Tardy's To Celebrate Golden

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Tardy will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, October 1 in Wall Street Parlor.

Hosts for the celebration will be the couple's children, Havey Dale Tardy of Lubbock and LaNell of Floyddada. Grandchildren will assist.

Tardy and the former Margie Smith were married October 5, 1928 in Plainview and lived in the McCoy Community before moving to Floydada last year. He is a retired farmer.

Mrs. Rucker Hosts Cosmopolitan

Club Meeting

The Cosmopolitan Club of Plainview met in the home of Mrs. Ralph Rucker, Thursday, September 21.

After a short business session refreshments were served to the members and guests of the club.

Athenians Get Into Shape

Athena Jr. Study Club met for a regular meeting on Thursday, September 21, 1978 in the home of Donnie Meriwether. Karen Koonsman served as co-hostess. Fifteen members were present, as well as two guests, Ophelia Cooper and Maxine Loran.

Charlotte Mitchell opened the evening with a devotional on the topic of "peace." Her text was Psalm 23.

The program for the evening, "Exercises," was directed by Donnie and Karen. Most of those present participated, and enjoyed the exercising. Afterwards, refreshments of homemade ice cream, coffee, and spiced tea were served.

President, Virginia Owens, called the business meeting to order. Each member answered roll call by naming her favorite exercise. It was reported that the Ice Cream Booth made $450.00 at the county fair.

Those attending the September 21 meeting, excluding those already mentioned were: Rita Bureson, Sheree Cannon, Ann Favor, Jill Golden, Kathy Hunter, Janie Klein, Martha Sue Lusk, Barbara Mathis, Judy Schacht, Sandra Turley, and Lela Warren.

The next meeting will be on October 12 in the home of Martha Sue Lusk.

Members present were: Kay Ballene, Japan; Vi Henry, Hawaii, Daisy Senter, England; Hillery Cordera, England; Gabriele Anderson, Germany; Alice Noel, Australia, Lisa Howard, Samoa; and the hostess Pat Rucker, England. Guests included Jutta Engler, Germany; Danielle Biever, Luxemburg; Gloria Peralto, Peru; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hazell.

Lockney B&PW Plans For National Week

The Lockney Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Merle Mooney for their regular September meeting.

Reports were given on the District 9 conference in Pampa, which was the 50th Anniversary of District 9.

Plans were made for National Business and Professional Women's Week October 15-21, with special emphasis on the upcoming tea, Sunday, October 15, at the Methodist Church fellowship hall, for all working women of our community.

New yearbooks were given, and programs reviewed for the coming year.

Program committee, headed by chairman Merle Mooney and members: Dorothy Shipp & Nora Bybee, were in charge.

Ten members were present for the meeting and one guest, Mary Thomason.

Garland and Marilyn Sams of San Angelo are the parents of their first child, a son, Jerry Neil, born September 25 in a San Angelo Hospital. He weighed eight pounds and 13 ounces.

Grandparents are Garland and Faye Sams of Lockney, and Mr. and Mrs. Vick Walker of Needles, California. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Bettie Counts of Lockney and "Granny" Walker of California.

ELECTRIC HEATING. IS IT BEST FOR ME?

If you are considering electric heat, you have a wide choice: electric baseboard, radiant ceiling, heat pump, electric boiler, electric furnace; all of them requiring less space in your home than other systems. For another thing, since electric heat requires no vents, you can really insulate your home, button it up tight against winter's chill, thus using less energy to heat your house.

As for installation, if it's a new home, electric heat will probably be cheaper to install than other systems. The power supply from the electric cooperative is dependable. And you already know how clean and safe flameless electric heat can be. So, if you are planning a new home, see about installing electric heat. With dependable power from the electric cooperative, the chances are good that electric heat is your best choice.

