Requirements may close Eastside

The cold, hard facts of governmental requirements were faced by the Morton school board Monday when they were informed that Eastside Elementary school faced closing because the district was "making relatively little progress in desegregating its schools."

Superintendent Ray Lanier said Eastside school is operated on a free choice basis: either the students may attend Eastside or travel to the central school plant at 500 W. Buchanan.

As the problem is understood by the board, the Eastside school does not have enough white children in classes. It is attended mainly by Negros and Latin Americans

If the board refuses to close the school, the Morton district would then face loss of federal monies in the amount of $77,-000. This would include Title I, reading program, $25,000; Title II, library, $3.000; four vocational teachers: agriculture, two home economics and auto mechanics, $23,- 000: all lunch and milk reimbursements, $9,000; all commodities, $7,000; and Head Head Start, $10,000.

Also, if Eastside is closed the pupils would have to walk about a mile to school because under Texas law school buses may not pick up children who live less than two miles from the school.

Lanier said that in all probability if the school was closed it could not be sold because of the local economic condition.

He also said that the school was there because the parents in that area wanted it. Also it was convenient for the residents in that area.

A letter from the Office of Education in Washington, D.C., told Lanier that he could expect a visit from the office's staff in the near future.

"In the meantime, I urge you to discuss with your board what additional steps can be taken at the earliest possible time to make further progress in the elimination of your system's dual school structure. The information we have concerning the past and present operation of your plant indicates that in all probability it cannot be accepted as an adequate basis for the continued eligibility of your school system for participation in federally assisted programs."

The board took no action, other than verbal opposition, to the idea of closing the school.

In other business Lanier told the board that the south wall of the old gymnasium was torn down for safety reasons. He said that it was going to come down one way or another and that this was the safest

An insurance claim of $5,750 was turned in on the wall. Claims were also filed on wind and hail damage on the rest of the school buildings. A claim of $8,000 was filed for roof damage and $5,500 on interior damage.

the Miss Levelland contest

"The Jaycees in Levelland talked to me for a week before I entered. I didn't think I had a chance," Gaylene said.

When she travels to the Miss Texas contest, she and her chaperon, Mrs. Gail McEndree of Levelland, will be flown to Fort Worth in a private plane Sunday. Gaylene's parents Mr. and Mrs. Bob Weed, will leave Morton Tuesday.

She received a taste of the limelight Monday afternoon, when following a photographic session in the Bob E. Travis home, she was approached by a group of children who asked for her autograph.

"They're just wonderful," she said after signing a dozen autographes. "They make me feel so good.'

Earlier the children stood around while Gayle posed for pictures. They said, "She's so pretty." "I hope she wins." "She's going to be in the Miss Texas contest." All to the delight and embarassment of Gaylene.

"Even if I don't win, it's been so much fun," she said.

Motion to authorize beginning repairs was made by Kenneth Thompson, seconded by L. T. Lemons.

Payment of the monthly bills was authorized on a motion and second by Lemons and Van Greene

Resignations of Mrs. Barbara Boehl, English, and J. W. Combs, special education, were accepted on a motion and second by Greene and Henry Williams.

Five new teachers were hired by the board for the 1967-68 school year. Hired were Mrs. Rex Mauldin, second grade; Mrs. O. A. Graves, fourth grade; Mrs. May Stroud, special education; Mrs. Lane Tannehill, girls physical education; and Mrs. Raymond Ross, fifth grade.

Motion to accept the teachers was made by Williams, seconded by Greene.

Lanier gave the board a preliminary budget for the school year 1967-68. The regular budget meeting was set by the board as August 21 on a motion by Lemons, seconded by Williams.

Overall, the preliminary budget was up about $15,000 over last year. The biggest increases were in salary, due to the school's decision to pay teachers above the state minimum.

The question about purchasing or renting new typewriters for the typing classes was brought up again during the meeting. Lanier said that a Lubbock firm had offered to sell the school 24 manual and five electric typewriters for $3,000 to be billed out at $1,000 for each of three years. This would include a service contract for the three years.

