the Asiatic help we must have.

Inflation is here

The one-hundred-cent dollar of fiscal 1939 — when the gross public debt and guaranteed obligations of the USA stood at $49.89 billion — is now worth 44.8 cents, according to Virginia's Rep. Richard H. Poff, while the nation's obligations now total more than $312.5 billion.

In a revealing tabulation of the nation's fiscal posture from 1930 through 1964, the Old Dominion Congressman presents, year by year, a statistical sermon on the wages of Federal extravagance.

In all these 35 years, budget surpluses have occurred just seven times — deficits 28 times. In only one year out of four, in all this time, has the Government of the United States taken in more than it has spent! At the end of 1964, the red ink figure for the period stood at $287.29 billion, annual interest on the public debt at $10.666 billion.

Inflation is not something to fear. It is here. It is something to fight — now.

Newspaper's responsibility
What is a newspaper's responsibility in the reporting crime — especially juvenile crime?

If you were editor of The Vindicator, what would be your policy in regard to juvenile crime in Liberty County?

Our policy generally has been to omit the names of juveniles unless they are involved in heinous crimes. Fortunately, this county has had few juveniles involved in major crimes. Indeed, our juvenile crime record is good as a whole when compared with other Texas counties.

But there are two sides to this "What shall we print?" question. Sometimes the decision must be made as to whether the public or a few individuals should be protected. It is a tough decision to make, just as it is tough for a judge to make a decision involving the freedom of a teen-age boy.

One editor 'way up in the Panhandle, Troy Martin of the Canyon News, recently faced the juvenile problem and came up with a new answer. Here it is:

"As a matter of record, this newspaper will print the criminal proceedings of Randall County court in the future.

"In the past we have covered only unusual cases. We feel that this sometimes is not fair to the court, law enforcement officers, the people involved and the public in general.

"Our policy in future juvenile cases will be to withhold the names of first offenders. The names of juveniles sent to reform school will be printed.

"We realize that printing the names of such offenders often brings grief to innocent loved ones. We ask those affected to remember that we are mere chroniclers, setting down the living history of this community in print. We do not make the news. The people involved make it and they can keep their names from appearing unfavorably in print by keeping out of trouble.

"We make this decision as we watch the appalling increase in both adult and juvenile crime. We are determined to give those officers who daily risk their lives in the defense of this community all the moral and material assistance of which we are capable. So be it."

Liberty Vindicator

False pay rates, no good
Governor John Connally earned the applause of a lot of Texans last week when he served notice on the U.S. Department of Labor that he doesn't like its directives that unskilled students in the War-on-Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps, with which the Governor tangled horns, offers part-time jobs (10 to 15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters aged 16 to 21 who are on the verge of becoming high school drop-outs because of financial difficulties. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and local participating units are expected to put up the remaining 10 per cent. Next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

The local districts which have been formed in Texas proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour, in accordance with Labor Department suggestions that the NYC wages should be "a little below prevailing entry rates for inexperienced workers in similar occupations."

Then the Labor Department changed signals and ordered minimum wage rates of $1.25 per hour. The Governor backed, and we think he was right. The point is not that the federal government would be paying most of the cost and the local employers could still be getting "cheap" labor... the point is not in who is paying the cost at all. The point is that such jobs as are proposed here should pay the recipients no more... and not much less... than their labor is worth on the local free market. To create an artificially high wage scale for a particular locality would be as damaging as setting an artificially low one. One would become a dole, the other a bonanza... and either could spell defeat for the program as a whole by upsetting economic balance within family and community and imposing false and artificial standards on the young people it is intended to help.

AMA issues warning on cleansers

A 36-year-old Boston housewife clean her kitchen floor one evening just before dinner time with a mixture of household cleansers, commercial bleach and vinegar. Shortly after dinner the entire family became ill, with nausea, headaches, dizziness and coughing. Fortunately, everyone recovered.

What happened? Only what could happen in Morton.

