County gives precincts $61,480 license funds

Cochran County Commissioners met Monday at the court house in regular session with all precincts present. Leonard Coleman, precinct one, Leland S. Lewis, precinct two, Harold Love, precinct three and John Love, precinct four. John Love presided and clerk Lessey Silvers acted secretary.

Receipts were transferred from the license receipts with $15,984 to both precincts one and two and $14,752 each was awarded precincts three and four. This is a total of $61,480 transferred to the four precincts from a total of $61,480 that had been in fund.

Sheriff Hazel Hancock obtained permission from the Court to order $44.36 to the county general fund from a bank account that had been "dormant for five years" representing the fine due from a past collectors' account. The vote was by acclamation to accept the money.

Commissioners agreed to pay $50 on the light bill for the Little League baseball field. At least part of the $50 and perhaps all of it may be recovered by fees charged for use of the field.

County Extension Agent, Homer Thompson, and Home Demonstration Agent, Jennie Allen, submitted a typed report to the Commission and added verbal comments and explanations regarding activities being carried out by their departments. They reported 280 4-H club members are now active and more adult leaders than ever before but that a need existed for even more adults, especially to provide instruction in additional subjects.

Joel Parson and Joe Earl Bledsoe were granted a renewal on their lease of the county swimming pool at one-dollar a year with certain alterations in the contract in regard to segregation and other subjects.

Sheriff's plan to reduce bad check losses

Sheriff Hazel Hancock has borrowed an idea and applied it to Cochran county's "hot check" problem. The sheriff is suggesting that merchants buy rubber stamps to use on the back of checks offered to them in lieu of cash.

The sheriff obtained a small supply of the rubber stamps which have been sold for 75 cents each but does not plan to reorder. However, interested persons may get a copy of the stamps and order elsewhere from any regular stamp dealer.

The stamps give the person who cashes the check an outline of information to get from the person cashing the check such as color of hair, height, weight, drivers license number, sex, and so on. This information could prove invaluable in case the person cashing the check should need to be located and identified later.

Already, in Morton, two persons have decided against cashing a check when confronted with the questionnaire. Both were strangers here. Sheriff Hancock said experience here these stamps have been used indicates that merchants reduce their bad check losses by at least 20%.

Writing and passing a bad check can result in five years in jail here but first, the person must be located.

Service firms up 21% here

The 49 service type businesses in Cochran county had a total gross receipt of $710,000 last year, a 21 percent increase over the $583,000 made in 1958, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Cochran County's service businesses provided employment for 46 persons full-time, paid them $107,000 during the year and this did not include proprietors or their families working in these firms. The state of Texas as a whole included 69,679 establishments and a payroll of $1,879.3 million. Service trades in the census included those providing personal services to individuals such as barber services, amusement and recreation services, hotels, motels and repair services.

Indian rain dances may solve Morton rain problems

The Morton Tribune has contacted a tribe of local teen age Indians and, preliminary pow-wows indicate that if the chiefs will agree, the group may be able to solve all the problems in Cochran county by invoking the gods to bring rain to the area.

The teen agers state that they do know the ancient Indian Rain Dance and might be willing to perform it around the square, in costume and paint, provided none of the new laws coming out of Washington are deemed to be in violation by such a performance.

A spokesman for the group explained that the tribe's emblem was the buffalo. "Some of the new laws are pretty hard to understand and we don't want to be accused of being an accessory to the crime of skipping a row of plants in the cotton patch or of making it rain on land that is in the soil bank and not supposed to grow anything".

Warriors of the tribe will gather with representative chiefs of other tribes near Muleshoe Friday night to ask permission of the Council to make it rain here without an ok from Washington on watering the crops.

County 4-H teams place high in district meet

Cochran county 4-H teams placed high in District elimination contests last Saturday at Texas Tech in Lubbock with two second place awards and every team sent from here someplace in the running. More than 30 persons from Cochran county attended the event.

Velton Funk, Chris Box, Adrian King and Joe Jack Garza placed second in rifle marksmanship. Dale Thoms is instructor for the team, which is organized under both the 4-H and the National Rifle Association, according to Homer Thompson, county Extension Agent here. The two top teams from the district are entitled to go to the state meets at the ROTC building at College Station June 1. Each boy received an individual ribbon. Bailey county took first and Lamb county was third.

Also taking a second place award was the local "Share the Fun Contest" team consisting of Rickie Dansby, Raquetta Mitchell, Nan Ray, Patsy Jenkins, Larry Hale, Ronnie Cunningham, Dale Telger, Randy Clayton and Bill McClure. This group was coached by O. L. Tilger.

Ronnie Bell was Cochran county's entry in the Tractor Operators Contest and placed fifth. Bell was singled out by the County Extension office as having done a very creditable job "and would have placed higher but for a few points where he was below his otherwise high proficiency."

The Entomology Team composed of Herman McCamish, Terrill Hansen and Danny Knox was coached by Doyle Pruitt and placed a high score for third. According to Homer Thompson, this team may take first place next year "if the boys work just a little harder". Valuable experience was gained in this year's competition. Ronald Hale and Jan Thomas were members of Cochran county Cooperative Demonstration team and Bob Greene, Ricky Bedwell coached by Jessie Clayton represented Cochran county in the Electric Team Demonstration.

The local business changed hands effective May 1, and will be known now as Standard Abstract & Title Co.

Church may separate one Texas district

M. C. Ledbetter will represent Morton Methodists at the Northwest Texas Annual Conference at Lubbock May 24. Bishop O. Eugene Slater of the Northwest-San Antonio Area will preside.

