Sunday Church Services Varied

The Sunday, December 24 morning church services in the First United and First Baptist churches have been set at 10 a.m. There will be no Sunday School at either church and no evening services.
FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
On Christmas Eve, December 24, from 5:30 to 7:30 the First Christian Church will have an informal communication service in the sanctuary. This special service is to be a time of personal meditation and everyone who is interested is invited to attend. There will also be the regular worship services held at the church at eleven o'clock that morning.

CATHOLIC MASS
On Sunday morning Mass will be observed as usual in Lockney at nine o'clock and in Floydada at 11:30. Then on Sunday at midnight, Christmas Eve, Mass will be observed in Floydada only at the St. Mary Magdalen Church. On Christmas day, Mass will be observed in Lockney at 9 a.m. and in Floydada at 11:30.

My Most Memorable Christmas

By Annie Taylor

The Christmas that I remember most was when I was a little girl about eleven years old. We lived on a farm, and there were many evergreen trees. My oldest brother cut a tall tree that reached almost to the ceiling. On Christmas Eve we decorated the tree. It was very beautiful and the prettiest that I had ever seen.

When night came we went to bed early, so Santa Claus would not be disturbed when he came down the chimney. On Christmas morning everyone was out of bed early waiting to see what Santa had brought them. When I got to the living room door I could see my doll, seemingly she was looking directly at me. I was so excited and happy. She was a large doll about two feet high. She had blonde Shirley Temple curls, real eye lashes, eyes that could open and close, movable joints and a very pretty face. I also had a set of china doll dishes with rose colored flowers and a puzzle map of the United States. We had fruit, candy and nuts.

My three brothers and five sisters looked at their gifts. We had much fun throughout the day playing and feast-ings. I shall always remember that Christmas.

Ron Darr New Case Power Manager

Ron Darr assumed the managership of Case Power and Equipment in Floydada this week and will soon move his family here....as soon as he can find a house.
Ron has been with Case some 18 years. He was sales manager in the Lubbock office and prior to that, was district manager for the state of Kansas and Illinois. His first employment with Case was in St. Louis, Missouri.

He is a native of Southeast Missouri.
The Darrs have a daughter, Perry, nine years of age.
"We look forward to getting acquainted with the people of the Floydada community and we're beginning a Case sale in our advertisement in this edition of The Hesperian", Ron concluded.

Postmaster Wester said, he would like to express his thanks, for the Employees in Floydada, to everyone for your splendid cooperation during a busy season, but yet, one of the happiest during the year. He said, "You can't beat good ole Floyd County people when it comes to cooperation, working together, or helping their neighbors get a task done. We hope that we, as your U.S. Postal Servant, have given you this same type service. Thank you, and Merry Christmas."

THIS IS FRIDAY MORNING

THIS IS FRIDAY MORNING and for the last two weeks the days have just been long enough for yours truly.... picked up a little Christmas spirit at church last Sunday, picked up some ones as I shot pictures of the Christmas grams at Duncan Elementary.....
I surely look forward to Saturday, today and Monday with my family.....
I can't really expect much peace and quiet as our five children....and their friends come home.
However, this is a big part of the enjoyment of the Christmas spirit. Mary and I wish you all a pleasant and cheerful holiday.....and the greatest Christmas gift of all.....the love and kindness of the spirit of Jesus Christ.

Senior Citizens "Open House" New Kitchen

"Oink! Oink! Didn't run fast enough to outrun those Senior Citizens!" Some 59 members, 7 new members and 32 visitors met at the Senior Center Thursday, December 21 for their Christmas dinner. A delicious meal of baked ham, fried chicken and all the trimmings was enjoyed by those present.

An enjoyable program consisting of religious songs and Christmas carols was brought by Mrs. LaVada Garrett, Myria Dade, Annie

Taylor, Corine Jones, Goldie Jacobs, and Mr. and Mrs.
Jim Fullingim.
We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Abernathy of Plainview, Betty Shannon, Ginny Ferebee, and Peg Robinson of Lubbock—with

SENIOR CITIZENS celebrated Christmas and the opening of the new

us. All of these have been instrumental in helping us plan and receive money to establish the Senior Center as it is today.
To all our friendly Floydada merchants, civic clubs, and individuals who have been so generous and helpful in our drive for our Building Fund, in those contributing so generously to our Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale either in bringing materials or in buying them; to those who have donated food for our special dinners, we say a very big "Thank You", A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to each of you.
The next meeting will be January 18, 1979.

