Lockney And Floydada Receive Sales Tax Money

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday his office has mailed monthly city sales tax rebate checks totaling $22 million to 867 Texas cities and towns that assess the one percent tax.
The May checks bring to $235.3 million the total rebates for the eight months of the current fiscal year, a $44 million increase over the same period for fiscal 1976, Bullock said.
But he cautioned that the 23 percent increase is somewhat misleading.
"The May rebate check actually covers collections for a five week period instead of the usual four weeks, so the June checks obviously will be smaller," he said.

Bullock said that procedural changes have resulted in a substantial increase in early filings by sales tax permit holders, also inflating the year-to-date total.
Even so, Bullock said state and local sales tax collections are growing at a rate well ahead of the national average, reflecting the muscle of Texas' economy.
"We are confident that trend will continue," he added.
As usual, Texas' largest city, Houston, gets the biggest rebate check—$4.8 million. Dallas will receive a check for $2.3 million, San Antonio will get $1.7 million and Fort Worth, $924,257.
Floydada received $4,404.04, and $27,158.03 for the year. Lockney $1,609.37; $11,635.46.
The sales tax report indicates that both Floydada and Lockney are up about 20 percent in business this year over last year.

Bentsen Praises New Approach To Criminal Penalties

WASHINGTON, D.C.— day said a needed, tougher Senator Lloyd Bentsen Mon- sentencing procedure for federal courts is included in a newly proposed overhaul of U. S. criminal laws.

Legislation to revise and consolidate the laws, entitled the Criminal Code Reform Act of 1977, was introduced Monday by Senators John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) and Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), members of the Judiciary Committee.

It includes a provision similar to one proposed by Senator Bentsen last year which would replace the "indeterminate" sentencing system now used by federal courts with a system of "presumptive" sentencing.

"As things now stand, federal judges sentence convicted criminals to an indeterminate number of years in prison and then leave it up to the parole board to decide how long any individual should actually serve," Bentsen said.

"What I have proposed, and what my colleagues in the Senate are now proposing, is that we should have fixed, specific sentences written into the law for specific crimes."

"It is now widely recognized that the current system is not working. Mass murderers like Charles Manson and Richard Speck are eligible for parole. Other dangerous offenders go unpunished. And glaring disparities in the sentence of those who are punished lead to numerous and great injustices," Senator Bentsen said.

Bentsen noted that the "presumptive" sentence approach which he advocates is winning broad support among law enforcement officials and in legal circles.

"I think it is important that Congress work swiftly to approve this change in sentencing procedures," Bentsen said.

"As it now stands, there is no certainty to the criminal that he will be punished, no certainty to society that the dangerous will be incarcerated and no certainty that punishment, when it is meted out, will be fair," Senator Bentsen said.

OSHA the Clow

While many federal agencies of the alphabet-soup variety (HUD, HEW, EPA, to name a few) are best known for their frequent stupid, irresponsible and costly rules and regulations, there are few that can hold a candle to OSHA.

This meddlesome, nit-picking agency — formally known as the Occupational Health and Safety Administration — periodically goes on the prowl to harrass businesses and industries. Each time OSHA comes out with a proposal we feel it reaches the epitomy in asininity. But OSHA just gets worse every time it opens its collective mouth.

Now OSHA is after the cotton ginners, producers and warehousemen, without, as usual, having all the facts. And Texas cotton men are protesting loudly.

The agency has proposed standards that would require OSHA-regulated machinery to be installed in cotton gins to reduce an employe health hazard — byssinosis, a lung disease — and that would require all gin workers to submit to periodic medical examinations.

These standards, if implemented, would mean an additional $100,000 to $400,000 in equipment costs for each of the 800 cotton gins in Texas, according to Rep. George Mahon, one of those to testify at a public hearing last week in Lubbock.

One would assume that byssinosis is a serious threat to gin workers since OSHA wants to put such strict standards on gins and force ginners to shell out so much money for equipment. Right? Wrong.

There are no well-documented studies which provide conclusive evidence that there is indeed a serious problem in cotton gins, cotton seed mills, warehouses and compresses, Mahon said. And Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said Texas medical officials have not even reported the

The sixth grade Junior High Band, the Floydada High School Band and the Stage Band performed at a recital Sunday afternoon at the Floydada High School auditorium, and several families from our area attended as children and grandchildren were in the band. Everyone enjoyed the beautiful numbers. Among those from here who attended were Rev. and Mrs. Fred Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian, Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Murray Julian, and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Hightower and children.

The contract has been let at the South Plains Elementary School in South Plains for the building of a gymnasium which will be erected during the summer months.

Saturday evening of last week Fletcher Powell accidentally fell from a truck from which they were unloading cotton seeds, and a sack of feed fell on top of him. He suffered a sore arm and hand as he had hit the pavement when falling. He is doing better this week.

