Accident Bill $1,556,000 In Floyd

NEW YORK, March 13 - What kind of a safety record have residents of Floyd County been compiling for themselves? How does it compare with the record in other communities?

On the basis of the last three annual reports, released by the U.S. Public Health Service, the local accident rate has been running somewhat lower than in most areas.

Local residents have been averaging 6 fatal accidents per year, the official figures show, with motor vehicles being the cause of 2 of them.

All types of accidents were included in the reports, whether they took place in the home, on the job or while driving, swimming, boating or hunting.

All accidents involving local residents, wherever they may have taken place, are counted in the tabulation. Excluded are local accidents that affected only non-residents.

In general, according to the National Safety Council, for every fatal accident there are nearly 100 others that do not result in death but do necessitate medical attention and restricted activity.

From the standpoint of population, Floyd County's toll was below average during the three-year period. It was equivalent to a rate of 56 fatal accidents per 100,000 population per year.

By way of comparison, the rate throughout the rest of the West South Central States was 67 per 100,000. It averaged 62 in the State of Texas.

The National Safety Council was highly gratified by the gains made in the past year. The total number of accidental deaths decreased by nearly 11,000, the final total being approximately 105,000.

The biggest reduction was in traffic fatalities-- 17 percent below the previous year. Lower driving speeds were the single most important factor in the saving of lives, it finds.

According to the Council's figures, in addition to the 105,000 killed in accidents, another 11 million sustained disabling injuries. The economic loss this represents is placed at $43.3 billion and includes wage losses of $13.2 billion, $7.4 billion in insurance, and $6.5 billion in property damage, among others. Floyd County's share of this bill, assuming that the average cost per accident applies locally, amounts to nearly $1,566,000.

SP Development Program Annual Meet March 30

LUBBOCK -- Energy for agriculture will be the theme of the annual meeting of the South Plains Development Program set for Tuesday, March 30 at South Park Inn in Lubbock.

Discussions will center around current problems, trends and future outlook associated with the supply and demand for energy in agriculture.

Heading the lineup of speakers will be representatives of Southwestern Public Service Company, Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Pioneer Natural Gas Company and Exxon Oil Company, plus the associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The South Plains Development Program (SPD), is a volunteer organization composed of members of county program building committee members and resource persons from throughout the South Plains.

The one-day meeting will include a morning session beginning at 10:00 in which task forces for cotton, feed grains, swine and family living will convene, and an afternoon session getting underway at 1:15 which includes a special panel on energy.

According to Billy C. Gunter, district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the annual meeting brings together agriculture leaders to review progress of South Plains agriculture and how current problems and needs should be met.

"This region," said Gunter, "is an intensely cultivated, productive agricultural area that is the standard by which many other agricultural areas are measured. This agriculture has evolved because of the desirable physical characteristics of the land, the endurance of the inhabitants, and favorable economic factors."

"Plentiful, inexpensive energy for agriculture has played a significant role in the development of large-scale commercial crop farms. Recent substantial increases in energy costs have spurred concern for agriculturalists, since this area is dependent upon intensive utilization of energy to maintain the current level of agricultural productivity."

Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, associate director for the Extension Service at College Station, will provide the opening address entitled, "Texas Agriculture-A Proud Achievement." Marvin Sartin, area Extension economist in farm management, Lubbock will discuss the role of pump efficiency in reducing irrigation costs. He will be followed by the four-member panel on "Energy for Agriculture - Current Problems and Future Outlook." Moderating the panel will be Lee Roy Colgan, Dawson County Extension agent. Panel members will include Bill

Helton, manager of industrial development, Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo; Alton Higginbotham, manager of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Floydada; Harry Walden, vice-president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Amarillo; and Charles Wyatt, distributor relations coordinator of Exxon Oil Company, Dallas.

The gathering of agricultural industry officials, businessmen and guests will hear a presentation on food prices by Dr. William J. Vastine, Extension Service economist from College Station.

The afternoon portion of the event will be chaired by S. M. True of Plainview, chairman of the SPD program.

