MY TURN

By Carol Ellis

"WHAT'S GOOD for the goose is good for the gander" was a platitude often used by my father as I was growing up. I took this to mean that I was not to expect any special favors, since everybody has to live by the same rules. Of course, back then, we did not have the special class of people known as "lawmakers" who live in Washington D.C. and who don't have to follow the same rules as the rest of us ordinary folks.

In the end, investigations into the President's "Whitewater" affair may turn up nothing which is illegal as far as man-made laws are concerned, but there are other laws (rules) which should have been followed. These are the unspoken rules of morals, ethics, honesty and fairness. Americans are showing an increased mistrust of politicians which seems to be growing by leaps and bounds, and with good reason.

We've learned that while our President was governor of just about the poorest state in the country (he likes to brag about being one of the lowest paid governors) he and his family were living high on the hog. Sooiel! There were plenty of under the table dealings, "selling short" and insider tradings going on. These "investments," plus the usual amenities granted a governor such as housing, staff, travel, food, expense accounts, etc. plus his wife's nice lawyer salary and retainer fees, brought that poorest-paid governor right up into the wealthy category. And this is the guy who campaigned for the presidency by heaping moral scorn upon the wealthy. . . and the same guy who took a tax-deduction for donating his and his wife's used underwear to some charity.

Now, when the going gets tough for the first couple, we suddenly are barraged with rhetoric about their old-fashioned family values and religious faith. Not so long ago these topics were met with great disdain when they were suggested by Dan Quayle et al.

I wouldn't trust him (Bill Clinton) as far as I could throw him. (My mother used to say that about some of the dates I would bring home.) Here we have this untrustworthy person of questionable character and ethics at the helm of our government, and he is proposing that we turn our health over to him and his henchmen (or henchwomen, as the case may be). Absolutely ludicrous!

What is more important to your very life than the health care you receive from cradle to grave and the doctors who provide it for you? The Clintons' agenda seeks to drive a wedge between patients and the trust they have traditionally placed in their doctors by labeling them as greedy and uncaring.

Physicians are required to have a lot more education than lawyers and politicians. A future doctor will spend about 15 years in school and residency training with costs amounting to nearly $500,000. But you don't even have to pass a test to become the President!

The Whitewater mess has served as a smoke screen while the Clinton health plan is quietly sliding through the various committees and is heading toward Congress. This plan will effectively deprive us of the doctors whom we have chosen, will limit our access to specialists, to second opinions and advanced technology and will burden the people with a great new bureaucracy. Only in wartime have we ever given the government this much power to allocate, ration resources and impose price controls. Nothing in the Constitution authorizes the government to have this much power over our private lives.

Some people do complain about the $20 to $50 they pay to see a doctor, but then they'll pay more than that to go to a concert or ballgame. However, I think what most of us are worried about is the

Suspect In Shooting Returned To County

A 19-year-old youth was in Parmer County Jail as of Wednesday, after being extradited from Flagstaff, Arizona, back to Parmer County.

Sheriff Rex Williams personally drove to Flagstaff on Monday, and took custody of Todd Jenkins, who was arraigned Wednesday morning at the Court House in Farwell, before Judge Louise Hancock.

Jenkins had signed a waiver which allowed his return to Parmer County.

Jenkins is charged with assault with a deadly weapon and theft. His bond was set at $50,000.

Olan Turner accompanied Williams to Arizona, and the officer recovered 10 guns which were allegedly stolen from Turner the morning that Jenkins left the Hub area residence, driving Turner's 1985 model Buick.

The guns taken were all shotguns or rifles, Williams said, including one considered an antique. A couple of the shotguns were valued at around $600 apiece. The vehicle appeared to be in good order, and Turner drove it back to Parmer County.

Jenkins will be bound over to the Parmer County Grand Jury, which is expected to convene in May.

Jenkins will be bound over to the Parmer County Grand Jury, which is expected to convene in May.