The committee on Conference Merger will recommend the adoption of two resolutions designed to aid plans for the elimination of the Central (Negro) Jurisdiction. Proposals to eliminate at least the Central District and possibly one other are expected to be presented, reducing the number of districts from nine to seven.

A proposed constitution for the Council will be presented on Tuesday, to replace the old constitution.

City Council hears protest, pays most bills

Morton City Council met Monday night at City Hall in regular session. All Councilmen were present, W. L. Taylor, E. C. Seaney, Kenneth Thompson, Tom Rowden and T. K. Williamson. Dean Weatherly, mayor, presided, and Elra C. Oden, city secretary, took the minutes.

A delegation appeared before the council to protest trash they alleged was originating at the Wig Wam Cafe as a result of patrons throwing waste material from their cars around the property. Oden was designated to discuss the matter with the proprietor, Rob Richards, and try to work out a solution.

A list of approximately 50 bills were presented and it was voted to pay all but two. It was stated that work has not been completed to justify payment of these and that payment should be held pending completion of the work.

General discussion followed regarding expansion of city limits, the possibility of building a new gas main to effect savings in rates paid by the city and possible diversion sites for excess rain water in city streets, just in case it should ever rain again.

Rain in Morton

Rain hit the Morton and Cochran county area Wednesday afternoon with a steady drizzle soaking into the fields and yards. No figures were available on amount of precipitation received as the paper went to press and the rain was still falling at that time.

Cotton crop may bring $15 million plus to county

Cotton grown in Cochran county has sold for 11 to 13 and even 15 million dollars a year, according to Homer Thompson, County Extension Agent. Cochran county has an allotment of 72,000 acres which is supplemented each year by about six to eight thousand additional acres from areas east of here that fail to plant their entire allotments. This results in a total of about 80,000 acres in cotton here.

In addition to the actual cotton grower, cotton represents an income and a boost to the economy here by sustaining 15 gins in the county with about 150 families representing about 600 people, employers and owners plus their dependents, who rely on this source for their living. In addition, many service businesses as well as merchandising firms derive a vital portion of their income from cotton growers, ginners, servicing of tractors or trucks and other vehicles directly or indirectly here because of cotton production.

About three-fourths of Cochran county's cotton is irrigated and 20% or less is dry land. There are about 600 cotton farms in the county, most of which grow feed crops or livestock in addition to cotton.

Average cost to produce an acre of cotton runs between $70 and $90 depending on the soil and other conditions. Average production runs about a bale an acre and sells for $100 to $125 a bale depending on quality or about 26 cents a pound, top price.

The government support price for cotton last year was reduced

$12.50 per bale and this is being reduced another $5 this year, for a total reduction of $17.50 a bale.

Summer school schedule given

This Saturday, May 15, is the final deadline to register for summer school, according to Bill Matthews, high school principal. Matthews said he hoped enrollment would show an increase over previous years.

Tuition must be paid Saturday and will run $30 for full credit course or half that for a half-credit course except for Driver's Education which will cost $25 Matthews said. No student can take more than one full-credit load.

There will be two class periods each day with each period running two and a half hours. Classes will meet each day, Monday thru Friday, for six weeks, May 31 thru July 9. Classes will start at 7:30 a.m.

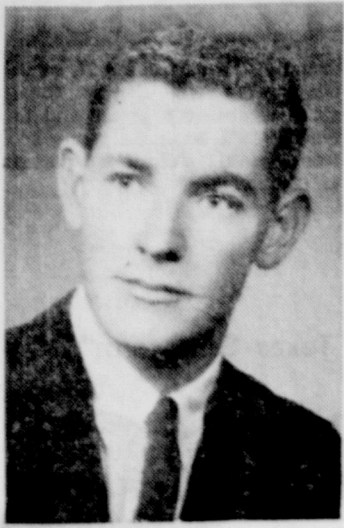

There will be no refunds of tuition to students who withdraw or otherwise fail to complete a course after registering for it. Provided a large enough number enroll, the following courses will be offered this summer: Texas History, Civics, American History, World History, Driver's Training, Biology, and any other class for which there is sufficient enrollment to justify the expense.

this year", the County Agent said, "to reduce production cost through elimination of hand labor". Chemicals rather than people will be used to reduce weeds and insects. "We don't have any problem in thinning here, the hail, sand and wind save us all that expense and labor", Thompson said.

At least 75% of the cotton raised in Cochran county goes into foreign trade and is consumed in Japan, France and other countries. The figure will probably go to 80% this year or next. Production this year will probably exceed last year's low yield, provided enough rain falls at the right time. Ten to 12 inches of rain at the right times will be needed to bring this crop thru in good shape.

Thompson said he thought one of the serious problems faced by cotton growers here was moisture content in their cotton when it was hauled in for ginning. Thompson explained that about .08% to .09% moisture in the cotton was ideal but that some farmers brought cotton in which ran as high as .20. "This hurts the man who sends his cotton thru the gin next as it pulls down the quality of his cotton, too." "The ginner has his heat turned up for a certain moisture content and does not have time to get things hot enough to do as well as would be possible when one of these high moisture loads hits the burners".

More farmers should have hydrometers and check for about 60P humidity before they start pulling cotton. Often, farmers do not know what the humidity is and start stripping at eight o'clock when they could have made a lot more money by waiting until 10. The only alternative would be for gins to segregate cotton by moisture content instead of taking farmers on a first come first served basis and this could result in some badly dissatisfied customers. Thompson said he thought the only practical solution to the problem would be for the farmers to solve it, not the gins.

