

FAIR DAYS

LOCKNEY—Three days of fairtime fun are scheduled here Sept. 16-18 and fair officials are hopeful that this year's Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair can be staged without the rainfall that usually plagues it.

Residents of Motley, Hale, Briscoe, Swisher and Floyd Counties are eligible to enter the various fair events from baked goods to tractor driving to fair queen.

Entries in most competitions are due in the exhibits building on the fair grounds in east Lockney by noon Thursday. Judging will be conducted that afternoon.

Fair parade will begin at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in downtown Lockney. Several bands have made commitments to march and play, and competition will be conducted in the commercial and community float division, best decorated bicycle and tricycle, best oldtime cowboy and cowgirl, best cowboy and cowgirl in ability to handle their horses and best decorated car. Parade participants should meet northeast of Lockney Care Center, and the parade will end at Cooper Conoco.

A variety/talent show will be staged Thursday night at 7:30 in the entertainment building. Only cost is gate admission fee of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Entries will be in the four divisions of grades one through six, ages 13 through 18, 18 and over, and groups (3 or more). Cash prizes go to first place winners with ribbons for the runners-up. A plaque will be given to the best over-all talent of the show.

Friday is "Consumer Information Day". Chairmen of the event have arranged for the showing of the "You Can Do It" series, which are tv videotapes of actual demonstrations in simple repairs and maintenance. Each film is 30 minutes long, and two will be showing all day so that each film should be repeated two or three times during the day. Ladies viewing the films in the entertainment building may sign up for door prizes which will be awarded at 5 p.m. Ticket holders do not need to be present to win any of the prizes.

An open sheep breeders show is scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday in the livestock building. All entries must be registered with their respective breed associations and must be shown in the name of the owner. Classes will be ram lamb, yearling ram, ewe lamb and yearling ewe in each breed of Hampshire, Suffolk, Southdown, Dorset and Shropshire.

Gate admission fee will entitle dancers from this area to the 8 p.m. Friday square dance in the entertainment building. Jerry D. Rash will call for the event. Activities for youth are on tap all day Saturday beginning with the junior showmanship contest at 9 a.m. for boys and girls eight years of age and under who may show cattle, swine or sheep under one year of age.

Then at 9:30 begins the livestock judging of sheep and calves belonging to 4-H or FFA members.

Another event for children is the pet show featuring such unique categories as pet with the longest tail, the best trick, or the happiest face. Il Penseroso Junior Study Club members conduct the show for pets whose owners are 12 years old and under. Children bringing pets should be able to handle their pet, and the pet should be in a cage, on a leash or similarly confined.

Queen contest preliminaries will be Saturday afternoon, with the final contest at 7:30 p.m. Each entrant will model a bicentennial costume representing any type of clothing from the past 200 years. Each will give a 2-minute maximum speech describing the costume and its history, and will also appear in sportswear and formal wear.

Immediately following the queen contest will be a western dance. Ray Wooten and His Country Sound from Lubbock will provide music. Tickets will be $2.50. Just Arrived rides Monday through Tuesday. All rides will be three days a week. Equipment to be used in the arena. A night of duty throughout the week.

Protein-Rich Super Spuds May Be Next

Super potatoes with higher protein content are expected to be ready for commercial growers in the next three to five years.
Breeding stock from South America, where potatoes were first known, is currently being used by Minnesota plant scientists to develop the new varieties.
While the average tuber has a protein content of about five percent, scientists hope to double this amount through selective breeding processes.

At the same time they're seeking to develop plants that will be adaptable to this climate with yields comparable to varieties now grown.
By crossing parent potatoes whose protein content is about 20 percent with a variety adapted to Minnesota environments, scientists have already produced potatoes with about 10 percent protein. Commonly grown varieties now have only about 5 percent protein.

Potatoes already rank second to soybeans in protein yield per acre.

Since potatoes' total yield per acre is so much higher, however, scientists say doubling their protein content would give them a higher protein yield per acre than that of soybeans.
The development promises to provide better nutrition not only in fresh potatoes but also in processed forms like potato flakes or chips.

About half the nation's population, 60 percent of its corporate income and 45 percent of the country's personal income are within 500 miles of the state of Pennsylvania.

This may be part of the reason more than 100 foreign companies operate in that state, employing something like 20,000 Pennsylvanians.

One of the largest foreign-owned firms to locate in Pennsylvania during recent years is Cadbury-Schweppes, the English food concern which invested $12 million and put 200 people to work.

Current school vision conservation programs are part of a continuing effort aimed at ensuring accurate and complete screening of Texas's pre-school and school-age children.

Techniques of screening children for hearing and vision problems. Schools actually do the testing with equipment which they own. A limited supply of hearing testing equipment—audiometers—is available on loan from the Department on a temporary basis to school systems and local health departments which need equipment to start new programs on a pilot basis.

The schools report their screening results on a voluntary basis for compilation, and the record has been very encouraging.

Reports from the 1974-75 school year revealed that some 2.5 percent of children receiving hearing screening and approximately nine percent of those receiving vision screening were referred to medical specialists. These reports came from 850 school systems and involved 990,495 children in hearing screening and 1,399,552 children in vision screening.

Reports for 1975-76 are incomplete, but preliminary reports from 597 school systems show that hearing screenings numbered 877,285 children, and vision screenings numbered 1,114,888. For hearing, 2.32 percent were referred as a result of hearing screening, and 6.97 percent who received vision screening were referred to medical specialists.

Actual treatments from referrals numbered 9,223 for hearing and 39,809 for vision in 1974-75. The incomplete reports for the 1975-76 school year show 12,688 receiving treatments for hearing problems and 37,518 receiving remedial treatment for visual difficulties. The two-year figure disclosed 21,911 cases of hearing impairment and 77,327 cases of visual impairment.

