new industry for Morton, which was announced Wednesday at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Morton Industrial Foundation.

The foundation, through its president, welcomed Jon Juengling, president of Prairieland Packing Corporation to Morton and announced to the Executive Committee that Congressman George Mahon had notified him that the small business administration loan for construction of the plant had been approved. The loan, under negotiation for several months is in the amount of $12,000,000.

Juengling said that Prairieland Packing Corporation will be built on a 70-acre plot 7 miles southeast of Morton. The plant will have a capacity of 150,000 head of cattle with eventual capacity of 150,000 head of cattle and 3000 hogs per year. Plans and specifications for the plant have been drawn and as they are approved, construction will begin. The target date for completion is set for December 1, 1970.

The layout of the slaughter area has been designed for the most efficient handling of live or rail type cattle. A program will be initiated to solicit cattle on a regularly scheduled basis.

The slaughtering and processing facility will draw heavily on the local Owens Custom Feeding Company for beef needs but will, in addition, draw from other feed lots within a radius of 75 miles of Morton, Juengling said. Juengling, general manager as well as president of Prairieland Packing Corporation, has been an Amarillo resident for three years coming to this area from Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was associated with his father and two brothers in their generation meat business. Along with his father and two brothers in Cincinnati, Ohio, he will be his brother, Gus Juengling III, who is now president of the Cincinnati firm, Oren Owen Lubbok and others.

Also connected with the new plant will be John Hilberg of Ohio. He will handle the marketing of the products through a company that bears his name. The plant manager will be Mr. Joe Rice of Covington, Kentucky.

Also announced today was a companion plant to be located near the slaughter plant. This will be a rendering plant with cookers and facilities to process the heads and bones of 300 cattle per 8-hour shift. It will contain approximately 2,500 square feet of floor space.

Directors of the corporations are Gus Juengling, Jon Juengling, Wayne Owen of Lubbock, John Hilberg of Cincinnati, and John Pearson, vice president of the First National Bank of Cincinnati.

The rendering plant will be similar to the one at the packing plant with Tom Rice of Guyton, Oklahoma as the plant manager. Mr. Rice is also originally from Covington, Kentucky as is his brother, Joe, who will be manager of the packing plant.

"We plan to offer the cattle feeder a complete professional service organization in the near future," said Oren Owen. This service will offer purchasing, financing, feeding, slaughter and marketing of his beef through proven channels.

The stockholders presently finish some 10,000 cattle annually.

Negotiations on the part of the Industrial Foundation for location of the plant here were begun in early November 1969 and have progressed slowly but surely since that time. Earlier approval of the Small Business Administration loan is thought to have been delayed due to the extreme workload experienced by that

Car mishaps injure two here, cause heavy property damage

Three major automobile accidents occurred Saturday through Monday in the Morton area that resulted in serious injuries to two and heavy property damage.

Police reports indicate Mr. and Mrs. Richard Greer and daughter, D'Ann were in a two car collision Saturday at approximately 11:30 p.m. three miles south of Morton on State Highway 214. The Greer family was returning from a Housewarming when they struck a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Joe Herrera.

Herrera's automobile had stalled across the highway as he attempted to make a turn. Both cars were demolished.

Mrs. Greer was taken to Cochran Memorial Hospital where she is hospitalized with deep lacerations and a knee injury, the report stated.

John Stockdale, Morton High School Band Director, was returning to Morton from Lubbock Monday, July 13, at approximately 10:45 a.m. when the mishap occurred. He was traveling on State Highway 116 approximately 5 miles Southeast of Morton when his car overturned.

Stockdale lost control of the 1964 Oldsmobile when the right rear tire went flat

Subsidy limit would effect many

There would be approximately 77, or ten percent, of the farmers in Cochran county affected if the $20,000 farm subsidy limit passed by the Senate last week were to be approved by the House. ASCS executive director John Hall has informed the Tribune.

Of the 386 farms participating in the farm program in the county, there is an estimated 20 percent that draw at or over the limitation set by the upper house.