Christmas is a spirit, and the spirit of Christmas is PEACE.
Christmas is a gladness, and the gladness of Christmas is HOPE.
Christmas is a heart, and the heart of Christmas is LOVE.
Christmas is an experience, and the experience of Christmas is giving.
Christmas is a celebration, and the celebration of Christmas is Christ confessed and adored...

SOME PEOPLE HAVE a knack for fitting into a conversation after a few opening remarks, but most of us have difficulty when it comes to offering a happy opening ourselves.

Well, help has arrived. After years of helpful compilation, here are a few things we can say to get the conversation started, and maybe even make you the center of attention:
"I just got my electricity bill and it was for $10.50."
"My 17-year-old son has been given a driving award."
"I just got a notice from my insurance company that my rates for next year will be reduced."
"I voted for Richard Nixon."
"Farah Fawcett-Majors needs to put on weight."
"I voted for Dolph Briscoe."
"You can make money on $2 wheat."
"I like Jimmy Carter's smile."
"I went to the library yesterday instead of watching the Dallas cowboys."
"I don't care whether my bathroom floor is soft or not."
"I think Barbara Walters is worth $1 million."
"I can't wait until I'm 40."
"My son in college came home for Christmas with money still in his bank account."
" My aunt in Chicago, Ill., mailed me a package two days ago and it arrived yesterday."
"I like the smell of cigar smoke."
"I really love the winters in the Texas hills."
" My cousin had a sex-change operation, and she's still a lousy tennis player."
" I get paid for a 40-hour week, but I work more hours because I like my job."
" Sure we need a tax increase. They should add it right into our house payments so it won't hurt anybody."

Becomings
By Duffy

Somewhere very near the heart of human existence is a hint, an image of refrain, a restless yet undefined first rustling of the beginning of song.

This spontaneous, yet unconscious craving for concert, this impetus which seeks to move toward the form of tune, is that which provides the basic energy, the basic life force which thrills each of us toward living....But the notes often remain jumbled and in discord, and dance, impossible.
Still the longing continues and we try to somehow form the symphony we instinctively know should but does not always exist.

Some choose to disregard the impulse to music and rechannel efforts into acquiring power, prestige or wealth. Lyrics are rewritten to a pseudo-tune of meaning.
Others seem to ignore the cry for song and live unthinkingly; some unlovingly, ignoring the soaring vibrations which long to unite us into an orchestra capable of sounding the song of Being. These vibrations contribute to holiday meaning, meaning that is not to be found in fortis-simo hustle and bustle, but in the pianissimo rustle behind the hustle....in the inherent but by-passed instruments of sharing which lie at the base of all human encounter....in the music which can swell from this concert of human encounter in oneness with the gift of God manifest in the man, Jesus, and fill the world with the sound of God, the sound of love.

season may be the present but its late to enjoy THE THAT WON THE by Jonah Kalb. were the kind of confidence-in the team. And why their uniforms didn't the baseman was 30 overweight, the cat- didn't stand the pit- a typical score was 4-Blazers 0. They were a team of oddballs and misfits who yukked it up and didn't even try to win. Coach Paul Venuti had an idea that just wouldn't go away; winning is always more fun than losing. Always. So he put it to them. Why not give it a try? Adapting the true biz- arre events of the 1908 "Fred Merkle" goof to the Blazer's last game, Jonah Kalb spins a fast and funny tale about a team that had nowhere to go but up. FARM & RANCH NEWS

First Summit: "An Historic First"

College Station, Texas -- "I view this as an historic moment when at long last the major segments of U.S. agriculture have come together to address problems that are common to us all."

Hendricks, a dairy farmer from Bloomfield, Iowa, concluded the first National Farm Summit here at Texas A&M University. Hendricks, who served as Chairman of the Conference, is immediate past Chairman of the Agriculture Council of America which co-sponsored the conference with Texas A&M.

More than 800 representatives of all segments of U.S. agriculture attended the three-day gathering which featured task force presentations and findings that were developed by top agricultural leaders during the past six months.

