

Farmers Union President Lambasts President Ford Low Grain Prices

"Texas farmers and ranchers are deeply concerned about low prices and the bleak outlook for next year," Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco said today.

According to the state farm leader, Texas farmers recognize that their problems relating to wheat, feed grain and rice prices are a direct result of the policies of the Ford administration and Secretary of Agriculture Butz.

"Farmers see President

Ford as the man who embargoed their grain exports and drove the price down at a time when there was an adequate supply for the American consumer. The labor unions never had the opportunity to make good on their threat not to load ships, because the Administration announced its refusal to sell grain," Naman said.

Texas farmers are comparing the poor performance of this administration to the promises of the Carter-Mondale ticket, according to the farm leader. He said they are inclined to accept the pledges stated by Governor Carter to set price supports at "no less than the cost of production," to maintain open export markets, and to relieve burdensome excess supplies on the market with a reserve in farmers hands, locked away from the market.

"Texas farmers want a farmer-Secretary of Agriculture who is sympathetic with the problems of family farmers and ranchers. They identify Secretary Butz with the international grain traders and the feed processors. They can't wait to get rid of the present Secretary of Agriculture," Naman commented.

"There is deep unrest and resentment among the farmers and ranchers in Texas. Rice farmers are disgusted with the administration over the loss of the rice program. Peanut farmers are angry at the Secretary of Agriculture for his distortion of the truth about the peanut program and bad administration of that program. Wheat, feed grain and cotton producers are seething at the bad administration of the disaster program and the low loan prices set by the Secretary. Cattle producers are mad at the attitude of the administration toward imported beef.

"I know of no segment of Texas agriculture sympathetic to the farm policies of this administration. I predict the agricultural community will go for Carter and Mondale," Naman said.

Despite an extensive and costly control effort, cotton as much as five miles west of the Caprock is suffering boll weevil damage on the High Plains in 1976. In addition, a few weevils are being found as far west as Andrews County.

That's the word from officials of the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program which has protected cotton above the Caprock since 1964.

"It has been impossible, within the bounds of our resources, to keep all weevils out of all cotton above the Cap," stated Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. PCG initiated the control program in 1964 on behalf of its members in 25 High Plains counties and has maintained the continuing responsibility for its operation.

A mild 1975-76 winter permitted a survival rate among weevils from 15 to 20 times as great as normal, leading to a huge buildup of weevil populations east of the program "control zone."

"The migration of these weevils into the area we are treating below the Caprock was so magnified this year that a spill-over to the area immediately above the Caprock was inevitable," Dean says.

"What we are trying to do now is to prevent any additional spread of weevils and at the same time kill as many as possible before they go into winter hibernation, and then we will start praying for a severe winter to reduce the magnitude and cost of our job next year."

Officials note that there are now more acres of weevil-infested cotton threatening the High Plains than at any time since the beginning of the control program.

"This doesn't mean the program has been a failure or will fail in its objectives this year," Dean cautions, "but it is an indication of how quickly the weevil would spread in future years should the program for any reason break down."

This year's records show that the first aerial application of insecticide, which began September 6, covered 230,000 acres of infested cotton. The second application, which began September 21 and was nearing completion September 24, will cover an estimated 270,000 acres.

These figures compare with 25,000 and 62,000 acres sprayed in the first two applications of 1975, according to Dean. Officials expect that by the end of the season an aggregate of over 1.2 million acres will have been sprayed.

"By this time," Dean laments, "we will have spent virtually all of the funds available to us from producers and from government, and there is even a possibility we will be borrowing money."

Cost of the program is borne jointly by High Plains cotton producers and the U.S. and Texas Departments of Agriculture. USDA matches, dollar-for-dollar, the contributions of producers and the TDA. Producer contributions, collected on a voluntary basis as a part of compress receiving charges, have ranged from 50 cents per bale in 1964 down to 25 cents in 1975 and back to 50 cents per bale again in 1976.

Whether you buy your beef in a supermarket or from the corner grocery, the fact remains: beef is a super bargain. And it's likely to continue that way through the rest of this year.

County Officials Go To Jail Meeting

County commissioners Bob Jarritt, Aaron Carthel, Jack Lackey, county judge J. K. Holmes, county auditor O. M. Watson, Jr. were all in Amarillo last week concerning jail house standards. Representatives of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards outlined forthcoming standards for county jails that will be released around January 1, 1977.

