cost of $28,000. Mayor Parnell Powell welcomed the citizens to the airport hearing and city manager Bill Feuerbacher explained the situation:

1. The city has no money to repair the airport runway.

2. There is a commitment from the Texas Aeronautics Commission to pay half the cost of an estimated $24,000 (made about a year ago.) Feuerbacher said he thought the TAC would go another $2,000 since the estimated cost had gone up in the past year.

3. The problem of how to obtain the other $14,000. There would also be an immediate cost of $1300 for construction estimate and TAC has a deadline of January 19 on their half of the money. If not committed by then, the city would probably lose TAC's $14,000.

Most of the persons present either asked questions or commented about the need of the airport.

These comments were made:

1. An airport valued at $500,000 must certainly be maintained and the city should set aside maintenance money in its budget each year.

2. The people who own the 25 planes at the airport contribute to TAC through a gasoline tax. Twenty-one of the 25 airplane owners are city residents and pay city taxes.

3. Airport manager Doodle Milton reported several businesses and organizations in Floydada use the airport every day of the week.

4. Dr. Charles Craig pointed out that many small airports had a manager that the city had to pay to keep it open. He noted that Floydada's airport manager not only kept the airport open and gave good service to the flyers, but paid the city a use tax off of gasoline sold.

5. Bill Brown said that he flies his plane into some 25 area airports in his business flights and the Floydada airport is one of the best in terms of location, service and runway facilities.

6. Tom Farris said that the airport was important in helping get the Texas A&M Training school located in Floydada and would be very important in securing other industries who might want to locate here.

7. One person said the county should help maintain the airport. County Commissioner Aaron Carthel said the City owned the airport and it should be its responsibility to keep it up.

8. One person asked why the City didn't use revenue money to repair the runway. Feuerbacher replied that revenue checks were getting smaller and the money was already committed for a garbage truck. Feuerbacher added that tax money was so low in Floydada that it afforded only enough money to maintain the police department.

9. One person asked, "Is the city in the same category as New York City?" Feuerbacher said that although the police department was down to only three men, and some city workers had been laid off, the city was still solvent and paying its way.

At this point the group asked the council how it felt about the need of an airport in Floydada. Councilmen all agreed that they were for keeping and maintaining the airport.

Councilman Jerry Thompson made the motion that the $1300 be applied for the construction estimate, the state office be notified before the January 19th deadline and in the same motion councilmen agreed that the city would pay $7,000 of the $14,000 needed if the citizen's group would raise the other $7,000 through individual donations. Agreement was reached and Mayor Parnell Powell appointed Tom Farris to head a committee composed of Babe Jones, Lon Davis, Aldine Williams and Dr. Craig to solicit the money.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business the council opened bids for gasoline for next year to be used in its vehicles. Cornelius Conoco was the low bidder. Carthel Oil Company also bid on the sale of gas to the city.

The council approved advertising for bids on a truck chassis for a garbage truck.

Athletic Director Asks For Track Restrooms

By Wendell Tooley

While making his report to the school board Monday night about the progress of athletics in all schools, athletic director and head football coach L.G. Wilson asked the board to consider building a restroom and concession stand building at the northwest corner of the school track area.

Wilson pointed out that not only did the track participants have to walk..... or run some two blocks to the high school rest rooms, but it was very inconvenient for the track fans.

The board agreed to get an estimate of cost to build such a building..... possibly a concrete block or metal building.

In his report Wilson was most optimistic about the athletic program, he pointed out that the gate receipts for all football games were up from last year. This year's total was $15,042.99

Coach Wilson said he felt there was a weakness in the girl's basketball program that begins back in the seventh grade when a girl can choose between taking tennis or basketball. He said he felt the choice should not be offered until possibly the Sophomore year of high school. He said all girls should be involved in either basketball or physical education classes in the fall and winter months, then go into the tennis program in the spring after the basketball season is over.

He said the school system is short one coach over previous year's staffing and the combination of the head basketball coach for girls and tennis coach was spreading the coach "pretty thin"

"We really need another girl's coach, not only for basketball, but track events to follow the basketball season," Wilson said.

TENNIS COURT REPAIR
Superintendent of schools Jerry Cannon told the board he was still trying to get a commitment from Malott & Peterson-Grundy of El Paso to "plexi" pave" the Junior High tennis courts at a cost of $5,200. He said the job should

NO CHRISTMAS SING SONG SATURDAY
Because so many choral and band students have the flu bug there will be no musical program at the courthouse square Christmas tree this Saturday.

VANDALS STRIKE HIGH SCHOOL
Vandals hit Floydada High School Saturday night smashing in some 38 windows on the north and west sides of the school.

Estimated damage is $1,000 and there was no insurance coverage. Custodians and Mac Willson worked all day Sunday to replace the windows.

It appeared the vandals walked along the window area striking the windows with some sort of iron rod, according to high school principal Charles Tyer.

Screens were also destroyed, but will not be replaced until sometime before spring.

Only Nine More Shopping Days Til Christmas

have been done in the fall, but the company put off the Floydada job for larger jobs, and would not answer his phone calls.

BUS NEEDS

Although two new buses have been ordered and should be here by January, the board is still looking at the need of possibly two more buses. They are also discussing the possibilities of buying a mini-bus for tennis, basketball, track, interscholastic meets and other small group transportation needs. The newest bus in the present fleet of buses is a 1974 model.

