School Board Approves More Stadium Improvements

The board hired Dale Smith to teach Special Education Resources for 4-5-6 grades in Andrews Elementary and Dale's wife, Carolyn, to be a migrant teacher in Duncan Elementary. The Smiths taught here several years ago. In other business, the board accepted the bid of City Auto Inc. for purchase of a 1978 GMC pickup for the Ag Department. There were two other bidders on the pickup, both from Plainview. All members of the board were present except Betty Holmes and superintendent A.E. Baker.

No Flood In Floyd County!

While tropical storm Amelia brought death to some 15 people in Central Texas, turned the Texas Hill Country from drought to flood disaster classification, Floyd folk continued to wish for a good general rain. Irrigation wells continued to run, trying to break the drought that continued hot July weather brought to the growing row crops. A few areas of the county had received some good rainfall by Friday noon. In comparison with last year's August 4 statistics of 15 inches of rain for the year, this year's official record by Pioneer Natural Gas in Floydada shows only a little over ten inches. Grain sorghum and corn crops have needed more moisture for over a month, cotton has not hurt so much from the hot and dry weather. However, some dryland cotton that only reached six or seven inches in height has "bloomed out".

NO FLOOD.....just puddles.

Caprock Chat

SOMETIMES NO NEWS IS GOOD NEWS. This week we have no police report because there have been few problems in the city. One fellow got cut up over in northeast Floydada early Friday morning.....otherwise pretty quiet.

WORD COMES from the Floydada Nursing Home that they need a 16 MM projector for showing various films. So.....if you want to loan or donate one to the home call 983-3704.

"WE'LL BE TALKING about the cost of water in the days to come. At this time.....and certainly in the past we need and have needed leadership of people with vision for the needs of the future.

The old timers can look back and remember when a dam could have been built in Blanco canyon. I can remember when Floydada had a chance to get on the Meredith Lake water list of towns.

I can remember when we could have got the dam, water treatment plant and the pipeline to Silverton, Tulia, Lockney and Floydada for eight million dollars.....and we turned it down.

Now, even with government grants, we may be looking at 60 cents per thousand gallons for Mackenzie water. This compares with Plainview's Meredith water and Ralls' White River lake water for 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Plainview still supplements its lake water with 60 percent underground water (some 19 wells). When Plainview's water wells go down, they'll be trying to buy some of our Mackenzie water, because they can't get any more Meredith allotment.

Sure.....underground water is cheap.....but, it is fast being depleted.

The WDCC Is Out For Blood.... Yours!

In cooperation with the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary, the women will be sponsoring the South Plains Blood Service bloodmobile on Tuesday, August 8, at Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, from 5 until 8 p.m.

Approximately 150 pints of blood a year are used by Caprock Hospital. The demand for blood is rapidly increasing as its tremendous therapeutic value is realized. Medical advancements and modern surgical techniques - such as the ability to transplant healthy human organs and perform open-heart surgeries - have created this vital, ongoing need for human blood throughout the country.

Safe blood of all types must be available around-the-clock to assure the good health of our community.

We will get this blood from qualified donors who care enough to help those in need. All donors give on a completely volunteer basis, and the possibility of any commercialism is eliminated in the acquisition of human blood. Therefore, the charge to a patient who used blood reflects only the blood center's actual cost for drawing, processing and distributing the blood. This service fee is generally covered by the patient's personal insurance. The patient is not charged for the blood itself since it is given freely by concerned volunteer donors.

In addition to helping fulfill a vital community need, each blood donor receives a thorough pre-donation interview. A careful medical history is taken and temperature, pulse, blood pressure and hemoglobin are checked. After the blood is drawn, it is carefully typed and tests for diseases which could be transmitted to the recipient. Should any of these tests indicate the need for medical attention, the donor is notified and referred to a physician. It's like a "mini-physical" which benefits both the donor and the patient.

Paving Grant Turned Down

According to a letter received by the City of Floydada last week, the request to pave 41 blocks in north and northeast Floydada, seven demolitions of houses, and 12 remodeling jobs to bring houses up to standard was turned down.

It all added up to around a half million dollars. A couple of years ago, the City had been able to get two $100,000 paving jobs approved through government grants.

City manager Bill Feuerbacher said, "we will continue to get government grants to improve our city."

Kentucky Trip

Members of four Floyd County 4-H families were to leave Sunday morning (August 6) to visit in Springfield, Kentucky on a 4-H Club exchange program.

Planning to make the trip are the Kenneth Brose family, the Eddie Foster family and Jill Whitfill, all of Lockney, the Wayland Jones family of Floydada, and Birch Lobban, assistant extension agent for Floyd County.

The Floyd County 4-H families are returning a visit last year by the Kentuckians.

