City fire insurance rates drop

Total premium is cut 11.5% by 45% cut in fire rate

It was announced today that fire premiums in Morton on dwelling insurance were reduced 45% because of work done by the city.

James McClure, Morton Insurance, said that it should be pointed out that the total premium will only be reduced 11%, because fire coverage is only a portion of dwelling coverage. McClure said, "Persons might think that their total premium will be reduced by 45%, because the fire premium is reduced by 45%. Actually, the other premiums remain the same, and the lowered fire rates only lower the entire cost of coverage 11%."

McClure said that some of the other premiums that will remain about the same in dwelling insurance are windstorm, hurricane, hail, explosion, riot, civil commotion, smoke, aircraft, and land vehicles.

The fire premiums were lowered because the key rate was lowered 61% as a result of work done by the city. The key rate is a major factor that controls insurance rates of towns.

Until now, the key rate in Morton has been 88 cents. Now it is 34 cents, the lowest it has ever been. At one time it was 37 cents and from September of 1962 to September of 1963 it was 37 cents.

The key rate was lowered because of work done by the city. The key rate was lowered from 50 cents to 10 cents because of work accomplished on the water works, and the key rate was lowered by the fire department from 30 cents to 16 cents. All other key rates, remained the same.

Elra Oden, City Secretary, said the city spent approximately $120,000 on the water system alone, to help lower the key rates. The city built a new 200,000 gallon ground water storage tank, a 250,000 gallon elevated water storage tank, drilled two new wells, put in approximately 16 blocks of 10" water main, 20 blocks of 8" water main, and 30 blocks of 6" water main and put in a new booster pump.

The city also lowered key rates by putting in 21 additional fire plugs, sent the fire marshal and one man to the Fire Training School at Brian, purchased 650 feet of new 2½ inch fire hose, fireman's air masks for smoke, and needed additional fire equipment.

★ Vet here

The veterinarian will be in Morton Thursday, Aug. 26, from 1 to 5 p.m., in front of City Hall. All dogs and cats must be inoculated by Sept. 1, according to the dog and cat ordinance. This may be the last chance dog and cat owners get to have their animals inoculated, and City Secretary Elra Oden urges everyone to take advantage of the veterinarian being in Morton.

Tommy Hinson is new school coach

Tommy Hinson is to be the new assistant high school coach and junior high P.E. instructor. He is from Levelland, and taught there four years before entering the real estate business. He has also taught one year at Sweetwater High School. He is married and has three children.

Minor accident on wet city pavement occurs in Morton

Mrs. Gene Snyder and Mrs. B. S. Fietz both of Morton, were involved in a minor two car accident Monday about 5:15 p.m. at the entrance of the parking lot of Truett's Food Store, 210 S. Main. No citations were given and no one was injured. Estimated damage to the Snyder car, a 1961 Ford, was placed at approximately $175. Damage to the Fietz car, a 1963 Pontiac was an estimated $75.

According to Burtis Cloud, Chief of Police, the Snyder car was proceeding south on Main, just after a rainfall, and the Fietz car was proceeding north on Main and attempting to make a left turn into the Market's parking lot when the

Lymon Nation has been cutting hair in Morton 28 years

Lymon Nation has been in Morton cutting peoples hair for the past 28 years.

He has many recollections of how Morton looked then, in 1937. He said that there was no pavement around the court house or hardly anywhere in town. Nation said, "sure the streets and the dust were bad, but then what could you do about it." He said that the dust storms seem to be a lot worse than that they are now and he didn't know if this was on account of nature or the increased farming activity now which might help hold the soil down.

He said, "I remember in 1938 a storm so bad you couldn't see the court house from where my barber shop is now (106 W. Wilson, on the north side of the square)."

Nation remembered that there were no sidewalks except maybe a wooden plank one on the west side of the square. He said that most of the buildings had wooden fronts. He said that there was only one rent house in town at the time and that he lived in that. Nation said that the businessmen lived in the backs of their stores and shops. He said that the Baptist Church was where it is now, but that it was in a building called the "Mule Barn."

Nation recalled that there were no street signs in Morton and that there was no bank 28 years ago. He said, "In 1940 we had an exchange set up in the court house

Morton Indians have intersquad scrimmage

Morton football coaches were well pleased with the showing of the 1965 edition of the Morton Indians in their intersquad scrimmage last Saturday night.

"I am real happy with the progress of the team in the short period time we have been practicing," Head Coach John P. Jones said Monday. "The team is shaping up real good. Their attitude is good, and they hit hard."

The Indians continued their two-a-day workouts this week, with special emphasis on defense and passing. "We need to practice on our passing and on defensive work," Jones commented. The offense appeared to be ahead of the defense in Saturday night's scrimmage.

Morton will scrimmage the Littlefield team this weekend, and with the starting of school Monday, will begin making final preparations for their season's opener with Olton on the Olton field Friday, September 3.

As to the condition of Kenny Palmer, who suffered a shoulder separation in the opening day of practice, Assistant Coach Fred Weaver said, "Kenny's shoulder is coming along. I don't think it hurts him as much as it did. Still, though, he will be out of action for at least the first two games."

Weaver commented about the Indian squad, "They're a good bunch of boys. They work hard, and don't have to be pushed much."

About forty boys are working out on the squad, the largest number to be out for football in Morton in many years. The Indians See FOOTBALL page 2

Systemic sprays and "pour-ons" are used on cows

Another goal of the Livestock and Program Building Committee was reached in August. Three systemic insecticides were used on beef cattle on three herds of J. W. McDermitt, Morton, Texas. The insecticides used were two sprays and one "pour-on".

The "pour-on" is 4% Co-Ral which is a liquid merely poured on the back of the animal. Four ounces is the maximum dose per animal. Cattle weighing less than 800 pounds get a dosage of ½ ounce per hundred weight. This was used on 18 head of cattle located at the barn north of Morton. All these systemics are supposed to fill flies, cattle-grubs, ticks, lice, etc. This "pour-on" was used in treating 68 head of cattle for live

Delegates to Attorney General's Conference return with new ideas

Eight delegates from Cochran County returned Sunday evening from the Attorney General's Youth Conference on juvenile crime with some ideas for parents and fellow students alike.

