

Winds Bidistrict Champions!

By Wendell Tooley
A crowd of some 3,000 fans in Friday night, the Floydada team continued their winning streak by defeating the Bi-District champion Bobcats 29-8. The Whirlwinds swooped up the lead completely dominating the game. It took the Whirlwind's best quarterback Jay Womack and backs Mickey Minnitt and Larry Jones putting them on the scoreboard, a fantasy team that controlled the big game.

A beautiful night on the stadium had just a little wind, but they had the home stadium, they only travelled and it was their first time to their district in the last 16 years.

The defense held the Bobcats down the first quarter and scored four the first half. Whirlwinds played almost flawlessly...they were high in spirit and doubt they had come to win.

FIRST HALF
Winds took the kick-off, Mickey for six, Womack for three, Jay Lackey punted nice 47 yarder. Bobcats couldn't go and punted a short 29 yarder. Winds in good field position on the 47 yard line.

Womack tossed a nice 16 yarder to Rusty, Mickey 8, Larry Jones 2, Mickey pulls in a good 15 yard pass from Womack, Cagle goes in for the first Wind TD from the six...Mickey kicks the extra and Floydada leads 7-0 with 6:12 left in the first quarter.

Again Bobcats couldn't penetrate strong Wind defense and punted. Looks like the Winds are heading for another TD...at the end of the quarter on the Bobcat 25 on a drive featuring a 12 yard aerial from Womack to Cagle, a 19 yard scamper by Womack.

SECOND QUARTER
Dimmitt's Larry Bossett picked off a Womack pass and that drive ended. Again the Bobcats couldn't go and the next Wind offensive drive began on their own 20. Highlights included Mickey through the right end for 15, Cagle, a couple of six yarders, Mickey again for 14 yards.

At this point the Bobcats sacked Womack for losses of three and 12 yards...ball went over on downs. Albert Rick Covington picked off a Thompson Mayberry pass and the Winds were in the driver's seat again.

Friends, wish you could have seen the next plays that led to the second Whirlwind TD...Womack hit Larry Jones for an 11 yard pass gain. Womack broke loose on a keeper and rambled for some 19 yards...Cagle made nine, and Womack blasted over center for the last yard and TD.

The try for extra points looked like it might have been rehearsed...Mickey fumbled the snap back for the extra point kick, very coolly scooped the football off the ground and passed to Cagle wide open in the end zone.

Floydada led 15-0 with 1:10 left in the half.
The Bobcats managed three first downs via two passes and one running play before time ran out on the 40 yard line.

VOLUME 81

New Motel Construction To Begin In January

Hesperian received a news item Saturday morning from Barker that a new 34 unit motel would be beginning in January of 1977. The motel is owned by the "Floydada Motel Inc." and is located on 5.3 acres of land purchased on the Ralls west of Reed Ford for the construction of the motel. Chunn said there was also enough space for a restaurant and 30 more units when the need arises.

The Hesperian will publish an architect's drawing of the new Motel front page Thursday and Chunn said bids would be received in December for its construction. The location of the Texas A&M Extension school here necessitated the building of the motel.

Stockholders in the venture include: Chunn, Lon Davis, Kinder Farris, Wayne Russell, Louis Pyle, Mal Jarboe, Fred Zimmerman, Weems Norman, Jimmy Willson and Jay S. Hale Jr.

Want To Be Sheriff

County sheriff Bud Rainey is early last week and has a position with Texas A&M school teaching Security and will meet in a called meeting at 9 a.m. Monday to appoint a new sheriff for a two year term.

Friday, county judge J. K. Holmes said four men had asked to be considered for the job: former Floyd deputies Connie Reed and Fred Cardinal, Texas Highway Patrolman Bill Dawson, and C. L. McKay.

Cardinal is farming, Reed is deputy at Groom, Texas, Dawson works out of the courthouse in the driver's license division, and McKay is a truck driver. In previous sheriff elections Reed has ran second, Cardinal second and third. Cardinal has served as deputy 11 years, Reed 15 years and McKay ten years as a city policeman.

Judge Holmes said the applicants were welcome to attend the Monday morning meeting.

31,750 Bales Of Cotton

Back before the big snow, Floyd cotton farmers worked night and day harvesting all the cotton that was ready and according to a count by Bob Hambright of the Texas Employment Commission 31,750 bales were weighed across the scales of 18 gins in the county.