HD Women To Visit Crosbyton Solar Home

The Floyd County Home Demonstration Club Women will be touring the Crosbyton Solar Home Project along with Home Demonstration women from Hale, Swisher, and Garza Counties, on Monday, August 7. According to Sharon Hillis, County Extension Agent, the women will view a special slide presentation by Dr. Ernest Kiesling of the Texas Tech University Civil Engineering Department at 1:00 p.m. in the Pioneer Memorial Museum in Crosbyton. ## Satellite Dish Ready For Cable TV

"We hope to begin cable TV programming in Floydada about September 15," Hurschel Tyler told a Hesperian reporter Thursday. Tyler, who lives at Olney, is partner with his son, Mike, of Olney, D.H. Pope of Paducah and Roger Wooten of Breckenridge in the new company "Cable TV of Floydada". They also own the cable TV business at Paducah, Crowell and Lockney.

Jerry Ford, who has been living here for some time, is manager of the business.

Tyler said the cable TV business would offer Floydada residents the four stations they now receive from Lubbock plus five more. There will be Channel 17 from Atlanta, Georgia, Christian Broadcast from Virginia, PTL from South Carolina, HBO (home box office) movies from another station.

IMPROVEMENTS ABOUT COMPLETE

Tyler said the business office, tower satellite dish, and facilitating equipment were all conveniently located on two lots and have fast reaching service capabilities. Ford said it was unusual and good to be able to get all situated in one location.

The tower receives the four Lubbock stations and the dish will bring in five more from a satellite some 22,000 miles away.

The tower is self supporting and 100 feet high.

The dish is made of fiberglass with steel framing by a Fort Worth company. It is 23 feet in diameter.

An advertisement appears in this edition of The Hesperian stating the company is ready to start signing up customers.

The tower will receive the four Lubbock channels and the dish will bring in the five other channels.

4-H Record Book Recognition

The top-ranked 4-H record books in 33 awards programs have been selected to represent District 2 in state competition this month. They were judged the best representations from some 1,000 junior and senior 4-H Club members in the district's 20 counties.

The books of the winning seniors now will be forwarded to Texas A&M University for state judging.

Record book competition is the critical measurement of the youths' achievements over the years, according to Mrs. Catherine Crawford and Billy C. Gunter, district Extension agents. The records reveal their consistency in achieving their goals, their experience in 4-H, and their growth and development in personal, community and civic responsibilities and leadership.

Senior winners from Floyd County were Darlene Brosch, Santa Fe project; and Clay Hamilton, sheep.

Preschoolers' Eating Habits

COLLEGE STATION — Positive, wholesome and healthy attitudes about food can prevent weight and health problems from childhood to adulthood.

Young children have sporadic eating habits just like adults, says Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Appetites tend to coincide with the child's age and stage of development. For example:

- (1) The infant is growing fast and probably has a big appetite.
- (2) During the second year, growth as well as appetite slow down. A built-in mechanism tells the toddler when and what to eat, and this varies in time each day.

foods is available, children will generally choose to eat what they need. This does not mean, however, that they will select a balanced diet out of an assortment of non-nutritious foods.

(3) Toddlers may get off on a "binge" and eat a lot of one particular food, such as peanut butter, for a while. This will not damage a child's health during a short period.

(4) Preschoolers ages 3 to 5 tend to have narrow food preferences. They may not want their food sprinkled with mushrooms or onions. They stick to foods they are familiar with, so introduce new foods gradually and without pressure.

Never force a child to eat certain foods or demand a clean plate after each meal, the specialist advises.

Eating habits are formed in early childhood and carried into adulthood, she

Mrs. Mild Delegate To

Lutheran Women's Convention

Mrs. Andrew E. Mild, Rt. 1, Lockney, a member of Trinity Lutheran Church of the Providence Community, is a delegate representing the Southern District of the American Lutheran Church at the Sixth National Lutheran Convention of the American Lutheran Church Women, August 9-11, 1978, in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The convention, which is expected to attract about 7,000 registrants, will open with a "musical extravaganza" featuring Dave Brubeck. A large choir will participate in the program which will include material written by Herb Brokering. A reception will be held at convention hall following the musical extravaganza.

The convention theme, "In Christ -- Called To Be," will be developed by Dr. David Preus, president of The American Lutheran Church; Dr. Thelma Adair, chairperson of the General Assembly Mission Council of the United Presbyterian Church; Dr. Anna Marie Aagard, associate professor of theology at Aarhus University, Denmark; and Dr. Alvin Rogness, president emeritus of Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul. A special feature of the convention will be 40 "discovery groups" discussing such topics as "Why? Christian Feminism," "Healing and Prayer," "Creative Bible Study," and "The Year of the Child." Each person at the convention will be able to participate in four different groups during the three-day convention.

Global missions will be emphasized in a "global night" on Thursday evening at the convention. The speaker for the evening will be from overseas. A major part of the convention offering will be designated for theological education to prepare men and women for global ministry.