SPD task forces, said Gunter, are made up of leaders in cotton, feed grains and swine industries. In their deliberations they will focus primarily on current achievements, problems and concerns of their respective industries.

The feed grain task force is a newly formed entity of SPD, reflecting the increased importance of corn and sorghum in the South Plains area. County Extension agents, farmers, program building committee chairmen and industry officials will be among those involved. Interested citizens are encouraged to attend the task force meetings of their choice.

Sponsoring the annual meeting are the county program building committees of SPD, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas A&M University System.

The 19-county SPD area extends from Floyd, Hale, Lamb and Bailey counties southward to Midland, Andrews, Howard and Martin counties. The organization was founded in 1965 to promote the economic growth of the South Plains area through increased agricultural production.

We have been following the land revaluation issue in Dawson county with considerable interest because it is reported that this is the beginning of a move by oil companies in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains to press for more equal tax valuation by local agencies. Oil companies have been paying over 60 percent of the taxes in Dawson county for a long time and this is probably typical of any West Texas county where there is much oil production. The oil companies met with the Dawson county commissioners court recently to ask that the rural land be revalued and that "omitted" properties such as barns and farm homes be put on the tax roll.

It was reported that land is currently carried on the county tax rolls in Dawson county at an assessed value of $4, $6 and $12 which represents 20 percent of value. The land is broken up into three classes, grass land, dry land, and irrigated land. The commissioners court appointed three farmers from each precinct to work with them on arriving at what would be fair values. This committee recommended that the tax values should be doubled. The oil company committee said this wasn't enough, that the current tax figures were only 2 percent of value. The farm representatives and the commissioners thought this wasn't so. The issue was still under discussion last week when it was reported to the Lamesa Press-Reporter.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS have been under a great deal more pressure to equalize taxes than counties have, and that's why most West Texas counties have lower taxes than school districts and are using a tax schedule that is 50 years old in a lot of places. The pressure is on now, however, and it appears that the oil companies are taking a hard look at the local taxing situation. The Texas Constitution says quite plainly that all property shall be rendered for taxation on the basis of its current market value. We all know that there is not a taxing unit in the state of Texas which sticks strictly to this definition.

IF THE CONSTITUTION were to be followed exactly, then all of us would have to render not only our real estate, but personal property such as furniture, clothing, jewelry, bank accounts, stocks, bonds and anything else of value. Some states, notably Kansas, attempt to do just this. We are glad that we don't live in that kind of state, although the time may come when the tax collector will come into the house and make an inventory like they do in Kansas. Immediate CB licensing regulations are slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — New citizens' band radio owners will be able to obtain a temporary license to use their sets immediately under a new Federal Communications Commission plan.

An FCC official said Monday that the new licensing procedure should take effect in a month. At the same time, he revealed that the agency has delayed expansion of the 23-channel band on which the sets operate pending solution of a serious interference problem.

Charles Higginbotham, chief of the FCC's Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau, said the commission would formally announce both actions later this week.

He said the temporary permit is intended to end the current licensing logjam that has been created by a nationwide craze for CB radios.

The new system will allow the buyer of a CB set to obtain a temporary license form from a radio store or from the FCC.

The 60-day temporary license will be valid as soon as the form is sent to the FCC by certified mail.

Then, pending solution of the jammed-channel problem, all the new owners have to worry about is getting on the air.

Sales of CB radios have soared from 300,000 in fiscal 1974 to 1.1 million in 1975 and are expected to reach 3.8 million this year.

The popularity of the sets for use in business and the family auto has caused chronic jamming on the 23 channels assigned by the FCC to citizen broadcasters. To solve the jamming problem, it was proposed to expand the CB band to 50-plus channels.

"We were all set to go with 50-plus channels," Higginbotham said, "but we got a flood of comments in opposition."

Industry representatives warned that because of the design of the receiving sets, there would be serious interference with anything over 40 channels, he said.