TEACHERS RESIGN

The board accepted the resignation of kindergarten teacher Linda Crader and special education teacher Deborah Jansson. Mrs. Joe Paty is to temporarily replace Linda and Jeanine Jarboe was hired to replace Deborah at mid-term. Jeanine is an elementary education major from WTSU and her home is Friona.

SCHOOL BOARD WORK DAY

Four members of the school board will fly to Austin early Friday morning and fly back late that night in order to attend a state school board work day....it will be mostly a pre-legislative hearing.

SCHOOL AUDIT

The board spent considerable time going over the school audit with Steve Gary of Behner & Company and after several questions approved the audit report.

Cathey reported to the board that 67.9% of the current school taxes had been collected. This compares with 67.4% this time last year, 66.2% in 1976 and 69.1% in 1975.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Superintendent Cannon reported that he was continuing to interview applicants for the Plan A director, that the approximately $1,000 worth of windows broken by vandals at high school Saturday night were not covered by insurance.

All board members were present except Adrian Helms, who was reportedly stripping cotton.

South Plains News

By Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, December 12. Last week was the coldest time of the fall, with a temperature of 8 degrees and lower on Saturday morning, December 9. Some snow flurries fell, but none stayed on the ground. We are glad to see a warmer trend this Monday, with bright sunshine.

The South Plains Hobby Club, which was to be held at the Far East Restaurant in Plainview was cancelled Friday night because of the icy roads in Plainview and the severe cold temperatures.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton arrived home last week, after spending several days visiting in Bartlesville, Oklahoma with their youngest son and family, the Jimmy Uptons and children. They arrived home before the cold spell hit.

Mrs. Martha Blake, mother of the South Plains Baptist Church Pastor, Reverend Fred Blake, is in the hospital at Robert Lee, near Bronte. She was taken there Friday, suffering with an infection.

Miss Katie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Taylor of South Plains, and Mr. Dale Pierce, will be united in marriage on December 23 at 3 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Lockney.

Thirty-one were registered for Sunday School at the Baptist Church Sunday morning, with the low attendance because of frigid weather. A visitor was Mrs. Robert Pyle and her children from Floydada with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred D. Blake arrived home Thursday night, having been away since Sunday, visiting in Fayetteville, Arkansas, with their oldest daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Bolding, Mike and Candy. They drove in rain a good deal of the morning, and instead of coming through Oklahoma, where the brunt of the storm had hit, they went across the southern way, coming home by way of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham left here Saturday for Amarillo where she spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Edith Magnusson, who was ill. Mrs. Higginbotham will be home this Monday night.

Bud Sessions of Tokyo, uncle of Sylvin Kinnibrugh, arrived here last Thursday to visit until this Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Sylvin Kinnibrugh.

Visitors with George West at his home on Sunday were Mrs. Lucille Smith of Sterley, and George's granddaughter, Robin Ann Smith, who teaches at Snyder. E.T. Evans are going to Anchorage, Alaska to spend Christmas with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Al Rhebus and family. They will be flying from Amarillo on December 18. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor are now living in Ruidoso, New Mexico, where he is overseer and manager of the Alto Golf Course. They formerly lived here at South Plains.

Latham Dickens of Plainview, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvin Kinnibrugh, spent Saturday and Sunday here with his grandparents.

Mrs. Arby Mulder and Mrs. Nathan Mulder are spending this Monday in Amarillo where they will be visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Taylor and children, and attending to some business in Amarillo.

Several neighbors, friends, relatives, and the Baptist pastor and wife surprised Mrs. Fletcher Powell in her home on the occasion of her birthday, Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. Cold drinks, coffee and chocolate birthday cake were enjoyed by all those present.

Lupe Luna was taken to Caprock Hospital in Floydada last weekend and on Tuesday he underwent major surgery. He was doing fine and was able to come home here in South Plains during the weekend.

The Floyd Philosopher

He Knows Why Economists Can't

Tell Us How To End Inflation

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm examines inflation this week, in a sidelong way.

Dear editor: I think I've figured out why we can't find out how to cure inflation. It's due to a lack of space.

In the last several weeks I've read half a dozen magazines articles by big-time economists on the perils of inflation. In the first two paragraphs they graphically cover the dangers and follow that with a long discussion on how the remedies proposed in Washington won't work. In fact, they say, anybody who recommends then doesn't know what he's talking about.

Then when you think they're finally going to get around to telling us what will work, they run out of space.

If we're ever going to find the answer to inflation we've got to talk magazine editors into giving their economists a little more writing room.

However, I did run into one economist who had a little space left and threw back his head and said flatly the way to cut inflation is to government spending. But by then he was down to the bottom of the page and had room left to say where the cuts ought to be made. If he'd had just two or three more column inches of space we might have had this thing whipped.

The trouble is, a politician wanting to government spending is like a mama bird perched on the rim of her nest looking down at five newly-hatched little ones all with necks stretched upward with gaping mouths holding for more worms.

Since I'm not a politician wanting to stay in office, I could suggest where government spending ought to be cut, but I've run out of space. Clearly this puts the entire blame continued nationwide inflation squarely on the back of your newspaper.

Yours faithfully, many, has sent Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Powell a letter of commendation telling them of the Air Force Good Conduct Medal that was recently bestowed upon their daughter, Senior Airman Donna Rushing. She had attained the high standard demanded by the USA Air Force in the areas of job performance, personal conduct and self-discipline. The award is not given lightly or automatically but it is earned. The Commander personally presented this medal and offered his congratulations to Donna. He also sent his congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Powell for their part in raising a fine daughter. We too, add our best wishes and congratulations to Donna.

