Highway crash claims two here

FATAL ACCIDENT SCENE . . .

GIVING ALL THE APPEARANCES of a badly wounded elephant, the huge lumber truck dominates the scene of a head-on collision between itself and a car driven by a Morton youth in which both drivers lost their lives. The accident occurred approximately 1 1/2 miles southeast of Morton on SH116 at 7:45 Sunday morning. Tommy Dean Jackson, of Morton, driver of the northwest-bound Ford sedan (visible between the rear wheels of the lumber truck and the winch truck at the highway's edge) and Guy William Jones, of Crockett, driver of the southeast-bound truck, were pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

DEATH CAR TOTALLY SMASHED . . .

THERE WAS LITTLE LEFT of the 1968 Ford sedan that carried Tommy Dean Jackson of Morton to his death in a head-on collision with a lumber truck just east of the city limits Sunday morning. Driver of the truck, Guy William Jones of Crockett, was also killed when he was pinned in the cab of his overturned vehicle and died before rescuers could pry him free. Jackson was a lifetime resident of Morton and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Jackson.

Chamber 'Bargain Day' plans announced

Plans were being finalized this week for a monthly bargain day to be sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce and held in conjunction with the county and western jamboree that is scheduled on the fourth Saturday of each month. Spokesmen for the chamber said the promotion will be much like that of former "Dollar Days" and "Trades Days" and here in the past but would be considerably improved in several areas. In all, planners said, there will be substantially more real good bargains offered to the public by local merchants this day and it will be much better organized so that those who come to town to participate will have a much better chance of going home with some really worthwhile bargains.

Free drawings for valuable gifts or cash prizes are definitely in the picture, officials said, and added that "we will make it so valuable that no one can afford to stay away."

There are many late details to be worked out, but the planning committee is confident they can be ready for the kick off date of Saturday, April 24. Final details will be published in the Tribune April 22.

Dedicated to Whiteface

Saturday, April 17, 1971 at approximately 9:50 p.m. will mark the first anniversary of the date that Mother Nature loosed the most terrifying weapon in her arsenal of destruction on Morton's sister community of Whiteface. The weapon, in the form of a giant tornado, wreaked terrible havoc upon the town and all but wiped it from the face of the earth.

The details of the destruction in Whiteface are well known throughout the area — but how well known is the almost miraculous recovery the brave, determined people of the town have made?

This edition of the Tribune is dedicated to the valiant and successful efforts at recovery and improvement the citizens of Whiteface have made and on inside picture pages presents photos of the original destruction; and the scenes as they appear one year later. This dedication is in tribute to a community that has proven what good can be accomplished when its people have faith in the future, outstanding courage, self confidence and the will to work together toward a common goal.

Zogi Variety Review advance ticket sales set by youth center

Advance ticket sales for the Zogi TV Variety Revue which will play at the County auditorium later this month will begin here this week.

Sale of tickets for the Morton Area has been turned over to members of the Morton Youth Center who will sell them on a share basis with the chamber. Funds collected by the youth center members as a result of the sale will be used to improve the facilities and activities of the center.

The stage production, which will be presented at the auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, April 26, may include either one or two showings at the Morton schools earlier in the day.

C. A. Frank, tour director for the show, says there is one question asked him quite frequently and it is worded like this:

"If the Zogi Revue is such a big and lavish production, why is it playing such a small city as this, and similar ones?"

That is a good question says Frank, and this is the way he answers it. During the past ten years, says Frank, thousands of theatres closed their doors due to the inroads of TV. The remaining theatres that have not been torn down and are still in operation, have been altered, especially on the stage, to take care of the Federal Land Bank slates interest drop

Joe Breed, Manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Levelland, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston will reduce the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 7 1/2%.

