

Rain, hail, tornado, flood end Cochran drought

rain started falling in Cochran between four and five o'clock last Wednesday afternoon. A few short pauses, water poured from the skies sometime Friday morning. Figures from the Soil Conservation Service weather station at Morton showed a total of 5.09 inches at Gordon Houghton's home. It was said to be as high as six inches or more in the north part of Morton and to have reached more than nine inches at Enochs, about 10 miles further north. About five o'clock Wednesday, a tornado was sighted passing west of Morton traveling in a northeasterly direction. A bolt of lightning penetrated a telephone cable and allowed water to enter the sheathing and cut off telephone service throughout the area and a state of confusion resulted. Power failed when the tornado ripped up half-mile and mile long sections of Bailey County Co-op lines. Customers served by the Cochran Power & Light Company had uninterrupted service, however. Water and tornado damage was concentrated in an area extending, roughly, from around Enochs to beyond Bula. No one is known to have been injured anywhere though a number of persons had narrow escapes. Part of the roof of the R. D. Wright home north of Bula blew off without the owners knowing it while they were sitting in another part of their home. Several barns were reported to have blown away at the Cannon farm. Water flooded

Kenneth Coats' place. Outbuildings of the Johnny Hubbard's were reported destroyed and Donald Grunsdorf lost two barns. D. J. Cox said he was milking and "all at once I wasn't in the barn — it was gone and I was standing there in the open. I was thinking maybe I better get in the pickup, which was standing nearby, where it had been, just outside the barn when

'wehush' — no more pickup was there anymore, it was gone." A section of roof from the agriculture department's shop building at the Bula school was reported to have blown off and damaged one of the teacherages there. Occupants were gone at the time and property damage was minor. At the J. A. Mullinax farm, barns were blown away and wind destroyed a half mile of power line, taking posts and wire. Mrs. Sammy Williams was rescued through the window of a 1963 Oldsmobile which was blown off the highway into the bar-ditch into three feet of water making it impossible to open the door of the car. Mrs. Jack Thorp and two children swam out when their Cadillac got into water over its roof on the road leading east from Bula. Mr. Thorp is Ag teacher at Bula. The Grade A dairy barn at the Gibson Dairy was said to be a total loss and at the Bradley Robertson's farm, a steel building was scattered out over a section or more and the rear part of the large barn "took off in the same direction." The house was not damaged though if some elm trees in the yard had not stopped the flying lumber and steel, the house might have been destroyed with the family inside. At the Donald Cox place, a mile of high-line was rolled up, wire and posts, and deposited on the highway. Cochran and Bailey Counties had all equipment and man-power and "everything they had" out to help in every way possible as did Bailey County Electric Co-op and Lamb County Electric Co-op and "sent in all they could spare" to aid in the disaster. ### Rain, hail again rap area crops and hail again hit the Cochran County area late Tuesday afternoon with a half-inch of rain reported in most areas and hail in some extending from the south part of the county to the east. Morton being in the edge of the strip and the edge extending across the line into New Mexico. The rain rose to over six inches in spots north of Morton and cars had to stop because drivers could not see the road or the white down the center.

Farmers reported their crops were washed out. A number of these had re-planted or are re-planted since the rains last week. One farmer said he had about $100 an acre on his land so if he had a bale to the acre, he might even. Tuesday's rain will wipe out who have been washed at Lingo reported only a sprinkle. Aubrey reported 5 of an inch of rain. Steed, southwest of Morton, had 7.5 of an inch. Tommy had received 7 of an inch at farm near Goodland with hail and no damage. A field was reported to have fallen southeast 5th Street in Morton and about the same amount reported in several places between Morton and Needmore. Snow said he had a little some wind damage which has been a small tornado hit inch and a half of rain.

Man Smith's farm and a few of his neighbors were hit out and will have to re-plant again. The James Masten about two miles north of Morton was badly washed. There was rain reported at Whiteface. About 16,000 acres have been hit out in Cochran County one or two times during the past 10 days. Most of the dry land in the area has enough moisture and is planted now, which should substantially to the county economy.

Appeals clothing in area

Clothing Appeal of the area will be held Sunday, June 20, at the Cochran County Co-op organization, it was announced this week. Residents of the area are asked to bring up any extra clothing they might have and take it to the appeal on June 27 for the drive. Clothing will be sent to a World Service Center, here it will be distributed to refugees, children, the sick and the aged, men and women who must live for the barest essentials, victims of flood, fire, typhoon, earthquake.

Items of men's and boys' clothing is needed, including suits, coats, work clothes, underwear, socks, and work shoes. Women's summer garments are needed for refugees, as well as hats and quilts. Women's mufflers, caps and gloves, every kind of children's clothing, baby clothes also can be used. All types are desperately needed to send ten cents a piece to cover the essential cost of pressing, export packing, in-

Cool, man, cool . . .

MINUS GONDALIERS, Cochran county highways looked a lot like the streets of Venice. That spot on the left of the highway is what can be seen of the top of the Cadillac that the wife of one of the Bula teachers and two children swam out of after a few moments of examining the bottom of the road bed in that location. That's a field of cotton on the right just beyond the bar ditch and over the fence where there aren't any telephone poles.

Will vote on Constitutional change

Voters in Cochran County will be called upon to cast their ballots for or against an amendment to the Texas state constitution come September 7. Notice of the special election appeared last week in the Morton Tribune and is re-printed again this week, under the heading, "Public Notice, Proposed Constitutional Amendment." Readers should acquaint themselves now with the proposed change in our state government and decide how they will choose to vote.

The proposed constitutional amendment would increase the membership of the state Senate from its present 31 members to 39 and would apportion the Senate according to population rather than according to the number of electors, as is now prescribed by the present constitution. The change would remove the present mandate that no single county can have more than one senator and allow several of the more populous counties to have more than one senator. The amendment would set the size of the state House of Representatives permanently at 150 members, the same as it is at present.

Section 25, Article III of the Texas Constitution would be changed to read "The State shall be divided into Senatorial Districts of contiguous territory according to population, as nearly as possible." This section now reads, "The State shall be divided into senatorial districts of contiguous territory according to the number of qualified electors, as nearly as they may be and each district shall be entitled to elect one senator and no single county shall be entitled to more than one senator."

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that states must follow certain rules in setting up their legislatures and that the manner in which Texas has set up its legislature does not comply with the Court's present wishes. The amendment, it is hoped, will, if approved by the voters, satisfy the requirements now demanded by the Court.

Texas has previously tried to comply with the Supreme Court's new legislation prescribing the way it was to set up its legislature and has re-districted to equally balance the population within the 31 existing Senatorial districts. In this effort, Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, who represent Cochran County, was given two more counties, Winkler and Ward, to bring his total district to 13 counties. He previously (and still has) Yoakum, Hockley, Lubbock, Cochran, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Andrews and Martin counties. If the amendment passes, Blanchard will likely be trimmed to seven counties. Whereas he now represents 309,957 people, he would be reduced to about 245,000 people.

Jesse T. George began duties yesterday (Wednesday) as manager of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce. He was hired by the CofC board of directors at a special session held Monday night. ## Dewbre, Miss Reynolds win state crowns at bowling tournament

Donnie Dewbre and Pam Reynolds, both 1965 graduates of Morton High School, won state championship bowling honors in Irving Sunday. Dewbre won the BPAA National Youth Champions for Texas title, along with a $200 scholarship and a trip to Washington, D.C. in July for the national tournament, while Miss Reynolds wrapped up first place in the Senior Girls Class B division of the TABY state tournament. Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Z. Dewbre, while Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds. Finishing behind Pam in second place in the Senior Girls Class B group was another Morton girl, Patsy Hans. The junior girls doubles team of Rhonda Brown and Patsy McBee placed second in their division, and the senior girls doubles duo of Miss Reynolds and Dovie Chancey placed third in that category.

