Hornets will swarm into Friday night and they are reporting a big victory over Idalou last week...and like last year...lost by four touchdowns to powerhouse A Wellington a couple of weeks ago...and lost by one point 7-6 to Olton the first game of the season.

Wilson told the Quarterback club Monday night. Tulia has lost a couple of games this season...lost by four touchdowns to powerhouse A Wellington a couple of weeks ago...and lost by one point 7-6 to Olton the first game of the season.

Starting his fourth year at Tulia, Coach Earl Miller feels he has his most physical team ever and his quarterback Steve Brown, a senior, with two years experience likes to pass to 155 pound split end Joe Garza.

185 pound fullback Larry Billingsley and halfback Larry Anderson (175) make good yardage with the blocking of seniors Bobby Keeter and Jerry Williams; Gary Hudson, a 6-0, 220 pound senior letterman will be joined by 215 pound junior Ramio Bernal. Then just for size, there's linebacker 6-0, 221 pounder Jimmy Freeman.

Lions Pancake Supper Friday

Everyone is invited to the annual Lions Pancake Supper in the Jr. High cafeteria Friday from 5 to 7:30 p.m....just before the football game with Tulia.

The supper is advertised as "all the pancakes you can eat" for $2.00. If you are 12 or under, the ticket will be only $1.50.

A big crew of Lions will be on hand to cook the pancakes, sausage and other trimmings for the supper. Tickets are now on sale by any member of the Floydada Lions Club.

Breezers Blank Abernathy

The Eighth grade Breezers took Abernathy out of the running for district championship Tuesday night 16-0. This makes the Breezers 3-0 in district and they need only defeat Idalou here next Tuesday to get the coveted district championship. The Breezers are 4-3 for the season.

The Abernathy game was costly, though...as quarterback Moody Younger received a broken ankle. Brent Bullock took over the signal calling when the accident happened, midway third quarter.

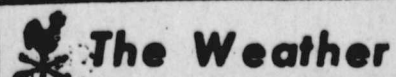

The first Breezer score came in the second quarter when Hector Mercado broke in the open and hooked it to the goal for the TD...some 40 yard run. Jeff Rainey made the two extra points. At halftime it was Floydada 8, Abernathy 0.

In the fourth stanza Michael Self threw a halfback pass to Hector for the last TD and Jeff again made the two extra points.

Coach Mark Vinson said, "I must again praise our great defense team, who has allowed only 12 points in the last five games. The coach invites everyone out to cheer his team on to victory Tuesday evening...the last game of the season.

Seventh Breezers Beat Abernathy 28-14

Lockney-Floydada Tax Report

AUSTIN -Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that his auditors turned up more than $9 million in additional local sales taxes owed Texas cities and towns during fiscal 1976, more than double the amount turned up the two previous fiscal years.

Bullock said city sales tax audit production during the fiscal year ending August 31 was $9,056,072, compared to about $4.5 million each of the two previous fiscal years.

The Comptroller Friday also mailed checks totaling $9.1 million to 478 cities and towns as their October rebate of the one-cent city sales tax.

He added that city sales tax rebates have totaled $239.1 million so far this year, well ahead of the $209.2 million rebated during the same period in 1975.

Floydada received $1,719.34; Lockney $751.12; Crosbyton $513.68; Dimmitt $6,715.75; Tulia $3,041.53.

Change "Abernathy To Tulia"

Evidently the person who prepared the Hesperian football contest page last Sunday just wanted to skip the Tulia game and showed the tie breaker game as Floydada vs. Abernathy.

All contestants are asked to please change Abernathy to Tulia before mailing or bringing in their entry. Sorry 'bout that.

Bill Bruder Wins Football Contest

Bill Bruder, Box 129, Plainview, missed only four contests and will receive the $7.50 first prize in last week's Hesperian football contest.

Norman Allen, 603 West Mississippi, also missed only four contests and will receive the $5.00 second place prize.

The tie-breaker Floydada-Lockney game was used to determine first and second place winners. Both picked Floydada to win. Bruder guessed total points 30 and Allen guessed 34. The total points were 13.

Third place prize of $2.50 goes to Dwayne Wilson, 221 North First. He missed five games and picked the tie breaker total score 34.

Also missing five games, but picking the tie breaker 35 points was Mike Estes of Texas Tech.