There was some speculation among cotton experts that this was less than half the 1976 cotton crop, as much of the crop remains in the field.

The weather didn't cooperate last week, as the cotton farmers lost a full week. Some hoped to try stripping again Saturday, but a shower Friday night possibly changed their minds.

When the snow came the counties gin yards were covered with trailers and module stacks of cotton. The week's bad weather allowed them to catch up.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I know your newspaper did an excellent job in the news coverage of the last Floydada High School Homecoming. We subscribe to your newspaper and both (my wife and myself), are exes of the F.H.S.

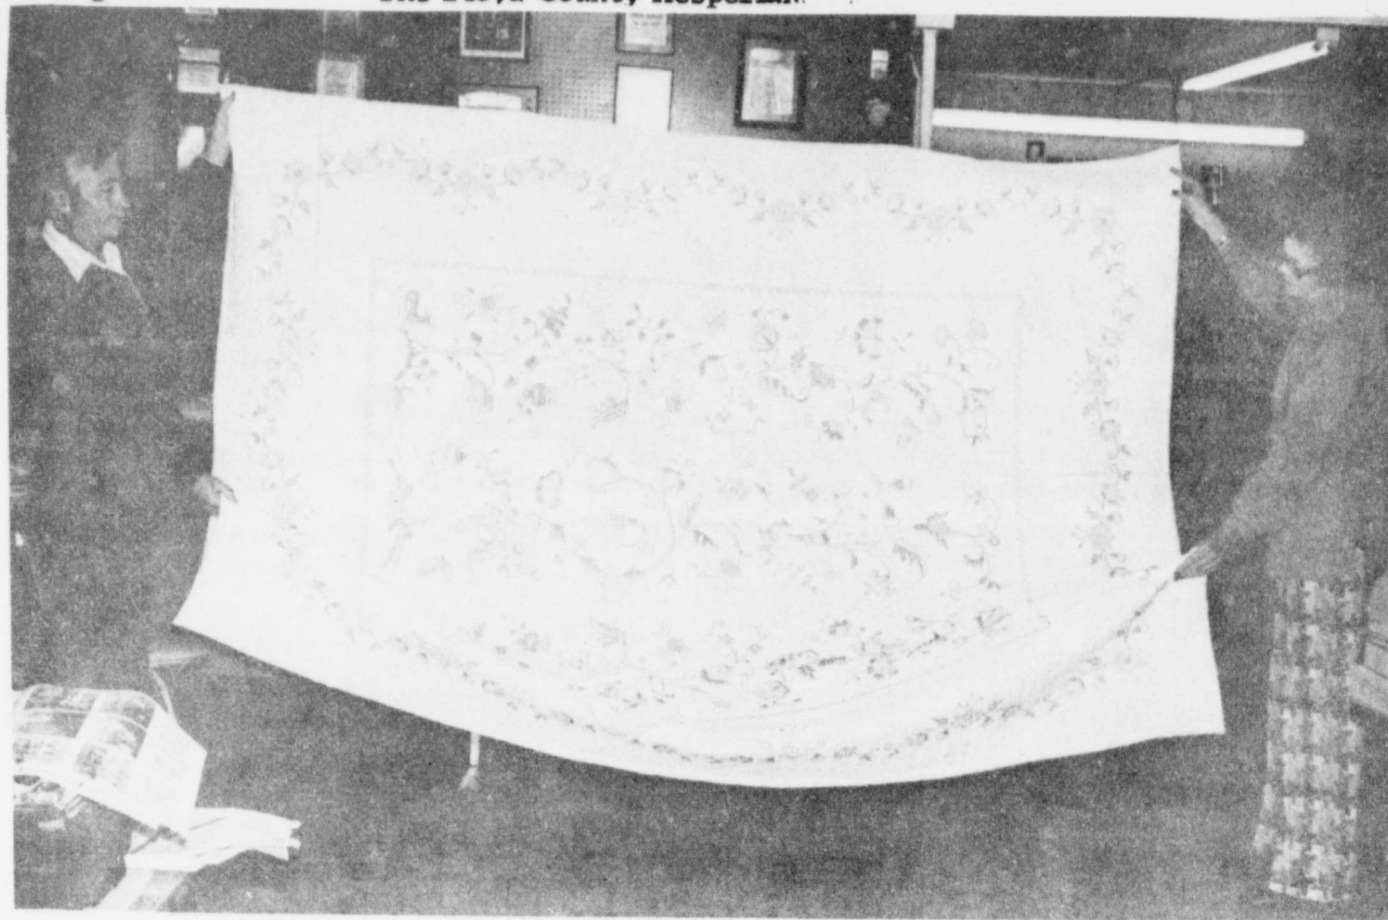

This was a most enjoyable day for us. The officers did an outstanding job in preparing for this occasion and we certainly wanted all the people involved (who did the work,) to know that we were very, very appreciative. This was the finest homecoming we have attended since graduation in 1948.

This type of function does not just happen and we know that hours and hours were spent in planning and implementing these plans. These past officers did a superb job and all of us out-of-towners were extremely grateful.

Also, the Superintendent of schools, and the Floydada High School personnel were most gracious in allowing each of us to use the school facilities. We know that this was a tough day for them because we, as exes, did not leave the school in as perfect order as we found it that Saturday morning. But, we are very happy that these facilities are made available for use every four years, and to the Superintendent and others, a big thanks, from all of us.

To the Homecoming Officers and school officials, we certainly had an outstanding homecoming, thanks to your hard work and planning.

Sincerely,
Ken Hart

It's roundup time in Texas

By WENDELL HOLLOWAN
Herald News Editor

The spirit of the West stills lives, despite modern-day trappings.

Ranching country to the east of Plainview retains the western spirit of neighbors helping neighbors — friendships that are made easily and commitments that are not taken lightly.

Come roundup time on the ranches in the "Breaks Country" of West Texas, it is expected that the neighbors, separated by many miles, will be there to help and work as long as necessary to complete the job.

The only pay is the assurance that this same cooperation will be extended to the next ranch, and the comradeship that results to bond these neighbors in a closeness that resembles family.