The conference was held in Austin and lasted Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The students went to the conference along with other west Texas delegates in chartered buses. The delegates stayed in dorms at the University of Texas.

The program consisted of general assemblies, speakers, seminars ending in group discussions, and skits put on by certain high school groups.

Don Vanlandingham, a delegate from Morton, said he felt that he and his group brought back two main ideas or projects for the community and students to work on. The first was a student parents teachers association (SPTA).

Vanlandingham said, "Harrington High School put on a skit about SPTA and how it worked, and we all became interested. SPTA would be an organization for students as well as parents. In other words, the students, who compose about 98% of the schools would have a little more say in school matters."

He continued, "At the present time students don't have a lot of say so about school matters. With a SPTA maybe we could work with teachers and parents and help decide school matters." Vanlandingham said, "I think students want to participate in school pro-

City Council meets in routine session

The City Council met in regular session Monday at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall.

There was nothing on the agenda, but the Council is required to meet twice a month, on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

The Council briefly discussed many things. Elra Oden, City Secretary, said that the new Mercury valve which is to regulate the water control between the city's water tanks, is to be in Tuesday. He said that with the new valve the pressure should be in good shape in the heavy part of town, about 65 pounds.

The Council also discussed the new fire insurance key rate. The rate is now 34 cents, the lowest any member of the Council could recall. It was mentioned that the lowest the key rate has been up to now has been 37 cents and in the past it has been 54 cents and then 88 cents. The key rate

Public is urged to help stop wave of summer vandalism to city water meters resulting in damage to dials

The public today was urged to help curb the annual wave of vandalism which each summer inflicts expensive damage to the dial mechanism of city-owned gas meters.

City Secretary Elra Oden said the vandalism is especially marked during the summer months when youngsters are on vacation. He also said that such damage is high immediately following Christmas.

The official speculated that the damage may be done by small children who do not realize the des-

New master key legislation expected to help curtail theft of automobile

A brief, two paragraph bill enacted into law by the 1965 Texas legislature is predicted to have far-reaching effects on automobile theft, the state's costliest crime against property.

The law forbids the sale in Texas of automobile master ignition keys, now being advertised nationally as "guaranteed to fit" all cars. Under the new law, a person who sells or offers for sale "any key which fits the ignition switch on more than one motor vehicle" is subject to fines of $200.

Law enforcement officials across the country have recently become disturbed by the ready availability and low cost of master ignition keys, according to C. C. Benson, manager, Texas Division, National Automobile Theft Bureau.

First state
"Texas appears to be the first and only state to specifically outlaw the sale of such master keys," Mr. Benson said.

He pointed out that there are no accurate statistics to show how many of the 20,000 cars stolen annually in Texas were taken with so-called master keys. "We know the number has been sizeable," he said. "The professional car thief and the joy riding juvenile isn't going to risk using hot wires and jumper cables when he can buy a $3 key that operates nearly all cars of a particular make."

Mr. Benson pointed out that the International Association of Auto Theft Investigators in a meeting last week passed a resolution against the indiscriminate sale of such master keys.

Theft per minute
"Auto theft problems do not belong to our state alone," he said. "There is a theft every 60 seconds somewhere in the country. This year more than a half million car thefts will occur. This represents a value of over $450 million."

Outlawing auto master ignition keys is one more important step toward holding the line on a growing theft rate, Mr. Benson said. "But a tremendously more important impact would be felt on the auto theft crime rate if each and every motorist religiously removed ignition keys and kept his auto locked," he said.

The new Texas law forbidding sale of master ignition keys, House but that didn't work too well." Nation said that he followed sports quite closely in the early days he was here and that things were quite different then than they are now. He said, "I was a sideline spectator. In fact, we all were because there were no bleachers then." He said, "the football team played on a regular sized field, but it wasn't in too good a shape." Nation remembered that the school also had no band then. He said, "Now, when I hear the band, I want to go to the games." Nation also recalled that the basketball team played in a gym just barely "big enough for the team and not big enough for many spectators."

Bill 1060, was introduced by Representative Howard Green, Fort Worth.

Nation said that the biggest difference between Morton now and 28 years ago is the way the houses and residences have developed, the city itself developed, and the farms grown. He said, "The churches and schools then would knock you for a row of stumps now."

Nation said that when he built his home in 1940 there were about five houses out on South Main. He recalled that at that time the people used kerosene, butane, or coal to cook with and that there was no gas then.

Nation says that soon he plans to "two thirds retire" and stay in Morton with his business. He says that some of his customers he gave them their first haircut when they were young and that he is still cutting their hair now that they are full grown men.

He said, "I have enjoyed every minute of it here and have met lots of folks." Nation said that he has been cutting hair since he was 14.

pense that should be necessary." While the expense of repairing the meters may not be one which would bankrupt the city, the cost of the replacement of dials and glass coverings can result in a constant drain on the city treasury if the vandalism continues, it was explained.

Oden explained that cost of a new dial to the city is $4.75, while glass comes to an additional 35 cents, and an index cover is $2.40. Labor for repairing the instruments was estimated at about $2.00 each.

This, he pointed out, is if the repair can be done at the site of the meter. The cost rises considerably if the meter must be removed and taken out for repair.

grams a little more. Anyway, we are willing to work real hard to see if a SPTA will work in Morton. Of course, for it to work, all the students must support it."

Vanlandingham said that the other idea the delegates brought home with them was to try to form a youth center in Morton. Vanlandingham said, "We have tried to have one before with out much results. But now, we hope to meet together and make some plans and then present them to the city. We hope that the city will cooperate with us."

Vanlandingham said that the youth center would be a place where young people could go and have something to do. He said that now in Morton there wasn't much for young people to do, except to ride around and go to the fire arm experts from the department. The men used live ammunition which was caught and stopped by a machine on the stage. The delegates also received some instruction in drivers safety.

Those attending the conference heard a talk from Homer Garrison Jr., head of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and saw a shooting demonstration by two fire arms experts from the department. The men used live ammunition which was caught and stopped by a machine on the stage. The delegates also received some instruction in drivers safety.

