County Farm Products Worth $18,786,000

A FRIENDLY FAIRWELL--Roy Oxford, right receives a plaque of appreciation for his work as president of the Morton Jaycees chapter for the past several months. West Texas Seed Company transferred him to another city and he had to give up his Jaycee post here. Presenting the award at the regular meeting Tuesday night was Jimmy Studdard, incoming president, who replaces Oxford.

For Cochran County's farm community, the past year turned out to be a better one, by and large, than it did for farmers and ranchers in many parts of the country.

Although some operators did little more than hold their own, others, especially growers with large, well-equipped setups, ended up well in the black. The results were not so good, on the other hand, for most livestock producers.

The final figures for the year, recently released on a county-by-county basis, show that gross receipts in the local area from the sale of crops, livestock and other farm products compared favorably with those reported in 1973.

The better showing was due to higher prices obtained for most commodities rather than to increased production. Expectations of a bumper crop petered out because of the hot, dry summer followed by an early frost.

However, figures from the Department of Agriculture show that it was a landmark year in that gross farm income in the United States topped $100 billion for the first time in history.

In Cochran County, according to data compiled by the Standard Rate and Data Service, farm receipts in the year came to $18,786,000, as against the previous year's $15,043,000.

HOW YA GONNA KEEP EM out on the turnrow after they've been to "Big M" and seen "Lissome Lisa" do her act? This isn't all it appears to be (though it would be a good bet that some of her more "worldly" audience could probably tell you its a reasonable facsimile) it was only Lisa Bennett doing what she does best for the talent skit in the Miss Cochran County contest during the county fair. Lisa didn't win the title, but few would deny that she put on quite a show.

COOL IT PROGRAM BEGUN

Racial Strife Erupts At MHS

Morton High School was racked last week by a series of incidents between black and white students that culminated in a fist fight between one black and one white student in city park.

The battle, which was quickly broken up by law officers, apparently stemmed from both racial tensions and animosity between athletes on the MHS football and basketball teams. A substantial number of both blacks and whites participated in the confrontation, and local officials indicate that if the police had not broken it up quickly, that it could

Trick or Treat

Morton's youth will "Trick or Treat" for the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service Sunday. Area youth are invited to join at the First United Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. to begin the door to door canvass.

All funds collected will go to CROP for distribution to the hungry around the world.

Tribe Drops Loop Opener To Olton Mustangs 6-25

Morton's Fighting Indians had hardly gotten their tomahawks unsung Friday night before they found themselves on the deficit end of a 6-0 score when the Olton Mustangs struck paydirt with just 3:55 gone in the first quarter. An end run try for two extra points was no good.

The Mustangs scored again with 8:02 left in the half and missed with the kick for the extra point to bring the score to 12-0 at intermission time.

The fired-up Mustangs piled up 13 more points in the third period. See TRIBE Page 5

'Instant' Cotton

Market Information

Cotton farmers will be able to get instant cotton market news from the U.S. Department of Agriculture beginning October 28 throughout the West Texas cotton marketing season.

This service, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, was announced by Paul R. Dickson, who is in charge of the Lubbock cotton classing office, USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

"Since we logged more than 100 calls daily last season -- the first time we've offered instant market news, we feel that such interest warrants our continuing the service," Dickson said. Farmers and other interested persons can dial Area Code 806-763-7870 and get a two-minute report on West Texas cotton market news.

The report will cover Lubbock spot cotton prices, producer mixed lot cotton prices, spot market quotations, demand, and supply.

Also, the report will include the number of bales classed daily, the quality range with

Halloween Carnival Now

One Of Main Local Events

By Darlene Williams
The days grow shorter, the nights are cool and crisp, farmers rush about harvesting their crops, school has started and football reigns as the game of the season. It is a great and glorious time of the year and all of these things are yearly occasions that signify the changing season from Summer to Fall.

Another annual event of the Fall season is the Community Halloween Carnival sponsored by the Emlea Smith Junior Study Club. October 1975 marks the 9th year this community-oriented organization has put their time and talents to work for the people of Morton.

Nine years ago members met together to hash out ideas for a money making project for their club that would help them to support their many charities and projects and one that would also benefit the community as a whole. Many ideas were considered but they wanted that one special idea that would be of great interest to the young school age children, one that would give the high school students something to

Mahon Happy That Grain Embargo Off

Congressman George Mahon, following the announcement by the Administration of a grain sales agreement with the Soviet Union, today said:

"Although I have not had the opportunity to analyze all of the provisions of the announced agreement, I am most pleased that the suspension of grain sales to the Soviet Union has been lifted.

However, the announcement of the grain agreement comes at a

Russia Coldly Rejected British Request For Men To Fight Colonies

Two hundred years ago this month Americans were making every effort to provide military defense for the war with England that seemed more than ever only a matter of time.

In the meantime, the British were also at work to secure as much support as they could in the upcoming conflict. For England the availability of troops proved to be a most serious issue.