Jenkins is charged with the shooting of another 19-year-old, John O. Turner, at his grandparents' residence on Tuesday, March 27. Turner was able to dial 911 and report the shooting. He also walked out to the road. He was brought to Friona by ambulance, where he later was transferred by air to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Turner was released from the hospital this week, according to sources.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Last week I signed a letter stating that I didn't agree with the actions of LULAC and what they were doing in our community. Since that time I have received threatening anonymous phone calls and other phone calls from LULAC members condemning me for my actions. I would like to address several points.

LULAC states that their organization is here to help Hispanic people with such things as scholarships, etc. But the organization seems to be hand-picking their members. They have never openly invited or announced their meetings to the Hispanic community. Everything was done secretly under the guise of Soccer meetings. There are plenty of scholarships and grants available for minority students. That is how many of our children and adults attend college. What is needed is to teach our children family values, respect for the law and the necessity for furthering their education.

When LULAC sued the City and School, they sued every resident in the City: Black, White and Hispanic. We are the taxpayers whose money went to a lawyer in San Antonio. This man does not care for the Hispanic people in Friona. He filed numerous lawsuits at the same time, just like the ones in Friona and his motives all have $$ signs in front of them.

No ones' rights in Friona have been violated by the election system. What needed to be done was to educate the Hispanic people on voting, register them to vote and get them out on election day. But all of this could have been accomplished without a lawsuit and thousands of dollars in lawyers' fees.

For an organization which supposedly endorses civil rights, LULAC should practice what they preach. I have a right to express my opinion and views in whatever manner I choose, without receiving threatening phone calls and harassment.

Margie P. Garcia

Dear Editor,

In March, I was approached to sign a petition against the LULAC organization. Not informed about either side, I thought I was doing something for the good of Friona which has been my home for the past 1-1/2 years. I have made an error in my impulsive decision to sign the said petition.

Please retract my name from that list and state that I am not associated with, for nor against the LULAC organization and know very little about them to give any judgment. If I have hurt ANYONE by my actions, please accept my apology.

Sincerely,
Monica Bermea

By JUNE FLOYD

This week recipes of Bovina residents, which originally appeared in the Cook's Corner of the Bovina Blade are being featured.

Mrs. Rouel (Thelma) Barron contributed the first four. Of the first one, she said, "This salad will keep ten days in the refrigerator and make a good company dish."

RUSSIAN SALAD

1 small head cabbage, shredded
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 small green pepper, chopped
1/2 to 1 teaspoon celery seed
Mix vegetables and celery seed in a bowl that can be covered.

For the dressing, boil:

1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 cup white sugar
1 cup vinegar
2/3 cup salad oil

Pour while very hot over vegetables, cover and let stand in refrigerator several hours before serving. This salad will keep for ten days.

PECAN PIE

1/2 cup oleo

Mrs. Piercession (Virgie) Adams shared the next five and reported that the first one came to her direct from Italy.

TITIANA'S FRUIT CAKE

1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup coconut
1 cup chopped dates

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

JUDGING ALL MEN

THE CIVIL MAGISTRATE, OR JUDGE, GOES BACK TO THE TIME OF MOSES. ON THE ADVICE OF HIS FATHER-IN-LAW, JETHRO, MOSES ORGANIZED THE JUDICIARY OF ISRAEL -- AND ONLY IN MATTERS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE DID MOSES MAKE DECISIONS. TRIBAL HEADS WERE KNOWN AS PRINCES AND ELDERS WHO POSSESSED CIVIL AND RELIGIOUS AUTHORITY. IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM THAT HE ORGANIZED MOSES INCLUDED THESE OFFICIALS AND THEY RETAINED UNDER NEW REGULATIONS, THEIR HEREDITARY FUNCTION OF JUDGING. (DEUT. 1:15-17) BEFORE HIS DEATH MOSES GAVE DIRECTIONS THAT THE ISRAELITES, ON SETTLING IN CANAAN, SHOULD APPOINT JUDGES AND OFFICERS IN ALL THEIR TOWNS WITH INSTRUCTIONS TO REFER MATTERS TOO DIFFICULT FOR THESE MAGISTRATES TO THE PRIESTS. THIS BECAME A TRADITIONAL CUSTOM AND WAS USED BY SAMUEL IN LATER YEARS WHEN HE BECAME TOO OLD TO JUDGE AND HE MADE HIS OWN SONS JUDGES OVER ISRAEL (I SAM. 8:1)

Heritage Society

Serves Lunch

April "Luncheons In The Depot" will be continuing each Thursday during the rest of this month on April 14, 21 and 28.