The board decided to advertise for bids for the machines since the law says bids must be asked if the purchase price is more than $1,000.

The Gene Huggins resident at 606 E Garfield is highlighted by Yucca type plants in a rock area near the street.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Williamson, 806 E. Garfield, has a curved drive area in the front which has a bed of Vinca Minor ground cover near the street. An interesting effect is gained by trimmed Carnation clumps.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown at 402 E. Hayes, is surely noticed for the lovely plantings of floribunda red roses near the street.

To the voters of Cochran County:

I am Marie Adams, Mrs. Bobby Adams in private life. I am 30 years of age and a resident of Cochran County. Bobby and I have two daughters, Debra Kay, 11, and Linda Marie, 8. We own a small irrigated farm northeast of Morton.

The Morton Memorial Hospital can be a "memorial" to whatever we choose to vote and work for: unity or dis-unity of purpose. Our individual lives are important and so are our votes; what we want them to "count for" is our privilege and responsibility. I want my life and vote to "count" for what is right according to God.

I am willing to serve as a director on the Hospital Board, but I must leave it up to you and your good judgement as to whether I am able to serve in this capacity. To have a really efficient hospital in Morton is very important to me . . . and I hope it is to you.

Payment of the monthly bills was authorized on a motion and second by Lemons and Van Greene

Resignations of Mrs. Barbara Boehl, English, and J. W. Combs, special education, were accepted on a motion and second by Greene and Henry Williams. Five new teachers were hired by the board for the 1967-68 school year. Hired were Mrs. Rex Mauldin, second grade; Mrs. O. A. Graves, fourth grade; Mrs. May Stroud, special education; Mrs. Lane Tannehill, girls physical education; and Mrs. Raymond Ross, fifth grade.

Motion to accept the teachers was made by Williams, seconded by Greene.

Lanier gave the board a preliminary budget for the school year 1967-68. The regular budget meeting was set by the board as August 21 on a motion by Lemons, seconded by Williams.

Overall, the preliminary budget was up about $15,000 over last year. The biggest increases were in salary, due to the school's decision to pay teachers above the state minimum

The question about purchasing or renting new typewriters for the typing classes was brought up again during the meeting. Lanier said that a Lubbock firm had offered to sell the school 24 manual and five electric typewriters for $3,000 to be billed out at $1,000 for each of three years. This would include a service contract for the three years.

The board decided to advertise for bids for the machines since the law says bids must be asked if the purchase price is more than $1,000.

Lincoln has a lovely array of blossoms of many different types with an unusual umbrella pot-plant holder in the front. The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jones, 407 E. Lincoln, is noted for a very lovely and tranquil backyard setting with the prime spotlight, a large Hydrangea with many blooms. The Virgil Coffman home, 802 E. Garfield, is accented by six weeping mulberry trees as a highlight in the front. Next door to the Coffmans the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Griffith (the former Buddy Franks home) is beautifully landscaped by a rock and tree bed as a front accent.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Mc-Spadden, 602 E. Garfield is enhanced by a formal landscape with very old balltype Junipers among the front of the house as a most unusual and lovely effect.

The Gene Huggins resident at 606 E. Garfield is highlighted by Yucca type plants in a rock area near the street. The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Williamson, 806 E. Garfield, has a curved drive area in the front which has a bed of Vinca Minor ground cover near the street. An interesting effect is gained by trimmed Carnation clumps.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Travis at 401 E. Hayes is accented by a large piece of driftwood in a triangle shaped area near the doorway.

The Morton Memorial Hospital features a gravel walkway with flower-studded accent areas nearby.

Again, a Thank You to all of these and the many, many others who take pride in their homes and in the beautification of Morton.