The American Lutheran Church Women is an auxiliary of the 2.5 million member American Lutheran Church, with general offices in Minneapolis. Membership of the ALC Women local units is estimated at 500,000.

Bill Fisher Wants Tax Cut For Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 26, 1978 -- Bill Fisher, Republican candidate for Congress in Texas' 17th District, says his meeting in Washington with U.S. House of Representative's Minority Leader John Rhodes was "productive and encouraging, and leads me to believe that I certainly can add to the Republican efforts to provide a much needed tax cut for Texans."

Fisher met with Rep. Rhodes in the Minority Leader's office to discuss the Kemp-Roth 33% across-the-board tax cut measure, as well as discussing Committee assignments and the Republican's legislative programs. "The conversation was very helpful," Fisher said afterward. "The Republicans in Congress have some excellent alternative measures to the Democrats' massive spending measures, and the Kemp-Roth tax cut measure has come very close to passage this year. I'm convinced from our conversation that with my voice in Congress, we would stand a much better chance of creating justice for the taxpayer as well as being able to eliminate that awesome burden which families face today in paying for massive, ineffective government."

Fisher said the conversation with Mr. Rhodes provided insight into Republican plans for "enacting the tax cut measure as well as relating some very helpful material on Republican efforts to pass other meaningful legislation."

Rhodes said he was very pleased to learn of Fisher's support for tax cuts and added that Fisher's support in Congress would increase the possibility of passing tax relief for the taxpayers.

"Bill Fisher indicated to me a great understanding of the plight that families face today. His determination to work toward solving that dilemma is real and deep-seated. His voice in Congress would undoubtedly be raised repeatedly for tax relief and more efficient government. The taxpayer of Texas, and of the nation, can ill afford to remain very long without Bill Fisher's voice in Congress," Rhodes said.

Denton Reports On Bond Sales

June sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Floyd County were reported today by County Bond Chairman Clarence Denton. Sales for the six-month period totaled $105,047 for 53% of the 1978 sales goal of $200,000. Texas sales during the month amounted to $26,757,461, while sales for the first six months of 1978 total $156,932,590 with 51% of the yearly sales goal of 306.6 million achieved.

Tax Free Gifts In Estate Planning

COLLEGE STATION--To help ease the federal estate tax bite individuals may want to consider annual gifts to their heirs, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Annual gifts up to $3,000 to each individual, or $6,000 if a husband and wife make the gift jointly, are tax-free under the federal gift tax law. The amount given away during your lifetime will reduce the size of your estate and consequently the amount of federal estate tax on what you leave your heirs someday," points out Tom Prater.

Under the annual exclusion, you can make gifts each year to as many people as you wish, and the first $3,000 of the gifts to each person is tax-free if it is a gift of a present interest. Present interest indicates that the recipient takes immediate possession and enjoyment of the gift. If possession and enjoyment are postponed or are subject to some condition or the wishes of another, it is a gift of a future interest and does not apply to the $3,000 (or $6,000 husband/wife joint) annual exclusion, explains the economist.

"Gifts made under the $3,000 annual exclusion are not subject to be included in the gross estate if the giver dies within three years after making the gift," notes Prater. "Beginning in 1977 all other transfers by gift within the three-year period prior to death will automatically be included in the gross estate of the deceased and

Sales Tax Rep. In Floydada Thursday

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Lubbock office to Floydada on Thurs., August 10 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer, Gene Cannon will meet with local taxpayers at the Floyd County Court-house, Room 103 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

"If Floydada-area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr.

Cannon will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on August 10 that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FREE tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

Farmers Completing Acreage Questionnaires

AUSTIN—Farmers in Floyd County have been doubling as statisticians in completing questionnaires which become essential links in the sophisticated economic structure of Texas agriculture, Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

The county's producers were part of some 30,000 farmers across the state who recently responded to the mid-year survey on summer acreage and production conducted by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The results of the survey will be issued in an August 10 crop report which is available free of charge.

"Without the availability of unbiased, accurate figures through cooperation between Texas farmers and the Reporting Service, business and government agents from one end of the state to the other would suffer in their ability to predict coming trends and act accordingly," Commissioner Brown said.

He explained that farmers themselves use the estimates as working tools in determining upcoming production decisions. At the same time, the information is used by farm organizations and legislators in planning and administering programs, by extension economists and private farm management consultants in advising farmers, and by almost every link in the agriculture service industry in allocating resources.

Banks and investment corporations also round out their economic profiles of counties through the use of the crop and livestock statistics.

"From the individual who sells fertilizers or designates railroad car placements to the government agent who makes decisions on crop payment programs, everyone in the agricultural production chain needs and uses the information made available through this continuing cooperative effort," Brown said.