Vanlandingham said, "This youth center idea was possibly the hardest thing we worked on at the conference. Kids must have something to do. They must have something to keep them busy. When they are busy, they don't get into trouble."

He added, "The youth center should be run by young people and not by teachers. In other words, it should be kept away from school. We should be the ones who run it."

Vanlandingham said that the old American Legion building would make a good youth center, and that if it could be gotten, he felt that the students would work hard to clean it up.

"Of course, for any of these programs to work out," Vanlandingham said, "all of us, both students and parents must work together."

Other topics discussed were the drainage needs on the northeast part of town, the buying of a high-way patrol received for the patrol car, and improvements in ginning on the Northeast part of town.

Elra Oden was asked and said that he knew nothing of an ordinance about prohibiting bicycle riding on the sidewalks. He said the first he heard of it was when he read about it in last week's Tribune.

Those present were councilmen Tom Rowden, Walter Taylor, Kenneth Thompson, T. K. Williamson, E. C. Seany, Mayor Dean Weatherly and City Secretary Elra Oden.

Spraying wards off flies on the Frank Bennett ranch in February. It did an excellent job according to Dr. Dixon Hubbard, area Extension Livestock Specialist.

One spray, "Nuguvon" was used to treat 169 head of cows and almost that many calves located 6 miles south of Morton. The other spray, Col-Ral 25% wettable powder was used to treat 69 cows and 61 calves on the herd located northeast of Morton.

The spray mixture "nuguvon rate is made by mixing 10 pounds nuguvon to 100 gallons water. The Col-Ral 25% wettable powder rate is 16 pounds to 100 gallons water. All systemic spray insecticides need good spray pressure — a pressure of 250 pounds or better is needed to get penetration and coverage. About three quarters of the spray is applied per cow to get the best results.

The cattle grub are now in the blood stream of the animals. These systemics are supposed to kill the grub while in the blood stream. This can eliminate much damage to the animal if killed now. Normally in the past the grub had to complete his life cycle before you could kill it. Thus this pest weakened the animal by working his way through the flesh of the animal and finally emerging through the flesh and hide on the near back of the animal. The cycle would not be completed until this winter or later. These eggs which produce the grubs were laid by the hell-fly this past spring. The cows get disturbed and lose flesh because of this hell-fly grub for many months of the year. These animals will be examined periodically through December to evaluate the results.

A pour-on was used to treat a head of cattle in June for J. L. Lysney, J. L. Schooler, Chairman of the Livestock Committee is feeding a systemic "rid-eze" all his cattle this summer. It proves successful, systems can be given by spraying, feeding "pour-on". All these result demonstrations will be evaluated at the end of the year and reports will be available at the County Agents Office. Right now all systemics are giving excellent fly control.

Keep More of Your Marbles In the Home Game

After all . . . here's where you get to take your turn at shooting

Our big-city neighbors offer invitations to us every day to put our marbles in their bigger and fancier rings . . . so they can take out more for themselves.

But the game that OUR winnings have to come out of . . . is the HOME game. And . . . the more of our marbles we put into THIS game, the more WE get a chance to take out.

Maybe you've noticed the city folks bragging about how much trade volume they take away from the small towns like ours in their "trade area" . . . getting our marbles into their pockets for keeps.

Trading at home . . . and making it more attractive for our neighbors to trade here . . . is the direct and positive route to better jobs, better property values . . . better schools, better living . . . a better community for US to live in.

MRS. JACKIE DOYLE PINSON

Lynette Sue Ramsey weds Jackie Pinson

Double ring wedding vows were read at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church by the Rev. Fred Thomas, pastor, for Miss Lynette Sue Ramsey and Jackie Doyle Pinson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ramsey, is a graduate of Morton High School and is a senior education major at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview. Her social club is Delta Chi.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Wade Pinson of Olton. He is a graduate of Olton High School and a 1962 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. His fraternity is Tau Alpha Phi. He is teaching in Plainview Public Schools.

Sanctuary of the church was adorned with an arch of silver emerald greenery accented with red gladioli and white chrysanthemums. Choir rail featured silver emerald greenery and white tapers. Two spiraled candelabrum holding tall white tapers were placed at either side of the arch. A white satin prayer bench and white altar cloth completed the decor.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice was accented by a scalloped portrait neckline to which tiny seeded pearls were attached. Long tapered sleeves were buttoned and ended in petal points over her hands. Pearls and bugle beads enhanced the V-shaped waistline and the tiered skirt as it fell into a chapel train.

Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was edged in Chantilly lace and fell from a coronet etched with seed pearls and crystals. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Attending the bride were two sisters, Miss Peggy Ramsey as maid of honor and Mrs. Vernon Stokes of Plainview as bride's matron. Miss Judy Pinson of Olton, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid. They were attired in formal gowns of American Beauty delustered peau de soie fashioned with portrait necklines and belle skirts. Their headpieces were matching peau de soie pillboxes etched with tiny seed pearls and illusion. They wore elbow-length white gloves and carried an American Beauty long-stemmed rose.

Joe Miller of Hereford was best man. Groomsman were Elza Miller of Olton and Gerald Ramsey, brother of the bride. Ring bearers were William Taylor, Fort Worth and Shane Stokes, Plainview, nephews of the bride. Shelly Stokes, Plainview and Renee Ramsey attended their aunt as flower girls. Lighting the candles were Johnny Willis of Plainview, cousin of the groom, and Billy Barsh of Kermit. Guests were seated by the candlelighters and ushers.

Mrs. J. J. Jenkins of Roswell, New Mexico, formerly of Morton, presented traditional wedding music, and accompanied Vernon Stokes of Plainview, brother-in-law of the bride, as he sang "Twelfth of Never", "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer". A graden reception was held in the courtyard of the church immediately following the ceremony. White wrought-iron furniture, English ivy and a gaily decorated rice bag tree were points of interest around the courtyard. Soft piano music was provided by Miss Carol McCuiston.

The bride's table was laid with a white net cloth, edged with lace over satin. The three tiered wedding cake was accented by the bride's chosen colors of American Beauty red and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal appointments complimented the centerpiece of white tapers and long-stemmed American Beauty roses.