To the voters of Cochran County:

I am Marie Adams, Mrs. Bobby Adams in private life. I am 30 years of age and a resident of Cochran County. Bobby and I have two daughters, Debra Kay, 11, and Linda Marie, 8. We own a small irrigated farm northeast of Morton.

The Morton Memorial Hospital can be a "memorial" to whatever we choose to vote and work for: unity or dis-unity of purpose. Our individual lives are important and so are our votes; what we want them to "count for" is our privilege and responsibility. I want my life and vote to "count" for what is right according to God.

I am willing to serve as a director on the Hospital Board, but I must leave it up to you and your good judgement as to whether I am able to serve in this capacity. To have a really efficient hospital in Morton is very important to me . . . and I hope it is to you.

> I would appreciate your vote on Saturday, July 22 (paid political adv.)

Nineteen girls modeled dresses in the event. Garments were judged on the girls that morning by Mrs. Robin Taylor, CHDA Bailey County and Mrs. JoAnne Gray, assistant educational director for the Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association. In construction, accurate cutting, and quality of work as it contributes to the "professional look" were judged. Things around the Tribune have been anything but ordinary during the past week or so. Printer J. H. Daniels lost the end of his left index finger last week when it got tangled with a printing press. It was removed just behind the nail. That kept him out of action for a while and enabled the rest of the staff to make snide comments. Jay was back on the job in a couple of days, still mumbling about having to ride a wheelchair from the emergency room to his hospital bed. But the main thing that bothered Jay was that it ruined a printing safety record that would have reached 21 years in October. Then Jay and wife Joyce say their younger son, David, inducted into the Marines Tuesday, Printer's helper and assistant-to-all-departments Jimmy Cartwright got to spend three days in the hospital with an infection. Jimmy's teenage appetite (he likes to eat three haburgers at a sitting and often has a midmorning snack of hamburgers, soft drink and onion rings at 10 a.m.) was upset by the early feeding hours at the hospital. tttt

We got a vicious rain and wind storm about midnight Tuesday, but missed out on the hail. It was about dry enough for another rain, but it sure won't help control the weeds that have grown big as trees the past couple of weeks. Farmers are using all the hoe hands they can find, plus their wives and children, in an effort to get the weeds knocked down.

tttt Weeds are growing by leaps and bounds. They've almost covered the entire town. They're ugly, shelter the biting mosquito. Cut last week, ours are growing again, and we wearily cry, "So soon! Oh, woe!"

to be held this fall, Mrs. Hill states there are principally three types of flowers to use in an arrangement: Spikes these are defined material, selected to give line interest. Heads - thicken body of arrangement, smaller and lighter flowers at the top of arrangement. Medium size flowers in the middle of the arrangement, Darker and larger flowers at the bottom of arrangement and less of the darker flowers should be used. Sprays - Soften harsh lines, act as filler or background, these are ommitted from a line arrangement, but used mass arrangements.

Principles of design discussed by Hill were: simplicity, expression, harm balance, contrast, rhythm, scale, pr tion, and beauty. Each of these s be considered in making an arranger

Each member brought an arrange to the workshop and it was critized judged by the other members, to he learn how to arrange flowers and we were doing wrong. It was a enjoyable and informative program.

Refreshments were served to: Frank Bennett, Mrs. C. O. Caffey, R. L. DeBusk, Mrs. Hessie B. Mrs. Wayne Porter, Mrs. C. D. Hill Roy Hill, Mrs. J. L. Schooler, Mrs. Travis, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. McSpadden and Mrs. Kenneth Thom

Schlabach-Hansen vows are repeated on July 14

Miss Margret Ann Hansen and William J. Schlabach were married at 8:00 p.m. Friday, July 14 in the home of the bride's parents with Harley Amick, minister and uncle of the groom officiating the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hansen, Rt. 2, Morton. The groom is the son of Mrs. Jewel Schabach, Box 187, Spur, Tex.