Since fighting in America against fellow countrymen would be very distasteful to the average British soldier, consideration was given to the use of mercenary troops -- hired soldiers from another nation. The use of foreigners to fight England's battles could also have serious psychological implications, especially if Americans could exploit them. Nonetheless, the British decided to try for foreign assistance.

For a while, Russia seemed to be a likely source for hired soldiers. The British minister in Moscow, Lord Gunning, reported that he believed that the empress, Catherine II, might be receptive to such an idea.

After much prior negotiation, George III wrote a note to Catherine in his own handwriting in which he expressed the deep affection between the two countries and requested that she make available to him 20,000 Russian troops for use in North America.

Gunning had badly misjudged sentiment in Russia. When George III's message arrived there was much diplomatic maneuvering in an attempt not to answer it. Finally, however, when no other choice was available, Catherine responded in a formal and somewhat sarcastic manner that she could not comply. She deliberately did not answer in her own handwriting.

George was somewhat upset by her reply, but by now he was more intent upon receiving foreign troops than in dealing with personal matters. In fact, negotiations were already underway with several German princes for use of their troops. If Catherine had been more receptive, Russian troops might well have fought in the American Revolution.

Meanwhile, in Spanish Texas the concern about foreign influence was also serious. Any report of foreigners in Texas was a matter of concern to the Spanish government because of the possibility of encroaching foreign influence. After all, Texas and other frontier provinces existed to protect the northern frontiers of New Spain. In the eighteenth century because of the problem of communication in such a large area a foreign settlement could be made and fairly well established before anyone heard about it. Therefore, the Texas frontier officials were ever-vigilant for any rumors. -- Donald W. Whisenand, history professor-Eastern New Mexico University.

The Editor

This letter is not addressed to any specific person but to anyone who will listen. I am sitting here in the sunshine at home after school, and I feel very frustrated and at a loss as to what to say or what to do. Something must be done; something must be done.

I feel so sad, and my heart seems like a weight inside of me when I come to school and see kids fighting, hating each other, feeling resentment and anger towards each other. Essays are written saying, "I come to school to get an education not fight a bunch of morons who think they own everything just because their ancestors were slaves," and I like Morton and I'm glad I grew up here, but it's days like this that make me want to leave this, or at least wish there were no niggers in it.

Backbiting, name-calling, resentment, operating on such a low emotional level! And these are from some of our "leaders of tomorrow."

I just don't understand it. Such attitudes are usually learned in the home at an early age and are constantly reinforced in the home. I do not believe they are natural or instinctual or the least bit reflective of the spirit of Christ.

I ask myself--"How do you teach kids who are under the influence of their parents' prejudices and resentments, who are subject to hatred for their humans every day of

TI Honors
Mrs. Jones

Mrs. Sarah Jones, former resident and mother of Mrs. Robert George of Morton was honored by Texas Instruments in Lubbock for not having been absent from work for two years and two months.

Mrs. Jones is in the Opto SEP department assembling beads and lenses for the LS-400.

In honoring Mrs. Jones, her line supervisor, Janice Baker, said "When going over employee records for performance review, I came to Sarah's and could not believe there were no absences or tardy marks against her since she started working for TI. I just wish every employee were like Sarah. The really amazing thing about it all is this is the first job she has ever held."

their lives?" And every time I come up with no answer. I guess one cannot teach love or understanding or compassion.

I wish I could bore holes in their heads, both black and white, and pour it in. The hands of teachers are tied, powerless unless the process begins at home. Education is nothing without understanding; knowledge is nothing without wisdom and compassion. If a person can feel no compassion or love at all for his fellowman because of skin color or religion or creed, I believe he is more poverty-stricken and shrivelled than the most starving, malnourished child in Bangladesh.

I cannot understand in such a small, pious town of so many churches and Christians why there are so few outward signs of Christ's spirit of love and understanding.

I am only sorry I cannot do more.

Sincerely,

In Finance Article,
Of Constitution

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that there are no free rides for either individual taxpayers or local governments in the Finance Article of the proposed constitution.

"Where the constitution giveth, it also taketh," Bullock said of the Finance Article's mandatory homestead exemptions for the elderly and putting all personal property--including automobiles--on the tax rolls.

"What the constitution taketh may come as a surprise to one million taxpayers in Harris County who own automobiles if they wake up after November 5 and find a stack of personal property tax bills on their cars from the county, the city and the school district," Bullock said.

Putting all cars on the tax rolls would cost motorists more than $72 million a year in taxes, Bullock said, pointing out that more than 500 cities, schools and counties do not now tax automobiles.

Likewise, Bullock said, making homestead property tax exemptions for the elderly mandatory would take $21 million in tax money away from another 500 local governments which do not now grant the exemption.

"That $21 million would have to be made up from somewhere--and that 'somewhere' is the rest of the taxpayers in the cities and counties and school districts affected," he said.

"In the past this very good exemption has been permissive--completely a local option--and you can rest assured that any local government which could afford it has granted it," he said.