Assisting with hospitalities were Mrs. Burlie Taylor of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, Miss Donna Beatty of Shamrock, Mrs. A. E. Sanders, Mrs. Olin Darland, Mrs. Roy Hill and Mrs. J. O. Gathright.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Ramsey wore a dress of American Beauty lace over taffeta with black accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bridegroom's mother chose a tailored dress of Mauve lace and added white accessories. A white orchid accented her attire.

For travel to points of interest in Colorado, the bride chose a white lace-trimmed Irish linen suit with iridescent accessories and a white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinson will reside at 1009 Houston, Plainview.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Don Willis and girls, Linda Bowers, Charles Thacker, Carl M. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gathright and Mrs. Minnie Ola Fortson, Plainview. Beyond words

The story is told, and is well worth repeating, of two cantankerous old gentlemen who got along like "cats and dogs" in the same small community. Never, to anyone's knowledge, did a kind word pass between them. They were considered life-long enemies. Then one of them died. Many hours before the mourners began arriving for the church services, the surviving old man surreptitiously placed a small spray of delicate flowers on the casket and left the church. Later, during the funeral service, he was discovered sitting quietly and prayerfully in the back pew of the church.

The minister, pleased, but as puzzled as the townsfolk by all this, sought out the old-timer somewhat later to inquire what might have brought about his change of heart toward the deceased.

"No change of heart," said the surviving oldster. "Still feel the same about him as I always did."

"I can't quite accept that," said the minister. "You openly showed your dislike for him when he was alive. Yet, to everyone's surprise, you became very respectful of him at the church. How come...?"

"Well now, Reverend," the old fellow responded, "I must say I'm just a mite surprised that you, of all people, would ask such a question. How I feel about another man's politics or his character has nothin' to do with how I feel about his soul."

"Oh yes—of course," said the minister, recovering quickly from his embarrassment. "Quite as it should be. But even so, what about those flowers you put on his casket when you thought no one was around to see you?"

"Knew all along," the old fellow answered, someone would spot me with the flowers and spread the word. Just wanted to make sure the neighbors wouldn't forget flowers—not for the old coot, hisself, mind you, but for the only good thing about him—his soul."

"I personally appreciate your thoughtfulness," said the minister, "because the beautiful flowers contributed much to the service and helped the family." "But," he asked, "how could you do something nice like that when you couldn't find a single kind word to say about the man while he lived?"

"Still can't," said the old-timer. "That's why I brung flowers."

By their fruits . . . know them

Seeds planted by professional agitators and nurtured by opportunist politicians and some misguided idealists in the so-called "civil rights" movement over the past several years are beginning now to bear full measure of their natural and bitter fruits. A small child died of smoke inhalation in Dallas, Texas, while hoodlums attacked policemen who were trying to clear a path for rescue equipment through the crowd gathered at the scene. Then came the riots in Los Angeles, with widespread, wanton destruction, looting, many injured and dead.

Early reports quoted the Los Angeles police chief as saying that was not a race riot, except in the sense that the rioters were mostly of one race. But a negro who was there said otherwise; he reported that some of his race whom he observed participating in the riot were looking especially for whites to beat or kill. Even so, we are convinced that the root cause of these tragedies is, and always has been, political rather than racial. They are the natural extension of mob actions previously inspired and encouraged by political figures for their own purposes. And if some may have encouraged this sort of lawlessness out of ignorance of its ultimate consequences, it's a sure bet that the prime instigators of it have had in mind all along that this could result in breakdown or inadequacy of local law enforcement, as a means of justifying federal intervention and control.

While pretending to seek an end to race and class antagonisms in our society, the leading advocates and condoners of "civil disobedience" have deliberately set race against race and encouraged all against local law enforcement authorities. There is no logical reason for intelligent men to do this, except that they hope eventually to take both the law and its enforcement into their own hands, all in the name of "peace." "By their fruits . . . know them."

An inflationary law

The House General Subcommittee on Labor has approved sweeping amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act. It calls for a minimum wage of $1.75, to be reached in several steps through July 1, 1968. In addition, it would cover large numbers of retail organizations, of comparatively small size, which are now exempt. Authorities on retailing stress that the burden of wage and hour standards on the small retailers would be very heavy. And they also stress the fact that the complex technicalities of compliance with the regulations which would be issued would be an even heavier burden.

If this measure becomes law, two developments may be expected. Retailers will pare to the limit the employment of marginal and unskilled workers. Their productivity would simply not match the wage demanded by law. Thus, these workers would in many cases be denied the opportunity to learn skills that would lead to more responsible and better paid work.

Next step after Los Angeles

The United States can ill afford a repetition of the Los Angeles riots. Socially such riots reveal deep and dark cleavages which gravely weaken the whole social fabric of the nation. Economically they worsen the situation of the American Negro at the very moment this situation is the object of national concern. Internationally they do America immense harm in the eyes of the rest of the world. Morally they demonstrate how far the nation has fallen short of giving all Americans of whatever color a conviction that the full benefits of Americanhood are impartially open to all.

The challenge before America is how — feasibly and fairly — to speed Negro progress so that economic improvement will result in a lessening of social tensions. It would be shortsighted not to recognize that this will be an immense job. This can be seen from the fact that neither the civil rights act of 1964 nor the voting rights act of 1965 has had or is expected to have any early substantial effect upon the Negroes' economic situation, above all in the great urban concentrations of the North.

President Johnson has, at least indirectly, recognized this fact. In his now famous speech at Howard University in June, the President expressed the opinion that legal freedoms and legal rights would not be enough to boost the Negro into a full share of American benefits. He has appointed a 12-man study group to work out legislative remedies for the Negroes' economic and social problems. Finally, a major White House conference on this whole problem will be held this fall.

Careful, thoughtful, and thorough study of the entire range of this problem is desperately needed. It is now apparent that the situation cannot be left to drift from one crisis to another, with each "long, hot summer" producing new riots, tensions, and interracial recriminations. The United States cannot afford this from any point of view.

Thus the questions facing America are: What exactly can be done, how much will it cost, how soon can it take effect? On one side stand those who say a gradual improvement is already taking place and that in a few years a considerable change will be visible. Such optimism appears misplaced. On the other side are those who claim that only "welfare state" or "socialist" programs costing astronomical sums can do the job.

