Car-motorbike mishap injures Morton youth

An automobile-motorbike accident on country club road, (FM1780) last Wednesday resulted in the hospitalization overnight of a local youth who suffered substantial injuries.

Dale Tiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tiger, was injured when the motorbike he was riding came into collision with a car driven by Ruthie Smith on the highway just west of the county park. Tiger was kept in the hospital overnight and released the following day. He is thought to have received cuts, bruises, abrasions and a broken rib. Miss Smith was reported uninjured.

Reports indicate that both vehicles were proceeding west from the area of the park when the motorbike suddenly swerved in front of the automobile and was struck in its left side by the right front of the car. Damage to the motorbike was extensive, while that sustained by the automobile was reported light. T. A. Rowland, of the Department of Public Safety, investigated the accident.

GOING HOME...

DAVID O. AKANDE, a student from Nigeria who has been studying in the United States for eight years, is at last leaving for his homeland and the children he has not seen in several years. He recently received his master's degree in hospital administration from George Washington University in Washington, D. C., after having previously received his bachelors from Wayland College in Plainview. He was a weekend guest of Dale and Estaline Merritt, where the above photo was taken. His education is partially sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Morton where Mrs. Merritt has been Community Missions Chairman in charge of selecting deserving prospects for mission projects.

Thompson wins judge contest

In a head-to-head confrontation that saw almost as many voters turn out as did for the first primary election, Glen Thompson emerged the winner over Don Lynskey for the post of Cochran county judge in the run-off election Saturday.

The two county commissioners races in Precincts Two and Four could not have been much closer without ending in a tie, as one was determined by a margin of four votes and the other by a scant five.

A total of 1,283 votes were cast in the judges contest which is just 184 ballots shy of what were cast in the first primary on May 2. Thompson eked out his victory with 696 votes to 586 for Lynskey and depended on the more rural vote to take him over the top as he was outdistanced by 358 to 335 in the more populated Precinct One in Morton.

In Precinct Two, E. J. McKissack polled 14 absentee ballots and 115 election day votes to nose out incumbent T. A. Washington by four votes. Washington received 15 absentee votes and 110 on election day. McKissack trailed Washington in the first primary by a score of 103-93.

Jimmy Millar, in the Precinct Four race, went down to defeat by five votes as he polled nine absentee votes and 68 Saturday as compared with incumbent U. F. Wells' four absentee and 78 election day ballots for a total of 82.

The unusually large turn out for the run-off election is indicative of the intense interest on the part of the voters generated by the vigorous but clean campaigns mounted by the candidates. Following the May 2 finish, when Lynskey led Thompson by 32 votes, 565-533, speculation on the outcome of the second contest was rife, but brought forth very few predictions on the outcome.

It appears to have eventually boiled down to a question of which one would get the majority of the 368 votes left behind by J. A. Love, the third man in the first primary. Thompson was clearly the beneficiary here as indicated by the fact that Lynskey out-pollled him in Precinct One by 368-283 in the first primary, they were even at 92 each in Precinct Two and showed only small differences in Three and Four.

In Saturday's vote, Thompson gained 52 in Precinct One, 40 in Precinct Two, 10 in Precinct Three and 27 in Precinct Four as against a loss for Lynskey of 10

Chamber revitalization session proclaimed success by officials

A general meeting of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce Friday night, which was called for the purpose of revitalizing the organization, was well attended and deemed a success by chamber officials.

Highlight of the program, held in the banquet room of the county activities building, was a talk and question and answer period conducted by W. T. Thompson, manager of the chamber of commerce at Hereford. Thompson outlined the various activities, procedures and methods used to make his chamber one of the most successful in the state and one which possesses the highest per capita membership in Texas.

Many new ideas that could go far in improving the operation of the chamber in Morton were gleaned from Thompson's talk and from his answers to direct questions, chamber president Roy McClung said.

Following Thompson's address, the functions and accomplishments of the Morton Industrial Foundation was outlined by its president Van Greene. Greene reported to chamber members, who work very closely with the foundation, what the plans and programs for the future in obtaining new industry for the Morton area will be.

