over Floydada, and third place Tulia, followed by Abernathy and Lockney. The magazine has this to say about the Whirlwinds: "The talent flow at FLOYDADA starts with crafty Rusty Cagle (4.7 speed) and extends through a top-notch group of 5 offensive and 4 defensive returnees from a 7-4-1 regionalist. Sturdy fullback Larry Jones joins smoothly with such standouts as guard Jon Jones, center Sheldon Sue, and OT Jim Potts to fire the attack further. DT Paul Radloff is a first-rate performer, while tackles Kenneth Griggs and Bill Starkey are other line mainstays."

Weather Modification Vote Coming

BY WENDELL TOOLEY
Petitions are being circulated all over Floyd county to request the Commissioner's Court of Floyd County to call an election at which the qualified voters shall be asked to vote on the proposition of whether or not they approve of the issuance of a weather modification permit that includes authorization for hail suppression in approximately the west half of Floyd county.

Three precincts in the southeast corner of the county will not be involved in the vote. Twenty-five Floyd residents signed the original petition submitted to the county clerk Wednesday.

About 450 signatures will be needed on the petitions that have been circulated in various places of business in the county. County clerk Margaret Collier said ten percent of the qualified voters of each precinct must sign the petition.

A recent law created by the State Legislature gives each county the right to vote their preference on allowing cloud seeding planes to fly over their area. Opponents of weather modification contend the cloud seeding breaks up the clouds and prevents rain fall in the Floyd county area.

It is anticipated that the election will be called sometime in August. Other area counties calling elections include: Briscoe, Swisher, and Lamb.

Mets Shoot For State Tourney

Freddy Morren's league champion Mets will compete for a spot in the annual state tournament at Mineola (50 miles east of Dallas) when they do battle with the winner of the Roosevelt-New Deal showdown this Monday night at Floydada. The Mets, which closed out regular season action recently with a very respectable 8-1 mark, drew a bye to the event's second round and will play Tuesday night at 6 p.m.

Loser of the Tuesday night contest will play the loser of the Roosevelt-New Deal game, with the two winners squaring off Thursday night for the championship.

BEEF REFERENDUM

Floyd Cattlemen Join Nation Against

Floyd cattlemen joined the nation in voting down the proposed beef referendum. The county vote was 39 against and 24 for. A total of 102 had registered to vote. deadline august 1

A national referendum on a check-off program to raise a multi-million dollar fund to promote beef failed because of apathy and misinformation, a national task force leader said Thursday.

"Cattlemen pride themselves on being independent, but they don't have a lot of foresight," said George Strathearn, vice chairman of the National Beef Development Task Force.

The checkoff program would have raised an estimated $30 million to $40 million annually by taxing each cattle producer 30 cents for every $100 received when cattle were sold for slaughter.

House Votes To Boost Wheat Price To $2.90

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House overrode President Carter's recommendations Thursday and voted to boost the government's 1977 wheat support target to $2.90 a bushel — a prospective $475 million addition to potential federal support payments on this year's crop.

Shortly afterward, a companion amendment was approved that would increase 1977 target and loan rates on corn to $2 per bushel.

Support for the moves was so strong that they were adopted on a routine voice vote. Opponents made no attempt to force a recorded roll call ballot.

President Carter, who already has made several compromises in his original farm proposals, has threatened to veto the bill if its eventual total costs covering farm programs running through 1981 and a $5.6 billion food stamp program are boosted substantially beyond his recommendations.

An administration source indicated, however, that the 1977 amendments may be accepted if Congress holds the spending line on supports for 1978 and future years and on other sections of the bill.

Passage of the $2.90 support target wheat amendment, replacing a $2.65 per bushel target proposed by the House Agriculture Committee, was assured when committee chairman Thomas Foley, D-Wash., Thursday joined an insurgent group of grain state lawmakers who had been lobbying intensively for the boost.

The target under current law for 1977-crop wheat is $2.47 a bushel.

Foley's committee originally had approved a corn target of $1.85 a bushel and a loan of $1.75.