Office managers are invited to send their secretaries out to lunch on Thursday April 14 during "National Secretary Week."

The entertainment will be a style show of wedding gowns down through the years from 1900 through the present day. A delicious meal will be served.

Tickets for the luncheons, sponsored by Community Heritage Society, are on sale for $10.00 each and can be picked up at Ethridge-Spring Agency on Main Street, according to chairman Zelma Thorn. Only advance tickets are being sold, as there is limited seating available.

Proceeds from the luncheons will go toward the maintenance of the old restored Depot building in the City Park, which is managed by members of the Heritage Society.

10th St. Church Is Sponsoring Gospel Meeting

The 10th Street Church of Christ is sponsoring a gospel meeting, April 10-17.

Special speakers will be present to conduct the services. Pat Mannon will be here April 10-14 and Truman Teal will speak to the local congregation during the April 15-17 services.

Sunday services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. and weekday services begin at 7:30 p.m.

Kim Barnett Feted At Bridal Shower

A miscellaneous bridal shower in the country home of Aundrea Frye on Saturday, March 26, was a courtesy for Kim Barnett, bride-elect of Scott Martz.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a spring bouquet. Crystal and silver serving pieces completed the setting.

Refreshments of coffee, tea, mini cinnamon rolls, chocolate covered strawberries and party teacakes topped with pansies were served.

Co-hostesses were: Phila Mae Weatherly, Crested Butte, Colorado;

Penni Hudson, Fort Worth; and Kathryn Goddard, Margaret Duggins, Charlotte Ratcliff, Nancy Roden, Winifred Hurst, Betty Reeve, Betty Chaney, Cherry Wells, Celia Dee Loflin, Barbara Brown, Connie Neelley and Kitty Gallman, all from Friona.

Out-of-town guests were Sally Coleman and Sherri Dodson, Fort Worth; Connie Gilbreath, Dimmitt, Mary Priest, Salado, Texas and Teresa Nichols, Shallowater.

Center Pivot System Evaluations Available

Since we are in the irrigation season and many new sprinkler systems are being installed, now is a good time to consider having your new or old system checked.

Running a pressure test before purchasing a center pivot system in order to properly design and match the system to the well, would be wise. Sometimes this test will indicate that it isn't feasible to install a center pivot or that bowl work may be required due to low well output under pressure. It is better to find this out before a system is in the field. The Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District has the equipment for running this test.

It is also good to check old center pivot systems from time to time. Nozzles will wear after time, sometimes sand going through the system is the culprit causing nozzles to wear out. The sand staggering expenses of a prolonged catastrophic illness and the possibility of resulting bankruptcy. A recent poll by the U. of Cincinnati shows that 84 percent of the people are happy with the quality of medical treatment they get and 80 percent are satisfied with its availability.

With this in mind, it appears that we have an insurance problem rather than a "health care crisis" as Clinton is fond of calling it. According to the Joint Economic Committee, there may be 5.8 million uninsurable folks out of the 250 million who live in this country. This is a relatively small percentage. It would seem this problem could be faced without destroying the entire health system.

Under the Clinton health plan, employer mandates will close down small businesses and will leave between three to six million people jobless and uninsured. The economy will be burdened with over 151 billion dollars in new taxes and growing deficits, according to Dan Mitchell of the Seniors Coalition.

Senator Phil Gramm says "If Clinton's health care plan is passed in its present form, it will bankrupt the country."

Anytime any major changes are made, like bowl work or replacement, systems should be checked for efficiency.

Producers will want to keep systems as accurate as possible for maximum production. For assistance, contact the SCS office in Friona, or call 247-2220.

Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a non-discriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

Festival In Littlefield Planned

A group of interested people got together and decided to have a festival on West Delano in Littlefield on Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16. Since Delano Avenue is actually Loop 430, this makes it convenient for tourists and travelers to enter the highway from the east and west as well.