"And at the bottom line, of course, is the agricultural product consumer, who reaps the benefits of a more informed agricultural industry, better able to minimize the drastic ups and downs which can translate into unpredictable supplies and prices," Brown concluded.

UNDERGROUND WATER Important Issues Face Board

One proposed rules amendment and one proposed new rule, both of major significance, will be on a heavily loaded agenda when the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1's Board of Directors hold their next monthly meeting on August 7, 1978.

The Board will consider amending Rule 1 (Definitions) to include a definition for an abandoned well site and will consider adopting a rule to provide a procedure for declaring a well site abandoned. These proposals are being considered to give the Board a set of guidelines to follow in cases where a well has apparently been abandoned, but has not been officially declared so, and a new application for a well has been submitted for a well near enough to the "abandoned" site that it would be in violation of the District's spacing requirements. In other action the Directors will consider cosponsoring a water conservation contest, will hear a staff report on a "Cost Analysis Study of Irrigation Ditch Losses," and will hear a progress report on "A Summary of Irrigation Practices and Techniques in the Southern High Plains of Texas" which is being compiled by District and Texas Department of Water Resources personnel.

Routine business items to be considered include a report on the District's financial status, consideration of approval of applications for water well permits and the District Manager's status report. The Directors will also recess into Executive Session to discuss personnel matters relating to the Water District.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at the District office at 2930 Avenue Q in Lubbock and will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Filing Suit Against OSHA

LUBBOCK, Aug. 3 (Special) — The National Cotton Council is filing suit to challenge stringent new cotton dust standards recently issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

This was announced today by Ed Breihan, Council Vice president and cotton cooperative executive from Lubbock. Breihan presided over a regional seminar at the South Park Inn here. The local seminar is one of four being conducted by the Council to acquaint industry members with the standards' compliance provisions.

Under OSHA's sweeping new standards, costly engineering controls must be in place by 1982 to reduce cotton dust levels to 0.2 milligrams per cubic meter of air in textile yarn manufacturing; 0.5 in warehouses, classing rooms, cottonseed oil mills, and waste industries; and 0.5 in weaving rooms.

Breihan said the standards are "technologically and economically impossible" for some sectors and expressed grave concern about their effect on the cotton industry's future. He further stated that worker protection could be insured through more practical and less expensive methods.

"Unless some moderation is made by the courts — or unless some technological breakthroughs occur soon in dust control — the cost burden placed on cotton by the standards threatens our ability to compete in the domestic market."

While the standards will undergo judicial review as a result of suits brought by the Council and other industry segments, Breihan said compliance with some of the standards' administrative provisions is likely to be required as early as Sept. 4 of this year.

As outlined by seminar speakers, this year's timetable for compliance with these provisions is:

Sept. 4 — posting of warning signs in all businesses covered by the standards;

Oct. 4 — providing of respirators to workers;

Dec. 4 — initiation of work practices, education, and training programs to minimize exposure to heat.

For 1979, the standards call for a March 4 completion date of first dust exposure monitoring with repeat tests every six months. By Sept. 4, 1979, medical surveillance must be started and written plans for meeting dust exposure limits solely through engineering controls must be completed.

Cotton gins, while not subject to dust exposure limits, will be required to meet certain administrative provisions. These include warning signs and initiation of work practices, education and training programs by Sept. 4, 1978. One year later, gins are required to provide respirators and begin medical surveillance of workers.

Compliance provisions were explained in detail by Ted Wentworth, Federal Compress & Warehouse Co., Memphis; A.C. Miller, field representative, Mine Safety Appliances Co., Pittsburgh; Richard C. Ennis, Ennis, Lumsden & Boylston Associates, Chapel Hill, N.C.; Phillip J. Wakelyn, Council technologist, Memphis; and Preston Sasser, Cotton Incorporated, Raleigh, N.C.

Phillip C. Burnett, Council program coordinator, and Gaylon Booker, assistant director of economics and market research, reviewed the extensive case ocratic overkill." The Council official said the standards are particularly excessive in view of the more cost-effective approaches available to achieve worker protection. These approaches, which could be accomplished at about one-sixth the cost of OSHA's standards, have been repeatedly pointed out by the cotton industry as well as by the Administration's economic advisors, Burnett added.

The Council has given the cotton dust problem top priority since research efforts are being funded at $4 million.

Masahiko Likes It Here

EXCHANGE PROGRAM BRINGS

JAPANESE YOUTH TO FLOYD COUNTY

Ask Masahiko Nakamura if he likes it here (in Floyd County) and, after he understands what you've said, his eyes will light up and he'll nod an enthusiastic "yes!"

He arrived on July 25 and since then has "done everything Ty (the Williams' 14-year-old son) does."

Masahiko has studied English, French and Spanish in the Labo Exchange Program, but there's still a language barrier.

