... of double drowning . . .

... ARROW POINTS to area in approximate center of private lake on farm of T. K. Williamson, near Morton, where bodies of Mart Bass and son, Joe, were recovered by searchers Wednesday night and Thursday morning of last week.

Father-Son drown here

What began as a father-son fishing expedition near here last Wednesday and which was to culminate in a family get-together at lakeside for a picnic lunch, ended in tragedy instead.

When the wife and mother went to the spot to join her husband and son who had gone to the fishing site earlier in the day to fish from a small boat, she found only an empty boat adrift on the water.

Filled with apprehension, she immediately alerted neighbors. The Cochran County Sheriff's Department was notified and search was immediately instituted in an effort to locate the missing man, Mart Bass, 40, and his young son, Joe Bass, 6-years-of-age.

Unable to find the missing pair, the Levelland Fire Department was called in and dragging of the lake with grappling hooks began under the direction of Levelland Fire Chief Joiner. Five other firemen joined in the operation in which the body of the boy, an only son, was brought to the surface about 10:20 p.m. Dragging operations at the site, a small lake of about an acre in area on the farm owned by T. K. Williamson 6 miles east and 2 1/2 miles south of Morton, was continued until about 4 a.m. Thursday morning when the body of the father was recovered.

The lake, although small, is reportedly about 14 feet deep and very mossy on the bottom, which probably accounts for the lapse of so much time between recovery of the two bodies, although three boats were used in the effort.

Since no evidence of foul play was discovered, it can only be surmised that probably the youngster fell overboard from the boat from which they were fishing and that the father, in an effort to save him, entered the water and was unable to rescue the lad and as a result both lost their lives. Neither was wearing a life jacket, it was reported.

Bass was employed as a car salesman by a Morton firm.

Area girl injured in fall at Palo Duro Park

Patricia Robertson, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Robertson, Enochs, suffered a fractured hand, multiple bruises and abrasions when she slipped and fell from a cliff in Palo Duro State Park Thursday. She had gone there with friends and her father, and had ridden to the crest of the canyon rim on a ski lift. Then when she was seated with her legs hanging over a steep bluff, the accident occurred. Landing on her feet, she nevertheless rolled on down the cliff, a distance of more than 50 feet from where she was seated at the cliff's edge.

A hastily organized rescue team which consisted of her father, members of the Texas Park and Wild Life staff at the park and the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department and friends, succeeded in rescuing the unfortunate girl from her precarious position where it is said that had she rolled a few feet more she would have been in for another drop of from 200 to 250 feet straight down the scarred and rough canyon wall.

Carried on a stretcher back to the top of the bluff, then placed on one of the ski lift chairs which transported her safely to the floor of the canyon, Miss Robertson was then taken by ambulance to the Neblitt Memorial Hospital in Canyon where she was treated and released later in the week to return to her home in Enochs.

A telephone call to the Robertson home by a Tribune reporter Sunday afternoon was answered by Patricia herself from a bedside telephone. Although on the road to recovery, she was unable to say when she would be able to resume her normal activities.

City sets tax rate; to buy police car

A called meeting was held at City Hall of the City Council on August 28. All members were present.

The members decided on the tax rate which was the same as last years. They also decided on the minimum of $5,000 and maximum of $8,000 to pay for the motor grader they are trying to buy.

Then they decided to ask for bids on a 1969 police car with the same specifications as last time. The police car now is a 1967 Chevrolet.

Final services held for Mart, Joe Bass

Services for Mart Bass, 40 and his son Joe, 6, were held at 10 a.m. August 31, at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Fred Thomas officiating, assisted by Rev. Robert Evans. Special music was given by Deborah Miller and Phil Vogel.

Under the direction of Singleton Funeral Home, the interment was in Morton Memorial Cemetery. Mart was born January 24, 1928 in Megargel, Texas. When a youth he moved with his family to Bailey County, attended the Watson School. For 15 years he was owner of the Bass New and Used Cars here in Morton. In January he sold this business and was associated with Allsup-Perry Chevrolet. He was a Veteran of World War II and a member of the Church of Christ. His hobby was helping other people, especially those less fortunate than he and never failed any time he was called upon.

Joe Robert was born February 3, 1962, at Levelland, Texas. He would have been a first grader this year.