Higginbotham said the FCC will propose several alternate solutions that will allow splitting some channels to one or two sidebands.

Five seldom-used channels now assigned mainly to fliers of model aircraft may be switched to the citizens' band. Higginbotham said this should achieve a minimum of 44 channels and 44 sidebands.

Higginbotham said he expects the channel-expansion question to be settled in about 75 days, allowing 60 days for comment and 15 days for replies.

In the meantime, he said, the current 70-day waiting time for permanent licenses should be reduced by a new system of opening license mail within two or three days instead of 30.

Texas Guard Try Locate Former

The Texas Guard is still trying to locate former Guardsmen it owes back pay to.

The back-pay windfall is due to everyone who was in the active military, reserve forces, or the National Guard during 1972. And the Texas Guard is still looking for its former members who have not claimed their back pay.

The one-shot back pay due stems from a 1974 ruling by the U.S. Courts of Appeals that a government pay raise scheduled for October, 1972 was illegally delayed. The difference between a person's pay between October, 1972 and January 1, 1973 when the pay raise went into effect, had to be paid.

Texas A&M Shortcourse At Plainview April 10

PLAINVIEW — The annual Texas A&M Swine Shortcourse, which in the past has been offered only on the Texas A&M University campus at College Station, this year also will be presented at Plainview, Saturday, April 10.

"Because of the distance to College Station and the number of swine producers on the Texas High Plains," says Gilbert R. Hollis, area Extension swine specialist, "the shortcourse will be offered in this region. It is scheduled just one day following the Texas A&M shortcourse."

During the second session, Hawton will evaluate five breeding gilts as part of a type conference. He will be assisted by Buddy Winter and Herman Lorenz. Winter is a Hampshire breeder from Idalou, and Lorenz is a Duroc breeder from Lubbock.

Jr. He will be speaking on boar training and management for commercial production. Orr is assistant professor in the Department of animal science at Texas Tech University.

Dr. A. L. Mellierre, research scientist with Eli Lilly Research Laboratory, Greenfield, Indiana, will speak on managing sows and pigs for optimum efficiency.

Dr. T. D. Tanksley, Jr., professor in the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will speak on the need for providing minerals for reproductive efficiency in sows.

The vice-president and general manager of Agrow Swine Corporation in Fayetteville, Texas, will discuss record keeping systems. He is Bill Holladay, who is Practically the same topics and speakers are slated for the Plainview meeting that will be used at College Station, says Hollis.

Site of the event is the Hale County Agricultural Center. Registration is at 8 a.m. with welcome and introductions at 8:45. The shortcourse is expected to conclude about 4:15 p.m.

Hollis says special emphasis is being placed on sow and boar selection and management.

A lineup of noted swine specialists, university faculty members and industry representatives have been selected for the shortcourse.

Dr. Jerry D. Hawton, Extension swine specialist from University of Minnesota, St. Paul, is first speaker of the day, talking on modern trends in visual

A third session, this one on the future of swine breeding, will be conducted by Roy L. Poage, general manager, DeKalb Swine Research, Inc., DeKalb, Illinois. A former manager of Lubbock Swine Breeders and a Texas master pork producer, Poage will discuss the value of records in a swine breeding program.

The boar's role in disease transmission completes the morning session of the shortcourse. Dr. John P. McAdaragh, a veterinarian with the Department of Veterinary Science at South Dakota State University, Brookings, South Dakota, is speaker. He has conducted research that involves virus isolations from boars known to have reproductive difficulties.

McAdaragh leads off the afternoon session with a presentation on viral related reproductive problems in sows.

farmers are busy with planting and planning. Crops are responding to warmer weather and to rains which have fallen in most parts of the state.

Planting of corn and sorghum is underway from the southern Blacklands to the Valley. Some stands have already emerged.

Cotton planting has made rapid progress in the southern part of the state. Recent rains have virtually assured adequate planting moisture but subsequent moisture will be needed to sustain growth.