Honorable mention goes to the following contestants who missed only six contests: Randy Hale, Van Jones, Shannon Paty, Dennis Teasdale, Weldon Pruitt, Larry Scott, Betty Stephens.

Most all contestants missed the Dallas-St. Louis and the Olton-Dimmitt tie game.

State Farm Bureau President Says "Get Off Those Combines"... Get Involved

State Farm Bureau President Carrol Chidupa told a small crowd at Dumas Elementary Cafeteria Saturday night. Farmers are going to have to take time to climb off those combines and tractors and get involved in legislation that will help them and their business.

He stressed the importance of Farm Bureau in working with state and national leaders in order to bring about the new estate law. "I have personally visited with President Ford and former secretary of agriculture Earl Butte to discuss various farm and ranch situations," Chidupa told the audience.

Chidupa said he was for good education in Texas schools, but didn't feel that all children taxes could continue to finance the school system.

Farm Bureau has brought a new "credibility" to farm requests to the State Legislature.

Natural gas supply and price is a most serious problem for the irrigator farmer.

Farm Bureau has a good relationship with the Governor of Texas.

Farm Bureau can influence Congress in getting a new farm bill.

Recently visited President Ford at London, Oklahoma to discuss the critical price problem on beef and wheat.

Congressmen know that city people want cheap food and farmers matter what the cost to the farmer.

Defended Earl Butte as being tough and not a good job for agriculture.

He said to see that farm labor is not squeezed into unions.

13,000 more members in the state this year, total 195,000 members, more than 160 employees.

And in conclusion urged that the state legislature be urged to pass the state budget.

introduced by state board member S. M. Four, former Union Dale County.

Floyd Farm Bureau president Eddie Teeter, was master of ceremonies, he called upon Kenneth Holt to read the financial statement and the minutes of the last meeting a year ago.

STUDENT SEMINAR

They said they learned about the dangers of Communism, learned about God, "the farmer is a very important person. "America is great because America is Good," history repeats itself, he said men aren't listening to the same young people of today will be making decisions tomorrow.

RESOLUTIONS
Farm Bureau member Thayer Massey presented the county, state and national resolutions for approval. Most all were approved. There were considerable amendments presented a resolution on the grain systems who are grain processors who sell steel, coal, so white and yellow. However, it was tabled when it was decided the school system could be expanded in our country.

Kathy Burk Gives Program For Homebuilders Club

The Homebuilders H.D. Club met October 12 in the home of Mrs. Raymond Williams, with Mrs. Bill Smith presiding in the absence of Mrs. Ruth Trapp. Roll call was answered with "What Autumn means to me."

The program was given by Kathy Burk, home service advisor of Light-house Electric, on Energy Conservation. With the increase in energy rates and our so called crisis members were very impressed with Miss Burks talk and slides shown.

Supply and demand is the main reason energy cost is up. The demand is up and supply is down. Oil is a marvelous chemical that takes nature a very long time to make. The oil molecule is valuable for making petrochemicals, plastics, medicines, fertilizers and many other things. It is very foolish to squander it by converting it into oil carbon-dioxide and water to burn. Crude oil is a super chemical; if you tried to make it out of alcohol it would cost $50 - $75 per barrel, and would take an enormous amount of energy, and would not be as good as crude. The hardest to make and is used for paving roads. Hopefully, we will wake up and quit wasting our chemical and will have enough to supply the demand. We do not want to give up our synthetics, plastics, and other things because there is no more petroleum.

Alcohol works very well for energy. The fastest cars in the world uses alcohol. We have the technology to make alcohol from cellulose fiber. Why aren't we using it? Because gas is cheaper. Alcohol also does not pollute. We are told in the near future we may see gas prices quadruple. So we must have alternate sources of energy. There are alternatives - hydroelectric, tidal, geothermal and the wind.

Solar can be used to heat homes and water, but would take many years to save enough on the electric bills to pay for the installation. Solar energy heat collectors have been designed that will heat air or water for use, by generator plants. Mirrors on the ground reflect the sun's rays to heat the air in a town that can be used to turn the turbines in a generator plant.

In order to handle our present problem we must conserve all we can. Insulation in a house is a great help. Weather strip where needed. Sixty-nine percent of your fuel cost is heating and cooling. The electric lights are very expensive. Don't be helpful to your eyesight. Keep your fireplace damper closed when not in use.

Miss Burk concluded by showing a film on conservation.

