Floyd Consumer Debt $1,700 Per Family

NEW YORK, March 20 - To what extent have Floyd County residents been using installment credit for home improvements and for the purchase of new cars, refrigerators and other big ticket items?

How large is their debt load at the present time? How well are they handling it?

Most of them appear to be in good shape. For several years they have been limiting their expenditures for costly goods and services because of their concern over inflation, unemployment and other aspects of the economy.

Some of the money that they would normally have spent in such directions went, instead, toward reducing their indebtedness.

More recently, with the improvement in the economy, they have become somewhat freer in their purchasing. As a result, sales of automobiles, furniture, home furnisings and other durables have increased considerably.

In Floyd County, based upon the national findings and upon local earnings and spending figures, the amount of installment debt outstanding is estimated at $1,700 per family.

That is the overall average. Some families owe considerably more than that and some considerably less.

For the American people generally, the debt is equivalent to about one-seventh of its net income, after taxes.

As a result of the recent upsurge in business activity, installment debt in the United States stood at $161.82 billion at year end, according to the Federal Reserve Board. This was an increase of 2.3 percent from the year before. Approximately one third of it represents auto loans.

For the Floyd County population as a whole, the total outstanding is approximately $6,117,000. That is solely for installment debt. It does not include home mortgages, charge accounts and single payment loans.

It takes nearly 15 percent of the net income of local residents, or an average of $140 per month per family, to meet the regular payments on this debt.

Are credit men worried about this? Apparently not. Their experience has been that most people have not gone overboard and are able to handle their obligations satisfactorily.

Levis Gilliland

Love Fund

While Floydada windmill repairman Levis Gilliland lies seriously injured in Methodist Hospital, his many friends in Floyd County have started a "Levis Gilliland Love Fund at the Floydada First National Bank.

Levis underwent back surgery last week and continues to improve, after receiving the injury when a piece of the windmill fell some 14 feet, striking him in the back.

Checks should be made out to the "Levis Gilliland Love Fund."

Another Medical Doctor Coming To Floydada

It has been many years since Floydada had four medical doctors and when Dr. Terry James of Dallas moves his family here in July such will be the case.

Dr. James will finish his internship at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas the last of June and will then open his office in the Cogdel Clinic in Floydada.

He has visited Floydada two times and is impressed with both the clinic and the hospital. The James have two small children.

This will make a total of five doctors in Floyd county, as there is one doctor in Lockney. this is still a ratio of only one doctor to each 2,000 people in the county.

Junior Whirlwind Relays Friday

EFFECTIVE APRIL 1

New Ambulance Phone Number

Effective Thursday, April 1, there will be a new Floydada ambulance phone number...983-2875. The ambulance service will then operate completely under the management of Caprock Hospital. For the past year the hospital had sponsored the service with contract to Randall King.

Beginning April 1 there will be one driver and one registered nurse round the clock to operate the ambulance service...the two ambulances will be parked at Caprock Hospital.

It should be remembered that when calling the new number, callers should ask for the "nursing station."

Caprock Hospital administrator Troy Patton told the Hesperian that he felt the ambulance personnel would do a fast, efficient job in handling all calls and urged everyone to familiarize themselves with the new phone number.

REMEMBER...CALL 983-2875...Nursing Station.

WE ASKED IN THIS COLUMN Sunday if anyone remembered where the Baker-Campbell Drygoods business was located in Floydada. Mrs. Jack Henry said the business was located on the corner where Thompson Pharmacy is now located.

Mrs. Henry may be getting close to revealing her age, but we thank her for the information.

ALSO, WALTER COLLINS called in about the location of Baker-Campbell Co.

SUNDAY WAS A BIG DAY for Jimmy and Connie Tidwell as they celebrated 30 years of marriage and 30 years of service to the Methodist church. Connie didn't know the church people had brought in food for "dinner on the ground"... and as she sat in the choir and noted many old friends arriving in the congregation from towns they used to pastor she kept thinking, "how am I going to feed all these people from out of town?" There were already some 15-18 members of the immediate Tidwell family seated, which she figured she had enough food for... and she witnessed a miracle and knows the Lord does provide, as there was plenty of food... and more for everyone. I suppose there must have been 50 to 60 out-of-town visitors at church Sunday.

Bicentennial Week In Floydada May 16-22

Bicentennial Week can be the most enjoyable and exciting week in Floydada this year if everyone will begin to plan right now.

The week could start with everyone coming together in one of the Floydada churches on Sunday night, May 16. An outstanding speaker can be scheduled (if we get to work on this now) and the combined choirs can do a patriotic arrangement that everyone will enjoy.

Through the week there should be a carnival, the service clubs could have special speakers and programs with the public invited.

At night, the various study clubs and other organizations could have something entertaining every night of the week.

Saturday can be the climax with the biggest parade ever, the Lions sidewalk bazaar and art show, the Lockney and Floydada bands...fact is, band music would be good on that Sunday night of the 16th.

Don't wait until the last minute, make your plans, then call the Hesperian and get your organization's share of the celebration scheduled NOW.

Linguish Falls Not Open To Public

The Linguish Falls area of the Caprock, which is located just out of Northeast Floyd county is not open to the public according to a report from a property owner there this week.

Briscoe sheriff's officers have been giving citations to picnickers who have been visiting the falls and everyone is warned that the land on which the falls is located is posted no trespassing.

Only by land owner's permission can the falls be visited, and those caught on the land without permission will be prosecuted, an official warned.