In the northern parts of the state, cotton farmers are still making plans on how much to plant. Wheat and oats have shown some response to warm weather and, where moisture has fallen, the crops are rapidly improving.

A heavy movement of livestock from wheat fields to feedlots has taken place in recent weeks. Greenbugs have been a problem, and some dryland stands on the High Plains have been plowed up in an effort to reduce wind erosion damage.

Continuation Of Boll Weevil Problem Urged

Washington, D. C. March 24 — Approval of a 1977 Executive Budget item that would continue the program to solve the critical boll weevil problem was urged today by officials of the National Cotton Council and other groups.

Testimony supporting the budget item was presented today to the Senate subcommittee on agricultural appropriations and is scheduled Thursday before the companion subcommittee in the House.

John S. Barr, III, Oak Ridge, Louisiana, cotton producer and chairman of the Council's technical committee, urged approval of:

(1) $ 1.7 million to cover the federal portion of the cost of the first year's operation of a 3-year cooperative trial eradication program in Virginia and the Carolinas; and

(2) Continuation of current appropriations for boll weevil research, including research backup for the eradication trial and for the pre-eradication management program in the 11 states of the boll weevil belt.

Barr pointed out the trial program is a key element needed now as the final step to determine feasibility of a national eradication program as specified by the 1973 federal farm act.

Among the proponents of the trial program, Barr stated, are all cotton organizations and numerous farm groups.

"It has been fully endorsed by agricultural research, extension, and regulatory officials from the boll weevil states," he explained.

Barr added that a clear indication of state government support is the fact that Virginia and North Carolina have passed the necessary legislation for the trial program.

He explained that the federal portion of funding for the program would be more than matched by state and grower contributions.

"In fact, producers in the area have already indicated their willingness to provide 50 percent of the cost — a share which is about $15 more per acre than they now are spending for weevil control," Barr stated.

He added that a review of other plant and animal pre-eradication test programs of this type by USDA shows that the federal share of the cost has ranged from 75 to 100 percent.

He requested the committee to keep in mind that "the benefits of weevil eradication ultimately will accrue to consumers, a better environment, and the general economy, as well as to all producers."

Crying Time . . . Spring Time . . . About Time.

The Texas spring onion crop this year is expected to set a record in production. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes the crop will be 49 per cent above a year ago and 11 per cent higher than the previous record crop, which was produced way back in 1956.

Acres for harvest are estimated at 24,000, which is up 41 per cent from last season.

The first shipment of onions from this year's crop occurred in February. The majority of growers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley are now harvesting their crops. Peak movement should occur in early or mid-April with light supplies available into June and July.

In the Coastal Bend, harvest should be underway during the latter part of this month. At Laredo, the crop harvest is now underway. In the San Antonio winter garden

Wedding Vows Repeated by Miss Decker, David Lee Sutton

Charlotte Ann Decker and David Lee Sutton exchanged wedding vows at 2 p.m. Saturday in Richmond, Va. Rev. George Zahn and Rev. A. J. Rosser, both of Richmond, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edell Moore of Floydada and Lane Decker of Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. Ervin R. Sutton of Bellevue, Nebraska, are parents of the bridegroom.

Wedding music before the ceremony was played by Bill Woodriddle at the pipe organ and Terry Snyder on flute. Woodriddle accompanied soloist Anton Disselkoe as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "Wedding Prayer."

Following the exchange of vows, the three musicians joined in "One Hand, One Heart" as the couple lit the unity candle. All are from Richmond.

When presented at the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a Victorian style gown of white silken organza accented in Swiss appliques and Swiss guipure lace. The moulded bodice featured a deep portrait neckline framed in lace. The full circular skirt fell in a bell silhouette with a wide border of sky-blue organza at the hem framed in the guipure lace. A lace camelot capulet encrusted in pearls held her long chapel-length veil. Blue forget-me-nots adorned each side of her capulet repeating the blue at the hemline of the gown.

The groom and best man both wore Navy dress uniforms.

Honor attendants for the bridal couple were Sharon Decker of Floydada, sister of the bride, and William Buckmiller of Newport News, Va.