WSCS has program on cool, young generation

A very interesting program was presented by Mrs. Courtney Sanders at the July 11 meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service which was held in the Fellowship Hall. The program entitled, "We Dig Those Cool Cats", was designed to bring about more understanding, more acceptance, and better relationships between young people and adults.

The record, Lady Godiva was played, and the words later read by Mrs. Don Lynskey, as an example of what some of the younger people enjoy. Mrs. James Walker, who led the society in their devotional, stated that, "Adolesence was an age when people quit asking questions because they knew all the answers." and although "people, particularly younger people, were a product of the times, it was important to remember that the times are still in God's hands, and that the opportunity for heroic living is always present, whatever the age."

People today have different problems concerning the same subjects, and come under the same need to be guided by the same principles set by God. A home is Christian where Christ is promoted; the father is the head, the mother is the heart, and the children are the members that make the home complete."

Mrs. Courtney Sanders began her talk by stating what both girls and boys had in common and then how they differed. She said that the younger people wanted older people to be concerned about them but not "nosy". Giving them freedom doesn't mean "no controls" but freedom within bounds, with the boundaries being enlarged as each individual was able to accept more responsibility.

Mrs. Sanders said that all the young people are different, with varying personalities and needs, yet at the same time all of them needed to be loved and accepted and appreciated so that they might come to accept themselves and find their own identity in relation to God and others. Another thing mentioned by Mrs. Sanders was that her husband, Courtney, had Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white ottoman and Venetian lace. Designed with empire bodice, wide oval neckline and elbow length sleeves; a band of lace defined the waistline. The slim A line skirt was complemented by a sweep train that featured a half frame of lace and accented at each side with miniature flat bows. Her tiered veil of illusion fell from a cornet of pearl and crystals. Borrowed from Mrs. Katheryn Lewallen, the bride wore a pearl bar pin worn by Mrs. Lewallen's grandmother.

Mrs. Billye Kelly of Levelland was the Matron of Honor. The groom's brother, Steve Schlabach, of Lubbock was the Best Man. Music was provided by Sharon Davis, soloist, accompanied by Kay Peterson. Wedding selections were "One hand, One Heart", and the "Wedding March". Guests included visiting relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Morton High School. She attended South Plains College for one year where she participated in choir and other campus activities. The groom is a 1962 graduate of Morton, and attended Eastern N.M. University for three years majoring in music. He is now playing in an army band stationed at Ft. Bliss, Texas near El Paso. The couple will be living in El Paso.

Mrs. Elwood Harris, Patsy Hans, Becky

Johns, Patsy Beseda, Faye Fincher, June and Barbara Kennedy left Tuesday for Cucharo Camp, Colorado where they will stay in McAlister cabin.

unt Mid-East shoot-up ups Texas allowable on oil por

AUSTIN, Tex. - Texas Railroad Commission has turned up the oil allowable to a record high 48 per cent of potential - retroactive to July 1 - to meet demands created by the Middle East shoot-

Commission's extraordinary mid-month emergency order was the third of the kind since the Arabian oil cutoff. It boosted the allowable to 3,860,560 barrels a day higher than during the latter part of the 1957 Suez oil crisis and probably the highest since wide-open production days of 1948 when producers were encouraged to build up war-drained crude supplies. New increase adds 131,000 barrels a day to July allowable, which was raised to 42.9 per cent on the first of the month. Major purchasers told the Commission added, production was necessary. ALLOWABLE WAS 33.8 per cent when the Arab-Israeli shooting started in June. Comission raised it slightly - to 35.9 per cent - in mid-June, retroactive to June 1, and on July 1 announced the 42.9 per cent order.

August allowable is due to be set this week. Since the percentage factor was first used in 1963, the 37.5 per cent-of-potential production was the highest adjustment used until the present Middle East crisis erupted.

In addition to the major effect on the state's general economy, a steadily climbing allowable appears likely to increase

Texas' governmental tax income substantially. It has been estimated that the

A TRIBUNE EDITORIAL

Voters have opportunity to improve hospital

This Saturday, July 22, the citizens of Cochran County will go to the polls to determine whether they want a hospital district. The election is a culmination of events that began last fall, continued through the winter and spring.