"Good management pays off more than anything else on the farm", Thompson said. "With the narrow margin our farmers have to work with, a fairly small thing can mean the big difference between a profit for a year's work or going in the hole and maybe out of business".

Experienced farm help is available

Farmers who need extra farm labor should contact the Texas Employment Commission, 430 Ave. Q, Lubbock, PO Box 3-6416, according to R. C. Bunting, manager of the office.

Bunting said experienced farm hands are available in other parts of the state and some have stated they would like to work in the South Plains area.

Bunting stated that attractions offered such workers as housing, wages paid, and other considerations would affect their decision on whether to accept employment in this area or not.

New government regulations by the Department of Labor prohibit employment of the traditional Mexican workers for harvest this year by farmers in the Southwestern states. Many farmers, particularly cotton growers in this area, have expressed concern that sufficient labor would be available to harvest crops this year.

Hot winds fan local fire in to nation-wide news

Fire broke out last Thursday morning about 7:35 at the Flash-O-Gas plant near Bula destroying a transport truck, damaging a storage tank and consuming 1,550 gallons of propane. Leonard Clevenger sustained first degree burns on both ankles and a small, minor burn on the neck. He was back on the job the same day.

Clevenger, a man with 15 years experience in the bottle gas business, neglected to disconnect the hose from his truck to a storage tank the evening before and when he began work Thursday morning, he started the big transport, shifted into gear and took off. The valve was jerked completely out of the truck and propane began to spurt out. Something, possibly the truck exhaust, ignited the gas.

Clevenger jumped out of the truck receiving burns around the ankle as he ran to safety. He suffered heat burns on his exposed neck. The loss ran between $17,000 and $18,000 according to Tom Lynch, manager of the company. The truck and part of the balance of the loss was covered by insurance. The truck represented about $7,000. An estimated $850 worth of propane was destroyed.

Flames could be seen several miles away and a Roman holiday resulted when a local radio station broadcast an excited version of what was going on stating one of the tanks had blown up. By the time other radio stations had picked up the incorrect information and added their ideas NBC told the nation that "Texas towns were being evacuated" as an atomic type explosion threatened following the destruction of tank number one with a whole row of other tanks ready to go up.

Actually, there was not a single explosion and Lynch said that at no time was an explosion even probably. "Safety valves worked perfectly and had most of them failed, even a few working would

Best food buys for week listed

No dramatic changes in the prices or supplies of meat items are to be found at most supermarkets this week, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Beef specials vary from store to store. Generally, there are good values in chuck and rib roasts, a beef. Fryers are at about the same general price level of a week ago, with some indications of reduction. There are a few lower prices where poultry is featured.

Turkeys are still available, but some prices are a bit higher.

Egg prices continue to be attractive. Buy from a refrigerated case, and keep eggs refrigerated at home, suggests Mrs. Clyatt.

Lower onion prices are resulting from liberal supplies and somewhat limited demand. Carrots, green beans, sweet corn, asparagus, broccoli and mustard greens are moderately priced fresh vegetables. Tube tomatoes are among the best values. Cabbage is relatively high in price.

Other "specials" being featured in many stores this week are canned corn, peas and peaches.

ELS Study Club has salad supper

A salad supper Thursday, May 6th in the C. E. Dolle home climaxed the meetings this year for the Elma L. Slaughter Study Club.

Head table was covered with an aqua cloth. Centerpiece was orange artificial roses and snapdragons. The individual tables were laid with white clothes, with centerpieces of the pink Texas rose with honeysuckle.

Members enjoying the supper were Mesdames Roy Brown, Earl Brownlow, W. M. Butler, Jr., Leonard O. Coleman, Horace Gardner, Roy Gunnels, Hazel Hancock, John L. McGee, Elra Oden, Hessie B. Spotts, Willie Taylor, Iva Williams, Elmer Gardner and guests Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Mrs. Keith Kennedy, Mrs. Don Samford, Mrs. Connie Gray and Mrs. Dexter Nesbitt.

County will pick four 4-H campers

Four boys and four girls from Cochran County 4-H Clubs will be allowed to spend about a week at Scott-Abel, N.M., where they will enjoy camp, it was learned this week. Only about one dozen of the 20 counties in this 4-H district will be allowed to participate in the camp.

Cochran County Agricultural Extension Agent Homer Thompson said he received notice this week that this county was among those selected to participate. Other counties listed include Swisher, Briscoe, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, and Scurry.

Thompson said eight 4-H'ers and two leaders from each county will attend the camp at Scott-Abel between July 9 and July 13.

Mrs. George Boring entered the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Wednesday morning and is to undergo surgery this week.

Spray new Caparol after cotton is 6 inches high to control weeds.

Control most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses in cotton with new Caparol* herbicide. Simply apply as a directed spray to the base of your cotton when it is six inches or higher.

You'll get good knockdown of weeds and grasses that are less than two inches high... plus some killing action through the roots of later-germinating weeds.

The cost of this treatment, when Caparol is applied in a 10 inch band, can be as little as 85 cents per acre. Compare this with the $2-3 per acre it would cost you for hoe hands.

Later on in the season, you can go in and make a layby application of new Caparol to control weeds until the cotton is high enough to shade them out.

With new Caparol, you'll have no reason to worry about soil residue carryover to harm next year's spring-seeded crops.

Ask your supplier for new Caparol.

County Agent's report...

By HOMER THOMPSON
 Questions and answers on rural civil defense
 Q. When and by whom was the National Shelter Survey conducted?
 A. Starting in the fall of 1961, the Department of Defense contracted with a specialty trained task force of 3,000 architects and engineers all over the United States to identify potential shelter space in existing buildings, tunnels, caves, mines, and subways—wherever space for 50 or more people could be found that would meet Office of Civil Defense specifications. These spaces were to be the backbone of a national community fallout shelter program.