LAST SUNDAY, eight friends and neighbors joined Stanley Burleson on the Burleson Ranch north of Matador to help round up a small herd of Hereford cows and calves.

These included Bill Hand of Roaring Springs, MC. 'Salty' Jones and son, Pepper, from Quitaque, J.A. Welch of Cedar Hill, Jay V. and Jack Johnson of Floydada, Bryan Mackenzie Smitherman of Barwise and Roy Dwyer of Plainview.

They were joined by Burleson, son Dusty, and daughter Carra Jean.

THE PASTURE is in the edge of the Caprock escarpment in a valley where Salt Creek and Boggy Creek meet.

The day began early with the arrival of cowboys and horses by pickups and trailers. The horses were saddled and the cowboys climbed into their chaps for protection against heavy brush in the cedar groves.

Smitherman, nicknamed 'Rover', was assigned the task of "calling the cows."

With one of the few visible "modern-day luxuries", Rover was directed to a small knoll in the valley in a pickup to sound a siren.

Cowboys on horseback were dispatched to the far reaches of the pasture to round up the few cows who would not heed the call of the pickup's siren.

DRIVING TO the knoll, Rover explained that the cows had been conditioned to come at the call of the siren for supplemental feeding during the winter and dry summer months.

No cow was in sight in the large pasture as the siren began to wail. Soon, about a quarter-mile distant a whiteface was spotted coming through the cedar brush. A few steps behind another group of whitefaces appeared and soon, cows, followed and sometimes pushed by their yearling offspring, were cautiously coming to the knob in the valley.

Rover explained that the cows were hesitant because the pickup probably was a different color than they were accustomed to. "Also I probably sound the siren different than what they are familiar with," Rover said.

Another small group of cows and calves soon appeared over a hill about a half-mile distance and made their way across the creek to the still-wailing siren.

MAYBE AN hour or so later, the first horseback cowboy appeared over a distant hill — a speck silhouetted against the sky — also moving toward the siren call, and pushing resistant cows and calves into the lowland below the knoll.

Each rancher has a different theory or style of handling his herds. Burleson is a traditionalist with deep rooted feelings for his cattle. He likes to work them slowly, cautiously as possible, trying not to spook them or run them unnecessarily — and his neighbors realize this.