More Efficient Fireplaces

COLLEGE STATION -- More efficient fireplaces are possible with three basic steps, says a housing and home furnishings specialist. Although much fireplace heat goes directly up the chimney, three steps will make a fireplace more efficient, says Sue Young. Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

SOURCE OF AIR
 Start by providing a source of air for the fireplace that will not draw heated air out of the house. An underfloor air inlet with a grill and damper control on the hearth can draw air from outside the house--rather than through the room.

Also, a slightly open window by the fireplace can provide air.

DAMPER CONTROLS
DRAFT
 A damper regulates the fireplace draft.

Close the damper when a fire is not burning to prevent heated-air loss.

Adjust the damper on the fireplace according to the type of fire.

For example, a roaring pine fire may need a full-throat opening, but a slow-burning hardwood log fire may need only a one- or two-inch opening.

Set the damper so that no smoke enters the room.

GLASS SCREEN SAVES ENERGY
 A glass screen--or glass enclosure--with an adjustable damper can save energy by increasing fireplace efficiency.

It permits heat to radiate into the room when the fire is burning.

Leave the damper in the fireplace itself open to provide air for draft and combustion.

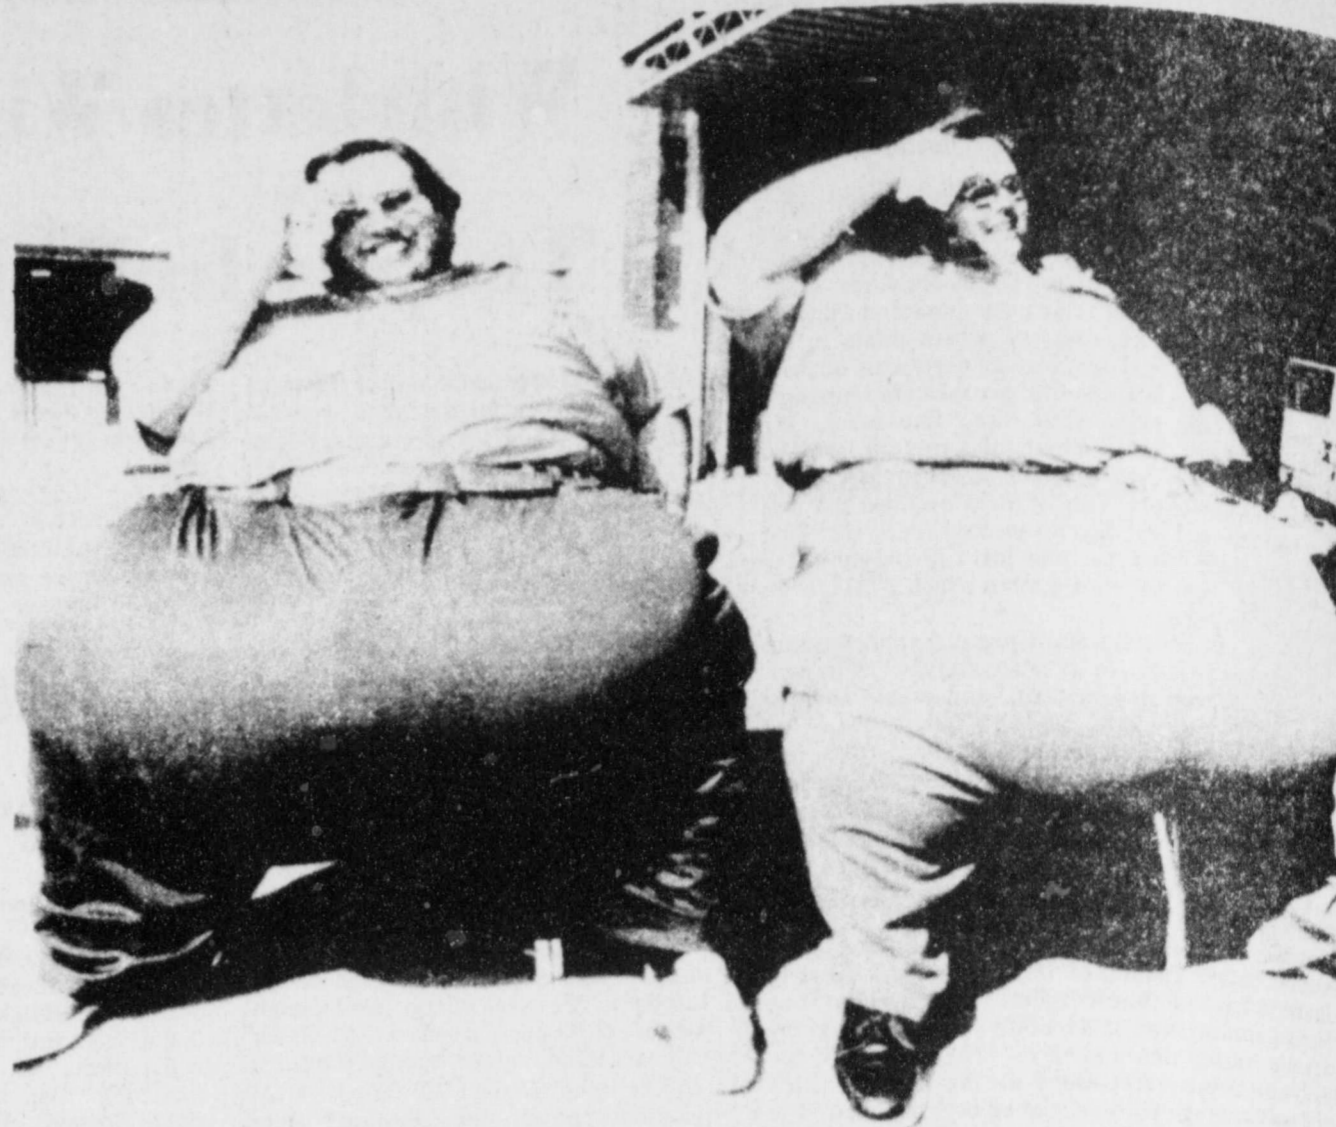

Also, the glass screen can prevent a down draft from kitchen or bath ventilating.