By Mrs. Clyde Bagwell

September 25: At long last, we have all had rain. It began raining Wednesday of last week and has rained some every day or night since. Seems to be a general rain all over the South Plains. Our area has received 3 and 4 inches and more in some places. As always a fall rain usually comes at a time it is wonderful for fall wheat sowing, but not too good for the grain crops that were being harvested. It has been dry for so long, that it is nice to see the moisture to put a good season in the ground. Mrs. Betty Jo Horton of Alvin visited last week in this area and Friday afternoon she and Mrs. Gordon Mayfield visited Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Wise. Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Blum went to Lubbock Wednesday where he had a checkup; he got a real good report. Mrs. Blum reports it rained on them all day in Lubbock so they spent the night with her sister Mrs. H.D. Reid and came home Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Green of Waco and Maurice Burton of Lubbock and Mrs. Steve Reeves of Floydada spent the day Friday with Lee Burton and Carolyn. Sunday afternoon Lee Burton went to Lubbock and visited in the home of his sister Maurice Burton and another sister Viola Green and husband Randy who were there from Waco.

Kara Cozby spent Saturday night with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Cozby. The Cozby's daughter Carol Wilmeth of Lubbock was also there. Burl Huckabee visited Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Graham last week.

Charles Beedy from the Beedy ranch near Claude spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy.

Mrs. Kate Crabtree visited Mr. and Mrs. Kay Crabtree and family Sunday and had dinner with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy and Charles Beedy visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye Sunday and had dinner with them.

Sam Crabtree ate lunch with his grandmother Mrs. Kate Crabtree Friday and spent the night.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson visited Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Mize and had supper with them.

Harvey Allen will return home tonight (Monday) from San Antonio where he spent the weekend attending a school board convention.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson.

Mrs. Sherman Stewart of Sweetwater visited in Plainview the first part of the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart. Mrs. Jewell Cheeves was also a guest in the Jim Stewart home. Both women returned to Floydada Wednesday night to the home of Mrs. Cheeves.

Thursday afternoon Veda Wilson visited Mrs. Jewell Cheeves and Mrs. Sherman Stewart.

Baum Endorses Stenholm

Charles Stenholm, Democratic candidate for Congressman of the sprawling 17th District, was endorsed Monday, Sept. 18 in Big Spring by Jim Baum, who opposed him in the bid for the democratic nomination in the Primary.

Baum gave as his reasons, "He is a hard worker, which I can well attest to since I ran into him so often during the primaries. He has addressed well the issues in the campaign during the 14 months he has been campaigning." "But more than that, I find him a good man, and a shy-but forceful man who would make us a good representative in Congress. I predict that he will have a long and fruitful career that he will be a leader in Congress and not just a voice and a vote-and that he

'Futballe' Getting On In Year

In a few years organized football will be as old as Methuselah — and perhaps as interesting as Noah's grandfather who lived to be 969.

For one thing, football thrives on tradition. But it depends on the circumstances. In 1823, in fine disregard of the rules, William Webb Ellis of England's Rugby School tired of a scoreless kicking game and picked up the ball and ran with it.

That wasn't the case in Atlanta in 1916, the year Coach John Heisman's Georgia Tech team wrecked little Cumberland, 222 to 0. Tech's defense was as ferocious as its offense, and, late in the game, the quarterback for the visiting Tennessee school fumbled the ball.

"Pick it up!" he yelled to his teammates. "Pick it up!"

A quick-thinking halfback hollered back:

"You pick it up. You dropped it."

And so it goes with football, one of civilization's most durable sports.

Humans barely got into the Garden of Eden, of course, until they started kicking things — and each other — around.

But ancient chronicles indicate football as a scheduled event is enjoying its 929th season in 1050 A.D. when the also help take the pressure off hay feeding. Producers will also want to cull their herds closely before winter sets in.

If you've been in our home this week, more than likely you noticed our beautiful paper flowers from Mexico. They belong to Mrs. Alta Probasco, and she wanted to share them with the residents. They sure do brighten things up.

One of our dear residents moved home Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mary Jordan who has been here only a short time decided to move back home for awhile. We will miss her very much. However, we wish her the very best.