Some of the activities will be "Chain Saw Willie," live music, petting zoo, EMS demonstration, etc.

These are some of the places to eat and browse around: Reta Mae's, Curly Top, Rogers Iron Work, The Attic, Quick Fix It and Swap Shop, Calvin's Woodwork, Gary's Auto, and Macha Tire and Garden.

We would like to encourage teachers to bring their students to see "Chain Saw Willie" demonstrating his cutting with his chain saw, and enjoy petting and feeding various animals.

For more information, please call Rita Mae's, 385-6282, or Gary's Auto, 385-5684.

District Measurements Show Decline In County's Underground Water Levels

Parmer County ground water levels declined an average of 2.66 feet in 1993 in 97 privately owned wells in the observation well network maintained by the High Plains Undergroud Water Conservation District No. 1 in its 546,400 acre service area within the county. This represents a decrease of 218,013 acre-feet of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer last year in the portion of Parmer County within the Water District service area.

"Below average precipitation during 1993 across most of the Water District service area caused irrigators to apply heavier and more frequent irrigations than usual to replenish soil moisture for the 1993 growing season. This significantly contributed to the decline in ground water levels," said Don McReynolds, High Plains Water District technical division director.

Ground water levels within the Water District's Parmer County service area decreased 1.39 feet during the ten year period from 1984 to 1994. An average annual increase of 1.98 feet was recorded during the five year period from 1989 to 1994.

Ground water levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the 6.7 million acre Water District service area had an average decline of 1.46 feet from January 1993 to January 1994. This is a net decrease of about 1,467,300 acre feet of ground water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the Water District service area.

A zero average annual change in ground water levels was recorded for the first time in the Water District's history in 1985. Depth-to-water measurements revealed an average ground water level rise of 0.50 of a foot in 1986; an average rise of 0.90 of a foot in 1987; an average decline of 0.51 of a foot in 1988; an average decline of one foot in 1989; an average decline of 1.06 feet in 1990; an average decline of 0.73 of a foot in 1991; and an average rise of 0.14 of a foot in 1992.

A network of 1,174 privately owned observation wells is used to determine the annual change in the quantity of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the High Plains Water District. The depth-to-water measurements are taken in January and February of each year in order to allow water levels to stabilize from the pumping during the previous growing season.

By comparing the current depth-to-water measurements with those taken the previous year, McReynolds says technical division staff members can determine what changes have occurred in the ground water levels.

Of the 15 counties or portions of counties making up the High Plains Water District, only Cochran County recorded an average rise in depth-to-water levels in 1993. The counties with average declines in depth-to-water levels in 1993 were Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Potter and Randall counties.

Maps showing the location and well number of observation wells in each county or portion of a county served by the Water District will be published in the April issue of The Cross Section.

Tables listing observation wells in each county within the District and the depth-to-water levels at one, five and ten year intervals are also printed.

Irrigators Are Reminded: Tailwater Violates Rules

Many High Plains producers are busy applying a last-minute pre-plant irrigation to wet the soil profile for 1994 planting. Unfortunately, some of this precious irrigation water is escaping from fields, and that is against both State Law and High Plains Undergroud Water Conservation District No. 1 rules.

Water District rules define tailwater as "ground water pumped for irrigation that escapes...onto land other than that of the owner of the well unless permission has been granted by the occupant of the land receiving the discharge."

"This permission must be in the form of an agreement signed between the parties on a form acceptable to the Water District. Potential parties to such an agreement are warned that it may obligate the provider to provide a specified supply of water into perpetuity and/or the recipient to accept runoff in whatever quantities at whatever time the provider chooses. Provisions of any agreement entered into must comply with Rule 1(h)(5)."

Rule 1(h)(5) defines water waste as "Wilfully or negligently causing, suffering, or permitting underground water to escape into any river, creek, natural watercourse, depression, lake, reservoir, drain, sewer, street, highway, road or road ditch, or onto land other than the owner of the well."

Allowing this water to escape not only contributes to unnecessary depletion of the ground water stored in the Ogallala Aquifer, but it also erodes topsoil and causes safety hazards.