Dr. Connie R. Yerwood, chief of the Bureau of Personal Health Services of TDHR, said more than 99,000 youngsters in our schools were given an improved chance of learning in the past two years alone by correction of their visual and hearing problems. And, she said, the figures will increase when all reports

FIGHTING INFLATION

Design Genius Is Key To Price Competitiveness

You don't have to be a businessman, simply a consumer, to know that when someone figures out a way to build something better, the result is a more competitive price.

As a nation, we've always known that our design and manufacturing know-how are at the foundation of America's world position—both military and economic. Russia is richer in untapped resources, Europe has prolific scientists, and Asia has a billion workers. But in just 200 years, we've outdistanced them all, through the peculiar genius of Americans to turn laboratory dreams into realities.

The Task Force on Export of U.S. Technology, representing important segments of industry, recently reported its findings on the subject to the Defense Science Board. The Task Force chairman and spokesman, J. Fred Bucy, President of Texas Instruments, remarked that today America's mastery of design and manufacturing is being transferred to many nations who can use it to beat us in the

Ideas On Making Women's Lives More Satisfying

You may not realize that an average woman spends more than 11 hours a week preparing meals, but chances are you're spending them. And I am too, since I am the mother of six children.

You may remember me as the second oldest of the Lennon Sisters from the Lawrence Welk Show. But today, nine years later, with the exception of Las Vegas engagements and television spots I'm Peggy Lennon Cathart, wife and mother.

According to child education experts such as Dr. William H. Nault, editorial director of World Book Encyclopedia, you as a parent are the first and most important teacher your child will ever have.

Here are some ways to instill a desire to learn even before he goes to school: Read to your child every day. Write down words as your child says them to let him know that printed material is really "printed talk." Take your child to the library. Buy him books, such as those in Childcraft—The How and Why Library, that are designed to help children learn. Provide a place for "his books" at home.

And let the child see you reading, so that reading becomes something useful and enjoyable in his mind.

$649,000 Spent In Floyd On Cigarettes

NEW YORK: Sept. 11—How much are residents of Floyd County doing these days? Is their cigarette consumption greater or less than among people in other sections of the country?

Judging from the latest statistics, the proportion of adults who smoke cigarettes, locally and elsewhere, appears to be on the decrease.

Impressed by the health warnings, a growing number of people are quitting entirely, according to the findings. Others have cut down on their consumption.

Not everyone can do so. A recent Government survey shows that 9 out of 10 who are still smoking have tried, somewhere along the line, to give it up but found it too difficult.

Because of the many who did succeed, however, only 39.3 percent of the male population over 21 are smokers today, compared with 42.2 percent in 1970. Among the women over 21, it is 28.9 percent now, as against 30.5 percent in 1970.

The facts and figures are from surveys and studies made by the U. S. Public Health Service, the Federal Center for Disease Control, the Tobacco Tax Council and others.

In Floyd County, a breakdown shows, cigarette sales came to approximately 1,218,000 packs in the past fiscal year.

In terms of the local population over age 18, this was equivalent to 171 packs per capita in the year.

It was less than in some communities and more than in others. Nationally, the average rate of consumption for people over 18 was 198 packs. It was 183 in the West South Central States.

Although the percentage of adult smokers in the United States has been going down, the total number who smoke is on the increase, due to the rising population.

The survey indicates that there were 875,000 more smokers last year than in 1970. In the same five-year period, however, the population rose by 10 million.

Because taxes on cigarettes have been increased in some states and localities, the cost of smoking has been going up. What effect, if any, this has had on consumption is unknown.

In Floyd County, the total outlay in the past year was approximately $649,000 or about $91 per smoker.

Money Saving Tips

Made for measuring is a wide range of tapes and folding rules that every home handyman should keep on his workshop bench. Each has its own special use, as there are a variety of measuring techniques for many different measuring jobs.

To take an inside measurement, such as the inside of a box or a window, a folding rule that incorporates a six inch sliding extension is one of the best measuring tools for this job. Unfold the rule to within six inches of distance. Butt the square end against one side of opening. Extend the slide to touch the other side. Add measurement on slide to that shown at other end of rule and you have your final measurement. To get an outside dimension, use a power tape with a blade position lock and that has a hook at the end so you can easily measure beyond arm's reach. Also, it's wise to have a tape that offers inches and millimeters side by side to help ease the pains of conversion. The people who make Lufkin measuring tools know present depressed prices, the decision by the Administration to continue to approve the financing of palm oil projects abroad is tantamount to assuring South Plains cotton and soybean producers low prices for many years to come," Rankin said.

Congressman Mathis was told by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon that projects to produce palm oil for export coming up for consideration during the next twelve to eighteen months, "Will be approved if the projects are viable." In the past, no projects have been approved unless they were considered "viable." Therefore, the new guidelines are nothing "new" but rather ratify the continuation for another year and a half the palm oil finance program presently in effect. Rankin said that the Administration is "playing politics with the agricultural economy of the nation. The Administration must feel that it is more politically advantageous to assure the consumer temporary low-price vegetable oil than to protect the interests of agricultural producers and assure adequate long-term supplies at fair prices," Rankin said.

CONSUMERS should beware of public opinion polls including questions about life insurance policies. Crooks have used them to forge a loan application on the interviewee's policy, Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, cautions.

FALL PASTURES need fertilizer—Perennial grass pastures should be fertilized now for increased fall production and quality, points out a forage and turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Most grasses have plenty of time to grow, and the forage can be utilized for grazing or hay or left standing and grazed after frost. Moisture must be available for grass growth, and the eastern two-thirds of the state has a 50 to 80 per cent chance of receiving at least two inches of rain during September and October. Also, there is still time to make top quality hay and enter samples in the State Hay Show to be held Oct. 2 at the Harold Green Farm near Austin. All entries should be sent to the office by Sept. 15.