We believe that the truth lies with neither of these extreme positions. It seems more and more apparent that special programs directed toward the Negro will be required, programs which deal with poor housing, poor schooling, including the lack of adult education, inadequate skills, and other special problems. It cannot be denied that such programs, to make any worthwhile contribution will require a nationwide effort and massive sums of money.

Yet neither the size of the program nor the cost of the program will in the end determine its effectiveness. What is needed is to give the Negro a conviction that his special problems are understood and are under attack. Until the Negro has this conviction, there is little likelihood that his desperate desire for improvement and his discontent with his present lot can be adequately mobilized in the right direction.

Patwork
This year's bumper crop of proposed amendments for the Texas constitution raises once again the question "Why not revise the patchwork document?" The 27 amendments which voters will consider later this year and in 1966 brings to 280 the number of changes that have been asked of the state's voters since adoption of the current constitution in 1876.

This cumbersome way of conducting the state's business is among the reasons that Texas government has become less important, compared to the federal government's impact on our state. With a modernized constitution — one that wouldn't require a vote of the people everytime they turn around — the state could proceed more surely along its course.

The situation is particularly galling when you recall that the US Constitution — nearly a century older than the Texas document — has been amended just 24 times. A study of the proposed Texas amendments in most cases reveals that they are for specific instances of change — not fundamental alterations in the state's government.

A constitution is a guide, not a set of specifics. A constitution is to form the basis of a government — its framework — and not be cluttered with too many structural details. To help Texas govern itself more effectively, the state must draw a new constitution.

What is needed is arrive at. He is forced to defend his own convictions and thus gets on one side of the fence instead of riding the middle.

Editorials clarify opinion and inform. The editor may be wrong about an issue in most people's eyes, but most readers will grant him the right to his own opinion, just as he grants them the right to their opinion, they can better understand their own.

So, the editor doesn't expect to be slapped on the back for everything he writes; he can expect to make people think, he may persuade some. If he can only make people see the other side of the elephant, he has accomplished something.

If he gains the confidence of his readers to the point where he influences their thoughts and actions, then his responsibility indeed is great. And we owe to the editor who uses his power for other than the greatest good to the greatest number.

As the present publisher wrote when he took over The Dispatch in June 1957, this newspaper's editorials are intended to fall into three categories — "push," "praise" or "prod."

The crime of being white
For more than 100 years it was almost a crime to be a Negro in many parts of our country. Citizenship was denied. Freedom was denied. Jobs, except the most menial and most underpaid were denied. Decent housing was denied. And all because of the inherited color of skin. Now suddenly, in certain parts of our land it is a crime to be white.

To say our forefathers laid the foundations and to agree that we allowed a structure to be built on them makes it no easier to take. And it makes it more morally right.

Responsible Negro leadership must soon arise to speak the word of love. As white people we have no right to claim immunity from suffering for the sins of our fathers and ourselves. But as Christians we have the right to call for leadership on both sides of the color line to produce both good-will and a red-dress of Negro grievances. And the development of good-will is quite as important as the red-dress of grievances.

Replacing the crime of being colored with the crime of being white is neither a Christian nor a sensible solution in a volatile world.

Pick and shovel
In Finland any driver found under the influence of alcohol, whether he is involved in an accident or not, is immediately dispatched to a labor camp, put to work with a pick and shovel.

Finland enjoys the lowest traffic death rate.

West Germany, fighting a mounting death toll in traffic accidents, has replaced fines with jail sentences of one to five years.

In southern France the Archbishop of Aix-en-Provence declares that in the future all traffic offenses will be considered sins and should be included in the confessional.

Over in Europe, as in Liberty County and throughout the United States, auto accidents and fatalities continue to boom. From each continent the major cause of most fatal accidents is the same — drunk driving.

When will our weak-kneed Texas laws catch up with this terrible menace on the highways?

When will realistic juries, even after being thoroughly lathered

Highlights and Sidelights —

Election battle lines drawn

AUSTIN, Tex. — As absentee voting gets under way for the September 7 election on the proposed constitutional amendment to increase size of the Texas Senate from 31 to 39 members, battle lines are drawn.

State AFL-CIO is leading the opposition. It charges that the proposal is a "pig in a poke" offering no guides as to where the new districts will go.

"Committee for Fair Representation," made up primarily of trade and industrial association representatives, contends that Texans would get "proper representation without jeopardizing the interests of sparsely-settled areas" by adding eight new members to the Senate.

Lobby groups acknowledge they favor the plan because increased membership would cut down a senator's work load somewhat and make it easier to communicate with him.

The enlargement amendment, which triggered one of the 59th Legislature's most bruising battles, was intended to take some of the sting out of legislative redistricting by making it possible for most incumbent senators to keep their jobs.

Big city forces are divided, while most rural interests tend to favor a 39-member Senate.

Whether either campaign affects the expected light voter turnout remains to be seen. Most predictions are that the amendment will fail.

CRIME NEWS STUDY — First three members of the Legislature's 11-member "Interim Committee To Study News Media on Proceedings in Criminal and/or Civil Courts" have been named by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

They are Sens. Dorsey Harde-man of San Angelo, Culp Kruger of El Campo and Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi. Yet to be named are three members from the House of Representatives, three from the news media and two from the State Bar of Texas.

Panel resulted from controversy over deletion of a provision from the new Code of Criminal Procedure which would have severely restricted pre-trial news coverage. New code takes effect January 1.

Study committee was authorized to take a sharp look at existing coverage.

AG RULES — In requested opinions, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has held that:

Texas Western College cannot use money appropriated by Legislature for tuition scholarships to aid students living in Juarez, Mexico.

Sections of a new act instituting jury wheel system in Young, Titus and Kerr counties area unconstitutional "local and special laws."

El Paso County commissioners have no authority to grant an easement across Ascarate Park for an underground gas pipeline.

A city, after annexing an area including county road, does not need permission of county to abandon and close such road or street.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. John Connally has announced his first appointments in a series of several needed to get newly-designated agencies in gear.