Survivors include the wife and mother, Ruth, the daughter and sister, Jean McMinn, parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bass, Sr., of Enochs; three brothers, Claude of Enochs, Ernest of Lasbuddie, and E. A., Jr. of Lariett. Also Joe's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Iva Williams.

Chamber holds interesting meeting

Regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Morton Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber office Tuesday, September 3. The meeting opened with a call to order by the Chamber president, O. L. Tilger, at 8 p.m.

After the regular routine business was disposed of, committee reports were in. Ray Griffith reported that his committee had called on the management of the new Electronics plant here. He reported that things were going along nicely at the plant and that they offered the Chambers assistance in any way possible to further the plants progress.

Manager of the Chamber, Leon Kessler, made a further industrial report to the board and some discussion was had on same.

Members of the Board were unanimous in their agreement that a Teachers Banquet should be held again this year as it was last year, since last year's affair met with gratifying success. A committee was appointed to work with the Lions Club, co-sponsors of the banquet last year, in working out details such as setting the date, etc., for this year's get-together with teachers of this area. The two organizations will share responsibility. The banquet was staged in October last year and tickets were sold to the event to the general public, with teachers coming as guests of the Lions and C. of C.

An orientation meeting for new members was discussed and it was decided that such would be held at the next regular meeting of the Board of Directors on September 17. Wives of new members are to be invited to attend with their husbands and Manager Kessler plans to show slides or films pertaining to the functions of a Chamber of Commerce to those in attendance.

The Directors were told that a group representing the Levelland Junior College wished to meet with some civic organization in Morton to discuss the merits of Cochran County as a whole becoming a part of the college district. It was pointed

Interesting additions made to Cochran County Museum

The Cochran County Historical Museum in Morton has acquired two significant items in recent days. On Friday, August 30, the Woolam Implement Company used heavy equipment to move a concrete tank through to the museum grounds. The tank, by 4 ft. by 3 ft. tank was originally on the courthouse square in Morton when a windmill was there. Local old-timers believe that the tank was built about 1926; if others have additional information about the tank, they are requested to contact Walter L. Taylor, president of the Museum Association. The water tank is displayed on the museum grounds in connection with the windmill which was donated by the Slaughter ranch interests. The windmill and the tank are part of the landscaping scheme being carried out on the museum grounds by the Le Fleur Garden Club. Fred Crow of Morton has had possession of the tank.

An interview with Father David Greka

Father David Greka was born in Alpena, Michigan where he spent most of his childhood. He studied at the Orchard Lake Seminary in Michigan for 11 years. Father Greka was ordained to the priesthood in the year 1962. He played football, basketball, track and baseball while attending High School and played basketball in college.

His first assignment as a priest was St. Joseph's Parish in Amarillo as Assistant Pastor. Here, besides his pastoral duties, he was Chaplain to the Newman Club at Amarillo College, taught school at St. Joseph's School and coached the High School basketball team to three consecutive Diocesan Champs in the Catholic League (West Texas Area). In February 1966 Father Greka was commissioned an officer in the U.S. Army. He filled one of the two vacancies for Chaplain in the Special Forces, including the Western United States with Headquarters at Fort Hamilton, N. Community. I have been very surprised and edified with the youth "on how much they know what is going on in the church today".

The need for ecumenism has become very apparent to us as we realize how far short Christianity has fallen in penetrating the mass of mankind. Only 35 percent of the World is Christian. After Cardinal Bernard Alfrink presented these statistics he said: "And if dividedness is the form in which Christianity presents itself to the non-Christian world, how can this world ever come to faith in Christ?"

I believe that if Morton as a community is to be ecumenical we need to acknowledge other Christians as Christians. To develop the conviction that wherever and whenever a man truly believes in Christ as Lord and Saviour and is baptised into His death and resurrection, he is a new creature, a Christian, and therefore in a special way, our brother. We share the same basic beliefs, despite the grave doctrinal differences which may exist between us. Nevertheless, to be ecumenical is not to water down or compromise Christian truth. It is to develop a fullness of truth revealed in the Gospel. This fullness of truth is the soil in which the flower of unity can take root and grow.

