Ground broken for new plant

A long-striven-for and significant step in the progress of Morton and Cochran county was taken Friday when ground breaking ceremonies for the Prairieland meat packing plant were held six miles southeast of town.

The ceremony marked the final windup stage to an effort by the Morton Industrial Foundation to secure the facilities for this area that has been waged for a period of over one year.

A large number of officials and dignitaries from the many agencies involved in the plant locating here were on hand for the rites. Taking part in the spade turning were officials of the Small Business Administration, Morton Industrial Foundation, First State Bank of Morton, Plains Steel Builders, Inc., Prairieland Packing Company, Hielberg Foods of Cincinnati, Ohio, Juengling Packing Company of Cincinnati and others.

The plant, whose construction will cost in excess of $300,000, is designed to process 1,500 head of cattle per week and will draw from the many cattle feed lots located within a 150 mile radius of the plant but will receive a large portion of them from the adjacent Owen Brothers Feed Lot that located here last year.

The building is expected to be completed and the plant in full operation by February 1971. Initially there are expected to be approximately 15 persons employed in the packing operation, with a ratio of one half men and one half women. Possible expansion in the future has been built into the plans of the plant.

Van Greene, of Morton and president of the Morton Industrial Foundation, acted as master of ceremonies for the ground breaking and introduced officials involved and various distinguished guests.

SHOVELING INTO THE FUTURE . . .

WHEN TWO PRINCIPALS in the establishment of the new Prairieland Packing Company plant turned the first earth in a groundbreaking ceremony at the building site six miles southeast of Morton Friday, it marked a long step into the future for the Morton and Cochran county economy. Breaking the first ground are Bud Hielberg, president of Hielberg Foods of Cincinnati, Ohio, left, and Jon Juengling, presi-

Three sentenced in district court here

Two area men received three year prison sentences and a third the revocation of a probationary sentence Monday in the 121st District Court with judge M. C. Ledbetter presiding.

John Henry Reed, 49, of Brownfield, received three years on conviction of passing a forged check to Herb Hillman of Herb's Gulf station late this summer. Reed was found guilty of the charge at a jury trial here on September 22 and sentencing was deferred until October 5.

Lonnice Stroud was sentenced to three years on three counts of forgery and passing. He had entered a plea of guilty in district court also on September 22 and sentencing was deferred until Monday. He previously had been sentenced to three years in district court in Littlefield on similar charges.

Serapio Olivias, of Morton, received revocation of a four year probationary sentence on a previous conviction of a worthless check charge. He was found guilty in district court here on September 22 on charges of auto theft and sentencing was deferred until October 5. He was scarred by the theft of a vehicle from the Gwatney-Wells used car lot on July 23.

Indians take on highly-rated Floydada Whirlwinds Friday

The city of Morton has been fortunate in its history in that it has been spared by the ravages of the South Plains frequent tornadoes. But the Morton Indians have no way of avoiding the powerful blow of the Floydada Whirlwinds as they travel to that Floyd County city to do battle Friday night.

Game time in the conference 3-AA clash is set for 7:30 p.m.

Big, powerful, and tough describe the number two state-ranked Whirlwinds. District champions from last year, the Winds retained nearly all their defensive starters, half of the offensive men, and are fielding a team this year that has more seniors on the squad than do the Indians on the entire varsity lineup.

The mighty Whirlwinds are averaging 44 points a game through the first four outings, and have given up only one touchdown per contest.

Paced by Andy Selman's seven touchdowns, Floydada rolled over three non-district opponents before running into a little trouble with pesky Dimmitt in the conference opener last week. The Whirlwinds had to come from behind twice to put down a determined Dimmitt offense by a 35-16 count; in other games, Floydada crushed Ralls, Tulia, and Post.

Senior all-district quarterback Selman is the sparkplug of the Whirlwind outfit as he directs a powerful running and passing game. Split end Steve Puckett adds pass receiving talent in the line.

But the Morton Indians are not easily scared by a high rating. Last year the Tribe dealt upsetting defeats to two favored class A teams, Farwell and Sudan.

Absentee voting dates announced

Wednesday, Oct. 14, to Friday, Oct. 30, inclusive, is the period for absentee voting by personal appearance in the Nov. 3 general election.

Any qualified voter in Texas who expects to be absent from the county of his residence on Nov. 3 may cast an absentee ballot. To do so, he should take his voter's registration certificate to the county clerk's office during its hours of operation in the Oct. 14-Oct. 30 period.

In addition to state, district and local races, the Nov. 3 ballot will include seven proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. By subject, the proposed amendments relate to: (1) censure and removal of judges; (2) authority for mixed beverage law; (3) assessment of farm, ranch and forest lands; (4) reconstitute State Building Commission; (5) county road bonds and assessed valuation; (6) increase value of homestead exemption from forced sale; and (7) authority to consolidate functions of government.

Texas has a record 4,150,645 registered voters this year. Normally, absentee voting accounts for approximately five per cent of the total vote turnout.

Slaughter line shack to live on

BY DAVID MURRAY

About five miles north of Whiteface an isolated little hut is sheltered by several towering Chinese elms. Also protected by cultivated rows of hybrid maize, the little building stands as a mute reminder of the days when cowboys and cattle were the only visitors to its door.

