Family Decision Making Does Not Have To Be

COLLEGE STATION Family decision making does not have to be a war, says Jenny Reinhardt, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

A decision making process that deals with facts and not emotions can be calm and mutually supportive to all family members, and it allows the family to deal effectively with many situations, the specialist continues.

There are various approaches to resolving a situation, but a democratic approach allows each family member to grow, she says.

Decision making that involves brainstorming, data collecting, sharing and support of each individual's ideas even can be a comfortable growth experience for everyone involved, the specialist adds.

In a democratic approach, families describe or "set the scene" about the situation, she says.

Each family member then shares his or her own ideas, she says.

Family members should be encouraged to share their own ideas in writing, she says.

It is a good idea to have a decision tree prepared for each situation, she says.

Each family member should have a copy of the decision tree, she says.

COTTON TALKS

The Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. will hold its first 1978 meeting January 18 at 8:00 p.m. in Lubbock's Hilton Inn.

On the agenda will be a discussion of the current cotton supply-demand and marketing situation and possible ways to improve 1977 and 1978 crop income, a proposed new federal crop insurance program, upcoming PCG county meetings, and provisions of the 1978 cotton program.

PCG has two directors elected by and from each county, one a producer director and the other a cotton-related businessman. They are elected for two-year terms on alternate years, and 1978 is the year for the election or reelection of businessman-directors. Election meetings in each county are scheduled by that county's directors at a time and place of their choice.

The first two of these election meetings are scheduled in conjunction with county Soil Fertility Days in Hale and Swisher Counties on January 24 and 25, respectively.

Regarding 1977 and 1978 crop prices, PCG officials report they are working to secure increased credit for potential foreign customers and exploring the possibility of substantial improvements in the Commodity Credit Corporation loan program. Progress toward both these objectives will be detailed by PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

Among recently announced 1978 cotton program decisions to receive Board attention are the 44-cent loan level, 52 cents per pound target price, and the absence of a set-aside requirement for cotton in 1978.

The need for a greatly improved federal crop insurance program is intensified by the fact that provisions for disaster payments in the current law are slated to expire at the end of 1979.

Authority for disaster payments was written into the farm act of 1973 as a result of PCG efforts, but Congress declines to extend that authority beyond the first two years of the current law.

The disaster program has given producers a measure of insurance against drought, hail and other weather hazard since 1973, says Johnson, "and it should continue to do so through 1979."

But after 1979, he continues, "we are going to need, and we are already working to get, more adequate coverage under a new federal crop insurance program."

