Set city budget for this year

State official presents plans for poverty war

Nearly 40 representatives of Morton, Whiteface, Bledsoe, Bula and Three-Way heard a representative from the governor's office speak in Morton Wednesday, April 28, where local involvement in the War on Poverty was discussed.

Bob Allen, who is a state advisor in the War on Poverty matters, told the group that assembled at a meeting sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce at the Production Credit Association office in Morton that a community action program for this area is possible, but no definite commitment was made.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Johnny Johnson gave a run-down on the program but indicated that more "interest will have to be developed and specifics must be laid down." In the course of the meeting and one that followed with school administrators Thursday morning, Allen pointed out that problems are anticipated in getting money to schools involved because of certain integration factors.

In Morton an un-integrated elementary school is the only obstacle related to receiving federal funds.

Johnson commented that "although there was a good turnout at the meeting, enthusiasm must be generated in more areas than Morton."

★ Banquet

Plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet at Morton School Cafeteria tomorrow, Friday, May 7, are shrouded in secrecy. The seniors are being kept in ignorance of details of the banquet in the hope that they will be pleasantly surprised when the banquet begins at 7:30.

Some of the fun planned for the banquet includes the coronation of the senior king and queen who have been elected by members of the junior class. A "class will" prepared by the seniors will be read, and a class prophecy prepared by the junior class is also on the agenda.

Musical entertainment will be provided by a group from Wayland College in Plainview, the Continentals.

Council to use figure as guide for expenses

Financial affairs absorbed the attention of the Morton City Council Monday, May 3, when the annual audit report was made by Certified Public Accountant John Haggard, and a $313,006 budget for this year's activity was accepted.

Acting upon the auditor's recommendations, the council voted to make minor changes in bookkeeping practices of the city. One action was to approve this recommendation from the auditor. "On July 8, 1963, the Council approved the transfer of the $1,200 per annum from Cochran County to the Firemen's Pension Fund. The receipt of this $1,200 is not shown in the General Fund and the Firemen's Pension Fund has not been included in the accompanying financial statements. We recommend that the $1,200 from the county be deposited in the General Fund for purposes of accounting and that $1,200 per annum be contributed to the Firemen's Pension Fund from the General Fund."

A recommendation that all fees be deposited in the city's bank account and that city employees be compensated by salary was discussed and tabled. The accountant's recommendation was:

"During the course of our examination we found that certain fees of office are not being deposited to the credit of the City of Morton. Whether or not this practice has been sanctioned by the City Council, we recommend that all fees be deposited in the City's bank account and that City Employees be compensated by salary. The fees in question are tax certificate fees, animal warden fees and inspection fees. We also noted that not all fines are being collected in full at the time of assessment. Inasmuch as this procedure has been subjected to a question of propriety, the above information is being furnished for your consideration and disposition."

Commenting on major city expenses of the past year, Haggard said "The fiscal year ended March 31, 1965 was one of the progressive action on the part of the City. Over 100 blocks of paving were completed during the year and major improvements were substantially completed to the water, sewer and gas system."

Haggard listed the major improvements costs as the city's portion of paving coat, $78,040.10; a street sweeper, $10,710; water and sewer system improvements $22,283.95; and gas system improvements, $74,810.94. He lists a total of $385,845.08 for these major improvements.

A budget for this year's city operations was discussed. City Secretary Elra Oden with the aid of Haggard had prepared the budget which was slightly altered and accepted by the council. This year's budget was compiled by comparing expenses incurred last year with expected expenditures this year.

Six concerts set for band

Thursday, May 6, marks the beginning of the Morton High School Band's concert season, according to band director Johnny Stockdale. The band will play for the first time at Bula School this morning. A concert will be given at the Three-Way Schools on Monday and for those at the school during the afternoon.

Friday, May 11, will be the sea-son's climax for the band when it plays at the Cochran County Building Auditorium. The band will play a fairly large concert at the Cochran County Building Auditorium. The concert will feature the band playing light music as show tunes. A Dixieland band will accompany the band. The band has been planning to play at the Cochran County Building Auditorium for some time. The concert should last one and one-half hours, including time for intermission. The band will play a fairly large concert at the Cochran County Building Auditorium.