Other Morton bowlers finishing in the top ten were Ray King in the junior singles, Randy DeBusk in the senior singles, and the doubles team of Deryl Srygley and Ray King. David Newsum and Donnie Dewbre, and Tommy DeBusk and Herschel Lamar.

Dewbre won his match by 58 pins, after trailing by 63 pins after the first three games. Going into the final game he was still down by 16 pins, but he rolled a 243 to far outdistance his competitors. Mike Haney of Texas City was second in the match. Dewbre rolled scratch games of 151, 201, 202, 169, 185, and 231.

Dewbre has a crack at the national championship and a $2500 scholarship late in July. He, his parents, and bowling instructor Mrs. Fred Morrison will leave for the capital on July 27. This tournament is open to graduates of high school only.

City solves all problems brought before Council

Morton City Council met Monday night in regular session. All members were present plus city secretary, Elra Oden, and several visitors.

A list of bills were presented to each councilman and it was voted to pay these. Street repairs needed due to the storms were discussed and it was voted to double the mosquito spraying making it twice weekly throughout the city because of the increased menace of mosquitos and other insects due to the rain and water standing in old tin cans, tires and other spots. Dusting may be resorted to if Oden decides it is justified, needed and safe.

NEW POLICE CAR
It was voted to buy a new police car with approximately the same specifications as the one bought last year. This time, the city will buy a car with automatic transmission rather than stick. The present police car has over 66,000 miles on it and a $1,000 appropriation for repairs and maintenance for it will cover the cost of a new car.

TWO NEW ORDINANCES
Two new ordinances were read and passed by the Council. These will go into effect as "emergency measures" as soon as published today and be "on the books" and enforceable tomorrow, Friday. Every motion made during the meeting was passed unanimously or dropped and not passed at all.

The first ordinance covered removal of dangerous buildings and allows the city building inspector to declare a building unsafe with appeal to the Council. Penalties for not removing the obstruction and assess the real estate costs for the work as a part of the tax bill. Weeds and grass on vacant lots were covered in an other ordinance which was also passed.

A third ordinance passed related to dogs in the city and requires a $4 a year license fee, vaccination preceding issuance of a license, $2 a day for time the dog is held by the city if it is picked up plus a $4 fee for notifying the owner that the city has the dog in custody. A $100 fine is provided which can be assessed against the dog's owner if the dog is allowed off the owner's property.

The city spends about $2,000 a year at present on dogs which includes a salary of $130 a month for the dog catcher plus a pickup truck for his use. The city also pays the doctor bills for the dog catcher when he is bitten by dogs in the performance of his duties.

The new dog ordinance provides that dogs not reclaimed by their owners with cash in hand may be destroyed after five days. Diseased dogs may be destroyed without allowing the owner to redeem them.

CATS COVERED, TOO
All provisions in the dog ordinance also apply to cats exactly as though the cats were dogs including fines, licenses, vaccination and so on.

The dog and cat ordinance will go into effect about the first of September to allow owners time to conform to its provisions.

Exempted were seeing-eye dogs used by blind persons and dogs belonging to out-of-town visitors in Morton.

ORDINANCE BOOKLET
It was voted to codify all city ordinances, to bring each ordinance up-to-date with necessary amendments and additions or deletions and, when all preliminary work had been done, to publish all ordinances in booklet form to be provided city police and others who might need or want to know just what all of the city laws say that Morton has passed and are in effect.

NEW SHOP BUILDING
Councilmen voted to invite bids on a new shop building to be constructed.

Minister urges early planning here for Independence Day celebrations

Rev. William S. Hobson of the Missionary Baptist Church today urged every person in Cochran County to plan his Fourth of July weekend now to include a prayer of thanksgiving to the Almighty for the freedom and blessings the United States enjoys today as a "nation under God . . . with liberty and justice for all." Hobson pointed out that Independence Day this year falls on Sunday and suggested that the best place he knew of to spend it would be in church.

"Time was," Hobson recalled, "when the Fourth of July was a patriotic celebration of the first water and everyone turned out to hear the band play, the patriotic oratory, the flag raised, the bunting and decorations around town. Now, however, Independence Day is a day people through the highways, drive wildly to and from resort areas, many find it a convenient time to get drunk." Hobson said the annual death toll on our highways, the maimed, the crippled, the ones left homeless by some of our "celebrations" on this day make one wonder just what our war of Independence was really fought for.

Hobson said many churches over the nation plan to ring bells and chimes each July 4 and suggested that no matter what day of the week it fell on, it would be a splendid day for the people of this country to gather in their churches and thank God for what they have and to pray this nation, founded on the principles given to man by Jesus Christ, shall not perish under the threatening peril of red atheism coming out of foreign lands.

Hobson said special services will be conducted in the Missionary Baptist Church in honor of the freedom of the United States. He suggested that families might plan now to read the Declaration of Independence with the blessing next Sunday before dinner. "The occasion of the commemoration of our national independence is one of solemnity and reverence toward God, let's make it that way rather than an orgy of death, destruction and desecration in Morton," he urged.

Minor collision

THE ABOVE "FENDER-BENDING" took place about 11:00 Tuesday morning in Morton. The Oldsmobile at left, driven by Mrs. Ray Griffin, was in collision with the Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Gage Knox. No injuries were sustained in the accident. TRIBpix

Mrs. Orville Tilger, Mrs. Leon Hamilton and La Nelda Romans left Wednesday night for Tres Ritos, New Mexico. They will return Saturday with the Boy Scouts.

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Nath Crockett were her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jackson and Harold of Mesa, Arizona.

Good food buys for mid-June are many and varied

Buy goods during seasonal production peaks to get quality at its best—and at the same time stretch your food dollars.

Many locally-grown vegetables are coming to market now. The quality is good and the prices are more attractive than a few weeks ago.

There's an ample supply of snap beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, Bell peppers, hot peppers, eggplant, and new red potatoes. Head lettuce remains in the high price bracket.

Good buys also are to be found on carrots, fresh corn, radishes and green onions, says Mrs. Gwen Clayton, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Cantaloupes of good quality are selling at moderate prices and there's a likelihood of even lower prices in the near future. Watermelon and honeydew supplies are increasing. Other good fruit choices are pineapple, bananas and juice oranges. Watch your local Tribune newspaper ads!

Beef prices are about the same as last week. Features will be found on chuck cuts, round and sirloin steaks and liver.

Pork specials vary from market to market, so check ads in the Tribune before you make selections. Thrifty buys may be found on boneless pork butts, shoulder steaks and skinless frank.

Some markets are offering special prices on fryers, although wholesale prices are up slightly. Egg prices are attractive now, but an upward trend is expected in the next several weeks. Watch for the best buys by reading the food ads every week.

Cotton, grain outlook reviewed by Thompson

From Cochran County Agricultural Agent—Homer E. Thompson

Carryover of upland cotton in the United States on August 1, 1965, about the time that we will be harvesting the 1965 crop, is expected to total about 13.4 million bales. This is 1.3 million bales larger than that of last year.

This is the fourth consecutive year that the carryover has increased. The record upland cotton carryover was 14.4 million bales in 1956.