"When we help him, we do it like he wants. When we're on our place, we can do it like we want," one said.

IT'S MID-MORNING by the time the cows and calves are rounded up and accounted for. There is some good-natured grumbling about cowboys taking so long to bring in so few, but the comradeship of working together is evident many times.

The herd is moved across the creek onto a flat, sandy area where the pairs of cows and calves are separated. Cows with heifer calves to be kept are cut out of the herd of cows with steer calves.

Burleson rides into the herd, pointing to the pairs to be culled. Another rider pushes between the pair to be cut out and forces them from the remainder of the herd.

Cows with steer calves then are driven into a separate pasture where a corral is located.

IT IS NOW early afternoon and Burleson's wife, Lou, has arrived at the corral with a lunch for the hungry cowboys. After the cows and calves are penned, the cowboys gather around the improvised chuck wagon — the bed of a pickup — where food is laid out. Here they find a meal of barbecued hot links and beef with potato salad, macaroni and tomato casserole, red beans, cole slaw, rolls, tea and cake for dessert.

Burleson explains that trucks to haul the calves to sale in Nebraska will arrive the following day and more work would be necessary to separate the calves from the cows, plus some branding.

But, the major work for this day was completed. There was a big football game on television and the cowboys didn't want to miss it.

Who was playing?
The Cowboys and Redskins, of course!

Photos by Wendell Holloman

FORDING CREEK—After the cows and heifers to be kept have been culled the remainder of the herd is pushed across Salt Creek to another pasture and corral for branding on a later day.

DAVID AARON BURLESON, Jay Johnson and Bill Hand ease this bunch of cattle across the creek.

A Look At George Washington Given By Ford Mitchell To Study Club Members And Guests

SHARING THE HERITAGE OF GEORGE WASHINGTON...Ford Mitchell, Public Relations Officer of Briercroft Savings and Loan, was in Floydada Tuesday night to give a program for the 1934 Study Club on the Briercroft Heritage Collection of President Washington. Pictured with Mitchell are left to right, Mrs. A. L. Wylie Jr., program chairman, Mrs. J. R. Turner, club hostess, and Mrs. Kyle Glover, club president.

"A Look at George Washington" from the Briercroft Heritage Collection, was presented Tuesday night for members of the 1934 Study Club and their guests. The program was presented by Ford Mitchell, public relations officer of Briercroft Savings and Loan and director of the South Plains American Heritage Board.

The meeting was held in the J.R. Turner home. Assisting Mrs. Turner with hostess duties were Mrs. J. P. Moss and Mrs. Garland Foster. Mrs. A. L. Wylie, Jr., was program chairman and introduced the guest speaker.

Mitchell was dressed as George Washington, Commander of the American Revolutionary Forces and First President of the United States. He brought several artifacts from the Briercroft Collection, which included the waistcoat or vest Washington wore for the Peale Portrait. The dark blue vest with exquisite silken braid embroidered in a delicate floral pattern, was a very fashionable article of clothing worn in the early republic.

Mitchell said Briercroft, with a vintage sheepskin parchment at the building's entrance, has a home office that is a permanent reminder of one of America's most famous homes. And, in the spirit of the exterior, the Heritage Collection features antiques that recreates the 18th century world of George Washington.

Relics of Washington also includes a written note by General Washington from Mount Vernon in 1786, three years after he resigned his command at Fraunce's Tavern in New York and three years before he was inaugurated as our first president.

Mitchell said perhaps the most personal item is a sewing bag from the cloth of one of Martha Washington's favorite gowns. The librarian at Mount Vernon has confirmed the bag is one of at least two made from this gown, the other being in the Mount Vernon Museum.

Weapons of the American Revolution form a major part of the Briercroft Collection, Mitchell said. One relic of interest is the Washington "mourning" pitcher. This rare memento of Washington's death was made by Liverpool Potters shortly after the event in 1799 and was a popular item in the American trade. It is a large water pitcher with a portrait of Washington seated on a celestial throne on one side. With him are Father Time, the American Eagle, Miss Liberty (with her head downcast) and other figures. On the other side an obelisk is shown...with the portrait of Washington, his life dates, an eagle and a figure depicting America in Tears. Above the picture it reads "Washington in Glory" and below, "America in Tears."