Holiday Fruit

The Morton F.F.A. Chapter is now taking orders for oranges and grapefruit for the holiday season.

Forty pound boxes are $6.25 and may be ordered by calling 266-5780 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays, other times call 266-5095 or contact any FFA member. Fruit will be delivered December 3 through 8.

A 39 yard end run with 7:10 to go and a 12 yard pass with only 29 seconds to go in the period. They were connected with one PAT on the last touchdown after missing the last three tries.

The Indians finally got on the scoreboard on a Rusty Lamar 18 yard pass to Robbie Gattis with a scant 35 seconds left on the clock. The PAT run by Lamar failed and the game ended 25-6 in favor of the Olton Mustangs.

The tale of the tapes was all in the favor as they posted a total offense of 438 yards to 103 for the Indians. Their total came to 347 yards rushing and 91 via airways. Morton compiled 51 yards rushing and 52 yards passing.

Olton racked up 17 first downs for the Indians. They completed six of 18 passes with interception to four of 19 for the Tribe with one interception. The Mustangs did not punt even once (for a 0 average) and Morton averaged 33.6 yards on nine punts.

Morton lost only one fumble to Olton and were penalized 35 yards to an even 100 against the Mustangs.

Gattis led Morton individual statistics with five carries for 27 yards and a 5.4 yard average. Larry Moore carried 11 times for 27 yards and a 2.4 average. Jimmy Green gained 10 yards on three carries and Lamar netted a loss of 12 yards on six carries.

Lamar completed four of 18 passes for a total of 52 yards. The Indians travel to Bluefield Friday night to take on Wildcats in the second of their District 3-AA games.

Escalated into a very serious situation.

Students, parents, teachers and school officials have indicated to the Tribune that Wednesday's confrontation was the culmination of long-standing ill feelings and frustrations between the races that has been seething within the walls of the school, and cannot be blamed more on one side than on the other.

Following the disturbance of Wednesday, the school board was called into emergency session to discuss ways and means of cooling the present situation and forestalling future incidents were discussed. A system of discipline wherein a three-day suspension could be assessed each person caught fighting on the campus and free such suspensions would be the basis for permanently expelling the offender.

These rules were read and explained to all high school students by the Principal and are to be closely administered in the future under supervision of the school board.

Following the called meeting of the school board, Supt. Bob E. Davis convened an open meeting of the faculty lounge at the school which four white students and four black students, all males, were brought together across the hall in an attempt to "talk out" their differences. Some members of the school board and other interested persons attended the meeting and joined in the discussions.

That meeting was considered a success in lowering the tensions that a second meeting was called for Monday afternoon with twice the number on each side participating. A certain amount of rapport seemed to have been reached, with both meetings ending in a much more relaxed atmosphere and with students on both sides conceding dual fault and vowing to strive for better understanding in the future.

The meetings appeared to clear up a relatively large number of long-standing prejudices and misunderstandings on both sides by laying claims and counterclaims out on the table and discussing them away.

Both the school board and school administrators agreed to give the students ample opportunity to work out their own solutions, and the students have formally pledged to work to that end.

There was to be a similar meeting of white and black female students on Tuesday, which the Tribune was unable to attend.

School board president Ben Kuehler and other board members and Supt. Travis have conceded that there will always be a certain amount of trouble in the school, but that a good start had been made and they feel they are on the right track toward lessening the tensions and opening the way to better relations among the students on the campus.

FARM

The increase, 25 percent, compares with a 21 percent rise in the United States.

The income figure refers to gross receipts, before taxes and operating costs are taken into account.

The bulk of it consisted of cash returns from the sale of crops, livestock and other commodities. Making up the rest were government payments and "income in kind," which is the value of the home-grown products consumed on the farm.

A breakdown of the cash receipts in Cochran County from the sale of farm goods, based upon the most recent data from the Department of Agriculture, shows approximately 67 percent coming from crops and 33 percent from marketings of livestock, poultry and dairy products.

As for the net income that remained for the nation's farmers after deducting their expenses, that is another story. It dropped from the record high of $32.2 billion, chalked up in 1973, to $27.2 billion, chiefly due to a big jump in operating costs.

participate in, and also one that would be enjoyable for the adults.

Finally a Halloween Carnival was mentioned and imaginations were vivid with the vastness of the idea. It was great and it would fulfill their concern for the young people; it would give kids something to do on Halloween night and at the same time keep them off the streets and away from mischievous pranks.

But-how could just a few women handle such an enormous task? Where would they have it? Would other organizations be interested? Could they really make it work? Well, never underestimate the will of a woman, much less the power of a group of women.

Emlea Smith Juniors took the idea of a Halloween Carnival and have built it up to be one of the main events of the year for the community. Besides the Last Frontier Rodeo and the Fat Stock Show, the Halloween Carnival is the longest surviving organized activity in Morton.