Eight year olds who wish to play in the minor league baseball program are asked to sign up at the first Little League ball game Monday night at the Little League park. Those who have already signed up need not do so again.

Mahon voices opposition to skip-row legislation

The Congressional Representative from this district George Mahon reports that he has protested to the Secretary of Agriculture a proposed change in the skip-row program for cotton. Mahon advised the Secretary that he felt "the proposed change would be disastrous to some farmers and hurtful to all."

Mahon has asked the Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture to conduct an open hearing to enable farmers and farm organizations to air their views on the subject of the proposed change.

The Department of Agriculture has proposed a modification of the cotton skip-row program for 1966 which would reduce by 30 percent the advantage which the present program grants to producers who plant two rows of cotton and skip one or who plant two rows of cotton and skip two or who plants two rows and skip four.

The advantage granted under the present program to those who plant four rows and skip two or who plant four rows and skip four would be reduced by 15 percent.

Mahon has provided details of the United States Department of Agriculture-proposed change to all Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office managers in the district and to officials of farm organizations whose addresses are available to him. The department will give consideration to all protests and recommendations which are submitted prior to May 22, 1965, Mahon indicated.

The congressman urges farmers and farm organizations to make their views known immediately to the Department of Agriculture.

Official takes a plane to catch airplane in time

Driving 60 miles from Morton to Lubbock, and then through city traffic and out to the airport on the northeast side of Lubbock in fewer than 65 minutes would be a nerve-straining trip — and that is what might have been necessary to get a state official who was visiting Morton last week to his plane in time. But fortunately, a generous Morton pilot spared the dignitary the long trip by automobile.

Bob Allen, an agent of the governor's office working on the War on Poverty, was speaking at a meeting attended by school administrators from Morton, Whiteface, Bledsoe, Three-Way, and Bula, last Thursday morning when the incident occurred. He began speaking with the school superintendents at the Commercial Building in Morton discussing in detail the part of schools in a community action program outlined the previous evening at a general meeting sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce at Production Credit Association offices.

Time slipped away, and Allen prepared to leave, but there were more details to discuss. At that point T. K. Williamson, a local air plane operator, entered the building in search of information about air ports. When he learned that the state official had to be in Lubbock's air port in such a short time, he agreed to fly him there.

Williamson, along with Allen, Morton Area Chamber Manager Johnny Johnson, and State Representative Jesse George, who had accompanied Allen drove to the Morton Airport in Johnson's car, and flew to Lubbock in Williamson's Twin Comanche. The plane left Morton at 11:05 a.m. and landed here again at 11:50 a.m. — after having left Allen at the Lubbock airport with more than enough time to board the plane.

Bewildering signs bedeck many of Morton's streets

It may be just a sign of the times, but signs in Morton are in for a change, according to Morton Mayor Dean Weatherly. At a Monday night meeting of the Morton City Council Weatherly indicated that with the completion of the city's extensive utility improvement and paving projects, time will be available to alter some now erroneous and confusing street signs that sprinkle Morton's intersections.

The council heard how badly-marked streets had caused confusion resulting in the wrong address being listed on the insurance policy of one Morton citizen and how other visitors had become confused in our small and uncompleted street network because of incorrect signs.

A short drive through Morton easily brings anyone to at least some signs that are incorrect and confusing. Besides the common street-name signs that bear the wrong names, there are signs that have become nearly invisible because of incorrect signs.

Bledsoe requests fire hose from county court

Fire hose for Bledsoe was the topic of a special meeting of the Cochran County Commissioners Court Monday, May 3. The court considered a request from the county's third precinct asking for high pressure hose that could be attached to flushing valves in Bledsoe. The court was told the valves can serve as fire hydrants until a fire truck is able to reach the community.

A commissioner was appointed to investigate the price of the hose, and the details of the kind and amount needed. The court indicated that action will be taken at the next regular meeting of the court Monday, May 10, when the results of the investigation will be reported to the court.

Junior high band sweeps contest at Abernathy

Morton's Junior High School Band won a sweepstakes award at the Abernathy Invitational Tournament Saturday, May 1. Band director Johnny Stockdale told the Tribune that the band earned first division ratings in concert and in sight reading contests, and that all but one ensemble and all solos received first division ratings. The only ensemble that did not receive a first division rating, a sixth grade clarinet trio, did receive a very honorable second division rating.