PERSONAL MENTION

Already aware of the fact that for neighborliness the South Plains of Texas' people cannot be beat, the new editor at the Tribune was delightfully reminded of the fact when Sunday, upon returning home in the evening, he found a large half of a cold, delicious watermelon awaiting him on the front porch at 204 E. Many benefits derived from mulching, comments Ag Dept

Generally stubble mulching is thought of as a means of controlling wind erosion. This is true, but stubble mulching has many other important uses that most farmers do not realize occur with this practice. Stubble mulching improves water infiltration into the soil, improves the physical condition of the soil, reduces soil crusting and reduces evaporation from the soil.

Much progress has been made in the adaptation of machinery and proving the economic merits of stubble mulching in the lower rainfall areas where wind erosion is the most common erosion problem.

Mulch on the soil surface is Nature's process of building and maintaining a desirable condition for plant growth. Mulch on the surface builds up the organic matter content in the five inch surface layer of soil faster than when comparable quantities of material are turned under. The decay of plant residues and formation of decomposition products that stabilize the soil aggregates takes place mainly at the surface, where it is most needed.

Erosion is a selective process. Lightweight organic matter and fine soil particles are the first to be carried away by wind or water. Eroded materials contain several times more of the main elements of fertility, organic matter, nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash than ever contained in the original soil. The surface residue breaks up the water film that restrict infiltration. In addition, the mulch intercepts the raindrops and minimizes the disintegration effect of their impact on the soil granules.

Sweeps or blades are the only implements that will do a thorough job of leaving residues on the soil surface. These run flat under the soil surface leaving the stubble residues in an almost normal position. Thirty inch sweeps are considered about the minimum size that will do the best job of mulching and eliminate growing vegetation. The first time over land, the plow should be set to the minimum depth desired during the preparation of the next crop. Each subsequent plowing should be at a lesser depth to prevent forming a plow pan.

Residue on the soil surface is reduced with each plowing by this amount of different types of equipment.

large sweeps (Stubble mulching) close — spaced sweeps 15% tandem disk 25% one — way plow 50%

Some crops that are suitable for mulching are: wheat, rye, oats, sorghums, sudan grass and millet.

A few additional points to keep in mind when considering stubble mulching:

Density of stubble is important in strolling blowing.

The stubble height for row crop and sudan should be about 10 to 14 inches. A 4 to 6 inch stubble height left on the crops.

Limit grazing to maintain the amount of residues needed for soil protection.

To be most effective and good results obtained, stubble mulching should be practiced along with the other management practices on the farm.

Linda Burns, Curtis Dickson repeat vows

The First Baptist Church of Bledsoe was the scene for the double ring ceremony on August 31 at 7 p.m. with the Rev. Herbert O. Row officiating.

Miss Linda Louise Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burns became the bride of Curtis Woodrow Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Dickson, all of Morton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of slipper satin. Jacket with bell-shaped sleeves and train of scallop-bordered lace, satin ring shaped headpiece held the finger-tip veil of illusion. Her bouquet was a white orchid with white feathered carnations.

The Maid of Honor was Miss Debra Burns, sister; Matron of Honor was Sandra Craig, friend and bridesmaid was Neva Gilliam. They wore light blue street length dresses of knit with bateau necklines. Matching ring-shaped headpieces held their blue bells of tulle. Maid of Honor held nosegay with blue lace carnations, each bridesmaid held one long stemmed carnation. Candlelighters wore tiny corsages.

Wayne Craig was best man and the groomsmen were Lynn Fitzgerald, and Paul Kosh. Ushers were Douglas Burns, Steven Dunn and Dan Keith, niece of the groom, Vera Vanbember received guests and Margie Griffiths was hostess.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony. The decorations included an arch of white gladiolas and blue lace carnations. Baskets of white Pom-Poms staged the candleabras.

The couples' new address will be in Austin after a wedding trip to New Mexico and Dallas. The bride is a graduate of Bledsoe High School and the groom is a graduate of Whiteface High School, South Plains and University of Texas. He is newsman for a radio and television station in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dickson

out that Whiteface area is already a part of the college district.

In this connection the pros and cons of the possibility of the county's voting on this step were discussed with the result that the Board seemed reluctant to go into the matter. It is probable that the Jaycees will initiate this first step towards consideration of the merits and benefits to be derived by such a move, should voters of the county at some future date be asked to approve or disapprove of the proposal when it is made.

It was pointed out at the meeting that Bailey county voters said "no" when faced with the question of becoming a part of the junior college district with the suggestion being made that probably this was so because Muleshoe had aspirations towards a junior college to be located there in future.