It is with great pride that the Emlea Smith Junior Study Club again has the privilege to sponsor the Community Halloween Carnival with Mrs. Ray Luper serving as chairman for the 1975 carnival.

The motto for the carnival is "Bigger & Better" and once again the school, organizations and clubs of Morton have turned out in full force to help make this motto come true. Only non-profit organizations may rent booth space thus all monies made from the carnival are channeled out to various charities and projects that will benefit others.

Preparation for the carnival begins about a month beforehand with committees being appointed, letters sent to various organizations, publicity, a building acquired, costumes made and the last few days are spent decorating, marking booth spaces, helping others to get their booths ready for the big night and baking the homemade cakes for their own cakewalk booth.

Club members stay a few hours after everyone else has gone home and put the last cleanup touches to the building. It will be a long and drawn-out affair with a few problems along the way, but the carnival will be a great success for everyone involved. And even though the members are tired and exhausted they will already be planning for a "Bigger and Better" carnival next year.

The 1975 Halloween Carnival will be held on Thursday, October 30 so as not to conflict with the Dimmitt Football game on Halloween night. The activities will begin at 6:15 p.m. in the Cochran County Activity Building Auditorium with the coronation of the Halloween Carnival Queen. The Queen will have the honor of officially opening the doors to the 1975 carnival. Booths will be set up in the halls and banquet room of the Activity Building and will be open until 10:30 p.m.

The students have already begun fund raising projects for their candidates. The class raising the most money will win the contest and their candidate will reign as Queen over the Halloween Carnival.

Those elected by their classes to run for Halloween Carnival Queen are as follows: Senior-Linda Adams; Junior-Rayma Hall, Sophomore-Brenda Tanner; Freshman-Corinne Semnacher and representing the 6th, 7th and 8th grades of Junior High will be Belinda Betts.

Nineteen booths have been rented for this year's carnival providing an assortment of games, prizes and refreshments. The following clubs have reserved booth space and will be giving their time and efforts to present a fun-filled evening for all the residents of Morton.

School and Youth Groups: Senior Class-pie throw, junior class-queen contest, sophomore class-marriage booth, freshman class-seance booth, FHA-jail house, 4-H-dart board, boy scouts-undecided, Webelos and cub scouts-basketball and softball throw, band boosters-spoop house.

Business Organizations: Lions club-bingo, chamber of commerce-coin drop, jaycees-gold putting green.

Church groups: Assembly of God-hot dogs, frito pies, candy apples, brownies, soft drinks and coffee, G-A's Missionary Baptist Church-undecided

Women's Clubs: cotton council-fishing pond, Emlea Smith Jr.-cakewalk and poll power booth, YM's-bicentennial quilt raffle.

In commenting on the purchase of Soviet oil, Mahon said: "It appears that the agreement with respect to the annual purchase of 10 million tons of oil per year from the Soviet Union would be in the public interest. The amount being purchased is relatively small, but could prove significant as international trade agreements are considered during the 5-year period."

comments about bark and other trash that cause quality reduction, how well the Lubbock classing office is able to keep up with the ginnings, and cottonseed prices.

"This cotton market news is collected by unbiased reporters who have no financial interest in the market," Mr. Dickson said.

"They get their facts by daily contracts with farmers, ginners, buyers, merchants and others in the cotton industry. Then, we summarize the facts to provide up-to-the-minute cotton market news," he explained.

Bill Crockett, a veteran cotton market news man, will handle the instant-market news service again this year.

Persons who wish to get weekly cotton market news, cotton quality and cottonseed reports by mail should request them from the Cotton Classing Office, AMS-USA, P.O. Box 879, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

time when it appears that the Russians have already bought much of their requirements from sources outside the U.S. The benefits which will now accrue to the American farmer have been greatly diminished due to the long delays in lifting the moratorium."

Concerning the 5-year agreement for an annual purchase of 6 million tons of American grain by the Soviet Union, Mahon stated:

"I favor a long term grain sales agreement with the Soviet Union as long as the sales are made on the basis of the current

IS THE CHURCH PART OF YOUR LIFE?

Many of us grew up with pictures of caravans crossing the sands of the Sahara. Those in the West know that the desert has many faces. One of our common mistakes in life is to assume that trees make a forest, flowers a garden, clothes a man—that appearances promise reality. One of the invaluable influences of Christianity upon society has been its distinction between the facade and the truth. Christ taught that men must be known by their faith. Lack of spiritual concern is the surest way to make the world a desert of trees—a society of people without a sense of responsibility. Wastelands cry out for reclamation. The Church of Christ is reclaiming our society for Him. You need its Message.

E.M. AND LUDY AYCOCK

Late Levelland Couple Still Have Place In Oilmen's Hearts

Many an oilfield worker who swarmed to Levelland during the early boom years had good reason to thank E.M. "Gene" and Ludy Aycock.