"This reduction will be effective on installments maturing on or after June 1, 1971 and affects more than $110 million in variable rate loans to over 3,200 Texas farmers and ranchers," Mr. Breed stated. The variable rate loan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank in July 1969, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. This is the second time since January 1 that the billing rate has been reduced and the third such reduction in the past year. "This action is in line with the Bank's policy in providing farmers and ranchers credit at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound business practices," Mr. Breed stated.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas. The Bank has over $540 million in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Cochran, Hackley, Terry and Yoakum Counties. Members of the local board of directors are: L. F. Schoenrock, Leon Lawson, J. F. Steele, all of Levelland; Hugh Hansen, of Morton; and G. I. Sims of Brownfield.

A Morton youth and a man from Crockett, Texas lost their lives in a car-truck head-on collision a short distance east of the Morton city limits early Sunday morning.

Killed in the spectacular crash that all but totally destroyed the smaller vehicle were Tommy Dean Jackson, 19, of Morton, driver of the car, and the truck driver, Guy William Jones, 47, of Crockett. Jackson apparently died immediately and Jones was pinned in the wreckage of his truck and died before rescue workers could pry him free.

Both men were pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Joe Gipson of Morton.

Funeral services for Jackson were held at 4 p.m. Monday at the First United Methodist Church in Morton with Rev. Rex Mauldin, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Morton Memorial Cemetery under direction of Singleton Funeral Home.

Funeral arrangements for Jones were pending in Jacksonville at Renfro-Elliott Funeral Home.

The accident, according to DPS investigator John Salter's report, occurred approximately 1 1/2 miles southeast of Morton on SH116 at near 7:45 a.m. Sunday. A 1968 Ford sedan, driven by Jackson, was traveling northwest and the lumber laden tractor-trailer driven by Jones was proceeding southeast when they collided head-on near the median line of the highway.

Following the impact, the car traveled 132 feet northwest and came to rest a few feet off the north edge of the highway in a ploughed field. The truck traveled 123 feet from the impact point and overturned on to its right side also on the north side of the highway. The overturning truck loosed its large load of lumber which scattered over a wide area at the accident scene. The driver was pinned inside the cab for approximately 1 1/2 hours before rescuers pried him loose.

A second truck, almost identical with the one in the accident and also loaded with lumber, was a short distance behind the first truck and the driver, Henry Parker of Crockett, was the only close eye witness to the crash, police reports indicate. Both trucks are owned by Northcutt Woodworks of Crockett.

Jackson was a lifetime resident of Morton and a graduate of Morton High School.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Jackson of Morton; two sisters, Mrs. Nancy Stephens of Waco and Treva of the home; a brother, John, of the home; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson of Leonard.

IN THE SPRING A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY . . .

BUT THE GIRLS ARE DOWNRIGHT BEAUTIFUL, as attested to by the lovely twosome above who were caught in the camera's eye as they enjoyed a ride in the balmy air of the new-sprung spring early this week. Exercising to improve their already-impressive physical attributes are Micheline Marina, front, and Betty Silhan, rear, both of whom are seniors at Morton High School.

Youth center acknowledges long slate of contributors

During its short existence the Morton Youth Center Committee and the members that attend the center have come to know that there are a large number of individuals and firms in Morton that do care about them. This is attested to by the very large number of gifts that have been donated to the activity to see that it gets a good start.

Gifts have not all consisted of cash, but a large number of have come in the form of supplies, equipment or labor. Though off to a fine start, the center is not complete as yet and still stands in need of a variety of items and can always, of course, put cash gifts to good use.

Those wishing to donate gifts of any kind are asked to contact one of the youth center committee members.

A list of persons and organizations having contributed to the youth center is as follows:

Joe Bowers, Morton Floral, Morton Tribune, St. Rt. Coop Gin, Roy Brown, Hazel Hancock, Leonard Groves, Roy Gunless, Alvin Gladden, The Chaparral, L'Allegro Study Club, 1936 Study Club, Dr. Eva Sneed, Cochran Power & Light, Robert Richards, C. D. Information of private nature are being held for anyone's inspection

How private are the lives and activities of Cochran County residents? Not as private as they think they are.