It rained out our bus trip Wednesday. So we decided to have a dress-up party in the dining room. Cake and punch was served to all residents. We also awarded prizes to the three best dressed ladies. Victoria Asher was top winner, Myrtle Roy second and Molly Jones third. Everyone had a real nice time.

We would like to thank Margaret Daniels for playing the piano and visiting with us Friday. The residents really enjoyed this.

We also thank Frances and Weldon McClure of the First Baptist Sunshine Sunday School class for the bananas and crackers. We had enough bananas left over for a banana pudding for supper, which the residents enjoyed very much.

Thursday was bingo day and Clara Williamson won four games; Mamie Gray won three; and Anis Franks and Ray Reid won two each. The bingo players would like to say Hi. to I.V. Assiter in Chicago. Understand he reads our happenings. By-the-way, I.V. is Mamie Gray's brother.

Eva Tackett and Ruth Walker came Friday afternoon and gave a demonstration on making silk flowers. There were twelve residents and three visitors who watched. We made two roses and two buds. Everyone enjoyed these ladies giving us their time and materials.

American Ag Says Farmers Not Responsible For Food Cost Increases

SPRINGFIELD-A spokesman for the American Agriculture Movement here says farmers and ranchers are not responsible for increased costs of food to consumers as reported by the media Thursday.

Eugene Schroder, national spokesman for the AAM, advises consumers to look to the middleman (large corporations that process and market food) to find the real culprits behind escalating food prices.

"Farmers are not responsible for the price of food going up. They never were and they never will be," Schroder said. "It's the monopolistic corporations in the middle that are raising the prices of food to maintain their profit margins."

"The effort of corporations to maintain their profits at whatever cost is the actual cause of inflation, Schroder maintains.

Schroder said farmers and ranchers are not responsible for inflation. For example, he said, in 1947, farmers received $2.85 a bushel for wheat, and bread cost 11 cents a loaf. Now, the farmer gets $2.70 a bushel for wheat, but the price of bread is 60 cents a loaf.

The American Agriculture spokesman made his remarks in response to testimony before a House subcommittee on banking Tuesday. Schroder agreed with a statement made by Howard W. Hjort, USDA economist, that, "Consumers will pay 4.5 to 5 per cent more at the food store, even if the farmer receives not one penny more for what he has produced."

But, Schroder said, in response to Hjort's remarks that a halt in food prices would require either ending inflation, or a cut in farm prices, "Farmers are already getting prices for their products below the cost of production. We need to curb inflation by curbing the cut the middleman take, not by hurting farmers and ranchers."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Officials scheduled the first meeting of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. in the Democratic Primary in a eastern edge of the High Plains. The program, a producer service of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, has succeeded each year since 1964 in preventing the spread of boll weevils across the concentrated cotton acreage west of the Caprock. Its cost is born jointly by Plains cotton producers, the U.S. and Texas Departments of Agriculture. USDA matches funds contributed by producers and the TDA.

The acreage of infested cotton mapped for spraying in the first application this year is well above the 142,000 first sprayed in 1977. Officials explained, however, that spraying last year began almost three weeks earlier on September 6.

This year weevil populations have been much smaller than normal as a result of an excellent kill on weevils in the 1977 program, plus a cold, dry 1977-78 winter and continued drought in the spring and summer. According to PCG Field Service Director Ed Dean, this fact made it possible to delay early spraying without endangering overall program effectiveness.

Ultimately it is expected that an aggregate of between 850,000 and one million acres will be treated this year. Spraying will be on a 12-day schedule, anticipating that three applications will be completed by the end of October. Soon after that time either harvesting or cold weather will destroy the weevils' food supply. Objective of the program is to kill a high percentage of weevils in the fall before they leave the fields and enter hibernation sites, thus greatly reducing the numbers available to infest young cotton each spring.

two with her aunt Mrs. Dee Sims, dined one day with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bradford and spent Saturday afternoon in her old home with Mrs. Dale Miller. She and Mrs. Mayfield visited Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. E. Green and the Floyd Fuqua's, and made many pop calls. It was good to see this daughter of our good neighbors, the Walter Sim's. We all lived for over thirty years in the Center Community. Mrs. Sim's has good and not so good days in a rest home near the Horton home.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Montgomery of Plainview visited Friday evening with his sister, Mrs. Frank Dunn. Mrs. Dunn visited in the Floydada Nursing home Sunday afternoon. There she saw anxious old friends seeing loved ones. With Mrs. Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Ausie Watson of Abilene and most of her local children, also children of Mrs. Carrie Cumbie who is not so well. All former Centerites.