In addition, at night, simply close the glass screen damper--leaving the fireplace damper open. There is no need to wait for the fire to die down.

FLOYD DATA
 Mrs. Charlie (Mary) Wright is a patient in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview. She is in intensive care and is reported to be gradually improving.

FLOYD DATA
 Pete Hickerson is a patient in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He is to undergo open heart surgery today.

ACCIDENT CONTROL--A dry, brittle Christmas tree can go up in flames in a matter of seconds. Before setting up the tree, make a fresh cut across the trunk base and put the tree in a sturdy, water filled stand. Locate the tree away from fireplaces, radiators, stoves and other sources of heat, suggests the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

HOT TWINS -- The world's largest twins, Billy, left, and Benny McGuire, suffer from the heat recently in Sydney, Australia. When measured in January of this year they each weighed 743 pounds and had waists of 84 inches.

Cotton Producers Take Notice Of Cotton Fashions

Why are more and more cotton farmers becoming interested in the clothing industry?

Because cotton apparel is probably the fastest growing market for the cotton producer's crop.

"In order to stay in step with the synthetic fabrics, it is important for cotton research to concentrate on the clothing and fashion end as well as the other projects," said R.D. Hines, president of the Yazoo Planters Gin Company in Yazoo City, Ms. "To expand our cotton market and the need for our raw materials, we have to keep abreast of the synthetic fabric clothing designs. Fashion means a lot in sales of cotton, and I think Cotton Incorporated, and its Fashion Marketing department in particular, has done an excellent job in its research and promotion of cotton apparel."

New trends in cotton apparel have won over the public, especially the new 60% cotton 40% synthetic Natural Blend (TM) fabric is now used by major men's shirt manufacturers such as Arrow and Manhattan shirts, and has recently been used by Cannon Mills in their line of Comfortable sheets. One reason that Natural Blend (TM) products have become endeared to many women is that they have all the comfort of cotton, but are permanent press with no need for ironing.

Bruce Fogwell, vice president of Manhattan Industries, discussing the expanding market for cotton apparel said, "We are now into an increasing stage of cotton use, and the way our market will continue to expand is through fashion."

And whose job is it to keep up with the everchanging clothing taste of the consumer and predict the future trends in cotton fashions?

The Fashion Marketing Department of Cotton Incorporated, and Lillian Rossilli, its director, are charged with the responsibility of anticipating consumer trends 18 to 24 months in advance of the consumer selling season. Thanks, largely to this group of fashion experts, nearly all of the major clothing manufacturers are kept informed of the latest changes in the public's tastes, and are better able to market cotton products.

Often the Fashion Marketing Department of Cotton Incorporated works hand-in-hand with designers at the major fashion merchandisers and they jointly produce fashion ideas that wind up being worn by the American public.

According to Ms. Rossilli, one of the Fashion Marketing Department's main areas of concern with clothes is selecting fashion colors they believe consumers will prefer in the future.

"We firmly believe that the manufacturers should start thinking of new colors for a new season," said Ms. Rossilli. Color is a very costly and very serious business with the mill.

"A mill has to totally change its fabric line if the wrong color is put into the works," she added. "It's a very heavy inventory loss they suffer as a result; therefore, our color research is based on a one-to-one brain-picking with all our leading customers as to what is selling, what will continue to sell, and what the next popular color will be."

LILLIAN ROSSILLI, director of the Fashion Marketing Department of Cotton Incorporated, and her staff of fashion experts, keep clothing manufacturers informed on the latest changes in cotton apparel.

For the clothing manufacturers, the Fashion Marketing Department of Cotton Incorporated is one of their most valuable sources of marketing ideas. Since the Fashion Marketing Department has sources of information in nearly every branch of the cotton trade, it is able to relay ideas that its customers normally would not be able to get.

Ms. Rossilli explains: "Most manufacturers have their own colorists and designers, but they do not have the advantage we do of being able to cover the entire industry. We observe new marketing techniques and present new information to all the manufacturers so that they in turn can better market cotton products. We have tangible results of how the different companies have grown to rely on this kind of input on cotton. So, we perform a service to the fashion industry that the manufacturers feel is important."

Knowing what the American public will want in the year 1980 is not an easy task. It takes painstaking research on the part of the Fashion Marketing Department and takes travel to the fashion capitals of the world. Suni determine the impact of new clothing creations. And, the Department of Cotton Incorporated to prepare the cotton industry for the expected changes.

"The fashion and apparel markets represent one of the most important outlets for cotton use," said Lillian Rossilli, executive vice president of the Delta Council of Stoneville, Ms. "Beauty and comfort are two assets of cotton that the Fashion Marketing Department of Cotton Incorporated has been successful with in its promotion efforts. This is directly related to the cotton producer's crop. The more cotton the consumer wants to buy, the more cotton will sell."