The couple, who opened the Levelland Coffee Shop after coming here in 1929, often extended credit to struggling oilfield workers who couldn't afford to pay for their meals at the coffee shop. The Aycocks even sacked up their lunches and had them ready to be picked up at noontime, a resident recalled.

The Aycocks continued to help others through their church, clubs and to befriend those they met at the coffee shop. The couple died recently within days of each other, but, even in death, their generosity will live on.

Ludy Aycock willed her estate to her husband upon her death, and he in turn, has willed the remainder of his estate, after special bequests, to the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention [40%], the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas [30%] and to South Plains College [30%]. The donation to the College is to be used as a loan fund for students under the Texan Fund now in operation at SPC and is to be known as the E.M. and Ludy K. Aycock Memorial Fund.

Dr. Marvin Baker, president of SPC, commented, "Evidence of their kindness and consideration for others was again demonstrated by Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Aycock when they established a memorial fund for the young people of this area. This living fund will help thousands of young people throughout the coming years. Although they are no longer with us physically, the spirit of these two wonderful people will live forever in our hearts."

Eugene Mell Aycock, a native of Buffalo Gap, Texas, wed Ludy Katherine Green on May 27, 1918 at Aspermont. They later moved to Crosbyton, residing there 10 years before coming to Levelland.

The couple became familiar figures at the coffee shop, with Aycock often doing the cooking and Ludy manning the cash register or serving at the counter during busy lunch hours. They ran the coffee shop from early in the morning 'til late in the evening, six days a week. However, the Aycocks refused to open their business on Sundays, one resident remarked, although they extended credit to customers to eat at other places on that day.

Sunday was the day they devoted to church. Members of the First Baptist Church for many years, the Aycocks were always there for Wednesday and Sunday services. Ludy taught a women's Sunday School class for many years and her husband often prepared food for various church activities. And the couple were instrumental in helping build the present church and parsonage.

Outside the coffee shop and church, the Aycocks participated in several clubs and organizations. Aycock was past master of the Levelland Masonic Lodge 1236 and was a 32nd degree Mason. He also had received his 50-year pin with the organization.

He was proud of the fact that he was a World War I veteran and served as charter member of World War I Barracks. He also was a member of the American Legion and the Lubbock Scottish Rite Bodies.

Ludy was a member of the Levelland Study Club and the American Legion auxiliary and both were members of the Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 797.

Until the time that Aycock sold the coffee shop for a brief period in an effort to retire, he had never sold a hamburger, he told a customer. The Aycocks took over the business again for a few years and he ran it until they finally were able to retire in 1968.

"He was one of the finest fellas that ever was," one Levelland man said. "He and his wife were real close. You never saw one without the other."

Ludy, who was 83, died on Aug. 31 of this year, and was followed on Sept. 11 by her husband Gene, who was 80. The couple are buried in Resthaven Memorial Park in Lubbock.

Through their often unspoken generosity and friendship to many people in town and through the loan fund set up in their names at SPC, their memories will live on for a long time to come.

Here's where to install grab bars in showers: 56 to 60 inches high or just above the soap dish.

Doing Her Own Thing

There's nothing ordinary about Martha Shelton. When she sets a goal for herself, she usually reaches it. But not in the usual way.

She is now an Area Sales Manager with Stanley Home Products, Inc., the Westfield, Mass., based direct selling company. Twenty-six years ago, when Mrs. Shelton was laid off for three weeks from her job as secretary, she temporarily became an independent Stanley dealer. She was so successful, she never returned to her old job. As a full-time dealer, she initiated unusual selling ideas.

Once, for instance, she decided to have a Stanley Hostess Party in a different house every hour for 24 consecutive hours.

After that success, she tried another way to have a party every hour for 12 consecutive hours, on six consecutive days! That took a lot of organizing, and it is no surprise that she is now, at age 49, among the country's top-paid salespeople.

She has won trips to Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, Hawaii and Acapulco. And, she adds, "I've had a lot of fun, made many friends, and gotten a lot of recognition."

Most of all, direct selling still excites her. It offers enormous opportunities even to people without a college degree, she feels. "And if you're lucky enough to find a company that cares about its products and associates you can't beat it. Stanley spends a lot of time and money developing its products and in the training, counseling and education of its people. How else could a young farm girl who started as a Stanley dealer wearing dresses made from feed sacks grow and develop into a person with a top executive type career? It has to be the greatest opportunity in the U.S. All it takes is a little determination."

Enochs-Bula News

By Mrs. J.D. Bayless

The Enoch's Co-op gin ginned their first bale of cotton Wednesday. It was harvested on the Harold Layton place and was hand pulled. They ginned two more bales Saturday.

The Co-op elevator is full and grain is piled all around the elevator to the east. This is the most grain they have ever received.

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Peterson left Monday and returned Saturday evening from a visit with their daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Harold Abney, at Channing and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Peterson, at Hillsboro. They also attended the State Fair in Dallas.

Rev. Charlie Shaw preached both services Sunday. This was the first time he has been able to preach since he was so ill.