The maid of honor complemented the bridal theme in sky-blue jersey. Her dress featured a softly draped bodice with crescent waistline and demi-bell skirt. Long tapered sleeves flared into wedding bell cuffs falling over the hands. She wore a matching blue jersey camelot capulet adorned at the side with white forget-me-nots.

Baskets of gladiola, carnations and white roses stood on either side of the altar. Four antique candelabra also accented the altar.

Guests were registered by Kathi Rust of Richmond and were assisted to their seats by Mike Rosen also of Richmond and Joe Mack Jarnagin of Floydada, who is stationed in the Navy at Newport News.

Guy Lombardo, Canadians In Plainview

For many people, Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadian Band, which will play in five cities in the area the week of March 29 through April 2, spell memories.

And the quality of those memories usually matches the Lombardo sound, which has always been billed as "the sweetest music this side of heaven."

For some people, Lombardo symbolizes stability. His is the orchestra which ushers in the New Year with the strains of 'Auld Lang Syne' from the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York - a "must see" TV special every year since the inception of that medium.

Lots of people, of course, just like to listen to Lombardo's band, and don't bother with any complicated reasons for it. As the late Louis Armstrong once said of Lombardo's music, "Music that's good, you just want to hear it again!"

And that is just what you do when Guy Lombardo's band comes to town - hear it again. His band has remained virtually unchanged for more than fifty years. Many of his originals remain with him, including brother Lebert and brother-in-law Kenny Gardner who helps out with the vocals. Larry Owen, one of the band's early members, still does the arranging.

The band still plays many of the tunes of fifty years ago, and invariably there are "ohs" and "ahs" from the crowd when the Royal Canadians strike up a long-time Lombardo favorite such as "Fascination" or when the twin pianos swing into "Humoresque" or the band plays "Harbor Lights," "Anniversary Waltz" or the famous Lombardo hit, "Boo Hoo," with brother Lebert playing the crybaby trumpet behind the Lombardo Trio.

John Hitt, a professor of cell biology at Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio, must remember what it was like when he was younger. He has been operating a successful "dial-a-prof" service for the past three years.

Professor Hitt gives each of his 30 students an individual project rather than standard lab work. If they have problems, they can call him. Why does he make himself so available? "When students need help," he said, "they need it now. Quite often they will be doing their projects at night and get stumped on something."

Not only does Mr. Hitt answer late-night calls. If necessary, he goes over to the lab and helps out. Students have not abused their permission. Usually he gets 10 to 15 calls during a term, and no more than three or four are late at night.

Another reason Professor Hitt has for being so responsive to students' needs is this: "They pay be old favorites. There will be some "pop" ballads, some show tunes - a spectrum of music in America - but no rock. Lombardo refuses to get into that.

And he seems to have no trouble finding people who agree, or at least want to listen to something else for a change. His concerts are almost always sold out in advance.

During his Texas tour, he will play in Plainview at Wayland Baptist College, April 1, at 8 p.m. Tickets are $6.00.

Natural Gas Taxes Criticized

Texans Pay 4 Times NY Rate

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Natural gas taxes discriminate against Texas consumers, forcing them to pay more than four times the amount of taxes New Yorkers pay for the same amount of fuel produced in Texas, two House leaders said Monday.

Speaker Bill Clayton and Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said committee hearings will begin April 1 on a revision of the tax laws to give relief to Texas consumers and force out-of-state consumers to pay a larger share of the gas taxes.

on the value of the gas, so when gas is not regulated, and has skyrocketed in the past few years. "We believe in terms of taxation, everyone ought to be paying a more equal share," Wyatt said.

He said his committee will consider legislation basing a portion of the natural gas tax on a percentage of the sales price, and a portion of the tax on a flat rate per thousand cubic feet.

He said such a plan could reduce the taxes paid by some Texans by about six cents per thousand cubic feet, while raising the tax paid by out of state consumers by about three cents.