The little shack marks the location of what was once a half-dugout that for nearly twenty years served as a line camp for Colonel C. C. Slaughter's sprawling Lazy S Ranch that covered huge portions of Hockley and Cochran Counties. And, for several years before the days that Slaughter moved onto the western South Plains, the site was probably used by the earliest of Hockley County cattlemen.

The little two-story dugout that marks the spot today will soon be moved to the Texas Tech University museum at Lubbock to become a part of the West Texas Museum's Ranch Headquarters Complex. Saturday the Ranch Headquarters Association will meet in Lubbock for a day-long meeting that will inform the members on the progress of the building acquisitions. Several historic buildings, including another Slaughter building from the old Long S Ranch near Lamesa, will be moved to the Headquarters site in Lubbock.

The little structure in western Hockley County is a dugout with an upper room. With five-foot walls and a high sloping roof, the little shack has withstood the ravages of the blustery South Plains winds since it was restructured during the 1930's.

First use of the dugout location probably dates back into the 1890's when Fount G. Oxsheer, one of the first cowmen to brave the sandy arid regions in this area. About 1888, Oxsheer moved cattle into Hockley County from his Martin County Ranch and established his Diamond brand on the new range. Over a ten-year period, Oxsheer increased his owned and leased holdings to 140,000 acres that covered most of northwestern Hockley County, his ranch bordered entirely on the north by the Yellow Houses division of the vast XIT. Oxsheer located several windmill sites, including the "line" well where the dugout now stands.

In 1897, Colonel Slaughter, acting on the advice of Oxsheer, purchased nearly two thousand head of Charles Goodnight's See SHACK, Page 7a

COCHRAN COUNTY BALE . . .

THE HAPPY QUARTET ABOVE are celebrating the ginning of the first bale of Cochran county cotton for the 1970 season at the Morton Gin Company facilities here Monday. The seed cotton, was hand-pulled from approximately three acres on a C. C. Slaughter farm two miles south and one mile west of town. The bale is farmed by J. G. Wilson who raised the cotton. The bale weighed in at 1,000 lbs. and the seed at 860 lbs. Wilson received free processing, 35 cents per pound and $50 for the seed from Morton Gin Company for his first bale. This is the third successive year that Wilson has brought in the first bale to the company from the same land. The seed for this year's first bale is of the Gregg variety and was planted May 15. Left to right are J. G. Wilson, his son Don, and his farmers; Don Whittenberg, Morton Gin Company owner and Raymond Aranga, ginners.

Activities many at two-day HHS homecoming celebration

Homecoming, 1970, has come and gone at Morton High School, but not without leaving fond memories in the minds of many students, teachers, and exes who participated in the two event-filled days of last week.

Three new queens were crowned in gala coronation ceremonies Thursday night as the Student Council-sponsored event attracted a large crowd. Named football queen was Sue Winder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Winder. Selected as Band Sweetheart was Betty Silhan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Silhan. The new Homecoming Sweetheart was also crowned, Linda Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Qually Garrett.

The city-wide pep rally that followed the coronation featured a stirring pep assembly by Morton ex Jerry Steed. Now playing football at Eastern New Mexico University, Steed challenged Morton players and fans to "really want to win."

Nearly eleven hundred students, teachers, and exes jammed into the high school gymnasium Friday afternoon to participate in one of the best pep rallies

Pam Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kirby of Bula, won 2nd place in Sports; Tammy Redman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Redman, brought home a third place in Sugar Plum and Tammy Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Davis of Three Way, won third place in School Division.

Don Lynskey and Mrs. Sherrill Lynskey accompanied the young ladies and girls at the Ralls contest. Betty Silhan, "Miss Cotton of Cochran County" was one of several county title winners who modeled cotton fashions at the contest. She is competing this week in the "Miss Cotton of Texas" contest in Dallas.

A mail referendum on the 1970 wheat crop marketing quotas this week by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to the Cochran county ASCS office.

Individual allotment notices will be mailed to approximately 1.6 million persons throughout the United States holding an interest in established wheat allotments.

Signed ballots must be mailed or delivered to the county ASCS office by October 15. Preliminary results of the referendum will be announced by the USDA on or shortly after October 20.

OUT OF THE PAST . . .

ARTIST JOHN MEIGS captures a historic spirit in his sketch of the half-dugout house located east of Morton in part of the Ranch Headquarters Complex at Texas Tech. The building marks the location of the Whiteface Camp of C. C. Slaughter's Lazy S Ranch. For nearly twenty years, the site served as a line camp quarters, one of five such locations on the vast ranch that covered huge portions of Cochran and Hockley Counties. [Sketch courtesy of Ranch Headquarters Complex — Jerry Rogers, Director].

Highway commission cancels December road construction

The Texas Highway Commission this week announced cancellation of the regular December lettings of highway contracts throughout the State. The Commission blamed the contracting moratorium on the recent holdback of part of the Texas apportionment from the Federal Highway Trust Fund. The action came at a time when highway construction has been at an all-time high in the State due to favorable weather. For the last two months, pay-out for construction completed by Texas contractors has set new records in dollar volume. Contractors were paid $42.6 million in July for work completed in June and $46.3 million in August for work completed in July. The payments represented work on 501 contracts in June and 593 contracts in July.

The Federal Aid Highway act of 1968, as approved by the Congress, provided that the States should receive $5.4 billion for the 1971 fiscal year apportionment from the Highway Trust Fund. This amount was reduced by the Administration to $4.6 billion nationally and resulted in a reduction of the Texas share from $275 million to $210 million, $65 million less than expected.