It seems evident that expansion of the college district is imperative in the near future if expansion of facilities are to be effected at the institution to take care of the influx of students from the areas surrounding the present district boundaries.

At the last meeting of the chamber board of directors, FHA administrator of Cochran County, Marvin Elliott, met with the members and discussed the work of the Technical Action Panel emanating from the FHA office. He stated several ways that they could be of service to the Chamber, but pointed out that they were only to be used in an advisory capacity. Projects already underway include work with the Industrial Foundation and the Recreation Potential Study.

At the August 20 meeting the date for the annual meeting was set for October 15.

SHINED AND READY

"And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace." Ephesians 6:15.

These shoes fairly shine and sparkle and are ready to take their owner proudly any place. Society dictates that we should be well turned out and that our feet be shod with well-groomed footwear. The Bible tells us that we should be clad in the whole armour of God, and that our feet should be shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. The gospel is this: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." Romans 8:1

St. Peter advises, "Be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

Come to church this week that you might learn of Him and that you might be prepared to give this good news of the gospel to others.

NFU president to speak at Lubbock banquet Sept. 12

The state office of Texas Farmers Union in Waco has announced that National Farmers Union President Tony Dechant of Denver, Colo., will be the principal speaker at a Lubbock County Farmers Union banquet at the Plains Co-op Oil Mill in Lubbock Thursday, September 12, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Dechant will make a major farm policy address dealing with federal farm policy and proposed commodity legislation.

Dechant was elected president of National Farmers Union in 1966 and serves as president of the several business entities which are affiliates of the National Farmers Union. He is a native of Kansas and has been associated with National Farmers Union. He is a native of Kansas Farmers Union since 1946, having previously served as the Secretary-Treasurer.

Delmer McLeod of the Acuff community, president of Lubbock County Farmers Union, is in charge of arrangements for the banquet, and he reports that because of the limited seating space at the Co-op it will be necessary for those interested in attending to purchase tickets in advance. Banquet tickets can be procured from Farmers Union county officers in all South Plains counties or from the Lubbock office at 1630-30th Street, telephone 797-2619.

A reception for Mr. Dechant will be at the South Plains Electric Co-op auditorium in Lubbock during the afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock p.m. on September 12, preceding the banquet, hosted by District 22 Farmers Union; and invitations have been extended to county leaders in the district to attend, according to Joe Rankin of Ralls, District 2 Director. Mr. Rankin, who is in charge of President Dechant's itinerary, states that he will give Mr. Dechant a tour of the area agriculture including a stop at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, if time permits.

Up the down escalator

Up the DOWN escalator went two small boys, on the loose in a department store. As they scrambled upward, they bumped into a woman shopper, causing her to suffer a bad fall.

In due course she filed a damage suit against the store, charging a failure to maintain order on the premises.

"But none of our employees noticed what those youngsters were doing," "Surely we are not required to keep our escalators under constant surveillance."

The court agreed, and the woman's claim was turned down.

Authorities differ as to whether an escalator should be classified as a "common carrier" — like a train or a bus. However, they all agree that the management is not an absolute guarantor of a passenger's safety. Some risk is inherent in the very nature of this means of transportation. Take this case:

Leading her small son by the hand, But a woman approached an escalator just as she moved onto the first step, the boy stopped short in fright. When the woman reached back for him, she lost her balance and fell.

But again, after a court hearing, the judge could find no grounds for pinning responsibility on the management. He said the cause of the accident was simply "the effect the escalator has upon a person who steps upon it without putting his body in corresponding motion."

Nonetheless, a store is indeed obliged to prevent an accident when it reasonably can — either by adequate supervision or by proper upkeep of the equipment. Thus:

A man who fell because an escalator gave a sudden, violent jerk won a damage award. So did a woman who slipped on a gob of grease, which had remained on an escalator step long enough for store employees to have noticed and removed it.

On the other hand, even if the management does see danger, there may be no practical way to avoid it.

In one case the hostess in a hotel spied a drunk weaving his way toward the escalator. Though she tried to restrain him, he pushed her aside, stepped aboard, and toppled backward to the floor.

Afterward, the man complained that the hostess "should have stopped me by force." But a court decided that was too much to expect — especially since he weighed twice as much as she did. All in all, the court concluded, the man had no one to blame but himself.