The carryover is expected to be up because disappearance is well below the 1964 large crop. Exports are declining sharply this year, August 1, 1964, to July 31, 1965, and more than offsetting a rise in mill consumption.

The 1965 Crop

As of March 1, 1965, prospective plantings of 14.2 million acres have been indicated for the 1965 crop of upland cotton. This is slightly below the planted acreage of 14.7 million in 1964. With increased yields, production could equal or exceed the 1964 crop. However, this remains unknown at the present time.

Exports Down

United States cotton exports during the 1964-65 crop year, August 1, 1964, to July 31, 1965, may total 4.5 million bales, down from the 5.7 million in 1963-64. This is a 21 percent decline.

Factors which brought this decline about are as follows:

1. The record production of cotton in foreign free-world countries.
2. The reduced free-world trade with communist countries because of near record production.
3. The working down of stocks in importing countries.

Foreign free-world cotton production in 1964-65 is expected to total a record 22.5 million bales, three percent larger than the previous year.

This is the fifth consecutive year that foreign free-world production has set a new record. Production increased in all major producing areas of the world except Western Europe. The sharpest increases were in Central America with a 17 percent production increase and Africa with a 14 percent increase.

Economic Outlook for Feed Grains in 1964-65

Feed grain supplies for the present marketing year, 1964-65, are estimated to be about 206 million tons, down 6 percent from last year. This is the third year in the last four that supplies have dropped and the present supply is 25 million below the 1960-61 record.

The carryover at the beginning of the next marketing year, 1965-66, will probably be down to around 58 million tons compared with 69 million tons at the beginning of the present marketing year and 85 million tons, the record carryover into 1961-62.

The rate of feeding grain and other concentrates to livestock has declined in the past two years, following a general upward trend from 1954 to 1961. Feeding rates have been influenced by raising feed costs and declining prices of livestock and livestock products.

Domestic use of feed grains has dropped a little in the past two years and a further slight decline appears likely for 1964-65, the present marketing year.

Exports of feed grains in the 1964-65 marketing year are expected to equal and may exceed the record high of 18.7 million tons last year. Heavy exports of feed grains in recent years have been due to increasing demand to meet the rising per-capita consumption of livestock and livestock products in a number of foreign countries, especially Western Europe and Japan.

Prices of feed grains in 1964-65 probably will average a little higher than in the past year, continuing the general upward movement of the past three years.

Outlook For Hog Prices Good

The outlook for hog prices for the rest of 1965 appears to be favorable and there are several reasons for this optimistic outlook.

The number of hogs on farms January 1, 1965, in the United States, dropped to 53.1 million head, 9% below a year earlier.

Hog numbers declined from a year earlier in all regions but the decline in the Corn Belt was smaller than in other regions. Numbers declined only 8% in the Corn Belt. On this date the Corn Belt had 79% of the hogs in the United States. Hog numbers were down 10% in the North Atlantic and South Atlantic regions, 12% in the Western region and 13% in South Central States, Texas included.

On January 1, 1965, there were 702,000 hogs and pigs on the farms and ranches of Texas. This is a decline of 24% from January 1, 1964, compared with a decline of only 9% for the nation. The percentage decline in Texas was greater than any other state.

Sign of the times . . .

YOU BETTER BELIEVE IT, too! Warning signs were erected quickly throughout Cochran County at places of special danger. Many roads and streets remained impassable for several days. TRIBpix

Election to decide changes

 One of the effects of the change would be to give West Texas two additional Senators but the ranching and farming areas of the state would still remain very much a balance of power between large cities and the rest of the state. Justices of the Supreme Court are appointed, not elected, by the President and serve for life.
 Most of the states of the union are having to change their state constitutions to comply with the new federal law. Some of the state constitutions that are having to be changed set forth methods for electing legislatures that date back to times prior to the origin of the Court and were in practice before and at the time the state agreed to join the union.

 A number of states have passed an amendment to the federal constitution which would have the effect of repealing the new law passed by the Court and, eventually, the law may be set aside in this manner, if the Court does not overrule or circumvent the amendment if it is passed.

Council acts on problems

structed on property owned by the city in the west part of town. Proposed is a 40 by 80 foot steel structure of slick, plastic-like steel with a car-wash and grease-rack inside. The construction material proposed was claimed to have a better appearance, and to be easier to clean and maintain. Cost is not to exceed $8,000 and, it was stated, the building would be large enough to house all equipment the city owns with room left over.

NEW CO-OP BUILDING HERE

Bailey County Electric Co-op had requested figures on cost of running city utilities to a site owned to the south and across the street from the bowling alley, where the co-op proposes to construct a new building. The site is just outside the city limits. The co-op has a sub-station located on the property now. No definite decision was made but further discussion will be engaged in with the co-op regarding possibility of bringing the property inside the city limits or of having the customer pay for running lines beyond the city limits. A lift station was said to be necessary to have sewer service in that location.

LOWER INSURANCE RATES

Oden reported the city had been inspected last week by Floyd Williams from the Texas State Board of Insurance in Austin and that there was definite hope the insurance rate here would be greatly reduced. Oden said it had been necessary to buy 500 feet of additional one and a half inch fire hose to qualify for extra "points" in the inspection.

Morton's key insurance rate was increased from 57 cents to 88 cents a couple of years ago because of inadequate fire protection. Lack of water storage capacity was the chief discrepancy cited in boosting the key insurance rate here. Since that time, Morton has voted bonds and greatly expanded and improved the city water storage capacity. Other fire protection improvements have been made, also.

It is hoped the lower insurance rate will be in effect by August.

FIREMEN'S SCHOOL

It was voted to spend $100 a man for three men to attend the Firemen's Training School. If two firemen and the fire marshal attend and are graduated from the school, Morton will get an additional five cents decrease in its key insurance rate. The school is held at Texas A&M University.

LITTLE LEAGUE TRAFFIC

After discussion of the problem of children running in the streets and parking areas around the Little League field on game nights and the danger of some child being struck by a car, it was voted to place stop signs and warning notices in the streets on sawhorses on game nights.

DISASTER WARNING PLAN

The Council discussed the problem of emergency warning in Morton and voted to prepare a complete set of instructions as to what is to be done in various types of emergencies that might happen and to distribute copies of these instructions to the various persons who would be concerned.

It was also voted to install an additional telephone extension in the fire house with no dial on it so no out-going calls could be initiated on this phone. This extension would be hooked in with the emergency phone system in the city, with other phones in the sheriff's office and at the telephone office. Firemen could listen on this new extension and find out where the emergency was and what type of an emergency it was. A blackboard will be installed near the phone to inscribe a message regarding the location and nature of the emergency for firemen who arrive at the station late.

It was also voted to buy and install an additional siren to be located where it could best cover the area of the city where the present sirens cannot be heard. The system to be worked out and published will include various types of siren sounds to indicate the nature of the real or threatened emergency so people will know whether to go to their tornado cellar or their boats or that it is a fire or an air-raid.

Mayor Dean Weatherly stated that whenever the siren sounded for any emergency, the local radio station would come on the air as quickly as possible and give details and instructions so people should take their transistor radios to the cellar with them and tune in.

The set of instructions will be written up, brought back to the Council for approval and then distributed to police, the sheriff's office, patrolmen, firemen and others interested.

FILL NEAR SCHOOL

The Council voted to haul in fill material at the stop light intersection near the schools where water has repeatedly washed out the pavement. Water stands in this location and the oil used to pave rises to the top to float on the water leaving holes in the pavement.