Dr. Eva Snead Regains Custody Of Two Sons

Dr. Eva L. Snead, former physician in Floydada who now resides with her family in San Antonio, has regained custody of her two sons who were spirited away from her just over a year ago. The Snead family informed the Hesperian of the news by way of a clipping from the San Antonio Light which was written March 3rd.

The battle for the custody of Alex, age 12, and Marcel, age 8, led Dr. Snead and her family and her lawyers from Texas to Argentina to Israel and back home.

The story began a year ago this month when Dr. Snead was notified by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Paneth, who reside in Argentinia, that Dr. Snead's former husband and father of the children, had taken them. The two boys had been staying in Buenos Aires since November, 1973 on a six months visit while Dr. Snead and her present husband, Tom, were getting established in San Antonio. When the six months period ended the Sneads decided to let the boys finish the school year in Buenos Aires.

During this time the boy's father an Argentine citizen, had permission to visit them, and also had received permission from the grandparents to enroll them in a vacation camp.

On March 2, 1975, the story related, young Alex and Marcel, who had just returned from the camp, went to dinner with their father and never returned.

Since Dr. Snead had been given legal custody of the boys by both U.S. and Argentina courts after her divorce, she requested her parents initiate court action against the father. The case became ensnarled in the courts of strife torn Argentina, and, since the Sneads were still in San Antonio the boy's father was given temporary custody of Alex and Marcel until the case was resolved.

The father fled to Israel with the two boys, apparently using phony passports, according to the news item, for the Argentina court had enjoined him from leaving the country.

Formal complaints were filed with Argentina authorities against Roland Hemi for document forgery, illegally leaving Argentina, and "technical kidnapping."

The Sneads went to court in Israel, where the youngsters had been living with their father on a farming commune.

On February 25 of this year, Dr. Snead saw her children for the first time in two years, after she flew to Israel. A week later the Israeli court ordered Alex and Marcel be turned over to their mother, after the father could not produce evidence that he had legal custody of the boys.

Dr. Snead and her sons returned to San Antonio the weekend of March 7th.

Boating Season Nears

LUBBOCK - Spring was delayed by a few cold days but, Texas boaters will soon be heading for the lakes and another season of skiing, fishing and just plain boating.

Some boats will be in the same shape they were last fall and if the skipper is planning on an active water season, that might not be too good.

Many boating accidents are the result of carelessness and lack of common sense. Over 638 Texans drowned during 1975 and many of these fatalities occurred while boating.

A thorough check of the boat and its required equipment before going on the water will insure at least a safe start. A few of the things that should be checked before leaving home include checking the boat for cracks or chipped paint; cleaning the fiberglass hull and applying a new coat of wax which will produce better speed and more fuel economy; inspecting the controls and throttle for cracks or breaks and replacing them if defective.

Take a look at your personal flotation devices (life jackets). Be sure they are serviceable and conform to US Coast Guard specifications which includes a serial number stamped on the preserver.

A quick thorough check of the running lights will ease your mind if you are caught out on the lake after dark or in a storm. Replace any bulbs that don't shine but be sure to check the battery for low voltage first.

Many boats are not required to carry a fire extinguisher but this device is very handy if a fire breaks out even on a small boat. Check for cracked or broken fittings or obstructed nozzles. Check the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires and recharge the unit if the gauge indicates a low pressure.

A well tuned outboard or inboard engine will insure a

These precautions take a little time, but it is better to find the problems while in your own backyard rather than when you are 100 miles from home.

The fate of Red Dye No. 2 is still in doubt. The FDA had banned any further use of the dye in products. Then a restraining order was issued. Ruling here was in favor of the FDA decision. Now dye manufacturers say they will ask a U.S. Court of Appeals to block the action. Keep a watch for further developments. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggests.

Food spills or "boil-overs" in a microwave oven may cook or dry on. To remove them, just cover them with a moist cloth and microwave for one to two minutes. The steam from the cloth helps to loosen the food so it can be wiped away easily. Lynn

Floydada Rebekahs Meet

Floydada Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday night with Laules Parkey and Ruby Davis presiding. Mrs. Parkey gave her report of the Grand Lodge Assembly held in Abilene recently, which she attended, along with Gladys Peck, alternate representative for the Floydada Lodge.

It was announced that the yearbooks of Artie Webb and Dorothy Reeves received third place in the state.

Ruby Davis read the story of Schlyer Colfax, founder of the Rebekah Degree, in honor of their 125th birthday.

comment on the show before now, but somehow forgot. It's something no one will or should ever forget however. One of the riders, Edith Evans, is an extraordinary equestrienne who makes the back of a horse look like a throne. By the way, Edith is the only lady professional bullfighter in the world, but she certainly doesn't look like a bullfighter. She retired in 1971 from bullfighting and set her goal to fight in Lisbon, which is the capital of bullfighting on horse back and which no other women had ever been permitted to do professionally. After five years Edith finally obtained her goal.

Edith brought three Andalusian Stallions to Lubbock, one coal black. One rider from Spain brought six other Andalusian Stallions plus 20 Lipizzan Stallions, who did the military drills, and then direct from Europe came "The World Renowned" Spanish Riding Show.