A refreshment plate was served to Mrs. Ernie Widener, Elmer Norrell, Raymond Evans, Doris Huckabay, Bill Smith, Kathy Burk and the hostess.

The meeting adjourned to meet October 26 in the home of Mrs. Ernie Widener.

Mr. and Mrs. McHam Residing Near Floydada After Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McHam

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McHam are residing on Route 2, Floydada following their September 11 wedding. Mrs. McHam is the former Susan Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pierce of Floydada. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie McHam, also of Floydada.

The Pierce home was the setting for the 7:30 p.m. wedding. Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, pastor of the Bible Baptist Church in Floydada, performed the double ring ceremony before a fireplace banked with greenery and daisies. Floor baskets, also holding daisies and greenery completed the focal point for the wedding.

Mrs. Joe Johnston of Plainview, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Ricky Myers of Floydada was best man.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza fashioned with a high neckline of Val lace. The full Bishop sleeves were caught at the wrists by lace ruffles, and bands of matching lace accented the softly gathered A-line skirt.

She wore a bandeau of Venise lace daisies holding a waist length tier of illusion edged in lace. For something old and borrowed, the bride wore a family heirloom necklace and pin belonging to the groom's paternal grandmother in Lubbock, and carried a bridal colonial style bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Johnston wore a pink floor length crepe gown styled with dotted swiss butter-fly sleeves and a fitted bodice caught at the back waist with a self tie.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Pierce home. The serving table was laid with a white lace cloth, accented with brass candle holders bearing green tapers. The wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. H. Finley of Floydada, was topped with wedding bells and placed on a crystal compote server. Mrs. Finley served cake, and Miss Lucy Pierce, sister of the bride, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dugan Pierce, served punch from silver and crystal appointments.

The bride, who is a senior in Floydada High School, is continuing her education while her husband is engaged in farming.

BY PEGGY MEDLEY

AUTUMN is that time of the year when nature puts on a spectacular show with trees having the starring roles. It is a beauty contest that attracts an audience of millions in any section of the United States.

Several Floydada residents have recently returned from a foliage tour they say was spectacular, and Helen Dunlap promised to bring in an article of the tour soon.

I understand Vermont is considered to be the greatest attraction in the northeastern states and tourists flock there each October to witness the arboreal metamorphoses. I had to look that one up. In case you are as dumb, arboreal relates to trees and metamorphoses means changing stages. Why couldn't they have just said "tree leaves changing"?

St. Johnsbury is an attraction in itself with its maple syrup museum and planetarium. A fairly large town, it has no traffic lights and making a turn on main streets resembles a Mexican standoff. I'm told.

Pennsylvania is another excellent place to watch the leaves put on their show as they undergo their chemical changes the first three weeks in October. That doesn't leave you much time to head north and get there before it's over, unless you fly, but there's always next year. And too, you might not want to go that far. These beautiful sights may also be seen in New Mexico and Colorado, and if you'll notice right here in Floydada, the leaves have turned. However they are not all that pretty when you have to rake them up.

WE have been requested to retract an advertisement carried in the Hesperian on someone's age. It was listed as 49 and the one observing her birthday says she is only 39! That's the way most of us women are, we hate to let that 39 go, but most of us are 39 and holding, even if we are 49! I've always heard that life begins at 40 but so does arthritis, lumbago and the habit of telling a story three times to the same people. That's why most of us state that we're 39!

UNDERSTAND tickets to the Cowboy-Chicago game are sold out for Sunday's tilt, so if you are in the Dallas area and can't go to the game, it will be televised in the Dallas area.

VOTING time is just around the corner and for those in the Floydada area who are unable to drive, need free transportation, Girl Scout Cadette Troop 336 will transport you to the polls. It will have to be after 4 p.m. and until 7 p.m. If you need a ride call Mrs. Fred Lipham at 983-3368 or Mrs. Max Harrison at 983-3044 after 4 p.m. Two Cadette Girl Scouts will be assigned to each car to assist those needing help in and out of the car.

THE law of Good Joke: If it brings a child to tears, if it causes something sacred to appear common; if it makes something beautiful look ugly, if it turns cleanliness into filth, if it capitalizes on another person's weakness, if it needs to be off-color to make it funny, if it causes a heart to ache, if it brings embarrassment to another, FORGET IT! IT ISN'T FUNNY.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Faye Walters
By Faye Walters
This has been such a beautiful fall week. Not to cold for our residents to take their walks but it will before long.