CASUAL, informal life styles are reflected in contemporary, versatile shoe styles. Similar shoes are being worn for different occasions and are often styled with "split personalities." ### RANKIN CRITICAL OF PRESIDENT'S PALM OIL DEAL

LUBBOCK—Joe Rankin of Ralls, president of the Lubbock bases Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, and vice-president of Texas Farmer Union, has called upon the Ford administration to "stop giving financial help to promote the production of foreign palm oil for export to the U. S."

Rankin charged that the administration has announced in a letter to Congressman Dawson Mathis (D-Ga.) that loans will continue to be approved by the U.S. to finance palm oil production in foreign countries. Mathis and others have protested the U. S. government subsidization of palm oil production for export, which sharply depressed soybean and cotton seed oil prices this summer.

Rankin, who farms in the Ralls area, says that the decision by the Administration to continue to approve the financing palm oil projects is bad news for High Plains cotton producers. "With the existing excess supply of vegetable oil in the world and the

Soil Conservation Field Day At Knox City

A public day will be held on September 23 at the Soil Conservation Service plant materials center at Knox City. State Conservationist George C. Marks announced this week.

New grasses, forbs, legumes, and other plants under evaluation at the center will be discussed during the day, Marks said. The center serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Guided tours will be conducted through the 92-acre tract from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The center is located on FM 1292, 2 miles north and 2 1/2 miles west of Knox City. Box lunches will be on sale for those who wish to eat lunch at the center.

Grass seed growers, seed dealers, conservation district directors, research workers, sportsmen, and others interested in the search for better plants are invited to attend.

Seed or rootstock from plants that show promise for solving specific soil and water conservation problems are collected, then grown and evaluated at Knox City. The more promising ones are then grown under field conditions on farms of soil and water conservation district cooperators under a wide variety of conditions. Selections that prove superior to other strains available are then released by conservation districts to commercial seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

Approximately 1,200 different grasses, forbs, legumes, and woody plants are being grown at Knox City. Grass strains proven and put into use by SCS include Selection 75 kleingrass; El Reno, Uvalde, and Vaughn sideoats grama; King Ranch bluestem; green sprangletop; and Grenville switchgrass.

SCS plant materials work also developed ways to profitably grow, harvest, and plant most of the range grasses now being planted in Texas.

Some of the groups who cooperate with SCS in its plant materials work in Texas include Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, Prairie View A&M, Abilene Christian University, U. S. Air Force, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and soil and water conservation districts.

Workshop Scheduled

LUBBOCK — A workshop of the South Plains Writers Association is scheduled for October 9, 1976 at the Lubbock Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University. It will feature a former Lubbock newspaper reporter whose non-fiction writing and reporting now appears regularly in numerous national and regional publications.

With a staff of two, Dudley Lynch operates his own freelance writing agency in Dallas, providing articles and reportage for such publications as Newsweek, The Christian Science Monitor, Kiwanis Magazine and Texas Parade. In bringing his copyrighted one-day workshop, "The Making of a Successful Free-Lancer," to Lubbock, Lynch will be sharing the techniques and principles that have made him one of the nation's most productive free-lance writers.

use of your time. That may sound simplistic, but when you begin to explore the concept, it leads you straight into such important matters as understanding how you create and why, how to maintain and increase your level of productivity, how to match research efforts with research needs, how to market, how to 'handle' editors, how to manage your business affairs. In every case, how we respond to these problems is a reflection of our own self image."

Lynch is a former reporter for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and the Portales (N.M.) News-Tribune and former news editor of the Hereford Brand. He holds degrees from Eastern New Mexico University (B.A.) and the University of Texas at Austin (M.A.) in journalism and history. Author of two books (the latest, "The President from Texas," was published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co. of New York last fall), he teaches a magazine writing course at Southern Methodist University and is a frequent consultant on writing and media problems to Texas businesses and professional people.

To pre-enroll, write to South Plains Writers, Post Office Box 10114, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Cost of the workshop is $35.

Water Board Sets Forums

The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) will hold a public forum in Houston Friday at 7 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Rice Rittenhouse Hotel on revision of the plan for developing Texas' water resources, announced TWDB Executive Director James M. Rose today.

The Houston forum is the first of a series of 21 forums to be held around the state in September and October. A forum was held last June in McAllen.

"The forums are being held to afford individual citizens, organizations—both local and regional—and other groups a place in their area to make their recommendations, views and opinions known to the state water agency about local, regional and statewide water problems and opportunities. We want to hear from the people," explained Rose.

Early next session, the Water Development Board will submit a new comprehensive plan to the Legislature for the efficient use and development of the state's water resources to meet present and future needs of all regions and all areas of Texas.

Each of the 21 forums is open to the public. Persons interested in providing input to the plan are encouraged to be present and state their views publicly or submit written statements, said Rose.

The need for increasing the Texas Water Development loan fund for assistance loans to communities, cities and local entities will be discussed, said Rose.

Constitutional Amendment No. 1, which will be on the general election ballot November 2, would increase the bonding level by $400 million if approved by a majority of the voters and two-thirds of the membership of the Legislature, said Rose.

Time and place of the other forums include Lubbock, Sept. 21, 7 p.m., High Plains Underground Water District Auditorium, 2930 Ave. Q, and Amarillo, Sept. 28, 9 a.m., Quality Inn Sunburst Room, 2915 IH-40 East.

annual convention of Area II Young Farmers and Young Homemakers in Lamesa September 11. Johnson is Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., 25-county High Plains cotton producer organization.

"The demand for agricultural products is strong and growing along with the living standards of people throughout the world," he said, "and we in the U.S. have the land, the capital and the know-how to satisfy that demand."