The Texas Highway Department pay-out to contractors in the last fiscal year ranged from a low of $20 million in February (for work done in January) to the all-time high of $46 million for work done in July.

Contracting involving Federal projects has been on a curtailed-on-again-off-again basis, due to prior withholdings from the Federal Highway Trust Fund. Monthly lettings since January have ranged from a high of $50.3 million in May to a low of $18.4 million in March, when lack of funds limited the amount of Federal aid projects.

Proceeds in the Federal Highway Trust Fund are derived from special taxes levied on motor vehicle users. The fund was established in 1956 to provide a stable source of revenue for the construction of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways (the Interstate System) and other Federal Aid routes.

L'Allegro Study Club meets in Mrs. Mundhenke home

The L'Allegro Study Club met in the home of Mrs. George Mundhenke Thursday, October 1.

Mrs. Bud Thomas presented the program entitled "Pioneer Club Women." She told of how Jenny June Crawley, a news reporter, was barred from a meeting of the New York Press Club, honoring Charles Dickens, because she was a woman. She then began a campaign to organize a club for women only — the year was 1868. At the first meeting of the newly organized club, the New York Press Club sent a bouquet of stunk cabbage. Mrs. Thomas traced the history of Federated Women's Clubs, known as TFWC, was organized in May of 1897. Its motto is "In small things-liberty, in large things-unity and in all things-charity." She mentioned that locally the 1936 Study Club was the first federated club with the L'Allegro Study Club being the second. Mrs. Thomas concluded by saying "History has proven Grover Cleveland wrong when he once said 'Clubs for women are a disruptive influence'."

Mrs. Al Mullinax, president, asked for volunteers to help for a week at a time as teacher's aids for the kindergarten-head start program and asked that they contact Mrs. Dexter Nebhut of the YM Study Club. She also announced that a photographer, with the Levelland Daily a public hearing be held concerning the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for this highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's Office on or before October 30, 1970.

In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be publicized about the date and location of the hearing.

ASCS Farm News

By John W. Hall

The following press release was issued in Washington October 2, according to Danny Key, Chairman of the Cochran County ASCS office.

A mail referendum on 1971-crop wheat marketing quotas will be conducted October 12-15, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced today. In the absence of the new legislation for the 1971 wheat crop, current law requires that the referendum be held. However, a second congressional resolution like one initiated July 24, 1970, could result in a further postponement of the referendum. This congressional action could take place at any time prior to the start of a referendum on October 12.

Individual allotment notices will be mailed to about 1.6 million persons holding an interest in established farm wheat allotments.

Individual allotment notices will be mailed to about 1.6 million persons holding an interest in established farm wheat allotments.

Signed ballots need to be mailed or delivered to the county offices by October 15, 1970. Preliminary results of the referendum will be compiled and announced by USDA on or shortly after October 20.

Secretary Hardin announced April 14, 1970, a national wheat marketing quota of 1,210 million bushels and a national allotment of 43.5 million acres.

A two-third or more "yes" vote for marketing quotas would bring a domestic marketing certificate, valued at $1.39 per bushel, the total price support on that portion of the crop then would be $2.54 per bushel — 90 percent of parity as of July 1, 1970. Domestic certificates would be issued subject to penalty.

If the referendum fails to carry, the price-support loan rate would be mandatory at 50 percent of July 1971 parity. This would be $1.41 per bushel based on current parity. Loans only would be available to producers remaining within their 1971 allotment acreages.

Program details necessary for producer participation in the mail referendum on marketing quotas were announced July 9, 1970. The referendum, originally scheduled for July 27-31, was postponed July 24, by a joint congressional resolution. The resolution provided that the referendum could be postponed to not later than October 15 or 30 days after Congress adjourned, whichever was earlier.

'Sew and Save' theme for CA sewing classes

'Sew and save' is the theme of the sewing classes at the Community Action Center being held this fall.

A sewing class was held each week last year from November through July. Mrs. W. J. Wood, Mrs. J. H. Rhyne and Mrs. Robert Taylor volunteered their time to teach the class with several other ladies volunteering to help during the two summer months.

The sewing room at the Center had been equipped with a limited number of machines, cutting tables, ironing board and an iron.

Mrs. George Trejo is in charge of organizing the class this fall and it is hoped that as many classes as needed will be held. Anyone interested in sewing or in learning to sew as a beginner may contact Mrs. Trejo or Mrs. Thelma Lewis at the center. An effort will be made to find a time and a class to suit each one's individual needs.

October draft call down from September

The October draft call for Texas is 674, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 195, Colonel Charles M. Duncan, acting state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

The October quota is down from 704 in September.

The Texas October draft quota of 674 is the state's share of a national quota for 12,000 men, all for the army.

The state quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in October is 4,285, down from 7,171 in September. Men sent for these examinations will be limited to those with random sequence numbers 1 through 195 from the drawing in December 1969 and numbers 1 through 100, from the July 1970 drawing for those born in 1951. Colonel Duncan said that approximately 4,100 men of the 1951 age group will be examined along with 185 older men.

In filling this call for examination, draft boards will order I-A, I-A-O, and I-O men of the 1970 random selection group before men born in 1951.