Edith says if a good person breaks in a horse, then he or she is going to have a good feeling for the rest of their life. She says no one touches her colts but her. She trains all the horses in her show. There are no commands by mouth, all riders use a pressure of the knee when putting their mount through their drills. The horses even dance to music. One of Edith's colts did the Cha-Cha-Cha, and the Mexican Hat Dance with her astride. She tossed her sombrero onto the ground and around he danced, afterwards gently picking the hat with his teeth and handing it back to his rider. AND then there is Snow ern Egypt, according to Morgan. Though that part of the country has not been a major earthquake area in recent times, there is historical and Biblical evidence of earthquakes. Recently recorded tremors are believed to be caused by Egypt's new Aswan Dam. The weight of a large body of water puts a huge load on the earth's delicate equilibrium and could cause minor earth tremors that could damage the dam. Recorded earthquakes will locate large faults which might act as conduits for geothermal steam and water. Closely associated with the micro-earthquake study will be sub-surface temperature measurements. "The earth's crust, normally about 25 miles deep, is very thin near the Red Sea, and we believe volcanic activity under and near the Red Sea may be caused by bodies of hot rock," Morgan added. "There is good evidence the Red Sea is spreading, maybe as much as 80 miles in the last 30 million years. East and west sides of the coastline are very similar, indicating they may once have been adjacent." Studies of the gravity and magnetic fields in the area will yield information regarding the crustal structure. Temperature and micro-earthquake studies are relevant to the energy mechanisms causing the spreading and to the current earth movements.

Comedy Star Of Hee Haw To Head Religious Rally

LULU ROMAN

Lulu, comedy star of TV's "Hee Haw," and a former drug addict will head a "Hee Haw Rally" to be presented at the Plainview High School Auditorium at 7 p.m. Saturday night, March 27. Appearing with the former 300 pound Go Go Girl will be "The Damascus Road," a contemporary Jesus music group. No admission will be charged, and a free nursery will be available during the show at Calvary Temple Church, the sponsoring organization. Lulu Roman is a living example of the life-changing power of God. She lost her first job as a telephone operator because of foul language, then became Dallas' biggest Go Go Girl, then a regular on Hee Haw. She lost the Hee Haw job because of two marijuana arrests. Shooting dope also became a part of her life, which became so meaningless that she tried to end it with an overdose. At the Saturday night rally, and again at Sunday morning services at Calvary Temple, Lulu will tell how she met Jesus, and how he changed her life completely. She will also sing some of the gospel songs she has become famous for since being re-hired on Hee Haw. Sunday's service will be a special two-hour service starting at 9:45 a.m., at the church, located across from the Coca Cola plant on South Interstate 27. Nurseries will be available during the Sunday service, too, says Pastor Garry Page. The group Damascus Road consists of six young musician singers who have toured throughout the south and midwest, have two albums recorded, and have appeared on a number of radio and TV shows. Most of their material is original. Page emphasized that both the Saturday night rally, and the Sunday morning service will appeal to all family members, and everyone is invited.

Heritage Homes Of America

A home, from a series of Heritage Homes, described by members of the Home Furnishings Homemaking quarter classes in observance of the Bicentennial year. Wouldn't it be nice if we could all take a tour through Thomas Jefferson's famous home "Monticello?" Since it's impossible for some of us to take the tour for real, let's just sit back and imagine we are on tour. Monticello is two miles from Charlottesville, Virginia. Unlike any previous home of its time it was built on a leveled plateau on the top of a mountain, 857 feet above sea level. Jefferson wanted to make all parts of the mountain accessible, so he constructed paths on its slopes at four different levels.

The house is one of the classic examples of American architecture. It is a three-story building of thirty-five rooms, including twelve in the basement. Jefferson built many rooms that weren't in use during his day. Connecting the terraces in the two balance chambers is the all-weather passageway in which are strategically placed the wine room, beer cellar, cider room, and rum cellar. Beneath the South terraces are to be found the kitchen with its cooking utensils, the cooks room, servants' room, room for smoking meat, and the dairy. There is a small pavilion on the end of this terrace which is on the site of the first dwelling to be erected on the mountain top. It was completed in time for Mr. Jefferson to bring his bride, Martha Wayles Skelton to it in January, 1772. He gave it the name "Honey-moon Cottage." The north terrace houses the stables, the carriage house, ice house, and laundry. The dominating feature of Jefferson's home commands the garden or west front. The room under the dome, octagonal in shape, is often referred to as the ballroom; however, Mr. Jefferson always referred to it as the sky or dome room. Mr. Jefferson constructed in each wing very narrow steep, and winding staircases. He built them starting from the basement floor to the top floor. On the east and west lawn of Monticello are gardens that were neglected and then restored in 1939 and 1940. Near the pavilion that terminates the south terrace is the fish pond. Mr. Jefferson kept it well stocked with fish caught in nearby streams. On the mountain side adjacent to the road leading from the house to the lodge is the family graveyard. Although the estate was sold in 1831, the members of the Jefferson family still have the right of burial there.

Monticello is owned and maintained by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, a patriotic, non-profit organization founded in 1923. It purchased the plantation which now consists of 700 acres of land, for half a million dollars from the Levy family which had owned it for over seventy-

Communication Course Begins In Floydada Monday Night

Texas Engineering Extension Service has scheduled a 12-hour course entitled, "Techniques of Effective Communication," to be held from 6:30 to 9:30 four nights beginning Monday, March 29 and continuing through Thursday, April 1. The classes will be held at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada. Charge for this 4-night class is $40.00 per person. This Supervisory Development course is designed to help develop an awareness of the broad range of problems that results from poor communication, to help reach a clearer understanding of the organizational and human factors in communication, and to consider principles and techniques which help to overcome the barriers to effective communication. This is the third supervisory course to be offered in Floydada. Each course centers on specific supervisor/employee topics - this one being more effective communication between two or more parties. This is an exciting course and will make use of the comminometer, a device that actually shows the break-down in communications develop between two individuals as they relate to each other. If you are interested in attending this 4-night course come to the M.A.C. Monday night at 6:30. For further information, call the Engineering Extension Office at 983-2827 in Floydada and Lawrence Stovall or Judy Allen will be glad to answer any questions you might have.