The temperature alone does not always tell the entire story about the weather. To know what clothing we should wear during the cold season we need to know what the "chilling effect" will be on the skin.

We need to know what the Chill Index is. The Chill Index is a chart used to determine the combined effect of the temperature and the wind on the skin.

The Chill Index is known, persons can better protect themselves from the cold before going outside.

The temperature be zero with no wind, a person would not lose heat as rapidly as when the temperature is 20 degrees and the wind is 20 miles per hour. The wind has a tremendous effect of the chilling effect on the actual temperature.

The chart at right is a "Wind Chill Index Table." It shows the approximate temperature along the top of the chart and the approximate wind speed along the left side of the chart.

Following the two numbers into the graph the Chill Index will be listed and will give a better indication of how cold the weather actually is.

December 11 — This has been a beautiful Monday and there's so much to be done while it is pretty weather. We really had a cold week last week - even saw a small amount of snow fall one day. Some days it was even too cold to snow.

We take this means of wishing all our readers a "Wonderful Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

They are generally less appealing in appearance and flavor. The nutritional standards for generic and name brand products are the same. Lu Ann Collins says of education, "Our children are the citizens of tomorrow. We all must do our part to see that they get the best education." This love of the educational world is reflected not only in her viewpoint now as a teacher, but also from the standpoint of when she herself was a student; for she says that "just going to college was an honor."

Of course, we know that Lu Ann got off to a great start by the very fact that she is a graduate of Floydada High School (1972). Her parents, James and Sue Lovell, are teachers in FHS, adding to her educational background. Lu Ann is a graduate of Texas Tech University (1976) and has a B.S. in Education. In college she was on the Dean's List. She is a 1st year teacher at Andrews, where she is Resource Teacher

Steve Herber Returns To Floyd

A new county Extension agent for agriculture has been named for Floyd County, effective February 16.

Stephen R. Herber, currently Crosby County Extension agent, will transfer to Floyd County. He will succeed Doyle G. Warren, who transferred December 1 to Hidalgo County.

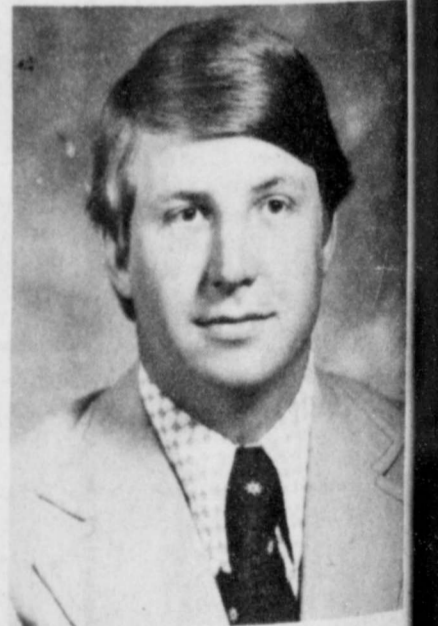

Herber's appointment in Floyd County was announced jointly by Floyd County Judge J.K. Holmes and Billy C. Gunter, district Extension agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Herber was reared on a farm at Texline, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin G. Herber. He was graduated from Texline High School in 1970. He was a member of the National Honor Society and was active in 4-H and FFA.

He attended Panhandle State College and received the B.S. degree in Agricultural Business and Economics from West Texas State University in 1974. At WTSU he was a member of the livestock judging team and was on the dean's list. He completed his M.Ed. degree in Agricultural Education in August 1978 at Texas Tech University.

He joined the Extension Service October 11, 1974, as assistant county agent in Floyd County under Warren. He was named county agent for Crosby County on January 1, 1977.

"Herber provided excellent leadership in Crosby County to the agricultural and 4-H Club programs," Gunter said. He said Herber was particularly effective in working with the Crosby/Floyd County Pest Management Program and the boll weevil diapause program and conducted outstanding result demonstration programs in Crosby County.

During his tenure in Crosby County Herber was chosen as one of the 1977 Outstanding Young Men of America. He is a member of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association, the National Association of County Agricultural Agents and the Crosby Chamber of Commerce.

Herber is married to the former Susan Jan Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Robertson of Crosbyton.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

I would like to send a word of praise first: To all the good women of various churches here who have "dinner for the family" when a death occurs — day of the funeral! Many drive at least 20 miles one way, spend day at church, getting dinner ready, serving, clean up after (from 20 to 120 people eat) in all kinds of weather and with kitchens less convenient than theirs at home. Some even keep table ready after service for folks to "snack and coffee" before the long drive home. One of the nicest courtesies of county and at a time most needed!

Second: How many of the families thus honored in their hour of sorrow ever send a "Thank you" or make a donation to church or church kitchen! An expression of appreciation in any form would let these generous ladies know their work was at least known and acknowledged.

Many of "guests" or "out-of-town" folks, hence never reciprocate". A note in paper might make others aware of this "blessing of Floydada".

Thanks,
 A Reader and grateful Floydadaiter!

WEATHER CUTS PHEASANT HUNTERS

HEREFORD -- The sub-zero temperatures and threats of heavy snow had a chilling affect on Panhandle hunters the first day of pheasant season, but for those hunters willing to face the cold, plenty of birds were bagged.

Cancellations were noted by area motels as down-state hunters decided to call the pheasants hunts off. The temperatures varied from minus-five at Hereford to minus-seven degrees at Dalhart. Pheasant season continues through Dec. 24 and hunters are reminded to wear proper clothing for this type of upland winter hunting in northwest Texas.