No registrant who is maintaining a bona fide family relationship with a child or children, and who qualifies for class III-A, will be ordered to report for examination.

All volunteers at the draft boards must be inducted ahead of the non-volunteers selected and ordered to report for induction by random sequence number.

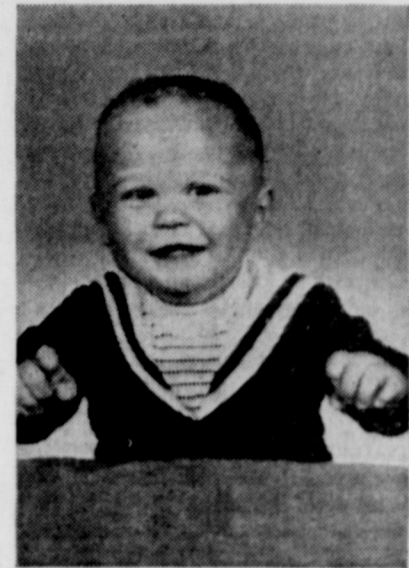

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in October are scheduled to be mailed to the state's 159 boards Wednesday, September 9.

Shrine football game proceeds make Brian's walking possible

BRIAN KEITH PACE

Brian Keith Pace, three-year-old son of Mrs. Linda Huckabee of Lamesa, is not only walking today but running.

Brian was born with crippled legs and Mrs. Huckabee was advised he would probably never walk.

The miraculous fact that Brian can now run, jump and play with the other children is due to the equally miraculous treatment given him under sponsorship of the Shrine crippled children's aid program.

His story was revealed to the Tribune this week through a drive for funds by the Khiva Shrine membership who are sponsoring the annual Shrine football game at Texas Tech November 5. All proceeds from the game, over expenses, go into the crippled children's fund which helps support the Shrine Hospital in Houston where Brian received his successful treatment. He is under direct sponsorship of local Shriners who have expended in excess of $5,000 on his treatment.

March 5, 1968, at six months old, Brian was taken to the Houston hospital and after extensive operations and treatment, he is today enjoying the life of a normal three-year-old.

At the time Brian was taken to the Hospital, he lived in Morton and both of his grandparents still do. They are Mr. and Mrs. Doc Long and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Huckabee.

The 1970 Shrine game will be held November 5 at Tech Stadium with the Freshman Red Raiders going up against the Freshman from A&M University.

Chester Baird is the Cochran County chairman in charge of publicity and advertising for the game and tickets or advertising maybe purchased from him.

Gene Bridges led the group in saying the Tops pledge. Nita Thomas and Brenda Gardner lost the most weight for the week. Thought for the day was "Conscience doesn't keep you from eating, it just keeps you from enjoying it." Two visitors attended the meeting.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, October 14 with Rev. Mearl Moore giving the program.

Texas has produced 33.1 billion barrels of oil, or 36% of U.S. total.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

ment's new and unique Drug Abuse Program promises statewide health services that are not now available in dealing with the dope menace.

Program was outlined by a Health Department official at a recent hearing of the House Committee to Study Psychiatric Problems of Youth.

It will be carried out in three steps, offering laboratory services, clinics and an over-view of health factors in the drug area.

Initial action calls for setting up facilities next year in Nueces, Bexar, El Paso, Bowie, Webb and Lubbock Counties (serving 1.7 million people). Beginning in 1972, the program will be established statewide. Cost may be three to five million dollars for the second year period, $1.2 million for the initial pilot program.

Laboratory services will provide surveillance of drug-abuse patients and detect those needing treatment. Department proposes urine tests of patients to determine if illicit drugs still are being used, proposes urine tests of patients to determine if illicit drugs still are being used.

Second stage calls for statewide clinics, especially for the median age 19 group, and informational workshops mostly conducted in schools.

Continual study will use computers to correlate facts from the viewpoint of health personnel who deal with the problem daily.

Department believes the program will fill these three basic needs not presently available, and without which little chance exists for success in drug abuse control. Court, following the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, rejected the plea of La Raza Unida party for mandamus directing that its 15 local candidates be placed on the November 3 ballot in Dimmitt, LaSalle and Zavala Counties. Party already has won a place on the ballot in Hidalgo County and will go to federal court to continue its appeal in the other three.

Austin district judge refused to lift restrictions against the Alcoholic Beverage Commission's enforcing the stringent guest rule covering private bottle clubs pending clubs' appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Landowners who oppose building a new University of Texas branch at Odessa filed notice of appeal after District Judge Herman Jones of Austin threw out their suit on September 17.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin sued General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, claiming they conspired to fix prices and eliminate competition in bids on vehicle purchases for governmental units in Texas.

Martin turned an additional 13,744 to the state in anti-trust recovery from the Brass Mill Tube and Pipe case. Recovery now totals $111,345.

POLLUTION BOOK RELEASED — Attorney General Martin released copies of an 188-page booklet on the principal pollution laws of Texas, for the guidance of local governments.

Booklet contains regulations governing water, air, oil and solid waste pollution, together with "how to do it" suggestions for preparing a pollution suit and exchanging information with state agencies.

Martin said he hopes the publication will provide closer cooperation between local units of government, the attorney general's office, the Texas Water Quality Board and the Texas Air Control Board.

DRAFT PRIORITY SET — Men whose draft lottery numbers were called by local draft boards in 1970, but who were not ordered for induction, will be the top priority group for calls in the first quarter of 1971.