Q. What were the results of the National Shelter Survey?
 A. One hundred and nineteen million shelter spaces were found, but 240 million spaces are needed. This difference could be met largely through the creation of shelter in new construction, as the country builds, and by the improvement of existing structures with good shelter potential. Good community planning certainly would result in the location of many additional shelter spaces.

Q. How can we awaken our community to the need for adequate shelter for all of our citizens?
 A. Interested community leaders who will participate in an informative and practical meeting on community preparedness would be a first step toward reaching a goal of shelter for all the citizens in our communities. We should recognize the fact that there have been several times in our past history when our people have felt and met the need for preparing our citizens for meeting the challenge of the day. Our nation's strength today is a tribute to the careful planning and foresightedness of our forefathers and their belief that our freedoms were worthy of their best efforts.

 My news this week will be brief.

Tracksters place in state meet

Jimmy Joyce missed by an eyelash of finishing third in the 440 yard dash at the state track meet in Austin last Saturday, but has to settle for a fourth place, after Charles Ledbetter finished sixth in broad jump competition on Friday.

Joyce finished his race strong, coming from last place to fourth in the last 50 yards, and if the race had been ten yards longer, might have finished first. The junior speedster ran the oval in 50.4, several tenths off his best time of the season.

Ledbetter broad jumped only 20 ft. 8 in., in the Austin meet. He has been consistently over 21 ft. all year, and has jumped over 22 ft. many times.

Track coach John P. Jones accompanied the boys on their Austin trip.

I have only sad news to report.

Mr. Fred Farris died May 5th after suffering from a lingering illness for many months. Services were held Friday at the Causey Church of Christ. Mr. Farris lived in this community many years.

Marvin Jones entered the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, May 3rd for extensive treatment and back surgery. He told me he expected to be there for at least a month and maybe longer.

I know that many good things have probably happened this week but I have neither the heart nor the appetite to write it. I prefer to leave this column sober and respectful for the man that died and to the one that now faces new pain and agony.

May the man that died face his reward and comfort in the hands of God Almighty.

May the sufferer find relief and guidance from this same hand.

Soil Conservation District workings are explained

By ALTON TAYLOR, Soil Conservationist

The Cochran Soil Conservation District was created by legal procedures in 1953, under authority of Texas law. It is based on local land owners and operators taking the initiative and responsibility in directing conservation. It is aimed at solving local soil and water problems.

The Cochran Soil Conservation District is directed by a board of supervisors, elected by the local people. The present supervisors are Eddie Silhan, zone one, J. L. Scholer, zone two, Ike Williams, zone three, George Burkett, zone four, and H. B. Barker, zone five.

The solutions to local soil and water conservation problems many times are complex. Therefore, other assistance is needed. This is provided through memorandums of understanding with Department of Agriculture agencies and other groups.

The Soil Conservation Service has the major job. They provide the technical assistance to the farmers and ranchers. They assist in planning and applying soil and water conservation as needed on each cooperators' farm or ranch.

Some of these services are (1) detailed soil maps and/or range condition maps; (2) local information about safe uses and adapted crops for different soils or range conditions; (3) alternative conservation treatment that will meet the needs of the land and water resources; (4) technical serves as needed to design, lay-out, and check out the construction of conservation measures; (5) moisture needs of soil and crops and ways of applying water to meet those needs.

The technician with the Soil Conservation Service doesn't have all the answers to today's agriculture problems. He does have information sources that may lead to the answer. The most common source is other farmers and ranchers in the district.

The Cochran Soil Conservation District provides a service to you. Make this service another conservation tool for a brighter agriculture tomorrow.

Local news

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hickman and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Don Workman attended the Texas Tech Rodeo Thursday night in Lubbock. This year's Rodeo Program was dedicated to the memory of Dub Parks and to his mother, Mrs. Hickman. This year, as in previous years, Mrs. Hickman was presented with a dozen red roses. The Dub Parks Award, which is a beautiful silver buckle is awarded each year to the individual who has contributed most to the Rodeo Association Club. It is presented as a memorial to Dub who was a former president of the club and a graduate of Texas Tech. Dub made great contributions to the club in the form of leadership, honor and willingness to work. After his life was taken in a tragic automobile accident at Big Spring in 1954, it was decided to establish this award as a living memorial to all who follow after him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Key were in Clovis, New Mexico, Friday afternoon visiting with his sister, Mrs. Leon Nash, who is recovering from surgery. They took Mrs. Nash to her home in Floyd, New Mexico and returned to Morton bringing with them Mrs. A. S. Key and Kova.

Memo from Minnie's...

 CONGRATULATIONS, SENIORS!
 Many of you we have known since your first days of school — you have been a wonderful asset to our town and community. We are proud of you.
 In whatever future you choose, may success and happiness be with you, as our wish at MINNIE'S.

George Burkett named to head Farmers Union

The Farmers Union came to Cochran county in formal ceremonies Monday night in the banquet room in the county Activities Building with charter presentation formalities and election of permanent officers.

Elected as permanent officers were George Burkett, president; Harvey Zuber, secretary and treasurer; and Herman Brown, vice-president. Temporary officers had been George Burkett, president; Mrs. Melvin Coffman, bookkeeper; Melvin Coffman, secretary; and Bill Thomas, temporary chairman. Temporary officers had been elected at a pre-charter meeting March 31 to conduct a membership drive and other business necessary prior to qualification for a county charter.