DRAINAGE EXPERIMENT

A local sulphur company has offered to donate free sulfur to deposit in one or more of Morton's

'Crash signs' on trial by state's highway department road officials

Highway signs that yield under impact are being installed on some Texas highways as part of the Texas Highway Department's continuing effort to make motoring safer.

The signs and their supports are designed to crack in the middle and arc away harmlessly when struck by a moving vehicle.

Dubbed "break-away signs," they were developed in a joint research effort of the Texas Highway Department and its research arm, the Texas Transportation Institute of Texas A&M University, in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Although research is continuing to perfect a better sign structure for Texas highways, the transitional break-away sign already is being installed on highways over the state as a field test of the basic design. The sign was tested exhaustively last year at Bryan in crashes involving driverless autos.

Some of the revolutionary signs have been erected at strategic locations on Texas Interstate highways for further study under field conditions. Many more will be installed in the future under new signing contracts, and as replacements for older signs. Of those installed to now, none has been struck by an auto.

Storm

police were unable to enter the area, it was reported, due to the high waters. City crews from Morton, Whiteface and every other available source did all they could trying to keep roads open, rescue persons stranded, towing cars out, and opening ditches for water to drain.

The Cochran County sheriff's office acted as emergency headquarters and coordinated efforts and resources that could be mustered. Police radios were the only means of communication that remained open for public use.

At approximately 11:05 p.m. Wednesday, a woman telephoned the Sheriff's office and stated that she lived on a farm about five miles south of Townsend Gin and that a tornado was passing her home traveling in the direction of Morton. The woman was excited and her voice apparently reflected a great deal of emotion. She hung up the phone with a scream before her name could be learned.

Sheriff deputies went to check to see if a tornado could be found approaching Morton. None was found, but to be on the safe side, the fire siren was sounded. Sheriff Hazel Hancock said "about 190 people stormed into the courthouse for me to save them" and possibly as many as several hundred others were outside the courthouse in cars and elsewhere." No tornado developed.

About 5 a.m. Thursday morning, the siren began to sound a long, continuous series of blasts. The best explanation anyone can be found to admit is that a short circuit in the electrical system, caused by water, developed. There is a remote control button at the telephone switchboard to set off the siren.

Phone service in Morton was not working. The sheriff radioed Levelland to send a repairman to get the siren stopped. The Morton repairman was on vacation.

The telephone company dispatched a repairman from Levelland and, in time, the siren was stopped. Most Mortonites seemed to have slept through the episode, too tired from the preceding day's activities to wake up.

Some plants are potential killers, warrant respect

On planet Earth, vegetation helps sustain life but just as plants provide most of man's needs including a balanced diet for man and animals to eat, plants also are potential killers. Knowledge of the good and the bad that plants are capable of was wider known by mankind until our modern civilization changed the pattern of life and man forgot many of the things he used to know.

Some part of the ornamental plants or flowers in your yard may contain deadly poison. Many poisonous plants are so common and seemingly innocuous you don't suspect their toxic qualities, according to the Texas Dept. of Health.

Who would suspect that the beautiful oleander bush, grown indoors and outdoors all over the country, contains a deadly heart stimulant, similar to the drug digitalis? So powerful is this poison that a single leaf of an oleander can kill a child. Many people have died merely from eating steaks speared on oleander twigs and roasted over a fire.

The pretty mountain laurel plant was used by the Delaware Indians to make a suicide potion. The popular Christmas flower — the poinsettia — is full of an acid, burning juice, so lethal that a child who consumes one leaf of the plant might die. The berries of mistletoe proved deadly to adults who brewed what they thought was a "medicinal tea."

It's easy to be deceived by plants. One part may be edible while another is poisonous. For example, twigs of cherry trees release cyanide when eaten. Peach tree leaves contain hydrocyanic acid, one of the most dangerous poisons known.

Even two of our most popular vegetables, the potato and tomato, come from plants related to the deadly nightshade. Although fresh tomato fruits and potato tubers are harmless the foliage and vines of both plants contain alkaloid poisons capable of causing digestive upset and nervous disorder.

Most dangerous in your vegetable garden is rhubarb. Its stalk, commonly used in baking and cooking, is not toxic. The leaf blade, however, contains oxalic acid which crystallizes in the kidneys, causing severe damage.

Also beware of laurels, azaleas, water hemlocks and buttercups because of their poison content. Both foliage and acorns from oak trees can be deadly, as are twigs and foliage from wild and cultivated cherries.

Remember . . . just because it is a plant doesn't mean that it is safe. Treat unknown plants with respect and teach your children to do the same.

Bailey Electric tour winners see Kennedy tribute

Witnessing a solemn wreath-laying ceremony at the gravesite of late President Kennedy June 9th was Alicia Galloway of Earth, Texas and Bob Coker of Springlake, Texas, winners of a tour to Washington, D.C. sponsored by Bailey County Electric Cooperative.

Perhaps the highlight of the 10 day trip, the simple tribute to President Kennedy was also observed by more than 60 young Texans and chaperones representing 29 other rural electric systems on the tour.

After arriving in Washington on June 7th, the youth attended a special Congressional breakfast on June 8th. There they met members of the Texas Congressional delegation. Later in the day they visited the Capitol building, Library of Congress, Supreme Court, National Archives, headquarters for the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, U.S. Department of Agriculture building and several Washington monuments.

Many more thrilling sights and scenes are in store for the youth during the remaining five days of their tour.

Mrs. Leonard Davis and girls visited last week in Winters with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ramp and their daughter, Mrs. Bobby Neal and children Ricky Don and Pamela of Whiteface left Wednesday for a two week vacation in California.

Notes from Co. Agent

By Homer Thompson

Hot weather hard on hogs

Hogs, like humans, are affected by high temperatures. With the thermometer climbing toward the summer levels, it is time to consider plans for keeping all classes of hogs cool and comfortable.

Under high temperatures feedlot gains will suffer, that milk flow from lactating sows will decrease and the breeding efficiency of boars will decline. But of more importance is the possibility of death losses in the swine herd due to excessive heat.

There are several acceptable ways to cool different classes of hogs but few are better or more economical than a system which utilizes plastic pipe. It works well on hogs in the feedlot or on pasture.

Use a half-inch plastic pipe strung either on posts or through trees four feet above the ground. After the pipe has been placed, a small hole should be punched in the underside of the pipe with a straight pin at four to five feet intervals. Under pressure, these holes will produce a fine mist and will do a good job of cooling.

Generally the small amount of water required will not result in mud holes being formed. However, if mud should become a problem move the pipe to another location. Moving can be done with little trouble.

Bruising cut market profits

Bruising of cattle and hogs on the way to market costs Cochran County producers thousands of dollars each year.

Animals that are down-graded or condemned at the market represent a considerable monetary loss to the producer by adding to the cost of transportation, insurance, and processing, as well as increasing the cost of production through loss of feed and labor.

The following causes of cattle bruises of cattle bruises were revealed in a recent study by Livestock Conservation, Inc., Chicago; crowding, bumping, and rushing, 66 percent; trampling, 14 percent; cane, whip, and club, 10 percent; horns, 3 percent; other causes, 7 percent.

How much of the bruising is due to faulty corrals and loading chutes is not known, but it may be a considerable amount. The tendency by all who handle livestock to hurry animals too fast is an important contributing factor in bruising caused by crowding, bumping and rushing.

The picture of causes of bruises on hogs is a different one because the hog is a slower moving, less surefooted animal. The survey here shows that causes for bruising are: canes, whips and clubs, 42 percent; kicking and prodding, 20 percent; crowding and trampling 15 percent; fork and nail punctures, 12 percent; other causes 11 percent.