The chairman stressed, however, he would fight hard against efforts to push crop support targets and loans for 1978 through 1981 beyond the levels approved by his committee and endorsed by Carter.

Holding those levels, including 1978 targets of 33 a bushel for wheat and $2.10 for corn will be "crucial in obtaining administration support for any final bill," Foley warned. Carter earlier had threatened to veto a more costly Senate-passed version providing 1978 targets of $3.10 for wheat and $2.28 for corn.

Foley said passage of the higher wheat targets was necessary because "the needs of wheat farmers are desperate."

With surpluses mounting to the highest level since the early 1960's, wheat prices currently are under $2 a bushel and below production costs for most farmers. Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., one of the leaders of the farm bloc drive which forced House leaders to accept the increase, warned that "thousands of farmers are on the verge of going under."

Under the target price system, farmers are given direct federal income support payments if market prices fall below the targets.

In the case of this year's wheat crop, for example, heavy surpluses are expected to hold market prices to or below the crop support loan rate of $2.25 a bushel. If that happens, growers would be entitled to a payment filling the 65 cent gap between $2.25 and $2.90 on wheat grown on federal planting allotments.

For corn, putting both the crop support loan and the target at $2 would raise prospective market income for farmers but would eliminate any direct support payments on this year's crop.

Experts estimate the total payment on this year's wheat crop at about $1.235 billion. If the target had been held at $2.65, payments would have been about $760 million.

The new wheat target for 1977 is the same as the level approved by the Senate for this year in its bill. The proposed new corn targets are above those adopted by the Senate for 1977.

The House, which still faces action on other sections of the farm measure and on a far-reaching food stamp reform section, Thursday rejected other amendments including a proposal to limit crop support loans to $100,000 per farmer and a plan to eliminate federal indemnities to beekeepers whose bees are killed by pesticides.

Texas Is Tops In Cattle, Production Figures Show

AUSTIN—Texas leads the nation in numbers of cattle and calves, beef cows that have calved and cattle on feed, according to figures recently released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

But while cattle producers in Texas continue to do their part to help make the state number one, "we are now searching for solutions to help them find adequate profits to go along with their well-established heights in productive ability," said Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

Some 15,800,000 head of cattle and calves were reported in the state as of Jan. 1, with 6,482,000 of them beef cows that had calved. Cattle on feed as of the first of the year included 1,710,000 head, most of them in the High Plains region.

Also, with some 318,000 head on hand, Texas ranked ninth in the United States in the number of milk cows that had calved.

In view of the outstanding production figures, Commissioner Brown noted that "cattle producers in the state have been proving for years now that they are unequalled in their ability to produce an animal which is envied worldwide, but production is meaningless if not accompanied by fair profits."

Brown also reminds registered cattlemen of the upcoming July vote on the national Beef Research and Information Act, and says the concept is one way in which producers themselves can develop programs to stabilize the cattle industry.

In the referendum, U.S. cattlemen will decide whether to tax themselves 30 cents per $100 received for each animal sold. The funds

The Board of Directors of Lubbock Cotton Producers, Inc. July 13 adopted a resolution to support the organization's 1977-78 fiscal year.

In other action the Board elected a new Executive Committee and re-elected its members to participate in the making and publicizing of estimates during the 1977 growing season.

The Board also resolved to express its appreciation to the retiring of Congressman George P. Brown of the current term and to "convey its gratitude to the industry and made possible its continued existence."

The budget covers the cost of such services, market development and legal services aimed at providing benefits to approximately 100,000 cotton producers.

The 1976-77 budget year had saved about $20,000 of that amount. PCG has one elected member on its Executive Board members were told that president

Referendum Failure Termed 'Dark Day'

SPUR (UPI) — Texas's chief proponent of a proposed multimillion-dollar fund to promote the beef industry Thursday blamed failure of the National Beef Referendum on "a few self-serving people."

"This is a dark day for the American cattle industry," said O.J. Barron Jr., chairman of the national Beef Development Taskforce. "We have passed up an opportunity for a research and information program aimed at helping all cattlemen."