When a tailwater report is received, Water District personnel investigate the water waste and document it with written memorandums and photographs. In addition, they contact the landowners and/or operators and ask these parties to stop the water waste. Follow-up investigations are conducted to make sure the water waste has been halted.

"We prefer to work with the farmer and address the problem; and in most cases, that works," says Ken Carver, High Plains Water District Assistant Manager. "If the waste doesn't stop, then we have no choice but to seek an injunction from the courts."

Under an injunction, continued tailwater waste is considered Contempt of Court and carries a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and/or a six-month jail sentence per occurrence. If violations continue under the injunction, the District Court may also order the County Sheriff to padlock the water well to prevent further waste. Violators can also be held liable for damages resulting from their water waste, such as accidents on flooded roadways, property damages or crop damage.

"There are many physical methods available to help control or prevent tailwater waste, but the individual operator is the key to whether or not water is wasted. Careful management of irrigation water eliminates tailwater waste," says Carver.

Tailwater control methods include reducing row lengths, terracing, and cutting borders at the end of the field.

Surge irrigation systems, which alternate water flow between two sets of furrows in timed cycles, can be set to automatically cut back irrigation set times at the time the water is expected to reach the end of the field. Use of these valves has proven to be very effective in tailwater management.

Tailwater return pits or modified playas have been used in the past to collect the runoff water. Water collected in the pits can be pumped to irrigate crops for about one-fifth of the cost of pumping ground water to the land surface from irrigation wells.

Use of a center pivot sprinkler system is a particularly good tailwater management practice, because the movement speed of the center pivot can be adjusted to match the water application rate to the soil's infiltration rate. Use of furrow dikes under the pivot to collect the water and hold it in place can increase application rates.

For additional information about tailwater abatement, contact Ken Carver, High Plains Undergroud Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, TX 79405-1499, or call (806) 762-0181.

Town Talk

By June Floyd
Call 247-3681 With Your News Items

Lucy, Mary Crump's drawer opening cat, is gaining publicity. Last week, she was mentioned in Town Talk and this week her feat appeared in the Regional Notebook of the Amarillo Daily News.

This is really quite an accomplishment, so there's no way of telling where she will show up next.

One of my three sisters, Ola Bowers, who lives near Seagraves, Texas and I ate lunch Saturday at the Windmill Restaurant, which is one of the first four businesses you will see on the south side of I-40 soon after you go into Oklahoma from Texas.

The restaurant, R-V park, service station and farm store are owned and operated by two ex-Frionans, Roger and Randy Dorrell. They have been operating them in the same location several years.

The restaurant, which is operated by Randy, is a very attractive place with a seating capacity of probably sixty or more.

After eating some tasty barbecue sandwiches, we spent half an hour or so looking at the early American memorabilia displayed on the walls and setting next to them.

These young men are sons of Trell Taylor and are both graduates of Friona High School. Roger was in the class of 1970 and Randy graduated two years later.

If you know Randy, stop by to see him and if you don't know him, just stop for a good meal and an enjoyable tour of the place.

He and his wife, Ellen, have a daughter, Erica, who is twenty months old. His son, Ronnie, is serving in the United States Marines.

An hour or so earlier we had driven down Roger Miller Boulevard to Sheb Wooley Avenue and turned north to get to I-40. Where else in the world would anyone find a street and avenue with such names?

Sheb Wooley, who is our first cousin, and Roger Miller were both born near Erick and lived there until they were grown.

For a number of years Erick was a thriving little country town, but Saturday it looked more like a ghost town. So many buildings have deteriorated to the point of almost tumbling down and the hospital has been completely removed.

When Highway 66 first came through back in the twenties it entered the city limits on East Broadway and left on west Broadway. Now, that street is Roger Miller Boulevard and what used to be named Main Street, which runs north and south, has bright new looking signs which read, "Sheb Wooley Avenue."

Time changes everything. Doesn't it?

Aaron Osborn, who observed his second birthday on Sunday, was honored by his parents and sister, Mark, Deirdre and Adrienne Osborn, with a party in the family home Saturday evening.

Special guests were four of his six great-grandparents and all three of his grandparents.