We finished the quilt we had up and it sure is pretty. Our activity group has already started another one. Wednesday we had a nice field trip. First we enjoyed ice cream then went to the Baptist encampment. We were anxious to see if the grass and trees had greened up yet. But it looks like we will have to wait a little longer. Taking this trip were the driver Mr. Freeman and Hope Hammonds, Dora Langford, Hattie Selman, Lydia Warren, Viola Weems, Florence Badgett and myself. Thursday we played bingo. Some of our residents enjoy this game more than any other activities they do all week. Our top winners were Clara Williamson and Ray Reed with three games each. Bessie Palmer, Agnes Anderson and Hope Hammonds won two games and Della Finley won one game. We appreciate all our visitors this week which included Doris Hinkle, Doris Snodgrass, Mrs. Dallas Ramsey, Duffy Hinkle, Mrs. W. A. One of the highest prices ever bid in a public auction was $5,544,000 for an oil portrait by Diego Velazquez of his servant. Interestingly, the painting was done as "an exercise" by Velazquez before attempting a portrait of the Pope!

The highest priced diamond ever sold at auction was a 69.42-carat flawless diamond ring which sold to Cartier's New York for $1,050,000.

WASHINGTON—Statistics, according to Websters, are the "systematic compilation of instances for the inference of general truths."
But statistics in the mouths of politicians can become dangerous weapons. Keep that in mind as you choose your side in the annual Battle of the Budget.
President Ford has submitted to Congress a proposed budget which he thinks is just right. Some think the budget

Decorating With Wooden Accessories

By Ben Helms

You can bring back the charm of early America without setting back your budget or revolutionizing your whole home with faithful reproductions of Colonial accessories.

For a light touch, for instance, try a corner candle bracket. Being dependent upon the candle for lighting, Colonial Americans crafted many ingenious means of placing candles throughout their homes.

The harshness of a corner can be changed with a subtle touch such as a distinctive bracket, like one from the Country Collection of faithfully crafted wooden Colonial reproductions by MaLeck. In addition to holding candles, it is attractive holding a small potted plant. It really has a knack for displaying knickknacks, too, with its two tiny side mirrors reflecting your good taste.

For three generations we have enjoyed cheap electricity because natural gas was a cheap generation fuel. Now gas is scarce and costly and alternate sources of fuel are expensive.

But we live in an electric economy. And whether power is generated with natural gas, nuclear, coal or cow chips your member-owned Lighthouse Electric Cooperative will provide electricity. Delivering power at its lowest possible price is our promise for the future based on our performance in the past.

The Federal estate tax, sometimes aptly referred to as a death tax, has become a "death-dealing" tax when applied to family farm enterprises.

This is what W.B. Criswell of Idalou, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, told members of the House Ways and Means Committee March 15 in Washington.

Criswell appeared before the Committee in support of legislation to increase the Federal estate tax exemption and provide for basing the evaluation of farm and ranch land for tax purposes on its ability to produce income from agricultural commodities.

The current Internal Revenue Service code exempts The federal estate tax and evaluates land and other $60,000 from estate taxes and evaluates land and other assets at market price. A bill introduced by Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson would raise the exemption to $200,000 and permit the value of farm, ranch and wooded lands to be determined by its value for production.

The Ways and Means Committee began hearings March 15 on Burleson's measure and other proposed tax changes, including the Administration's proposal that estate taxes be deferred for a period of time and then be paid on an installment plan.

Criswell's testimony for PCG endorsed concepts expressed in the Burleson bill.

The Federal estate tax has become so oppressive, Criswell stated, that heirs to farmland are more and more often forced to sell their land to meet the tax collector's demand. Thus the death of a farm family head is more and more often followed closely by the death of the farming enterprise itself, he said.

The PCG President supplied the Committee with a typical example of a farming operation on the Texas High Plains. He assumed a married couple with community ownership of 960 acres valued at $600 per acre. On the death of either husband or wife, the Federal estate tax liability would be $59,100, the example showed, and would amount to another $131,908 upon death of the surviving spouse. The total tax of $191,008, Criswell pointed out, would be over one-third the original $576,000 value of the estate.

Noting first that land value alone had been used in the example with no allowance for the value of improvements or farm equipment, Criswell pointed out that, assuming a six percent return on land value, it would take the heirs to such an estate over five years to pay estate taxes.

When the sale of a farm estate is forced by Federal taxes, the PCG statement contended, the buyer is almost invariably an already large landholder or a corporation seeking to enter agriculture for speculative and/or tax purposes.

"Taxing property at death began in other societies not as a revenue-producing measure, but as a means to lessen the bad economic effects of huge wealth accumulation by small family or closely knit groups," Criswell reminded the Committee, "but the effect of today's Federal estate tax is to force the transfer of barely adequate family holdings into the hands of a few who already hold an inordinate amount of the nation's wealth, resources, and power."

Unless the estate tax law is revised, Criswell concluded, "the family farm within one or two more generations will be a thing of the past."

Envelope manufacturers have something to be cheerful about: In 1971 Americans sent over 85 billion letters and packages making us the country with the largest mail in the world!

is too low. Others think it is too high. Each will muster armies of statistics to prove his case. Facts and figures will fly like rockets and bombs.