The referendum needed two-thirds approval to pass. A preliminary count indicated more than 100,000 producers, or about 55 per cent of those voting, supported the program. It was supported by 61.6 per cent of Texas cattlemen.

The proposal, which would have raised up to $40 million annually by taxing each cattle producer 30 cents for every $100 received when cattle are sold for slaughter, was defeated in all key cattle-producing states except Oklahoma, where 75.2 per cent favored it.

Barron accused opponents of falsely labeling the program as a step toward government intervention.

"That scared many cattlemen into voting against it," he said. "But it would be inaccurate to say that cattlemen don't want this program. A majority of all cattlemen did want it."

Barron said the proposal was defeated because "a few self-serving people chose to shoot it down with unfair and misleading statements."

"In this case, a minority won," he said.

He called upon cattlemen to continue to search for ways to stabilize the industry and increase profits.

Brown Says Wheat Glut Shows Food Policy Needed

AUSTIN—The current oversupply of wheat in the United States is a clear illustration of the need for a long-range national food policy, according to Reagan V. Brown, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture.

"We simply have to stop reacting to crises and start planning ahead to eliminate them," he said this week.

Brown added that the price situation in the wheat market will not be helped by a bumper wheat crop which is headed to storage bins already brimming over from last year's crop.

"With production costs ranging from $3.60 to $4.10 per bushel and farmers being offered $2.06 as of last Friday, the situation can't get much worse," Brown commented.

Carryover wheat from the 1976 crop now totals 1.1 billion bushels in the U.S., the largest surplus since 1963. Texas Dept. of Agriculture officials are predicting this year's state harvest, which is already 98 per cent complete, to total about 110 million bushels, in spite of extensive losses in acreage because of spring storm damage. The state has 63.5 billion bushels in carryover stock, a 63 per cent increase over a year ago.

"Wheat is one of our major export crops and the effects of the current stall in sales are extended beyond the U.S. to those countries looking to our crops for their food supply," Brown commented. He added that any type of long-range planning should be executed "with our own domestic needs in mind and in the interest of a hungry world, with political interests laid aside."

Discussing the acreage curbs being considered for the 1977 winter wheat crop and the 1978 spring crop, Brown said a 10 to 20 per cent reduction in production would "do little to up the price of wheat this year or next."

"These reductions should have been instituted when the problem was in the making three or four years ago," he said, "when such a program could have had a long-term effect."

No Jurors Chosen

Plainview assistant police chief Jerry Austin was one of those disqualified Thursday as the defense exercised its seventh of 15 allowed challenges. The state took its fifth peremptory strike Thursday.

Attorneys now have quizzed 25 persons for possible duty as jurors. Some of those interviewed have been disqualified by the court, however.

Selection process is due to begin anew at 9 a.m. today, and a Saturday session has been scheduled. Prior to the questioning, some observers predicted it could take up to two weeks to seat a jury.

Publicity surrounding the slaying of the popular Matador lawman last year and more recent publicity on a guilty plea entered in the case by Fortenberry's accused accomplice, Stacy Alberi Carter, 26, are contributing to jury selection problems.

The process also has been hampered by the death penalty aspect — one of two options available in a capital murder trial should a defendant be adjudged guilty — and the fact that 110th Dist. Judge George Miller has ordered all jurors to be sequestered as soon as they are chosen.

Last week Carter pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of murder in connection with Wilson's death, and the Olivia, N.C., man is expected to be the state's star witness against Fortenberry.

AUSTIN—Every public library in the state has by now acquired a copy of Vol. III of the Texas Family Land Heritage Program Registry, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said this week, adding that the new volume provides history buffs with "a most unique and informative research material." The Registry, published by the Texas Dept. of Agriculture, lists farms and ranches in the state which in 1976 qualified for the Family Land Heritage Program. This program honors lands which have been under continuous production by one family for 100 years or more.