These figures give a good indication of where work needs to be done to convince livestock producers and handlers that much of this type of loss is preventable.

Tractors can flip fast
You may be quite an athlete but you can't move fast enough to get off a tractor seat if the tractor starts to flip backward.

Time and motion studies show that a rearing tractor gives you just two-fifths of a second to get out of the way.

The recommended practice to hitch below the axle tractor line is not in itself assurance against tip-

Cotton seedling disease control plots are planted

Two Cotton Seedling Disease Control demonstrators have planted cotton of four acres each with furrow fungicides applied at the time of planting. The two demonstrators are M. A. Tanner, and J. W. McDermott both of Morton.

Each demonstrators applied 20 pounds of Terraclor Supper X and Lanstan plus PCNB. Each is a granule and was applied at the rate of 10 pounds per acre at the time of planting, so the granules could be thoroughly mixed in the covering soil of furrow trench where the cotton seed is laid down. Each fungicide was applied to two acres by each demonstrator and each will have two check areas, one on each side of the treatments.

Bob Berry, Area Plant Pathologist, furnished the spreader attachments which fits on the planter in rear of trench furrow opener. The material was placed in separate boxes in rear of cotton seed boxes on the planter.

Sample cotton seedlings will be checked during the growing season from the check area and the two fungicide areas in the laboratory at the South Plains Research and Extension Center. It is hoped that by making these check samples, the effectiveness of the two fungicides in controlling cotton seedling disease can be determined.

The results will be determined after harvest and ginning. These results will be reported to the farmers and local people when the information becomes available.

Mrs. Curtis Chapman and Mrs. Curtis Chapman Jr. from Lubbock were here last week visiting with Mrs. W. L. Davis and their other relatives.

Mrs. Cleo Stringer and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Tony Stringer and son of Alpine are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Doss. Cleo is a daughter of the Dosses.

Tower would allow the states power to ok the foreign farm labor need

A move to bypass the Labor Department in recruitment of Bracero workers has been launched in the Senate by Senator John G. Tower, who has outlined plans to place recruitment responsibility in the hands of state authorities.
 Senator Tower, who served for three years on the Senate's Labor Committee, introduced legislation which says the state officer principally responsible for agriculture will make the final determination as to the number of workers needed to harvest crops.
 In the case of Texas, that power would be vested in the Commissioner of Agriculture. Presently, federal immigration law holds the U.S. Attorney General responsible for permitting importation of foreign workers; but the Secretary of Labor must first certify that a labor shortage exists.
 Senator Tower noted that throughout this year's citrus and vegetable season in California and Florida Secretary of Labor Wirtz has flatly denied that serious labor shortages existed, in spite of severe crop losses due to insufficient labor. Eventually, and after long congressional and farm industry pressure, the Secretary did allow some limited temporary admission of foreign workers for California and Florida.
 Senator Tower said the Labor Secretary has pledged, in correspondence with the Senator, to work closely with the Texas Employment Commission to "meet the labor needs of Texas growers." Tower placed in the Congressional Record today TEC labor forecasts which predict spring harvest labor shortages, saying, there is reason to hope that Bracero workers will soon be admitted to Texas. "However, time continues to drift by, and farmers and ranchers cannot conjure workers overnight. I hope the Secretary will act quickly enough to permit the necessary advance planning by Texans involved."

Strictly corn . . .

CHARLOTTE JONES holds up one example of the handicraft work being done by students at the First Baptist Bible School this summer. The design looks real professional and is made by dyed corn. Students work with a large variety of colored corn which is in multi-colors. Just don't let the birds get in the house. It'll be real gone art if you cats don't watch the birds. This is the Creative Activity Class, 13 and 14 year olds in "session" — or do Baptists "session"? TRIBpix

Methodist VBS program to be tonight

Morton's First Methodist Church will hold a "Sharing Program" this evening (Thursday), at 8 o'clock to mark the end of the vacation church school today, according to Mrs. Willard C. Benham, director. Open house will follow the program with handicraft and class work on display for parents and visitors to inspect.

120 children have been enrolled in the school with an average daily attendance of 90, Mrs. Carl Belk told the Tribune.

Theme of the study and activity has been: kindergarten, "Friends Around Me"; grades 1 and 2, "Our Family in the Community"; grades 3 and 4, "Bible Lands and Times"; grades 5 and 6, "Life and Work of Paul." Among the projects carried out by the 5 and 6 grade class has been the production of a newspaper as it would have been done in Paul's day with hand-written text, a suggestion of modern layout and design and a whiff, at least, of William R. Hearst.

The school has emphasized music with crafts, games and refreshments relating to the subjects being studied. Mesdames Phiefer Ramby, Betty Lou Ledbetter and Darlene Lytle have been in charge of music. Mrs. Danny Key has acted as Supreme Super Chef in charge of refreshments.

Teachers for the two week school have been Mesdames Zodie Ledbetter, Linda Nettles, Kay Davis, Carol Freeland, Jeanetta Rowden, Lynn Freeland, Linda Rose, Pattie McClure, Leonard Graves, Elra Oden, D. A. Ramsey, Weldon Wynn, George Heflin, Billy Foust, T. S. Hawkins, Bobby Adams, Carl

Belk, Clay Richards, Whitehead, Fred Payne, Jesse Clayton, Garry Willingham, Don Lynsky, Jeannet Childs, Clyde Brownlow, Bulay Woolam, W. J. Wood, Owen Houston, Owen Egger, Fred Stockdale.

Counselors have been Mesdames Tommy Hawkins, Bobby Adams, Jesse Clayton and W. J. Wood.

NATIONAL FLOWERS
Many nations have selected flowers as their emblems, but some seem to have been more down-to-earth than others. The national flower of El Salvador, for example, is the white flower of the coffee tree—logical enough for a leading coffee-growing country. And the national flower of Wales is the leek, a vegetable that resembles the onion according to World Book Encyclopedia.

Three rural mishaps in county in May

There were three rural accidents in Cochran County during the month of May, according to Sergeant A. E. Roberts, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $5,500.00. The rural traffic summary for this county for the first five months of 1965 shows a total of 13 accidents resulting in one person killed, 15 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $11,875.

"Due to a man shortage in the uniform services of the Texas Department of Public Safety, applications for the position of patrolman are now being accepted until July 6, announced the Patrol Supervisor. Examinations will be given throughout the state on July 14

ing school will begin on August 21 at the Texas Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin.

Young men between the ages of 21 and 35 that are interested should contact the nearest Texas Department of Public Safety Patrolman or office for additional information.

LOVE'S LABOR

No retreat from communism

Upon his return from an on-the-spot look at the situation in Vietnam, the National Commander of the American Legion, Donald E. Johnson, had some rather caustic things to say about domestic critics who are crying for U.S. withdrawal.

He said:

"I simply cannot understand the bickering and heckling that is going on back here in the United States by certain misguided elements of our society. I am astounded at actions such as those that occurred in the 'Teach-In' held in Washington this past week. Those people definitely are uninformed and what is worse they make no effort to become informed. To me the tragic part of such actions is the very great disservice done our brave combatants serving in Vietnam, and that such unsupported comments could be made by any American who reads the daily papers, in the face of world wide Communistic aggression."

During a visit to the White House, the Legion commander assured President Johnson of his own and the Legion's continued support for a policy of firmness against Communist aggression in Vietnam and anywhere else. Also, in keeping with the President's expressed desire that dissent should not be stifled but should be kept responsible, Legionnaire Johnson indicated that his organization will certainly continue its efforts to be constructive when it finds it necessary to be critical.