Approximately 50 people attended Monday night's meeting. Eighty-nine persons had paid their $10 annual membership dues prior to the meeting. Fifty paid-up members are required to qualify for a county charter.

Jay Nayman, Texas state president of the Farmers Union and a resident of Waco, presented the state charter to the group. Also present for the ceremony were Kenneth Moss of Paducah, state organization chairman; Ray Swabb, Hockley County president of Levelland; Chester Setliff, Baylor county president; Joe Pate, president of Lubbock county Farmers Union, Director of this district (No. 2), and a member of the state executive committee.

Visiting dignitaries discussed various issues, particularly Washington legislative proposals, which affect farmers. State president Nayman said the Farmers Union was opposed to the proposal before Congress that the federal government buy 40 million acres of prime farm land and retire it from production. Nayman said the Soil Bank program had made ghost towns of many small communities, closed the businesses that served the farms that have been left abandoned to "noxious weeds and idleness" by the Soil Bank as the "land passed to the ownership of distant business and professional people who bought and held it as an investment or speculation, the people, who once farmed and lived on the land, left to work in the cities".

Nayman said the Farmers Union was opposed to the new provisions in the proposed new farm bill in Washington which allowed lease or transfer of allotments. He said the Farmers Union has a committee of farmers standing by in nearly every county in Texas ready to fly to Washington when the cotton bill comes up for consideration. These committees already have their money to pay for the trip and are ready to go, he stated.

Joe Pate said the organization would oppose any legislation which would prohibit skip row planting and said documents were being prepared to prove the value of the technique as well as to prove that it had been practiced historically in this area as a "good farming practice".

Newly elected president George Burkett said "There is nothing wrong in Cochran county that the Farmers Union and a good, three inch rain couldn't cure and that he thought Cochran county was well on the way toward getting both."

At the end of the speeches, the audience was asked if there were any questions. Burkett said he had one, "Why is cotton not priced any higher?" he inquired.

Mrs. L. F. Fitzgerald returned home Sunday morning from Killeen, Texas, where she attended the funeral for her sister, Mrs. Tom Cosper of Pettus, Texas.

14(b) — why it must be saved

The Right to Work principle is one of the most important questions facing the American people. Yet, ironically, it remains one of the least understood. We would therefore like to present, in a factual nutshell, the true picture as to just what Right to Work is and what it means to America.

First, let us clear up one widely spread misconception. The Right to Work is morally right. The right of a worker to choose for himself, to work on terms acceptable to himself should be a fundamental right of our free American citizenship.

Second, no citizen should be forced to join or pay money to any private organization in order to get or hold a job. No private organization except unions has or seeks compulsory membership. When, for example, state legislatures act to require membership in a bar association (resulting in the so-called integrated bar) they are making the bar association an arm of the state government and not a private organization.

Third, the repeal of 14(b), which now guarantees the Right to Work in 19 of our states, would mean the loss of another freedom. Many people believe that no civil right is more important than the right of free choice. The Portland Oregonian said recently: "We see little difference in the area of human rights between denying a person employment because of color, religion, race or sex and denying a person employment because he will not join a union."

Fourth, the one effective control on the political and financial abuses practiced on the rank and file workers by so many labor bosses is voluntary union membership — the Right to Work. When a person is forced to join, forced to pay dues, then what effective check-rein is there on a union officer? What effective means does the captive worker have of keeping his union bosses on the straight and narrow? The answer is none.

Fifth, the American people are in favor of voluntary union membership. National polls by Opinion Research, Lou Harris, etc., show that two out of three Americans believe that a man should not have to belong to a union to hold a job. This disproves the propaganda line that a few "fat cats" back Right to Work for their own selfish interests. It proves, rather, that the chief Right to Work supporters are millions and millions of individual Americans in all walks of life — including union members themselves.

The Right to Work position has not and cannot be refuted on a logical, intellectual honest basis. That is because the Right to Work is a basic American right. It is a worker's right, a state right and an individual right. To deny this right would be to humble the very essence of our liberty.

Federal aid to education

The new federal aid to education bill — a measure which, of its kind, is unprecedented in scope, cost, and purpose — is now law.

It remains to be seen how much further the federal government will go in its invasion of the educational world — and what effect there will be on local responsibility and authority. But, looking at the statistics, it is difficult to see what need there is for the federal government to play a Big Brother role in the educational scheme of things.

In the last decade, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports, spending on public schools increased 157 per cent, while enrollment rose only 43 per cent. About 95 per cent of the increased spending came from local and state taxes and bonds, and only 5 per cent from the federal government. Every sign indicates that during coming years states and communities will have the resources to meet educational needs and demands.

Federal aid to education, on a big scale, is simply part of the trend toward giving more and more authority to the central government. It is a trend that is gradually and surely destroying the traditional concept of the division of powers and responsibilities among governments.

Pay and productivity

This Congress will be called upon to deal with organized labor's demand for a further increase in the minimum wage, which is now $1.25 an hour. Labor spokesmen have said that they are aiming at a figure of $2. However, it is widely believed that this is a bargaining stratagem and that they would be fairly well satisfied with $1.50.

Arithmetic aside, the arguments against periodic jacking up of the wage as cogent as ever. The skilled worker now earns much more than any minimum that may be seriously considered. But there are very large numbers of workers, including young people newly entered into the labor market, whose skills are small and experience nil or virtually so. Certain kinds of businesses, of which retailing is an excellent example, have a place for these workers where they can

A matter of principle

One of the biggest obstacles to a return to "good, solid thinking" in this country is that things are no longer simple.