Mrs. L. T. Wood, Mrs. Fred Blake and Mrs. Murray Julian went to the W. M. U. session day at Plains Baptist Assembly on May 10th. A soft rain was falling and cool weather prevailed during the meeting. A delicious luncheon was served at noon, and during the morning, Mrs. C. W. Coy brought an inspiring message. Special music, testimonies and messages were given during the program. During the Caprock WMU business meeting, Mrs. Jimmie Hunter of Flomot was nominated as Director of Caprock Association for the coming year.

Visitors at the Baptist church Sunday morning were Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Kenneth Powell from Lawton, Okla. and Mrs. Zach Cummings, from WTSU at Canyon. The sermon, "Life Worth Living" was given by Rev. Fred Blake.

C. V. Blake is home with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Blake and sister, Atha for the summer from Leveland South Plains College.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Lillian Marble is in Caprock Hospital in Floydada since Sunday night. We hope she can come home soon.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Honors Miss Eastham

A pre-nuptial coffee honoring Miss Jodie Eastham, bride-elect of Jerry Wayne McGuire, was given Saturday morning, May 7th in the Bob Kendrick home. Guests were received by Mrs. Kendrick, the honoree, and mothers of the bride elect and prospective groom, Mrs. Carmel Eastham of Dougherty and Mrs. James E. McGuire of New Deal.

Mrs. Steve Lloyd presided at the bride's book where guests registered with a blue quill pen.

Blue was also carried out, along with yellow on the serving table, which was laid with an off-white linen cloth. A white wicker basket containing blue and yellow flowers and baby's breath formed the centerpiece. The arrangement was later presented to the honoree along with a set of cookware from the hostesses. Blue napkins completed the table setting. Hostesses alternated at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Kendrick was assisted with the gift coffee by Mesdames Bill Daniel, Doyle Miller, Thomas Warren, D. C. Mayo, Doris McLain, C. M. Leatherman, O. N. Bertrand, J. R. Turner, Bill Hopper, W. H. penetrating wood sealer gives added protection. Unfinished redwood should not be varnished or shellacked. Chips and imperfections should be filled with a commercial filler and sanded.

Dents can be removed by laying small pieces of wet cotton in each dent. Then apply an iron hot enough to create steam. This will usually cause wood fibers to swell and dents disappear.

Wicker furniture usually is not considered outdoor furniture. However, it may be used on sheltered patios or porches.

Direct sunlight, rain and dew are damaging to the four major types of wicker furniture—rattan, reed, willow and bamboo.

Wicker is easily dusted with a long, soft-bristled brush or vacuumed with the dusting attachment. Midsummer is the time to wipe pieces with a damp cloth or sponge, since wicker like humidity. Salt added to the water will prevent unfinished wicker pieces from yellowing.

Spills should be taken care of promptly before materials harden or stain by wiping with a sponge wrung from sudsy water.

Preserve the sheen or lacquer, varnished and paint-finished wicker by applying past wax. Be sure surfaces are dry before waxing.

Molded plastic furniture is often used outdoors. For general care, wash it with light-duty detergent or a mild solution of household cleaner using a clean cotton flannel cloth.

Commercial Beekeepers Provide Bulk of State's Honey Supply

AUSTIN—While many a backyard enthusiast has learned to keep bees for home honey consumption and profit, the bulk of honey production in the state rests in the hands of some 100 commercial beekeepers, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"Commercial beekeepers are designated as such when they maintain as many as 300 hives," explained Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "Some of the largest operations include up to 4,000 hives."

Under the 1974 law designed to protect the Texas beekeepers' available supplies of nectar, beekeepers entering fields are restricted for the first time in where they can locate their hives. No hives are allowed any closer than two miles from any other keeper's bees.

In the past, a beekeeper could come into a field and place hives alongside already existing hives at will.

Honey has been favored as a natural sweetener from the time of the ancients, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, when it was often the only available source of sugar. Honey adds over $5 million to the Texas economy.

Honey added to cake, cookies and bread doughs give them remarkable keeping qualities as well as chewy texture and a browner color, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture Home Economist.

In puddings, custards and pie fillings, use honey cup for cup as a replacement for sugar, suggests the Texas Department of Agriculture home economist.

County Agent's Stock Up Now Corner on Texas Meat

By Doyle Warren
Floyd County Agent

What are the goals and purposes of the proposed beef research and information program?

If eligible livestock producers vote in favor of the beef checkoff program this spring, it is designed to allow the establishment of projects for advertising, promotion, education, producer and consumer information with respect to use of cattle, beef and beef products, says Doyle Warren, Floyd County Extension Agent, and L. N. Johnson, chairman of the Beef Development Taskforce.