Stockdale said the Junior High Band had done well at a previous contest, also. Competing at a University Interscholastic League contest at Monterey High School in Lubbock Saturday, April 24, the group won a first division rating for concert playing, and a second division rating for sight reading.

Rain-maker offers to moisten Morton vicinity

Armed with a proposition that may sound like a dream-come-true to many Morton area farmers, F. M. Basco of Weather Engineers, Incorporated, approached persons in this area Tuesday offering the services of his company as rain-makers.

Extraordinarily dry weather in the Morton area this spring has caused many farmers to wish for even moderate amounts of rain. Basco believes he can produce up to four inches for local farmers.

He asserted that his company can produce rain in the Morton area if the conditions are right — and the conditions, he said, seem right at this time. Basco asks $500 as a down payment for his rain-making activities. The usual fee of his company, he added, is one-tenth of a cent an acre in advance and one-cent an acre for every inch of rain up to four inches.

Basco told the Tribune that a recent one-inch rain in the Matador area was caused by rain-making activities in eastern Colorado near Vega where his company was operating prior to the rain. The rain-maker asserted that a test of whether or not the real cause of the rain was the activity of his company can be made by analyzing the rain-water for traces of the chemical used in the company's rain-making process.

As explained by the weather engineer, the rain is produced by putting a chemical nucleus into the air and allowing the raindrops to gather. Then, after the clouds have become altered enough to produce rain, a second process is used to "trigger" the rain. Basco called this second process a "chemical release," but did not elaborate or give details of either process. He did indicate, however, that chemicals used for the process can be released from either the air or from the ground.

Weather Engineers, Incorporated, has operated principally in the area since 1950.

Signs

cause of over-hanging tree branches, traffic lights that behave strangely, and stop signs that have not yet been replaced after construction caused their removal at the outset of a paving project.

Just one example of the most common error is the street name sign at Second Street and Wilson Avenue that labels Wilson Avenue as Second Street and Second Street as Wilson Avenue.

At the intersection of Main (Highway 214) and Taylor Avenue there is no sign indicating that drivers approaching the highway from the west should stop or yield the right of way to vehicles on the highway.

The street name sign at the intersection of Southwest Third and Grant is so twisted that it is impossible for a stranger to know which is which from the sign.

Near the schools, the traffic lights suspended above the intersection of Southwest Sixth Street and Buchanan Avenue was dead Tuesday when a Tribune photographer took a picture of it. This light customarily showed a yellow light at the same time as another light and confusingly showed lights in an order that brought the yellow light before the red light instead of before the green light.

A block west of there, a traffic light suspended above Southwest Fifth Street and Buchanan Avenue did not show a green light for a different reason. The green glass had been broken from the light exposing an ordinary light without color.

Superintendent of schools home at Bledsoe destroyed in morning fire

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Parr escaped from their burning home in Bledsoe early Thursday morning, April 25, when they awakened to find their house filled with smoke. Parr said he and his wife escaped with only what they were able to carry, leaving nearly all their property to total destruction in the fire that leveled their house to the ground.

Mrs. Parr was taken to Morton Memorial to be treated. Mr. Parr said she was unburned but had inhaled some smoke, and was not seriously harmed.

Parr said the fire was roaring when the couple escaped long before daylight last Thursday morning. They called the fire department from Morton and rescued a small table from the house. "Nothing we did then was rational," he told reporters later.

Volunteer firemen from Morton indicated that when they reached the fire in Bledsoe, the Parr home was too far gone to be saved. Firemen concentrated instead on keeping the fire from spreading to a near-by house.

Parr is superintendent of schools at Bledsoe, and lives across the street from the school there. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

Joyce, Ledbetter off to state track meet in Austin

Two Morton High School track men, Jimmy Joyce and Charles Ledbetter, will be competing in the state track meet this Friday and Saturday at Austin. They will be accompanied on the trip by Coach J. P. Jones.

Ledbetter will compete in the broad jump, which gets underway at 1:00 p.m., Friday, while Joyce is entered in the 400 yard dash. Running events start at 2:00 p.m., Saturday.