The possibilities of obtaining a federally-financed low-rent housing project for Morton was discussed by Fred Payne, who urged the chamber to seriously consider such a project and to appoint a

Damage suit filed against feed lot

A suit for damages in the amount of $30,000 has been filed in 121st District Court in Morton against Owen Brothers Custom Feeding Company.

The petition, filed May 20 by John Fincannon and Martha J. Fincannon, alleges that the offensive odors and large amount of dust from the feed lot is seriously impairing their right to reasonable, peaceful and comfortable use of their land and home.

The Fincannon home is described in the petition as being located approximately 2,300 feet southwest of the feed lot opera-

Committee appointed to look into federal housing possibility

The possibility of winning a low cost federal housing project for Morton occupied the greater part of the deliberations of the city council in regular session Monday night.

The meeting, presided over by Mayor Pro Tem Robert K. Robinson in the absence of Mayor Donnie Simpson, heard a delegation from the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce outline its thoughts on the subject and heard the group ask for the council's assistance in pursuing all avenues in an effort to obtain such housing.

Appearing before the council on the subject was a delegation from the chamber consisting of Lloyd Hiner, Fred Payne and Roy McClung. The group asked the city fathers to appoint a committee to investigate all aspects of the matter and report back with its findings at a later date, at which time further action may be taken if the report proves favorable.

The council appointed a committee to look into the situation. Members appointed include Daryle Bennett, Bill Wells, L. T. Lemons, Roy Hickman and Roy McClung. The committee will investigate the possibility of obtaining a low rent housing development, with the help of the federal government, and will submit their findings to the senior panel when the investigation is complete.

The housing project envisioned by the committee is one of the type that has been constructed in numerous towns in Texas and throughout the United States. It consists of a large number of housing units of variable sizes designed to fit the needs of the low income groups without regard to race, creed or national origin and is for the use of the under-privileged and deprived citizens of the community.

Nigerian student visits here

By BILL SAYERS

A Nigerian student who enjoys the United States very much but is happy to be headed home, at last, was a visitor in Morton Sunday and Monday.

David O. Akande, 39, who has been eight years in the United States studying under sponsorship of the Baptist Missionary Program, departed Morton Tuesday for Washington D. C. where he will join his wife and son. Saturday they will leave New York by boat for Lagos, Nigeria and home.

While here Akande was the houseguest of the Dake Merritts with whom he became acquainted in 1962 while visiting with the Charles Jones family on Christmas vacation from Wayland College in Plainview. Mrs. Merritt was serving at that time as Community Missions Chairman of the First Baptist Church and was instrumental in obtaining Baptist sponsorship for his study program.

Akande, whose home is in Awe-Oyo, Nigeria, attended Wayland College from 1962-65 where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology. He attended George Washington University from 1965-68 where he received an MA degree with a major in health care administration.

He has completed additional graduate work in the same program at GWU and recently completed his residency in hospital administration at Freedmans Hospital in Washington.

His first assignment after graduation is to Ogbomoso Hospital in Lagos where he will be hospital administrator. He expects to return to the United States in a year or two to continue study for his doctorate degree at George Washington.

Akande has three children in Nigeria whom he has not seen since leaving eight years ago. His wife joined him in Washington two years ago and they now have a son eight months old who was born there. His wife graduated from Temple Business School while in Washington.

The greatest problem in the medical field in Nigeria is the acute shortage of trained medical personnel, he states. Of trained medical personnel, he states. It is Akande's avowed purpose to teach and train hospital personnel in an effort to upgrade the medical facilities and services in his country.

As the British left when Nigeria received her independence on October 1, 1960, most of the trained physicians and other medical personnel departed, leaving a large vacuum to fill in this area, he said, and it will be a long, hard struggle building it up once again.

Nigeria is a country with a population of 56.5 million people in an area comparable to Texas and Oklahoma combined, Akande states, and adds that while there is some crowding in certain areas, there is plenty of food and accommodations for all.

When questioned on the war in Biafra and the accusations of genocide which were leveled at Nigeria following the surrender, Akande is highly emphatic in his denial that any genocide occurred. He takes the view that the picture painted by the news media in the United States was highly distorted.