People who view things as either all black or all white and ignore the gray may be honest and upright, but on the other hand they may be seeing only part of the picture.

There is hardly a real question before us any more that does not entail more than one principle. Almost anybody can decide a question if only a single principle is in controversy.

Everyone believes in "brotherhood" if he can pick the brothers; but the answer might be different if someone else picks the brothers for you.

And people believe what they want to believe, and all the logic, all the piling statistics and data usually does not move a mind that is already made up.

We have noticed that down through history, all revolutionists have this in common — they are unalterably opposed to revolution once they are in power. There is nobody as rigidly conservative as the successful ex-radical.

Orators who offer a simple solution to all of the nation's problems are to be suspected. Very few things revert to a simple solution these days, and if the solution is simple, the application of it is apt to be rejected.

Like a simple solution to the farm problem: Move out 3 million farmers and let the land lay idle until the food surplus is eaten up. This is simple, yet exceedingly complex.

Or the simple solution is poverty in Appalachia: Move these people out of their homes into someplace where there are jobs. Here again a simple solution is a complex answer.

It's too bad, but we no longer live in a simple world. It's complex.

Ochiltree Co. Herald

Powder rooms . . .

It stands to reason that "The Great Society" — into which we are to progress like so many wiggling larvae from the worm to the butterfly stage — will involve some changes. And Publisher Ernest Joiner, formerly of Ralls but now of Sebastopol, Calif., speculates on another area in which discrimination become illegal with the dawning of July 1.

In his Sebastopol Times under the heading of "Togetherness," Publisher Joiner writes:

"Those of you who have had occasion to travel in the South are aware that, traditionally, separate public restrooms are set aside for white men, white women, colored men, and colored women. This arrangement served very well until the Civil Rights Act came along last year and upset the tradition.

"Now, the four restrooms have shrunk to two, labeled simply, 'men' and 'women.' But on July 1, a Federal law takes effect which makes it illegal to discriminate between the sexes, and that brings us back to the restroom rhabarbar.

"Under the new law, won't men and women of any color be entitled to use the same restroom? Couldn't a woman demand her legal right to use the men's room, and couldn't a man stand on the Public Accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act and use the ladies' lounge?"

"Something tells us that even the ladies, who are so anxious to beat down the barriers between the sexes, will insist upon hanging onto their 'separate but equal' powder-room facilities. Whether or not the new 'semanicipation' proclamation will overdo the 'togetherness concept' may well, in the end, be decided by the Supreme Court," Joiner concludes.

However the "togetherness" aspects may turn out, we understand that it will also be illegal to seek a man or woman worker, and some publishers are now barring age qualification from such advertising. And certainly an employer is discriminating against ignorance (which should command our sympathy) if he chooses a job applicant with experience in the works he wants done! But, would it be fair to have the job-seekers roll dice for the job? Some people do have more luck with the bones than others. Page the Supreme Court!

Studying colleges

This is the period when tens of thousands of young people wait breathlessly for that all-important word from the college of their choice. Many receive it. Others, unhappily, do not. And the more famous and "desirable" the college, the greater the number of young folks who are likely to be disappointed.

James K. Hitt, president of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, has just announced that the job of getting into college this year was even more difficult than anticipated. The assumption is that this difficulty will be still greater in the years ahead.

Clearly, college-bound youth faces a crisis. Yet, this should be looked upon more as a challenge than as a tragedy. For the problem is not insurmountable. It seems to us that there are at least three steps which can be taken to help the crowded college situation and to bring it into better perspective. These are:

An expansion of facilities. There are at many colleges numerous "frills," which, while pleasant, are by no means absolutely necessary. If such frills were cut down or out, not inconsiderable sums of money would be available for the education of those who need it and could benefit from it. Personally, we should applaud a college which reduced a spectator sports program and devoted the money to more classrooms and professors.

A program to publicize still further the many excellent but largely unknown institutions of higher learning in the United States. Far too many students and parents think in terms of the Ivy League, when a boy or a girl would get just as sound an education elsewhere, and be just as happy.

A revision of high school curricula to provide whatever extra education is needed for students who should not or need not go to college. This should be accompanied by a realization on the part of employers that in many types of jobs there are things better than a college degree. In many cases an extra year of specialized high school work could prepare a young man or a young woman for certain types of work better than could four years in college.

The wish for more and higher education is one of the strengths upon which America builds. But the time has clearly come to give thought to how this wish can be more fruitfully channeled.

A Prayer . . .

In the January 3, 1916 edition of the Gloucester Daily Times, a newspaper of Gloucester, Mass., the following comment was printed:

"Some of those present sat as if stunned. Some were plainly shocked. But there was a noticeable tendency to applaud at the close."

The article was commenting on the prayer delivered by the Rev. Levi M. Powers, D.D., at the inauguration exercises of the Municipal Council (City Council) of Gloucester, Mass.

This prayer and the same comments were reprinted in the January 1965 edition of Yankee Magazine, and again recently in the Reader's Digest:

"Almighty Father, we begin today a new year of civic life. We know that no matter how much you may want to bless this city, you cannot do it unless the citizens are willing to be blessed.

We pray for the taxpayers who want good streets, good schools, good fire and police protection and good health officers, but who wish other people to pay the cost.

We pray for those businessmen whose votes are determined by the Highlights and Sidelights —

Parents face new liability

AUSTIN, Tex. — Parents of rambunctious children soon may be paying more attention to the activities of their offspring.

A bill passed by both Houses of the Legislature makes parents liable up to $5,000 for damages done by their children. Measure now is in the hands of Gov. John Connally for his signature.

It applies to 10 to 18 year olds who damage public or privately owned property.