Both boys became eligible to compete in the state meet with second place finishes in the regional track meet two weeks ago in Lubbock. Ledbetter jumped 22 ft. 6 in., to finish behind John Sublett of Alpine who leaped 22 ft. 11½ in., while Joyce was only .1 second behind Ray Stewart of Iowa Park in the 440. Joyce's time was 56.2.

Both Ledbetter and Joyce have the third best distances and times among the eight qualifiers for the state meet. Only the boys who beat them in the regional and one other qualifier had better records in the various regional meets.

Ledbetter competed in the Little State Track Meet at Corpus Christi last weekend, where he placed fifth in the high jump and seventh in the broad jump against athletes in all classifications.

MORTON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1965

By the boards

The major unions are going all out to bring about repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley law which permits the states, if they choose, to adopt right-to-work laws. That brings up the $64 question: What does the public at large think of right-to-work?

The Dallas Morning News reports on a poll made in Texas. Those polled were asked "Do you think people who work in a plant where there is a union should or should not be required to join the union to hold their jobs in the plant?" Sixty-five per cent said No, as against 25 per cent saying Yes. The remaining 10 per cent had no opinion.

The News also recalls that a poll made some little time ago by the Opinion Research Corporation, one of the leading national organizations of its kind, revealed that public sentiment in favor of right-to-work was at an all-time high. In a previous poll taken in 1956, 46 per cent favored voluntary as opposed to compulsory unionism; the recent figure was 67 per cent.

A very substantial majority of Americans, it seems clear, believe the right to join or not join a union, as one desires, is an absolute basic right. No man is free when, on pain of losing his livelihood, he can be coerced into joining any organization.

Now that's settled

As 15,000 so-called "students" were converging on Washington and the White House to demonstrate for immediate withdrawal of American forces from South Vietnam, President Johnson, week-ending at the LBJ Ranch, called together the reporters who had accompanied him to Texas to answer the "Get Out of Vietnam" and "Stop the Air Raids" hecklers — both foreign and domestic.

In a prepared statement which he read, the President deplored the necessity of our air raids, but rejected the plea that a suspension might improve chances for peace negotiations, declaring that "We are still ready for unconditional discussion," and would begin such talks "tonight," if that were possible.

"And let us remember," he read, "the people of South Vietnam, and the Americans who share their struggle, suffer because they are attacked — not because they are attackers."

And again: "Our objective in Vietnam remains the same; an independent South Vietnam, tied to no alliance, free to shape its relation and association with all other nations."

"... Our policy also remains the same," he said, "to strive for peace, but not to yield to aggression; to use what power we must, but no more than we need; to stay until independence is secure, but to leave when that independence is securely guaranteed."

"And let this also be clear: until that independence is guaranteed, there is no human power capable of forcing us from Vietnam. We will remain as long as necessary, with the might required, whatever the risk and whatever the cost."

Thus was Senator Fulbright answered — even before he had made his Easter suggestion that cessation of U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam might ease the way to peace talks. He would like, said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman, "to see a cease-fire on both sides. But if that can't be obtained, then I believe there might be some value in stopping the bombings temporarily..."

The Senator in his statement was taking exception to the pronouncement of Secretary of State Rusk which emphasized the President's conviction that any pause in our efforts would refresh only the enemy. And Defense Secretary McNamara followed up the Fulbright remarks with a blast in similar terms.

And thus was the Soviets' new Premier, Alexei Kosygin answered — even before he had made his bitter attack on U.S. policies in Vietnam, his charge that we used "poison gases" and his thinly-veiled threat of "retaliation in kind."

As the President reiterated, we will talk — to anyone, any time. But, fortunately, we intend to keep on with our knitting while doing so.

VIEWS . . . of other editors

Why America fights

This newspaper has a deep and abiding horror of war. Throughout its more than 56 years, it has consistently urged the cause of peace, of conciliation, of negotiation, and of arbitration. It has strongly supported those international and national bodies sincerely dedicated to ending and outlawing warfare. It will continue to follow this course.

History has abundantly shown, however, that peace is not attained through submission before aggression. With aggression it is often wisest to take the course outlined by Shakespeare and "take arms against a sea of troubles, and by opposing end them." This is the course which Washington has followed in Vietnam.