They are still enjoying the exercise classes every morning Monday through Thursday.

We had real good devotions this week. All received blessings from the singing and preaching.

Wednesday we had ice cream and a nice field trip. Taking the trip was the driver Mr. Freeman, Ray Reed, Hope Hammonds, Dora Langford, Florence Badgett, and myself. Everyone was glad to have Mr. Freeman back as he has been gone for a while recovering from surgery.

We sure missed Agnes Anderson but maybe she will be able to go next week. She is home from the hospital and improving every day.

Thursday the ladies from the City Park Church of Christ gave the residents' birthday party of the month. We only had one resident with a birthday in October, Nancy Thomas. Everyone enjoys the parties regardless. Cake and punch was served to all the residents, employees and visitors. It Clyde Alexander of Floydada; and her children, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Adair of Olton; Grace Key, Artesia, New Mexico; and Mrs. A. Morgan of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Next birthday party will be November 18 at 2:30 p.m. Come and be with us on these occasions.

Fortune Magazine Tells Of Jim Word's Findings In Baker Cave

(Editor's Note: The following article was taken in part from the October issue of the magazine, "Fortune," and concerns Floydada insurance man, James Word, who with his wife, Dorothy, was with the expedition of archaeologist for two of their 17 days, who searched Baker Cave in southwest Texas for records of Stone Age man.) Word first excavated Baker Cave in the 1960's. His findings prompted archaeologists to investigate further. Word has grown from pot hunter to conservationist and warns amateurs against spoiling sites for scientists.

Baker Cave, located on the Baker Ranch, is one of a dozen of prehistorical sites uncovered in the Southwest in the last decade. It's in the bleak but beautiful scrub and cactus country some 200 miles west of San Antonio. The late James Baker was the one who invited his friend and amateur archaeologist, James H. Word, to investigate the cave. The wealth of material Word found, working with six or more helpers off and on for four years, exceeded all expectations. Before he reached the cave's bottom Word had dug 11 feet, sifting through 25 to 30 layers of deposits. These were marked alternately by the debris left by inhabitants and by sterile deposits of powdered limestone, which fell from the roof during long periods when the cave was unoccupied. In the top layer, the story relates that Word recovered only a few arrowheads, which could be dated at sometime between 1000 A.D. But as he dug deeper he uncovered more and more stone points from spears, the weapon employed by hunters before the bow and arrow came into use in the Southwest.

From the bottom or oldest zones of his excavations Word recovered six projectile points that resembled some found at another site 50 miles to the south. This type of point had been named the golondrina, the Spanish word for swallow, on account of its characteristically forked swallowtail, and had been dated at around 6800 B.C. Near the spot in Baker Cave where Word found his golondrina points he took charcoal samples, probably left from a cooking fire. Radiocarbon dating confirmed that Baker Cave had been occupied as early as 7000 B.C.

Word's report on Baker Cave, published by the Texas Memorial Museum at the University of Texas in Austin, identified over 2,200 stone artifacts, including scrapers, spearpoints, knives, choppers, and hammerstones. There were more than 1,200 items made of plant fiber, ranging from fishnets to sandals. And he found 10,000 bones, which the museum identified as those of rabbits, squirrels, rats, deer and fish.

Off and on from 7000 B.C. to 1000 A.D., Baker Cave had evidently been a temporary home to small bands of nomads who hunted, fished, and foraged for nuts and fruit, then sought its shelter to sleep, cook, make their stone tools, and weave baskets.

Scholars at the University of San Antonio, under the direction of Dr. Thomas R. Hester, were anxious to see if they could find any hard evidence that people had inhabited Baker Cave before 7000 B.C. They also wanted to learn more about how these primitive people lived in their cave. Dr. Hester was joined by amateur archaeologists and the crew grew to 23. The expedition, sponsored by Earthwatch, encountered drenching rains, flash floods, swarms of gnats and hours of grinding toil.

Rain had been pouring for several days when the crew reached the turn-off place to Baker Ranch. They were told to proceed right away before the water rose across the bridge of Devils River. They established living quarters in a dilapidated old sheep barn seven miles short of the cave. It rained through the first night and every night for the next five nights. During the following two days a small crew was able to begin a limited amount of work in the cave, but as things were beginning to get organized, the rains came back harder than ever. When the weather finally settled after a loss of five days, the crew settled into routine.