On the basis of testimony given recently before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, it appears that a wealth of personal information about local people has been stored in the data banks of computers in Washington and elsewhere, ready for instantaneous inspection.

According to one witness, Prof. Arthur Miller of the University of Michigan Law School, "Each time a citizen files a tax return, applies for credit or for life insurance, seeks Government benefits or interviews for a public job, a dossier is opened under his name."

Included is such data as age, birthplace, schooling, income, property holdings, political and social affiliations, tax payments, military record, marital status, law violations and a host of other tidbits of information.

On the computers of the Internal Revenue Service, for example, are details of the earnings and expenditures of approximately 2,000 residents of Cochran County.

Although this is supposedly confidential information, it is being made available to state and local governments and may be "leaked" to others, it was testified.

In the files of the Social Security Administration are the records of some 630 local residents who are receiving retro-

REMOVING DRIVER FROM TRUCK . . .

IT WAS MORE THAN ONE HOUR from the time of the crash until rescuers could remove the body of Guy William Jones, from the cab of his truck where he was pinned by the wreckage following a head-on car-truck collision east of Morton Sunday morning. Both Jones and Tommy Dean Jackson, of Morton, driver of the car, were killed in the spectacular smashup. Exact cause of the collision had not been determined at presstime.

Cultists said plaguing U.S. more than any time in history

One of the distinctive features of the 1970's is an inward-turning attitude on the part of many Americans. On the lunatic fringe there is the phenomenon of the urban or rural commune where young people experiment in group living with formal ties or responsibilities. Strange new cults flourish in some of our major cities. The Manson trial in California lifted the lid on weird beliefs and practices in the midst of our modern society. Everywhere one sees cars and carryall buses with the word "love" printed on the sides, as though the painted symbol would effect an extraordinary transformation in people's lives. In many areas of national life one witnesses a retreat from or avoidance of reality.

large number of people, including U. S. senators, believe one has only to chant "peace, peace" and the problems of the country are solved. The liberties of the American people can't be maintained by thinking "peace" but by defending them when they are threatened.

Some people in our country today have the notion that they can be passive in the face of threats and still enjoy the blessings of freedom. If such people are unwilling to fight for their country or pay taxes for defense, they can expect their land to be overcome and their personal existence threatened in the most direct way. This is the lesson of history.

Today's peaceniks should ask themselves how their philosophy would have stopped Hitler and his Nazi legions. Certainly, peacenik attitudes only encourage aggression by the communist powers.

In terms of our domestic existence, the passive, inward-turning attitudes of today undermine the strength and well-being of the American people. The nation depends on active, responsible people. Cities need guardians around the clock — policemen, firemen and hospital personnel. Strangely, the social drop-outs expects some people — key people in our society — to continue on the job. They expect a doctor to be available to treat them if they are sick. They expect a fireman to answer an alarm. They expect Social Security and welfare checks to be delivered.

The working American has a right to expect that the drop-out element will be compelled to re-enter the mainstream or American life or be penalized. Working citizens can't be expected to carry the hippie elements on their back for years on end. There's no moral obligation on good citizens to subsidize or protect those people who won't accept any of the burdens or responsibilities of a person living in society.

In the last few years our country has gone on a binge of toleration insofar as irresponsible people are concerned. It is time to insist on a new measure of social discipline and respect for public authority. It is time to demand that those who want to look inward and avoid the realities be brought face to face with the requirements of citizenship. The "hip" cultists can't be permitted to disrupt and spoil our society.

Feedlots provide most of cattle for packers in West and Southwest

Auction markets and terminals are still the major sources of slaughter calves for packers, but the feedlot is providing most of their fed cattle in the west and southwest.

The 1969 report of the Packers and Stockyards Administration of the USDA indicated that Texas and California alone accounted for more than one-third of the cattle fed by packers.