Although individual distribution of the book is limited to honorees, Commissioner Brown said that besides placing the Registry with all Texas public libraries, his staff is in the process of mailing copies to each school library in counties in which 1976 honoree lands are located.

Teresa Love, Mark Eugene Moody Wed July 15th In Bridgeport

Teresa Faye Love and Mark Eugene Moody were united in marriage Friday, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. in a double ring, candlelight ceremony at the First Assembly of God Church in Bridgeport, Texas. Rev. M. L. Melton performed the nuptial vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Love, Bridgeport, former Floydada residents, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moody, Paradise, Texas.

The altar was decorated with an archway of pink roses and bridal wreath.

Flanked at each side were white wicker baskets displayed with pink roses and white carnations. Nine branch tree candelabra with pink candles and green fern on white wicker stands completed the setting.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father. She wore a gown designed by her mother, of white French peau de soie and chantilly lace. Fashioned with an empire waist, the bodice was styled with a round yoke inset, trimmed in lace and a wedding band collar, all being lace overlaid and accented with hand sewn seed pearls. The full bishop sleeves and flowing chapel length train were made of chantilly lace. Matching lace and pearls formed a camelot headpiece which held the veil of multi-layered illusion delicately edged in lace. She wore the traditional blue garter and carried a sixpence in her shoe. For something old, she wore her grandmothers wedding band.

received there. North of Dougherty, farmers received a tenth of an inch, while Ralph Johnston reported that south of Dougherty, his crops received a .75 of an inch total reading.

Pioneer Natural Gas reported however, that in Floydada, only a shower was received, not even totaling enough for a reading.

66 per cent needed for approval. Official results are expected Friday from the Department of Agriculture.

"Many of the cattlemen who supported this program failed to take the time to register and vote," Strathearn said.

"Others voted no because they were told the government would run the program, which was false, or because they were told it would be difficult for those who did not want to participate to get a refund, which was also not true."

Cattlemen who registered for the election voted during a two week period which ended Friday.

Strathearn said the proposal was defeated in all key cattle-producing states except Oklahoma, where 75.2 per cent favored the program.

Top producing states where the proposal failed were Texas, 61.6 per cent; Kansas, 60.3 Nebraska, 63.7; Iowa, 41.2; and Tennessee, 18.8.

"I consider this a defeat, but not a complete loss," said Jim Peterson of the Texas Beef Development Task Force yesterday in light of nationwide failure of the beef referendum.

Peterson and the majority of Texas cattlemen voted in favor of the national beef check-off plan, but their votes fell short of the 66.6 per cent favorable vote needed to carry the issue.

"Some good things did come out of the program," said Peterson, who also is affiliated with Texas Cattle Feeders Association. "We learned what could be done if we work together. We got the Beef Research & Information Act passed by Congress after people said it couldn't be done."

"We learned of a need for better communications among cattlemen and different organizations. And we learned of some new leaders in the cattle industry across the nation," he said.

The question now arises as to whether there will be another national beef referendum, or even state referendums.

"Cattlemen started on the program for this referendum three years ago this month," Peterson said. "Anybody who thinks they are going to run back and start over again is going to be disappointed."

"It will take several years for the cattle industry to regroup, and the USDA says there is probably no chance to get another referendum in the near future."

"It's hard to get legislation like this through Congress because Congress is basically consumer-oriented."

"But cattle industry leaders across the country supported this program overwhelmingly. It's too bad that the industry can't unite. That's what we tried to do," Peterson said.

Oklahoma is one of few major beef-producing states which favored the measure. Cattlemen there voted 75 per cent in favor of the program which would have established a national beef market and development plan to promote beef through producer funds.

Walter Woolley of Ada, Okla., chairman of the Oklahoma Beef Development Task Force, said the program was successful in Oklahoma because "we worked real hard at it. We had a good BDT organization set up in the state."

"We had good cooperation with the news media. Newspapers, radio and television all helped us by having the people informed," Woolley said.

But the Oklahoma vote was not enough, said Woolley. "Ranchers are a peculiar breed of people. We all have a tendency to sit on the fence and complain about the cattle business," he said.

