City Shows Financial Operation Secure

BY WENDELL TOOLEY

When the city council Tuesday night studied CPA Newell Burk's audit of its business last year, it was pleased with the $137,032 profit of a business that grossed over a million and a half dollars. Income from many areas continues to increase for the city until the local tax money becomes less and less impressive. Actually, residents of Floydada have low city taxes in comparison with other cities its size.

Local taxes make up $115,004 of the city's income. The City's big income business is selling electricity, a total of $425,602.74. Along with the electricity income was some $186,135.92 that was added fuel increase cost as Pioneer Natural gas increases its rates to the city's power plant. (This $186,000 is only "pass through money," no profit). The city makes good profit on its water department, an income of $236,347.60. Sales tax money amounts to $67,077.07, and this increases as the people in the Floydada trade area continue to increase their business with Floydada business firms.

Federal revenue sharing money brought in $40,130.00, and there was a whopping $99,848.00 community development grant which was all used for paving dirt streets.

Court fines brought in $4,694.00. The city owns a farm west of Floydada and it brought in $18,088.29 rent money.

The sewer fund brought in $50,992.40, sanitation $66,733.39. Franchise taxes were $27,032.23.

EXPENSES

Biggest expense items were $397,999.07 for electricity production, $79,384.75 for electricity distribution, $94,555.75 for depreciation, and $71,369.90 for bond and warranty costs. (only city indebtedness is on electrical plant).

The water and sewer departments required about $90,000. It takes $85,989.33 for administrative costs, $79,966.17 to maintain a police department, $34,930.86 for a fire department, $95,491.33 for maintenance and building new paving for streets, parks get $19,864.40, sanitation requires $58,973.40, $16,178.24 expenses on the city farm, and several miscellaneous expenses.

Total indebtedness is $845,000. This includes the big V-12 engine that will probably go to work for the city in a week or two. It is estimated that this will give the city plenty of power for good growth for many years. Other engines are in good condition.

PROBLEM

Possibly the biggest problem the city faces is, in fact, the electrical plant. It becomes more difficult each year to make a profit as its main raw product, natural gas, continues to rise in cost.

Tourist Committee Taking Sign Painting Bids

At a meeting of the Tourist Committee Monday night it was decided to take bids for repainting the "Welcome To Floydada" signs located on the Ralls and Lockney highways.

Lettering on both signs is peeling off, and some repairs are needed on the sign construction.

The committee also decided to take bids on printing an insert to go in the Floydada brochure that will list places to eat and sleep in Floydada.

It was the feeling of the committee that this would be especially important to the students spending a week at a time here while attending the West Texas Regional Training Center.

The committee also discussed efforts to get all sorts of sporting events and area meetings here in Floydada.

Members of the committee are: Wendell Tooley, Art Ratzlaff, Bob Jacobs, Sammy Hale, Pat Barrow, Judy Allen, Dr. Charles Craig, and Waylene Mankins. Chamber manager Doug Frazier will secure the bids.

Anyone interested in getting a bid on sign painting should call 983-3434 this week and the Chamber office will contact Clarendon sign painter Don Stone.

County Commissioner's Court Responsible For Many Services

about the responsibilities of each board, its goals, achievements, and the individual opinions of each board or council member.

There will be one feature a month for 13 months and the civic minded firms who sponsor this series are: Perry Brothers Inc., Oden Chevrolet-Olds, Inc., Dyson's Boot Shop, Solomon's Jewelry, Piggly Wiggly, City Auto, Inc., Quality Body Shop, Buddy's Food, Beall's Department Store, The Country Morning, Thompson Pharmacy, Mize TV, Collins Implement, Bishop-Ramsey Pharmacy, Betty's Place, Adams Well Service, Baker Insurance Agency, Farm Bureau, Floydada Cooperative Gins, Floydada Real Estate & Insurance, Plainview Savings & Loans-Floydada Branch, Ponderosa Meat Co., Gilbreath Exxon, Wayne Russell Implement, and Norrell Tractor Parts.