In 1969, packers fed or had fed 1.6 million head of cattle and calves (seven percent of fed cattle marketings).

The concentrated feeding areas in the west and southwest make markets and terminals relatively unimportant in states such as Arizona, California, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Texas.

About 12 percent of the total commercial slaughter of sheep and lambs were packer fed even though only 15 firms were involved in lamb feeding in 1969, Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, pointed out.

More than half of the fed lambs come from Colorado, Utah, and South Dakota. Packer feeding of hogs remained relatively unimportant as less than one percent of the total slaughter was packer fed.

The recently released report also indicated that in areas where auctions and terminals were important sources of cattle for packers the country points were leading sources of cattle, hogs, sheep, and lambs.

According to Dr. Uvacek, the 10 major packers bought three-fourths of their cattle, hogs, and sheep from country sources.

He added that the smaller packers used the auctions and terminals to a greater extent for all livestock than the larger packers.

Dr. Uvacek noted that the numbers of livestock purchased by packers on a carcass basis showed upward trends. Almost 20 percent of the cattle bought by packers were on a carcass basis.

Four percent of the calves and seven percent of the sheep and lamb purchases were on carcass basis. Carcass purchases of hogs amounted to four percent of the total purchases.

Veterans who served between Feb. 1, 1955, and March 3, 1966, (as well as Vietnam era veterans) are eligible for GI Bill educational benefits.

Scenes of '70 wreckage and debris have new face in 1971

THE FORCE OF THE STORM smashed the Whiteface schools utility building to bits and pieces.

AT COMPRESS SITE thousands of cotton bales were divested of their warehouse shelter by the tornado.

THIS ROW OF HOUSES adjacent to the school shows heavy damage by the force of the wind and flying debris.

A MODERN, ROOMY UTILITY BUILDING has replaced the one destroyed by the tornado.

BARE GROUND is all that is left of the former compress site where cotton warehouses were destroyed in the holocaust.

A MAJOR REPAIR PROJECT by their owners has caused these houses a fine appearance a year after they were struck by the storm.

THE OLIN LEWIS HOME was 95 percent destroyed in the storm which tore off the roof and blew it blocks away.

THE NORTH HALF of the Whiteface schools bus building was carried away; the south half collapsed on the buses.

THE AWESOME POWER OF THE WIND wreaked heavy damage on grain elevator in Whiteface.

THE OLIN LEWIS FAMILY now occupies a totally new all-brick home located a few feet from the site of the house destroyed by the twister.

A MODERN NEW masonry bus building more than replaces the old one destroyed by the storm.

THE GRAIN ELEVATOR has a much cleaner and neater appearance a year, but is still missing some of its tanks.

McClung guest speaker at 1936 Study Club meet

Roy McClung, Agricultural Agent for Cochran County, gave the program for the 1936 Study Club meeting April 7 in the home of Mrs. Lessye Silvers. "Environmental Responsibility" was the subject McClung spoke on but instead of speaking on ecology and pollution, he presented a new slant on the subject by discussing the challenge to all citizens of making their particular community a good one in which to live. He stressed the importance of advertizing the advantages and playing-up the possibilities; cooperating with others to make the town and county progressive, clean, friendly and attractive; a place where strangers feel welcome and customers want to trade, welcoming gestures and smiling eyes are very much a part of each citizen's environmental responsibilities," McClung stated.

Another collector of data is the FBI, which has an estimated 2,300 fingerprints on file of men, women and children living in Cochran County.

Included are prints of persons on public payrolls, of those who have been in military service, of people who have been arrested for felonies and of others who have voluntarily submitted their fingerprints for identification purposes.

The surveys made periodically by the Census Bureau also produce much private information about people but this is only for statistical purposes and is kept confidential.

The purpose of the Senate inquiry is to find a way to control the data banks and prevent the misuse of the information in them.

demands of a wide screen and super sound. In most cases these new installations are permanent and not mobile, and allow no room for stage shows of any size.