Despite the difficulties of this war, despite a considerable measure of international opposition, despite the perils which surround this course, and despite the moral obligation to continually seek ways to end the conflict honorably and fruitfully, we believe that the United States is justified in its armed support of South Vietnamese territorial and political integrity. This is why:

The United States cannot go back on its word to a nation which, as Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said, is "suffering casualties at rates higher than we have ever experienced in our history."

Communism's appetite for territorial expansion in Southeast Asia appears insatiable. It must be prevented from swallowing those upon whom its appetite rests.

To Communist China accommodation is weakness. As things are now to withdraw from Vietnam would be to encourage Chinese ambitions against her neighbors.

To withdraw from Vietnam would be to leave a neighboring nation such as Thailand — already being subjected to Communist infiltration — justifiably disillusioned with the worth of America's word and of the force of America's assurances of help.

To withdraw in the face of Communist aggression would be to face the probability of having to take a stand later under even less favorable conditions.

There is no other nation in the free world which has the physical capacity to stand against the tide of Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Despite the considerable degree of international misunderstanding regarding America's role in Vietnam, we believe that the United States' prestige — a prestige important in the defense of freedom and democracy — would suffer disastrously on every continent from a withdrawal under present circumstances.

This does not mean that we believe that, in every instance, American actions in Vietnam have been wise. We feel that opportunities have been missed to help the South Vietnamese create a national government with wide popular support. Washington has clearly done an inadequate job of explaining its position and purpose both to the world at large and to public opinion at home. We feel that Washington could have done more to encourage its friends — such as United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, and Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson — to explore ways of getting peace talks under way.

But it does mean that we support the present course of resisting aggression and trust that it will be combined with a ceaseless quest for an early and stable peace.

Christian Science Monitor

Johnson and the Press
Apparently there is a vast difference in the thinking of a United States senator and the President of the United States.

Lyndon Johnson, as President of the United States, seems to resent advice from the press.

But six years ago, as a United States senator from Texas, he wrote the following letter to the Alpine Avalanche and to other newspapers throughout the state:

"My Father always told me that a man's judgment is no better than his information — and since I want my information to be the best for Texas, I want all the information on Texas thinking that I can get."

"Since it is impossible for me to sit down and visit with you and get your views as often as I would like, which in turn reflect the views of the people of your community, I wonder if I might ask a favor of you. I would like for you to send me the editorials or any personal columns in which you are especially interested and that I ought to see."

We receive several hundred Texas papers, but I frequently am not able to read all of them every week. So, if you will do me the favor of passing on to me any ideas you think are good for Texas and the Nation, I will be most appreciative. I would like to share good Texas thinking with my colleagues."

Isn't it about time Lady Bird has another talk with Lyndon? Alpine Avalanche.

We can't stand kids who cheat!
The following story is attributed to General Robert E. Lee: At the christening of a friend's infant son, the child's mother turned to the General and asked what words of guidance he might offer the baby at the beginning of its life journey. Lee's reply was simple and direct. "Teach him to deny himself!"

These are haunting words for most parents of today. In an age when the most prevailing thought is to give your children every advantage possible, these words are shocking. This is the era of self-indulgence, not self-discipline. Do we wish to rear a sucker? We are out for all we can get; so how can we set such an undesirable example?

General Lee went on to explain to the lady that the self-indulgent, those who have never learned the difficult lesson of how to say "No!" cannot win that unceasing struggle because they have never developed the spiritual backbone and firmness of character that alone can withstand moral disintegration and decay.

Jack R. Giffin wrote in the Chicago Sun-Times that we can't stand a kid who cheats: His article told of the education of Johnny O. Muddle, or the evolution of a young man who cribbed at a service academy.

When Johnny was six years old, he was with his father when they were caught speeding. His father handed the officer a $5 bill with his driver's license. "It's O.K., son," the father said as they drove off. "Everybody does it."

When he was 12, he broke his glasses on the way to school. His Aunt Agnes persuaded the insurance company they had been stolen, and they collected $27. "It's O.K., Johnny," she said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 15, he made right guard on the high school football team. His coach showed him how to block and at the same time grab the opposing end by the shirt so the official couldn't see it. "It's O.K., kid," the coach said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 18 he was appointed to a service academy although his neighbor was better qualified but couldn't play right guard. "It's O.K., kid," they told him. "Everybody does it."

When he was 19, he was approached by an upperclassman who offered him the test answers for $3. "It's O.K., kid," he said. "Everybody does it."