In the trench it took six days before the diggers got down to the early levels which interested them most. With only four days left they hit pay dirt. A graduate student found the forked base of a golondrina point, similar to those that Jim Word had found. The crew worked faster to make up for lost time. On the next to last day, Word and his wife returned to Baker Cave to lend a hand and compare notes.

The cave took on the look of a small factory. Clouds of dust filled the air but in a matter of hours the crew impatiently turned over thousands of years. They stopped digging when they noticed the soil changing from the creamy white limestone to the gray of ashes. This indicated a fire pit, rare evidence from such an early period. So they carefully dug around it, leaving the pit itself intact for excavation as a unit the next day.

The evidence was bagged for analysis by specialists at the university. Everything in the ash, fishbones, nutshells, charcoal, put there by man, would yield information on the vegetation, climate and microfauna of the period.

Later a woman school teacher in the crew uncovered a big bifaced stone gouge. It was the first time one of these adze-like woodworking tools had been associated with the golondrina era.

Sitting in a pit at the bottom of the light and airy cave, another amateur carefully scraped away powdery limestone with a trowel, and uncovered a smooth round stone. It was a hammer, worn from repeated blows struck by an ancestor of the Coahuiltecan Indians, as he fashioned his flint tools and spearpoints. When the hammerstone was picked up, it was probably for the first time in 9,000 years.

The excavation came to an end. Although the crew hadn't uncovered any definite evidence that anyone had lived in Baker Cave before 7000 B.C., they had confirmed Word's findings, as well as other evidence for that period from other sites. The thirty boxes of artifacts and soil samples collected would tell much about what life was really like in Texas before the dawn of history.

Letter To The Editor

United States Postal Service was made a corporation in 1970. The law which gave this corporation gave it authority to unionize the postal industry, with one exception—the right to

At the present time, the Postal Service is in a bind. It is not allowed to raise rates, and it is not allowed to lay off employees. The result is a massive deficit which is being made up by the taxpayers.

THE POSTAL SERVICE IS RESPONSIBLE TO NO ONE BUT THE TAXPAYERS.

The U.S. Postal Service set up a management and labor ceiling of 100,000 employees. The Post Office labor force receives salaries based on government employees. PRIOR TO 1970, SALARIES WERE COMPARABLE.

The Postal Service is now a government agency. The law requires eight hours work for eight hours pay.

The Postal Service negotiates with the corporate structure, has provisions in the law of our land. The financial burden of the Postal Service has been created because of excessive expenditures. EXCESSIVE INCREASE IN MAIL HAS CAUSED A DECREASE IN MAIL DELIVERY. THE POSTAL EMPLOYEES ARE NOT PAID FOR DOING NOTHING. Unless the workload decreases, the imbalance will continue. The no-layoff clause does not permit management to reduce the work force to correct the imbalance. An effective work measurement system has been eliminated, and each office is permitted to set its own work standards which supports this type of imbalance. EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY IN THE OPERATION OF THE POSTAL SERVICE UNDER THIS LABOR AGREEMENT ARE IMPOSSIBLE.

The upper management of the Postal Service has committed various acts to shield this truth from the public. Hearings before the subcommittee of the Congress when properly reviewed will clearly identify the fabrications. How can Congress or the President ignore this when conduct of a similar nature in the Executive Branch of the government brought about the removal of the President of this Nation.

The investigative arm of the Congress, known as the General Accounting Office, has presented reports and testimony which are absolute fabrications. Documents proving these fabrications are in the hands of Congress. For Congress to use these reports while in the process of preparing legislation for laws to govern this Nation is a damnable act. The need to refer this to the Justice Department for an in-depth probe is of the utmost importance if our government and the nation's business is to function properly. The Board of Governors, the Postmaster, the entire upper management of the United States Postal Service should be held responsible and accountable for the multi-billion dollar waste which they and they alone are responsible for.

I invite everyone interested in an efficient U.S. Postal Service to write their Congressman and make their views known.

The only limit on U.S. Postal Service salary is that no employee can make over $63,000. The total subsidy for the current fiscal year is 1.5 billion, plus an estimated deficit of 1.4 billion, representing a total amount the taxpayers have to shell out annually, plus the price of stamps.