BY WENDELL TOOLEY

Although their meetings are open to the public, very few people attend the monthly Floyd County Commissioner's Court meeting each second Monday.

Judge J.K. Holmes and the four commissioners: Grigsby (Doodle) Milton, Bob Jarrett, Aaron Carthel and Jack Lackey don't handle a lot of tax money each year ($609,808.80), but the spending of government revenue sharing money is becoming more controversial each year.

Considered to be very conservative by most people in the county, the commissioners each has an allotment to run his precinct ($70,7000). They also receive $20,000 each revenue money. They maintain that if they hadn't taken 60% of the revenue sharing money to buy equipment, taxes would have been raised to meet the increased cost of diesel, equipment, and manpower. At present the commissioners are taking 50% of the revenue money and have around $100,000 in the bank drawing 5 1/2 percent interest while they try to see what a jail house and a library will cost.

The Judge is the highest paid member of the county government ($9,864) plus $125 a month travel, also $2600 a year for county school work, county school system and each commissioner receives $605 a month, $125 travel. The commissioners cannot hire or fire elected members of the courthouse, but do set all salaries as well as their own. They hire and fire county extension staffers.

The Judge may vote on any issue brought up at a meeting, and of course has the power to break tie votes.

EQUIPMENT

All except Milton have three road grader maintainers, a couple of pick-ups, a couple of trucks, Carthel and Jarrett have bulldozers, the county has one big carryall that is used in digging dump ground pits for Lockney and Floydada. Through the use of revenue money all equipment is in good condition except a few run-down trucks. They commissioners also use revenue money for diesel and salaries.

Revenue money has also been used for machinery barns at Lockney and Floydada, a deputy office at Lockney, carpet in the courthouse halls, a little help on the county museum, day care center, and mental health office budgets. Floydada and Lockney fire trucks were bought with county revenue money—also property for police radio tower.

Most of the revenue money has been used to purchase maintainers which cost from $60,000 to $70,000 each. Each commissioner employs three to four men to operate the equipment.

Since city people also pay county taxes, commissioners are expected to grade roads inside the city limits at Lockney and Floydada. Of course there are very few unpaved streets in Floydada. The City of Floydada owns its own maintainer and does most of the street grading.

COMMISSIONERS

Commissioner of precinct 1 (Aaron Carthel) has been a commissioner for five years and lives in Floydada. He also has farming interests.

Commissioner of precinct 2 (Bob Jarrett) lives in Lockney and has been a commissioner for 18 years. He works for Farm Bureau as a crop insurance adjuster.

Commissioner of precinct 3 (Grigsby Milton) has been a commissioner for five years and lives near Cedar Hill. He is in the farming and airport business.

COUNTY INCOME

Second to tax money, the county receives license money of $157,433, then some $81,654 from fees charged by the various courthouse offices. The Justice of Peace fines amount to $18,824, county court brings in $5,000, commissioners took in $28,500 for farm work.

The county has no indebtedness. The commissioners oversee 50 employees of the county. Salaries amount to $355,756.

BASEBALL

The Cubs and the Pirates met Thursday night for the second time this season with the Cubs winning the game 12-9. The 21 runs scored in the game may lead one to believe it was a hitting game, but only a few hits were registered by each club.

Coy La Baume started for the Cubs and Leif Younger started for the Pirates and they proceeded to strike out every batter they faced until the second inning when two Cubs came up with one run to lead 1-0. The lead was short lived however since the Pirates came up with 5 big runs in the bottom of the 2nd inning to lead 5-1. The Cubs scored 4 runs in the top of the 3rd to tie the game, but back came the Pirates in the bottom of the inning to take a 6-5 lead. In the top of the 4th inning the Cubs scored 6 big runs to lead 12-6 and then the Cubs were through for the night as Freeman Jones held the Cubs scoreless the last 2 innings.

The Pirates scored 2 in the 4th and 1 in the 6th, but could never over take the Cubs lead. The Cubs had 3 hits, the Pirates had 4 hits.