But the issue actually goes back some 20 years, according to long-time observers in Cochran County. And through the years, the operation of the hospital has been a bone of contention among the people, a source of irritation for county officials and a point of debate among county residents.

As recently as a month ago, the hospital got within 14 hours of closing because there was no money available from the county to pay salaries.

Less than 60 days ago, one of the two doctors in the county left and has not been replaced. It is our feeling that he will not be replaced until the future operation of the hospital has been assured on a stable basis.

Why is there a need to establish a hospital board? First, because the county commission is reluctant to function as a hospital board. Second, because certain small factions have let personal jealousy, petty differences and an aversion to taxes cloud their thinking.

Perhaps there are some who can afford to patronize Lubbock hospitals, with their inconvenience and higher costs. But most of the people of this county want, and need, medical attention closer to home.

Purely from an economic standpoint, Cochran County cannot afford to lose the payroll of the hospital employees. It cannot afford to lose the potential industry that would consider Morton or Cochran County as a site, then reject the plan when it finds a lack of medical facilities.

Last fall, the citizens of Cochran County voted to spend $195,000 to expand the hospital. They have attended hurriedly-called mass meetings to force the end of stalemates in negotiations to work out and accept new operating contracts for the hospital.

The most serious question raised about the hospital district is in the maximum allowable tax rate. The 75 cents-per-$100 valuation is standard in all state legisla. tion for hospital districts. This establishes the ceiling on tax levies.

What it boils down to, is that voters will have to place their trust in the di. rectors they elect to the hospital board . . . the same trust they place in county, city, school, state and federal officials who make tax levies.

Since the board will operate at a local level, Cochran County residents will be in direct communication with those they elect to the board. They will also have the opportunity to change board members every two years (board members will be elected on two-year terms with two members up for election one year and three the next).

For 20 years, there has been dissention and bickering about the operation of the hospital. Saturday's election will offer the chance to establish a group that would be solely concerned with hospital operation . . . not with preserving their lucrative jobs or shunting the hospital aside as a headache to be ignored as long as possible.

Cochran County voters should allow an independent group to oversee hospital operation under the framework of a hospital district. Twenty years of operation under another system have not worked well. It's time to try something else that has a chance of success.

Farmers and world trade

In this day of diminishing farm population, it is good to learn that this sector of the economy has fared well in the results of the Kennedy round of trade negotiations in Geneva.

Actually agriculture fared better this time than ever before in the 20 years of conferences of GATT (General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade). Up to now, agriculture was not permitted to take a significant part in the bargaining for tariff reduction until industry had its day and there was little left to bargain with. But in this time agriculture and industry were linked in negotiations. As a result both benefited.

Of course American agriculture did not get all it asked. That wasn't to be expected. But all the major United States farm organizations express some degree of satisfaction over the outcome.

All appear pleased about the inclusion in the final agreement of a food-aid program for underdeveloped countries. This is another "first". The negotiating countries' agreement to supply up to 4.5 million tons of food annually for three years to economically emerging lands does not mean that all needs will be met but it is a good beginning. Although the effort is humanitarian the end result - expanded foreign markets in the developing countries - will in years to come benefit those who now contribute.

Tariff reductions for certain agricultural products will spur trade. A three-year agreement on grains which raises the floor under the world trading price of wheat about 23 cents a bushel is welcomed by producers of this grain.

Inevitably, some criticism of the results is voiced by American farm groups. It is cheifly about the failure of negotiators to persuade members of the European Economic Community to abolish the variable levy fee system. But the EEC members regard this as vital to the interest of their members. Americans hope it will be used with moderation.