State Selective Service issued the announcement, as did the White House and national draft headquarters.

First quarter draft calls will go to the carry-overs. If calls do not require all of them, they will be placed in a lower priority. Those whose numbers have not been reached all during the year will be placed in the lower priority group on January 1.

National Selective Service chief said that exposure is limited in keeping with the "12 month draft vulnerability policy."

NEW JOBS AND AWARDS — Gov.

Preston Smith appointed William R. Shaver of Lubbock as district judge of the 104th Judicial District, succeeding Judge Robert H. Bean who resigned.

Burt L. Risley, Texas executive director of the Commission for the Blind, was sworn in as president of the National Council of State Agencies for the Blind.

Harry Bresler, chief of claims for the state comptroller, was named the handicapped state employee of the year.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. will represent Governor Smith at the first international trade seminar in Mexico City, November 2-10.

PWC ROW RAGES — Chairman Pearce Johnson of the Parks and Wildlife Commission blasted the PWC staff for taking major steps without Commission approval.

Johnson said the department's $39 million budget recommendations went to the Legislature without Commission approval last year . . . and the same thing happened again this year.

Chairman also said that plans for the proposed $3 million water exchange pass at Mustang Island near Corpus Christi were changed without consulting the Commission.

"As long as the staff usurps the powers of the Commission," said Johnson at an open meeting in the capitol, "I won't be responsible (as chairman)."

SMITH HITS REPAIR COSTS — Governor Smith called for legislative study of "excessive" auto repair charges.

He said he supports the Democratic platform planks on insurance which include regulation of holding companies, requiring mandatory pooling for fire and wind-storm protection in areas subject to catastrophe, and consideration of investment income in fixing the auto insurance rate base.

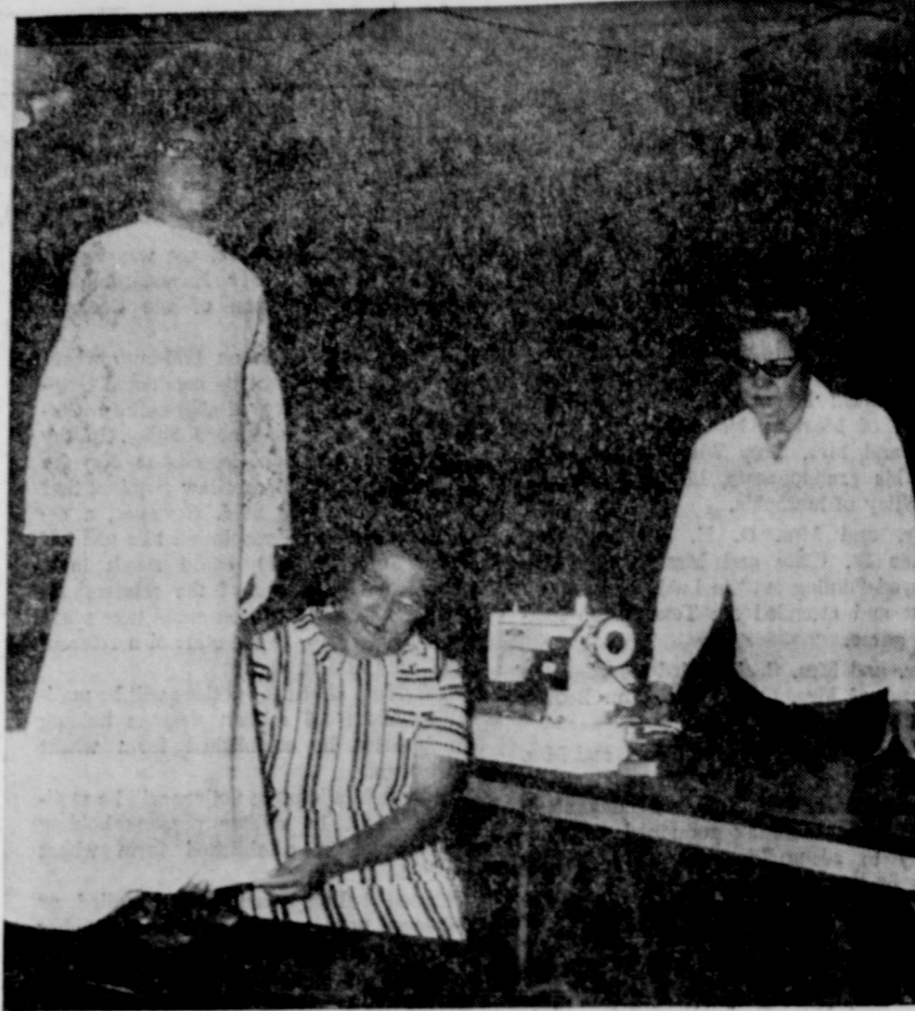

"The public cannot be long protected by regulated insurance rates, if there is no regulation direct or indirect of automobile rates," added the governor.

He also announced his support of group auto insurance coverage.

DINOSAURS "HOME" — A symbolic dinosaur family "returned home" amid ceremonies at Dinosaur Valley State Scenic Park in Somervell County.

Governor Smith joined representatives of the Atlantic Richfield Company, the National Park Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to formally accept for the park life-size replicas of 70-foot brontosaurus, 50-foot tyrannosaurus and two baby brontos with simulated eggs.