The Legion head expressly disavowed that he should be considered an expert because he had visited Vietnam for a few days. But any Legionnaire who, like the National Commander, has personally experienced combat is eminently better qualified even without visiting the scene, than are most of the campus carpers who participate in the so-called "teach-ins." Also, any combat veteran knows—and Legionnaire Johnson said that he observed in Vietnam—the use which the enemy makes of such careless and unfounded statements as have come out of this home-front sniping.

Inasmuch as the "teach-in" participants are uninformed, it is not likely that their criticism will ever be constructive. As for the guiding intellects in those pseudo-intellectual orgies, we may well question that their objections are even conscientious.

Sharing the cake

It can't be too often repeated that, according to all the available evidence, the average American has a woefully distorted opinion of the size of the profits earned by business, and particularly big business. He thinks that they represent a far larger proportion of the selling prices of goods and services than they actually do.

A publication of The American Economic Foundation tells a significant story. It begins with the fact that in 1963—the last year for which the figures are available—the 100 largest manufacturers in the United States sold $157 billion worth of goods.

What happened to all that money? This happened: The cost of goods and services bought by these manufacturers from other businesses, most of which were comparatively small, was $81.4 billion. Payroll and labor benefits came to $42.3 billion. Obsolescence and depreciation of equipment accounted for $7.6 billion. Taxes took $14.9 billion.

This left $10.8 billion as profit. But not all of that was paid to the owners in dividends. They received $6 billion. The remaining $4.8 billion was ploughed back into the business.

To sum up, the owner's share of business' financial cake is a modest one—less than half of the government's take in taxes.

Tower seeks bracero plan

(Editor's Note: The following article concerning the bracero labor problem was submitted to the Tribune by Texas Senator John G. Tower who is seeking federal sanction of a bracero program.)

This week, on Monday, I introduced in the Senate a measure that removes from the Secretary of Labor jurisdiction in determining when a state needs foreign agricultural workers. My bill would place that responsibility with the state agency having primary concern with agricultural policies. In our State this would be the State Commissioner of Agriculture.

The bracero program, under which Texas farmers, ranchers, and consumers benefited for many years, was not renewed this year. Last year more than 200,000 foreign workers, most of them from our good neighbor Mexico, entered the United States to help harvest crops. This year, only about 1,500 have been allowed to enter. The results are well known. In California, for instance, valuable crops of strawberries were plowed under because of the labor shortage.

Prices up

Prices to consumers on many farm produce items have almost doubled, but the added money did not go to farmers. Rather, the added cost reflects, in many instances, additional labor costs. In 1950, of each $12 spent on food by the average American, our farmers received $132. In 1964, on the other hand, the spread had grown, according to the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, to such an extent that for every $417 spent on food by the average American, the farmer received only $133. And apparently the trend is continuing.

Shortage possible

The Texas Employment Commission bulletin for the Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito area, and for Starr and Hidalgo counties, indicates that "the possibility of a farm labor shortage exists for harvesting spring vegetables." As all Texans know this is a region of heavy agricultural production, and a farm labor shortage here will hurt consumers far and wide.

I do not believe there is a single Texas farmer who would employ alien workers rather than domestic workers if those domestic work-

Sneaky, but it works

Lockhart had a spy in their midst last week, and it could happen to us.

The board chairman of the Dartnell Corporation of Chicago, publishers of business books and motion pictures for training purposes, decided to learn first hand if Texas people are as friendly as they are cracked up to be.

His first project in Lockhart was to cash a small check on a personal account in an Illinois bank, with no one to identify him or to vouch for him. After questioning and a friendly chat with him, Billy Chambers of the Lockhart State Bank handed over the money and took Fyfe's check.

Later, at the First National Bank, after a chat with both Cabanis and Moore, officials of the bank, another check was cashed.

At this point he was about convinced of Texas hospitality, and entered a store and began trying on about every hat in the place. The store owner was so patient that Fyfe bought a Texas-style hat, a pair of suspenders and dresses for his wife and two daughters.

Remember, it could happen here.—Robstown Record.

You'll find this hard to believe

One of the silliest aspects of the annual, huge postal deficit is that the postoffice prints stamped envelopes for all comers in direct competition with private enterprise at a sizable loss.

It's not only unfair. It is illegal. But it's done nevertheless.

Apparently Congress is too busy spending big money to save American taxpayers a little by taking the postoffice department out of the printing business. Bills to accomplish this have been introduced annually for so many years we've lost count.

The thousands of print shops across the country have been aware of competition from Uncle Sam for years. They well know the postoffice department "loses its shirt" printing stamped envelopes at the prices it charges.

There isn't another print shop in the country, but Uncle Sam's—owned by all you wonderful taxpayers—which could afford to lose $7,500,000 every four years printing envelopes.

But that's what happened, according to the government itself.

The government's General Accounting Office, which tries to keep track of wasteful government practices, recently investigated the postoffice and reported that the postal department has been selling stamped envelopes "at a substantial loss" for at least four years.

Furthermore, there is a law requiring the postoffice department to sell envelopes at not less than cost. But the investigators estimated the postoffice lost about $7,500,000 on its envelope business in the four fiscal years through 1963.

Of course what needs to be done is to take the government out of the printing business altogether as far as selling printing to the public.

It's hard for us to understand how the postoffice department itself would want this kind of business, when it has to trot up to capital hill every year and ask for postal boosts and tax subsidies to cover its annual loss.—Post Dispatch

Revenue or control?

Harry Truman, a man of strong opinions, once wrote: "Taxation, in my opinion, should be used for revenue purposes only."

Harry is out of date. Our federal government uses taxation for revenue, but it uses taxation for a great many more things than that.

While the federal government brings in more than $100 billion in taxes each year, the tax system does other things, such as spreading and redistributing the wealth, encouraging home ownership, raising the cost of smoking and other so-called sins.

And since 1961, taxation has assumed a far more adventurous role among the presidential economic advisors. These experts have sold President Johnson on the tax system as a manipulative tool for spurring the economy's growth, for fighting its recessions and maybe someday curbing inflation.

Taxation departs from its revenue producing role when you realize that the current tax cutting, first of income tax, and now of excise taxes, is done for quite different purposes than to raise money with which to operate the government.

The experts in Washington have probably learned something in the past 30 years, all right. Back in the 1930's Congress raised the income tax while the nation was gripped in the clutches of the Great Depression, a horrible example of bad timing.

The way the tax experts look at things now, the power to raise and lower taxes should be in the hands of the Chief Executive, who can punch the right button to speed up or slow down the economy, to stimulate business in any given area or slow down too much activity in another area.

They forsee a time when the Chief Executive can stand before a large map and pinpoint where to control the pace of business activity — by merely using the tax power.

The President would have the power to cut tax rates at the onset of a recession and restore them upon the return of prosperity. And he could press a tax-increase button to fight inflation and release it when victory was won.

All this could be done without the encumbrance of reluctant editors were available for employment. But if they are not available, I do not believe we ought to allow crops to rot in the fields with the resultant price increase to consumers, just because the wheels of the federal bureaucracy move so slowly.

In a recent exchange of letters, Secretary of Labor Wirtz assured me he is working with the Texas Employment Commission to "meet the labor needs of Texas growers. But time is running out. We must act and act quickly.

Congressmen or balking taxpayers or tax lawyers. It would be a smooth, simple tool to manage the economy and make everybody happy.