In a surprise move last Wednesday the Senate voted 40 to 35 in favor of a $20,000 limit on payments to individual farmers under federal cotton, wheat and feed grains programs for 1971.

The vote came on an amendment to the annual agriculture appropriations bill and was a reversal of action last year when the Senate voted down an identical amendment by 53 to 34. Surprised were Washington friends of agriculture in both House and Senate, farm organization leaders and even the man who offered the amendment.

Farmers hope that the $20,000 per farmer limitation can be knocked out in the House-Senate Conference Committee, but many say there is great danger that this cannot be done if the appropriations bill is allowed to go to Conference Committee before the House Agriculture Committee reports out a farm bill.

The move to curb payments was aimed at corporate farms that collect millions for taking land out of production. To stop this minority, the other 99 per cent of farmers would have to be hurt, Hall said.

Most farmers don't appear too worried about the measure being passed by the House, with opposition like Representative George Mahon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin, both working against the limitation.

Hall said farmers didn't seem too upset about the bill since a similar proposal was made last year, and most producers don't think the House will agree on the limit.

Most farmers seem to be expecting some kind of limit to be put on the payments when a program is finally passed.

Betty Fore crowned Miss Girlstown, USA

Betty Fore, of Haskell, assumed the seat of "Miss Girlstown USA" for the coming year at ceremonies held at the home Sunday.

Miss Fore, a petite brunette, and senior-to-be at Whiteface High School, was crowned by Miss Donna Stone, who wore the crown for the year 1969. She was selected from a field of five contestants who included, besides herself, Sundai Ford, Beaumont; Margie Ford, Abilene; Leeann Barwin, Albuquerque, N.M. and Debarh Kildow, Monahans.

The queen contest was the climax of the twenty first anniversary program of Girlstown, U.S.A. which began with conducted tours of the facilities beginning at 2 p.m. and ended with a giant barbecue prepared by the Littlefield volunteer fire department at 4.30 p.m.

Over one thousand persons were estimated to have attended the celebration which has become a highly popular annual event.

County Line Baptists to mark anniversary

The County Line Baptist Church will hold their 25th annual reunion Sunday, July 19.

Brother Ike Harris will preach at the morning service and all former pastors will join in the afternoon program. Dinner will be served on the ground at 12 noon. There will be no evening service.

First service formed as a Sunday School in 1934, the church was organized in April 1945 with 20 charter members. The first building was completed in July 1945 and the anniversary dates from that time. Red Coleman was the first pastor and Ike Harris was the first full time pastor.

Within ten years after its formation educational space and a parsonage was completed.

Brother Lee Ray Best is the present pastor and the church has an average attendance of 45.

Approximately 75 to 100 are expected for the celebration.

Terminal loan rate structure on grain undergoing revision

No longer is there a terminal loan rate system for "terminal price oriented grains." The old system has been replaced by a more efficient, more economical county loan rate structure, John J. Seibert, Extension grain marketing specialist, said.

The new system eliminates terminal loan rates and establishes county rates that consider terminal market price relationships, cash prices received by farmers, export marketing patterns and other factors which involve grain marketing.

The system will be in effect for the 1970 crop of grain sorghum, wheat, barley, rye, and flaxseed.

Such a system will have the concept of "county plus" with respect to determining loan and settlement values for grain. This is in contrast to the "terminal minus" previously used, the specialist said. County loan rates are available through the county ASCS and county agents.

A USDA release on grain sorghum stated that in past years, county price-support rates for grain sorghum were established by subtracting from the applicable terminal rate the domestic interstate rail freight rate or export freight rate and truck receiving and loading out charges listed under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (USGA). Changing conditions in marketing, transportation and international trade have made the terminal-based rate obsolete.

Under the new system, grain sorghum moved by rail to ware-to the freight paid in plus USGA truck-receiving and rail loading-out charges which will be added to the rate for the county of origin. When it is shipped by truck or barge, the loan will be based on the county rate where stored; and, when shipped by truck or barge to a designated terminal warehouse, the rate will be that of the county in which the warehouse is located plus seven cents per hundred-weight.