The average citizen can be numbed by the endless flow of numbers if he isn't careful. Different numbers that give different impressions can be applied to the same situation with equal accuracy. It is vital to know what the numbers mean.

For instance, the budget the President has recommended calls for spending 394.1 billion dollars in fiscal year 1977. That's a truly mind-boggling sum. Those who, like myself, want to persuade you that the government is spending too much will point out to you that if you were to spend a million dollars a day, it would take you more than 1,000 years to spend $394 billion. Or we'd tell you that the federal government is planning to spend $1,833 for every man, woman and child in the country. Or we'd tell you that the federal budget has more than doubled in the last 10 years, and increased tenfold in the last 30 years.

On the other hand, those who want to persuade you that the government should be spending more than it is will point out to you that the budget as a percentage of the gross national product, the total value of goods and services produced in the country each year, has increased only slightly in the last 10 years, from 20.5 per cent to 21.5 per cent.

The thing to keep in mind is that no set of statistics can "prove" that one side is right and another is wrong. The central questions in the budget battle can be given only subjective answers.

There are three central questions that must be answered in the Budget Battle. They are:

1. How much of your money should the federal government spend?
2. What should the federal government spend your money on?
3. How should the federal government acquire from you the money that it will spend?

I will address each of these questions in subsequent columns. But the important thing for you to keep in mind throughout the budget debate is that it is YOUR money we are talking about. The federal government has no resources of its own. All that it has is what it takes from you, in one form or another. Recognition of that fact could have a profound effect upon which side you will join in the Battle of the Budget.

Feasts in ancient India were at one time so lavish a law was passed restricting each repast to no more than three guests.

NEW CONCEPT IN CANINE NUTRITION

Puppies are like people. They thrive on tender loving care and respond to concerned attention. During puppyhood, a dog grows from a pound or less at birth to almost adult size. He will continue to put on weight as he matures, but the skeletal structure is nearly completed.

He reaches full height and up to 90% of adult weight in the first eight to ten months, depending on his breed. The small breeds mature rapidly. Large, and especially, giant breeds like the Great Dane or St. Bernard should be considered puppies for fourteen to even eighteen months.

Teaching Kitchen Safety to Tois

You can't start too early to turn your childrer on to safe kitchen practices, especially around the family range.

Children of every age like to be where the action is, and around meal time this can mean the kitchen range. The range, however, if not used properly can be a safety hazard as well as a servant, and range safety lessons should begin as soon as your child can pour a can of peas into a pan.

Safety features on new electric ranges help make such schooling easier. Ranges manufactured since September, 1975, for instance, have two-operation surface unit controls—a feature which helps to prevent children from accidentally turning on heating elements—and diagrams by each control to show which surface unit it operates.

HELP!

During the past year the Floyd County Museum workers have passed to descendants of Floyd County people family and biographical sheets to be filled in. Some sheets have been mailed to various areas, and some personally delivered to homes.

A few have been returned with good history of ancestors with pictures and newspaper clippings making an excellent history and scrapbook.

There are descendants we know of that started research, but we have not as yet received their data. From others we have heard nothing.

We are most anxious to make "The Pioneer Families of Floyd County" as complete as possible. Will you please hunt your papers and get busy? If you have all you can now obtain, turn that part in to the Museum; if later you get more information it can then be added to the family folder file.

The teams will practice for two hours each on Friday night before the game and for one hour each on Saturday morning following a 7:30 a.m. breakfast with the Jaycees and other dignitaries. They'll be staying in the homes of Jaycee members.

Floyd Tenth In Rye Production

AUSTIN - With a total crop of 15,500 bushels, Floyd County placed tenth in 1975 Texas rye production.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, county farmers harvested some 500 acres with an average yield of 31.0 bushels per acre. Statewide rye production for 1975 was 760,000 bushels.