When asked why no food shipments were allowed after the armistice, he is adamant in stating that there was sufficient food for all, without outside aid. In answer to the question of so much opposition to food drops during the war, his reply was that most "food" drops were actually "arms" drops, which the Nigerian government was determined to halt.

During his interview by the Tribune, Akande wore his native dress, which is called a Buba. It consists of a loose fitting smock and trousers made of very light cloth that appears to be ideal for hot weather. Open sandals are worn with the standard item of clothing.

ASCS Farm News

By John W. Hall

If weather prevented planting of cotton, wheat, or feed grains by producers signed up in these 1970 farm programs, they need not lose program benefits.

If the County ASC Committee determines an acreage of cotton, wheat, or feed grain could not be planted during the normal planting season because of flood, drought, or other natural disaster, the producer still can earn program payments. The same is true for farm program participants whose crops are destroyed by natural forces.

In such cases, producers must file requests for acreage credit certifying they have been prevented from carrying out normal operations.

The ASC Committee Chairman reminded farmers that the provisions apply only to farmers who signed up in the 1970 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs and then were unable to plant or grow the program crops because of natural disaster.

Lynskey's political acumen as demonstrated by his well-organized and executed campaign, indicates the possibilities of a bright future in politics. A race that close by a political novice against a seasoned campaigner could bode ill for his next opponent.

The honorable and clean-cut political tactics employed by both candidates for judge, and by those in the commissioners races, is to their credit and should be long-remembered by their supporters and foes alike.

A three-man committee consisting of Payne as chairman and Lloyd Hiner and Ray Griffith as members, was appointed to investigate the matter and to meet with the Morton city council and request its assistance on the project.

This meeting was open to all persons in the area, whether they were a member of the chamber or not, and this approach bore valuable fruit, according to chamber officials who stated that many good ideas for a more active chamber resulted from the get-together.

Family income would determine tenancy upon good behaviour and it is expected that this type of project would go far in upgrading the conditions under which the under privileged live and aid substantially in their economic wellbeing and cultural development.

In other business, Gerald Hamilton, general manager of General Telephone Company, met with the council to discuss proposed raises in telephone rates to be charged to subscribers in this area. The council heard the proposal and took no action at this time.

Bills for the month of May in the amount of $11,037.48 were approved for payment. It was pointed out by City Secretary Elra Oden that the May bills included the entire cost of seal coating 41 blocks of city streets that has been recently completed. He apologized to the public for any inconvenience the dust raised by the paving may have caused, but expressed confidence that the inconvenience will be vastly overridden by the improvements made in the streets.

Transfer of $16,000 from the utility fund to the general fund to cover operational expenses over the next six weeks concluded the session.

Little League action given stop and go by weatherman

Little League action this week was an on-again-off-again proposition with the weatherman giving the stop and go signals.

The first game Thursday between the Colts and Pirates saw Ricky Lewis mount a pitching display that spelled ruin for the Buccaneers by a score of 8-3. Outstanding play by Tyson, Patton, Reeves and Hall kept the ball rolling and proved too much talent for the stumbling Pirates.

The night-cap, Thursday was typical of the old donneybrooks of long ago. The Cards, with a full head of steam caught the Cubs but couldn't hold on to the tie. The game, well played, ended a little early. Both coaches were on the field several times.

The Cubs, with the clutch pitching of David Ramby, won the game by a score of 7 to 2.

Play got underway Monday night under threatening skies with the Cards and Colts squaring off in the opener. A game that was proceeding slowly, got even slower as wind and threatening clouds moved in to force it to be called in the fourth inning.

The nightcap contest was cancelled due to weather.

The first game Tuesday night saw the home run hitter, "Homer" Van Hoose do it again. The winning pitcher, Mike Williams for the Sox found the plate, it seemed, everytime. Innings were short and well played. The losing pitcher, Joey Bryan, of the Giants couldn't get the control he wanted and the Sox barreled ahead 17 to 1.

The nightcap Tuesday saw the Colt 45's play one of their best games of the season. The losing pitcher for the Cubs, Robert Randolph couldn't find the plate.