His choices for the Texas Commission for Indian Affairs are Dempsey Henley of Liberty, W. R. Beaumier, publisher of the Lufkin Daily News, and Ed Easterling of Beaumont, former District Attorney of Jefferson County. As Mayor of Liberty, Henley worked with Alabama - Coushatta Indians to help achieve their severance from the State Board of Hospitals and Special Schools and self-government under guidance by the Commission.

James B. Swann of Houston has been named to head new Texas Industrial Commission office of export expansion.

Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont is interim chairman of a committee to plan office construction for House members.

OIL ALLOWABLE — Texas Railroad Commission set September oil allowable at 28 per cent of potential, same as the previous month.

Allowable amounts to more than 2,800,000 barrels a day, 41,000 less than for August. Commission emphasized this level would prepare industry for demands of peak winter months.

On September 1, Commission will set up District 8-A, composed of 21 West Texas counties. They are Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, SUSPENDED ?

Gaines, Dawson, Borden and Scrymgeour.

Commissioners say the new districts will promote efficiency in administering oil and gas conservation laws.

SCREWORM BATTLE — Federal-state air invasion against the screwworm fly was stepped up during July with the release of 632,000,000 sterile screwworm flies over Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and 12 Mexican states.

Dr. S. B. Walker, Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, and Dr. John Wilburn, Veterinarian for the Animal Health Division of U.S. Department of Agriculture, report that 115,800,000 sterile flies were released over Texas where 63 confirmed cases of screwworm were reported. Special "hot spotting" was directed in Texas and northern Mexico river beds.

Largest number of confirmed cases in Texas — 25 — was in Zavala County. New Mexico confirmed 29 cases; Arizona, 94; California, three; and Mexico, 800, where 438,600,000 sterile flies were released.

PROGRAM MOVING — At the end of July, 182 of Texas' 254 counties were engaged in some phase of Brucellosis Eradication program, with 128 qualified for certification. So reports federal and state animal health authorities.

In Atascosa, Bosque, Brooks, Coryell, Duval, Erath, Falls, Hood, Milam, Parker, Potter, Somervell and Williamson Counties, area testing was in progress. But some of the heaviest livestock population areas in the east of the state were among the 72 counties not yet in stride, they said.

LABOR DAY TRAFFIC — Department of Public Safety estimates 35 will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the three-day Labor Day holiday.

Violations of Texas traffic laws will be apparent in nine out of 10 of these accidents, says Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director.

As part of stepped-up efforts to curb the toll, DPS will add 150 men from other uniformed services to supplement its regular Highway Patrol force.

FUNDS ASKED — Funds for more planning on the proposed 418-mile interbasin canal along the Texas Gulf Coast from the Sabine River to the Lower Rio Grande Valley are included in preliminary budget proposals from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Budget calls for planning of the canal and the Colorado River and study of Lower Rio Grande Valley irrigation costs.

Funds also are sought for proposed pumping of water from the canal up the Colorado River and pipelining to West Texas.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas Employment Commission reports a breakdown of 60,328 farm payments made during July and August. There were 41,894 workers placed in farming activities; 10,888 in fruit and nut trees; 487 in stock work; 2,652 in general crops; 1,225 in non-seasonal work; and 923 in dairy and poultry jobs.

The 1,600 teenagers who attended the third annual Attorney General's Youth Conference on October 25 for hearing on the location of North Texas State Water District, Wylie, to the Lavon Reservoir conservation area.

Federal water system loans totaling $24,000,000 have been pledged 213 Texas communities and more are seeking loans, according to Sen. John Tower.

Texas Hospital Association received a U.S. grant to conduct research on planning of community health resources for disasters.

Monday saw the last meeting of Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, now placed by new State Department of Mental Health.

Texas Railroad Commission hearings are set September 21 for request of National Bus Association, Inc. for a 10 per cent hike in local and interstate fares and charter services.

Land Commissioner Jerry Miller has announced that $11 million will be offered at the state and gas lease sale of 1965 October 5 in the General Land Office.

None of the 8,000 brackets will be admitted from Mexico the U. S. between September 1 and October 1 will work in Texas according to Texas Employment Commission.

County Agent's report ...

By HOMER THOMPSON

August and September are good months to collect and have tests made of soil samples for fall crops. A soil test is a good source of information on which to start planning a crop production program and also important to farmers who plan to apply fertilizer prior to or when fall crops are planted.

Collecting a representative sample, providing a complete history of past practices and indicating yield goals for crops to be planted next, are essential requirements for obtaining reliable soil testing information.

For small grains, it is especially important to indicate on the information sheet whether or not the crop will be grazed, harvested for grain or a combination of both.

The instructions for sampling should be studied and followed as closely as possible. Since both the farmer and the Soil Testing Laboratory are interested in prompt service, early sampling will be a step in this direction, concludes the county agent.

About 45 farmers have sent in soil samples from Cochran County in 1965. Advanced information means planning can be done in advance.

Junior and senior high school girls to get new fashions

Junior and senior high school girls have an exciting array of new styles from which to choose their back-to-school wardrobes, says Lynn Parks, Texas A&M University consumer education specialist.

Leading off the new fashions are the lively "OP" designs. Knits and woven fabrics are dazzling with dots, wobbling with checks and dancing with stripes. Knits are more popular than ever and offer unlimited washability benefits.

Fashion highlights include "sweaterlings" — skinny knit sweater dresses. The dresses are often accented with smart turtle neck collars and come in assorted sizes and colors.

Another notable feature of high school fashions is the coordinated look. Choices range from a dress with one dramatic pleat in the skirt and a bolero-type top to a lacy Orton herringbone sweater with a blending skirt. Lined cotton corduroy jumpers with inverted pleats and frilly blouses are also in style.

Pert touches to complete the coordinated picture might include a fake fur hood that looks just like fox. High socks that go up to or above the knees are still popular. Some are even tassel-trimmed.

Teens should have no trouble in looking their most attractive through the entire semester with so many attractive styles from which to choose.

how. The method is presented in a unique and interesting manner with a few hints to keep the not-so-ardent fisherman a little happier.