We learned a few things about Masahiko and his country in an interview, also conducted with help from the dictionaries:

He lives in Tachkawa, Japan, (apparently a suburb of Tokyo) with his father, Hisao; his mother, Kyoko; and a brother, Akhiro, age 11, who is also in the Labo exchange program.

Masahiko rides a train to school six days a week—he goes to school all day Monday through Friday and half a day on Saturday. He plays basketball and takes judo instruction in physical education class.

There are 62 students in his class at school. He started school at the age of seven.

His family owns two cars, both Toyotas, but Masahiko can't drive legally until he's 18, the age at which one may obtain a drivers license in Japan.

The weather where Masahiko lives is much like here—hot in the summertime, snow in the winter.

Kay says the Williams family is really enjoying Masahiko's stay here: "It will really be hard to see him go. We're afraid the month will pass too fast."

Another Japanese youth, Yoshiyuki Ishii, is staying with the Buck Fords in Lockney, also as part of the 4H-Labo exchange program.

LABO EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The Labo International Exchange Foundation is a non-profit organization. The main purpose of the Foundation is to foster friendship and cultural exchange by sponsoring home-stay programs in several countries.

The Labo Foundation, inaugurated May 26, 1973, was born out of a pilot project begun in the summer of 1972. At that time, the Labo Teaching Information Center in Japan (founded in 1968) and the 4-H Clubs of America jointly sponsored home-stay visits.

Since that time a total of 4256 Japanese youngsters and 483 adults have stayed in 16 states and one Canadian province. During this same period 1599 American and Canadian 4-H young people and accompanying adults from 15 states and the province of Saskatchewan along with members of the Hawaii Kyoikukai and Hawaii Labo have stayed in Labo homes in Japan.

Irrigation Natural Gas Threatened

A high priority for natural gas used for irrigation pumping and crop drying is one of the subjects of the energy bill being considered before the Conference Committee this week in Congress.

The Board of Directors of Plains Irrigation Gas Users Assn. Thursday night, July 20, in Plainview, expressed alarm at the threat not only to priority, but to continued availability of natural gas at a price the farmers can afford to pay.

It was stressed that financial support in the form of at least $5.00 per well from every irrigation farmer in the area was going to be absolutely essential if the work which needs to be done is accomplished during this most critical period.

Vice President Jay Boston indicated that this was just as important and vital to every agriculture-related industry as it is to irrigation farmers, and that he hoped that every phase of the cattle industry and all agriculture-related industries would financially support the farmers in this effort if they knew how critical the threat to natural gas for irrigation has become.

Mr. Bruce Rigler, Executive Committee member from Plainview, stressed the fact that any businessman, would be convinced by a trip to Pecos and a look at the empty business houses and a look at the sand dunes on formerly irrigated land where 75% of the natural gas for irrigation was cut off only two years ago.

The Board directed that a letter be sent to the Secretary of Agriculture to try to protect the priority to be given natural gas used for irrigation pumping, and requested that county meetings be held in each county over the Panhandle and South Plains so that every irrigation farmer could be informed as to the current activities not only in Washington, but at the special session in Austin where Senator Kent Hance has proposed the introduction of a bill which would give the farmer a right of appeal to the Railroad Commission with regard to price of natural gas in the same fashion that cities and towns presently have to appeal from any rate.

As a result of the work already done, considerable support has been garnered for a special category for natural gas used for irrigation pumping and crop drying, as well as a special price, but much more work is needed and many, many more Congressmen must be convinced that this is absolutely essential if we are to continue to use natural gas for irrigation.

Mr. Carl King, Executive Committee member from Dimmitt, has made many trips to Washington, and expressed the view that we could get a special category and we could get a special price for natural gas for agriculture, and told the Board he felt that this effort could be successful and would be successful if it received the right kind of support from everyone dependent upon agriculture production in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

Dear Editor,

My name is Vickie Pennington Braese. I have been trying to locate descendants of James Lawson Pennington and Louise Catherine Baker. They farmed in your area at one time and I have reason to believe there may be some descendants still living there. They had several children: Henry, James, Frank, Joseph, John, Ida, Thad (my grandfather), Minnie, Tandy and Coria. Both James and Louise died in Amherst, Tex. If anyone recognizes or is a descendant please write to me. Thank you.