Tax Man Sam sez:

Everybody knows that the new surtax law raised the amount of income tax that you will pay (7 1/2 per cent this year) by 10 per cent. What a lot of folks don't know is that the rules for paying estimated taxes have also been tightened up. Most of us work for wages and our employers withhold income tax and social security tax from our wages and pay it to Uncle, and we don't have to worry about filing an estimated tax return. However, those folks who are self-employed or who have income outside of their pay check, do have a problem. This type of taxpayers have been required to file an estimated tax return in the past, but there were lots of good excuses that wiped out a tax penalty if you did not file and you met the exception. Congress decided to wipe out and tighten up these exceptions. If you are self-employed or if you have substantial income on which you have not paid any tax, you better review the amount of estimated tax that you are due to pay on September 15, or find out whether you have to file and pay because your good excuse is gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Patterson spent the weekend in Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gunnels and families spent the Labor holiday at Lake Brownwood.

TURNROW TUNKEL

Don't you think North Vietnamese leaders were encouraged by all the "stop the bombing" speeches at our political conventions?

Yes, I kept hoping at least one speaker would call for "increasing the bombing", just to shake Ho Chi Minh up a little.

According to a jar manufacturer, home canning is on the increase.

Many Texans can remember when a large part of a family's food was home canned, and at Saturday night dances the fruit jar was as important as the fiddle.

slices of country-cured ham between big homemade biscuits?

I understand that regular air service between New York and Moscow is now in effect. A round-trip costs $1100.

If I ever took one of those flights, I'd certainly want a round-trip ticket, and I'd prefer to go on the "fly now-pay later" plan. The Russians have been known to cancel the return part of a traveler's ticket, but they'd probably allow a fellow to go home if they stood to lose 1100 bucks by keeping him.

How do you account for the recent popularity of men's sideburns?

I suppose they give men a feeling of superiority. Women are claiming they are equal to men in every respect, but when it comes to growing long sideburns, men have them beat a country mile.

In your opinion, did any good come out of the turmoil at the Chicago convention?

Yes. We found the ideal man to take charge of security in Saigon: Mayor Daley. He'd round up those Viet Cong terrorists so fast we'd have to build two new jails to hold them all.

Democratic convention

During the past week much has been said in the news and editorial columns of newspapers throughout the nation about the disgraceful antics (to put it mildly) of not only the demonstrating protesters led by hardy anarchists but by quite a few of the delegates to the Democratic National Convention which was recently held in Windy City, Illinois. Police and National Guardsmen have been vilified for their enthusiastic efforts toward upholding their sworn duty to protect life, limb and property by the pinko cohorts who would have liked nothing better than to have seen the convention disrupted to the extent of adjournment to re-convene in another city where they would have the opportunity to perpetrate their filthy and vulgar interferences all over again. Let it be said to the everlasting credit of those in charge of the proceeding that they refused to be deterred by all the confusion in or outside the convention and went ahead and nominated their candidate. Let us hope that the spectacle will cause the electorate to mediate the cause and consequences of the debacle and vote for the candidates least likely to condone such happening in the future of America.

On gun control legislation

Congress, when it reconvenes, will find that the exponents of rigid gun control legislation have not lessened in their bold and persistent efforts to flaunt the constitutional guarantees and by every means at their disposal will insist on licensing as well as registration of every gun in America . . . knowing full well that only the honest, law-abiding citizens will be affected since no criminal will never submit to the theory that ALL should obey the law. His gun, likely stolen in the first place, will never be registered. Yours and mine will be registered, licensed and taxed, lightly at first but with an increasing yearly toll, until most will find it prohibitive to own guns and still stay within the law. Those of us who oppose registration, etc., would do well to take a few minutes time and, though we have already written our sentiments to those who represent (?) us . . . write again to let them know we will not take this sort of hanky-panky without a fight.

Constitutional amendments

Some 14 amendments to our state constitution will be on our ballots for voter consideration this November.

One, in particular, seems in line for voter approval. That is No. 12 on the ballot (SJR 14). This amendment, if passed, will empower the legislature to authorize cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial development purposes.

In some regions of our state this may be the only feasible way in which to fund industrial development of the area — a much need resource if we are not to continue to rely on agriculture for our sole source of revenue.

This writer believes wholeheartedly that we should support this amendment with our "FOR" vote.