Johnny was caught and sent home in disgrace. "How could you do this to your mother and me?"

Highlights and Sidelights —

Schedule amendments vote

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texans will go to the polls on November 2 to vote on at least six, and perhaps 18 amendments.

Six proposals for Constitutional amendments already have cleared the Legislature. Ten to 12 others appear to have a good chance of being approved before the end of the session. Senators and representatives introduced 128 proposals for amendments.

Major interest at the Nov. 2 election will be on the proposal to increase to four years the terms of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and other officials elected statewide.

Voters also will approve or defeat amendments to: Extend the Veterans Land Program;

Let the Legislature set the salaries of the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House (at whatever level the Legislature chooses) and raise its own per diem expenses allowance from $12 a day for 120 days to $20 a day to 140 days;

Allow the state to issue bonds for loans to college students;

Exempt Hermann Hospital in Houston for payment of ad valorem taxes;

Permit the teacher retirement system to invest its money in corporation stocks, as well as in bonds.

A seventh Constitutional amendment to go to the voters is a house-keeping item to clear up uncertainty about when members of the House of Representatives take office. If approved, Legislators will take office on the date the Legislature convenes. This amendment proposal, however, will be on the regular general election ballot in November, 1966.

REPEAL POLL TAX, BUT . . . — House has passed a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax, but it went to the Senate with an amendment requiring annual registration.

Proponents of the poll tax repeal bitterly fought the annual registration requirement. They contend that the states where fraud and political bosses reign are the states with annual registration requirements.

Resolution proposes a statewide vote in November, 1966.

NYC PROJECT — A Neighborhood Youth Corps grant of $381,480 to Texas Farmers Union for summer work projects in 33 small school districts of eight South-Central Texas counties was disapproved by Gov. John Connally. Grant previously was approved by the U.S. Labor Department.

Governor said that, while he fully agrees with NYC objectives, he "cannot approve of school districts entering into third-party contracts with quasi-political organizations for work-training programs."

Connally has requested Texas Education Agency to assist the school districts in Bexar, Atascosa, Comal, Frio, Medina, Guadalupe, Karnes and Wilson Counties to prepare their own individual applications for work programs.

Texas Farmers Union President

his father said, "You never learned anything like this at home." His brother, aunt and uncle were also shocked. "The youth of today are failing," said the psychiatrist. "They refuse to determine between right and wrong."

"More than 50 per cent of our students cheat," said the educator. "It's shameful the way young people carry on today," say the moralists. "We got those bums cleaned out," said the commandant of the academy. "Now we can walk tall." If there is one thing the adult world can't stand, it's a kid who cheats!

True the world will see few Robert E. Lees, but do we have to fail our children so miserably? When we fail to set proper examples in parenthood we hurt not only ourselves but our nation as well.

Beeville Bee-Picayune

KEY TO BETTER THINGS

Jay Naman expressed disappointment over the governor's action. He said the proposed program for 790 youths would have been a pilot project for rural job training in other areas of the state and nation.

"DRINKERS' RIGHTS" — Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio presented his bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks in Texas before the House Liquor Regulations Committee.

Johnson calls his bill a "drinkers' bill of rights." He says it's needed to "bring some sense to the chaotic liquor laws in Texas."

Committee also heard bill to permit families to make up to 200 gallons of their own wine.

Both proposals were sent to sub-committees.

HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE — A bill to require a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour in Texas was sent to sub-committee.

Committee also sent to sub-panels two other measures:

Bill which would declare new "right to work" policies in event Congress knocks out open-shop provisions of Taft-Hartley law.

Resolution which would transfer to Commissioner of State Bureau of Labor Statistics responsibility for determining prevailing wages required on public works projects.

FARM LAND TAX — A constitutional amendment to allow a farmer whose property has become urbanized certain tax relief as long as he remains a bona fide farmer passed the House after big-city representatives attacked the measure as a "tax dodge for speculators."

Under the bill sponsored by Reps. Bill Dugan of McKinney, Alanzo Jamison of Denton and Wayne Connally of Floresville, a farmer with land in an urbanizing area could pay taxes based on a valuation of the land's worth for farming purposes. When he decides to sell the land, he'll pay the difference between that value and the value of the land for development purposes for three years back.