Mrs. Robert George and son, Brent, and Chris, Kerry and Kim Rowden of Lubbock spent the weekend with her parents, the E.N. McCalls.

Eating has always played a major role in the life style of affluent America. This necessity and pleasure of life in no way decreases with the aging process. Though the need for the same quantity usually lessens, the need for nutritious and attractively served food does not. The specific type of diet required by the residents of Roberts Memorial Nursing Home of Morton is determined and ordered by the individual's personal physician. (Mrs.) Avis Allen of Plainview serves as our trained and qualified consultant dietician. Mrs. Allen is responsible for planning the regular and special diet menus. She interprets doctors' orders for diets, evaluates the Food Service Program, provides in-service training for the dietary staff, and offers helpful suggestions to the food service supervisor and the administrator concerning methods for improving and more adequately meeting the dietary needs of our people. (Mrs.) Nola Bohot is assigned as food service supervisor and morning cook; (Mrs.) Santos Honesto is the evening cook. (Mrs.) Angelita Honesto is the relief cook. ## Freeze In Brazil Forecasts Sharp Coffee Price Rise

It's going to cost more to wake up in the morning, at least if you depend on coffee as an eye-opener.

Coffee prices are expected to jump sharply in the coming months due to a July freeze in the top coffee producing states of Brazil, which annually produces about a third of the world coffee crop.

"The freeze is expected to cut in half next year's harvest of coffee beans in Brazil," points out Dr. Russell McDonald, economist in marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Furthermore, this year's world coffee crop is down 8 per cent from that of last year."

Buyers in the United States generally have small inventories and were anticipating a large coffee crop for the 1975-76 crop year, which would have meant lower prices. But, they must now build their stocks in the wake of the disastrous freeze losses in Brazil.

"Following the July freeze, the New York cash price for green coffee jumped about 20 cents per pound from the June average of 55 to 65 cents for Arabica coffees. Retail coffee prices may increase 25 to 75 cents per pound during the next three to nine months," speculates McDonald.

Despite the lowered production forecast for the coming crop year, there will be enough coffee to go around, notes the Texas A&M University System economist. However, reserve stocks will be down sharply. U.S. Department of Agriculture officials estimate that Brazil now holds about 21 million bags of coffee in reserve. The country annually exports about 18 million bags and itself consumes another 8 million. So, carryover stocks going into the 1976-77 crop year are highly uncertain at this point and will depend heavily on just how short next year's harvest is in Brazil.

"One thing is for sure, though," says McDonald. "That cup of coffee is going to cost more."

Mrs. Williams Speaker At Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. Harry Williams of Levelland presented a program on "Artistic Arrangements for an Occasion" to the members of the Whiteface Garden Club Monday evening, October 20, in Fellowship Hall of the Whiteface Baptist Church.

Fall colors predominated in the arrangements shown, and many types of arrangements were displayed. The modern trend to use fresh, dried or silk flowers in place of the plastic flowers that were in vogue in past years was very clearly demonstrated. Pottery, baskets, brass, gilt and glass containers dominated in the display. In style the arrangements varied from Early American Influence to the most Modern Abstract.

Announcement was made of the Christmas Tour planned by the Hockley County Garden Club Council, Dec. 17. The Tour will include three homes decorated in different styles of floral arrangements.

Following a brief business meeting conducted by the Club president, Mrs. R.D. Hensley, refreshments were served to twenty members of the local club. Present were: Mmes: R.D. Hensley, J.J. Stocks, L.E. McDonald, D.F. Burris, Elmer Orr, Rube Abney, S.J. Bills, J.W. Allen, Larry Seals, E.E. Jennings, Dan Ward, Tommy Hayes, Jerry Marks, J.L. ## GI Bill Trainees For 1975 Expected To Exceed 3 Million

A record 2,691,566 persons trained under the GI Bill during fiscal year 1975 and projections indicate the number will exceed three million persons in this fiscal year, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, reported today. The FY 1975 figures represented a 14 percent increase over FY 1974.

The current GI Bill entered its 10th year June 1. Participation rates have exceeded those under either of its two predecessors. Some 4.5 million of the 7.6 million eligible Vietnam-era veterans have used GI Bill benefits, about 60 percent.

The participation rate was 43.4 percent under 13 years of the Korean Conflict bill and 50.5 percent under 12 years of the original World War II bill.

The FY 1975 total included 266,890 men and women still on active military duty. Of the remaining 2.4 million veterans, almost two million saw service during the Vietnam era. Two out of three person trained in FY 1975 were at the college level.

Preliminary reports received by VA of fall enrollment across the nation indicate the FY 1975 record will be short-lived. "Our best forecast at this time is for 3,077,000 trainees in fiscal year 1976," Coker said.

The FY 1975 figures included 890,000 persons entering training for the first time. This is almost 100,000 more than entered training in FY 1974. Of the new trainees, 67 percent entered at college level, exclusive of correspondence courses.