Cub pitchers were Coy La Baume, Joe Kim Lipham, and Jerry Don Wilson. Pirate pitchers were Leif Younger and Freeman Jones.

League standings at press time were:

Cubs 2-0	Yankees 0-1
White Sox 2-0	Pirates 0-3

President Cites Beef Referendum Problems

ten percent kickback of the state's collections to a state organization for undetermined purposes. This would amount to $600,000 in Texas per year that could certainly provide healthy financing for a politically oriented livestock group. Nothing in the act controls or monitors the kickback funds since there are no penalties for misuse.

Naman also noted that several media are currently enjoying some of the paid advertising spent to promote the program. He questioned whether those same media might be eyeing advertising accounts from the Beef Board if the referendum passes.

Commenting on general news coverage of the election, Naman said, "The news media in many cases has either been beguiled by the sharp tactics of those seeking favorable publicity, or they have simply failed to recognize and explain that there is some serious opposition."

Texas Farmers Union is releasing several of its pertinent points of opposition and "urging those responsible journalists who are interested in fairness to see that both sides are heard fully." That list of points follows.

***No provision is so constructed so that large interests will not dominate small producers—or possible vice versa. Groups could "huddle" together to run the Board by excluding others and make decisions to their own liking. (This has happened with Cotton, Inc.)

***A Board member could be both a producer as well as a packer, auction owner, doctor, lawyer, you name it. Conflicts of interest naturally arise when you allow integration of outside interests to seep into the control of $40 million and major decisions about the cattle industry.

***There is too much discretionary power placed in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture. This automatically makes the Board good or bad, depending on whether the Secretary is good or bad. This makes the whole structure political and removes it from the hands of the people, making it the what of a concealed government program.

***The whole structure and operation provisions are stripped of any safeguards, there is no accountability to the producer, and no guarantee that the Board will serve the producers or the producers simply be in the position of financing the Board without a voice.

***There is only one producer vote; the remainder is political and special interest appointments and decisions. Procedures for a recall vote are too difficult, especially when periodical review by producers should be a part of the law itself. In addition, the simple solution to many of these problems would be a direct election for members of the Beef Board.

Four Rural Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Floyd County during the month of May, 1977 according to Sergeant Ken Evans, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and no persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first five months of 1977 shows a total of 20 accidents resulting in no persons killed and 14 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for May, 1977 shows a total of

Agribusiness Exposition Announces Expansion

The High Plains Agribusiness Exposition has added seventy-one new inside booths to the exhibitor space available at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center in Lubbock, Texas.

Show director, Danny Cunyus, reported that only three spaces remained unreserved in the 23,000 plus square foot exhibit hall, and that demand for inside space has made it necessary to expand the Show. Cunyus stated that six of the new spaces were reserved the day the additional 7,974 square feet were added.

"The new area is located in the pedestrian mall adjacent to the exhibit hall," Cunyus explained. The addition brings the total exhibit square footage to be use for the three day Exposition, September 8, 9 and 10, 1977 to 132,375 square feet.

According to Cunyus, exhibitors who require outside space still have an excellent selection available on the paved area adjacent to the Civic Center.

The High Plains Agribusiness Exposition will be the first major Farm Show held on the High Plains and is sponsored by the Industry Showcase of Lubbock in cooperation with: Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Plains Cotton Co-operative Association, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Growers Seed Association, Southwest Farm Press, and West Texas Ag Chemical Institute.

County Agent's Corner

By Doyle Warren
Floyd County Agent

Mesquite over widespread parts of the Rolling Plains have been defoliated by the mesquite cutworm. The mesquite cutworms feed at night on the mesquite leaflets leaving only the leaf stems. Defoliation occurs on the ends of limbs first. During the day the larvae can be found under the bark or at the base of the tree under litter. Heaviest defoliation occurs in late May or June in years when mesquite cutworms are abundant. Mesquite were defoliated in parts of the area during 1971 and 1974.