Sponsors of the bill are Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and Rep. Willis Whatley of Houston. They contend that stiffer penalties than the present $300 maximum will curb vandalism.

Bill was prompted by the number of cases where homes and schools were being wrecked by vandals, but also it applies to such cases as false fire alarms and other acts of vandalism.

SHOW DOWN NEARING — As the end of the current Legislative session nears, legislators rapidly are approaching decision time on legislative and congressional re-districting, teacher pay raises and new taxes.

House passed a congressional re-districting plan which almost everybody is taking for granted will be drastically changed in the Senate and will have to be worked out in a conference committee. Meanwhile, the Senate cleared the way for adoption of a senatorial re-districting plan keeping control in rural areas.

One of the biggest crowds of the legislative session appeared Wednesday for House and Senate committee hearings on heatedly-contested bills by Texas State Teachers Association and Governor Connally to raise teacher pay.

Connally wants a 10-year graduated pay plan; TSTA insists on its plan for $405 annual raises to all teachers.

Final approval of the record $3,600,000,000 general budget bills for state government operation is expected in both houses by week's end. House Revenue and Tax Committee is looking carefully at all the serious revenue proposals in its deck.

Governor Connally has estimated there may be need for a new tax bill as high as $100,000,000 if school teacher pay raises are approved by the Legislature.

Where to get the money is the big question. One thing for sure — he's opposed to a hike in the sales tax rate or extension of the present two per cent levy to groceries or medicines.

Among the possibilities, however, are: restoral of the 50 cent corporation franchise surtax (back to $2.75 per $1,000 of capital, surplus and undivided profit) and once more boosting the seven per cent gas production tax. He already has recommended a cigarette tax increase.

KEY WATER BILLS PASSED — Session's top water bills, recommended by the Governor and water experts, have completed the legislative circuit and are ready to be signed into law.

Bills would authorize Texas Water Development Board to issue another $100,000,000 in bonds for state purchase of storage in reservoirs and for local water projects; reorganize Texas Water Commission as water rights agency; and transfer statewide planning duties from the Commission to Texas Water Development Board.

Proposed constitutional amendment is pending to authorize issue of still another $200,000,000 in water development bonds.

LIQUOR STORE BILL KILLED — Earlier closing hours for liquor stores, proposed in a bill which passed the House, are out for this session. Bill was killed by a two-vote margin in a Senate committee.

Provisions of the bill would have stopped liquor sales at 8 p.m. instead of 10 p.m., except for registered hotel guests.

Liquor store owners, who were supposed to have originated the bill, split on the issue and presented conflicting testimony before the Senate Committee on Jurisprudence.

DIVORCE SLOWDOWN — A bill that would extend the waiting period from 60 to 180 days before a divorce is granted, where children under 18 years of age are involved, has been approved by the House and the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Bill is sponsored by Rep. Paul B. Haring of Galveston and Sen. William N. Patman of Galveston.

Sponsors feel that the bill would provide a check on hasty, ill-conceived divorces and remarriages, thereby giving added protection to children involved. Also it would be effective in reducing juvenile delinquency and the crime rate.

YOUTH CORPS JOB A JOB — Program to provide part-time jobs for needy students under the federal Economic Opportunity Act is growing fast and reaching into many areas of Texas.

Governor Connally reports that office details for handling the project require a staff larger than the crew that handles all the duties of the Governor's office.

Connally has approved nearly a dozen Neighborhood Youth Corps programs, involving Federal grants for projects in Rio Grande

City; Los Fresnos; Harris County; Beaumont; Dallas County; Veston County; Laredo; Lockhart and San Marcos.

Grants are authorized by U.S. Department of Labor in Arlington, but are subject to approval by the Governor.

Terrell Blodgett, director of Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, has announced appointment of two consultants to help communities organize local action programs. They are Bertrand A. of Austin and Robert Watts of Kin.

BILL DOCKETED — Criminal Jurisprudence Committee has approved a 145-page bill amending the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure. It is set for debate late next week.

Affecting nearly all citizens, far-reaching measure is the number one legislative objective of State Bar of Texas.

Revision was passed by the Legislature, but was vetoed by the Governor because of the bill.

AG OPINIONS — Atty. Waggoner Carr has ruled that a party to a civil lawsuit, named to court as witness — who doesn't appear — may be held for contempt even though was not paid a witness fee travel expenses.

Bill to provide $7,500,000 in funds for constructing and opening a Texas exhibits building in San Antonio's 1968 HemisFair constitutional. Bill won unanimous approval of Senate Finance Committee, after appropriations referees refused to put Fair funds in state's general get.

Laws requiring a corporation incorporated under Texas law to order to get a liquor license permit are constitutional.

FIRST LADIES MEET — First Ladies of Texas present Lady at the Mansion.

Attending the tea given by John Connally were Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and Mrs. Joshua Riss (formerly Mrs. Beaufort).

SHORT SNORTS — Gov. Connally has signed a bill authorizing issuance of "prestige" license plates for an extra $5 which may bring in $5 million a year additional revenue for artist and industrial promotion recreation . . . After Dallas Fort Worth lawmakers and officials reached a compromise measure, Legislators approved and sent to the governor a proposed constitutional amendment authorizing counties to join regional airport authorities . . . to abolish death penalty for received House committee approval after a heated hearing.