Featured speakers included U.S. Senator Bob Dole (R-Kan.), former Texas Governor John Connally, and Lynn Daft, a top advisor to President Carter.

Among major recommendations made at the Summit was a proposal for the development of a Washington D.C. based forum which would serve to bring together all of the major farm and commodity groups and other groups within the food system to discuss policy issues on a continuing basis. This recommendation came from a task force report on "Agriculture's Role in Government Decisions" chaired by Dr. John Kramer, Associate Dean of the Georgetown University Law Center.

The packed sessions included lively give and take discussion among a diverse group which has never assembled for these purposes. Participation ranged from individuals farmers to top officials of major agribusiness companies, economists and university administrators, farm and commodity organizations, and banking community, major U.S. trading partners, and spokesmen for Congress, the White House and U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The year 1979 will see substantial changes in the internal workings of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., thanks to by-laws amendments recently adopted by unanimous vote of the organization's Board of Directors.

The Board has expressed its expectation that the changes will help to assure a continuation of a strong, effective organization keenly sensitive to the needs of its members.

The High Plains cotton producers and cotton-related businessmen who make up the PCG membership, according to the Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, will feel the first effects of the new by-laws as counties begin holding meetings to elect PCG Directors.

PCG has two directors from each of its 25 High Plains counties, one a cotton producer and the other an agribusinessman who may be, and often is, a cotton producer as well. Directors are elected on alternate years in individual county meetings. Most counties in 1979 will be electing producer directors.

Since 1956 when PCG was organized all producers and businessmen present at a county meeting could take part in the election process. All were eligible to vote and all were eligible for election as a director. But such will not be the case at election meetings to be held in early 1979.

Under the new by-laws only producers and businessmen who are current dues-paying PCG members will be eligible to vote or serve as directors.

Producer dues to PCG are 15 cents per bale, with collections made at participating gins. There is also an established dues schedule for gins, oil mills, compresses and banks. Other businessmen pay dues based on the size of their respective operations. Business dues are paid direct to the PCG office in Lubbock.

"By making dues payment a prerequisite to helping elect directors or serving as directors," Johnson explains, "the Board intends to assure that PCG policy and especially the disposition of PCG funds will be determined by the members who provide those funds."

Another result of the amended by-laws will be a change in the makeup and size of the Board's Executive Committee.

Cotton Prices Steady To Lower

High Plains cotton prices were steady to $1.50 per bale lower the week ended December 14, 1978 according to Paul R. Dickson, Area Director at USDA's Marketing Services Office in Lubbock.

Gins paid growers $115 to $130 per ton for cottonseed. High Plains marketing Services Offices graded 285,000 samples this week, bringing this season's total to 683,000. This compares to 2,368,000 graded by December 15 last year.

amounted to 35 percent and grade 52 was 12 percent. Fifteen percent were reduced one grade because of bad weather, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. Staple lengths were mostly in the desirable 3.5 - 4 range at 76 percent of the total. Twenty-three percent was lower.

Thank Goodness For Snakes, They Are Friend Of Man

Thank goodness for snakes. Those who suffer from herpetophobia--the fear of snakes--will be dubious, but the truth is that snakes are very helpful creatures, according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

poisonous and harmless snakes are a special friend of the farmer, says the children's monthly published by the National Wildlife Federation. All snake venoms are comprised of enzymes that attack a bitten victim's nerves, blood, or muscles. Scientists are now able to isolate some of these enzymes to fight disease. Cobroxin, an enzyme from cobra venom, is a powerful painkiller for patients suffering from arthritis, cancer, leprosy.

Venom from a snake called Russell's viper is used to treat hemophilia, a blood plasma defect that prevents normal clotting. On the other hand, says Ranger Rick, an enzyme from another viper venom helps dissolve blood clots that can cause heart attacks and strokes.