The cutworms can be a problem when they attack mesquite in the home landscape. Carbaryl, Servin R, will effectively control these cutworms when applied to the foliage. But considerable damage has usually been done before the cutworm infestation is noticed. The mesquite cutworm are near the end of the larval developmental period. They will soon pupate in the soil and emerge as moths thus eliminating the need for control measures in the home landscape.

Defoliation of mesquite by the cutworm is also a cause for concern on rangeland. But unlike the concern in the home landscape the concern on rangeland is for mesquite to be in the best condition for maximum control. The period of defoliation apparently results in little permanent damage to mesquite trees. Maximum defoliation by the cutworm usually occurs during the time mesquite is most susceptible to herbicides. To obtain the best kill of mesquite with herbicide, the trees need to have as much foliage present

Two New Directors At Western Ag

Western Ag Sales Co., a Lubbock based irrigation system and grain handling system supplier for a five state area, recently elected Mr. W.W. Cantwell of Plainview, Texas and Mr. Donald Webb of Grand Island, Nebraska to its Board of Directors.

Their election to the Board, according to N.C. Vance, president of Western Ag Sales Co., Inc., gives the overall management of the company a new dimension because of the extensive experience Messrs. Cantwell and Webb have in the irrigation field. Mr. Cantwell serves Western Ag Sales Co., Inc. as District Manager at the Plainview, Texas operation and Mr. Webb is District Manager at the Grand Island, Nebraska operation.

Western Ag Sales Co., Inc. is comprised of the former retail outlets owned by Gifford-Hill and Co., Inc.

Farm Exports Pay For Imported Goods

COLLEGE STATION--The wheat a local farmer is raising could very well pay for your foreign car, imported wine or new camera.

This is because America exports more food and fiber products than it imports. This "favorable balance of trade" pays for many foreign products, a leading one today being the huge amounts of imported oil, points out Dr. William E. Black, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The 'balance of trade' is the dollar difference between how much we buy from overseas and how much we sell to the overseas markets," says Black. To buy the foreign goods we want, we have to sell overseas to get the money to buy. It's much the same as in your own personal finances--you have to have an income before you can buy.

"If you buy more than you make, you go in debt. The more debt you have, the more shaky your financial situation is. After awhile, your credit isn't as good," notes Black.

The same applies to this country, the economist explains. If we buy more on the foreign market than we sell, we have a negative balance of trade. If that gets too big, our dollar gets shaky in the international market. After awhile, foreign markets lose faith in the value of the dollar and it won't buy as much overseas.

"When the value of our imports is greater than the value of what we export, the deficit saps the strength of the U.S. dollar in foreign markets. As the deficit grows, the value of the dollar weakens and it takes more dollars to buy foreign products. That creates problems for the American consumer," asserts Black.

In 1971, American farm exports cancelled one-half of a $4 billion potential deficit in total U.S. trade. Overseas farm sales reduced by 23 percent what would have been a huge $9 billion deficit in 1972. Agricultural exports in 1973 made a record-breaking "net" contribution of $9.3 billion to the American balance of trade while the nonagricultural sector turned in an $8 billion deficit. In 1974, farm exports contributed an incredible $11.7 billion net, and the favorable trade balance reached $12.6 billion in 1975. This balance should show a similar level for 1976.

Between 1965 and 1975, net agricultural exports have made a total contribution of $49 billion to America's balance of trade. This more than offset the $28 billion deficit chalked up by the nonagricultural sector.

"The export market plays an important role in Texas agriculture," adds Black. "Currently, the production from one out of every four acres is imported. Leading imports include rice, sorghum, wheat and cotton."

So, the next time you purchase an imported item, think about American agriculture. It opens the door for many imported products.

In Memory Of

Mr. And Mrs. J. H. (Hop) Weathers

from their children

In the little town of Lockney, Texas lived the most wonderful parents.

They may never be recorded in history books, and they never made headlines in the newspaper, but to their seven children, they were the greatest.

Not only did they give us a happy childhood to look back on today, they worked six days a week to provide us with food, clothing, and a good home.

We didn't have all the luxuries, but we had everything we needed.