Mrs. Ruby Leonard has been transferred from the nursing home to the hospital. We hope she will be better soon.

Mrs. Elmer Warren spent Tuesday night near Lubbock with her son Johnny and family, and returned home Wednesday in the rain. Sunday dinner guests at Mrs. Ola Warren's were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren and Mrs. Fred Battey. Edwin Warren stopped by Monday.

Willie B. Aiken visited one afternoon with Mr. Charley Spence and brought some watermelons.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson and Wiley Rogers were among the group on the chartered bus who were in Dallas Saturday for a football game-the Cowboys and Cardinals.

Sales Tax Office Opens In Plainview

AUSTIN -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday announced the opening of a new field office in Plainview to serve taxpayers in Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Motley, Hale and Floyd counties.

The new office is located at 3109-B Olton Road, Winchester Square, in Plainview and will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 293-5288.

Gene Cannon is in charge of the new office.

Bullock invited businessmen and women from the counties to be served by the new office to drop by and get acquainted with Mr. Cannon and the other tax experts who will be serving them.

"It's a heck of a lot easier -- and more pleasant -- to deal face-to-face with someone you know and trust than trying to communicate with a computer in Austin," Bullock said.

"It saves everyone involved time and money to have our people nearby to provide help when it's needed, and that is exactly what field offices such as this in Plainview allows us to do."

Quick Takes

Situation comedies are the most popular of TV programs reports the A.C. Nielsen rating company. Adventure shows are second.

One out of every 2 or 3 executives asked to move by their companies this year will refuse -- largely because of their wives. According to one firm specializing in moving executives, a wife's desire not to relocate is the chief reason for the turn-downs. The company says that 10 years ago only 1 out of 10 executives declined to move.

The crime rate has been rising faster among women than among men in the last few years a study prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration reports. But the report finds that women are more likely to commit embezzlement, fraud or forgery than crimes of violence. What's behind the trend? One of the researchers says, "With the women's movement, a much greater proportion of women are working outside the home, which provides more women with opportunities to embezzle and commit fraud."

Workers would experience less stress with 2 vacations a year than with a shorter workweek a study by the Union of German Doctors indicates. The study says that a second vacation is preferable because during the shorter workweek, the worker is expected to accomplish the same amount of work in less time -- resulting in increased stress.

Safety air bags are inflationary in more ways than one. Experts say that the air bags will add an extra $200-$300 to the price of a new car when they become mandatory in 1981. And, ironically, although the bags are supposed to be increasing passenger safety, it's expected that auto insurance rates will rise because once an air bag inflates, the cost of replacement is about $700.

Arizona Bronco Busters

Ruddy-faced cowboys wipe sweat from their faces and gaze into the steaming sun. Horses, equally hot, whinnying, offer resistance to the commands of their riders, bucking furiously. But the cowboys' persistence wins out -- they break the horses, racing them across dust covered hillsides, in the vast, deathly still mountains of Arizona.

Later in the day a glorious pink, purple and gold sunset frames a small corral and barn where the cowboys unsaddle the horses they broke hours before. As the sun drops beneath the horizon, the cowboys water their horses at a picturesque mountain pool while they refresh themselves, relax and enjoy a cold Miller High Life.

When these scenes sweep across the country this year via television airwaves, another television commercial will have portrayed the Miller Time theme for American viewers.

That is the intent of the Miller Brewing Company, which recently completed work on a Miller High Life commercial, entitled "Bronco Busters," shot entirely on location in Arizona. This past spring Miller representatives, as well as executives from McCann-Erickson, Miller's advertising agency, and from Bob Gaffney Productions, filmmakers, gathered in Arizona to shoot the commercial.