Mitchell also showed slides of Mt. Vernon before it was restored and as it looks today.

He extended an invitation to club members and their guests to visit the Briercroft Collection and share the heritage of George Washington.

Club members attending the meeting were Mmes. Allen Bingham, Wilson Bond, Floyd Bradley, L. L. Clark, Dennis Dempsey, R. G. Dunlap, Garland Foster, Kyle Glover, J. S. Hale Jr., J. T. Huckabay, Floyd Lawson, M. J. McNeill, J. P. Moss, W. O. Newberry, Vernon Parker, George Springer, L. B. Stewart Jr., Fred Stewart, W. W. Trapp, J. R. Turner, O. M. Watson Jr., J. M. Willson Jr., and A. L. Wylie Jr.

Guests attending included Mmes. Buddy Lutrick, Milton Ashton, Earl Crawford, John Key West, Bill Hardin, Ralph Cogdell, Louis Lloyd, Jack Jordan, and also J. S. Hale Jr., M. J. McNeill, J. R. Turner, O. M. Watson Jr., A. L. Wylie Jr., and Floyd Lawson.

Next club meeting will be December 7 for the annual Christmas program.

Kevin Battey

Funeral rites for Kevin Battey 14, of Farmers Branch were conducted Friday afternoon in the First Baptist Church in Floydada. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Floydada Cemetery.

Kevin, who resided with his parents, at 14333 Shore-dale, Farmers Branch, died at Parkland Hospital in Dallas about 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, November 16th, some two hours after he was shot at the family home.

Farmers Branch police Sgt. Dennis Hazelwood said victim, his 12 year old brother, Jeff, and a cousin, Tony Bivens, 10, were in Kevin's bedroom when one of the boys described a game of Russian roulette he had seen depicted on a television show recently.

The investigator according to the news story, said that Kevin went to a shelf, picked up a 22-caliber pistol and inserted one cartridge. The youth then put the gun to the left side of his head and pulled the trigger twice without anything happening. The gun discharged the third time, Hazelwood said he was told.

The officer said he was investigating the possibility that Kevin picked up a live .22-caliber short cartridge thinking it was empty .22 caliber long cartridge. He said a live .22 short is about the same length as an empty .22 long.

Alvin Battey said his surviving son and his nephew told him the boys had been talking about a trick Russian roulette game they had seen on television recently when Kevin began to demonstrate the trick with the pistol.

The father said he believed "all three" of the boys had seen the trick on a television program last week before the family left to go deer hunting.

"It was a trick they had seen" Kevin's mother, Mrs. Martha Battey said. "It wasn't Russian roulette with a real bullet. You put a fake bullet in the chamber and hold the pistol to your head and pull the trigger. But on TV it was a blank bullet. Kevin thought he was picking up a blank bullet, too."

Says Backward Cities Have Right To Help Same As Backward Nations

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes up for the troubled big cities this week, perhaps.

Dear Editor:

Although it took them a long time to catch on—farmers caught on years ago—big cities are now organizing to get some financial help from Washington. In fact, they want a Department of Urban Affairs established, along with an Urban Bank to lend them money at a reasonable rate, that is to say a foreign aid, rate of interest, say 2 or 3 per cent and certainly not more than 4.

The reason they need help is that a lot of them are almost broke, their finances and services in shambles and everybody taxed all he can stand, which I don't understand as I've always been told that most of the brains of the country are located in big cities. In fact, the notion was that when a young man in a small town suddenly demonstrated exceptional ability, some big city would snap him up.

Looks like the small towns have been double-crossing the cities and sending them the wrong people.

Anyway, about this Department of Urban Affairs the cities want established in Washington. They say farmers and ranchers have a Department of Agricultural, why can't cities have something too?

I'm in favor of it, maybe it'll get the cities'

Cotton Prices Steady Demand Good

Grower prices remained steady to firm during the week ending November 12, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported trading was moderate to active. Growers offered small lots of cotton in moderate volume.

They sold small mixed lots of mostly grade 31, staple 32, mike 3.5 through 4.9 at about 74.00 cents per pound. Mixed lots of mostly grades 32 and 42, staples 31 through 33, mike 3.5 through 4.9 brought 71.50 to 72.50 cents.