The Floyd Philosopher Takes A Look At The Decline In The Quality Of Education Kids Get

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets on to a touchy subject this week, but he'll have to look out for himself.

Dear Editor:

As I hear it, there's a lot of concern around the country over public education these days. People are pointing out that a student can finish high school and still not be able to read and write. In fact, it's gotten to where lots of times a high school diploma is about the equivalent of what a grammar school diploma used to be, and a college degree is the equivalent of what a high school diploma used to be.

To back this up, experts point out that scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test for high school seniors have worsened. As I understand it, the tests indicate among other things how much a student has learned, and for the past few years they indicate he's learning less and less.

This naturally has troubled school leaders and they've been hunting for answers. You suppose they're looking in the wrong place?

I mean, this is none of my business but since I'm not running for President and can therefore afford to put my foot in my mouth, I was just wondering: has anybody thought of giving the school faculties across the nation a Scholastic Aptitude Test? Since I've gone this far I might as well ask, has anybody thought of giving boards of trustees the test? School principals? Superintendents? University regents? State legislators? Governors? Congressmen? I don't have time to take it myself.

Even though it may be too late, I will now change the subject. I notice that the 1977 model cars are going to get more miles per gallon of gas, some even a third more than cars did three years ago.

Conservationists say this can be translated into a 33 percent saving in the nation's consumption of gasoline, but this may be a statistic with holes in it. What it may mean is that people will simply drive a third more. It's sort of like the over-weight beer drinker who was delighted when he found out about the new brands of beer containing one-third less calories than the other brands. "Here's where I can lose some weight," he said, but he didn't. What he wound up doing was drinking a third more.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

Signs Of Better Living In Floyd

NEW YORK--How high is the standard of living in Floyd County? How does it compare with the standard in other communities?

On the basis of an index rating used by the Department of Commerce, it ranks above many areas in that regard.

During the last decade or so, local families have been steadily upgrading their style of living, despite the periods of self-imposed restraint brought about by inflation and depressions.

Except for the last two or three years, when they held themselves in close check, they have been spending a considerable part of their disposable income for major appliances and for luxuries in general.

It went for such items as food freezers, color TV sets, washing machines, new cars and the like.

As a result, the proportion of local families who are now equipped with such amenities of good living has become much greater.

With respect to freezer units, for example, they are now to be found in some 65 percent of all Floyd County households. In 1960, by way of comparison, only 46 percent had them.

Similarly, there are many more air conditioners in use locally. The proportion of homes so equipped has reached 25 percent, as against 6 percent in 1960.

As for TV sets, over 97 percent of local families have one or more. In 1960 the ratio was 89 percent, the Commerce Department's figures show.

Car ownership has also increased. Approximately 95 percent of families in the area have at least one car, compared with 92 percent previously.

The extent to which people in each part of the country have these four kinds of equipment at their command is taken as an indication of their well-being and their standard of living.

The maximum rating for a community, if every one of its families had all four of them, would be 400. Floyd County has a rating of 282, a marked gain over its 1960, rating of 233.

Elsewhere in the United States, the rating is 240 and, in the Southern States, 258.

As would be expected, the acquisition of expensive durables is directly related to income. When income rises, as it has been doing locally, people tend to spend more in that direction.

TRAVEL WITH TASTE

A surprising number of travelers miss out on the pleasant surprise of tasting foreign food. These hints should help you enjoy this sensuous travel pleasure—in clean and pleasant surroundings where you won't get any unpleasant surprises.

1. If you don't understand the menu, have the waiter explain it. This can save you from expecting a steak and having to wriggle out of eating fried eels instead!

2. Remember that dining hours and customs can change from place to place. The English, for instance, have early morning tea before breakfast and afternoon tea before dinner. When in Rome you'll have to do as the Romans do—lunch between one and five and dinner at nine!

3. Experiment with new foods. Every place has a specialty. In Paris, take a bite with pressed duck. In Greece, you needn't be chicken about the taste of chicken-lemon soup. In 48 countries around the world you can dine well at Holiday Inn properties where appetizing meals, clean surroundings and prompt service are standard procedure.

Fortified with these tips for eating away from home, you should be able to really get your teeth into traveling with taste.

Confusion Feared On Water Issues

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas voters were urged Monday to back Amendment No. 2 on the Nov. 2 ballot as a $100 million effort to clean up Texas waters.