Referring to the group of youthful agriculturists and their wives as "the people who have the energy, the enthusiasm, the training and years in front of you, to do great things in agriculture and for agriculture," Johnson went on to urge that they take an active part in their commodity organizations and in the political arena.

Only in this way, he said, "can you assure that there will be an environment under which farmers can take maximum advantage of the opportunities that lie ahead."

Noting that most of what is being written about farm policy in this election year concerns the policies espoused by the major Presidential candidates, Johnson cautioned the group not to overlook the importance of Congressional races.

"Congress, not the President, writes the laws," the PCG official said, "and from the standpoint of potential effect on agriculture, the outcome of the contests for House and Senate seats may be as important or more important than the race for President."

Reminding the group of the old adage "There ain't no such thing as free lunch," Johnson expressed the opinion that the farm policies proposed by incumbent President Gerald Ford and challenger Jimmy Carter "each carries its own price tag."

The "lunch" Ford is serving and would continue to serve, he said, consists of a market-oriented farm program with low loans and low target prices which he (Ford) thinks will give farmers the opportunity for maximum profit.

The price of market orientation and little or no government interference, according to Johnson, is little or no protection against loss.

Carter, he continued, proposes a lunch of low-risk or no-risk investments served

Mrs. Angus, who had been a resident of the Floydada Nursing Home since March, 1971, died there about 10:30 a.m. Monday. She sustained a broken hip some five weeks ago, and was hospitalized at Caprock Hospital two weeks before returning to the nursing home.

A native of Bonham, she was born Winnie H. Hardin on July 26, 1893 and moved here with her husband, the late Emory L. Angus in 1924 from Corsicana. During the war years, Mrs. Angus was field representative in Floydada for the American Red Cross and then was employed at the Hesperian as society editor some seven years before retiring in 1954. She was a longtime member of the Baptist Church and had been a member of the Dorcas Sunday School class since its organization in 1936.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is indeed a pleasure to welcome you to this our 23rd Annual and Surrounding Counties Fair.

Floyd and the Surrounding Counties have truly been blessed with diversified economy. As you view the exhibits at the fair, I hope you will take time to reflect on the blessings we are greatly endowed with. As we celebrate our 200th birthday let's remember that it's dedication, cooperation, and hard work that made our country great and the same ingredients to produce a successful fair.

I would especially like to express my deep appreciation to the fine Board of Directors for their efforts to make this a successful year for our fair.

Sincerely,
Van Bradley

As It Looks From Here

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas WASHINGTON, D.C.—If we, as individuals, don't like some product or if we have bought a "lemon", we certainly have a right to complain. We have a right to tell our friends about our experience and warn them to be wary. It may not even be the performance of the product itself but maybe the way the business establishment which made the item or the retailer who sold it conducted their operation, which would cause our dissatisfaction. In any case, we may not want any more of whatever it is and we are free to say so.

It is something else to organize a boycott for reasons not related to quality or fair treatment. Over the history of the boycott practice, businesses have gone bankrupt, people by the thousands have lost jobs and the public denied the availability of the product. The mass action of the boycott resort has brought bitterness and strife and resulted in lawbreaking and violence in order to force acceptance of certain conditions.

In the 1950's the United Auto Workers Union conducted one of the longest strikes and boycotts against the Kohler Company of Wisconsin, makers of plumbing equipment. The company has not recovered and probably never will. Starting in the 1960's, the United Farm Workers, under the leadership of Cesar Chavez, waged a boycott against table grapes grown in California. Clearly this operation was and is an infringement on consumer's choice and restraint of interstate commerce. It was a bold campaign to force compulsory unionism on employers and workers, the majority of both which said they didn't want it.

A strike against the J. P. Stevens Textile Company of North Carolina has been in effect for a long period of time. The company has held on but now the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union is about to launch a boycott on a national scale. Reported in Business Week magazine, it is to be "greater than any ever undertaken by the labor movement." The objective is to unionize the Stevens' work force. Seemingly, there is no dispute over wages or working conditions but only to unionize. In cooperation, Mr. George Meany has pledged "complete, total, all out support to do anything and everything necessary" for a boycott success.

The main customers of the Stevens Company are the automobile industry for upholstery and clothing manufacturers. Existing law prohibits secondary boycotts which means the union cannot legally bring pressure on these industries not to use materials produced by Stevens. Supposedly, it can't campaign with the public not to buy finished goods from Stevens' fabrics. But in the past, the Courts have been slow and reluctant to rule against these efforts. The boycott may not have complete inhibition but will not likely be prevented.

Something more is needed in the law to curb such an intolerable abuse of power which denies the public a freedom of choice.

A boycott is a restraint of trade and individual rights. Boycotts are not new but what goes with them in present-day practice is an intrusion on individual liberty. In the last century

TEXAS JOB TALK

If you think that education and training are important now, just wait. Demand for them will escalate during the next decade, predicts Harold K. Dudley, chairman of the Texas Employment Commission, headquartered in Austin.

"The better jobs will require increasingly higher skill levels," Dudley said, "and people will need to invest more time and effort in training."

"Thus, career preparations will become more important in the future, a fact to be noted by parents, educators, planners, and many others," the TEC chairman observed.

"We are pleased to see a realistic approach to career—or vocational—training at the secondary level for those people who are not college-bound," Dudley said, "and we hope that this trend will proceed. But we should not de-emphasize the need for college and other higher level training as well as continuing education, for these will be prize commodities in the future job market."

"Employment growth," Dudley continued, "will be fastest in the vocations which require the most education and training, namely the clerical, professional, and technical occupations."

The increasing demand for education and training largely results from two factors—advanced technology and a complex society, the TEC chairman believes.