House passed proposed constitutional amendment to make old assistance available to non-citizens who have lived in the U.S. at least 25 years . . . A bill by Dick Cory to take advantage federal help for development commercial fisheries cleared houses, while another to regulate the taking and processing of fish was out of committee and the House calendar . . . Atty. William S. Lott of Georgetown sworn-in by Attorney General as a new member of the State Land Board . . . Senate approved and sent to the governor a bill which permits pickup trucks to go as fast as passenger cars on Texas highways . . . Gov. Connally renamed P. M. Davis J. S. Bourn, both of Winters, appointed Melvin Patterson Tom Caudle, both of Ballinger, the Rannels County Water Authority . . . Texas business activity soared to a new high March, 19.2 per cent above March 1964 and 5.6 per cent above February, reports UT's Bureau Business Research.

Bookmobile library is success

The Morton (Tex.) Tribune, Thursday, May 13, 1965 Page 3a

"Many Cochran county residents have a new and clearer understanding of what library service can mean today as a result of the first 12 months of a two year Bookmobile service project now completed", according to Dr. Norman H. Winfrey, director and librarian, Texas State Library. Included in this demonstration area, along with Cochran, were Bailey, Lamb and Parmer counties.

Mrs. Georgia Pena, bookmobile librarian, with headquarters in Muleshoe, said the library system had issued more than 44,335 books during its first year of operation. She also noted that of the total, 3,900 books had been checked out of the Muleshoe Area Library. The circulation figures broken down by county reveals the following: Bailey, 7,137; Cochran, 3,600; Lamb, 16,208; and Parmer, 13,390.

Book collections have also been left as teacher loans in Bledsoe, Bovina, Spade, Friona, Lasbuddie, Bula, Amherst, Springlake, and Sudan. The Otton Public Library, a branch of the Lamb County Library, has also received books on a long-term loan.

Mrs. Pena said that the mobile library has not missed a scheduled visit, and approximately 17 trips have been made to each community in the four-county area since April 1964.

Headquarters for the High Plains Muleshoe were furnished through the cooperation of the Friends of the Library organization.

At the close of the trial period April 1966, the plan is for the four counties to continue the mobile library service, sharing the cost on a prorata basis according to population.

Texas State Library has provided operational cost during the first year and will continue to do so the second year. After the trial period is concluded, Texas State Library will continue to assist the project by means of book loans and consultant service.

OUTMODED EQUIPMENT

This young man certainly won't get much real cleaning done with this broom. A modern street cleaning machine would do the job so much better. His straw broom makes us think of how we try to get along without God, without spiritual values, without church. Our life would be so much better if we would exchange this life for one that knows God and practices His precepts. Without church and God we have little or no spiritual equipment. Hearing God's word preached, being with his people, working in His church, helping others through the church all give us the spiritual equipment we need for meeting life. We invite you to attend this week and make a habit of coming to God's house.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

YFA and YHA groups hear talk at Whiteface

Fires don't just happen — they are caused, Joe Smetana, Waco, Safety Director of the Texas Farm Bureau, pointed out in a graphic fire demonstration held Monday, May 3, at Whiteface High School for the Whiteface Young Farmers and Young Homemakers. He went on to name the three causes for most fires: "Men, women, and children."

In the 45-minute program Smetana used a variety of demonstration equipment and materials placed on tables 16 feet in length to dramatize seven basic facts about fire, its use, and control: (1) what fire is; (2) how to control fires; (3) the fact that nothing is fire-proof; (4) kitchen fires and their control; (5) fuel vapors; (6) the power of petroleum products; and (7) household wiring and overloaded electrical circuits.

Using a "fire triangle board," Smetana illustrated that fire is like a three-legged stool — it can't work with one of the legs missing. The "legs" fire depends on are (1) fuel, (2) heat and (3) air. He stated that in American homes these things come together in deadly and destructive combination every 57 seconds — an average of 1500 home fires every day, causing more than 500 deaths in home fires every year.

Creating quite a loud explosion from 2 single drops of gasoline, Smetana stated that one gallon of gasoline contains approximately 155,000 drops and under ideal conditions, could produce an explosion force equal to the power of at least 30 sticks of dynamite.

After demonstrating how fires can be caused by overloading electrical circuits and improper fusing, Smetana pointed out that many fires of this type are blamed on faulty wiring. He suggested that "faulty thinking" is involved more often than "faulty wiring."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox of Lamesa visited with his aunt Sunday, Mrs. Marie Robinson. Also in the Aubry Hutchison home.

Thompson said he has received information that Reporting Service agents gathering two different kinds of datum will be in this county.

Thompson indicated that the first survey will be of acreage and livestock numbers and will begin May 24 and proceed through June 5.

The other survey will be concerned with cotton yield, and will be conducted at four separate times. The first cotton survey will be made between July 23 and July 31. The second will be conducted between August 23 and August 31.

The third survey of cotton yield will be conducted between September 23 and October 1. The last survey has been scheduled for the dates between October 22 and October 31.

Thompson indicated a wish to "let farmers know about the surveys, and ask their cooperation with survey personnel." Thompson said information collected by these surveys may deeply concern farmers at a future date and these figures may be used for research that will help them.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Crawford and Sherril of Levelland, former residents of Morton, left Tuesday morning for Reno, Nevada. They have jobs awaiting them there. Mrs. Crawford's parents live in Reno.

The son, Neal, was buried in Willow Cemetery at Haskell on May 11. Services were at First Methodist Church of Haskell, with the Reverend J. V. Patterson, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Hudspeth is survived by the wife, Edith, of the home, one son, Robert N., of Syracuse, New York and two grandchildren; also three stepchildren, Mrs. Luther Highnote, Haskell; Mr. Orion McLain, Dallas; Bobby McLain, Irving; and a sister, Evelyn Smith, (Mrs. W. W. Smith), of Sweetwater.