SHORT SNORTS — House Committee on Charitable Trusts heard criticism aimed at the $400 million Moody Foundation.

Hawthorne, Conway announce engagement

Former CC resident rites held Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday, October 3, in the Memorial Chapel of Brownfield for Mrs. Earnest Worley, 72, of Levelland. Rev. Paul Tisser, pastor of the Brownfield Four Square Gospel Church, officiated.

Mrs. Worley was a former resident of Cochran County and worked in Levelland for many years before moving to Levelland. She was born in Decatur and died in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Thursday, October 1, following a two week illness.

Burial was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Ross Carter of Brownfield; brother, Melvin Lester of Pleasanton; sister, Mrs. Allie Hendrix of Brownfield; five grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

TEC says ginning help to be available

Leon Bandy, Manager of the Texas Employment Commission Farm Labor office in Levelland, reports that there is a shortage of experienced cotton ginners in the area, but it is expected that sufficient labor will be available to fill requests from local gin managers when the cotton harvest begins.

This new labor estimate is based upon the recent destruction of crops in the South Texas area by hurricane Celia which will cause more cotton harvest labor to come in to Western Texas for the cotton harvest here. Mr. Bandy states that the event local labor can not be obtained in sufficient numbers, additional labor can be obtained from other areas by the office.

Gin Managers who will need gin labor and farmers who will need trailer haulers are encouraged to visit or call Mr. Bandy. Telephone number 894-4204 at the TEC office at Levelland, a few days before actual need to insure that the labor will be available when needed.

The Texas Employment Commission assists employers and workers alike, without charge. The TEC refers workers to job openings without regard to religious race, color or national origin. Mr. Bandy extends an invitation to workers seeking jobs and to employers seeking workers to visit the local office. He is assisted in the office by Mrs. Doris Hardin.

GEORGE MARTIN replaces Eugene Bentley on the Cochran Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors. Martin was elected to the board at an election that was held in Whiteface last Thursday. Bentley will be missed. However, Martin brings experience of leadership in working with other organizations to the board. Therefore, the board is looking forward to Martin capably filling the void that Bentley leaves.

WHAT DO YOU DO WITH BAD WATER? The El Paso Products Company burns their bad water. Members of the South Plains Chapter of Soil Conservation Society of America were given this information while on a tour of El Paso Products Company. The group was brought up to date on this company's efforts in combating pollution. This Odessa company operates primarily on the waste of other industries. For example, gas companies back in the 1940s burned the gases that this company is now turning into materials that go into the manufacturing of rubber and plastic products. About 6 million gallons of water per day are required in these processes. Guess where the most of this water comes from? They use the Odessa sewage water. By the time the water is cleaned up enough for use in the plant, it costs approximately $186.00 per acre foot or about fifty cents per 1000 gallons. The plant continues to reuse the water until it is no longer economical to re-clean the water. The worst of this water is burned. They figure that it costs them about $5.00 per thousand gallons to burn the water.

In the past the economy of our nation has been based on waste. The resources of an area were exploited and then new areas were located. New cars, equipment and what have you were bought used and discarded in junk yards to rust and rot. The demands of the future may cause a reclamation of things wasted. The El Paso Products Company may just be one of the fore-runners of things to come.

Accent on health

The quality of our environment has become a major issue in the state of Texas, and the automobile as a primary source of air pollution has drawn increasing fire. The Texas State Department of Health's Air Pollution Control Program is very much involved in keeping tabs on the automobile pollution problem in this state.

Automobile exhaust gases are the major source of hydrocarbons, oxides of nitrogen, and carbon monoxide emissions into the atmosphere of our metropolitan areas. Controls have been developed to reduce hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. But the uncontrolled internal combustion engine in automobiles contributes significantly to particulate pollution problems.

With each one-thousand gallons of gasoline burned at an average route speed of 25 miles per hour in urban areas, the automobile emits four pounds of aldehydes, 2,300 pounds of carbon monoxide, 200 pounds of hydrocarbons, 113 pounds of oxides of nitrogen, nine pounds of oxides of sulfur, four pounds of organic acids, and 12 pounds of particulates. That amount of emission comes from each automobile. Emissions from automobiles are highly variable, depending upon geographical location and local driving patterns.

Automobiles and industry each contribute roughly half of all hydrocarbons emitted into the atmosphere. But the automobile can be blamed for almost 60 per cent of all carbon monoxide emission.

Research has turned up few practical alternatives to the internal combustion engine. The water-steam engine and the electrical powered unit have both been experimented with, but have not received general acceptance as practical alternatives.

Recently, a freon gas-steam engine was developed by a Florida inventor, and one Japanese motor company has decided to utilize the new concept in its 1972 cars. Kerosene or liquid petroleum gas would be used as fuel to produce enough heat to vaporize the freon gas, which would power a turbine or reciprocating type engine. The gas would then be condensed back to a liquid and re-introduced into the system.

Charles R. Barden, director of the State Health Department's Air Pollution Program and executive secretary of the Texas Air Control Board, says that kerosene is a product with high efficiency of combustion, with relatively little pollution, and at the same time gives more miles per pound of fuel used.

Indian B, freshmen in split with Friona

Two action-packed football games preceded last week's varsity Homecoming game as the Morton B-team and freshmen split a doubleheader with Friona here Thursday night.