"Organizations tend to become more complex while at the same time, the job requirements within these organizations increase—jobs become more specialized," Dudley explained. "One example is the increasing use of automated equipment which, in turn, is generating a need for many skilled workers. Plumbers, electricians, farmers, and many other workers are also finding increasing complexity in their work."

"Also producing the demand for high-level skills are such factors as new trends, changing priorities in people's lives, and even new laws and government regulations," Dudley said.

"Trends and personal priorities play a major role in job requirements," Dudley noted. "For example, the current interest in energy is revolutionizing both industries and jobs, affecting such fields as architecture, construction, sales, law, real estate, and appraisal."

"Widespread interest in environmental control is another example," the TEC chairman said. "This trend has already made an impact on jobs in mining, agriculture, and forestry."

"Similar effects are seen in the field of human resources, where needs will be developing for more professional workers such as psychologists, rehabilitation counselors, social workers, and recreation workers," Dudley continued.

"Employers in these fields and many others will be seeking workers who have the higher levels of education and training," Dudley said.

Charles C. Boycott was an English land agent living in Ireland. He was ostracised for charging what was considered too high rent—hence the term today—applied with threats, coercion and violence.

Exemption May Lower Farmland Taxes

COLLEGE STATION—A recent Texas Supreme Court decision could save part-time farmers and ranchers many tax dollars, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The court held that farmers and ranchers may qualify for agricultural tax exemptions on farm real estate even though they earn more than half their income from other sources," notes Dr. Wayne Hayenga. "Thus, the court relaxed eligibility requirements imposed in an earlier ruling."

The big impact will be in counties that have many part-time or low income farmers who could not previously qualify for the exemption.

The Texas Constitution provides that the owner of a farm or ranch may request an "agricultural use" valuation for the property if it is his "primary occupation and source of income," points out Hayenga.

This valuation is based on the productive value of the land, which is often less than the market value generally used for computing tax payments.

"The state Supreme Court ruled earlier that a property owner must show that his farm or ranch income was greater than his combined income from all other sources. But, based on opinion by Associate Justice Price Daniel, the court changed the requirement to make it easier for owners to qualify for the exemption," says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Daniel wrote... "It is sufficient if the landowner shows that he devotes a greater amount of time to his agricultural business than to any other occupation or businesses and that he receives more gross income from his agricultural business..."

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Faye Walters
This has been a very busy week. We are getting every thing ready for the quilt drawing and the king and queen contest. We are going to ask for some help from persons who would like to do something for our resident's Fair. We would like for everyone who possibly can to donate a cake or a pie for our bake sale and to get in touch with me or the nurse in charge, so we will know ahead of time how many we will have. Also if some of the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, or other interested clubs, would like to decorate some of the wheelchairs for the parade, we would love to have them do that for us. All our residents are looking forward to this Fair so lets all try to make it a happy occasion for all. Our devotions have been very good this week. Tuesday was manicure day and we had some new polished nails this week. Some were pretty loud. Wednesday we had ice cream and a nice field trip. But we returned to the Home it was raining so hard we had to sit in the bus for about a half hour before we could get out. Taking this trip was Ray Reed, Agnes Anderson, Hope Hammonds, Dora Langford, Florence Badgett and myself. Thursday was fun day with bingo. The top winner was Hope Hammonds with 4 games. Agnes Anderson and Hallie Bertrand won three games each. Della Finley Clara Williamson and Ray Reed won 2 games each. We would like to thank Mrs. Wade Warren and Doris McLain for the nice quilt scrapes. Mrs. Youngblood for the beautiful lap robes that her sister, Mrs. Cecil Gray of Magdalena,

New Mexico crocheted. Donna Yeary for the tomatoes, and Rex Brown for the watermelons. We appreciate all of their thoughtfulness. I know our residents enjoyed all their visitors this week which included: Mrs. George Wexler, Alma Ruth Nelson, Otis Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert E. Davis, Virginia Strickland, Houston; Dessie Dewison, Amarillo; Nola Bishop, Josephine Smith, Verdine Smith, Lockney; Mrs. Arthur Cheves, Plainview; Roy Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Cephus Fortenberry, Mr. and Mrs. V. # Ringo (Double Circle) Ranch Under Second-Generation Brothers Partnership

By Felicia Applewhite
"I spent the night on the Quitaque River last night," or "I stayed all day with Al Askey," are typical of the entries in the daily record of Jim Taylor who came to Floyd County by horseback in 1910.

He came from King County on a trip "hunting good water." The only good water in King County was tank water. During a drouth when the tanks went dry, ranchers had to haul water for their cattle.

The long horseback ride took Jim through several counties on as far north as Hutcherson County, but he liked Briscoe and Floyd Counties best.

Jim's brother John became a partner when they borrowed money from the Amarillo banker Fuque and purchased from Al Askey three and one-half sections seven and one-half miles southwest of Quitaque. There was nothing on the land but a half dugout.

"Lumber for the brothers' identical frame houses was hauled down the treacherous Lockney-Quitaque Cap from Lockney," writes Katy Taylor, granddaughter of Jim. Each house had three rooms with a porch running across the front. Jim's house, completed first, still stands on its original location in Floyd County just 165 yards south of the Briscoe County line.

Both families came with their furnishings in a covered wagon. Jim hauled a sow in a wagon from Knox county, the home of his wife.

The brothers bought cattle and branded the RING O or Double Circle.

They each grubbed out 125 acres to raise feed for stock and fenced a pasture for horses and milk cows. They traded in Quitaque and Lockney. They shared a joint bank account and even shared an "old Hupmobile car."

This close relationship was of such a nature that neighbors once said, "Whenever you see one, you see the other." They dissolved partnership and divided holdings in 1929. Jim died in 1941 and John died in 1950.