Three days shooting, 12,000 feet of film, dozens of takes and retakes were blended, skillfully, into 30 and 60 second television spots.

Commercial filming is the same thing as regular movie making, but is done in much less time, according to Bob Gaffney, president of Bob Gaffney Productions and the man whose eye has overseen every operation connected with filming this commercial. "Commercial filming is more intense, with far greater time disciplines than regular films," said Gaffney, a three-time short subject Academy Award nominee.

Gaffney spoke about the rigors of commercial filming during a break on the last of three filming days. It was easy to understand what he meant. Two nights in a row, he and the crew waited patiently for the sun to hit a certain angle in the sky, in order to capture the kind of sunset that has become the hallmark of "Miller Time," the end of a long, hard day.

One evening, he circled the action in a helicopter, legs and camera dangling from a side opening, attempting to film a hillside racing scene from a greater, more panoramic angle. While the cowboys watered their horses in the mountain pool at sundown, Gaffney caught part of the action while floating on a rubber raft, outfitted with one of the cameras.

SETTING UP -- One of the more time-consuming aspects of filming is the set up. Here, the crew watches as the actor and horse jump the fence for the first of many times, working until the scene is correct for filming.

As intense as this kind of filming is, it is just another cog in a large, three-month production wheel which begins to turn on the storyboard at the advertising agency and ends up on the TV screen.

"The original idea has everyone's input," said Jeffrey Palmer, an account supervisor at McCann-Erickson in New York. Palmer, along with creative director Henry Holtzman and others from McCann, sit down with Jon Garner, Miller High Life brand manager, and others in Miller's Brand Management department and consider the commercial idea.

When the idea is accepted, the agency will contact commercial filmmakers, who will come up with "bids," or samples of total production costs. Company and client will decide on the most acceptable bid and move into production.

Involvement at this point is threefold -- with the Miller Brewing Company, McCann-Erickson and the filmmaker.

The three organizations work together selecting locations, casting and organizing production. Input from Miller's Marketing Department, Palmer said, is essential, because the "final commercial represents a job well done. Miller's key advertising communication. Thousands of hospitalized pregnant women may be subjecting their unborn children to drugs and procedures that could be dangerous -- because they don't know they're pregnant. Two N.J. gynecologists screened women between ages 12 and 50 who entered a hospital over a 4-year period and discovered that 56% who were pregnant unfortunately didn't know it. To reduce the risk, women of child-bearing age should be routinely given a pregnancy test when admitted.

The Most Common Grammar "Mistakes"

Confused about whether to use "shall" or "will," "can" or "may"? If so, you have more company than you may think says Dr. Theodore Kiffer, an associate professor at Penn State. Kiffer believes that if you drew up a list of the 10 most-common grammar mistakes in America today and the 10 most-common errors of 400 years ago, you'd be surprised at the similarities. The reason, he says, is that splitting infinitives and but simply vicarious have come down to Old English and no basis for their existence. According to Kiffer, these rules haven't been sticking to make the rules but has made them we've done is to make the emphasis has been place," says Kiffer. WHAT ONE PERSON CAN DO Elizeard Bouffier, Planter of Trees

In the early part of this century, a young man came upon a desolate upland region in the French Alps where nothing grew but wild lavender. There were no trees, water was scarce, villages were long deserted and the few inhabitants were primitive and hostile. Yet the traveler met a shepherd who invited him to stay the night in a sturdy house that had been rebuilt from a ruin. The shepherd, who lived alone, puzzled his guest by taking out a sack of acorns that evening, selecting good ones in groups of ten and discarding those which were cracked or too small. He counted 100, then went to bed. Next day, the traveler accompanied his host on a strange journey. The shepherd, with his sack of acorns, and an inch-thick iron rod about eighteen inches long, climbed up to a wind-swept ridge. Again and again he plunged his rod into the desolate earth and planted an acorn in each hole. He was planting oak trees, and had been doing so for three years -- about 100,000 in all, of which he expected one-tenth to survive.