Morton's freshmen topped Friona 19-12 in the first game as end John Green galloped 80 yards on an end-around to highlight the action. Morton's Denny Williams scored from the twelve and two yard lines. His second score came in the last seconds of the game.

The Indians' B squad lost their first outing of the season by a slim 2-0 margin. In a game highlighted by top defensive action and goal line stands, the Tribe fought off the bigger Friona squad several times. The visitors scored as they dropped a Morton runner in his own end zone for a two-point safety.

The B game marked the first time in three seasons that Morton has played a B team and freshmen schedule. Until this year, not enough boys turned out for football to enable school officials to schedule games for freshmen, B-team, and varsity.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

On the fourteenth annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., held by over 400 people on September 29-30 at Lubbock. Executive Vice President Johnson said "Comment indicates this is one of the most interesting, most probing meetings we have had in the 200 years of cotton production. And the 200 ladies who attended the luncheon which followed the meeting were quite valuable in their praise of the program presented there, too."

Members of the annual meeting were Wooters, new Executive Vice President and General Manager of Cotton Institute, and Charles G. Editor of Progressive Farmer.

The ladies luncheon was attended mostly by members of 12 women cotton promotion groups organized in the High Plains area. The program covered methods of applying design to cotton fabrics, utilization of cottonseed flour in foods for human consumption, and a fashion address titled "Fall In With Cotton."

Typical of the comments on the luncheon is a letter from Mrs. J. C. Pointer of Ropesville. Mrs. Pointer wrote PCG "The food was wonderful and the program was just the thing to give us ladies enthusiasm and spirit. The speakers made me want to do more for the cotton industry."

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange joined forces September 28 and 29 in an attempt to sell the advantages of using High Plains cotton to 12 textile mill representatives from 9 European countries.

Mill representatives from Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and England spent two full days touring cotton installations in Lubbock and the surrounding area. They visited the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University, the Tech farms, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, Plains Cotton Compress, the Canyon Gin, and the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center.

Nickel seems to have magical properties when it is joined with other metals.

Both nickel and low-carbon steel have tensile strengths of about 50,000 pounds per square inch. However, when nickel is added to steel in amounts ranging to 20 per cent, the result is an alloy with strengths to 350,000 psi after proper alloying and heat treatment.

purebred Hereford stock and then hired Oxsheer to take care of the fine cattle new ranch. Oxsheer subdivided his Diamond Ranch into several breeding pastures on which Slaughter placed the finest bulls available. For four years, Oxsheer managed what the Colonel called his "Ancient Briton Breeding Ranch," so named Whiteface Camp.

Meanwhile, Slaughter hired Oxsheer to buy "fifty or sixty leagues" of the track-line well, gave that site its name — the Chicago World's Fair. The whitefaced cattle, grazing and watering at Oxsheer's until Slaughter could locate land for a better the prized champion bull of the less sandy county-owned school land still unsettled in Cochran and Hockley Counties. With the aid of several friends, Oxsheer soon acquired over 300,000 acres (only 246,000 acres were actually purchased) of land for Slaughter. By the summer of 1898, Slaughter windmill crews were at work locating additional windmill sites on the arid plains.

But, in order to complete his original contract, Oxsheer had to sell his coveted "west pasture" of his Diamond Ranch — an area he wanted to keep because of the excellent grass and well locations. However, he was heavily in debt to Slaughter, and so he finally agreed to the prominent cattleman's terms. Slaughter took about 35,000 acres, including the site of his future Whiteface Camp.

In February, 1901, Colonel Slaughter ordered his eldest son and ranch manager George to construct something "cheap and small" at the line well site, first called "Roger's Camp." The typical building of the times, a half-dugout structure, was erected. With walls about four feet high constructed over a rectangular hole about three to four feet deep, the small building was hurriedly constructed to serve as a remote line camp on the Whiteface pasture, a site thirteen long miles from the main headquarters to the west in Cochran County.

But the camp was made liveable for a cowboy and his wife. In 1904, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor were occupying the Whiteface Camp, only one of five such locations scattered across the vast Slaughter ranch. George Slaughter, in giving his ranch report to his brothers and father at the annual meeting of the C. C. Slaughter Cattle Company in Dallas, described the camp buildings as being "not very handsome, nor very commodious (sic), but comfortable, provided too many sweaters do not stop for the night." Each camp was surrounded by a small farm where corn and maize were grown in order to provide extra winter feed.

The Whiteface Camp was used continuously as a line headquarters until the ranch's division in 1921. By 1911, a horse shed, a hog shed, and an expensive two-hundred dollar barn had been added at the location. An inventory made in that year valued the dugout at $150, a price matched only by the Zavala camp house, located fifteen miles to the south. The in several years. Led by cheerleaders Sue Winder, Karen Willis, Betty Silhan, Beverly Dolle, Rita Spence and Michéline Marina, the students yelled deafeningly for several minutes. Harold Drennan, Morton elementary principal, delivered the pep talk.

Mums galore spotted Indian Stadium as gametime rolled around, and a large crowd of exes and students turned out for the Homecoming clash with the Abernathy Antelopes.

But things went awry in the early going as the visitors stole a pitchout, and then ran a punt back for touchdowns and rolled to a 35-16 win. Yet the Indians did not quit as they roared to life in the fourth quarter and put 16 points on the scoreboard in quick-strike fashion.