The revision in the seven cent minimum price markup will bring the minimum resale price for grain sorghum and corn more nearly in line with the anticipated future relationship between the national average loan rates for these two crops.

★ 4-H rally

There will be a Cochran County 4-H Rally Day, Thursday, July 23 for all 4-H Club members and leaders.

This will be an all-day outing to be held at the County Park in Morton. The days activities will begin at 9:00 a.m.

This camp has been planned for all of the 4-H boys and girls in the county to get together and really enjoy themselves. It will be necessary for those attending to bring a sack lunch, swim suit if they want to swim and $1.25 to cover the cost of swimming, skating, and the evening meal.

All 4-H club members are urged to attend.

TOP LEVEL NEGOTIATIONS . . .

Morton area in the near future. Final agreement on locating the plants here was announced at a noon meeting Wednesday of the Industrial Foundation executive committee. Construction is expected to begin within two weeks with a completion target date of December 1.

Texas Tech announces new social, rehabilitation course

Plans have been announced for launching a vocationally-oriented program at Texas Tech this fall aimed at preparing personnel, including Mexican Americans and Black Americans, for new careers in social and rehabilitation services within their own ethnic groups.

Dr. James T. Yates, director of Tech's Speech and Hearing Clinic is in charge of the innovative program designed to train workers for positions as aides in the areas of speech pathology, audiology and deaf education.

Immediate implementation was made possible by a $53,032 Health, Education and Welfare grant in support of the initial 12 months of the projected five-year program.

Approximately 150 aides are to be trained during the first year, beginning with recruitment in mid-August.

"Applicants should have at least some high school training," Dr. Yates said, "in addition to ties in the community with which they will work and a background which indicates the possibility of success as an aide."

Several levels of training will be available, ranging from an intensive six-week course for Aide I trainees to a year's training for those enrolled in the Aide II classification and a two-year program for students in the Aide III category.

Aide I trainees, who will receive stipends of $25 per week, will become employable immediately upon completion of the six-week course, enabling them to earn while they learn as they move forward into Phase II and Phase III of the program.

Classroom instruction will be at Tech, with clinical practice obtained either on campus at the university's Speech and Hearing Clinic or at one of the several cooperating centers for the handicapped in Lubbock and the South Plains area.

Cooperating groups include public schools which operate programs in speech and hearing therapy as well as state and federal rehabilitation centers serving persons of all ages.

Many of the students will obtain their practical experience as interns in centers which will have future need of their services as para-professional employees, Dr. Yates predicted.

The program curriculum also will stress language development, the director said, particularly as it applies to the acquisition of English as a second language.

"One of the principal objectives of the program," he said, "is to improve skills in communication among minority groups, particularly those unique to the Southwest which has a large minority population of Spanish surnamed residents, many of whom speak only Spanish. The need for trained bilingual personnel was forcefully demonstrated, for example, during the immediate post-tornado period in Lubbock when language barriers greatly hampered rescue work among Mexican Americans."

The Black population faces a similar challenge, he pointed out, in that "Black language is a definite entity into itself for many southern Blacks. This program, as applied to the Black American, is aimed at an enhancement and enrichment of the linguistic background by producing persons trained in the English language."

Ultimately, a fourth, or professional, level of training will be available to trainees who are qualified and wish to pursue a degree program in speech and hearing therapy at Tech. Tailored especially to their needs, the degree program will enable trainees to deal professionally with language problems encountered by the Black and Spanish surnamed segments of the population.

Originally from Dallas, Dr. Yates earned B.A. degrees in psychology and audiology and an MA in audiology at Tech and received his Ph.D. from the University of Denver.

He joined the Tech faculty in January, coming here from Denver where he served 3½ years as chief of audiology at a private clinic, 1½ years as audiologist for the National Jewish Hospital and two years as a consultant in acoustic research.