VA officials attribute the current surge in participation to increased educational assistance allowances enacted under the Vietnam and G.C. Keith.

Mmes. Elmer Orr, D.F. Burris and L.E. McDonald were the hostesses.

Next meeting will be Nov. 3 in the Fellowship Hall of the Whiteface United Methodist Church with a workshop on Macrame.

Era Readjustment Act of 1974.

Single veterans attending school full time receive $270 monthly. A veteran with one dependent draws $321 monthly, $366 with two dependents and an additional $22 monthly for each dependent over two.

A special outreach effort has been started by the VA to urge 94,000 eligible women veterans who have not used their GI Bill benefits to do so. Deadline for completion of training is May 31, 1976, or 10 years from the veteran's date of discharge, whichever is later. Only 46 percent of the 174,000 eligible women veterans have trained under the current GI Bill.

Among those 80,000 women who have used the current bill, some may be eligible for a special retroactive payment. Women veterans who were married and who attended school under the GI Bill between June 1, 1966, and October 24, 1972, may be eligible for about $30 for each month they were in training while married.

The special payment equalizes benefits with those received by married male veterans who trained under the GI Bill during this period. Women veterans may file claims for the money at any VA Regional Office before July 1, 1976.

County Agent News

By ROY N. JONES

Many agricultural producers tried to get along without fertilizer, or at least shortchanged their normal usage, during the past crop year. This has resulted in lower yields on many cases, something farmers can ill afford with current economic conditions.

Roy Jones, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that fertilizer use in Texas has gone down about 30 per cent from July, 1974 through March, 1975 compared to the same period a year earlier. Such a reduction can only mean reduced yields and monetary loss at a time when producers should be striving for maximum production efficiency.

Not only does fertilizer boost production but it also provides for efficient utilization of other available resources, such as moisture, explains the agent. Adequate fertilizer can improve water use efficiency as much as 10 times in extreme cases and can improve a plant's ability to transform the sun's energy into food for growth by an equally impressive factor.

Of course, fertilizer should be used indiscriminately, emphasizes Jones. Applying too much is just as uneconomical as not applying enough.

What, then, should producers do to reap the most benefits from their investment in fertilizer? Mr. Jones offers these suggestions:

1. First of all, have the soil tested by a reputable laboratory to determine the fertilizer rate that should produce the optimum yield response.
2. Apply lime where needed to improve fertilizer efficiency.

3. Buy fertilizer at a time when the crop will obtain the maximum benefit, with minimum losses to tie-up, volatilization, leaching or erosion.

4. Apply fertilizer at the recommended rate to obtain optimum yield response and maximum net profit. Some adjustments for plant available water, crops being grown, plant population and cropping history may be necessary.

5. Apply fertilizer in the manner that results in optimum yield and profit. For most row crops, this means banding phosphorus just prior to or at planting, and topdressing or sidedressing nitrogen within 30 days after crop emergence. Field results show that nitrogen response is best when small amounts (not more than 25 per cent of the total requirement) are applied as a preplant application, with the balance applied as a sidedressing.

6. Calibrate application equipment for accuracy and check the machine at regular intervals to verify the rate of application.

7. Control weeds; they compete with crops for food, water and sunlight and therefore reduce production.

Fertilizer has always played a key role in agricultural production and its use is still vital for optimum crop yields, emphasizes the agent. Although fertilizer costs have increased in recent years along with other production inputs, fertilizer is still a sound investment. However, it must be used wisely if it is to produce the expected dividends.

Anaplasmosis is becoming more widespread in Texas cattle, says Roy Jones, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Anaplasmosis is a disease caused by a small parasite that enters the red blood cells of animals. It causes anemia and sometimes death and is usually spread from carrier animals by ticks, flies and mosquitoes or a puncture from a sharp unclean object.

Symptoms of the disease are rapid breathing, constipation, frequent urination and slobbering. Animals may go off feed. As the disease gets worse, fever goes up and membranes around the nose get pale or yellowish, points out the agent. A vet should be called immediately since untreated animals can die within 24-48 hours after symptoms develop.

A blood test for diagnosing the disease and finding carrier animals is available from the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at College Station. The test cost $2.

Infected animals should be separated immediately from the rest of the herd, emphasizes Jones. These can be treated by feeding 5 milligrams of chlortetracycline per pound of body weight per day for 60 days.

As a preventive measure against anaplasmosis, cattlemen can feed 5 milligrams of chlortetracycline per pound of body weight per day during the season when the disease is more prevalent. This precaution will reduce the severity of the disease, notes Mr. Jones.

Also, make sure dehorning, ear marking, castration and vaccination equipment is cleaned and disinfected after each use, advises the agent.

Vaccination will not prevent the disease but will help reduce its severity and will cut death losses.

Quarterly Sales Tax Returns Due By October 31

Comptroller Bob Bullock has reminded the 230,000 retail businesses in Texas that October 31 is the deadline for filing their quarterly sales tax returns.