Proper procedure for checking fields prior to initial insecticide applications consists of examining at least 100 1/2 grown or larger green squares in each field. At least 4 sites should be inspected which are representative of the field since egg lays can be scattered and spotty. While examining squares for damage, egg and worm counts should be made. Count separately the number of white and brown eggs per 100 terminals. While bollworm eggs can be laid anywhere on the plant, most are found on the upper surface of the new terminal growth (light green in color) and on the bracts of squares. Eggs that are brown in color are probably within 24 hours of hatching. Determination of levels of worm infestation in the next day or so can be made from the count information. If 20 or more eggs per 100 plant terminals, and found and beneficial insect activity is not very good, excessive damage could result following egg hatch. Bollworms and tobacco budworms can best be killed before they reach the 1/4 inch size. It is extremely difficult to kill those any larger than 1/2 inch. In blooming cotton with bolls present, 8-10 per cent green square damage is an appropriate treatment level. However, after a hard chemical has been used and beneficials have been removed, another chemical application may be warranted if square damage exceeds 4% and eggs plus 4 or 5 small worms are found. All this, means we may not have seen all of the bollworm problem for 1978.

Check fields closely and every 2 or 3 days. Know what is going on out there. Too little is always too late if they get larger than 1/2 inch. Timely applications of insecticide can create more damage and more costs. Philosophy and mechanics of pest management. Foresight rather than hindsight, is the key to insect management. Know what is happening in the field as it develops and not when the damage appears on the ground. Good pest management results cannot be expected if scouting is initiated in the middle of a problem period. Control guides are available for labeled insecticides and the biological insecticides Bactur R, Dipel R, Thuracide R, and Elcar R. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, or origin.

County Agent Says Wasps Won't Control Bollworms

Bollworm infestations have been spotty thus far in Floyd County. Some damage from armyworms has been experienced, but these have about run their cycle and should not be a major threat in most areas of the county. Bollworms could be a threat to the cotton in Floyd County, especially in lush irrigated fields. As mentioned earlier, bollworm activity to this point has been light and spotted. Activity should pick up again now, with the predicted peak egg lay about August 17th.

Bollworms and Tobacco budworms are attracted to plants with lush, green leaves and lay their eggs in the tender terminal area. High field humidity in irrigated fields counteracts the detrimental effect of high temperatures and enhances egg survival. Newly hatched worms also survive better on this tender plant growth. Timing irrigation so that they are cut off at least 10 days prior to August 17 will aid in reducing plant attractiveness to bollworms and budworm moths. This is not possible where water is short anyway and the cotton is in bad need of moisture. The producer should be extra careful, and quite often, in checking for bollworm and budworm eggs in these wet, recently irrigated fields.

Cotton fields should be monitored closely beginning this week. Fields should be checked every 2 to 3 days using a proper scouting procedure. Once-a-week scouting is a waste of time. Eggs hatch in about 3 days and worms grow beyond the recommended treatment size in 5 or fewer days.

With flurries of bollworm activity cropping up all across the area, several farmers are beginning to release Trichogramma wasps for bollworm control. Just how effective are these tiny wasps? Programs we are aware of generally consist of multiple releases of from 1000 to 8000 (2000 average) wasps per acre on a 10-14 day schedule. Some Trichogramma releases are just one shot deals. Prices for these wasps range from 20-50 cents per 1000 with the producer usually applying them by hand. We have discussed the use of Trichogramma with several experts and have also reviewed current research findings. The following information is what we learned:

- Trichogramma are egg parasites and will parasitize not only bollworm eggs but also several other species such as beet armyworms and loopers.
- Bollworm eggs must be parasitized within approximately 2 1/2 days after they are laid if they are to be prevented from hatching.
- Trichogramma adults have only been living 2-3 days in cotton fields under prevailing weather conditions.
- One-time releases of wasps could not be expected to provide any degree of control.
- Releases of at least 12,000-50,000 parasites per acre every 5-10 days would probably be required to bring a bollworm infestation under control.
- A high rate of parasitism is required, possibly as high as 80%, if an economic infestation is to be reduced.
- Trichogramma are apparently incapable of establishing themselves when the host egg population is below the economic threshold.

It would appear that Trichogramma are not a feasible control tool at the present time. If host egg levels were allowed to reach economic proportions, severe crop damage could result before the wasp was able to exercise control. Researchers with USDA were able to achieve 80% control in one experiment where 4 releases of 53,000 parasites per acre were applied at 3-5 day intervals. This control bill would total approximately 42-106 dollars an acre!

If Trichogramma cannot provide control alone, then what about their value in augmenting beneficial activity? In one field we looked at 10 days ago, 50% control of an economic bollworm infestation was achieved when approximately 40-60 thousand resident beneficials were present per acre. What good would 1000-2000 Trichogramma do in this instance? Since predators would eat some of the parasitized eggs, control results would not necessarily be additive.

Then just what role have Trichogramma been playing in our area? In all successful "control" instances we are aware of, Trichogramma were applied to subeconomic populations which were cycling out of danger anyway. In other words, the field took care of itself. The role of these wasps is probably a psychological one. By releasing these wasps in fields with bollworms which had not reached treatment levels, uneasy producers probably avoided putting out a costly and totally unnecessary hard chemical.