The shepherd, whose name was Elizeard Bouffier, related that he had once owned a farm in the lowlands, had retired here at the age of 50 after the death of his wife and son. He was convinced this land was dying for want of trees and vowed, if God gave him life, he would plant many more.

Twenty-five years later, the traveler returned to the region. It had come to life. Water had reappeared, and willows, rushes, meadows, gardens and flowers. The forest, now five miles long and nearly two wide, had brought resurrection. Young farming couples now live there. Elizeard Bouffier lived on till 1947, a man whose hope gave birth to life.

It is believed the tuxedo is so called from being first worn at the Tuxedo Club in Tuxedo, New York.

"A really bad day at the office, Charles?"

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. Why are some yield signs red and others yellow? Should they be treated the same way? —L. G., Seminole

A. Both signs require you to yield to traffic at an intersecting street; however, the yellow is gradually being replaced by the red. Texas and other states are participating in a new system of traffic signs in which visual cues substitute for word messages. The new red color distinguishes the yield sign from the yellow cautionary signs and as with the red stop sign, indicates that there is a specific procedure you must observe.

Q. Our children enjoy riding in our house trailer on long vacation trips. Although they keep themselves amused this way and can't bother my husband when he drives, I wonder if it is safe. —P. J., Cuero

A. No. In fact, it is against the law. Any abrupt movement of the trailer could toss them against a dangerous object or cause something to fall on them and injure them. Instead, keep your children buckled up and occupied in the back seat of your car with games, books and puzzles.

Q. Living on the Gulf Coast, I'm no stranger to rain. I know hydroplaning tires are dangerous. At what speed does hydroplaning begin, and what can I do to avoid it? —B. N., Friendswood

A. Hydroplaning—losing traction on a wet road surface—can begin at speeds as low as 30 mph. At 55 mph or more, the tire can lose complete contact with the pavement, causing you to lose control of your steering and braking. Extra-wide tires and tires with thin threads will hydroplane at lower speeds. During a storm or when there is standing water on the road, slow down. And avoid driving with badly worn tires.

Mexican Produce Market In Texas Is Not Large

AUSTIN—Most of the produce available in Texas markets is grown right here in the state, according to research done by the Texas Department of Agriculture, Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

"Several farm groups have indicated their concern over the amount of fresh produce imported from Mexico, but this report shows that only 18 per cent was brought into Texas during the fiscal year ending September 1977," Brown said. "Of the total weight imported, one third was made up of commodities not produced in Texas on a commercial basis."

Texas packers import asparagus, bananas, coconuts, mangos, nectarines, papayas, garlic, and pineapples, none of which are grown in the state for market.

Of the 21 products which could be considered competitive, 14 of them have been increased in production in the past 20 years in Texas. They are cabbage, cantaloupes, cucumbers, honeydew melons, okra, onions, parsley, peppers, squash, turnips, watermelons, grapefruit, oranges, and peaches.

Only three of the seven remaining which have shown declines in production indicate a background that could include Mexican competition as a possible reason for continuous declines. Those three are tomatoes, strawberries, and carrots.

"Even with these crops, the correlation of imports to the years when domestic production decreased is not definitive, except possibly in the case of strawberries."

Judge Roy Bean, a saloon-keeper and justice of the peace on the West Texas frontier, once fined a corpse $40 for carrying concealed weapons.

YOUR GARDEN

Improving The Soil

To make the best use of the soil in your garden, you should know its properties. Before you can improve it, you must know its difficulties. You can have your soil tested professionally at agricultural stations and universities, or do it yourself with soil-test kits.

IS YOUR SOIL all it should be?

Slightly acid soil is best for most plants. A soil's pH balance is a measure of its acidity or alkalinity. Few plants will survive in soil more acid than pH 4 or more alkaline than pH 9, pH 7 is neutral. Most garden soil is somewhat acid and tends to become more so as fertilizers and humus are worked in and various chemicals are leached out.