Amendment No. 6 on our ballot (SJR 24) is, in our opinion, worthy of passage if we are to do everything possible to abate water and air pollution. These problems are now receiving belated attention across the nation. The longer we wait the greater the cost will be and in some areas the problems involved in combating these nuisances are almost past solving already.

Again in amendment No. 2 (SJR 41) we are asked to empower, by our vote, the Texas Legislature to pass needed legislation in the field of state participation in Federal programs toward alleviating some of the needs and suffering of the aged, the blind and otherwise handicapped persons, as well

Threeway Baptist Church to hold revival Sept. 8-15

Evangelist Wayne Bristow of Lubbock, Texas and Minister of Music James Hollars of Tahoka, Texas, will lead Three Way Baptist Church in an evangelistic campaign Sept. 8-15th. Services are scheduled daily at 8:00 p.m. according to Hugh Jack Norwood, pastor.

Mr. Bristow has led churches throughout the United States and Canada in similar campaigns. At 31, he is a veteran of more than 200 evangelistic crusades.

A native of West Texas, Mr. Bristow is a graduate of Wayland Baptist College and is an ordained Southern Baptist minister. Before entering a ministry of full-time evangelism, he served two years as a pastor. Active in many Christian student endeavors during college days, Mr. Bristow is often called on to address student rallies and has conducted several evangelistic missions on major university campuses.

"Spiritual revolution is mankind's one final hope. Christians must rediscover a living Christ and present Him to men as the only real answer to our deepest needs," emphasizes the evangelist.

Mr. Hollars, Minister of Music at the First Baptist Church, Tahoka, Texas, is one of the more outstanding type of evangelistic singers having much experience in this field but most of all having a gift from God.

Let us, at Three Way Baptist Church, encourage your attendance in these revival services, and we know God will bless your hearts.

★ Boosters to meet

Youth night scheduled Sept. 12 at Three Way

Thursday night, Sept. 12th, has been designated as youth Night during the Wayne Bristow Evangelistic Crusade being conducted this week at Three Way Baptist Church, Maple, Texas, according to Hugh Jack Norwood, Pastor.

Evangelist Wayne Bristow will deliver a message of vital interest to young people and their parents during the crusade service at 8:00 P.M. This service will be followed by a special time of fellowship for those 13 through 25 years of age and single. This fellowship period will be directed by the evangelistic team.

Speaking at a Youth Night service during a recent crusade, Mr. Bristow declared: "We must go all out to enlist young people for Christ. An army of young people marching under the banner of the cross would mean revival in the churches, a new sense of responsibility in government, new determination in the classroom and a real reason for living for every person in the world today. The daring, imagination and energy which belong to youth will either be harnessed for Christ, or they will be used by godless ideologies to destroy civilization as we know it."

Zippy question

One experienced officer in a south-west city suggests one short question is often successful in showing that a suspect does not come from the far-away area which he claims is his home. The question: "What is your zip code?"

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN, TEX. — Until this year no one could vote in any election in Texas unless he had lived in the state for a full year. "Not so now", says Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera.

As the result of a statute passed by the Texas Legislature in 1967, following voter approval of a constitutional amendment in 1966, voting rules have been changed.

Barrera, as the state's chief election officer, advises that any citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or older, who has resided in Texas less than one year and for at least 60 days as of the day of the election, who satisfies the conditions of a qualified voter in the state from whence he came to Texas and would have been qualified to vote had he remained there, may vote in the Presidential Election here this fall.

However, Barrera points out, the voter can not vote on any office except that of president and vice president of the United States.

FURTHERMORE, he must apply for a ballot at the office of the county clerk in the county of his residence — sometime during a 15-day period beginning September 6. If the voter has an official document attesting to the fact that he was a registered voter in the state of his former residence, he should take that document with him when he applies for his ballot. This will eliminate the necessity of the clerk verifying eligibility at the place of his former residence.

It is important to note too, says Barrera, that once declared eligible to vote, the new-comer must cast his ballot in the county clerk's office — not on November 5, the general election date — but sometime during the 15-day period preceding the general election.

STATE INCOME TAX Discussed — Constitutional Revision Commission finished its first full review of recommendations for a new constitution after a battle royal on the question of state income taxation.

Commission wound up recommending that the current provision allowing an income tax be retained, but there was considerable support for prohibiting income taxes.