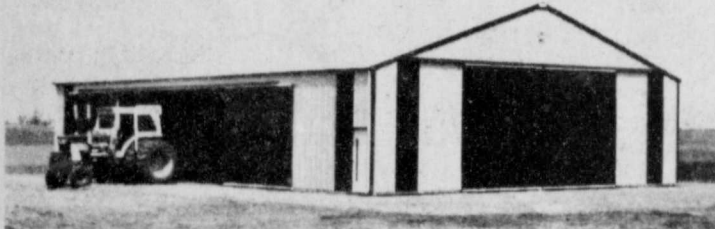

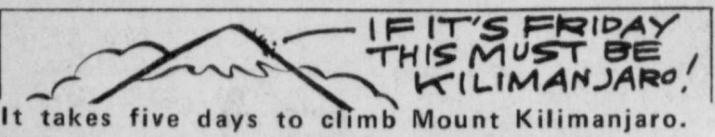

Previously all PCG past presidents automatically became members of this committee. There was no limitation on their terms or on the number that might serve on the committee at any one time.

The new by-laws specify that only the two immediate past presidents shall automatically hold Executive Committee membership. PCG presidents are limited to two consecutive one-year terms, thus the new provision means each past president will serve on the committee only four years after retirement unless re-elected a director from his county and re-elected to the committee by the Board.

The remainder of the Executive Committee, as before, will be made up of the three current elected PCG officers (President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer) plus six others elected by and from the Board.

While some poisonous snakes help fight disease about 210 of the world's 2,600 species are poisonous others help fight crime. Like watchsnakes. A gas station owner in Virginia employs six-foot boa constrictor patrol his station after hours. He hasn't had any trouble with prowlers lately. And at a jewel exhibit in Stockholm, Sweden, three of the world's deadliest snakes were put inside the display case which held the "Star of Lanka," a gem then valued at $429,000. No burglar alarms were needed.

OBITUARIES

Paul Looney

Services for Ervin Paul Looney, 51, of 3605 63rd Drive, a central figure in recent gas rate hearings as rate analyst for the City of Lubbock were at 2 p.m. Saturday at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

Dr. William R. Fleming, pastor, and the Rev. Elton Wyatt, associate pastor, officiated.

Burial with military honors followed in Resthaven Memorial Park under direction of the Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home.

Looney died at about 3:30 a.m. Thursday at his home of an apparent heart attack. Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy ruled the death of natural causes.

Looney had been a city employee since March, 1969, when he retired as an Air Force finance officer and started work here as internal auditor until he was appointed to the newly created position of rate analyst about a year ago.

Born Sept. 2, 1927, in Floydada, he grew up in Floydada and attended East Texas University at Commerce before entering the Army Air Corps during World War II. He continued with the Air Force after the war and retired as a captain in 1969 at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

Looney was a member of the St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

An active member of the Democratic Party, he had attended the past three state Democratic conventions.

Survivors include his wife, Maxine; three daughters, Linda, Celia and Teresa, all of Lubbock; two sons, Paul and Jack, both of Lubbock; and three brothers, Joe and Lynn, both of Albuquerque, N.M.; and Pete of Ralls.

Kyle C.

(Choc) Tye

Local relatives have received word of the death of Kyle C. (Choc) Tye. The 76 year old Haskell County native moved to Floydada in 1911 with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Goldsmith Tye, where he was taught the skill of barbering by Warnie Hilton. He barbered in Floydada many years then in Albuquerque, New Mexico for some time. He worked aboard a luxury liner for many years, then in Hermosa Beach, California until his retirement.

Tye was killed instantly December 19 when struck by a motor cyclist in a pedestrian crosswalk in San Bernardino, California, where he made his home with a sister, Florence (Pete) Moses.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Lil Haines of Kilaga Springs, California; Mrs. Lola D. (Dack) McCleskey of Lubbock and Mrs. Moses of San Bernardino; two brothers, Jim Tye of Kermit and Don Tye of Arleta, Calif. He was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers, Les Tye, Frank Tye, of Amarillo, and Orb Tye of Floydada. He is also survived by many nieces and nephews. Local ones include Bill and Jim Tye, Betty Simpson, and Carolyn Marble of South Plains.

Remember your loved ones and friends with a memorial to Lockney General Hospital Memorial Fund. These memorials go toward equipment to help serve our community in the best way possible.

PIANO STUDENTS of Elaine Hardy presented a Christmas program Tuesday afternoon at the Lockney Care Center. Instead of sending Christmas cards to Lockney friends, the people whose names are listed on this page have given donations to the 11 Pensezoso Junior Study Club scholarship fund.
 This is an annual club project.