New Law May Mean More

Money For Certain Veterans

In early October, shortly before adjournment, the 95th Congress enacted and sent to President Carter a bill entitled "The Veterans and Survivors Pension Improvement Act of 1978". According to D.G. Ayres, Veterans Service Officer for Floyd County, this new law may provide increases in the monthly payments going to certain veterans and their dependents. The new law will apply to veterans who are permanently and totally disabled because of disabilities not related to military service, and to their surviving spouses and dependent children; also to dependent parents of servicemen or veterans whose deaths were the result of military service.
The provision of the new law will go into effect January 1, 1979, and persons who are receiving benefits under any previous law will have the opportunity to change if their payments can be increased. Any election to change to the new law which is made prior to September 30, 1979, will provide increased payments retroactive to January 1, 1979. An election made after September 30, 1979 will pay increased benefits only from the date the signed election is received by the Veterans Administration.
Even though the law has been passed by the Congress, the Veterans Administration has not received any instructions pertaining to the administration of the provisions. The clarifying VA regulations and written instructions probably will not be available until some time after January 1, 1979. All VA pensioners who may wish to explore their entitlement under the new law should contact their local Veterans Service Officer some time after January 1, 1979, for further information.

CATTLE CROSSBREEDING BINGE NEAR END.
The crossbreeding binge in the cattle industry has about run its course, according to an animal geneticist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. While crossbreeding has made valuable contributions to the cattle industry, it will never evolve in a "super breed." Cattle cycles and rapid shifts from one type of animal demanded by the market, to another type, will not permit development of such a breed.

HOLLIES FOR ATTRACTIVE LANDSCAPES -- Shrubs of the Holly family are versatile and attractive for Texas landscapes, contends a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Transplant hollies during their dormant period--late fall through early spring. Container grown nursery plants can be moved any time. When selecting hollies from the native state, remember that only the female is fruit bearing.

New Game Violations Draw Heavy Fines

MIAMI -- Two men, one from Borger and one from Pampa, have been given heavy fines after pleading no contest to 18 counts of possession of wild turkey in closed season.
A Roberts county judge assessed fines totaling $3,663.00 against the two Panhandle residents.
While on patrol two days prior to the legal season for wild turkey, Texas game wardens James Wilson, Perryton, and Roland Williams, Pampa, observed the lights of a slow moving vehicle as it weaved and stopped several times on a local Roberts county ranch.
The wardens stopped the vehicle and blood was observed on both men's boots and hands. Both men were placed under arrest and transported to the Roberts county jail. The trunk of the vehicle contained nine wild turkey gobblers, two shotguns and a rifle.
Further investigations by the two wardens established evidence that the turkeys had been killed on a Hemphill county ranch.
VEGA -- In a separate incident, Texas game wardens Charles Cosper, Hereford, and Stanley Brooks, Dumas, arrested a Sunray couple and a Dumas couple on four counts of hunting deer in closed season and two counts of trespassing.

An Oldham county judge assessed fines of $1,021 against the two men and two women after they pleaded guilty to the charges.
A spotlight working south of the Canadian river alerted the two officers to a possible game violation plus a shot was heard by the officers.
After stopping two women in a vehicle in the same area with no guns or game, the wardens decided to stay in the same area where the shot was heard.
Eventually, the two game violators came up to the patrol vehicle without a gun, spotlight or game. The men were escorted to a Vega jail and the two officers remained near the same area on the river till 3 a.m.

A car drove by the officers, and when it returned, the wardens stopped the vehicle which contained the two women previously contacted. The women told the officers that their husbands had shot a deer earlier in the night.
At dawn, the officers found a buck deer, a rifle and spotlight laying about ten yards from the road in high grass.
Not only were the couples fined for the game violations, but the two women hit a cow enroute back to Dumas to change vehicles which totaled the vehicle used during the game violation.

4-H'ers Give Pointers Coping With Stage Fright

There is no cure-all for stage fright. But there are ways you can channel your nervous tension in useful directions, making it work for you rather than against you, notes Birch Lobban, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
A new members' manual for Missouri young people enrolled in 4-H public speaking projects lists some things to remember about those pre-speech "butterflies."
- First, stage fright is a normal reaction; even experienced speakers are not free from it.
- Your nervousness usually doesn't show as much as you think it does.
- A certain amount of tension is actually desirable; it can help "psych" you up for a speech.
- Minimize stage fright by preparing thoroughly for any public speaking occasion. Plan, research, write and rewrite your speech; then rehearse until you feel comfortable with it.

- Remember, no one is perfect. If you lose your place or train of thought while you are speaking, simply pause, recapture your thoughts and continue. Most people in the audience will pay little attention to your error unless you draw attention to it.
In the national 4-H public speaking program, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Union Oil Company of California, 4-H'ers learn-by-doing to make their voices heard and their thoughts remembered through polished speeches and effective public debate.

Soybean Market Growth Expected

ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI—The next five years will see a sharp and steady growth of soybean markets in the Middle East, according to Ed Quinones, Regional Director of Middle East Programs for the American Soybean Association. Quinones, who heads a market development staff of three headquartered in Madrid, Spain, was the lead speaker in a two-day conference on Agricultural Trading Opportunities in the Middle East, held in St. Louis in conjunction with the dedication of the new ASA World Headquarters in St. Louis on December 5.

The conference was sponsored by the American Soybean Association in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service, the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association and the Mid-American Arab Chamber of Commerce, Chicago, Illinois.