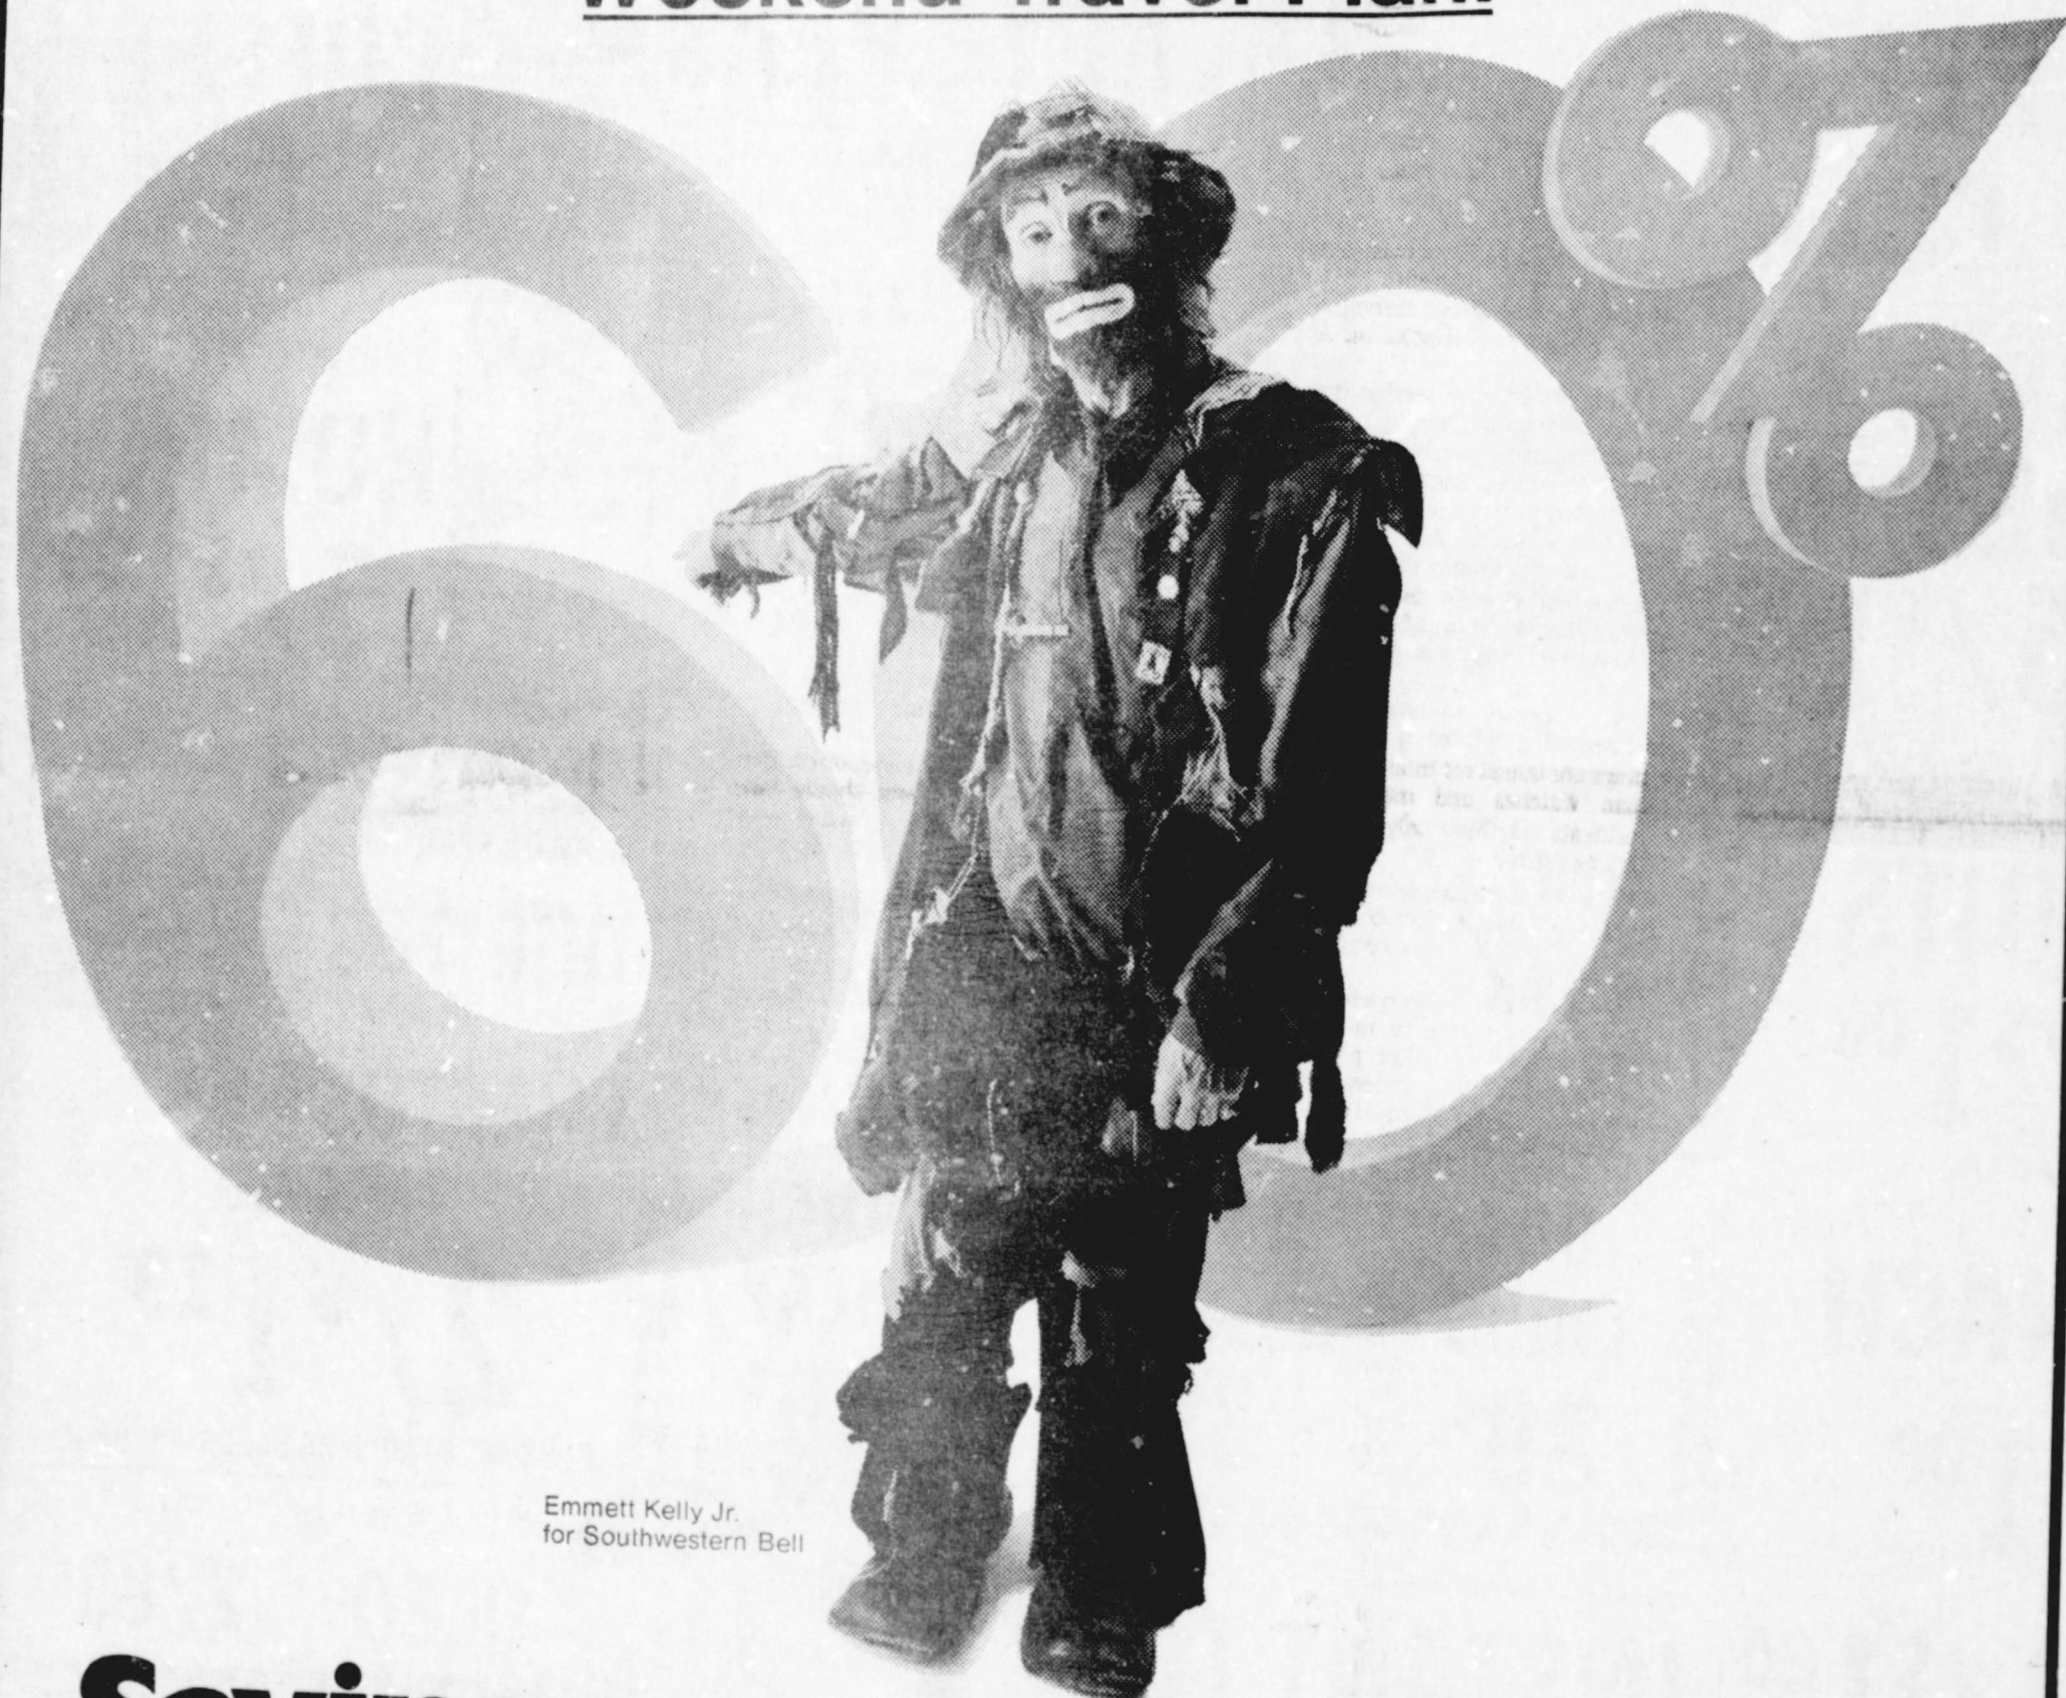

Rye was seeded under very excellent moisture conditions around the state, but dry weather from late November through January depleted the surface moisture supplies. Light rains in February provided some temporary relief, but March was drier than normal and many stands were not able to sustain normal growth.

Dallam County led the state in production with 191,400 bushels.

Complete figures on small grains have been compiled in the "1975 Texas Small Grain Statistics." Copies may be obtained by writing John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Floyd Philosopher Says He Has Discovered The Way To Restore Our Faith In Government

The Floyd Philosopher on this week, and maybe the rest of ally admitted that a feeling of not disgust, toward government across the land.

at the result of Watergate, which

all amounts to a grave problem
body should be thinking about what we can do to restore trust and confidence in government, from the state legislature in Austin to Washington. What we can do about foreign policy will have to wait till later, along with television programs, high utility rates, and the postal service.

Therefore I have given considerable thought to the big problem and have concluded that we'll never have decency in government till the newspapers stop investigating politicians.

It's this constant digging, this turning up of unsavory doings by government officials, however embarrassingly true, that's destroying the people's confidence in government.

Don't the newspaper and television
reporters know that practically none of us can stand a real close scrutiny? That if you dig long enough, hard enough and far back enough you'll find something?