In many cases, dressing rooms are now used for storage of supplies and equipment. There are still some theatres in large cities suitable for large productions such as the Zogi Revue, but special permits to transport and unload equipment at their stage doors must be obtained from the city and transfer companies hired to bring the tons of equipment through the downtown city streets during the small hours of the morning, due to the ever-growing traffic problems. This has practically forced the few remaining road shows of any size to play the smaller cities and to play in civic centers and high school auditoriums, and in fact, most any place that will hold a large audience.

In spite of the fact that much special equipment must be carried to transform areas for performing such an elaborate show, Frank feels that it is all worthwhile, since the show attracts large crowds at every performance and the audiences get to see and hear a big city show. "That's show business," says Frank.

Texas Animal Health Commission restricts movement of swine

The Texas Animal Health Commission has ordered a 60-day restriction on the movement of swine in Texas, effective March 29, to control hog cholera.

The movement of all feeder and breeder swine within the state will be allowed only by permits issued after inspection of the herd from which they originate.

Hogs for slaughter can move to a packing house or to a public market without inspection and without written permits, according to Woodrow W. Bailey, Extension livestock and meats specialist.

He cautioned producers that hogs leaving the farm without a permit must be headed for slaughter.

Once at the market they can't be legally taken home or sold as feeders. Offenders are subject to fines, according to Bailey.

Bailey also said that any special breeder or feeder sales must be cleared with authorities in the animal health commission. Written permission can be granted with certain requirements, including on the farm inspection.

Hogs going to shows must be inspected on the farm, earmarked or tagged, and accompanied by a written permit.

Bailey added that hogs can be moved one time with no diversion enroute from one farm to another if they are inspected on the farm and moved under permit.

The USDA announced March 24 that producers may no longer remove apparently healthy animals from their swine herds infected by or exposed to hog cholera.

Officials of the USDA Animal Health Division say that all animals exposed from infected or exposed herds must be destroyed by burial, rendering, or special processing. Herd owners are paid state and federal indemnities to help compensate for losses.

Under the old salvage procedure, all animals from infected or exposed herds were examined by animal health officials. Those showing signs of hog cholera could be sent out for immediate slaughter.

With salvage there was no danger to human health if traces of hog cholera virus showed up in consumable pork products. However, there was the risk of hogs.

The 60-day Texas restriction and the discontinuing of the salvage procedure are designed to help in the complete eradication of hog cholera by the December 1972 target date.

VA Q & A

Q — I plan to attend college under the GI Bill, and understand that I must submit, at intervals, a certificate of attendance card. Is this true?

A — Yes, veterans attending college under the GI Bill are required to return a certification card to the VA during the last month of each enrollment period. Students studying under the GI Bill below the college level must submit a certificate of attendance card every month.

Q — I have read that some national cemeteries are filling up, and will soon close. Will VA pay an additional allowance toward purchasing a plot in a private cemetery?

A — There is no provision for VA to pay anything upon the death of a veteran except a statutory $250 burial allowance, unless he carries insurance administered by the VA. Also, the Army, not VA, is in charge of the National Cemetery System.

Q — Will the increased Social Security benefits cause me to have to pay back money to the VA if I go over the income limitation?

A — No, Your VA pension will be continued through the end of 1971. On receipt of your annual income questionnaire at the end of the year, your pension will be adjusted as appropriate.

Q — I am a World War II veteran and the VA has advised me that I can carry only $10,000 worth of Government Life Insurance. Is this true?

A — Yes. The maximum of $10,000 in VA insurance coverage is established by law.

'What it's like' invitation extended to students by TTU

High school seniors from a wide area of Texas and New Mexico are invited to find out for themselves "what it's like" at Texas Tech University Saturday (April 17).

The university will conduct an open house from 8 a.m. to 12 noon for visiting seniors, who later will have an opportunity to attend one or more events scheduled during the afternoon and night.