COTTON TALKS
 FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Cotton entering the Commodity Credit Corporation loan program at High Plains area warehouses in 1978, for the first time in memory if not the first time ever, will go in with a loan rate higher than the rate for cotton "at average U. S. location." The average location rate was announced June 1 at 48 cents per pound, effective October 1 this year. The rate for Lubbock area warehouses has now been set at 48.10 cents, a tenth of a cent per pound, or 48 cents per 480-pound net weight bale, above the average.

In previous years the Lubbock area rate has been from .03 to as much as .12 cents below the national average. No official explanation has been given for the 1978 turnaround but it is presumed to be the result of changes in freight rates and volumes of production from the various sections of the Cotton Belt.

According to calculations made by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.,

PEST MANAGEMENT NEWSLETTER

ECONOMICS

COTTON

The area received scattered showers last week. Unfortunately no areas received enough to relieve the situation. Some parts of Floyd County received 1 1/2 inches. Irrigated cotton continues to do well. Most fields now have set a good number of bolls, considering the lack of rain fall.

Bollworm activity has varied somewhat between different parts of the county area.

South Plains area of Floyd County

Bollworm activity increased last week with a growing number of eggs being found. Counts ranged from 0-13 eggs per 100 plants. From 0-2 worms per 100 plant terminals are being found. Damage green squares range from 0.6%.

East Plains of Crosby-Floyd County

The number of bollworm eggs laid has decreased since last week. From 0-3 eggs per 100 plants were noted in scouted fields. 0-3 worms and 0-10% damaged green squares per 100 plants were found.

No bollweevils or punctured squares have been noted in the pest management program areas. Phytophthora present but most fields are no longer showing damage from this insect. Beet armyworm damage from this insect. Some squares were noted but not enough to warrant treatment.

GRAIN SORGHUM

Greenbug populations continue to increase in the county area. Many fields in the pest management program area have received one application for greenbug control. Although some fields have high populations, producers should note that other fields have lower populations. Greenbug populations are beginning to decrease in the pest management program area.

SUNFLOWERS

Many fields are now in the post-blossom stage. Fields should be monitored for the sunflower weevil. If I can be of any assistance please call these numbers. Office 878-2438. Mobile 878-2416.

Quitaque News

Quitaque homecoming celebration is almost over. On August 5, the parade will be coming from the city to our little town. We will be out with our neighbors and friends. The parade is scheduled for 10 a.m. at the City Park on Sunday. The parade will be in charge of the Quitaque Association. The parade will be in charge of the Quitaque Association. The parade will be in charge of the Quitaque Association.

(1) The story of the Quitaque Ranch (or the old "F" Ranch, as it was often called) began in 1877 when the cattle herd of George Baker arrived a few miles southwest of the present day town of Quitaque. Stretched out before them was a big, raw country, matted with rich buffalo grass with rich scattered mesquite, and dominated by the Quitaque Peaks that loomed on the southern horizon. One of the ranch hands called it "the best cattle country that ever laid outdoors."

(2) After arriving in the new country, Baker cowboys tunneled into a red bank on the north side of Quitaque Creek, and fashioned three rude half-dugouts and called them "headquarters". Later this "headquarters" was moved down the creek a few miles, where there were four half dug-outs and a small round corral for penning saddle horses.

(3) Sometime in 1880 Charles Goodnight, who already had the vast J.A. Ranch to the north, decided he needed more land, so he looked at the Quitaque. That year he purchased close to 125,000 acres of good grass land, along with 2500 cattle bearing the "F" brand. The land Goodnight purchased was joined by alternating sections of State land, this doubling the size of the ranch.

(4) In its heyday the Quitaque Ranch comprised around 350 to 400 sections of land, or approximately 250,000 acres. It was bounded on the South by the Matadors, on the North by the J.A. and Shoe Bar, on the East by the Mill Irons, and it extended west to a point north of present day Lockney, Texas. Another way of describing the boundaries was the Palo Duro on the North, the head of the Pease River on the south, and from Tulla on the west, to the other side of Turkey on the East. Whenever anyone set foot in that territory he was said to be "in Quitaque."

In 1898 Goodnight made the first land sale from the Quitaque Ranch, eventually deeding over 100,000 acres to Frank Howard of Biloxi, Mississippi. Later that year the entire stock of cattle known as the "F herd" was purchased for $100,000 by Cresswell Cattle Company. But when settlers began to crowd in and their grass lease expired in 1902, it was plain that the Quitaque was soon to be a thing of the past. By 1907 it was all over, and today the Quitaque Ranch is only a memory to a small band of old-time cowboys.

(6) Few of the ranch cowboys are alive today, but the Quitaque still sparkles as it meanders past the spot where the old Baker dug-outs were located, winding its way to the site where Charles Goodnight built his headquarters, and the Quitaque Peaks still loom silent and lonely as they recall the once great era of the old historic ranch.