The winning pitcher was Reuben Marinias who pitched his team to victory in another high scoring ball game, 22 to 1.

The petition further alleges that for the sake of their own health and that of their family, it will be necessary to move their residence to another location. Due to the diminished value of their home and property, they are asking the court for a judgement for damages in the amount of $30,900.

The law firm of Allison and Davis of Levelland are representing the Fincannons in the case.

THANK YOU!

I want to thank each of you who supported me in the run-off for County Judge last Saturday. I want to be County Judge for all — regardless of how you voted, makes me no difference. I want to work for the best interest of Cochran County.

I want to congratulate my opponent on the fine race he ran, and the way he conducted it. It was on a very high plane and most business-like.

I enjoyed meeting and visiting with many of you in my campaign. Wish I could have seen more. Again, may I thank all of you.

Texas Tech communications studies undergoing revision

Texas Tech University will initiate communications education in August when students pursuing careers in journalism, advertising and telecommunications will enroll for the first time in a new Department of Mass Communications.

The department replaces a former Department of Journalism in the College of Arts and Sciences and will bring together faculty with specializations in journalism, advertising and speech.

In addition to the present faculty at Texas Tech, new faculty will join the department at the start of the fall semester, Aug. 25.

The new department was approved by action of the Board of Regents June 5.

President Grover E. Murray said that the new organization, combining curricula from two of the university's colleges, is expected to serve better the needs of both the print and electronic communications industry.

"It is obvious," he said, "that this industry is in the midst of a massive technological revolution, and at the same time it has a social responsibility of the utmost importance to our society."

"Aware of these factors, the university is challenged to provide the education which will prepare men and women with the broadest possible understanding of their responsibility and the foundation for taking full advantage of the technology which is providing increasingly better communication among peoples."

"It is the intention of the university that this first phase will be the forerunner of successive stages toward building this department into the full stature of a school capable of meeting our challenge with the excellence both students and industry properly expect."

Dr. Billy L. Ross has been appointed chairman of the new department. Ross, who for four years was the publisher of a weekly newspaper, is internationally recognized for his work in advertising education — on the campus, in professional advertising organizations and as a consultant both in the United States and abroad.

"The university is bringing three strong programs together," he explained, "and the result will provide students with a more realistic approach to the increasingly complex problems in communication. Social responsibility is equally important in all forms of communication, and every form has a close interrelationship with the other."

Within the department the major is offered in advertising and in journalism with a specialization — in addition to the news-editorial sequence — in telecommunications. Academic preparation for a major in telecommunications already is underway, Ross said, and this is an immediate goal of the new department.

In addition to these offerings, the master's degree in journalism with a specialization in advertising or telecommunications. The department also has a strong program in journalism education.

Photography courses have been expanded to add emphasis to film production as well as photography for the print medium. Communications research will have a new emphasis at the graduate level, Dr. Ross said, explaining that this is particularly important as the program is developed for students working toward the doctoral degree.

The American Council on Journalism Education gave accreditation to the news-editorial sequence in journalism at Texas Tech University in 1966.

The Department of Journalism was established in 1937, and the building which houses it was completed in 1941.

Facilities used by the Department of Mass Communications will be expanded and will include KTXI-FM and KTXI-TV (VHF) which has an audience potential of 2 million persons. Students of the department will continue to work with the "University Daily" and "La Ventana," the university yearbook.

The advertising major will move with modifications from the Department of Marketing in the College of Business Administration.

It has gained both national and international prominence through its undergraduate and graduate programs. The student chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising honorary fraternity, won the top national honor, the Donald W. Davis Award, two of the past three years for a program which includes an annual World of Advertising Seminar.

As the program develops, Ross said, there will develop with it the added emphasis on communications research and a strong curriculum in the growing area of public relations "which has both great potential and great responsibility."

Ross holds the bachelor of journalism degree from the University of Missouri, the master of arts degree in English from Eastern New Mexico University, and the doctor of philosophy degree in journalism and marketing from Southern Illinois University.