"The purpose of the open house," said Dr. Owen Caskey, associate vice president for academic affairs, "is to acquaint high school students with the services and educational opportunities offered at the university."

"Choosing the university where he will spend the next few years of his life is one of the biggest decisions a high school student will make. Often this decision is made without the benefit of even seeing the campus he will attend."

The open house will afford interested high school students a chance not only to view the campus but also to visit with the departments in which their educational interests lie, he said.

The University Center — the student union of Tech — will be open to the visiting students as will the bookstore, Residence Halls Housing Office, The Museum of Texas Tech, and the academic and administrative offices of the university.

Caskey also announced that the office of admissions in West Hall will be open where visiting students may pick up catalogs, permits to enroll, and other materials of interest to them.

Information booths to accommodate students will be manned in the Administration Building, the University Center and in West Hall.

"Texas Tech is one of the four multi-purpose universities of the state," said

Caskey. "The school is growing daily with new construction adding to the worth of buildings already present."

"Another aspect of Tech's growth can be seen when its present enrollment of more than 20,000 is compared with its first class in 1925 of 919."

Students will be able to visit any of the different colleges which make up Texas Tech University — the colleges of Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Education, Home Economics, and Business Administration and the Law School and Graduate School. A new School of Medicine is scheduled to accept its first class in the fall of 1972.

A variety of events will take place on the Tech campus during the day. The Texas Tech Rodeo, widely-known as one of the biggest and best of the collegiate rodeos, will have two performances Saturday at 2 and 8 p.m. Featured entertainers will include Dale Robertson and singer Jody Miller. Rodeo contestants are college and university students.

"The Lion in Winter" a truly moving play, will be presented in the University Theater at 8:15 p.m. and the Moody Planetarium of The Museum of Texas Tech will also present a show, "Jupiter, the Giant Planet" at 3 p.m.

Texas Tech has a faculty of more than 1,300 professors and instructors and a staff and supporting personnel of 1,900 who "make it possible for our university to offer the best in educational opportunities," said Caskey. "We urge all interested high school students to take advantage of this opportunity to get acquainted with Texas Tech."

THIS COTTON GIN received major damage which put it beyond economical repair.

T. R. ROWLAND'S Gulf Station was a shambles following the blow. It is hard to believe that a parakeet and a mina bird in the building escaped uninjured.

LARGE STEEL LEGS of this gin hopper were badly twisted and the gin substantially damaged by the great force of the wind.

ONLY DEBRIS now marks the spot where one Whiteface gin was damaged so extensively that it was not rebuilt.

A MODERN STEEL BUILDING and improved equipment now make Rowland's service station more efficient than it was prior to the storm.

TODAY THE WHITEFACE COOP GIN is a model of what a gin should look like.

THE FIRE STATION was destroyed and the only fire fighting unit at Whiteface was heavily damaged.

THIS WAS THE STARK REMAINS of what was shortly before a well-built warehouse.

THE OLD WHITEFACE HOTEL building needed assistance in standing in the wake of the twister.

A HANDSOME NEW BUILDING and new fire equipment have now replaced those that were destroyed by the 1970 tornado.

DAMAGED BEYOND ECONOMICAL REPAIR, a desolate bare area is all that remains of the warehouse complex.

REMODELING HAS PUT a new face on the landmark hotel building which now houses offices of Girlstown, U.S.A.

A growing number of Congressmen and Senators in Washington are dead set on drastically altering employer-employee relationships in U. S. agriculture. And they have a pretty good start.

Beginning in 1967, for the first time in history, users of over 500 man-days of farm labor in any calendar quarter became subject to a minimum wage law. The minimum has now progressed to $1.30 an hour, which is the top under present legislation.

In December of last year Congress passed the Occupational Safety and Health Act, and it applies to agriculture as to all other industry. It empowers the Secretary of Labor to lay down and enforce health and safety standards on farm machinery, chemicals, buildings and anything else he thinks might pose a health or safety hazard to farm workers. Violation of a "standard" could bring a $10,000 fine and six months imprisonment on a first offense. The penalty could be doubled for a second conviction.