Similarly, the program would allow for the establishment and conducting of research, market development projects and studies with respect to production, growing, sale, processing, and distribution, marketing or utilization of cattle, beef and beef products, the Extension agent said.

The program also would include development and expansion of foreign markets. The checkoff is designed as a self-help program, where the producer would be contributing 3/10 of one percent of the sales of his cattle. For example, for a producer to contribute $100 to the program, sales from his cattle would need to be $33,333 annually.

Nearly $40 million would be generated in the program's first year of operation, based on the assessment rate as outlined in the proposed program. The program would be administered by a Beef Board of not more than 68 members from eligible producer organizations of each state or geographical area. Texas should have a representation of about seven members on the Beef Board, to help determine how the checkoff monies would be spent.

PLAINVIEW—Growers of melon, cucumbers, squash, pumpkins and the like can learn more about complexities of pollination and skillful bee management in a seminar at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview, May 25, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The cucurbit pollination seminar is open to the public and is being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with Hale County Extension agents as local hosts.

Three Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists are speakers for the event. They are Dr. Roland Roberts, vegetable specialist from Lubbock; Tom Longbrake, vegetable horticulturist from College Station; and Dr. John Thomas, entomologist also from College Station.

Subjects to be discussed include the commercial importance of acreage and value of vine crops (cucurbits); flower formation and structure related to bee pollination; bee habits and feeding characteristics and their management; and problems and economics of handling bees for pollinating cucurbits.

Growers, bee handlers, crop consultants, entomologists, seedsmen, educators and others interested in vine crop vegetable production are expected to attend.

AUSTIN—Consumers are being urged to stock up on red meat while supplies are good because predictions of a decline in spring slaughter to come may edge prices up in the state, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Current plentiful supplies of the red meat on hand should continue throughout the state during March, while current lighter placements of cattle in Texas feedlots may mean a reduced beef output by summer.

Texas cattle feeders placed 226,000 head into their lots during February, 28 per cent below the previous month, and the smallest number to go into lots in two years.

There were 1,520,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in the state on March 1. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service shows the current estimate some 16 per cent below a year ago and eight per cent below last month.

Some 352,000 head of fat cattle were marketed during the second month of 1977, two per cent above February, 1977, and one per cent above the previous month. Other disappearance from feedlots, including "Pleased" was the word used by Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., when asked for his reaction to last week's cotton dust hearing in Lubbock.

The hearing, conducted by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration on its proposal that a 200 microgram maximum allowable dust standard be applied to all cotton handling establishments, lasted through May 10 and 11 and until after noon on May 12.

Almost 2,000 concerned people attended all or part of the proceedings, with the maximum crowd on May 10 estimated at well over 1,200 people. A petition opposing OSHA's suggested standard gathered 1,890 signatures at the hearing and continues to be circulated in the area. It will be filed later with OSHA as a part of the hearing record and submitted to key legislators and President Carter.

The administrative law judge and four other OSHA officials that made up the hearing panel heard approximately 150 witnesses representing all segments of the cotton industry, including labor, financial institutions, the medical profession and other concerned interests. They heard over and over that no dust standard is needed to protect the health of cotton workers outside the textile industry, that the proposed standard was impractical if not impossible to meet and should be withdrawn.

"Such a showing of unanimous opposition and widespread concern can't help but make an impression," Johnson said, "and the record compiled will be a significant factor in our continuing efforts to protect ourselves from unreasonable federal regulation."

OSHA expects to conclude its dust hearings in Washington about May 20, but a final standard won't be issued until "sometime this fall," according to an OSHA attorney. The hearing record will be kept open to receive written testimony for 30 days after the hearings adjourn.

"It was gratifying to see the response of our High Plains people to this serious threat," Johnson stated, "and while there can be no certainty in matters where politics are concerned, I have high hopes we will get results."

Most of the witnesses at the Lubbock hearing were from the High Plains, speakers also appeared from other cotton growing areas of Texas and from Arizona, California, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Red Meat Production Rises April TDA Survey Shows

AUSTIN—Red meat production in the state increased six per cent during the first quarter of 1977, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

An 11 per cent increase in hog slaughter accounts for a large portion of the increase, but pork output remains lower than earlier predicted, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown commented.

"A combination of severe winter weather and disease losses have kept pork production under earlier high predictions so that prices have been maintained at higher levels than expected for hogs," he said.

Animals that were sold for further feeding, returned to pasture, or fed, was estimated at 14,000 head, compared with 36,000 a year earlier.

Hog slaughter of 286,400 head was a part of the six per cent jump in overall red meat production in the state, which stands at 962 million pounds for the first three months of the year.

On the down side of the ledger was cattle slaughter, with its 1,495,700 head count some three per cent under the same period in 1976. Downturns in beef production accompanied by a smaller than expected output of pork, have begun to buoy prices, Brown said.