Additional information about the new training program may be obtained by calling 742-2156 or by writing to Dr. Yates, Speech and Hearing Clinic, Texas Tech, Lubbock 79409.

agency following the Lubbock tornado. The SBA regulations require that 10 percent of the loan be raised through local participating funds and that this money be the first expended in construction of the plant.

Of the $27,000 which represents 10 percent of the loan, firm commitments have been made on $8,000, tentative commitment has been received on $10,000 and no commitment has been made on the remaining $8,000 Greene said.

Greene and the executive committee consisting of Fred Payne, James Walker, Roy Hickman, Mike Doss and Leonard Coleman, are presently striving to raise the needed funds through local subscription. "These funds are not a donation on the part of the participant, but an out-and-out loan carrying eight and one half percent interest with payments scheduled quarterly. It is estimated that the investor will get his money back in approximately eight years on the 15 year term loan," Greene stressed.

"Anyone interested in learning more concerning this investment is invited to contact a member of the executive committee for more information," he added.

Location of these two facilities in the county is expected to have a highly beneficial effect on the local economy. Employment in the processing plant is expected to reach 18 persons and the rendering plant is expected to employ an additional 3-5. Employees are expected to be evenly divided between male and female and all but top management personnel will be drawn from local sources, Juengling said.

President proclaims 'Farm Safety Week' July 19-25

"The efficiency of American agriculture and the quality of life for agricultural workers is threatened today by the continued high rate of farm accidents. Both the human and the financial costs of these accidents are intolerable," noted President Nixon in his proclamation designating the week of July 19-25 as Farm Safety Week in the United States.

He added that a quarter century of experience in organizing for rural safety has shown that most farm accidents could be prevented through the use of sensible practices and protective devices. Safety information and mechanical safeguards are readily available and their consistent use should be actively encouraged, he said.

"I urge all farm families, and every person and group allied with agriculture, to make every effort permanently to reduce the number of accidents which occur at work, in homes, at recreation, and on the roadways," emphasized the President.

Texas Governor Preston Smith in his proclamation calls on Texans to reverse the farm accident trend. He urges all farm and ranch families to become more safety conscious — to take advantage of modern technology designed to remove many of the hazards in agricultural enterprises and to make use of the Slow Moving Vehicle emblem on their equipment when moving it on the state's rural highways.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council notes that the theme for this year's national week is — "Protection! Make it Work for Safety." What can individuals do to observe the event? Do as the theme suggests and use all protection available to make life safer. Encourage your neighbors to do likewise, advises the Council. For your own life depends upon how carefully you carry out your work, warns the Council.

Leavitt attending teacher math course

Mrs. J. N. Leavitt, Morton High School math teacher, is attending a three week workshop for teachers of algebra at West Texas State University.

WTSU has organized a branch of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and has been designated by the State Board of Education to receive a federal grant for studying new methods for teaching minority groups of children.

Mrs. Leavitt chose not to accept a grant offered by the Director of the National Science Foundation Program at the University of Illinois in order to attend the one being held at WTSU. "I feel this program is well informed in mathematics education. The high school programs in the area are quite good, often offering Algebra in grade 8 and I hope to receive some real practical ideas for excelling in mathematics education and for coordinating mathematic programs with other programs of the school," Mrs. Leavitt explained in her decision to attend the workshop at WTSU.

Cochran county spending level still high despite inflation

How are Cochran County families apportioning the larger incomes they are receiving? How much are they spending in local retail stores?

According to a new consumer market study covering the past year, local outlays for goods and services continued at a high level, despite inflation and despite a general feeling of uncertainty with respect to the national economy.

The facts and figures, listing the amounts spent locally for automobiles, food, clothing, furniture and other commodities, come from the Standard Rate and Data Service. Its survey, just released, gives comparable data for each section of the country.

In Cochran County, it shows, a large part of the consumer dollar went to stores selling food and automotive equipment. Between them, they accounted for 42 percent of all retail business done in the local area.

By comparison, only 40 percent was spent in other parts of the United States and 41 percent in the West South Central States.

Food purchases alone, in supermarkets, bakeries, butcher shops, delicatessens and the like, amounted to $1,322,000.