To increase alkalinity, use finely ground limestone. To increase acidity, use flowers of sulfur. Both cures are available at most garden supply centers, as is peat moss, which is mildly acidic. A new book for gardeners, the Reader's Digest Illustrated Guide to Gardening, points out that of the 16 elements known to be necessary to plant growth, three—carbon, hydrogen and oxygen—come from the air and water. The rest are from the soil. Nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are needed in the largest amounts, are used up the fastest and are therefore the chief ingredients of most fertilizers.

Keeping the right amount of the right chemicals in your garden soil can make a better garden more of a sure thing.

THEN: The 19th century was one of seemingly impossible breakthroughs: The pony express established communications across the 3,000 mile wide continent in 1860 by making the final connection between St. Joseph, Missouri and San Francisco in a mere 240 hours; then the east and west coasts were linked by a transcontinental telegraph line in 1861, making it possible to relay a telegram across the country in only two hours.

LATER: The early part of the 20th century saw another breakthrough. The relics from the crypt of Egyptian Pharaoh Tutankhamun were seen for the first time in over 3,000 years—relics that make up the award-winning "King Tut" art exhibit currently touring the United States.

NOW: Not only kings can cross the country with ease. Telephones do it today in seconds, and satellites beam live television pictures across oceans. Merit cigarette's new book, Breakthrough!, is getting around quickly, too. This hardcover book features reproductions of the original headline stories of great human achievements from 1851 to 1976. It's available free during the month of August in special store displays with the purchase of a carton of Merit, for its breakthrough in cigarette taste technology.

TIME IS RUNNING OUT FOR KIDS WITH CYSTIC FIBROSIS. THEN and NOW

I've learned that this lung-destroying disease takes hold at birth and doesn't let go. Many children with CF will never see adulthood. The money you contribute to CF Care and Research will buy both time and hope for my friend Tommy here, and all the others. It will help sustain them while researchers keep digging for a cure. And when you give you also receive the satisfaction that you've given a lot more than money. You've given life.

Halloween Hints

For Fun 'n' Safety
 Ghosts, goblins, ghouls and gremlins may come out on Halloween, but nothing scares parents as much as waiting for their kids to come home from trick-or-treat night. Here are tips for a scare-free holiday.

• See that young children are accompanied by adults or older friends.
 • Map out a safe route around the neighborhood, and set a time for the kids to return home.
 • Costumes should show up at night. Take a minute to spray-paint day-glo designs on their outfits. Or apply glitter or sequins to make clothes sparkle in the dark. Use spray glue; it's quick and neat. For safe use of aerosols, always follow label directions.
 • Make sure youngsters use flashlights to light their way. Avoid using candles.
 • Paint funny faces with make-up on your kids. Then they won't have to wear uncomfortable masks which sometimes block vision.
 • Cornstalk Halloween decorations won't shed if you apply hair spray.
 • Warn kids never to accept candy from strangers. Instead, make a little party for your trick-or-treaters. Serve cider, apple wedges garnished with tasty spray-cheese, and some of the candy they've collected. Show them how to decorate cupcakes and add zip to chocolate drinks with aerosol whipped cream.

Proposed Amendments Subject Of Seminar

On November 7th, Texas voters will decide if the State Constitution will be changed by a Property Tax Amendment proposed by the State Legislature during the Special Session which ended last month. A series of special one-day workshops in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Lubbock September 26th through 29th will focus on fiscal impacts to local governments—cities, counties, school districts and special purpose districts—should the Amendment pass. The workshops have been planned to help the local government officials prepare for the financial and administrative changes anticipated as a result of the Property Tax Amendment.

A full day of dialogue with a panel of experts will be capped off by a special two-hour discussion of issues pro and con by State Representative Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad, Chairman of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee and Representative John Bryant of Dallas, chief opposition leader on the Amendment. The workshop series is sponsored by the Comprehensive Planning Institute (CPI), an educational and research organization based in Dallas.