J. P. Taylor who lives just on top of the Cap northeast of Lockney is one of Jim Taylor's four sons now in partnership operating the Jim Taylor land that has grown to a 33,000 farm-ranch acreage in Motley and Floyd Counties. He recounts much of his early life in an interview. To begin with his birth is registered in the Briscoe County Courthouse quite simply as, "Baby Boy, Taylor." He was not named until later.

He learned "reading, writing, and arithmetic" at Goodnight, a small school four miles from his home. Sometimes he rode horseback to school. When he had to ride double on the horse, an argument often followed as to who would ride in front. He went in a hack for a while until a runaway with two "crazy horses tore the hack up." That was when he began walking the four miles to school. His education ended when he graduated as a football letterman from Quitaque High School in 1932.

He recalls that during his growing-up days, "We just didn't get around much because we went in a wagon and had to spend the night which was not often possible because we milked seven or eight cows to get about two gallons of milk." A part of that activity was the raising of milk pen calves which was "about as important as getting milk for family use."

"When I was just a kid, 15 or 16, I trapped a half-grown bobcat. Some of the boys had been taking them in alive, so I decided that was the thing to do. Well, when I got hold of that bobcat, he got hold of me but I managed to get away since he was still in the trap."

He had always heard that if a coyote bit another animal, that the place would become infected. Then he trapped a coyote once and was going to take him home alive when the coyote bit him "plum through the hand." He couldn't remember that he put anything on it, "maybe a little salve." It did get pretty sore but no infection. He doesn't know yet why he wanted to take that coyote home alive.

The antelope was gone when the Taylors came here. "They tell me the antelope's curiosity got him real quick. He'd see a covered wagon and would have to go nearer to see what it was. That made him an easy target." "Once we raised some goats that got to where they wouldn't stay around the house. They stayed in the cliffs on the rim of the canyon. They showed up white against the red cliffs. We decided to catch; we had to chase one half a day. Finally, the coyotes and bobcats killed them out."

In order to make the trip in one day to Knox City to see the grandmother, they had to start before daylight. Once the lights burned out on Hupmobile that an uncle sat on the fender of the car with a flash light while "Dad drove."

"My mother went to town about twice a year." She stayed home, raised chickens, took care of milk and butter, made bats and quilted quilts, made clothes for the family, washed on a rubboard, ironed with flat irons heated on a wood-burning stove, made lye soap, raised a garden and cooked three meals a day.

A Model A Ford became a form of transportation that had to be pushed down a hill to get it to start. It would then continue down the road unless water got under the distributor cap when the driver was driving too fast.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

CENTER: Sept. 13—Another week has gone by. How time flies. Days and nights are a little cooler, and what a good rain we got last week!

The rain most of it came on Wednesday, the day the senior Citizens met at Lighthouse Electric. We had a good day anyway, the fine dinner, the devotional, the games. But we had to wade out, water at the curb was ankle deep.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer dined Sunday in Lubbock with a daughter and family, Jr. and Peggy Ayers, and boys. Peggy is recently at home from the hospital. In the afternoon, a son Irvin Brewer and family dropped in.

Mrs. Shelby Cook of Amarillo came Sunday and was the guest of Mrs. Fred Battey. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Aldredge and Mrs. Ola Warren came.

Miss Vera Meredith's company last week were: Mrs. Noman Hamilton on Thursday, Mrs. C. M. Meredith Friday, and Saturday Mrs. Clay Muncy of Lockney came.

Mrs. Muncy and Miss Meredith visited awhile with Mrs. Green Monday morning.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell spent from Friday to Sunday afternoon in Plainview with her daughter and family, Jane and Garvin Beedy and Mitzi.

Mrs. Elmer Warren and Mrs. Ava Jackson ate Sunday dinner with Mrs. Lois Durham.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Spence were in Morton attending the Fred Reunion with relatives.

This afternoon Mrs. Elmer Warren and Mrs. Leo Frizzell visited Mrs. Warren's sister, Mrs. W. H. Workman in the Lockney

Hospital.

Mrs. Betty Tye, a long time friend of so many, was taken to Caprock Hospital Saturday afternoon with a heart attack. She was better Sunday and reports she is about the same. Our prayers are with her and the others who are in the hospital and rest home.

We are sad by the passing of Mrs. Wynne Angus, a long time resident of our town. We remember how she helped people when she was with the Red Cross many years ago.

Mrs. Marion Carpenter is "up and about" feeling much better after weeks of illness.

Sue and Milton Mensch and baby David of Lubbock spent over the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas. Bill Thomas of Lockney was a Sunday dinner guest.

Mrs. Lula Green called Sunday afternoon. Sunday afternoon was a good time for visiting. Mrs. Green called at the Troy Leonard home, then went to the home of Mrs. Lucille Custer.

Mrs. Custer's brother, J. R. Evers of Miami, Florida had arrived Saturday for his periodical visit with his brother and sisters. They had all come together in reunion for the day. These were Mr. and Mrs. Ogie Evers of Lubbock Myra Nell and Everett Culp of Happy Adele and Floyd Whisenand of Lamesa. Also present were Ken Custer of Dallas, year old son Chris of Grand Prairie, Mrs. J. C. Custer and son of Slaton, and Olen Watson Jr. It's good to see these all again.

Next I stopped to see the Pecks. Gladys has been sick, but is doing well again. Other Sunday callers were Miss Francis Mitchell and Mrs. Louis Hamilton. Also the house guests, Mrs. R. D. Glimp of Lampasas.

Then it was church time. At the evening service our speaker was a ministerial student, Tim Caudle. We enjoyed it.

Today I received an 8 page letter from my granddaughter, Gretchen (Mr. & Mrs. Elmer Shore) from Baghdad, Iraq who went over in July where Elmer is employed. Interesting! She closed with "Don't worry about us."