These expenditures covered only food that was bought for home consumption. Not included is money spent in restaurants, lunch rooms and other dining and drinking places. Just how much the take-home food cost, on a per-family basis, was determined by dividing the total amount spent by the number of families. It averaged out to $739 per family.

As for retail outlets for cars, motorcycles, boats and other automotive equipment, their total for the year came to $1,816,000.

The survey shows that other retail lines also turned in good figures for the period.

These selling general merchandise, in variety and department stores, chalked up a total of $65,000.

Shops selling shoes, hats, gloves and other articles of apparel had receipts of $225,000.

The volume in stores handling furniture and other home furnishings was $213,000.

Comments on Conservation

by WAYNE WILCOX

"Now, Therefore, I RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week of July 19, 1970 as National Farm Safety Week. I urge all farm families, and every person and group allied with agriculture, to make every effort permanently to reduce the number of accidents which occur at work, in homes, at recreation, and on roadways."

It is good that farm families still get national recognition. It shows that people in high places of government still realize where their bread comes from as well as who furnishes the butter. It is a two way road; the farm family needs the elected official and the elected official has to have the farm family if he expects to eat regularly.

Mr. W. E. Black of Texas A&M University states that the consumer's best friend is the farmer. Black states, "Consumers pay less for food because their farmer friends are producing 20 percent more on 6 percent fewer acres than they did in the period from 1957-59." Plant breeders and fertilizer and equipment companies have played a big role in bringing about this efficiency. But, conservation measures have played a big role too. Crop rotations for improved tilth and fertility, terraces to hold the rainfall, stubble on top to hold the sand and improvement in irrigation systems, pastures and rangeland are some of the conservation practices that have helped.

CONTRARY to the belief of many, the farmer is not getting a real big slice of what you pay for a beef steak. Mr. Black says, "Farmers received an average of 41 cents out of each $1.00 spent for U.S. farm produced food in 1969."

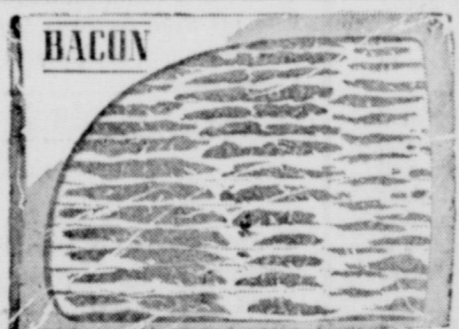

SO YOU SEE . . . the farmer and his family are real important to all of us. Let's help them have an accident free week — July 19-26.

Orientations for freshmen at Texas Tech announced

An estimated 3,000 high school graduates planning to enroll in Texas Tech University this fall have indicated they will attend one of six new student academic advisement, orientation and early registration conferences this summer.

The first of the conferences will be held July 23-24 and more than 620 have made reservations for it.

The five additional conferences are scheduled for July 27-28, July 30-31, August 3-4, August 6-7, and August 10-11. D. N. Peterson, registrar, said preliminary figures show an increase over last summer's.

"The purpose of this early registration program is to assist students in making the transition to college," he said.

Attendance at one of the academic advisement conferences is optional, he said, but students are urged to take advantage of the conferences since more time can be given to individual needs.

Parents are urged to attend, according to Dr. William H. Duvall, assistant dean of student life and coordinator for the early registration conferences.

Entering students who do not attend an early conference will enroll during the regular registration period after an orientation session Aug. 26.

Only students who have submitted all admission documents are invited to attend the early registration conferences, Peterson said. These documents include the application, health data blank, high school transcript, and the College Board S.A.T. scores.

Students invited as a result of acceptance are responsible for seeing that the conditions of admission are met prior to the beginning of the fall semester.

Tuition and fees will be billed by mail after completion of the early conferences.

Housing and food service facilities will be available for participants and their parents in the summer orientation program. All facilities used are in the air-conditioned residence halls at Texas Tech's Wiggins Complex.

Peterson said the facilities are made available for convenience of students and parents, but they are not required to live in them while attending the conference.