They taught us about God, and we went to Sunday School and church every Sunday, having two preacher grandparents. Our Dad's father was a Baptist preacher and Mother's father was a Methodist preacher, so they set an example for us children to follow.

They were the most wonderful doctor and nurse team when we were sick.

They taught us more than any teacher we had.

If they had been paid for their patience, love, hard work and understanding, they would have been wealthy.

I'm sure God had a special place waiting for them in Heaven, and they will be repaid for all their goodness and kindness in this world.

MRS. DARRELL CRUSE
(Brenda Wason)

Marriage Vows Pledged

Miss Brenda Margaret Wason and Darrell Joe Cruse pledged marriage vows in a double ring service at 7:00 o'clock in the evening, Saturday, June 10. Marion Kion of Plainview, Church of Christ minister, officiated the ceremony in the sanctuary of the United Methodist Church, Matador.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wason of Matador. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cruse of Flomot are parents of the bridegroom. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lewis of Floydada.

Mrs. Ronnie Cox, organist, presented a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Kelly Wason of Plainview, cousin of the bride, as he sang, "Evergreen." At the close of the ceremony, he sang the Wedding Song, with self accompaniment on the guitar.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she chose a traditional gown of white organza, accented in Valentine Guipure lace. The moulded bodice featured a Princess Anne neckline, framed in the Guipure lace. Shepherdess sleeves were accented in the Valentine Guipure motif, and puffed to a lantern effect and gathered to wide cuffs, edged in lace.

The bride wore the traditional "something old, new borrowed and blue." The new was her dress, and old was a lavalere which had belonged to her great-grandmother, Mrs. L. H. Lewis. She wore a blue scallops. Plaistrans of lace flowers embellished the full circular skirt that swept to chapel length train. The entire hemline and train were bordered in lace scallops. The bride's matching fingertip mantilla veiling was caught to a Camelot capulet and was also encircled in lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies, feathered carnations and baby's breath.

garter and a ring borrowed from her sister, Charla.

Miss Charla Wason of Lubbock attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a gown of apricot floral organdy, fashioned with empire bodice, cap sleeves, and A-line skirt, and a picture hat of matching color, trimmed with an organdy band and streamers. She carried a basket of daisies and feathered carnations.

Candlelighters were Karen Wason of Plainview, cousin of the bride, and Derenda Cruse, Flomot, sister of the bridegroom. They wore apricot colored dresses of dacron, designed with square necklines and cap sleeves.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Donnie Cruse of Plainview. Ushers were James Gwinn, brother-in-law of the groom, and Mark Wason, the bride's brother.

The altar was decorated with yellow tapers in seven-branched wrought iron candelabra at each side, flanked by urns containing white gladioli, daisies, feathered carnations and baby's breath. A basket of the same flowers centered the setting. The bridal aisle was marked by yellow satin ribbon bows, centered with greenery and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Wason were hosts at a reception at their home, following the ceremony. The bride table was covered with a white dacron cloth trimmed with lace edging. The three tiered wedding cake was made by Mrs. Don Wason of Plainview. Fresh daisies decorated the top, and corners of the square bottom layer, and between the round second layer and top layer, supported by pedestals, were wedding bells. The cake was tinted apricot, with white decorations.

Mrs. Johnny Scott served the cake, and Mrs. Laura Rowan presided at the crystal punch service. Others in the house party were Mesdames L. B. Campbell, Franklin Price and Ralph Jones.

Mrs. Larry Noland of Floydada registered the guests at the church.

Attending the wedding from Floydada were Mr. and early feelings and recognized, too, his employees' part in his success and a debt to the society in which he had prospered.

In 1941, the industrialist decided to make revolutionary changes, "based on a philosophy which attempts to fit industry to human needs." He went beyond mere profit-sharing, already in effect, and set up the Scott Bader Commonwealth. A "constitution" included virtual job security; limitation of the firm to about 350 persons, beyond which new, independent units would be formed; distribution of half the net profits to all employees—now partners, the other half to outside charitable endeavors; a ban on sales to customers who would use their products for war-related purposes.