Josiah Wheat, Woodville, chairman of Texans for Clean Water, cautioned voters also not to confuse the $100 million clean water bond issue with controversial Amendment No. 1.

"We are concerned that opposition to No. 1 could have an adverse effect to No. 2," Wheat told a news conference. Wheat's group is not taking a position on No. 1.

Amendment No. 1 would authorize the Texas Water

Development Board to issue an additional $400 million in funds for water projects. A group of environmentalists would be "open ended and uncontrolled" authority for the board. Some have said it would be used to transfer water from one part of the state to another.

Amendment 'No. 2 would allow the state to issue an additional $100 million in bonds to help cities and towns improve their sewage treatment facilities. An original issue of $100 million was approved by voters in 1971 and $75 million of that has been used with the remaining $25 million already earmarked.

"Lots of these plants were built many years ago," Wheat said. "A great many need to be replaced or upgraded and construction is so costly that many towns, particularly the smaller communities, simply cannot raise money locally to finance such expensive construction. On the other hand, federal grant money is not available to many of them within a practical time frame, so their only recourse is a loan from the state."

Wheat said the bonds would be self-liquidating as cities and towns paid off the loans but the fund would not be revolving.

Fire Prevention Week Proclamation

PROCLAMATION BY THE COUNTY JUDGE OF FLOYD COUNTY TO WHOM THESE SHALL COME: I, County Judge of Floyd County, do hereby declare the week of October 3-9, 1976 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Floyd County for the following reasons: According to the National Fire Protection Association, approximately 10,000 people will be killed and 12,000 people will be injured in fires this year. It is estimated that over $1 billion in property loss from the fire in the United States... 1,812 homes... 415 schools... 97 churches... 238 restaurants... 145 buildings on 84

WHEREAS, the Floyd County Farm Bureau, in conjunction with all fire departments in the county have worked together to emphasize fire prevention and protection in the rural areas as well as in our cities and towns; WHEREAS, the 1976 Fire Prevention Week campaign utilized the statement "LEARN NOT TO BURN." Knowing how not to burn can literally mean the difference between life and death, between a fire-safe home and pile of debris and ashes where you used to live. WHEREAS, all citizens of this county should learn to avoid starting a fire, whether through accident, carelessness or just plain ignorance and learning how to keep their city or rural environment fire-safe by not giving fire a place to start. Be especially careful in the safe handling and use of matches and smoking materials, use of liquified petroleum gas, gasoline, and other petroleum products, electrical heating, cooking equipment and other fire causes such as lightning and spontaneous ignition. WHEREAS, "LEARN NOT TO BURN" includes a combination of some of the following safety education practices: (1) Have a smoke detector or combination smoke/heat/gas detection system; (2) develop, learn and practice home escape plan; (3) make sure every member of the family is trained on how to turn in a fire alarm, and how to use portable fire extinguishers; and (4) rehearse how to "Stop, Drop and Roll" as a means of smothering or extinguishing the fire if your skin, hair or clothing catches on fire. THEREFORE, I urge all citizens of Floyd County to join hands in recognizing this special period of working together fifty-two weeks a year to more fully realize the benefits of FIRE PREVENTION WEEK. APPLES keep best in the refrigerator. Not only does refrigeration prevent decay, but it maintains quality, juiciness and crispness. Serve ice cold or at room temperature, suggests Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

SALES OF KNIT fabrics rose from 14 million square yards in 1967 to 623 million in 1974, says Marlene Odle, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

VA News

A once-a-year Veterans Administration payment totaling more than $9 million was mailed recently to disabled veterans who wear prostheses.

Annual clothing allowance checks for $175 have been mailed to almost 52,000 service-disabled veterans, the VA Regional Director, Jack Coker, reported today.

Veterans compensated by the VA for Service-connected disabilities, requiring use of prosthetic or orthopedic appliances, received the allowance to offset expenses incurred in wear and tear on clothing. Appliances considered included artificial limbs, braces and wheelchairs.

Coker explained that after initial application, veterans on VA compensation rolls receive the annual allowance automatically.

Military retirees with disabilities requiring use of prosthetic devices, but who are not receiving VA compensation, must make application each year for the clothing allowance. Retirees are not required to waive any portion of their retirement pay to receive the allowance, Coker noted.