"We're not going to shift the entire burden out of state when we do this. The cities in Texas with low gas prices are going to be hit too, they're going to have to pay a little more for their gas," Wyatt said.

Wyatt said he is confident his committee can prepare legislation which will equalize the natural gas taxes and give some relief to Texas consumers. He suggested Gov. Dolph Briscoe will go along with the gas tax revision if no new or additional taxes are involved.

Several legislators have asked the governor to call a special session of the legislature to consider the tax revision.

"I doubt seriously there will be a special session," Clayton said. "But we want to have this legislation ready in the event this does become such a crisis that the governor does call a special session."

Footballers Sign Letters Of Intent

Portales - Five outstanding footballers from west Texas have signed letters of intent to play for the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds in 1976, according to head coach Jack Scott.

"We are having a top recruiting year and these west Texas athletes are definitely proof of the top quality players we desire in our program," smiled Jack Scott. "Players are coming out of high school with a good football background as well as having a good education. While attending Eastern, we plan to give the athlete solid football experience and a sound education."

West Texas gridiron players signing with the Greyhounds, "The Pride of the Land of Enchantment," include Davy Carthel of Friona, Mike Freeman of Snyder, Glen Johnson of Olton, Donzell Minner of Floydada, and Jimmy Parker of Olton.

An All-District linebacker at Friona High School, Carthel averaged 18 tackles a game and stands 5-11, 200-pounds. His brother, Don, was a starter for coach Scott for four years and was named, "Greatest Greyhound" his senior year.

Standing 6-3, 200-pounds, Freeman was an All-District defensive end at Snyder High School, while Johnson was selected All-District at both runningback and linebacker. An Olton High School standout, Johnson gained 4,500 yards rushing in his prep career and stands 5-10, 190-pounds.

All-State and All-District at Floydada High School, Minner is a 6-1, 170-pound split end, with Parker named All-District for his play at quarterback and defensive back. Parker a 6-3, 190-pounder, collected 4,000 yards rushing and passing in his prep career.

The five west Texas football standouts will report to Eastern's fall training camp on August 14. The Greyhounds open their season September 4 against Panhandle State University in Portales.

$2 Bills Returning As Official US Currency

After a 10-year absence, $2 bills are returning as official currency. On April 13, in commemoration of Thomas Jefferson's birthday and in conjunction with the bicentennial year, the Federal Reserve System will make available at commercial banks a new series 1976 $2 Federal Reserve note.

Like all $2 bills since 1918, the note features Mr. Jefferson on the face of the plate. The reverse plate, however, is completely new. It shows a vignette based on John Trumbull's famous post-Revolutionary War painting, "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," capturing a bicentennial theme and tying in with Jefferson, author of the document.

Although issued in conjunction with the Bicentennial, the new $2 bill is seen as a permanent addition to currency in circulation. In announcing the reissue last November, Treasury Secretary William Simon said public acceptance would ensure the issue's success.

The Treasury withdrew $2 bills from circulation in 1966, largely because their relative scarcity dampened public acceptance. About 6 million $2 bills -- only a third of 1 percent of the Nation's outstanding currency -- were circulating in 1966.

By contrast, about 225 million notes will be available on April 13. And about 400 million notes -- the projected average annual production -- will be circulating by July 4.

The new $2 note is expected to reduce the huge volume of $1 notes in circulation.

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- THE COST OF BEING HOSPITALIZED HAS INCREASED far beyond the ordinary rate of inflation. We are inclined to blame high charges on the hospital, its administrator, the doctors, nurses and other visible people and things which go with hospitalization. The invisible cost escape criticism.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ITSELF is contributing to the high cost of health care. Its involvement grows larger all the time and the Federal bureaucracy grows with it. In too many instances, everyone connected with hospitals and health care is harassed and hassled by one regulation or the other. The "i" crossing and "i" dotting bureaucracies often are in conflict with one another in the various departments of Government which apply regulations.