Mahon National Cotton Council Speaker

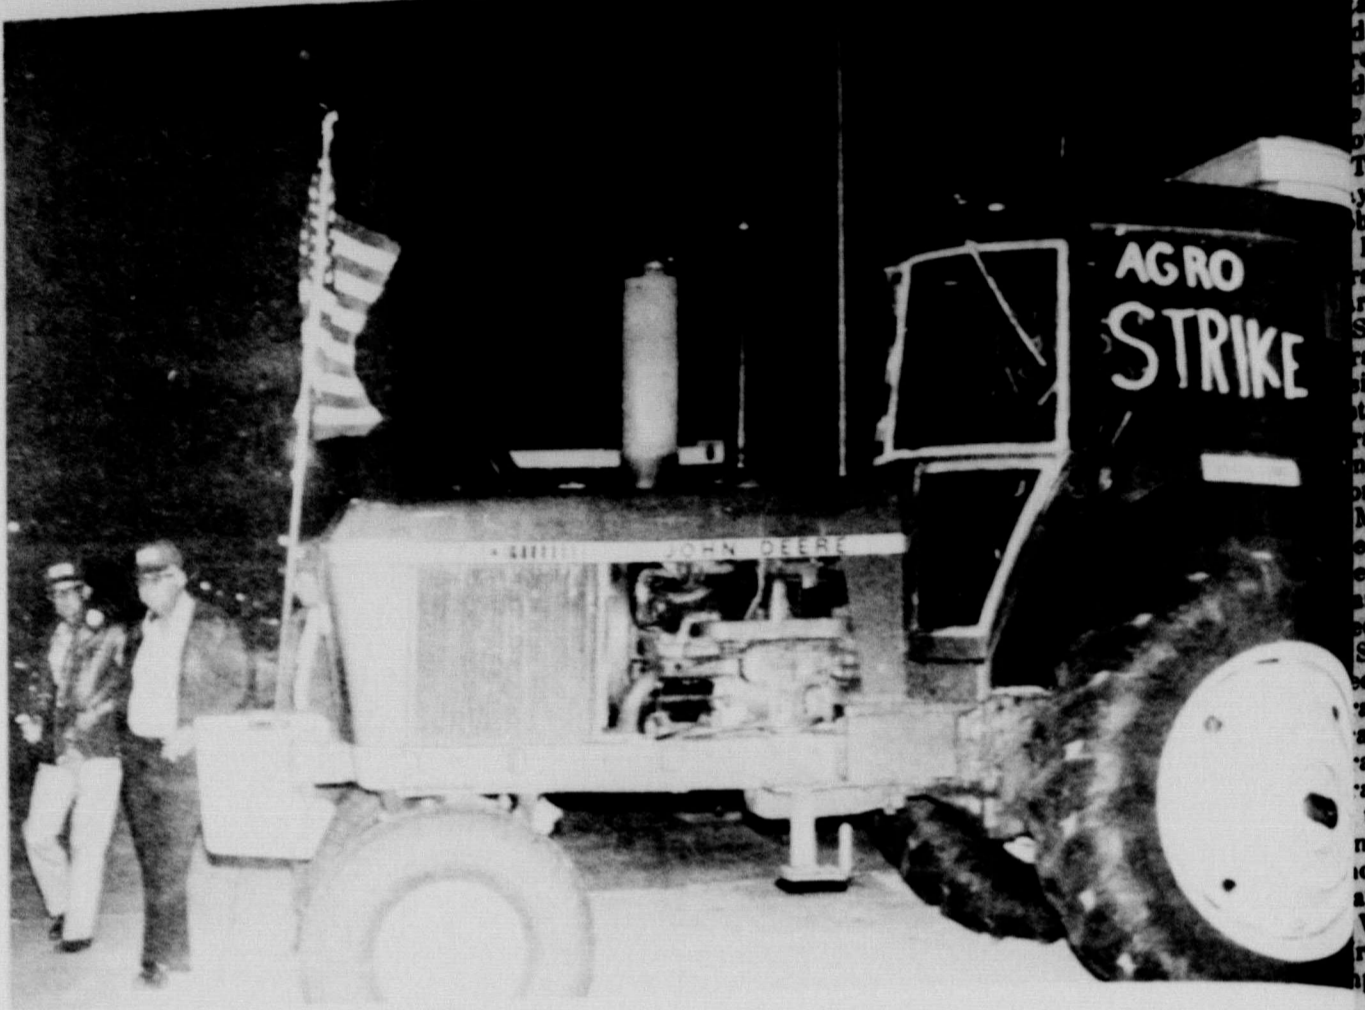

WYOMING Special Representative George H. Mahon, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, will be the featured speaker at the National Cotton Council's annual meeting Feb. 27 in Houston.

He was scheduled to address the meeting in a special session on Jan. 20, but was unable to attend because of illness.

A former legislator, the Texas Democrat has served in Congress since creation of the 12th Congressional District in 1959. He became a member of the appropriate committee in 1969 and has been chairman since 1971.

While in Louisiana, Mahon moved with his family to a cotton farm in West Texas as a young child and has been engaged in farming all his life. He graduated from Simmons College in Abilene, now Hardin-Simmons University, and received his law degree from the University of Texas. He has been awarded honorary doctorates from two colleges.

Mahon began his law practice in Coahoma, Tex., in 1957 and was elected county attorney the following year. Appointed district attorney in 1967, he was elected to three successive terms before moving to

Lubbock Mayor To Speak

Mayor Tom Hays of Lubbock will be the speaker at the luncheon during the annual meeting of the Texas Soybean Association to be held in Plainsboro, Texas, January 27 and 28, according to Mr. Bill McRee, chairman of the Arrangements Committee.

"We feel we are fortunate to have Mayor Hays appear in our program since he fully understands the importance of agriculture in our economy and is actively working to solve the urban 'food consumer' problem," McRee said. Mayor Hays will appear at the luncheon sponsored by the Soybean Clearing House on Saturday, January 28, at the State County Agriculture Center.

McRee also pointed out that the program would start at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, January 27, with registration starting at 10:30 a.m. on Jan. 28. There will be specialists from the extension service and the experimental stations bringing information that will be of vital interest to soybean producers in the state. The central area will be used to show new equipment, chemical and marketing techniques.

Of special interest to the city will be the presence of the Soybean Association at 7:30 p.m. at the Country Club. Mr. Nelson J. Rice, owner and manager of Plainsboro Marketing Company, will give a Master of Ceremony. The Texas Soybean Association will be selected to represent the state at the International Soybean Association Convention in Chicago in August.

January 28th will be highlighted by the announcement of the award to the winner as well as a report by Mr. Jeff Galt, director of legislative and field services for the American Soybean Association and Mr. Robert Horn of

Federal Regulations On Export Elevators To Interfere With Farm Prices

Some 2200 Federal Grain Inspectors have been trained this year in a crash program to meet the staffing requirements of the newly Congressionally established

Federal Grain Inspection Service. These individuals, many of them hard-core unemployed, were given 60 to 90 day crash programs to teach them to grade grain - usually a life time apprentice occupation skill. None of their curriculum involved grain elevator safety techniques or their evaluation. Yet, this week after a series of spectacular and costly, in terms of life and property, grain elevator explosions at Gulf export points, these newly trained Federal Grain Elevator Inspectors were ordered not to enter any facility "they considered unsafe", according to Winston Wilson, President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association. While we mourn the loss of life and are appalled at the vast property loss, since Texas depends on exports for 90 percent of its wheat income, we can in no way condone handing this long established, efficient cooperative and independent grain marketing industry over to these FGIS '90 day wonders' to shut on and off - along with our wheat markets and wheat prices when owners and managers of such facilities are more capable of such decisions.

integral part of the success of such strategy. At a time when we have more wheat on hand than any other time in history, Wilson said, it is discouraging to realize that our Gulf ports reduced by about 60 million bushels per month from these lost facilities, that we could not today deliver a sale the size of the one five years ago in the record time achieved at that time.