On the credit side is the agreement to as seen on a WBAP-TV newscast, an angry and unseemly dispute, not calculated to contribute anything toward settlement of the issue at hand. That issue involved allegations of near starvation among Negro in Mississippi, Senator Javits caustically charged the Agriculture Department with not doing enough, fast enough, to relieve the situation, Mr. Freeman said the department as way ahead of the senator, and that, anyway, Mr. Javits was ignoring hunger in his own state of New York and pointing an accusing finger at Mississippi and making groundless charges of foot-dragging 'bureaucracy.

Neither spectacle was very edifying, and they cannot wholly be put down to the fact that the congressional session has been long and filled with frustrations and that the weather is getting hotter. What is inexcusable about them is that the emotions involved were chiefly political, less concerned with the solving of public problems than with partisan advantage, and less concerned with the results than with personal status and prestige. These things should not take precedence over the relieving of distress or the question of whether someone is paying his proper share of taxes.

Writing a simple wedding

You never know how much you are going to miss someone - or rather you never know how much work a person does - until they leave.

Well, Dorothy Ray, who works for the Vindicator as society editor, has gone on vacation, and I fully realize how much work she does and how much I am going to miss her the rest of her vacation.

fice if they knew what it meant and none of them could explain it adequately. They say it means she was the one he chose. but you either elect or choose, you don't do both.

The second term that stumped me was "peau de soie." I have heard it several times used in connection with weddings, but I can't exactly remember where. It sounds like some kind of dance, sort of a little French minuet, and I have heard a lot of people say "I'll dance at your wedding.

But as dignified as wedding stories are, it would seem funny to say that "Susie Q. did the peau de soie at Jane Doe's wedding. Rev. Jones promptly asked her to leave the church.

I then thought maybe it was some kind of food the guests were served at the reception. You know, sorta like " the guests ate peau de soie at Miss Doe's wedding."

But after reviewing a few weddings in back issues of the Vindicator, I came to the conclusion that "peau de soie" is something the bride carries on her per-

Maybe it's like the Victorian novels, where the French words were used when the English was considered risque or too

Maybe it should read "the bride wore her mother's peau de sole where no one could see it." But that doesn't sound too nice, either.

And another thought, why does there seem to be an absence of men mentioned in newspaper stories about the wedding.

I've been to several weddings in the past few years and I know that men go to the things -- although I don't know why But when you read about it in the paper the next day, they don't tell anything about the men, only about the women.

Temper clouds real issue

The long, hot summer is producing outbreaks in Congress, too. The House Agriculture Committee has in effect rebuked the chairman of one of its subcommittees for calling upon the Internal Revenue Service to investigate the tax-exempt status of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Whereupon the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Joseph Resnick of New York, stormed out of the session to aim a denunciatory speech at the committee on the floor of the House. Tempers were at the boiling point.

In another hearing before a Senate subcommittee, Secretary of Agriculture Orvill Freeman and Sen. Jacob Javits of New York were at each other's throats. It was, ment of Public Safety Director Col. Homer Garrison Jr.

Pamphlets on hurricane precautions are being distributed to local civil defense offices in coastal counties.

Garrison said too many people "develop a false sense of security" after small hurricane experience or having been "on the fringes" of a major storm, and this attitude can be fatal.

Weddings aren't exactly my cup of tea - several terms have me completely baffled.

The first, and most mystifying, is "brideelect." Someone brought in a story this week saying she was the bride-elect of soand-so. My first thought was perhaps her fiance had brought home several girls for his family to choose from and then let them vote on their favorite.

I looked at her face and she was beaming just like someone who had just won an election - but knowing that the time of arranged marriages has long since passed, I knew my assumption was incorrect. I asked several women around the of-

Wedding stories should tell what the men wore also,

For example, "The bride's father had on a black suit and socks with two shoes, a white shirt and a tie. In his right poc-ket he carried an extremely flat and empty pocketbook and in the left he carried hidden from sight, a white "peau de soie." Well, if the bride can do it, so can the bride's father.

Some good advice: don't get married, engaged or have any big social event until Dot Ray comes back.