In mixing the bleaches and vinegar, this lady inadvertently released some chlorine gas in her small, tightly closed kitchen.

Simple moral
The moral is simple. Be very cautious about mixing two or more powerful cleansers, such as are used for ovens and toilet bowls; mixing them with each other or with household ammonia or vinegar. Just because each cleanser is relatively safe when used alone doesn't necessarily mean it's also safe in mixtures, says the American Medical Association.

The strong cleansers often are tricky to use. The package labels on can, bottle or carton include explicit directions for proper and safe use. The labels point out the potential dangers. The problem is that many householders have become so familiar with the common cleansers that they no longer bother to read the labels.

Serious problem
The danger of mixing household cleansers is not a major health problem, but is serious enough to warrant attention. A recent report in a medical journal showed that during a period of sixty days in the winter of 1963, 45 calls were received at the Boston Poison Information Center regarding adult poisonings. Four of these were for inhalation of gases produced by homemade cleaning mixtures.

The most common homemade mixtures, said the Boston report, are those using sodium hypochlorite and ammonia or vinegar. Sodium hypochlorite and vinegar react and produce chlorine gas. Mixed with ammonia, sodium hypochlorite gives off irritating gases.

Such incidents occur more frequently in winter, when houses are closed and ventilation is at a minimum, but they can and do

Highlights and Sidelights —

GOP has re-districting plan

AUSTIN, Tex. — If you want to sit in on the committee hearing for the bill which would legalize the sale of miniature bottles of liquor in restaurants, you better come early.

That's what Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg, sponsor of the bill in the upper house, is saying. He expects as many as 3,000 persons will be at the Capitol to testify or to listen when the bill comes up before the Senate Committee on Jurisprudence at 2 p.m., Tuesday, March 16.

Bill would allow establishments where at least half of the monthly business is for meals to get a state license for the sale of 2-oz. bottles of liquor, enough for a single cocktail.

There's organized support on both sides. The line-up:

—In favor, the Texas Restaurant Association, which hopes the bill will permit its members to meet the competition of private clubs, which increasingly are getting the restaurant business from people who like a drink before dinner.

—Opposed, church groups which generally are against any liberalization of liquor regulations and a strange bedfellow, the Texas Package Stores Association, which contends the bill as written would prevent liquor stores from continuing to sell beer.

The Texas Package Stores Association also believes the same section it opposed would prohibit restaurants from selling beer and wine if they sold miniatures.

A hearing is yet to be scheduled on the House version of the bill by Rep. Willis Whitley of Houston.

REDISTRICTING — Texas Republicans, whose lawsuit resulted in present congressional districts being invalidated, have offered their version of how the lines should be redrawn. Plan is embodied in a bill sponsored by Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland, only Republican in the 59th Legislature.

The GOP product satisfies many objections raised to others introduced so far, since it disturbs fewer incumbents than any plan to date.

Only U. S. Reps. Graham Parcell of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson would be facing each other as opponents in a newly-created Congressional District 13, and U. S. Reps. John Dowdy of Athens and Lindley Beekworth of Gladewater, in a newly-defined district 3.

Three new districts would be developed: A District 23, giving Harris County a third congressman; District 17, giving Bexar County and a group of South Texas Counties another representative; and District 7, giving Dallas County a second congressman. U. S. Rep. Joe Poll, who lives in District 7, but now is elected statewide, could thus retain a seat.

LAND PROGRAM — Voters will get another chance to say whether they want to continue the veterans land program under which thousands of Texas veterans have purchased farm property at low interest.

A proposed constitutional amendment to extend the program — first amendment cleared this session — was approved by the Senate and sent to the governor. Amendment will be voted on in November. Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham and Sen. Criss Cole of Houston are the sponsors.

SMALL LOAN HEARING — A housewife from Dallas told members of the House Committee on Banks and Banking that a $50 loan, which she later decided she did not need in the first place, cost her $1,500 over a three-year period by the time she went through renewals and additional loans to meet high interest rates.