We, the Floyd County Farm Bureau Board of Directors would like to express our pleasure with your opening address at the Farm Bureau Federation National Convention.

The Board feels that Farm Bureau policy concerning the American Agriculture movement was all that you had the authority to express in your capacity as president American Farm Bureau, and that most remarks made concerning American Agriculture your personal opinion. We feel perhaps you should have been more in line with Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka when he explained that voting delegates custom turned down a resolution asking the organization to support the strike movement. He further explained that legal counsel had since advised that any action the Farm Bureau in connection with a strike, with the plan in mind to withhold cultural production in order to increase prices, would be in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Chaloupka said Farm Bureau sympathizes with the plight of farmers ("I am one of them"), and he listed a number of actions that Farm Bureau has undertaken to improve income. He said then he had a tentative appointment with Secretary of Agriculture Bergland to discuss what might be done.

Our county organization feels that you did not act in the best interests of our members.

Sincerely,
 Floyd County Farm Bureau Board of Directors

Farm parity to 44-year low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's farm parity ratio, an economic indicator used as a battle cry by protesting farmers who called a strike last month, sank to a 44-year low in 1977, according to preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department.

Over the 12 months of last year, the parity ratio averaged 67 percent, compared with 72 percent in 1976, 76 percent in 1975, 87 percent in 1974 and 94 percent in 1973, when prices for many commodities rose to record levels.

According to department records going back to 1910, last year's parity ratio average of 67 percent was the lowest since it averaged 64 percent in 1932 during the nation's worst economic depression. The all-time low was 58 percent in 1932. Thus, the 1977 average was the third-lowest on record.

As used by the department, at 100 percent of parity farmers receive enough for their commodities to give them the same buying power their forefathers had in 1910-1914.

For example, full parity price of wheat last month was $5.06 a bushel; however, farmers actually got $2.47 a bushel for wheat nationally last month, or 49 percent of parity.

The Colorado-based group called American Agriculture called for a nationwide strike of farmers on Dec. 14 as a movement to get commodity prices raised to 100 percent of parity.

Although protests by participating farmers have been scattered among many states, most

New Food Stamp Rules To Help Households

High Winter Utility Bills

The Floyd County food stamp office at Floydada wants food stamp households to know that if their heating or utility bills go up this winter, the amount they pay for their food stamps may go down.

Under new food stamp rules effective Jan. 1, 1978, households may be able to get prompt adjustments in their food stamp purchase price if heating or utility bills increase.

Food stamp purchase prices are based on net income, after itemized deductions. When deductions for heating and utility costs increase, purchase prices may go down if there is less income available to the household for food.

The food stamp office says Floyd County food stamp households will now be able to use their most recent utility bills to claim a larger deduction, if they have paid the bill or intends to pay during the month and will have enough money to do so.

If heating and/or utility bills increase, households may get a larger deduction. The highest household deduction is $100 per month. The deduction is based on the amount of the bill increase. The deduction is applied to the purchase price of the food stamps.

Households may get a larger deduction if they have paid the bill or intends to pay during the month and will have enough money to do so. If heating and/or utility bills increase, households may get a larger deduction.

Spending Decisions

COLLEGE STATION- Wise spending decisions in families depend on both husband and wife, says Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Since both partners make a significant number of decisions together, it is important for both to practice effective decision-making skills, she adds.

Decision-making involves value clarification, goal setting, examining alternative uses of resources, choosing wisely and evaluating the outcome of a decision, the specialist continues.

Below are the findings of a recent study to determine who—husbands or wives—had major responsibility for decisions about housing, transportation and food.

Findings showed that transportation decisions related to age and length of marriage. In younger couples and those who had been married a short time, both spouses made the major transportation decisions. Among older couples and those married longer, husbands made more decisions.

Decision-making for food choices were related to the wife's contribution to the income. The greater her financial contribution, the fewer food-buying decisions she made.

In 75 percent of the families, major housing decisions were made by both husband and wife, Ms. Kerbel says.

Antiques

Enjoyment

Investment

COLLEGE STATION- Antiques provide enjoyment today and outstanding investment tomorrow, says Sue Young, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The value of antiques keeps on climbing while new furniture depreciates from the moment it leaves the store, she says.

For an "eclectic" look that emphasizes a variety of styles and periods, combine antiques with other pieces. They are equally at home in a contemporary or traditional setting.

In shopping for antiques, rely on a reputable antique dealer, who is the consumer's best asset, Mrs. Young says.

In comparing items, look for those that are in good condition, while avoiding excessively refurbished pieces.

Also, remember that an antique is anything that was in existence one hundred years before the date of purchase.