The Special Session of the State Legislature and its major outcome, the proposed Property Tax Amendment, came as a response to several dynamic forces such as the passage of Proposition 13 in California, recent litigation on constitutionality and equity of current practice in property tax administration in Texas and the ever-growing mood of the general public for tax relief in general and the Property Tax Amendment in particular.

To date, not much is known about the Tax Amendment by the general public or by the local government officials who will certainly feel some very real impacts from the Amendment itself and the related statutory actions that are sure to follow when the legislature returns to its regular session in January 1979.

In order that the effects of the Amendment and future actions can be better known and understood by these local government leaders, this series of four workshops has been organized in various parts of the state.

Texas Research League Executive Director James McGrew will serve as Moderator of the Dallas and Houston programs, and Jay Stanford, Executive Director of the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations will moderate the San Antonio and Lubbock sessions. Other impact analysts to serve on the panel include Dr. Richard Hooker of the University of Houston who served as a Special Advisor to the Legislature and Governor's Office during the last legislative Session; Walt Parker, Executive Director of the School Tax Assessment Practices Board; Warren Newberry of the Texas Farm Bureau; Dan Brody, Staff Member of the House Study Group; Craig Foster, Director of the Property Tax Project for the Intercultural Development Research Association; and Steve Fanning, Managing Director of the Comprehensive Planning Institute.

The proposed Amendment is one package comprised of six major elements. These include 1) a change in the basic requirement to tax intangible property and personal property, 2) a change to permit taxation of agricultural land and timber land based on productive capacity rather than market value, 3) changes to homestead exemptions for all property owners, and particularly the disabled and elderly home owners, 4) "Truth-in-Taxation" requirements for notice and public hearings on tax changes, 5) establishment of limitations on State appropriations so that disbursements cannot exceed revenues, 6) provision for equitable and uniform property appraisal and tax administration standards.

Although the Amendment deals with taxation issues, beneath the obvious economic concerns are much deeper institutional impacts that will most assuredly occur if the voters approve the Amendment November 7th. For example, the Amendment will give the State Legislature far more power than it currently has, to decide how the local governments in various parts of the State will handle their fiscal affairs against a rising demand of people for more and better services at less cost.

The objective of the proposed one-day workshop is to promote better understanding of what exactly the various provisions of the proposed Amendment are, how these provisions will collectively impact the lives of Texas residents through changes in the services they now receive from local and state governmental agencies. Persons wanting further information or are interested in attending these workshops should call the Comprehensive Planning Institute in Dallas at (214) 328-3224.

WHAT ONE PERSON CAN DO

Jesse de la Cruz remembers working in vineyards and melon patches in the 1930's: traveling from one end of California to the other, living on river banks, broiling in 110-degree summers, freezing in the winter, earning ten cents an hour.

Today, with her husband Arnold and three other farmworkers families, Mrs. de la Cruz grows cherry tomatoes, beans, cucumbers and other vegetables on a 40-acre farm they bought cheap from a nearly bankrupt farmer. With help from their six children and a timely crop loan from a rural anti-poverty agency called the West Side Planning Group, the four families turned a profit in their first year as farmers. Despite two years of severe drought, their farms have survived. And their success has given heart to scores of other farmworkers who long for the chance to till their own soil. Mrs. de la Cruz was one of the first women to take an active part in the United Farm Workers Union, led by Cesar Chavez. She has testified at Congressional hearings on the minimum wage

Piggly Wiggly is Determined to Fight Rising Costs!

To make sure that we are offering you the most competitive grocery prices we have a new team of Price Watchers. These people are just like you and have families of their own. They know what it's like to play a grocery bill every week. Their job is to go from store to store in your town checking our competitors' prices to make sure you save wherever at PIGGLY WIGGLY. Look for them around town in their Price Watcher Wagons. And meet Penny the Price Watcher. She is the symbol of this new PIGGLY WIGGLY effort. She and her "real life" team stand behind PIGGLY WIGGLY'S continuing drive to give you low prices you can believe in. Yes, PIGGLY WIGGLY is committed to saving you money, every day, in every department.