They were Sarah Ann Miller, Amarillo; Ilene Osborn, Dub and Dorothy Ingram, Joy Osborn and Johnny and Beulah Miller, all of Friona.

Other family members present were Jo and Robert Osborn and daughter, Katie Jo, and Matt and Ben Osborn, all of Friona.

Incidentally, three of the guests, Sarah Ann, Johnny and Beulah Miller spent a lot of time attending birthday parties that day.

After attending a party in honor of Sarah Ann's sister, Mary McKnight, in Roswell, New Mexico in the afternoon, this trio drove to Friona in time for Aaron's party that evening.

On Sunday, these three were guests in the home of Beulah's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Moore, who live in Clovis.

Two Abilene Christian University students, Holly and Charlie Snead, spent the weekend visiting their parents, Gary and Kay Snead, and brother, Josh.

On Sunday, these five joined Janet Payne of Albuquerque, New Mexico and Shea Woodard of Austin, Texas, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Snead for lunch.

Other guests in the Snead home were Joan and Jenny Ahrhart and Naudia Zinck, all of Friona.

Ann and T. A. Kelley came home late last week after a fun filled fishing vacation. Their first stop was at Proctor Lake, which is near Comanche, Texas. While they were there, Ernesteen Skipworth and her family, former Friona residents, came from Stephenville and spent a few days.

Ernesteen is Ann's aunt. Another aunt, Virgie Ratliff of Hico, Texas, came to the lake to join the other family members.

Enroute home, the Kelleys stopped for brief fishing stays at Hubbard Creek Lake near Breckenridge, Texas and Mackenzie Lake, which is near Silverton.

Friday evening, Travis and Ruby Stone were guests of the Kelleys for a fish fry.

On Sunday, the couple met their youngest daughter, Tammi LaFuente of Lubbock, in Littlefield for lunch.

That evening, another daughter, Randie Hamilton, and her children Chad, Kris and Kory, visited in the Kelley home. Chad and Kris are currently living in Amarillo.

Doug Carthel and Kristin Taylor of Guymon, Oklahoma, were weekend guests in the home of his parents, Bill and Ann Carthel, who live in the Black community.

Roy and Carolyn Trimmell and granddaughter, Raynie Trimmell, took advantage of the long Easter weekend for a trip to visit relatives in Oklahoma and Texas.

Their first stop was in Oklahoma City, where they were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Trimmell and son, Levi. They were special guests at Levi's second birthday party.

Other family members attending were Glen and Alisa Trimmell of Mount Pleasant, Texas.

The Trimmells also visited their other son, Paul, who lives at Kingston, Oklahoma.

After leaving Kingston, they drove across Red River over into Texas and spent some time with Tommy and Evanna Betcher and daughter, Melanie, who live between Denison and Sherman.

Evanna is Carolyn's sister. The trio returned home Monday evening.

Out-of-state visitors in the homes of Anna Jo Blackburn and Oneida and Frankie Allen last week were Minnie Mae Glasscock and her daughter, Ashley Stamper, who live in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Saturday evening, Anna Jo hosted an outdoor supper honoring the visitors.

Others attending were Joyce Coffman, Farwell; Rodney, Teresa and Conner Allen, and Marie Hinds, Hereford; Rodney, Linda and Benton Allen, Amarillo; and Owen and Melody Drake, Friona.

Minnie Mae, Anna Jo and Oneida are sisters.

Anna Jo reported, "Due to the strong wind, we really had a big blow."

The country home of Norman and Gay Taylor, which is in the Rhea community, was the scene of the annual Easter party and egg hunt, which the couple hosts.

Each year the Taylors invite Gay's brother and sisters and their children and grandchildren to spend Easter Sunday with them.

Another tradition which they observe is for Gay to make an Easter dress for each of the small girls. This year there were eight recipients under ten years of age.

Those present were Joan and Niles Culp, Mike and Christy Culp and children, Kirk, Kandace and Kylee; Shannon and Melanie Wilborn and children, Andrew and Stephanie; Kerry and Julie Tooley and children, Derek, Destiny and Dustin, all from Hereford.