And that is quite a departure from Harry Truman's tax ideas. Like we say, old Harry and his ideas are only a reminder of things from a dim, misty past.—Ochiltree Co. Herald

National Flag Week

Formally defined, the purpose of National Flag Week (June 13-19) is "to inculcate the meaning of true Americanism into the minds and hearts of our citizens."

Flag Day is observed nationwide on June 14. The date commemorates the adoption, in 1777, of the Stars and Stripes as our country's national banner.

When Charles Sumner was U. S. Senator from Massachusetts in 1867, he said: "There is the National Flag. He must be cold, indeed, who can look upon its folds rippling in the breeze without pride of country. If in a foreign land, the flag is companionship and country itself, with all its endearments. . . . White is for purity; red for valor; blue for justice. And, altogether, bunting, stripes, stars, and colors, blazing in the sky, make the flag of our country to be cherished by all our hearts, to be upheld by all our hands."

It was President Woodrow Wilson who said this about the flag in a Flag Day speech on June 14, 1915: "The things that the flag stands for were created by the experience of a great people. Everything that it stands for was written by their lives. The flag is the embodiment, not of sentiment, but of history. It represents the experiences made by men and women, the experiences of those who do and live under the flag."

These statements from two great Americans help "to inculcate the meaning of true Americanism" in the citizenry of our present day and to preserve the ideals for future generations of Americans.

Old Pat Pending plays major role in economy

Vaudeville comedians used to have a lot of fun with "that famous old Irishman, Pat Pending." And even today, of course, it is a name that we all encounter often.

What does it mean?

Far less, legally, than you might suppose. It does mean that a patent on the marked product has been applied for. But it does not mean that the patent will necessarily be granted (for about one half of all applications are successful). Nor does it mean that the product cannot be copied freely in the meantime.

'Scare' effect

Nevertheless, as a practical matter, such a notice may have considerable "scare" effect. It warns the would-be copier that the inventor might get a patent at any moment. And if that happens, the copier may be left high and dry — with his dies cast, his advertising printed, and his merchandise ready to go.

Once a valid patent is issued, the inventor may stop anyone else from making, using, or selling the invention. Unless his patent is upset in court, he retains that exclusive power for 17 years (less for design patents).

Highlights and Sidelights—

Registered voter count drops

AUSTIN, Tex. — Number of registered voters in Texas dropped nearly a million from last year's record breaking number, according to figures released by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Most of the decrease apparently came in the 50,000 to 150,000 cities, with the largest metropolitan areas and the rural counties holding fairly steady. Number of issued poll tax receipts and exemptions dropped from 2,892,670 for voting in the 1964 presidential elections to 1,970,381 for this off-year.

The five most populous counties — Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant and El Paso — actually increased their percentage of the registered vote by three points. They hold 44 per cent of this year's poll tax receipts.

However, this is not a specific indicator of their dominance over rural areas, since in cities of less than 10,000, elderly voters do not have to claim their exemption.

This year only 3,314 signed up for "free" poll tax receipts qualifying them to vote in elections for federal officials. But there are no federal elections slated for ballots this year. A total of $4,297 of these "poll tax-not paid" certificates were issued in 1964, first year they were available for presidential, vice presidential and congressional balloting.

As voting dates for constitutional amendments near, it is apparent that most Texans of voting age will be able to do no more than look and hope, for lack of a poll tax receipt.

INSURANCE RATES GOING UP — State Board of Insurance Chairman Hunter McLean jolted auto owners with more bad news: their insurance premiums are going up at least 12 per cent.

Board meets officially on June 22 to set rates on basis of experience by areas. However, McLean already has served notice that there is no doubt rising motor accidents will make a stiff rate hike mandatory. There were 13 per cent more accidents last year than in 1963.

Rates dropped 1.2 per cent last year for the total insurance field, but should have gone up, McLean said. Auto liability insurance, although sometimes criticized as high priced, actually has cost companies more than $1,000,000,000 during the past 10 years, he maintained.

Premiums vary in 26 rating territories of the state according to their accident records the previous year.

BOUNDARY AGREED ON—Conferees have agreed on location of the boundary line between Texas and Louisiana, long in dispute, reports Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Next stop will be appointment of a boundary commission by governors of the states to approve the new line and submit it to their legislatures for concurrence. Congress also will have to ratify the line.

Dispute has involved some valuable mineral lands. Louisiana claimed ownership to the west bank of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake into Gulf of Mexico. Texas claimed its line extended to the middle of the river and lake.

MIGRANT AID PUSHED—Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity is seeking approval of a $5,000,000 grant of federal "War on Poverty" funds for seven programs to help Texas migrant workers.

If the grant is approved, additional state funds and staff services will bring the total cost of the program to some $6,000,000, an average of about $46 for each of the estimated 128,000 Texans who

Included in the program would be an effort to retrain about 200 South Texas migrants in operation of farm machinery and irrigation control to relocate them for permanent jobs in West Texas, where the end of the bracero program has created a labor shortage.

Most of the money would be used for educational programs both for the children of migrant families and their parents, who would be taught homemaking and vocational trades. Also planned are rest stops where they can stop to cook meals, use sanitary facilities and spend the night while traveling across the state, and regional centers to test and screen migrants for tuberculosis and hospitalize positive cases.

COURTS SPEAK—District Judge Herman Jones of Austin postponed until July 15 final arguments in a major test case over the Railroad Commission's power to require natural gas purchasers to extend pipelines to all producers in a field.

Rio Grande Valley Gas Company appealed a commission order to join its pipeline to a well owned by Russell Maguire of Dallas in West Port Isabel Field, Cameron County. Company maintains there is no procedure to reach agreement on price of gas. Jones, after a three-day hearing, gave attorneys for both sides time to file more briefs.

Supreme Court will hear the case involving authority of Rice University trustees to disregard racial and tuition restrictions imposed by the institution's founder, William Marsh Rice, in 1891.

Supreme Court refused to consider an appeal by 39 ex-employees of a Weslaco television station, formerly owned by President Johnson's family, seeking payment from a profit-sharing plan.

Court of Criminal Appeals denied rehearing sought by former Pasadena Mayor Sam Hoover convicted as an accomplice in a torture-robbery case. Court earlier had upheld a 60-year prison sentence given Hoover, 55, described in trial as "mastermind" of the March 11, 1964, robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Mair J. Schepps in Houston.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES —Court-appointed defense lawyers are entitled to no more than $10 per case on pleas of guilty before the court, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in an opinion requested by Waller County Atty. C. W. Karisch of Hempstead. Carr said $25 a day payments are allowed only where cases go to actual trial.

Bread is bread, no matter what the baker labels it, and a loaf must weigh at least one pound, Carr told Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. White had asked if elimination of the word "bread" on labels and substitution of such phrases as "party slices," "rye slices" or similar terms exempt a product from standard requirements.

COTTON CONFERENCES—Agriculture Commissioner White is planning state conferences on the national cotton program for 1966. White says cotton still is the No. 1 state crop and drastic cutbacks could hurt the agriculture economy. He points out that cotton production puts $800,000,000 a year in the pockets of growers and that the industry generates jobs and economic activity amounting to $5,600,000,000 a year in Texas.

TEENAGE JOBS SAFE—Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson has clarified his two "administrative interpretation" bulletins which cautioned against hiring minors to work "on or about licensed premises." Stevenson says teenage workers will not lose their jobs if the stores comply with normal regulations.