Demand was good, Dickson said. Prices paid growers for cottonseed ranged from 80.00 to 100.00 dollars per ton.

Grades 32, 42, and 52 were predominant grades classed at Lubbock this week. Grade 32 was 20 percent, grade 42 34 percent, and grade 52 10 percent. Bark reductions were assigned to 29 percent of the samples classed.

Staples 30, 31, and 32 were predominant lengths. Staple 30 was 24 percent, 31 was 27, and 32 accounted for 21 percent.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amounted for 21 percent.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amounted to 72 percent of the total. Mikes above made up eight percent and mikes below were 20 percent.

Pressley tests indicated breaking strengths at Lubbock averaged 83,000 pounds per square inch.

About 35,000 samples were classed by the Lubbock Classing Office during the week ending November 12. This season's total stands at 48,000 samples compared to only 53,000 on the same date a year ago.

Three spray planes in the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program settled to the ground in Spur November 5, winding up another year in the world's biggest, most successful coordinated control effort on crop insects.

The last three places, part of a 20-plane quadron that periodically rained insecticide on weevil-infested cotton in the eastern High Plains over the past three months, were returning from a final attack on hungry weevils in still-green cotton in Dickens and Garza counties.

The 1976 program began in early September with an initial spraying of 245,000 acres. It closed out the season after 1,161,556 aggregate acres had been sprayed with almost 110,000 gallons of malathion.

Cost of the program when all figures are in will approach $2 million, paid on a matching fund basis by High Plains producers and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Thanks to good weather and good performance by spray contractors," commented Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "we were again successful in killing the maximum practical number of weevils before they could go into winter hibernation and in preventing excessive migration."

PCG initiated the program in 1964 after entomologists warned that unless controlled, boll weevils would in a very few years "sweep across the Plains like a prairie fire."

Looking ahead to 1977, USDA and PCG officials are calling for help from farmers and ginners in reducing the number of hibernation sites available to weevils.

"It will be especially helpful," Dean says, "if ginners and farmers will distribute gin trash around the gin yard and in pastures in layers no more than a foot thick."

Weevil trapping around burr piles in the Spring of 1976 proved that up to six times as many weevils emerge from these man-made hibernation sites than from natural habitat. Spreading out these piles will permit cold to penetrate and kill a great many more weevils than will be killed in conventional trash disposal, officials point out.

"We fully realize the difficulty with gin trash disposal where burning is prohibited," Dean said in a letter to ginners in the weevil control zone. "but we believe your cooperation in this matter will be of great help in the effort to control weevil populations."

Farmers who apply burrs to cultivated fields are being asked to help also by plowing burrs under as early as possible.

"We had to spray about half again as many acres this year as in 1975 because of the mild winter and weevil-favoring Spring weather," Dean notes, "and we need to take every measure possible to prevent that necessity from recurring in 1977."

PARITY CONTINUES ITS

As of the middle of October, parity for cotton was 77, even a month ago it was 77.

Lower prices for a host of farm products, including hogs, corn, soybeans, and wheat, were reported in Texas, the average price for livestock and livestock products was unchanged from a month ago.

On an individual basis, though, picture of what has happened.

Only one commodity — cotton — others are substantially under parity, considerably under price levels of a year ago.

Cotton is the one exception, at 77 cents per pound in the state, a jump in a year, cotton is still about below parity.

Hog prices are another big story. Hog prices averaged $27.00 a month ago; a year ago, the average was $23.00.

Wheat prices averaged $2.50 a bushel a year ago. Sorghum prices averaged $3.95 a hundredweight as of the middle of October. Beef cattle averaged $30.10 a cwt. and prices averaged $32.30; parity is $32.00.

A good selection of machinery is available but a shortage could develop later. And the fuel situation should remain stable unless there's a long, frigid winter or an oil embargo.

FEED ADDITIVE TESTED IN BREEDING HERDS

Research conducted by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists shows that monensin, a new feed additive cleared only for feedlot rations, may be profitably fed to the beef breeding herd with no ill effects. The research conducted at Overton by Dr. R. D. Randel tested the effect of monensin on the reproduction of beef cows.

Some of the cows were fed a diet containing one percent of monensin. The results showed that the cows which received monensin had a higher percentage of calves born alive and a higher percentage of calves which survived to weaning.