The solution to the problem is to limit reporters to investigating no more than 10 per cent of the people at any given time. That gives the rest of us 90 per cent chance of not being found out.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Tornado Season Nears

Although most tornadoes spend just five to 10 minutes on the ground, nearly every year Texas is visited by at least one black funnel cloud that leaves death and millions of dollars in destruction in its path.

According to statistics released by the Texas Insurance Information Center, the tornado season in the state
lasts roughly from April through June
each year.

An average of 110 tornadoes touch down in Texas during that period, the majority of them in the northeastern and northern half of North Central Texas.

However, the ferocity of the twisters vary widely. Only 2 per cent are of the "maxi" variety, causing 95 per cent of the tornado-related fatalities.

A total of 969 persons have died
because of tornadoes in Texas since 1916 but in recent years, because of a more sophisticated and coordinated warning system, most of the toll has come in property damage.

When a tornado spun through Goliad
on May 18, 1902, only $50,000 in property damage was incurred but 114 persons died there that day.

The tornado that cleared a path
through Lubbock on May 11, 1970 caused an estimated $135 million in property damage; the death toll was held to 28.

Possibly the most destructive of Texas twisters in modern history passed through Waco on May 11, 1953. It killed 114 persons and wrecked $41.15 million
in property.

Most tornadoes cut a path about 400 yards wide and four miles long, but weather service records say the largest area covered by a Texas twister was 1 1/2 miles wide and 221 miles long. That violent tornado swept through White Deer, Glazier and Higgins on April 9, 1947.

After the weather service instituted its present warning system in 1953, the words "tornado watch" and "tornado warning" became common terms.

The weather service issues a "watch" anytime a squall line that has the potential of spawning tornadoes begins to develop. It is not uncommon for a community to be included in dozens of watches without ever experiencing a tornado.

A "tornado warning" is issued whenever a twister is spotted. Warnings are issued for much smaller areas
than watches and may mean that residents may have only a few minutes to take shelter.

With the tornado season at hand the National Weather Service has issued tornado safety rules as a reminder.

Here they are:
When a tornado approaches — Your immediate action may mean life or death. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. Stay away from windows

In cities or towns — In office buildings, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, or to the designated shelter area. In factories, workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.
In shopping centers, go to a designated shelter area, not to your parked car.

In homes — The basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under sturdy furniture if possible. In homes without basements, take cover in the center part of the house, on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet
or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture.
Keep some windows open, but stay away from them

Mobile homes — Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to destructive winds. Proper tie-downs to prevent overturning will minimize damage. A warden should be appointed in mobile-home parks to scan the skies and listen to radio and television for warnings.
There should be a designated community shelter where residents can assemble during a tornado warning. If there is no such shelter, do not stay in a mobile home during a tornado warning.
Seek refuge in a sturdy building or a ditch, culvert or ravine.

In schools — Whenever possible,
follow advance plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide freestanding roofs.
If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or a ravine, or open ditch, and lie flat.

In open country — If there is no time to find suitable shelter, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

Keep listening — Your radio and television stations will broadcast the latest National Weather Service tornado watches and warnings and inform you when the danger is over.

Watch the sky — Tornadoes come and go so quickly there may not be time for a warning. During a tornado watch, be alert for sudden appearance of violent wind, rain, hail, or funnel-shaped cloud. When in doubt, take cover. Tornadoes often are obscured by rain or dust. Some occur at night.

Remember — A tornado watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. A tornado warning means a tornado actually has been spotted. Persons close to the storm should take cover immediately. Those farther away should take cover if threatening conditions approach.

VA News

The Veterans Administration
today announced that special memorial gravestones and markers will be provided to families of deceased Medal of Honor winners as part of the county's Bicentennial program.

VA Administrator Richard L. Roudebush said the Medal of Honor markers
"are intended to bear silent
witness to a nation's eternal remembrance of the selfless deeds of these brave Americans."

The special markers will carry an enlarged representation of the Medal of Honor in gold leaf on marble or granite headstones and in bronze on the cast metal markers. The words "Medal of Honor" will also be highlighted by one of these methods, Roudebush said.

The VA Administrator
said present headstones and grave markers will be replaced with the memorial devices only with the written approval of the next of kin or the person listed on the cemetery's records.

"Since the VA does not have burial records for many of the Medal of Honor winners who are buried in
non-government cemeteries,
I am appealing to the families or friends of these men to advise us of their wishes as soon as possible," Roudebush said.

"It will also be of great assistance to us if local historians, or city, county or state officials who know of the location of a Medal of Honor winner's grave will contact any known relatives
of the serviceman to alert
them concerning this program," Roudebush said.

"I think it would be fitting
if we could have all these stones in place on Memorial Day this year, but to do that we will need the cooperation of everyone who can assist us with information," he added.

Roudebush emphasized that there will be no cost to the families for the memorial headstones or grave markers.

Relatives of deceased

Medal of Honor winners who wish to have the present
markers replaced with the memorial stone should contact the nearest Veterans Administration office, or they may write to the Director, National Cemetery
System, Veterans Administration, Washington, D.C.
20420.

The Medal of Honor was first awarded in 1863. Since that time 3,400 have been awarded.

Officials at Arlington
National Cemetery estimate
there are fewer than 200
Medal of Honor recipients
buried there, and many of their graves are marked with private headstones.

Agency records show only
78 Medal of Honor recipients
buried in the 103 National Cemeteries under VA control.

A Bottle Bill passed in Oregon required retailers to charge consumers a deposit
on all containers. Beverage-related litter (30 percent of total litter) was down in Oregon the first year (1972), but by 1974 littering with beverage containers increased 52 percent!