"We've already seen tremendous growth in this market which last year used over $100 million worth of U.S. soybeans and soybean products," Quinones told an audience of over 150 soybean producers, processors and representatives of the livestock and feed industries.

"In the last two years, we have seen an 81 percent increase in Mid-East imports of U.S. soybeans and soybean products," says Quinones pointing out that U.S. soybean exports to the area went from $5.6 million in 1976 to over $100.6 million in 1977. For the first 9 months of 1978, U.S. soy meal exports are three and one-half times greater than the same period last year.

The reasons for this kind of market growth, explains Quinones, are primarily a large and growing population and rapidly rising incomes. Bolstered by increased petroleum revenues, these countries are moving rapidly to upgrade the standard of living. Moreover, financial assistance from the rich countries of the area to the poorer ones is a main feature of Middle Eastern international policy. The funds are being invested in development projects in agriculture, communications and infrastructure, making these nations one of the most attractive places in the world for international businessmen in spite of the hard living and working conditions.

To date, Iran has been the best Middle East customer for U.S. soy oil and meal says Quinones, noting that their imports for 1977 totaled $44 million. "That's almost four times the amount Iran spent on U.S. Soybeans and products just 10 years ago. Iran's economic development is one of the most successful in the world as measured by its high economic growth which is predicted to continue at about 11 percent annually for the foreseeable future."

Egypt, which currently is the second largest importer of U.S. soybeans and products in the Middle East, is another area where Quinones sees a bright future for U.S. exports.

"With a population of 38 million, Egypt will certainly be a major purchaser of food grains and edible oils in the years ahead," says Quinones, noting that new Egyptian trade regulations allow private sectors to trade most commodities.

Morocco, the third largest importer of American soybeans and soy oil, will also be expanding soybean imports.

"With the reopening this year of a government-owned extracting plant and the planned construction of new port facilities, Moroccan imports of U.S. soybeans will increase substantially in the near future," says Quinones.

Last year, Libya imported $5 million worth of soybeans and products and according to Quinones, the Libyans, who are major exporters of light low-sulfur crude oil, are expected to buy steadily this year and in the future. Other Middle East countries Quinones expects to be major customers for U.S. soybeans and soy products include Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Algeria, and Tunisia.

Adding to the increased demand for soybean oil and products in the Middle East, has been stabilization and even decline in production of traditional vegetable oils such as olive oil, cottonseed oil and sesame oil. This has led to increased vegetable oil imports which totaled 500 metric tons in 1973 and will have moved to 1.2 million tons by the end of 1978.

"I am confident the trend to increase demand for high quality vegetable oil will continue as these economies continue to develop," says Quinones. "And although soybean production has increased in the area, it is unlikely that these countries can ever produce the amount of oil and meal necessary to fill the rapidly increasing demand. By 1983, we expect this area to be a net importer of nearly 2 million metric tons of vegetable oil. And a significant share of that will be soy oil."

The outlook for soy oil in the Mid-East is only part of the picture. "Soybean meal demand looks good too," says Quinones, noting that layer and broiler numbers are increasing dramatically.

To demonstrate the dramatic growth in the use of oilseed meals, Quinones points out overall 1975 net imports of oilseed meals in the Middle East totaled 125,000 metric tons. Just three years later, in 1978, those imports have tripled to nearly 400,000 metric tons. And by 1985 Quinones predicts that imports will exceed 2 million metric tons. "Egypt alone is expected to go from 28,000 tons of imported soybean meal in 1975 to 150,000 tons in 1980. This is a direct result of crash programs for poultry development in all of these countries.

Even though the market potential is great in the Middle East, Quinones cautions that American soybean producers can hardly afford to sit back and wait for orders to pour in.

"There is a great deal of competition for this market from Brazil and from other oil sources such as palm oil and rapeseed oil," says Quinones. "And as in any developing area, technical assistance is necessary to show the benefit of soy oil and soy protein in human and animal nutrition."

Developing markets in the Middle East is not without problems admits Quinones. While port facilities are expanding rapidly in the area and vessel unloading has been speeded up, these problem areas are still a barrier to U.S. traders. Communications is a problem for everyone in the Middle East too.

"It makes market development activities especially difficult," says Quinones. In spite of the area's problems, Quinones is extremely optimistic. "The prospects for future growth in the 1980's is spectacular," he says. "As port facilities develop to handle bulk shipment of grain and soybean meal, we can expect large increases in the amount of American soybeans exported to all the Middle East nations."

Jim Wright Keynote Speaker At Crosbyton Solar Ground Breaking Ceremony

LUBBOCK--U.S. House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas will give the keynote address Thursday (Dec. 14) at groundbreaking ceremonies for the Crosbyton Solar Energy Project Analog Design Verification System (ADVS).

Ceremonies will take place at 11 a.m. at the project location two miles south of Crosbyton on Farm Road 651. U.S. Rep. Jack High-tower of Wichita Falls will speak at the event.

High ranking officials of the Department of Energy (DOE) will attend, along with Crosbyton city officials and representatives of Texas Tech University, which holds the DOE contract for designing the project, representatives of E-Systems, Dallas, the primary subcontractor, and other political and industry leaders.

Roy K. Furr Jr., vice chairman of the Texas Tech Board of Regents, will speak for the university.

DOE representatives will include Deputy Director Bennett Miller, Dr. Howard S. Coleman, deputy director for Solar Technology, and, from Albuquerque, D.K. Nowlin, director of the Special Programs Division, Technical Projects Officer George Pappas and E.L. Harley. Dr. George Rhodes, formerly technical projects officer, also will attend.