Dr. Randel said that the research was conducted as part of a study to determine the effect of monensin on the reproduction of beef cows.

Abandonment Sought Of Silvertown Rail Line

SILVERTOWN - The Interstate Commerce Commission has been requested by the Fort Worth and Denver Railway to issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity to permit abandonment of a 19.71-mile stretch of railway from Sterley to Silvertown.

If no opposition to the abandonment proposal is received by the ICC before Dec. 6, no hearings will be held to discuss the matter.

A lack of sufficient revenue from the line for continuation of its operation and maintenance is cited by the railway as its reason for the proposed abandonment.

B. M. Hooks, assistant to the railway company's president, said the decline in shipping is due to the tremendously increased amount of cattle feeding on the high plains of Texas.

Hooks said the ICC report mentions "local feedlots consume a large portion of the grain, thus reducing rail movement." He said only four railroad cars have moved over the portion of track in the first six months of this year in comparison to 52 cars which were shipped during all of 1975 and 205 cars shipped in 1974.

Hooks noted that most of the milo leaving the area by rail is first trucked to Plainview and shipped from there.

In counties further south, the railway company is awaiting ICC approval to close a stretch of railroad between Stamford and Rotan.

No opposition was given to that proposal, which was filed in August. The number of cars transported which originated or ended at either end of those tracks was 138 with another 75 cars moving through that portion.

In a 10-year period, Hooks said, the same stretch of railway had changed hands three times.

Hints for HOME MAKERS

Tested Tips To Help You

SAVE ON BATTERIES

Comparison shopping pays off with reduced grocery bills, and today many cost-conscious consumers are carrying pocket calculators with them to the supermarket.

Using these handy new shopper's aids, homemakers can compute contents and prices of similar items and calculate which is truly the best buy. Many shoppers have discovered that it's not only the fastest way to save on groceries, it is by far the most accurate.

But is it the least expensive? Well, if you are using conventional throwaway batteries it may actually cost you more to replace the batteries than you are saving on food purchases.

One consumer-oriented company, General Electric, knows that throwing away batteries is throwing away money so it has introduced a low-cost modular "mini" Recharge Battery System with nickel-cadmium batteries that can be recharged up to 1,000 times or more. The system is so energy efficient that it costs just a penny a month to keep batteries fully charged for an entire month, allowing cost-conscious consumers to operate a truly cost-conscious calculator.

Inheriting Cancer 'Not That Simple'

Says Genetics Expert

Can you inherit cancer just as you might inherit blue eyes or brown hair?

While a few rare exceptions do exist, for the majority of over 100 types of human cancer, the role of heredity in cancer is far from being that simple, says an M. D. Anderson expert.

"I can't really say a person inherits cancer directly. Instead, some people inherit a predisposition or higher risk for cancer," explains Dr. Louise C. Strong, director of the Medical Genetics Clinic at M. D. Anderson.

For almost every cancer, she adds, it is believed that there are at least two forms--one with inherited implications and the other without.

While the inheritance factor varies in significance for each cancer site, in almost every instance those hereditary-related cancers are in the minority she says.

"Even if one inherits a predisposition to cancer," explains Dr. Strong, "apparently something else has to happen. That something else might be exposure to environmental agents such as suspected cancer-causing chemicals, exposure to a physical agent such as radiation or possibly be the involvement of a virus. It could also be a spontaneous occurrence that has no known cause at this time."

What cancers are most commonly known to be influenced by genetic factors? "We think a large percentage of childhood cancers are genetically determined--maybe as high as 40 percent for some forms--even though in most cases there is no family history of a similar cancer," says Dr. Strong.

"In some of the more common adult cancers such as colon cancer or breast cancer, we estimate maybe 25-30 percent in this country may be genetically determined," she notes.

The old argument, heredity vs. environment, is no longer heard, notes Dr. Strong. Instead, genetic and environmental factors seem to be complementary, she says.

Some people, she notes, may be genetically at risk to cancer only because they are uniquely affected by certain environmental factors.

For example, some people might be genetically predisposed to lung cancer but would actually develop cancer only if they smoke cigarettes or come in contact with other environmental agents that cause lung cancer.

Heredity is known to play a role of some kind in every major disease. High blood pressure, heart disease and diabetes (to name a few) are all known to have genetically predisposed subgroups as does cancer, she says.