"But when you come to them and say something we have something that is going to help, but the money will come out of their pockets, they back off."

Woolley said some states might pass laws for separate referendums, "but we probably won't have another national referendum. I don't think it would get through Congress."

Peterson said it would be at least 1979 before another referendum would be legal in Texas. The State Legislature would have to support the plan and "it won't meet again for another two years."

NEWS 'N' NOTES (by Sharon Hillis)

Dieters accustomed to saccharin as a sugar substitute may soon be searching for a substitute for the substitute.

If saccharin leaves the grocer's shelf, these alternatives will still be available: nutritive artificial sweeteners, or any of the natural sweeteners, or a trend away from "sweet" to a "different" taste.

Nutritive artificial sweeteners include xylitol, sorbitol, fructose, mannitol, lactose and dextrans. But these, unlike saccharin, must be counted as calorie/carbohydrate sources, and they could upset balances in a strict diet.

Some foods provide enough natural sugar to sweeten even tart dishes. Fresh pineapple, for example, can sweeten strawberries, and grated coconut is another natural sugar.

To veer away from "sweet," try ginger to enhance fruit flavors and salt "wakes up" grapefruit. "Un-sweet" drinks, low in calories and carbohydrates, are tomato juice, tea with lemon only, and unsweetened lemonade.

The Weather Is The Key To Dressing Your Baby

By Mary Hilton Diaper Service Consumer Information Council

Back in the Gay Nineties, you could barely see a baby for all his clothes. Boys and girls alike were outfitted in diapers, soakers, undershirts, slips, dresses, sweaters, booties and hats. Even on the hottest days.

Today, in the Soaring Seventies, we know that baby has sufficient body heat for his size by the time he's a month or so old. So dress your baby as warmly or as coolly as yourself. If you're comfortable, he'll be comfortable, too.

In the summertime, remember that cotton garments are cooler than those of synthetic fabrics. And cotton is certainly cooler than plastic. As a matter of fact, a plastic raincoat is insufferable in warm weather.

It is also good to keep this difference in fabrics in mind when you select the diapers your baby wears during warm weather months.

BANKING IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

For '77 Homebuyers--A Few Timely Tips

By Willis W. Alexander Executive Vice President American Bankers Association

Spring is bringing good news for house hunters. Builders are starting more new homes than we've seen for some time. And there's plenty of mortgage money available.

In addition, interest rates on conventional mortgages continue their slight decline, now averaging 8.98% for new homes; 9% for existing ones.

And finally, as in previous years, homes continue to be a good investment — rising in value at a pace comfortably ahead of the rate of inflation.

If you decide to take advantage of these facts to do some spring shopping, here's a tip worth considering before you begin: the well-known rule of thumb that you can generally afford a home two and a half times your income may no longer be accurate. With today's taxes, interest and mortgage costs, as well as increased deductions for social security, federal and local income taxes; and increased food and transportation costs, it might add up to a monthly payment that consumes too much of your salary.

Your best bet is to check with your local banker for help in calculating the monthly payments for homes whose prices are roughly twice your

- Zoning: Is the surrounding area restricted to residential zoning? Are there plans to develop industry, roads or other facilities?
- Transportation: How long will it take to travel to work or shop? Is public transportation convenient?
- Property values: How much have homes in the area sold for in recent months? Are values going up or down?
- Overall: Is the area attractive? Have neighbors improved their homes? Is there excessive noise or air pollution?
- A realtor can help you answer these questions. You might also want to contact the local zoning or planning board. But, do take the time. If you ask the important questions before you buy — you won't be sorry later.

Weather Modification Vote In Lamb County

LITTLEFIELD--Forces opposed to the controversial hail suppression issue have collected an estimated 1,250 names on petitions seeking to have weather modification brought to a vote in Lamb County.

The petitions have been turned in to the county clerk.

The documents ask the Lamb County commissioners court to call an election to determine whether modification planes will be allowed to fly above the country after Oct. 31.

