Next Tuesday, April 3, is the final day for persons to vote absentee in Floydada Independent School District, City of Floydada, and Caprock Hospital elections.

Absentee school ballots may be cast in the central office, 208 South Main. City hall is the site for both city and hospital elections.

Three candidates are vying for two vacancies on the Floydada school board. They are incumbents Travis Jones and Lawrence Stovall, along with Weldon Pruitt.

The same situation exists for two places on the city council. Richard Bertrand, Wayne Russell, and Jerry Thompson have placed their names on the ballot. Thompson and Russell are present officeholders.

Mayor Parnell Powell is unopposed for re-election.

A trio of vacancies on the Caprock Hospital board are to be filled. Candidates are: Jo Wester, Laron Fulton, William Bertrand, Donald Bean, and Louis Anderson. Terms of Bertrand and Fulton expire, and Sammy Hale is retiring.

1968-69 FHS Exchange Student

Kally Revisits 'Second Home'

"I'm just...having a tremendous time. It doesn't seem like 10 years!" These were Kally Kneale's sentiments Monday evening after "coming home"....or at least coming back to her "second home": Floydada.

The American Field Service exchange student to Floydada for the 1968-69 school year — when she was hosted by the Fred Martin family — arrived early Monday in Ralls, where she was met by her "adopted grandparents": Mark and Matt Martin.

Miss Kneale will remain in the Martin home, 517 West Tennessee, until early this (Thursday) morning when she will travel to Lubbock, board a plane and be on the way to her native Australia.

A 1969 graduate of Floydada High School, she visited former teachers during her stay here and accepted an invitation to speak briefly Tuesday to a seventh grade class.

SHORT VISIT

She explains to local friends that "it hasn't worked to stay longer," although she desired more time to visit in Floydada. She must report for work Monday.

The personable exchange student here 10 years ago left Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 20 "on a combination holiday and working trip." Now a geologist with a Brisbane geological firm, she "had an opportunity to visit mines in South America: Peru and Bolivia."

This provided her with an excellent opportunity to visit her "second home" because "strangely it was cheaper to fly from Australia to South America and then to the United States" than to travel directly from her native land to South America. She studied mines in six localities.

In the Lone Star State she visited with Dwayne Martin — the Fred Martins' son — in San Antonio. Then she went to Abilene for a visit with Mrs. Martins' mother, Mrs. Minnie Smart, before returning to Floydada to renew acquaintances with Mark and Matt Martin, of whom she appears to be most fond.

The Fred Martins now reside in South Africa.

After returning from her one year to the United States, Miss Kneale studied and taught in high school two years near Brisbane. One year of fulltime studies enabled her to "finish a science degree" at the University of Queensland in 1973.

The following year she joined the geological company for whom she has since been employed as a geologist.

Kally Kneale hopes it is not 10 years before her next visit to Floydada. "With cheaper air fare now," she hopes to return for a more lengthy visit to her "second home."

Lions' Radio Day And Broom Sale Slated Saturday

Saturday will be a red letter day for Floydada Lions Club. It also will be a busy day.

The Lions are planning both their radio day and broom sale for this Saturday, March 31. Each event tentatively is scheduled from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Controls of radio station KFLP are to be turned over the Lions all day Saturday. A host of uncanny antics can be expected at 900 on the dial when the Lions stage their traditional radio day.

At the same time, other Lions will be offering such items as brooms, mops, and other household products. The broom sale is to be headquartered on the courthouse square.

"You may also phone any Lions Club member and give them your order, and you may have them deliver to your home or place of business," officials note. Persons may phone Fred Thaxton, 983-2529, for advance orders.

Thaxton and Ed Wester are co-chairmen of the broom sale.

Products offered through the broom sale are manufactured by blind persons as a means of self-support.

David Seay is chairman of the radio day. Lions will be announcing and reading advertisements as well as being disc jockeys throughout the day.

Bob Copeland, second vice president of Floydada Lions Club, is general chairman for the day.

He points out that total proceeds will go to Lions Club community projects such as: crippled children's camp, diabetes camp, eye bank, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, eye glasses for local needy, youth baseball, and "various other worthwhile projects."

State Changes Ruling On Dougherty Election . . . Again!

A letter dated March 6, 1979, from the Secretary of State's office informed A.O. Dennington that all seven trustees on the Dougherty School board of education would have to be re-elected this year. The reason was because the school was being changed from a common to an independent district. Ballots were printed. Dennington, administrative officer of Dougherty Schools, now has received a letter from the Secretary of State's office rescinding the previous order. Trustees whose terms were not re-scheduled to expire this year may complete their regular terms.

Confusing? It is to residents of the Dougherty School District. James Cage (board president), Billy Don Colston (secretary), Kenneth Robertson, and Larry Bostick now will continue to serve their original terms.

The three trustees whose terms were due for completion were Lance Poole, Richard Ward, and Ricky Pennell. Poole is the only one of the trio to file for re-election.

The other two vacancies must be filled by write-ins.