Silverton Young Farmers Meet

Silverton Young Farmers met Thursday September 9 in the P.C.A. Community Room with guest speaker Lion New of Lubbock.

New, Area Irrigation Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, spoke on "The Pivot System vs The Open Ditch." Mr. New went into details on the expense of securing and getting ready to use the pivot system. He stated that a farmer would make about the same yield on fewer acre inches of water by applying the water by pivot when needed.

Jimmy Myers presided over the business meeting which followed the program. The club discussed entering a queen candidate in the Miss Mackenzie contest. This was tabled until G.H. Chappell can check into the possibilities of the Young Farmer Rodeo Queen candidate entering.

Dan Herrington and Jimmy Myers will be in charge of checking into the expense and feasibility of mercury lighting for the Wood Memorial Arena.

The members voted to purchase thirty tickets to the welder to be given away by the Silverton Owl Booster Club.

Fred Mynard and G. H. Chappell were appointed to the Trophy Case Committee.

The Area 1 Young Farmer Convention will be held in Lubbock on Saturday September 18. All members were urged to attend. The club will be running and supporting Orville Turner Jr. and an area officer. The Silverton Young Farmer Chapter has entered the Outstanding Young Farmer Chapter, Publicity Award, TV-Radio Award, as well as Jimmy Myers as Outstanding Star Young Farmer and Steve Barbour as Outstanding Agribusinessman. BELL PEPPERS come out of Floyd county fields and are pictured in the Floydada Vegetable Company as they are packed for shipment to Eastern states. (Staff Photo).

Fall's "field and stream" look includes lumber-jackets, blouson jackets and boot-legged pants—casual styles that appeal to young people in the national 4-H clothing program. Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, the program gives 4-H'ers opportunities to develop practical skills in wardrobe building and to earn awards donated by Coats & Clark Inc.

THE GARMET designed is much more important to American women than the name of the designer. Recent nationwide surveys revealed that less than one-fourth could cite a designer by their favorite, but they were interested in buying interesting and attractive clothes, reports Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

recently took time out to celebrate her 100th birthday. Any expectations of a retirement announcement were ill-founded. She made none.
 One of 12 children in a well-to-do Virginia farm family, Mrs. Turner packed her Bible in 1910 and took off to do home mission work in the Canoe, Kentucky, area, then a gathering place for moonshiners, gamblers, gun-slingers, gamblers, and "sinners of all kinds," she recalls. She parlayed a $500 donation into enough money to build the Canoe Presbyterian Church in 1929 - then three others later on. In 1929, she built a school and taught there. Local children started attending public schools in the 1940's.

 But "Miz Patsy" has spent most of her life on the move, a legend in the hill country, where she goes along the creeks and into the hollows ministering to the sick and those in any kind of need. "I walk, I ride," she says, "I get to people who need me and the Lord in any way I can."
 While her husband, a merchant, was living, he supported her missionary work wholeheartedly. Their four children, all adopted, haven't been able to persuade her to let up now and come to live with one of them. "I'm not alone," says the centenarian, "God and I live in that house on the hill." And she has work to do. On Sundays alone, with the help of a young friend who drives, she teaches at one church at 10 a.m. another at 1 p.m. and a third at 3 p.m.
 Mrs. Patsy Turner speaks from personal experience, she says, when she gives spiritual encouragement. "I've seen miracles." Perhaps the greatest miracle is herself.

4-H Members Adopt Fall's 'Field and Stream' Look

CHICAGO—Fall separates reflect a "field and stream" approach to wardrobe building, reports a clothing specialist.

The outdoorsy look is expressed in lumber-jackets, plaid jumpsuits and drawstring blouson jackets layered over trousers, knickers or boot-legged pants, says Beverly Rhoades, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

With careful coordination of fabrics and colors, young people can build their casual wardrobes around these rugged, versatile separates, combining and layering them to stretch their wardrobes and their clothing dollars.

Girls and boys 9-19 in the national 4-H clothing program want to get the most in style and wearability for their clothing investment. Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H members learn-by-doing to evaluate their clothing needs on the basis of their life-styles and to plan and build attractive basic wardrobes.

At the same time, 4-H'ers develop practical skills in sewing, knitting and crocheting useful wearing apparel and accessories.

For the 36th year, Coats & Clark Inc. recognizes outstanding accomplishment in 4-H clothing projects and activities with awards that include four medals of honor per county, one expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress per state, and six $800 scholarships at the national level.

4-H members who are 1976 scholarship winners will be honored at the 55th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-Dec. 2 in Chicago.

Winners are selected by the Extension Service. Awards are arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee.

County extension agents can provide more information on the national 4-H clothing program.

When it comes to giving blood...

I'M AN ABSOLUTE CHICKEN.

O.K. LET'S FACE IT.

Most people ARE scared about giving blood. That's mostly why only 3 persons in 100 actually give blood.

BUT IT ISN'T THAT BIG A THING!

The only discomfort, really, is that first poke of the needle... and that's no big thing!

It doesn't hurt once it's in. Usually, you aren't even aware it's there.

WHAT'S THE HANG-UP?

It's just like going to your dentist. You hate the idea, you worry about pain, how the drilling will hurt, etc., but you go anyway and it's never really as bad as you thought it would be.

Best thing is not to think about it or to be afraid of it, not to get all tensed up and worried. If you HAVE to think about it, remember that you give blood to make a gift of life to your fellow man... and very possibly to yourself or members of your family.

Isn't giving a pint of blood a small price to pay for that kind of satisfaction?

HERE'S HOW IT'S DONE

If you're a donor with other employees of your company, you get to lie down on the job!

That's right. We will set up in a convenient spot on the company premises where you lie down on a cot.