Revenue and Taxation Committee, headed by George Wilson of Dallas, president of Lone Star Steel Company, had recommended retention of the clause authorizing such a tax. But Wilson quickly joined forces with Houston Rep. Bill Archer during the full commission meeting in an effort to forbid income taxation.

Wilson said a prohibition on the income tax "would be helpful to our chambers of commerce in recruiting industry." San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister termed income taxes "socialistic, communistic and Marxistic".

BY A VOTE OF 7-5 (most of the 25-man commission were absent or failed to vote) the prohibition of the income tax was approved. But Denton Rep. Alonzo Jamison forced reconsideration of the issue when he moved that the sales tax be limited to its current level, "if we are going to bind the hands of the legislature in the matter of one tax."

Wilson and Archer were strongly opposed to restricting the sales tax level, but Dallas Times Herald Editor Felix McKnight, who had voted with Wilson, changed his mind and said he thought decisions on tax policy should not be made by a constitutional drafting body. He moved for reconsideration.

By a 10-2 vote the income tax prohibition was opened for reconsideration, and the prohibition on income tax was then defeated by a vote of 9-6.

Commission will meet again in late September to look after actual drafting work. The proposed charter will be submitted to the legislature in January.

WALLACE CHAIRMAN IN AUSTIN — Bard Logan, the State Chairman of the American Party and the George Wallace presidential campaign, has started a week-day schedule of working in Austin in American Party headquarters at 506 International Life Building.

"I have made my wife a 'political widow'," Logan said, "I'm staying in Austin during the week and trying to get home to San Antonio weekends until the campaign gets too heavy, and she's running my business for me back home."

Logan denied reports that his party moved its headquarters from Austin to New Braunfels, explaining, "I presided at the official opening of the New Braunfels local headquarters, and some people thought we had moved there. But we have not. We are right here in Austin."

TEXAS STOCK EXCHANGE — A legislative committee and the University of Texas at Austin will begin a study this fall on the feasibility of a Southwest stock exchange centered in Texas.

Advocates of the idea say that Texas and Southwestern stock-market transactions have grown so much in recent years that such an exchange soon will be a necessity and may be desirable now.

Rep. Dave Finney of Fort Worth chairs the committee, which includes Reps. Don Cavness of Austin and Dick McKissack of Dallas. The UT research will be carried on by Dr. Ernest W. Walker, professor of finance, and a graduate student.

They will report to the 61st legislature in January.

CORY NAMES Gas-Storage Committee — Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, appointed a special subcommittee to study Texas laws on the storage of gasoline.

Rep. Charles Jungmichel of La Grange will chair the committee, which will include Reps. Bud Atwood of Edingburg, Jack Blanton of Carrollton, Ace Pickens of Odessa and Rayford Price of Palestine.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM — Texas Highway Commission announces a $60.6 million state Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm-to-Market-Road Improvement Program for 1969, including 1,177 projects in 224 counties.

Bulk of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways, and another large portion is for the reconstruction of highways and FM roads, including widening, improvements to shoulders and construction of improved surfacing.

In 1968, the program included 859 projects at a cost of $40 million.

ANTHRAX REPORTED — Texas Animal Health Commission has received a report on an outbreak of deadly anthrax disease in the area around the juncture of Val Verde, Kinney and Edwards Counties.

Nine premises have reported deaths from the disease among cattle, horses and deer.

Commission has also reported 696 screw-worm cases confirmed in Texas in July. Mexico reported 1,982 cases in roughly the same period.

REHABILITATION STUDY — A report by the Texas Research League on vocational rehabilitation has prompted the State Board of Education to appoint a committee to look into the situation.

William H. Evans of Lubbock is chairman of the committee composed of Porter M. Bailes Jr. of Tyler, Doyle Corley of New Boston, E. R. Gregg Jr. of Jacksonville, Charles E. Hart of Bryan and James W. Harvey of Archer City.

League was prompted to make its report because of the sudden expansion of the rehabilitation program in the last five years.

ADDING IT UP — Two California mathematicians-engineers are coming to Austin to begin computer work on the best ways to meet the problem of water shortages in Texas.

Their work comes under the water program being devised by the Texas Water Development Board. Simply stated, the mathematicians will work on a theoretical model of how Texas water resources can be best moved to where they are needed.