He added that the bulletins from his office were meant to remind holders of beer, wine and liquor permits that they must separate a portion of their store by rail and place an adult in of a check-out counter to purchase of alcoholic beverages.

BROWNWOOD AREA PROJECTS APPROVED—Texas Commission has approved $10,000,000 in U. S. Corps of Engineers flood control and water projects for Brownwood.

A new $3,000,000 dam at Brownwood, a $7,000,000 flood control reservoir on Pecan Bay stream and channel improvement on the bayou, Adams Branch Williams Branch and Willis are included. The new 800 foot downstream old one whose outlets have worked properly since construction during 1932 floods.

Land Commissioner Sadler announced new rules for seismicograph operations merged lands — explosion tainers and caps must carry insurance in proved company; regular fees must accompany each working — and warns of breach of safety rules will cancellation of operator's permit.

Texas Employment Commission says Texas farmers have no much interest in the 5,000 high school students request help meet the farm labor shortage expected to result from termination of the bracero program.

News from Across the Border

It seems spring came in like a lamb and summer is going to be the lion. Maybe some of the old timers can remember June sandstorms, but I can't.
Helen Pool told me she was keeping two of Joyce Lynn's children. She had Scott and Rita. I talked to Maxine for the first time in weeks. She said they were all fine, Jack and Jerry have worked her to death since school was out. She's looking forward to next fall and her school bus route.
The Jack Copelands went to Lubbock last Friday to see Jo Ann Campbell and Pat Crimmins. They are expecting Howard and Wilma Pollard home this weekend. Maxine said Wilma was doing fine.
Marvin Jones called last Thursday to tell me Dorothy had had an emergency appendicitis operation. He said she was all right now. La Verna Jones is watching their grocery store at Causey for them.
I visited with Nan and Mary K. Aurther and Rose Mary Johnson last Friday.
Elaine Pollard was a guest in our home Saturday night for supper. We played croquette in the dark after supper.
Charley and I visited with Carl, Elisa, Mike, Elaine and Terry Pollard last Sunday. We stayed for supper and nearly stayed for breakfast.
We ate dinner with Charley's parents, Ed and Lois Latimer Monday.
We went to Muleshoe Tuesday on business.
For people who are always at home, we did a lot of traveling.
W. C. McAubre was over two nights for supper.
We visited with Sara Griffith at Lois's house Tuesday afternoon.

No irrigation here . . .
JUST GOOD CARE and what nature alone provided made this pasture on the Tom Standefor ranch southwest of Morton knee deep in little bluestem and sand bluestem, both native grasses that no one had to plant, water or till. Sandefor says this range is only in "fair condition," according to Cullen Dansby at the Soil Conservation Office in the Cochran County Activities Building. That's an Angus yearling heifer inspecting things.

Pasture grasses face crucial period here
"The state of health of native perennial grasses in the next year or so will depend on the management that these plants receive for the balance of the 1965 growing season," states Cullen Dansby, Work Unit Conservationist, assisting the Cochran Soil Conservation District.
Due to dry weather during the 1964 growing season, as well as a lack of winter moisture, range grasses are starting the 1965 season in low vigor. Dansby pointed out. Since it is natural for livestock to graze the most palatable grasses first, these plants will be hurt most during this growing season. Therefore, for these desirable grasses to regain their health, deferred grazing is needed now.
Most of our high producing native grasses produce seed crops from mid - summer until frost. Grasses store food in the roots more actively immediately after the seeds are formed to draw from at the beginning of the next growing season. From the beginning of the growing season until seeding time, the plant devotes most of its energy to making leaves and seed. During the "booting" or seeding period, extra food is drawn from roots, stems and leaves to supply necessary energy for the production of seed heads.
If all of the native grasses in a given pasture are closely grazed during the growing season, the translocation of food to the root system cannot take place, resulting in low vigor plants in 1966.
As a result of recent rains over most of our area, our range grasses will be sending up seed stalks. Because of extra food used for this process, the newly formed seed head or "boot" of the grass plant is most palatable. Thus, even a few head of livestock in a pasture may prevent seed crops.
Many ranchers defer or rest a part of their range each year to produce seed crops and permit the better kinds of plants to regain vigor. Deferments are doubly important following dry periods.
Technicians of the Morton Work Unit will gladly assist in developing a grazing plan that will include a deferment on a portion of your rangeland.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Livestock demonstrations planned

J. L. Schooler is chairman of our county Livestock Committee and is leading the way for practical demonstrations to be carried out by the Livestock Committee in 1965.
Mr. Schooler is preparing for the demonstration to begin June 22. On this date he will begin feeding Eubanks. Later I went to W. C. McAubre's and between him, Laurie and I we cleaned the house for grandmama.
Lola Latimer was out Saturday and Sunday. She is Charley's aunt. She stayed with Ed and Lois. We went over Sunday for dinner. Later the Clyde Latimer's and the Charley Lockes came over.
Grandmama came in Sunday night on the bus at Portales. Daddy Mac went after her. They came back to our home for supper. Boy was I glad to have my baby sitter home.

Red Ease as a systemic to 72 head of cattle. On this same date, he will use a "pour-on" systemic to treat 50 head of cattle. This treatment will be repeated in July on another 50 head of cattle.
Mr. Schooler is now attempting to establish a similar demonstration with "pour-on" on another ranch in August. The purposes of these demonstrations are to determine the effectiveness of these insecticides, for the control of internal and external parasites, and the cost of these controls.
Other demonstrations in the process of being set up in the near future is the control of flies, with a spray on material.
The Chermago Chemical Corporation is furnishing the "pour-on" material for the demonstrations.
Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson made a trip to Ardmore, Oklahoma last Thursday.

LONGING

To every child there comes a time when they begin to wonder ... Where did I come from? Who made the trees? Who made the mountains? EVERYONE has a desire to know their creator.

"O GOD, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee..."

This longing for knowledge of God should be satisfied at an early age.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

Plan NOW to attend church with your family.

©Coleman Adv. Ser.,

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Summer students in homemaking take Lubbock tour

Eight of the students enrolled in the summer homemaking program, two guests and one parent made an educational tour of two Lubbock Manufacturing Firms, Tuesday, June 8. The group joined the students enrolled in the summer program of the Levelland Schools in Levelland and went on to Lubbock by school bus.

The first stop by the group was the Coca Cola Bottling plant. Mr. Kendall was the guide for this tour. He explained the ingredients that made up Coca Cola with the exception of one. This ingredient is a secret ingredient that is known to only a few of the top executives in the company and of course by the Pure Food and Drug Administration.

The second stop for the tour was the Frito-Lay Company. Mr. Charles Horn conducted the tour through the plant. It was very interesting to the group to know that the only ingredient in the common Frito, was white and yellow corn.

After the tour of the plants was completed, the group went to the Ready-Room of the Southwestern Public Service and watched demonstrations in the use of the electronic range given by Mrs. Vivian Limer, one of the Home Economists for the company. At the close of the demonstration Mrs. Limer invited some of the girls to cook hot-dogs. The hot-dogs were placed in the buns and were ready to eat in 90 seconds. In talking to the girls, Mrs. Limer explained that it was not practical for everybody to own an electronic range, but that it was nice to know about the range and its availability.

Those making the trip from Morton were: Ginger and Jan Scoggins, Mickey Sue and Jean Rainold, Janice Stokes, Joyce Clark, Judy White, Margaret Hansen, Mrs. L. Z. Scoggins and two of her cousins, Martha and Sherry Scoggins, who live near Memphis, Texas, and Mrs. A. E. Sanders, homemaking teacher.