In about 30 minutes it's all over. There's no sensation or feeling while you're giving blood. Then you rest for a few minutes, have some refreshments and you're up and back to work. You might even feel BETTER, more relaxed. That often happens.

The only time people might feel a little faint is when they haven't eaten anything all day or had enough sleep the night before and their body isn't READY to give blood.

O.K.? THEN HERE'S THE PITCH

If you're scared, you can be honest about it because lots of folks are. But there's nothing to be afraid of, really. Giving blood is a quick, simple process.

HERE'S A VERY IMPORTANT POINT

If you especially, and everyone else who can, will be a donor regularly, giving to the community, no one in our community need ever be without life-saving blood. That's our goal. We hope you'll make it yours, too.

SPONSORED BY THE KIWANIS CLUB,

THE BLOODMOBILE WILL BE IN FLOYDADA SEPTEMBER 21 FROM 3 TO 7 P. M. AT LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

HOW MUCH BLOOD IS TAKEN?

Just a pint.

ISN'T A PINT A LOT TO GIVE?

Not really because the average person has 12 to 13 pints and the one isn't missed. The body replaces the blood quickly.

HOW OFTEN COULD A PERSON GIVE BLOOD?

You COULD give every two months if you wanted to but if everybody gave only twice a year, your community blood center wouldn't be faced with their emergency worries.

CAN ANYONE GIVE BLOOD?

Not everyone, but most healthy people between 17 and 66 can.

FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE DONOR & RECIPIENT, DONORS CANNOT BE ACCEPTED UNDER THE FOLLOWING CONDITIONS:

- IF YOU HAVE EVER HAD
- hepatitis - jaundice
  - cancer, other than skin

IS ALL BLOOD THE SAME?

No. There are four main types - O, A, B and AB, either positive or negative. O+ is the most common, AB- the rarest.

DOES THE BLOOD BANK REALLY "BANK" QUANTITIES OF BLOOD, KEEPING A SUPPLY FOR 6 MONTHS, A YEAR, OR LONGER?

No. Whole blood can only be kept for 21 days! That's the big problem... having enough donors on a regular basis to maintain an adequate supply.

Donating after an emergency doesn't guarantee anything because it takes time to process the blood.

It's normal to be scared at first, but look at it this way: If you needed blood to live, would you understand if no one gave for you?

The Arthritis Foundation estimates that five million Americans have rheumatoid arthritis, the most serious and disabling form of the disease. The Foundation is supporting a Bicentennial Revolution Against Arthritis to help free these victims from the oppression of pain and crippling.

A WHOLE, ready-to-cook turkey usually provides more meat for the money, than a boned, rolled turkey roast, points out Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

VA News

Veterans or their dependents seeking information of benefits were reminded today that the Veterans Administration maintains 960 toll-free telephone lines across the country for that purpose.

Regional Director Jack Coker said the toll-free question-answering service is available to all veterans living in Texas.

The telephone numbers can usually be found in the "U. S. Government" section of local telephone books under "Veterans Administration-Benefits Information and Assistance."

The service is aimed primarily at Veterans who live away from a VA office and find it difficult to visit the office. The same telephone service is available to veterans who live in cities having VA offices, Coker pointed out.

The toll-free service has proved popular, Coker said. For example, VA counselors in Waco answered 391,387 telephone calls during fiscal year 1976.

"Because the service is so popular," Coker said, "Veterans should have at hand as much VA-related information about themselves as possible when making a call. If you can give the counselor your VA claim number, or

By Mrs. Murray Julian

SOUTH PLAINS: Sept. 13-The rain which fell here Tuesday was wonderful and much needed. Some of our farmers reported three inches during the rainy spell, and Mr. and Mrs. Arby Mulder received that much, among others. Several farmers have turned off their irrigation wells, and are through watering for this year. We saw farmers cutting their corn as we went to Plainview Friday, and harvesting their beautiful fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nichols from here were among wedding guests who attended the marriage ceremony of Marjorie Martin of Lockney and Mel Holcomb of Floydada. They were married in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johns Cox of Lockney, Friday, Sept. 3. A reception followed the ceremony. The couple will make their home south of Lockney.

Bud Sessions who lives down near Waco, arrived here Monday to stay until Wednesday at the home of nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Kinnibrugh. Mrs. Teddy Horne and Melissa of Plainview spent Saturday night here with her folks, the Sylvan Kinnibrughs, while Teddy was gone to Colorado for a few days. He was in Durango, and Ouray on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chappell (Darla) of Duncan, Oklahoma spent the Labor Day week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ozell Chappell, in Floydada, and in South Plains with Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr. her parents.

Miss Jolene Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross McWilliams of Canton, Texas, and Kelvin Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Cummings of South Plains plan a November wedding. Their engagement was announced last week by her parents of Canton, Kelvin is a graduate of Texas A&M University, and Miss Robertson attended college in El Camino, California at El Camino College. After their November wedding the couple plan to make their home in the South Plains Community where Kelvin is engaged in farming.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Coats and their daughter, Kathy, from Levelland were guests Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage with old friends, Rev. and Mrs. Fred D. Blake and Atha. They attended services with them at the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday evening, then had supper at the parsonage with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings went to see their son, Tim, who lives at Glen Rose. They spent last week end with him.

Mrs. Ronnie Upton of Los Alamos spent Saturday visiting here with Ronnie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton. She has also been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blum in Floydada.

We are very sorry to learn that Mrs. W. O. Tye mother of Mrs. Fred Marble, is in the Caprock Hospital of Floydada, having gone there Saturday morning. We sincerely hope that she is much better every day, from the apparent heart attack.

Mrs. George Weast is still in the Central Plains Hospital in Plainview, and doing well at this time. We visited her Friday, and found her feeling well that day. Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure visited with her on Saturday and they reported finding her doing better.