"It is our task to hold the rich heritage of our land in trust for future generations. What we do with it now will determine its productivity for generations to come. We must make it an instrument for progress and prosperity. If we care for and nurture the land, there is plenty. If we neglect the land, there is poverty. This is the essence of stewardship." — President Lyndon B. Johnson

Comments on Conservation

By Wayne Wilcox

"And the Lord said unto Cain, 'Where is Abel, thy brother?' and he said, 'I know not: Am I my brother's keeper?'"

The question, "Am I my brother's keeper?", has been an invisible companion since the beginning of mankind. Some have tried to ignore it; others have dwelt upon it. Some have hoped it would decrease in importance with the increase of man's knowledge. But, the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?", looms larger and becomes more important each day.

However, one may not recognize the question in its original form. Lately, it has been presented in the form of discussion on ecology and environment. Ecology is the relation between organisms and their surroundings. A person living in a city may not consider that he is surrounded by anything but concrete, asphalt, and houses. That is, he may not consider his total surroundings until his spot in the world is covered with the unwanted. The unwanted material may be water from flood water, smut from a factory's furnace, or dust from a sandstorm. The unwanted material is often referred to as pollution.

Just as the city brother may be unaware of his surroundings, the country brother may forget he is surrounded by cities. However, a trip to a city and the smell of automobile exhausts and industry shares this country with others. Back home on the farm or ranch, the true conservationist realizes he must answer the question, "Yes." "I am my brother's keeper." He strives to keep his land protected from the forces of nature that can make productive soil a pollutant. Many of the things that he will do or needs to do cost money. Sometimes he can afford the cost. Other times the cost, if not shared by the city brothers, is such that he cannot do what needs doing and still be able to furnish the needs of his family. Therefore, the city brother needs to agree, too, that he is his brother's keeper. Working together, most ecological and environmental problems can be solved.

As has been said, "No man is an island."

"He who knows what sweets and virtues are in the ground, the waters, the plants, the heavens, and how to come at these enchantments, is the rich and royal man." — Ralph Waldo Emerson.

(Wednesday). She spent several days in the Breckenridge hospital; then transferred by ambulance to a Dallas, Tex., hospital.

A/1 Eddie Bedwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bedwell, is home on leave from the Air Force. He is enroute to his new assignment in the Philippines.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Egger accompanied by Mrs. Charles Taylor drove to Midland Saturday. Mrs. Taylor flew from Midland to Houston for an extended visit with her daughter and family, the J. T. Porters. The Eggers remained for the weekend with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jeffcoat and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hodge, Sandy and Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Tyson, Lanny and Tod, Mr. and Mrs. Kenzie McMasters, Stevie and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lewis and Ricky and host, Tip Windom, went to Amarillo Saturday as guests of Phillip's 66. Sandy Hodge, Lanny Tyson, Donald McMasters and Ricky Lewis were first in "Pitch, Hit and Throw" contest. They met 185 boys from 28 different counties in contest there. After the competition, they saw the Amarillo Giants beat El Paso in a great game Saturday night in Amarillo Stadium. They were guests at Holiday Inn and returned home late Sunday afternoon.

Morton boys attending camp provided by Salvation Army

Week's vacation for four boys from Morton at The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle began June 7, according to Drennan, 1970 camp chairman. The young people will be among 800 from 321 Salvation Army Service cities who will attend the big camp Midlothian during a four-week period this summer," Drennan said. The boys are Bobby Hall, Greg Han- Ernie Gonzales, and Wayne Ed- They traveled to Camp Hoblitzelle via automobile. This will be an excellent growth experience for these boys who have never to a real camp. At Hoblitzelle they enjoy boating, hiking, archery, horse- riding, fishing, swimming, handi- movies and baseball as well as ship services and Bible study," Dren- stated.

Camp Hoblitzelle operates all year round at its 370-acre site, 30 miles from Dallas. Boys enjoy a carefree vacation at no cost. Between now and Labor Day, 3,500 persons will attend 16 different camp sessions.

Campers will be housed in brick and redwood cabins with 12 boys and one trained counselor to each cabin. They will be fed well-balanced meals at the camp's own dining room and will keep regular sleeping hours, from nine-thirty taps to seven-o'clock rising bugle call.