By understanding the relationship of heredity to a disease like cancer, those people who are at the higher risk can better be alerted to early warning signs. Found early enough, most cancers today can be successfully controlled.

Conservation begins here!

The most judicious use of electric power is often no-use-at-all. The off switch on any light, machine, appliance or air conditioner can be the key to saving money while conserving power.

The member-owned electric cooperative suggests that you switch to the more efficient use of power in your home. And make it a family affair.

Now Lets Beat The Childress Bobcats

FOOTBALL FROM I

of its spectacular performances that even the Bobcat fans enjoyed. The "Wabash Cannonball" number with the locomotive formation spouting steam was a winner.

The band really turned the fans on with its "I like mountain dew, hope you do too"...as the formation circled band members squirting coke at each other. The opener was another favorite, "Nashville Country."

SECOND HALF

During the halftime up in the press box I was enjoying various compliments on the great Whirlwind team from the Lubbock Avalanche Journal sports reporter, Herford Chamber of Commerce officials, Childress scouts, and tried my best to be modest in receiving the compliments, realizing that anything could happen the last half.

And the beginning of the second half looked like the Bobcats might turn the tables...they began a hard ground game that netted five first downs and were knocking on the Whirlwind door. But they made a mistake of tossing a pass when they were down on our 11 yard line, because Randy Ratheal made a fantastic dive and intercepted the pass in the end zone.

Mickey scared the Bobcat fans to death as he broke loose up the west side for 27 yards. However, a costly Whirlwind fumble gave the ball right back to the Bobcats.

Mayberry really broke loose in a couple of runs good for 8 and 31 yards, then Bobcat fullback Tony Washington plowed over the middle for the first and only Bobcat TD of the game. Eddie Chavers zig zagged around right end for the extra two points. It was Floydada 15, Dimmitt 8 with 2:17 left in the third quarter.

The next Whirlwind TD came after about two minutes into the fourth quarter by Womack diving over from the one. It was set up by 14 and 4 yard runs by Womack, a nice 15 yard run by Cagle, then a 23 yard pass from Womack to Mickey. Mickey kicked the extra point and Floydada led 22-8.

News & Reviews

First Baptist Church Library/Media Center

One of the most beautiful books that this reviewer has seen is SO RUN YOUR RACE by Patsy Neal, an All-American basketball star in her college days and now a professor of physical education at Brevard College, North Carolina. Subtitled "An Athlete's View of God," this book shares the thought life of a Christian athlete who has found fulfillment and meaning through her relationship to God and the world of sports. As the author compares the Christian's walk with God and the life of the committed athlete, you will identify and be challenged by her insights. We believe after you have read this little book, you will think of several people you would like to share it with. While we do not know the origin of all of the photographs which illustrate the text very effectively, we do know that some of them were of students at Wayland Baptist College. A certain former girl's basketball coach has a pair of knees showing on page 26, we understand.

It is tempting to turn off accomplishments such as a book, when written by a person of wealth, as being published because of the persons name rather than having any real merit. It would be a mistake to pass up ABOVE ALL ELSE by June Hunt, daughter of the world-renowned industrialist. June shares her philosophy "to allow God to be God in her life." In her first chapter "Motives-We, the Glory-Seekers" she discusses the importance of comparing oneself with Christ rather than with others. Comparing oneself to the others leads to two basic attitudes: inferiority and superiority. She discovered that her motivation had been to please man instead of God...even in her "church work." Real growth comes through taking eyes off the imperfections of other Christians and turning our eyes upon the perfection of Jesus. She agrees with others that she is one of the richest girls in the world, but in a totally different context from what they had in mind. Her claim to true riches comes because she belongs to God. She is rich because she can continue to share His love with others. We believe that reading this little book might help you decide to place pleasing God ABOVE ALL ELSE.

JenniSu Smith is responsible for the delightful bulletin board design in front of the library. The theme is THANKSGIVING IS SHARING: Share a book with a friend.

The most powerful weapon a church...is to leave it alone.

You don't have to denounce the church's shortcomings. All you have to do is stand up for what you can devise.

Those who do not attend, or seldom attend, hurt the church, and are not conscious of the cruel blow to the institution that was caused.