But, according to J. D. Smith, Chairman of the Labor Committee of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., these are just the beginning. In the mill now are bills which would (1) progressively raise the minimum wage in agriculture to $1.50 in 1971, $1.60 in 1972, $1.80 in 1973 and $2.00 in 1974, and (2) bring agricultural workers under the National Labor Relations Act, virtually assuring unionization of farm employees.

The bill raising the farm minimum wage, by Congressman John Dent (D-Pa.), Chairman of the General Subcommittee on Labor, is cosponsored by almost all the majority members of the full Labor Committee. Also, House Speaker Carl Albert has announced the support of the House Democratic Leadership.

Hearings on the bill are slated for April 20 and 22, and Smith says PCG will present a statement in opposition. PCG will also have a hand in development of the statement to be presented by the National Council of Agricultural Employers, of which PCG is a charter member. Ed

Dean, PCG Field Service Director, is a member of the NCAE board of directors.

"Not only does the bill raise the minimum wage for farm labor," Dean said, "it would repeal the farmer's overtime exemption along with the exemption of other seasonal industry workers, including gins, oil mills and compresses."

Several bills have been introduced to delete the agricultural exemption of the National Labor Relations Act. Probably the most comprehensive, and potentially the most damaging to agriculture, is entitled "Farm Worker's Bill of Rights." In addition to bringing agriculture under the NLRA, if passed this legislation would make secondary boycotts a legal union tool in agriculture; would make workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance compulsory on farms, and establish farm worker labor standards, farm worker manpower training programs and a National Advisory Council on Agr. Labor.

"These pieces of legislation must be defeated if at all possible, Smith says. But he also told a meeting of the PCG Board recently "It is no longer practical for agriculture to take a simple 'no' position on all legislation that affects our labor situation. There is increasing evidence that we can no longer hope to remain totally exempt from the labor laws that have long applied to other industry, and our best chance now may be in having an influence on the kind of laws that are passed for agriculture."

The NCAE is working with Secretary of Labor James Hodgson toward an amendment to the NLRA which would establish a separate Agricultural Labor Relations Board, and provide protection against secondary boycotts and strikes at critical periods such as planting and harvest time.

The PCG Board has adopted a position in support of the NCAE in its efforts to include any farm labor legislation to the inclusion of provisions "for the protection of the farmer, his employees, consumers, and agriculture's ability to produce food and fiber supplies to meet the needs of the nation and the world."

ASCS Farm News

By John W. Hall

Cochran County farmers enrolled in the feed grain, wheat, or cotton programs are being reminded that the acreage set aside under each program should be as productive as the acreage normally used to produce the crop.

Danny Key, chairman of the Cochran County ASCS Committee suggests that producers who have any doubt about whether their proposed set-aside acreage will meet the qualifications should check with the County ASCS Office as soon as possible.

Key pointed out that at the time producers come in to the County Office to certify their set-aside acreage, they must specify precisely where the set-aside acreage is located. Final dates for certification are: May 3, for wheat, August 1 for cotton and Feed Grain.

After a producer has certified, if a mistake is found in his set-aside acreage he could lose some or all of his farm program payment.

"A farmer who is not quite sure whether his set-aside meets all requirements would be well advised to check with the County ASCS Office ahead of time. Also, he can request measurement service, which, if followed, will give him a guarantee that he has enough set-aside acreage. Measurement service is offered by the County ASCS Office at cost." Key said.

Producers in the voluntary feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs for 1971 set aside a percentage of their land to conserving uses, and will also maintain their farm's conserving base acreage. On the rest of their acreage they may plant as much feed grain, wheat, cotton, or any other crop they choose, with the exception of quota crops. Quota crops include peanuts, tobacco, rice, extra long staple cotton, and sugarcane, which may be planted only on farms with allotments for these crops.