"It's only a few days away and any return filed after that time means nothing but problems for us and for the taxpayer," Bullock said, noting that tardy reports can carry financial penalties.

Reports due October 31 cover the July-August-September quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in September.

"Late reports are usually nothing more than oversights but that doesn't keep them from being a problem anyhow," said Bullock.

Any retail merchant with questions should contact the nearest field office of the Comptroller's Department, Bullock said.

Jaclyn Claye

has her say . . . . .

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: I know that a lot of people suffered terribly during the economic depression of the 1930's, but I wish that some of them would begin to forget about it; my husband especially. For example, although we knew each other ever since we were children, still we didn't get married until we were in our middle thirties or until my husband finally decided that we could afford it. Now, we are in our fifties and we are trying to raise two teenaged youngsters and the differences of age makes dealing with our kids just that much tougher. For example, our two teenaged daughters like to go barefoot in the summer. My husband absolutely forbids this because it reminds him of the poverty he knew as a child during the depression and the sight of barefeet just drives him nuts. And blue jeans with patches! My older daughter tried that one a few months ago and my husband searched her room until he found them and then he tore them up in a crazy rage. The real capper came a few days ago Jaclyn, when my older daughter had her most recent boyfriend over for the evening. Sure enough, it didn't take long for the subject of the Great Depression to come up, and then the unsuspecting young man said something to the effect that there were probably a few good things about the depression too, at which point my husband went stark, raving mad and chased the kid around the table twice and out the front door. It was really embarrassing to my daughter and now she won't speak. Honestly Jaclyn, it is really wearing me down trying to keep peace in the family and it always happens because of that damned depression. Do you think my husband needs psychiatric help? Signed, THE REFEREE.

DEAR REF.: It is impossible to suggest psychiatric help to someone unless that person feels that he or she has a problem. My bet is that your husband sincerely feels that he is totally sane but that the rest of the world is nuts. He might even be right! And although I cannot clearly remember the depression years they must surely have been terrible times because it apparently destroyed the self confidence of many people, and your husband, I believe, is among that number.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: You mentioned in one of your columns that you especially enjoy wearing those East Indian sandals. I bought a pair on the strength of what you said about them but I had to stop wearing them because I developed a bad rash. Your comment? Signed, GLORIA.

DEAR GLORIA: Right. There are a few people who cannot wear East Indian sandals without developing a rash; you're probably one of those people. Apparently some ladies are allergic to the vegetable tannin found in some East Indian plants and used in the tanning process. Tannin is related to tannic acid which is a vegetable chemical similar to that which is found in North American poison ivy. If you are allergic to the sandals, it's regrettable because they really are a comfortable item.

DEAR JACLYN CLAYE: What do you do with a guy like this: my husband spends money like water. Recently, he wanted to go on a vacation to Italy. I told him it would be far too costly, but if we both stopped smoking cigarettes the $60.00 we would save each month would pay for the cost of the vacation if we took the vacation now and paid monthly, later. Well, we left for Italy and had a really wonderful time; no cigarettes, just good, clean fun. However, after his first day back at the office he bought a pack of cigarettes, has been smoking ever since, and I'm stuck with having to scrape up the monthly payment for the trip. Now what? Signed, T&T.

DEAR T&T: Easy. Take it out of his diet. How about meatless meals for the next twelve months.

The moratorium on grain sales to Russia and Poland, whatever the reasons behind it, is a seriously disruptive element in agricultural trade, according to Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

While cotton, per se, is not involved in the trade stoppage, PCG nevertheless is concerned for two reasons, Johnson says. Most of our cotton producer members are also grain producers, he points out, "and any government interference with international trade in any agricultural commodity is a dangerous precedent for all commodities."

The board of the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations (TACPO), of which Johnson is a member, has taken a firm position against the moratorium, citing the fact that an average of about 35% of all U.S. cotton production goes into the export market. An even greater percentage of Texas cotton is sold to foreign countries.

"It is vital to the U.S. cotton industry and especially to our Texas industry that we have free and uninterrupted access to foreign markets," Johnson said, adding that the grain embargo casts a shadow of doubt in the minds of overseas customers on the dependability of the U.S. as a continuous supplier of agricultural commodities, cotton included.

Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock and Senator Carl Curtis of Nebraska met last September 24 with President Gerald Ford in Washington to convey the strong opposition of farmers across the country to the Administration's sales embargo.

Wilmer Smith, a New Home farmer and Past President of PCG, attended the meeting with the President and reported to the PCG board that the President then expected to lift the embargo by October 11. However, as this is being written on October 17, sales are still suspended.

Meanwhile, Ford's State Department is negotiating with Russian officials for an agreement under which Russia would buy a minimum amount of grain from the U.S. every year, and there is speculation that the moratorium may not be lifted until such an agreement is reached. There is conjecture that the agreement is all but ready for signing and that only its ties to related negotiations for Russian petroleum sales to the U.S. are holding up final resolution.