The Thin Line of Death

Are you a Christian? If your instant answer is yes, then may I ask you, how do you know you really are one? Have you since you accepted Christ as your savior, ever really sat down and took a good look at your life? Do you search your conscience daily like Paul the apostle recommended? Some people say they have accepted Jesus and become a Christian, but their life style never really changes much, if any. The Bible says to become a Christian we must be born again, and this means there will be a change in the way we live. If a person is really a Christian then other people can see that they are not the same afterward as they were before receiving Christ. Can people see any change in you? How well do you obey the Lord's statutes and commandments? The whole Bible is a commandment to a true Christian. I feel some people live a little like Jesus teaches, and a little like satan wants them to live, but you know, God wants us to completely obey his word, at least as far as the knowledge that we have of it. And I honestly believe that sometimes every Christian wonders just how much God will let a Christian get away with, I mean how much of the things that the person keeps holding back from God. I suppose God will let us get away with a little, maybe, but I'm not sure how much. I believe somewhere God will draw the line, and if we go past his line then we will be lost, and the problem is, no one can know exactly where that line is. And the only way I can figure to be safe and know for sure, that we are for certain going to heaven, is to totally commit ourselves, live completely for God, in everything we do, say, or think, then we will know we are not below that thin line of death eternal.

Brotherton Recognized For Cost-Saving Suggestions

TSgt. Robert C. Brotherton was one of two Eilson Air Force Base (Fairbanks, Alaska) personnel recently honored with letters of congratulation from President Ford for suggestions which resulted in a combined savings to the government of $31,025.

In May of last year the president announced in his special cost reduction campaign that he would personally sign letters of appreciation to military and civilian personnel whose suggestions resulted in savings of $5,000 or more.

The letter, in part, said, "You are to be commended for your work in improving government operations and for the outstanding example you have set for all employees. In the time ahead, I urge you to continue applying your talents and abilities to the challenges before us."

TSgt. Brotherton, son of Mrs. Merle Mooney and grandson of Mrs. Olive Myers of Lockney, also received a $1,000 cash award for his suggestions. Brotherton graduated from Lockney High School in 1963 and attended West Texas State University and McMurry College. He has been in the Air Force 10 years. Brotherton is now stationed at McChord AFB, Tacoma, Washington. He was at Eilson four years.

Food Key To Peace, Prosperity, Health

DALLAS -Peace, prosperity and human health in the next few decades ahead will depend more than ever on food production and distribution, Texas A&M University's dean of agriculture said here Monday (October 11).

Dr. H. O. Kunkel,

speaking during a meeting of the Dallas and Fort Worth Agricultural Clubs, said there is enough food produced to feed the world now. People are malnourished not because of agricultural limits but because of problems of delivery and economics.

"The issue is getting the food to where the people are and providing an income so that they can buy it," he said.

There is no doubt more food will be needed, however. The dean said that even the most conservative population watchers estimate a jump from the current 4 billion to about 7 billion by century's end.

He emphasized the need for significant breakthroughs in productivity to meet future food demands.

"We know some of the areas where such breakthroughs are possible—increased efficiency in photosynthesis, nitrogen fixation and genetic manipulation," he said. "We also know that the research and development cost involved in such breakthroughs is very high."

Such advances become almost imperative, Kunkel emphasized, because the entire world has reached the point of near total dependence on one region—North America—for its surplus food supplies.

The situation is not helped by the fact that crop yields per acre have actually declined since 1971 for most grains. Bad weather, he said, has been a factor, but other causes are activation of less productive crops in the U.S. and zooming costs of energy and fertilizer.

Average U.S. yields are approaching experimental yields where all known technology is applied, the speaker pointed out. The simple fact is that farmers are consuming technology faster than it is being produced by research.

Kunkel also emphasized the need for more basic research in agriculture.

"Demands for applied research solutions to problems of food and fiber production are continual and seem inescapable," he said.

"Yet, those solutions must draw from the body of basic research while at the same time competing for the support needed for fundamental research. It is the reservoir of basic or high risk research relevant to agriculture and food that has been diminished to the critical point."

But Kunkel also expressed optimism for the future.

He said such agencies as the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are providing new developments, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is getting that information to farmers and ranchers.

The overall goal is to boost the absolute levels of food, feed and fiber and to do it with the most efficient utilization of resources, especially those that are renewable.