A brief reception will take place at 10 a.m. in Crosbyton's Pioneer Memorial Building, and dignitaries will proceed together to the groundbreaking site.

The ADVS is scheduled for completion next November, with testing and analysis to continue through March 1980, according to Project Director John D. Reichert of Texas Tech's electrical engineering faculty.

"The ADVS will include the largest single solar collector ever built," he said in referring to the 65-foot mirror-surfaced dish designed to collect and focus the sun's rays. That dish is only a test facility, however, for the ten 200-foot solar gridirons proposed eventually for the Crosbyton project.

"Results and data from the ADVS," Reichert said,

"will be used for the final design of the 5 megawatt solar-thermal-electric plant for Crosbyton.

The DOE and Texas Tech are working with a $2.5 million contract for additional study and construction of the ADVS. The final system is being designed to supply electricity for the town of Crosbyton, a city of about 2,500 residents.

One of the major purposes of the ADVS is to give engineers and scientists an opportunity to study the properties of the steam the system produces.

The receiver for the system is designed as a spiraling pipe wrapped around a cylinder that moves so as to stay in a line coinciding with the line of focus of the sun's rays. Water in the pipe would be converted to steam, and the steam would exist at about 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The steam derived from the heated water would drive a turbine to produce electricity.

Eventually, if feasibility studies indicate the usefulness of full-scale construction for the system, Crosbyton would have a hybrid solar-fossil fuel system.

The Crosbyton Project is the only one of its kind in the nation and only one of two based on similar concepts in the world. The other, based on a much smaller scale system, is in France. A tour of Mrs. George Mae Ericson's solar home, which began at 1:30 p.m., will depart from the Pioneer Memorial Building in Crosbyton. Transportation will be furnished for any who care to tour the home, located about 13 miles from the town.

Rancher Cooperation Still Vital In Screwworm Control

Although colder weather should slow activities of native wild screwworm fly populations in the weeks ahead, livestock producers should continue their vigilance in checking their wounds found in their livestock, reminds Birch Lobban, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Inspect wounds, collect larvae samples, and treat wounds" are still the key words in the continuing battle against screwworms in the Southwest, adds Lobban.

As of November 17, Texas had recorded 1,213 positive cases of screwworms in livestock and household pets located in slightly over 100 counties. Most of the counties affected are in the Trans-Pecos and far West Texas areas, although some do exist in the area where flies traditionally are known to overwinter.

"Ranchers should continue submitting worm samples, since this is a critical aspect of the program. Worm samples are the primary way to gauge infestation levels, and officials of the Screwworm Eradication Program use this level as a guide in distributing flies most effectively," explains Lobban. Additionally, ranchers were urged to postpone shepherding management practices as dehorning until cold weather really arrives. Producers should treat surgery wounds and other wounds with approved insecticides to prevent screwworm infestation and help heal the wounds.

Texas livestock owners along with those from Arizona, New Mexico, California and other southwestern states, participated in "Screwworm Watch" campaign in 1978, and are urged to continue their efforts in the coming year. Hardest during the current year were Arizona cattlemen with 4,262 positive cases confirmed thus far. New Mexico producers have recorded 1,415 confirmed cases, and California has cases confirmed in laboratory tests this year.

Weather had a major influence on the screwworm eradication program this year, the county agent added, so producer cooperation is a high priority for the coming months.

IT IS A BIG "PLUS" FOR CHILDREN if they grow up in an environment where skills of quality decision making are practiced. Jenny Reinhardt, family education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

SOIL TEST NOW, REAP BENEFITS LATER

Floydada - The most difficult part of soil testing is finding the time to take the samples. Now, while most crops are being harvested, farmers should take soil samples so they can get a head start on the 1979 crop year.

County Extension Agent Birch Lobban has mentioned that it is just as important for farmers to resample and test fields as it is for those who have never tested their soils at all.

Soils that were tested five or ten years ago provided farmers with recommended fertilizer rates for optimum profit based on soil fertility levels of the individual fields at that time. According to Agent Lobban, however, these test values may have increased or decreased so that old recommendations no longer fit field and crop conditions. Farmers who use fertilizer successfully have their fields tested every two to five years. This allows for the detection of declines as well as excessive build-ups. If a field is used for intensive production, a soil test should be run more often. This recommendation also applies for fields with special problems.

Better soil management may have elevated soil fertility levels. If this is the case, a soil test will indicate the need for less fertilizer. If yields below those expected were obtained, an increase in fertilizer application may be needed.

Soil tests cost only a fraction of what is spent on fertilizer application. It is probably the best investment a producer will make. Money spent on the wrong fertilizer could result in less net profit for 1979.

Anyone interested in soil tests can obtain information sheets to accompany samples, instructions for sampling, and mailing cartons at any County Extension. The Floyd County office is in the Agricultural Building and the phone number is 983-2806.

What Makes Them Run? 20 min. Color. 1975. International Film Bureau. JH-A An introduction for most Americans to a new, unique European sport that could become popular in this country -- orienteering. Using compasses and a map that roughly indicates the course, individuals of all ages set out on foot in a wilderness area to reach the finish line in the fastest time.

STRETCH WINTER PASTURES--A good system of grazing management can help stretch winter pastures, says a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A simple rotation grazing system with two or more pastures is the easiest system to start from a management standpoint. For more intensive movement, a type of limited grazing may be a good choice. This involves grazing different classes of animals for different periods of time, such as several hours a day or every other day. Livestock will become trained to the type of grazing management selected.