On that date, permits for two licensed weather modification companies operating over most of the South Plains expire and elections can be ordered before new permits are issued.

The petitions must be certified as containing at least 900 names--10 per cent of the qualified county voters--before commissioners can call an election.

It's the first of several efforts to force elections in other area counties.

Swisher County Citizens for Natural Weather recently met in Tulia, voting to take immediate action to call an election and to join Briscoe County residents in a boycott of Plainview merchants, except for doctors and other professionals.

Also in Swisher County, a petition bearing the needed 25 names to call for election petitions has been filed with the county clerk in Tulia, and petitions asking for the election are available for signing in Tulia, Happy and Kress, anti-modification forces reported.

Those petitions must be signed within 30 days by 10 per cent of that county's voters. Mid-August elections are being sought in all of the counties, including Castro.

Approximately 600 persons have signed petitions in Briscoe County, saying they will not patronize some five dozen Plainview merchants who are supporting weather modification activities.

Ross Lumsden of Littlefield turned in the Lamb County petitions in behalf of the Citizens for Natural Weather in that county.

Hail Suppression in the area has been a boiling controversy for at least seven years, with opponents of the cloud-seeding claiming the program has caused drastic changes in the weather for 200 miles.

One of the biggest controversies surrounding cloud-seeding is whether it decreases or increases rainfall amounts and how effective it is at suppressing hail.

Opponents contend that cloud-seeding causes "cloud stratification," which tends to produce a mist-like rain that often evaporates before reaching the ground. Because of this evaporation, they say, rainfall is decreased and natural weather patterns are disrupted.

Some area farmers and ranchers have indicated that they have seen the seeding disrupt clouds that, in their opinion, would have produced rain.

Other foes cite theories that the anti-hail seeding does not reduce total rainfall, but produces more widespread, less intense rain. That, they indicate, means that a given area is going to get less rain.

LOOKING AT BIRDS--Two visitors at Living Desert State Park in Carlsbad, N. M., take a close look at one of the bird exhibits at the park. The park was created to display plants and animals native to the Southwest and Rocky Mountains regions.

Texans Visit Living Desert State Park

CARLSBAD, N. M. -- More Texans visit Living Desert State Park here than do residents of any other state, excluding New Mexico, says park Director Dean Ricer.

"Until this year, Texas was the leading state in attendance, bar none," he said. "And this year we've made some capital improvements that will further enhance our visibility as one of the southwest's premiere tourist attractions."

This year the park added a 2,000-foot paved service road on the north side of the park, which allows personnel to take care of plants and animals without bothering visitors.

A new hay storage barn for the hooved animals and four hooved animal shelters have been built. Hooved animals at the park include American buffalo and bison, kudu, deer and elk.

This fall, the park will launch a $230,000 building program with tentative plans calling for mountain lion, bobcat and coyote exhibits, rebuilding of the other exhibit and construction of a beaver display.

The park, which lies on a hilltop overlooking Carlsbad and the Pecos River Valley, is owned by the state of New Mexico and operated under contract by the City of Carlsbad.

It was created several years ago to display, in an attractive Spanish-style setting, the plants and animals native to the desert Southwest and Rocky Mountain regions.

Visitors leave the entry building and take a leisurely stroll through the aviary, where birds of the Southwest are on exhibit.

In the nocturnal exhibit, animals such as skunks, badgers, raccoons, ringtail cats, bats, ants, termites, coati mundi and fox may be seen in their cutaway burrows.

The trail continues around the prairie dog town to the bear den and from there to the reptile exhibit. The snake building is filled with a large variety of rattlesnakes and other reptiles that usually give most visitors a bad case of goosebumps.

After visiting the hooved animal display, visitors wind through areas jammed with over 1,000 varieties of cactus, ranging from the giant saguaro to tiny sand dollars.

The park is open each day from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and is lighted at night.

Worldwide Grain Accumulation Seen

WASHINGTON -- Government figures continue to indicate a super world grain crop this year and a significant build-up in food supplies by mid-1978.