Despite predictions of disaster, by 1971—20 years later—sales had leaped eight-fold, bonuses and gifts had been distributed as planned and staff had increased to the pre-determined limit. In strike-torn England, Scott Bader had none.

"The experience gained during many years of effort to establish the Christian way of life in our business has been a great encouragement," says Mr. Bader, who sees the achievement as "a concrete contribution toward a better society in the service of God and our fellowmen."

FACE OF A COWBOY

Nobody called him "Jalmar," although that was his name. Everybody called him "Jinks" and knew him well down in the Caprock foothills country. Only a few weeks before Jinks Wilson died in the line of duty as Motley County sheriff, he had a happy time at the Pitchfork Ranch reunion, mixing and mingling with his old cowhand cronies. Jim Watkins, A-J photo editor, took a picture of Jinks that October day and today it becomes the "Face of a Cowboy" with a lot of memories revived of the time when indeed, Jinks was a cowboy on the Pitchfork, where a lot of good lawmen came from.

EDITORIALS

June Brides

This is the month of weddings--brides in white, marked-up cars, rice, honeymoons, magic dreams.

For most Americans traditional wedding vows are still desirable and sought. And marriage as an institution remains the fabric on which stable, orderly societies are built.

Unfortunately, other forms of living together, without marriage, have been championed recently in the media. Marriage as an institution has been criticized. But thousands of years of history and experience has shown marriage to be the best system for man and woman, the most productive of happiness and contentment.

June and marriages, then, are a happy omen, a hope for a stable future.

Going Home

A bus company recently announced a special "going home" fare. It would take the passenger and children under five home, to any part of the nation, for $50. If bought in May, tickets are good to June 15th. On June 1st the cost rose to $75.

Taking advantage of the "roots" mood in the country, the company offers each going-home passenger a folder showing how to trace his or her roots!

It's a newsworthy fare, which will help many. One suspects there will be some, however, who "re-root" back home, of financial necessity. It's a one-way fare.

CLIMBS TRADE CENTER

NEW YORK--George willing, 27, daredevil toy maker conquered the quarter-mile-high World Trade Center like a human fly recently, using an invention he fashioned from about $100 in material to scale the aluminum-faced monolith.

DRIVE-IN CLOSES

PANORA, IOWA -- After 27 years, Margaret Gibson, operator, closed the Star Vu Drive-In theater. The closing was due to vandalism and changing times and type of movies available.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

A petition expressing strong opposition to proposed cotton dust control standards and bearing the signatures of over 5,000 Texas people from all walks of life will soon become an official part of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) hearing record.

Almost 2,000 of the signatures were affixed to the petition during cotton dust hearings held in Lubbock May 10, 11 and 12, where over 150 witnesses spoke, all in opposition to the proposed 200 micrograms per cubic meter dust standard. The remainder of the signatures were secured by ginners and other cotton and cottonseed processors, chambers of commerce, women's cotton promotion clubs and others whose livelihoods are dependent on cotton.

The petitions were mailed to Washington June 10 by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, and Congressmen, Senators and President Carter are being advised of their filing as an indication of the widespread opposition that exists in Texas.

Oral hearings on the proposed standard concluded in Washington May 17. All segments of the cotton industry presented opposing testimony. Testifying in favor of the standard were the Amalgamated Cotton Union, the Brown Lung Association, Citizen Health Research Group and the Women.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Dr. E. A. Tamm said that the decision will come this fall.

Gaylon Booker and Phil Wakelyn, members working with the Industry-Workers advised committee members that "the new standard will be modified for non-textile segments of the industry."

This feeling was reinforced in the 10 during a conversation with Governor Director for Health Standards. When the standard could apply during the 1977 that there will remain a pressing need for agent in cotton dust that has caused disease, in some textile workers. Other cotton will be required to institute medical and other expensive procedures not synthetic fibers.

The Executive Committee of Cotton cotton research and market development and 10 in Lubbock, and this latter point members by current PCG President. "We feel it is extremely important to intensive research toward delivering a raw fiber from the cotton industry to be stated.