The J. M. Cooper Method

1. Get two large tubs. Put out and keep in full sunlight in back yard.

2. Pour 20 to 25 pounds of maize into each tub.

3. Put one yeast cake or one package of dried yeast in each tub.

4. Fill with water, several inches above grain. The grain will swell and take up a lot of water. You may have to add more water in five or six hours.

5. At the end of 72 hours with the temperature in the 80's and 90's or above, it is ready to take up. The length of time depends upon several factors such as the complaint of the wife, friends and neighbors, about the smell, especially if the wind is right. To an old carp fisherman, though, it is a nice mellow smell and not offensive at all.

6. Put the soured grain, without measuring, into eight different tow or gunny sacks.

7. Use the tubs or several buckets to haul the sacks in the back (turtle back) of the car. Never put the sacks directly onto the floor of the car. If you do you will wish later on you hadn't. The smell has a lot of staying power.

8. Take down to the creek, water-hole, lake or river or wherever you want to bait. Put several rocks the size of your two fists in each sack. Tie the top of the sacks. Throw out into the water as far as possible. The rocks are to keep the fish from rooting the sack of grain far away from its original position.

9. Begin to fish with dough or stink bait 24 hours after immersion of the grain.

If you know of a good carp, buffalo or catfish hole near by, Agent Thompson recommends this method. If not, continue aging the grain at step 5 and sooner or later you will have a brew that'll make you care less about fishing or anything else.

Grazing programs

Livestock producers should start making grazing plans now for the coming winter. Thompson explains that grazing systems should be planned and checked so there will

Peace Corps exams set for Sept. 11

An opportunity for Morton area residents to offer their abilities to the Peace Corps will come at 9 a.m., Saturday, September 11, at Lubbock, in the Post office Building, room 16A.

The opportunity is the Peace Corps Placement Test, which is not passed or failed and you can't study for it. It measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language. If, for example, test scores indicated limited language acquiring ability, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English speaking area. The test is used by the Peace Corps only as a tool in the matching of Volunteers and jobs. The Peace Corps application is the most important indicator of suitability for Peace Corps service. It must be filled out and brought to the exam unless previously submitted.

Applicants should plan on about one and a half hours at the testing centers, unless they wish to take the Spanish or French language achievement test, which requires an additional hour.

be no difficulty at the starting date.

The number of livestock to graze a particular area should be adjusted to keep pastures in a good state of production. Grasses on moderately used ranges should appear patchy and uneven at the end of a grazing season. Stubble heights should range from four to seven inches for bunch grasses and one to two inches for sod grass.

A "low base herd" grazing program is recommended to keep pastures in a good state of production. Herd size should be maintained so that about three-fourths of the forage is utilized.

Even with good pastures, ranchers need to supply protein supplement during winter months. Range plants greatly decrease in nutritive value as they reach maturity. Dry winter grasses should be used as hay with a protein supplement to produce a balanced diet.

Pastures should be examined frequently to evaluate available use. If livestock numbers need to be reduced, they should be sold before they lose weight and before prices decline.

Now is time for students to plan beyond high school

The class of 1966 is preparing to enter the final year of secondary school work. Many of these high school seniors are so busy they have given little thought to what will happen after graduation.

Now's the time to take a thorough, realistic look ahead to the fall of 1966, says Patsy Reynolds, specialist in family life education with the Texas A&M University Extension Service.

"Parents and school counselors should help students take a look at their education or career plans early this fall. They need to complete their plans for college, business school, or other advanced preparation to earn a living. Applications should be submitted by November or December — yet many families do not realize this when their first child prepares to enter college," Miss Reynolds says.

Students who plan to apply for scholarships should keep this early deadline in mind, too. Many scholarships have a February 1 deadline for application.