The Agriculture Department in a report this week estimated world wheat and feed grain output for 1977-78 at 1.097 billion metric tons, compared with the record last season of 1.105 billion tons.

The report was based on global crop prospects as of July 1, the beginning of the new international harvest year, and does not take into account the blistering weather that has affected much of the U.S. corn crop in recent weeks.

Moreover, the latest world grain estimate leans heavily on July 1 indications that the U.S. corn harvest will set a record this year.

The report put the total U.S. grain crop, including corn and wheat, at 254.1 million tons, up more than 1 per cent from the 251.5 million tons in 1976. Production in other countries, meanwhile, was estimated at 842.9 million tons, a decline of 1.2 per cent from 1976-77.

Even so, the new world estimate of 1.097 billion tons represents an increase, from 1.087.2 billion forecast from 1977-78, a month ago. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

All of the increase from the June estimate was attributed to a larger grain harvest now underway in the Soviet Union, a record 225 million tons against 215 million previously forecast. The world rice crop computed separately was estimated at 347 million tons, second-largest on record and exceeded only by the 1975 harvest. Last season, the rice crop was 340.4 million tons.

Officials say that the Soviet and U.S. harvest this year may reach "record levels if favorable growing conditions continue in July and August."

Looking at prospects in the Soviet Union, the report said that "low soil moisture reserves across much of the producing regions from the Volga River eastward will necessitate additional rainfall for a satisfactory crop in those regions." Further, too much rain in European areas of Russia may reduce grain quality.

"The outlook for 1977 wheat and coarse (feed) grain crops in the U.S. has improved slightly over recent weeks," the report said.

Department crop experts will issue an updated report on 1977 U.S. harvest prospects on Aug. 11 that will take into account the effects of the heat wave over much of the country.

The report said that if crops develop as they appeared to be on July 1, the global reserves of wheat and feed grains a year from now may be 195.9 million tons, a record stockpile. This July 1 the world grain reserve was 169.4 million tons, the most in seven years. A year ago the reserve was 113.6 million tons, according to the report.

World consumption of wheat and feed grain in 1977-78 was estimated at 1.071 billion tons, up from the 1.057 billion estimate a month ago. Last year grain use was 1.049 billion tons.

One reason for the largest grain consumption estimate is the amount of wheat being imported by China, now estimated at 9.5 million tons for 1977-78, compared with 3.5 million tons last year. A month ago, China's wheat imports were estimated at 7 million tons.

Poor weather, including drought this spring, has been a factor in China's wheat import surge.

White Sox Crush All-Stars In Annual Game

The White Sox took out the All-Stars for their second time in a row Thurs night 7 to 3. Leif Younger was the starting pitcher for the All-Stars, he pitched 2 inings. Haney Robertson pitched 2/3 inning and Coy LaBaume finished the game. The Sox led 5 to 0 after the 1st, 6 to 2 after the 2nd, 7 to 2 after the 3rd and then the All-Stars scored one run in the 6th to make the final score 7 to 3. Starting pitcher for the Sox was Gilbert Cedillo, J. D. Wilson pitched the last 2 innings.

White Sox Crush All-Stars In T-Shirt Finale

The T-Shirt League champion White Sox benefited from the superb pitching of J.D. Wilson, and Cornelius Campbell, and Gilbert Cedillo, to make up for a weak hitting performance, and hand the All-Stars a 14-5 defeat in the season finale Tuesday night. Although the victors could manage but eight hits, they were able to capitalize in the run-scoring department to capture a run away triumph.

Wilson was the actual winner on the mound for the White Sox by hurling three full innings, framing eight batters, while Cedillo and Campbell pitched the remaining three innings, striking 1 and 3 batters out, respectively.

For the All-Stars, which out hit the Sox 9-8, Coy LaBaume, David Pyle, and Leif Younger suffered the loss, but ended up fanning eight batters altogether.