FAIRLY NEW HOSPITALS, AFTER HAVING BEEN APPROVED under building codes of State and local Governments, often find that they are not in compliance with some technical requirement which the inspectors can find. Three years ago, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare got Congressional approval to "validate" the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. This means that the Government's own inspectors, applying their own criteria, should check hospitals to approve their validation. Out of 144 hospitals first inspected, 105 lost their accredited status. In 16 States every hospital failed to qualify. In one hospital, although built to specifications including air conditioning, the inspectors required that all windows be made to open readily. It did not matter that the locked windows had a key at the nurses' station on each floor. No matter that a sick or mentally upset patient might open the window and fall or jump out.

ANOTHER ITEM THAT SEEMS TYPICAL-- at another hospital the administrator was advised that the plastic liners in wastepaper baskets were prohibited, lest a spark ignite a bag and create a toxic smoke. The administrator had just been advised by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration that their regulations required the liners. The liners, according to OSHA requirements, were to protect hospital workers against infection by handling contaminated trash.

ALL OF THIS IS A BUREAUCRATIC DREAM. To carry out the dream necessitates thousands of inspectors, thousands of clerical assistants, millions of reports, surveys, studies, notices and other documents. Validation, added to "utilization review," surveys of hour by hour activities of employees, managers, administrators, nurses, doctors, is often enough to make the patient sicker but, particularly, makes it more expensive for him to be ill.

NO ONE WOULD ARGUE THAT THERE SHOULD BE NO STANDARDS at all but the nit-picking and often impractical regulation increases the cost to the taxpayer and the patient, making hospital care the price it is today.

A THOUGHT: Do we ever stop to think that everybody is against problems until they learn that solutions cost money?

play of images reflected from a montage of mirrors. The Corps de Ballet introduce the sparkling pair of Dan Henry and Lisa Illsley. As the tempo changes, newcomer Donna Arquilla skates a sprightly solo.

From TV-land, and the world of Sid & Marty Krofft, comes "ZAP! HERE'S H. R. PUFNSTUF," for kiddies of all ages featuring Patrick Romano as Little Jimmy.

Through the magic of film comes "THE SEASONS," featuring Don Yontz and Charlene Sharlock in Summer, fiery Sashi Kuchiki in Spring, Scandinavian Champion Ann-Margret Frei in Winter.

All skates on deck! It's time for "SHIP-A-HOY," as Ice Capades goes to sea with a bouncy, rollicking number. The rink has the look of a battleship as Ann-Margret Frei presents a stunning display of skating virtuosity as the navy sweetheart.

"IMAGES AND PHASES" takes a look at the future in an imaginative, space-age production, featuring the electrifying Sashi Kuchiki and interpretive pair of Dan Henry and Lisa Illsley.

Now come to a gypsy camp, as the skaters become wandering vagabonds. The solo performances of Adelle Boucher, Ken Shook and Lee Meadows highlight "GYPSY MAGIC."

There's a little gospel, a little jazz, a bit of the blues and some Dixie as the entire ensemble picks up the rhythm in "SOUL-RHYTHM-BLUES."

Comedy and specialty numbers are highlighted through the show. Just for laughs, there's clown Jean-Pierre. The Chairpersons, Wes and Chris, return with their original 12-legged act.

There's no duo daffier than the mixture of South African comedian Titch Stock with his partner Don Yontz of Florida in "THE HOKEY HOEDOWN."

The bicycling Romano family - Tony, Helene and Patrick go ice-cycling and together they pyramid to a trio of terrific talent and unique cycling.

For the grand finale, Ice Capades presents "Carnival," complete with musicians, devils, harlequins and jesters. Come along and join the gaiety of a street celebration to close the latest edition of Ice Capades in a riot of colors, sights, and sounds. Ice Capades of 1976! WOW! You should see us now!

Heritage Homes Of America

SIBLEY HOUSE (by Terri Hesson)

A home, from a series of Heritage Homes, described by members of the Home Furnishings Homemaking quarter class in observance of the Bicentennial year.