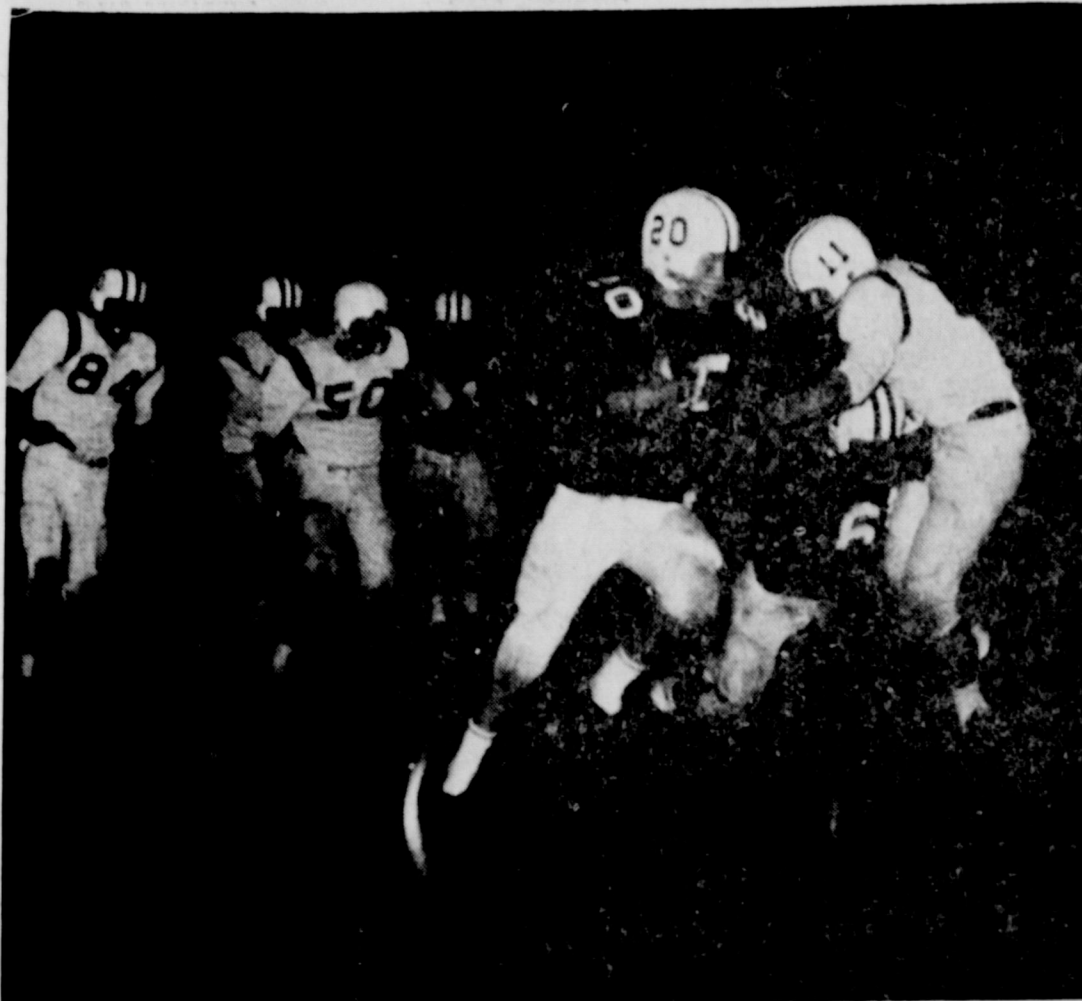

"This means that the young person must already be admitted to the college and then file the application by February," the specialist adds.

She advises young people to talk to school counselors and write to the colleges or business schools in which they are interested.

A decision on higher education should be reached soon, and it may require some serious thinking before final plans can be made, Miss Reynolds says.

Net farm income more than 1964

With realized net farm income at a seasonally adjusted rate of $13.8 billion during the first six months — up $1 billion from the rate for the first half of 1964 — and harvest prospects generally favorable, realized net income for 1965 may be the highest since 1953, says the United States Department of Agriculture Research Service.

Letter to the editor

Aug. 23, 1965

Dear Editor: Christmas 1965 will be The Salvation Army's one hundredth of bringing comfort and cheer to those who might otherwise be forgotten.

Although The Salvation Army works 365 days a year to help hospital patients, shut-ins, unwed mothers, prisoners, senior citizens, homeless men and many other troubled people, it makes a special effort at Christmas to reach out to all those in need. The Salvation Army wants to be sure that everyone, no matter how ill, needy or lonely is enabled to share the joy of Christmas.

While the summer sun blazes away, The Salvation Army is already busy planning its Christmas Appeal, heralded by the familiar red kettles on street corners in towns and cities across the nation. The smiling lassies attending them will serve as a gentle reminder that only when we share our bounty with others do we realize the true meaning of Christmas.

Through your wonderful assistance in the past, readers have been re-awakened to the vital part they can play in bringing happiness to the less fortunate, at Christmas and throughout the year. We hope you will be able to help again this year by using one of the drop-ins on the attached reproduction proof sheet in your Christmas issue.

'Medicare crime' warning sounded

An amazing and reprehensible situation has come to light in our state in recent weeks, and all Texans must be advised about it so that all of us can help combat it.

Racketeers posing as representatives of the Social Security Administration have defrauded several elderly Americans by pretending to sign them up for Medicare coverage. At least two of these frauds were in our state.

Two elderly Texas ladies have been cheated by swindlers pretending to sell them Medicare insurance. One lady lost $100 to the con-man.

Of course, Medicare coverage is not for sale, and neither is any other portion of Social Security coverage.

Here is how the racket has been working:

The crook shows up at the home of an elderly person and introduces himself as a Social Security field agent. He says he is there to explain the new Medicare program.

After giving the intended victim some authentic information about the law and showing him some official brochures, which anyone can get at a Social Security office, the fast-talking crook says he will be glad to take care of the "enrollment paperwork."

He then says that a special discount on Medicare insurance "premiums" can be had by paying in advance to him right then. If he succeeds in getting any money, he simply pockets it and disappears quickly.

This is an unspeakably vicious racket. All Texans must join in foiling these swindlers. No bona fide Social Security worker ever will try to collect cash for Medicare enrollment.

No Texan should make any cash payment to anybody who claims to be "selling" Medicare.

If you see or hear of one of these crooks, call your police or sheriff's office and, if possible, the nearest FBI office, posing as a Society Security official is a Federal crime punishable by up to three years in jail.

America has no monopoly on farm programs, report Plains cotton men

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has no monopoly on farm programs which seek to correct surpluses by paying farmers to reduce acreage. Nor is the U.S. the only country to find that such programs sometimes backfire, according to the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Suggestive of the USDA's efforts to reduce cotton production in recent years is the Brazilian government's program to limit coffee production. The government agency producers set out two and a half years ago to bring production into line with domestic and export demand. So, they began paying coffee producers to eradicate coffee trees.

And some coffee farmers cooperated. The number of coffee trees eradicated since June 1962 is reported to be at least one billion.

But, the current Brazilian coffee crop is estimated at 32 million bags, 13 percent above the 1956-60 average. Domestic consumption and exports are expected to total 24 million bags — leaving a net increase in Brazil's surplus stocks

Who put the WATER in the MELON?

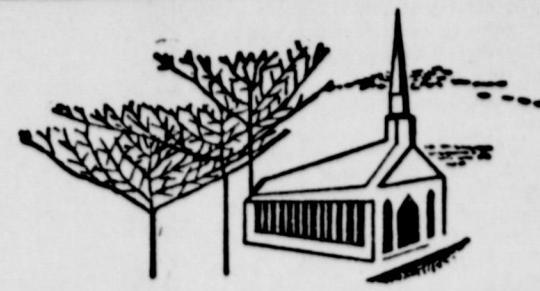

When there's plenty of rainfall . . . nature puts the water in the melon. But when the dry years come, the Bailey County Electric Cooperative shares this honor . . . with water for irrigation pumped with electric power.

Over the state the crops may vary . . . but the ubiquitous watermelon is likely to be found most anywhere, hunting water. In areas served by the member-owned Bailey County Electric Cooperative, when nature fails to deliver the rain, electricity takes over, pumping the water for irrigation.

The tender, juicy watermelon, while not the most important, must be the most delicious contribution made by the Bailey County Electric Cooperative, Helping Texas Grow.

An investment in Your Future ...ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

WORLD WIDE INTEREST

Many good organizations are working with our youngsters, developing an interest in other lands and the ones who dwell there. The church through God's word also teaches us about our neighbors and what our attitude should be toward them. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