"A" Team Topples Ponderosa Meat Team, 4-3

The Floydada A Team of the Lockney baseball league, took advantage of run-scoring big hits at the right times combined with excellent defensive play, to hand the Ponderosa Meat Company team a 4-3 loss Thursday evening. It was the opening win of the season for the A's, which were able to stage a three-run performance in the final three innings to pull off a thrilling come-from-behind victory.

The A's took an early lead when Jay Womack smacked a 1st-inning single to score Steve Westbrook from 2nd. Losing pitcher Frankie Morales balked in the 5th inning to score Lyle Suggs from third and tie things at 2 apiece, and in the sixth Johnny Soliz brought home Womack on a sacrifice infield hit. Ruben DeLeon doubled to score the game's final run.

FLOYDADA SALES TAX RETURN UP OVER THIS TIME LAST YEAR

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that city sales tax rebates to date for 1977 are running a healthy 20.3 percent ahead of last year.

Bullock said his office mailed rebate checks Friday totaling $23.6 million to 868 Texas cities for their July share of the one percent city sales tax.

The July checks boost to $190.7 million the total that has been rebated to Texas cities for the first seven months of this year. This compares to $158.6 million for the same period last year.

"These rebates are just another sign of the strength of the Texas economy," Bullock said.

He also noted that state sales tax collection in Texas are registering a bigger percentage increase than any other state.

Bullock said the City of Houston will get a July sales tax rebate check for $4.7 million and Dallas and San Antonio will receive $3.2 million and $1.3 million, respectively.

Floydada received $37,939.31, up from last year's $35,413.32.

Lockney has received $18,649.24, up from last year's $16,649.86.

Lockney received $2,137.06 and Floydada $5,304.93 last month.

HOT TIPS for a COOLER SUMMER

THESE SIMPLE SUGGESTIONS FROM FLOYDADA LIGHT AND POWER.....

can keep your air conditioning system operating at top efficiency. That, in turn, can help you stay cooler and save money this summer.

- Have a qualified serviceman check your air conditioning now to lessen the possibility of a breakdown during a hot summer day.
- Examine filters once a month and replace or clean them at least every three months.
- Set your thermostat to a higher comfortable temperature and leave it there while you are at home.
- When you go away from home for several days turn your air conditioning off unless there is anything that will suffer heat damage. In that case . . . raise the thermostat setting 5 to 10 degrees above normal and leave the unit on.

FACTS & FIGURES

FLOYD HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Representatives Attend Meeting

Representatives from more than 10 firms and organizations were present Thursday at the Texas Highway Department in Floydada, in order to discuss plans and improvements pertaining to traffic safety on roads now under construction in Floyd County. The purpose of the meeting was to promote motorist safety and convenience and coordinate the construction work for F. M. 786 in Floyd County, which runs east and west of Muncy.

The conference was held in the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation Office, with James King, District Administrative engineer from Lubbock presiding.

Local maintenance foreman Donald Gowens was host for the meeting.

News & Reviews

Greetings from beautiful Glorieta, New Mexico. At the time you read this, Ouita Powell and Beth Pratt will have returned from Church Library Leadership Conference the past week. Theme for the week was "MY" best self - to Be and to Serve.

Returning for the third time as the inspirational speaker at the conference was Don Bouldon, presently pastor of Carmel Baptist Church, Charlotte, North Carolina. Focus of the messages for the week was Matthew 22:34, being aware of the need to love yourself so that you may fulfill the command to love your neighbor as yourself. These messages will be available to you on tape and well worth your time. Don Bouldon is one of the most helpful speakers that we have heard. This is evidenced by his third invitation to this conference. An experienced counselor, he has much to share that can enrich your life as it has ours.

We will be bringing home exciting new books and getting them on the shelves soon for you to read. Presently we are reading THE INTIMATE MARRIAGE by John Howard Clinebell and recommended by Don Bouldon as well as by Dr. Pender, Director of Family Life Department at Texas Tech. This excellent self-help book is ready for you to check out now. Activities at the end of each chapter held up the principles suggested for attaining richer marital relationship. This is a book that would be profitable for engaged couples to study together. It is also designed for small group use.