Also, Joy Morton and Pat, Patti, Dawn, Jay, Terry and Sarah Widner, all from Friona; Shannon Malone and son, Jordan, Dallas; Harold Morton, Wichita, Kansas and Leroy Widner and Ricky Taylor of the Rhea community.

In addition to a large number of hen eggs, which have been colored by different persons, plastic eggs are hidden by the grown-ups and hunted by the youngsters.

To add to the excitement this year, Leroy Widner purchased three baby goats for his granddaughter, Sarah. The children were delighted with the little kids.

Easter weekend guests in the home of Wayne and Joann Mills were Mike and Sharon Mills and children, Kimberli and Kyle, who live in Amarillo.

Mike is the couple's son.

Kevin and Belinda Zachary and daughter, Chelsea Marie, returned to their home in Tyler, Texas, Thursday after spending a week visiting Kevin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gene Zachary, and other Friona relatives and friends.

The Zacharys also spent some time with Kevin's maternal grandmother, Bea Peterson, who lives in Plainview.

Kevin, who is an employee of Mother Frances Hospital in Tyler, recently passed the test and became a Registered Nurse. He has been employed as a paramedic at Mother Frances during the time he has been attending nursing school.

When he went to Fort Worth to take the state examination, he was very surprised to see some of the members of his 1989 Friona High School graduating class.

Others taking the test at the same time were Julie Brown Voss and Cindy Preston Scaff, both of Shallowater, and Lori Tannahill Hand of College Station.

Common-sense Investing

The life of Sir John Marks Templeton is a story of investing success that began when he pioneered the field of international investing. His Templeton family of mutual funds is among the most respected today. In 1987, he was honored by Queen Elizabeth II for more than fifty years of international investment acumen and charitable philanthropy.

Templeton's success can be credited to common sense. His strategy for investing outside traditional U.S. markets is founded on a simple idea: if there are opportunities in one country, there are even more opportunities in other countries.

Templeton admits that all nations experience good and bad economic cycles. Fortunately, they seldom occur all at the same time. It's common sense to diversify among nations and limit your risk.

To begin investing in foreign markets, Templeton suggests exploring nations whose stock markets are down 50 per cent or more and seem ready for a turnaround.

Foreign stock markets are attractive today because they are competitively priced. U.S. stock markets are selling at an average of about 15 times earnings and world markets at about 17 times earnings.

The demise of communism has also made overseas investing more favorable. Opportunities in areas such as commerce, shipping and travel are growing throughout the world.

What about investing in the U.S. economy? Templeton views the national debt as a problem, because debt spawns inflation, and inflation causes cash to lose its value. Cash has lost purchasing power due to inflation in each of the past 37 years. Therefore, Templeton recommends purchasing equities instead of owning only cash.

Templeton also advises not to count on a continuation of the stock market's performance of the 1980s, when returns averaged approximately 18 per cent. Expect the stock market to perform more closely to its sixty year average, with returns of 9.5 per cent to 10 per cent.

Templeton follows two other common-sense ideas: Don't invest in only one place, and don't buy stocks fully priced. Buy them when they are priced low in relation to book value and potential earnings. The best place to find stocks like this is where investors are selling.

Templeton's philosophy is one of simplicity: Use common sense, and keep your values balanced. Above all, remember that there is no reward without risk.

YOUR EYES

Double Vision

Seeing double may reflect an easy-to-correct vision defect--but it can be the sign of a major health problem. The smartest move is to see your optometrist promptly and find out which it is.

In youngsters, double vision often results from crossed eyes or eyes that are not working as a team. A child's complaint about seeing double calls for immediate care. Otherwise, the child's brain--to avoid the discomfort and confusion of a double image--may simply "turn off" the vision in one eye; we know this as "amblyopia," where one eye is not used to see with. Eyeglasses and/or vision training can correct the problem. Success is easier and more reliable at a young age.

In older adults, double vision may result from crooked or poorly made bifocals or trifocals that the eye doctor can adjust. But because double vision may also be a symptom of something as serious as a tumor or a slight stroke, it's safest to schedule a professional examination at the earliest opportunity.