Reservations must be made two weeks prior to the orientation. While students are here, they may purchase books at the Texas Tech Bookstore.

The schedule of activities calls for, on the first day, from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., checking into residence halls and picking up materials in the lobby of Murdough-Stangel halls; 10 a.m., academic advisement with major advisors and taking of identification photo at the Bookstore; and 7 p.m., meeting of students and parents for orientation in the auditorium of the Business Administration Building.

On the second day, students will resume academic advisement and registration procedures at 8 a.m. Students and parents will check out of residence halls at 4 p.m. on the second day of the conference.

Morton octogenarian enjoys visit with versatile family

"I am truly blessed with a fine family," declared the smiling 81-year-old mother of seven (three living); grandmother of 10; and great-grandmother of 16, one of whom is an adopted Eskimo. She has been a Texas resident since 1900 and is widely and fondly known in Morton civic, community, club and Methodist circles as Mother Greer.

"Ouh family came to Texas from Tennessee on the train when I was eleven," said the bright-eyed, silver-haired widow of O. F. Greer. She "loves west Texas sunsets"; still sews her own dresses including a hot pink number; plays a wicked hand of bridge; gives book reviews; enjoys a snappy josh; maintains an old-fashioned garden complete with hollyhocks and even a Jemson weed plant for its lovely blossoms and fragrance and teaches Sunday School.

Members of Mrs. Greer's versatile family gathered from far scattered parts of America for a recent visit with her and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hargrove, Morton business people.

The Hargrove's son, George, his wife and two children George, 7, and Ann, 5, of San Antonio and formerly of Morton, were among those visiting. Hargrove is a Bureau of National Affairs district representative and his wife teaches school and music.

Mrs. Creighton Hogan, the Hargrove's daughter came from Santa Susana, California. She and her husband teach school and have three sons.

A son, Galen Greer and his wife, from Bakersfield, California also joined the family get-together. Greer has a chain of grocery stores.

Another daughter and son-in-law of Mrs. Greer's, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Casey, arrived from Greenville, N.M. Casey works there as an administrator on the Voice of America (VOA) foreign service staff and Mrs. Casey is a free lance writer. Previous overseas VOA assignments have posted them in the Philippines, Germany, Vietnam, Morocco, Liberia and Hongkong.

From Alaska came the Casey's daughter and her husband, the Reverend and Mrs. David Keller, and their three children, Luke, 3, Daniel, 17 months old, and sparkling-eyed Paneen, an adopted Eskimo daughter. Keller is serving his eighth year in the Alaskan Episcopal Missionary District which has included assignments to Shageluk, Cordova and the present one in Tanana.

The family now lives in a large log cabin and a dog-sled furnishes part of their transportation. Reverend Keller's work includes directing Christian Education for 22 villages. Tanana is located at the confluence of the Yukon and Tanana rivers 140 miles west of Fairbanks where the temperature once went to a record breaking 78 degrees below zero. Last winter it only reached forty below.

"At school," said Paneen, a rising fourth grader "we were allowed to play outside if the weather bureau reported that the temperature was not lower than twenty degrees below zero." The Kellers are now on a three month leave trip to points in Hawaii, California, Texas, North Carolina, Washington, D.C., New Jersey and New York before returning to Alaska.

Mrs. Keller, a speech therapist and special teacher of the deaf, has done substitute teaching during the past year and is working on a special Alaska Methodist University project to be used in teaching deaf children in outlying villages. "We enjoy the warm weather," confessed Mrs. Keller, "but are grateful for air conditioning."

"It is wonderful to have this many of my family of forty-four together," said Mother Greer, "I only wish all of the others could have been with us too."

MAKING DIFFICULT DIAGNOSIS . . .

DR. ROBERT BERRY, extension plant pathologist of Texas A&M University, peers into the microscope as he attempts to make a diagnosis on a plant brought in by Elmer Gardner, left, of Morton, during a sick plant clinic conducted in the office of county agent Roy McClung last Friday. A large number of plant and tree samples were submitted for diag-