The 1970 Homecoming was one of the smoothest in recent years. Bearing much of the responsibility for all the events was the MHS Student Council, headed by its Homecoming Committee. MHS senior Beverly Dolle, vice-president of the Student Council, headed that committee's work.

auditor's report listed such items as an iron bed, a table and two chairs, dishes and cooking utensils.

Colonel Slaughter died at age eighty-two in 1919, but he had already deeded and turned over to his children the ownership and management of the Cochran-Hockley County Ranch. Two years after his death, the owners voted to divide the operation equally among its ten stockholders, and after a two-month long process of sorting cattle and equipment, the once-vast Lazy S Ranch had become ten separate stock farms. The Whiteface Camp went to Nelle Slaughter DeLoache, youngest daughter of the Colonel and wife of a Dallas real estate promoter, Ira P. DeLoache. Under his direction, the level lands of the Whiteface pasture were soon cut up into small farms and rented out to prospective tenants. The Whiteface Farms are still operated by DeLoache's children.

The original half-dugout was eventually restructured by its farming occupants to become more spacious and liveable. Higher walls and an upper room were added to the original site. Over the past fifty years, the outlying buildings have been either torn down or moved away and soon the dugout will be gone too.

Thus, a shallow hole will soon be the only mark of what once was a remote, but bustling ranch line camp. What had been for many years a warm shelter, a good place to get a hot meal, a home for a cowboy's family, or a rest spot on an otherwise long sandy trail, will soon be gone.

In preseason play this year, the Indians handled the state's number one class A outfit, Seagraves, easily.

And, Morton fans are well aware that the Tribe is still due its share of breaks. In Morton's two losses, miscues and bad breaks have accounted for several of the touchdowns racked up against the otherwise tough Indian defense.

Next week the Tribe travels to Dimmitt to take on the Bobcats before returning home to host the Lockney Longhorns on October 23.

Antelopes run over Indians in 35-16 tilt

Morton's Indians spotted visiting Abernathy three touchdowns Friday night and failed to rally soon enough as they dropped the 1970 Homecoming tilt to the Antelopes by a 35-16 margin.

The game marked the Indians' initiation into district 3-AA and the Tribe joined Littlefield, Friona, and Dimmitt in sharing the cellar in the one-week old district race.

A large crowd of MHS exes and fans watched in mild horror as the Antelopes converted two Indian mental lapses into quick TD's early in the game and built up a margin too large to overcome.

The first disaster struck when a Keith Embry pitchout was diagnosed and picked off by Abernathy's defensive lineback Larry Klafka who raced 63 yards for the spectacular and rather easily-won score.

Then, three minutes later, single safety Kirk Lane gathered in an M. C. Collins punt at his own 10, drifted left, and then sprinted up the sidelines for a 90-yard punt return and TD. Johnny Hemphill's second out of five conversions gave the visitors a 14-0 lead even before they had run an offensive running play.

The game had started in a different vein as Morton's Larry Thompson picked off an Abernathy pass on the first play of the contest. The Tribe then picked up a first down as Eddie Lewis rolled to the Antelope 46 on a 12-yard run. Two plays later, facing third and five, Morton tried the same play to the left, but the Antelope defense saw it coming and Klafka made his debut into the Indian running game by stealing the pitchout.

Without the two big Abernathy plays, the game was quite close. Both teams racked up equal yardage outputs through the first three quarters. Abernathy drove across their third touchdown, but not until late in the second period. During the final stanza, the Tribe matched the visitors score for score.

The Indians made one of the best offensive showings of the year in spite of the loss. Paced by Terry Harvey's 64 yards in 14 carries, the Tribe punched out 154 yards on the ground and another 95 through the air.

The Indians picked up their first score on the first play of the fourth quarter as Elton Patton capped a 75-yard drive with a 14-yard scamper around left end. Embry ran the extra points across to cut Abernathy's lead to 21-8 for a brief period.

On the hard running of tailback Charley Johnson, the Antelopes drove right back two minutes later to score on a one-yard plunge by fullback Mark Harrison. Then, the Indians surprised everyone with a 65-yard pass and run bomb from Embry to freshman sensation Larry Thompson. Embry again ran the extras to trim the lead to 28-16.

But the Antelopes tacked on insurance as quarterback Dave Davenport ran over from the two. Hemphill's kick made it 35-16 with less than three minutes remaining.

The hard running of Johnson penetrated the usually tough Indian defense for 135 yards on 19 carries. Davenport hit four of eight passes for 37 yards that kept the Indians loose all night.

Terry Harvey continues to pace Indian backs in rushing yardage. Averaging nearly 4.8 yards per try, Harvey has racked up 238 yards in four games. Willie Holland has 90 yards on three pass receptions to lead that department. Embry has hit three of 10 attempts this season for 107 yards.

"Prairieland Packing Corporation does not come to Cochran County as a liability to pollute the streams and the atmosphere but come to Morton and Cochran County, we hope as an asset to the area. Our buildings will be the finest and most modern in the packing industry and our systems have been designed to achieve and maintain a high level of sanitation and cleanliness.

"Our sincere thanks for the effort and planning of the progressive minded people of Morton, who have helped make this possible by bringing new industry to their city.

"This has been a long road to reality but now it is here. We are looking forward to many long years of association and friendship with all of these fine people."