"Generous gifts from more than 100 Texans built Camp Hoblitzelle. The Salva- tion Army operates the camp for health and happiness to benefit children and families who would otherwise have no opportunity to enjoy camp life," Drennan concluded.

Mrs. Armon Lamell Abbe

Lynda Streiff, Lamell Abbe pledge ring vows Saturday

Wedding vows for Miss Lynda Gayle Streiff and Armon Lamell Abbe were read at 7 p.m. Saturday in Park Drive Baptist Church. The Rev. Clayton Pennington officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Streiff of Levelland and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Abbe of Morton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Gibson girl gown of white satepeau and Venice lace. The fitted bodice featured a high band neckline and long bishop sleeves gathered to wide cuffs of lace with button and loop closure. The basque waistline was accented with a mock bolero edged in the lace and velvet underlay. The full belted skirt was encircled in rows of Venice lace, while her chapel length veiling fell from a matching lace caplet and was sprinkled in lace petals. She carried a white bridal bouquet with a white orchid in the center hinted with yellow.

Barbara Streiff, sister of the bride, served as Maid of Honor. Beverly Vereto, Levelland, Nancy Fowler, Bovina and Rhonda Abbe, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of yellow satepeau fashioned from the bride's gown. Their headpieces of yellow satepeau cord were accented with white daisies and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies accented with mint green ribbon.

Mayland Abbe, brother of the groom, served as Best Man. Groomsmen were Billy Smart, Lubbock, Dick Vanlandingham, Morton and Kirk Brock, Levelland. Serving as ushers were Charles Streiff of Denver, Colorado and Dale Blackstone, Enochs, cousin of the groom.

The candelabras were lit by Mike Abbe, brother of the groom, and Randy Winfrey, cousin of the bride.

Traditional wedding music was offered by Donna Winfrey, cousin of the bride, and Ben Streiff, brother of the bride. They sang "Walk Hand in Hand," "I Can't Help Falling in Love" and "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Ruby Streiff, organist.

Parents of the bride and groom joined them in greeting guests during a reception in the Fellowship Hall. Carol Ann Freeland of Morton presided at the guest register. Sylvia Streiff, sister of the bride and Gloria Pinkert of Levelland served at the bride's table. Sharon Morrow also of Levelland served at the groom's table. Mrs. Abbe is a graduate of Levelland High School and South Plains College. She is employed by Drs. Mantooth, Lehman, and Lehman.

Abbe is a graduate of Morton High School and South Plains College. He is a Junior pre-law major at Texas Tech University.

Accent on health

Are you one of the approximately two million people in the United States who have diabetes and don't know it?

The answer to this question can be of utmost importance to you and your family, says the Texas State Department of Health.

There are approximately four million diabetics in the United States, but only about half know they have the disease and are doing something about it. Medical science is helping them in their efforts to continue as near normal lives as possible.

But what about the some two million unknown cases — those persons who have the disease and are unaware of it?

In Texas the State Health Department is promoting a statewide testing program through local health departments in an effort to discover hidden cases. And the testing program is getting results. Migrant health projects also are cooperating.

In May, for example, the State Health Department Laboratories in Austin made 1,667 tests and found that 329 persons needed further study. So far this year — through May — blood samples from almost 9,100 persons have been checked for diabetes by the lab. Other laboratories operated by the state also make diabetes tests. One further statistic shows that during the past nine months of the current fiscal year the diabetes program has resulted in tests for just under 14,000 persons, with almost 2,700 requiring further blood testing based on preliminary tests.

The testing program falls under the Chronic Disease Division, directed by Dr. Howard E. Smith. Objectives of the division, encompassing diabetes, is to "reduce the mortality, morbidity, discomfort and disability from these diseases in our state."

In searching for possible diabetics, the Health Department doesn't use a scatter-gun approach since it has limited personnel to aid in detection.

Experience has shown that certain types of persons are more likely to have diabetes. They may be: 45 years of age or older; close blood relatives of known diabetics, especially those in the older age brackets; obese persons; and the parents of a baby who was large at birth (nine pounds or more).

The Health Department is making diabetics screening a part of its regular services to the people of the state. If a diabetic is found, then close relatives of the victim are screened for the disease.