Measure is now in the hands of the Senate.

FRIEGHT CARS, TOO — Passenger trains in Texas will be allowed to carry mail or freight cars if Governor Connally signs a bill which now has passed both the House and Senate. With the exception of the World War II period, mixed trains never have been allowed in Texas.

Bills also provides that brake-men must ride in the car nearest the rear which has a facility for them.

TERMS FIGHT ENDED — Senate summarily put an end to a week-long deadlock with the House over four-year terms for representatives coupled with increasing the Senate from 31 to 39 members.

Without ceremony, Senators killed proposed constitutional amendments for both Senate and House term extensions. They said, in effect, to the House: kill the 39-member Senate proposition if you choose, but there will be no term lengthening for legislators voted this session.

CARR WARNS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr warned Texas lawmakers they have a firm deadline to complete congressional and legislative redistricting by August 1 and August 2 respectively.

In a memorandum to all legislators, Carr said the federal court may begin the reapportionment job itself after the established deadline.

SOCIAL ETHICS BILL — A House committee gave a bill to establish a course in "social ethics" in Texas schools a very-unsociable reception after a sub-committee reported it back without recommendation.

Committee voted to postpone consideration of the bill for four weeks. With hardly more time than that left in the session, the act virtually killed the bill.

ALAMO FLAG TALKS — Governor Connally declined to sign resolution calling for negotiation with Mexico for return of a flag captured at the Alamo because of "serious questions as to its constitutionality."

"It is highly doubtful that representatives of an individual state have the authority to enter negotiations of this nature with a foreign country," the governor said. "This is a very delicate proposition and falls within the responsibility of the State Department."

He applauded "sincere motives" of the legislative sponsors of the resolution.

FEDERAL EDUCATION BILL — Texas Education Agency has called on local school officials to submit their plans for participation in the new federal education program, providing $74,500,000 aid for teaching children from low-income families.

U.S. Office of Education will estimate amount of federal money available to local districts on basis of census data.

Indications are that some money can be applied toward the state's share of across-the-board teacher pay raises.

SHORT SNOOTHS — Bill to law closed meetings of governmental agencies received House Affairs Committee approval. Senate passed bill to permit bond and savings and loan associations to charge $9 for every $100 in installment loans up to $1,000.

$7,500 per $100 borrowed below $1,500 and $5,000 . . . Texas Highway Department announces $600,000 road development plan.

New recreation-industrial complex being created by Toledo, Ohio, Sam Rayburn and Dam "B" reservoirs in East Texas. Governor Connally called on Texas Research League for a three-year study of how to improve public services in metropolitan areas.

Signers of a petition for legislative election to prohibit sale of alcoholic beverages are not legally bound to vote for prohibition election is called. Attorney General Carr has held . . . T. H. Rogers of Graham was named attorney for the 90th judicial district of Young, Stephens and Shackelford counties, effective May 1 resignation of Jack O. . .

Retail sales for first three months of 1965 were six per cent ahead of the first quarter of 1964. U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity has approved $106,800 grant for technical assistance program to aid Texas grants . . . Court of Criminal Appeals refused to hear arguments on delay of sanity hearing for Lee Ruby, convicted of slaying accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

News from Across the Border

By GAYLE LATIMER

The shower we had last week was promising and nothing more. It teased our hopes and then went away.

Harvey and Ava Lee Balko went to Lubbock Monday. Harvey Lee attended his Spanish class while Ava Lee visited with a cousin, Mrs. James Farmer and Mrs. Leon Balko. The Harvey Lee Balko family ate supper with Mrs. Balko were also there. The Leon Balko family was home for the weekend.

Barbara Ashbrook visited with me last Wednesday. We went through old jewelry and had a ball.

Ava Lee Balko came by Tuesday for custom planting. See W. L. Meeks 4 miles west of city on Jesse Ballard place. 41-10-p

...and God bless Mother

This little one is aware of his mother's tender care, and responds with love. It would be wonderful if all of us showed our love for our Mothers all of the time. Even if we have been a little neglectful, we have an opportunity to go all out this Sunday, and express to her our love and appreciation for her goodness to us. The Bible tells us to "Honour thy Father and thy Mother."

On this special Mother's Day attend church and share in celebrating this time with others.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