When Henry Hastings Sibley completed his house at Mendota, Minnesota, it was the first stone dwelling in the region. The home was destined to come under the territorial jurisdiction of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota before Minnesota achieved statehood in 1858, when Sibley was elected its governor.

Sometimes called the Mount Vernon of Minnesota, this limestone structure reaches a height of 17 feet. The second story shelters a small attic beneath its gabled roof and a cellar provides storage rooms beneath the ground floor. Wooden pegs join the hand-hewn timbers in the frame from which several partitions were constructed by fitting smaller, horizontal beams between the upright timbers and packing the resulting spaces with an interlacing of willow branches and clay. The ceilings were constructed in much the same manner, and the roof was shingled with hand-split, oak clapboards. The fact that this old house survived subsequent owners and abuse, was due mainly to the solidarity of the stone of both the inner and outer walls. Stones for the house were quarried locally in blocks two-and-a-half-feet thick.

Besides the architectural significance of the Sibley house and its importance as the home of an early American political leader, it is also noteworthy for its role as a gathering place for a great number and variety of travelers and traders. Sibley once remarked, "I have often had from 20 to 30 at my table at a time, who, of course were not charged anything. All who came were welcome, provided they were good fellows, and gentlemanly in their tastes and habits."

Governor Sibley sold his home in 1862 and The Sibley House was reduced to ruin by the turn of the century. Its restoration in 1910 brought back again the original charm of the home.

Letter To The Editor

LETTER TO EDITOR

I appeal to you for a friend. His room number is 481 east or in the new part of Methodist Hospital.

Yesterday being the 24 day of March, I visited in the Methodist Hospital with Levis Gilliland. A good friend and one I hadn't been closely associated very long, but count him as a good friend. Levis as you know was struck by a rod from a windmill tower weighing some where in the amount of 25 pounds, striking and driven into his spine which paralyzed him from his waist down as of now. In our conversation he said he had many friends to visit him and lots of cards. They were very much appreciated.

I asked him a question, "Is there anything I can do for you?" He said, "Just hope for me." I knew what he meant. I am a church member, maybe not worthy of the church, but no church group gave me authority to write this letter. I felt it was my duty and a privilege to write and to appeal to those that wanted to help Levis in the way they could. Just as I did. We can give him our friendship and love, but there are some more ways in which we can help him and that is to take care of some of his financial problems while he is lying on what I would call, a cot. Not a soft bed as we lie on in our home and not the privilege of getting up and waiting upon himself, but lies there 7 days, 24 hours a day, every minute trying to recover from his misfortune.

I feel by raising some funds that it would boost his morale and with our friendship, will help him to recover. I am appealing to any group, church or club, individual or whoever, that has a desire to help. Please do so. Your donations can be delivered to him or his wife or left at Floydada First National Bank or King's Restaurant. If no other way, leave it with me with your name and the amount and if you wish it this way I will see that he gets it. While helping him, you will help yourself. Thank you.

Levis doesn't know anything of this letter. He said he didn't know of anything except hope for him. He has a small insurance policy, but it would not go very far.

SUPPLIES FOR THE ARTIST at the HESPERIAN OFFICE SUPPLY

WHOOPEE, WHAT FUN - Screams of excitement, laughs of joy, throwing up your hands and letting go are all a part of the excitement Over Texas offers its guests as a place to "get away from it all" for more than 100 rides, shows and attractions await guests at the Arlington which began weekend operation for the spring March 20.

HOW TO KEEP A HUSBAND...HAPPY
Are you every other inch a loving wife?
Try these tips on rekindling your old flame:
1. Praise his intelligence. Let him know you respect him, and it might help him prove he's worthy of your respect.
2. Be pretty. Never feel guilty about spending some time and money on beautifying yourself.
3. Get away from it all, together. Take your husband to one of the world's 1,700 Holiday Inns and enjoy good entertainment, good food, good service and a good night-life. Ask for the bridal suite.
Try it more than once, and you'll probably have a marriage for better, not worse.