1979 automobiles to be designed lighter and smaller to save fuel

Cars for the 1979 model year are being scaled down in size by the nation's automobile manufacturers in order to achieve federal fuel-economy standards of 27 1/2 miles per gallon by 1985.

Fewer eight-cylinder cars will be available and more plastic, aluminum, and glass will be used instead of steel.

New-model introductions already have begun by Ford Motor Company. Many weeks before its traditional showing dates, the car manufacturer has released its all-new subcompacts, the Mustang and Capri.

Ford expects to sell about 400,000 of them during the coming year.

These sporty cars are lighter than their predecessors by up to 200 pounds, and they have a longer wheelbase and overall length. They will also be totally different in appearance.

Ford's other new models will be introduced in mid-September, when General Motors Corporation will introduce some of its new models. General Motors' compacts, however, won't be introduced until next May.

The nation's other major automobile manufacturers—American Motors Corporation and Chrysler Corporation—will introduce their new models in August.

New-car prices are expected to rise by as much as four percent this year, compared with price increases of six percent in each of the last two years.

Translated into dollars and cents, that means a price increase of between $200 and $400 for the consumer.

Although many details are yet to come, here's briefly what car buyers can look for this year:

General Motors will have three new versions of its luxury cars, plus four new compacts. Ford and Chrysler will offer a new line of full-sized cars and Chrysler will offer smaller versions of its popular subcompacts, Omni and Horizon.

Meanwhile, American Motors is re-designing the Gremlin and giving it a new name—Spirit. Furthermore, the firm hopes to add the Renault Le Car to its fold by arranging a joint manufacturing and distribution agreement with the French car company.

LOW LAKES DANGEROUS

ABILENE—Boaters and skiers in many areas of Texas have been both cautious and lucky so far as the local lakes continue to decrease in size from evaporation by hot, dry winds and public consumption.

Many of the lakes in the Abilene area are so far down that boat ramps are left high and dry. Where it is possible to launch a boat, many boaters are running into sand bars, mud flats, and islands.

The biggest danger in these lakes is the hidden tree stumps at or below the surface of the water and tops of trees protruding out of the water. Many of these obstacles can tangle in the prop or injure skiers.

"The P&WD suggests that boaters on area lakes reduce their speed and keep a sharp lookout," said Curtis Jones, Abilene district law enforcement supervisor.

"Before pulling a skier, a boat operator should go over the course to make sure there are no obstructions and operate after dark only in extreme cases," Jones continued.

Texas boaters have a few more weeks of good summer weather for visiting state lakes and the P&WD hopes that the boat operators continue to use caution along with a little luck while pulling skiers on the water.

Also, everyone aboard should have on a PFD (life preserver), because if the boat runs aground or into a stump, passengers can be thrown overboard.

For information on boat ramp and lake conditions, boat laws, and water safety information leaflets, write to the P&WD, 4200 Smith

School Rd., Austin, Tx. 78744 or call toll-free 1-800-252-9327.

SUMTER, S.C.—Students and staff at Millwood Elementary School are seeing double these days because it has ten sets of twins attending the school. Principal Joe Kirven said that "it must be some kind of record, having that many sets in one school."

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. During hot weather, my gasoline tank seems to leak when filled up. Is this dangerous and why does it do it?—D. B., Lufkin

A. Barring such problems as a faulty gas cap, there are two probable explanations for your gas tank leak. Gasoline is pumped out of the ground where it is kept cool. When in your tank, it is exposed to heat and expands, thus causing it to overflow if you've filled your tank. Of course, you can't fill your tank completely with gas. There will always be an air pocket and air, too, expands. If your car is parked uphill when refueling, the air pressure will force gasoline out of your tank. But if you park facing downhill, only air will escape. Since gas leaks are always dangerous, it would be wise not to fill your tank too full and, whenever possible, park your car facing downhill when refueling.

Q. Is it legal to allow small children to sit in my lap while driving?—K. N., Millsap

A. There are no laws that specifically ban carrying small children on your lap. However, there is a state statute that prohibits drivers from carrying passengers in such a way that they interfere with the driver's vision or driving mechanisms or control of the vehicle. Even if you're driving only two blocks to the neighborhood grocery, carrying a small child on your lap could interfere with your ability to steer, prevent you from turning to look over your shoulder when passing or backing, or limit your field of vision. Should you have to brake suddenly, the child could pitch forward and injure himself, or you could lose control of your car trying to restrain him.

The safest place for children to ride is in the center rear seat. Buckled up. If your children are under four years of age or small enough to slip out from under a seat belt, then they should ride in a child seat or infant carrier or car bed. Pets, too, do not belong in your lap while you're driving. Even a minor distraction could cause a major collision.

If you have a question on driving, send it to: Texas Office of Traffic Safety, P.O. Box 1165, Austin, Texas 78767