She testified in a hearing on a bill by Rep. W. Reed Quillian Jr. of Lubbock, which would reduce interest rates on loans $100 or less by one-half to two-thirds.

An association of small loan companies appeared to oppose the bill. A citizens committee from Dallas and ex-Attorney General Will Wilson favored it. The bill went to a sub-committee.

PARK ASKED — Senate adopted a resolution by Sen. W. E. Snelson of Midland urging fast action by Congress to appropriate funds for buying land to create a Guadalupe Mountain National Park.

A federal agency has recommended that the park be created, and an area man has offered to sell 72,000 acres. Area contains "Interest is running high, and rightly so, on the local scene regarding possible extension in library facilities for Cochran County, State Rep. Jesse George told the Tribune recently. Some sixty letters have come across my desk in response to a letter which I sent to Mrs. H. B. Spotts, Cochran County librarian, informing her of the passage of Senate Bill 66 by Senator Crump."

"Under the terms of that act there will be available $2,500,000 for matching funds of Texas counties and cities to provide additional service and construction of facilities. The bill authorizes the Texas Library and Historical Commission to enter into contracts with local libraries to accept federal matching grants under the new Federal Library Service and Construction Act," George explained.

"Mr. Johnny Johnson, manager of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce, contacted me and confirmed the need and desire for a portion of these grants. Following our conversation, I contacted Mr. Dorman H. Winfrey, Director of the Texas State Library and expressed our mutual desire for funds to enlarge the library facilities in Cochran County. I explained our situation to Mr. Winfrey and obtained the necessary applications from him and mailed them to Johnny Johnson. The decision as to whether Morton will be a recipient of the grant lies in the acceptance of the applications by the Texas State Library."

The legislator continued, "I am extremely appreciative of the interest Cochran Countians are exhibiting on this program, and I assure you that my every effort will be exerted in achieving our goal for enriched and increased library facilities.

"Discussing other matters, he said, "The oil and gas forced pooling bill, has passed both the House and Senate after a somewhat heated floor skirmish. This bill, defeated in the last session of the Legislature, was one, which after considerable study, I could not conscientiously support."

Considering recent sex legislation proposals, George said, "H. J. R. 6, the Constitutional Amendment which states that Equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex," has failed to receive the necessary 100 votes for final passage in the House of Representatives. This measure, which upon passage would have been submitted to the people for a vote was opposed by the State Bar of Texas on the grounds that "equal treatment of the sexes under the law should be achieved by legislation directed specifically to the solution of each of the problems involved, and not by a constitutional amendment that would invalidate many existing statutes without providing new statutes to replace them."

"Urging passage of the H.J.R. 6 was the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs who stressed that 'equal rights' are inconsistent with special legal rights and that it is under the guise of so-called rights or benefits that women have been treated unequally and denied opportunities which are available to men."

The measures was defeated on Third Reading by a vote of 91 to 25.

Mr. Ed Lloyd of Lubbock visited Tuesday in the home of his mother, Mrs. O. B. Williams.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raby Kellogg last Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith of Amherst and Mrs. Charles Hensley and daughter of Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Hill left Tuesday for Eldorado, Oklahoma to visit relatives.

Final approval has been given a bill by Sen. Bruce Reagan, Corpus Christi, which adds maize seed and safflower to the list of products from which oleomargarine can be made and sold in Texas without payment of the cents a pound tax.

State Treasurer Jesse James reports that revenue from cigarette tax stamps in February totaled $5,600,000 or $1,000,000 over February, 1964.

The jolly roger, the ancient flag of the pirates, threw fear into every ship that sailed the high seas. These armed robbers sought to raid every ship they came across. None was safe when they were near.

The Bible teaches that there is a devil called Satan who is a robber and a thief, who "goes about like a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour." (1 Peter 5:8) But when the pirate threatens, we need not be afraid. We are encouraged by Romans 8:38 & 39: "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come; nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

Our faith in Christ can overcome Satan's fiery darts. Through Him we can overcome all. We invite you to attend the Church of our Lord this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