"We can do it, provided scientific and technological innovation occur and farmers receive the technology. Only scientists develop new technology. Only farmers and ranchers produce food. Motivation and incentives will be important for both scientific discovery and production of food and fiber," Kunkel said.

Giant "Wake Up America"

Bicentennial Rally In Lubbock

A giant "Wake Up America, Land That We Love" Bicentennial Rally, sponsored by the Revival Fires Ministries is slated for Saturday Evening, November 6 at the Lubbock Coliseum on Texas Tech Campus in Lubbock, Texas. The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a thirty minute singing concert preceding the starting time.

Appearing on the patriotic program will be Cecil Todd, speaker for the nationally televised "Revival Fires" program, the Good Twins

Everyone in attendance will be given a duplicate copy of the Declaration of Independence signed on July 4, 1776 with the story of "What Happened to the Men Who Signed It!" Also, two flags will be on display for the occasion. (1) Our beloved American flag. VA News

Many veterans retired from military service and paying premiums for U.S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) or National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) from monthly retirement checks may be missing annual dividend checks, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The VA insurance center at Philadelphia reported there are several thousand military retirees who each month pay insurance premiums by allotment from their retired pay.

In some cases the monthly deduction becomes so rou-ndine the veterans fail to notify the VA when there is a change of address. This is particularly true, a spokesman said, when a retiree's check is sent to a banking institution.

Annual dividends paid on USGLI and NSLI policies often result in some checks being returned to the VA for lack of a current address, the Spokesman said.

Military retirees paying their GI insurance premiums by allotment should send changes of address, with policy number to the Veterans Administration Center, P.O. Box 8079, Philadelphia, Pa. 19101.

What One Person Can Do

Faced with the shut-down of the mine where he worked, John Lupian of Lowell, Vermont, inspired 178 mine employees to buy out the company and run it themselves.

Mr. Lupian and his fellow workers were threatened with sudden joblessness in 1974, when the Belvedere Mountain Quarry and Mill owners announced that they would shut down the asbestos mine in Lowell rather than spend $1.5 million on federally ordered anti-pollution equipment. Mr. Lupian, a 43-year-old maintenance supervisor, decided to take action.

"If the company can't operate the plant, let's buy it ourselves," he told the miners. His suggestion was first thought impossible, but by March, 1975, workers and their families had poured their savings into $50 shares in a new company called Vermont Asbestos Group Inc. With $100,000 in cash and bank loans for $1.65 million, they were in business.

Mr. Lupian became chairman of the board; and in a year's time, the workers got back in dividends every penny that they had invested in the company.

The worker-owned company has also complied fully with the Government's pollution rules and paid off all its debts.

"There's no doubt about it," he says, "we're making profit, good profit. There are quite a few people who regret that they haven't purchased more stock from this company."

Never underestimate the power of one determined person with a vision of what can be accomplished through cooperation. Rather than give up, John Lupian was willing to try. Are we?

Claims Politicians Are Not Nearly As Dumb As Some People Say They Are

Dear editor:

Some people are always criticizing public officials.

"What can you expect from a bunch of dumb Congressmen," they'll say. Or, "We're lucky we're not worse off than we are with those ignoramuses we've got in the Legislature."

There are times though when what we need is dumber government.

For example, as everybody knows, smaller, lighter cars are the thing these days.

Now these cars hadn't been on the road a month till a lot of legislators began to scratch their heads. They began to think, and when a politician begins to think, look out. He's thinking about one thing—money. You see, in most places the price of a license tag for your car is based on its weight. The lighter the car, the less it costs to license it, on the theory that light cars wear out the highways less than heavy ones.

Quick as a flash, politicians caught on to what this was going to do to their budget.

"Betsy Ross 1776 American flag."

Todd said, "The purpose of the Bicentennial Rally is to bring freedom-loving Americans together and to emphasize our rich spiritual heritage as a nation that has preserved us to our 20th birthday" and for which Todd believes, "it is our only passport to continued freedom into our third century!"

Todd recently was invited to the White House and met with President Ford for more than an hour to discuss national and international developments as they relate to Christian broadcasting and will have a report of this meeting at the rally.

And just as quickly the solution: throw all the cars about the size of a I can hear there's a weight theory was all driven by a 100-pound put four fat people in to get the same distance? Obviously, if we holders, we might be under-estimate the tax. By the way, this her and marry another didn't have anything to

The rally is non-denominational and many congregations from throughout the city and the area will be participating.