Fowler has many achievements during his 40 years as a country-gospel singer. He has performed in the smallest cow-pastures in Alabama and the smallest churches in Georgia to the coliseum in Long Beach, Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden in New York City.

He has had numerous appearances on TV, radio and stage, including more than 100 benefit shows in the State of Texas and a one-hour stage show at the Texas State Sheriff's Annual Conference and Banquet for the fourth straight year.

Fowler and his group have appeared in May 1976 and 1977 at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. His "benefit show" has been endorsed by the National Fraternal Order of Police (FOP).

Pat Stark, national president of the FOP states: "I believe Wally Fowler is honest and sincere. He and his show

Miss Muncy, Giesecke Vows Pledged Saturday

MRS. MICHAEL LELAND GIESECKE

The First Baptist Church in Floydada was the scene Saturday at 7 o'clock p.m. for the wedding of Miss Penny Michelle Muncy and Michael Leland Giesecke. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of Floydada High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Muncy of Floydada. She attended Angelo State University for two and a half years. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Giesecke of Floydada, is also a Floydada High graduate and received his BBA degree from Angelo State University in the Spring of 1978. He is employed at Kelsay-Blacklock Chevrolet in Brownfield where the couple will be at home following a wedding trip to Hawaii.

Mrs. Bill Hardin, aunt of the bride, organist, and Mrs. Bob Copeland, pianist, provided wedding music and accompanied Bobbie Miller, soloist, as he sang "The Wedding Prayer," "Wither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

As wedding guests entered the church foyer, their names were secured in the bridal book by Elizabeth Farris of Ft. Worth.

The choir loft held tall arrangements of commodore palms and the wedding scene was flanked with brass arched candelabra decorated with arrangements of candlelight stock, ivory colored glads and starburst pom mums with garlands of English ivy runners. Hurricane candelabra decorated in English ivy runners formed the entrance to the wedding scene. The Bridal aisle was decorated in hurricane candelabra with candlelight decorations and English ivy fronds.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of ivory chiffon fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline edged in alencon lace. The empire bodice was heavily encrusted with lace and seed pearls. The A-line skirt flowed into a chapel length train. The headpiece was a chiffon bandeau with two flowing panels of waltz length chiffon. She carried a white "Mother of Pearl" Bible, bought for her in The Holy Land by her paternal Grandmother Mrs. Robert Muncy. The Bible was covered with a cascade bouquet of miniature rosebuds and stephanotis showered with ivory satin ribbon and miniature English ivy garlands. She wore her mother's wedding band for "something old" and her wedding attire was "something new". "Something borrowed" was a linen handkerchief and the traditional blue garter. She wore an English sixpence and pennies with birthdates of the bride and groom in her shoes.

Pamela Muncy, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Ellen Bradley, Waco, Elaine Giesecke, sister of the groom, San Angelo, and Rosemary Hardin, cousin of the bride, Plainview, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of seafoam green poly chiffon and knit. The modified bodice featured spaghetti straps and off-the-shoulder necklines. Venice lace encircled the entire neckline. A double flounce fell over the shoulders and fell to a gentle floatback just below the waistline. Slightly full A-line skirts fell to floor length from the empire waist. They carried votive lights decorated in candlelight satin and ivory miniature spider mums and showered with garlands of English ivy fronds. Each wore a sprig of stephanotis in her hair.

Kimm Dillard and Britt Gordon, cousins of the bride and both of Lubbock were candle lighters and Shane Dillard, also a cousin, was the ring bearer.

Groomsmen included R.L. Giesecke, father of the groom, as best man, Ray Evans, Lubbock, Jimmy Parker, Canyon, and Gary Yeates, Brownfield. Ushers were Mike Hatley, Lubbock and Randall Weems, Floydada.

The bride's mother wore a long dress of steel blue and the groom's mother wore a long dress of tan with shoulder corsages of cymbidium orchids to complement their dresses. Corsages also complemented the dresses of Grandmothers, Mrs. Robert Garrett and Mrs. Robert Muncy of Floydada and Mrs. C.W. Giesecke of Lubbock.

To complement her going-away attire, the bride chose a shoulder corsage of ivory rosebuds and stephanotis.

A reception given by the bride's parents was held in the First Baptist Church parlor. Attendants at the bride's table were DeAun Wilson, Floydada, Linda Loeffler, Junction, and Kara Copeland of Floydada. The bridal table was covered with an ecru lace cloth. A three-tiered ivory wedding cake decorated with candlelight and seafoam silk flowers was centered on a large table with a silver punch bowl with mint punch and light green mints. A silver epergne with ivory candles, ecru stock and miniature candlelight spider mums was the centerpiece.

Silver candlesticks with jade tapers framed a bouquet of ivory and jade silk flowers on the groom's table. Serving coffee and chocolate cake from silver appointments were Mrs. Jimmy Parker, Canyon and Andrea Yeates, Lubbock.

Assisting in the house-party were Mrs. Laron Fulton, Mrs. Howard Bishop, Mrs. Max Dyess, Mrs. Floyd Bradley, all of Floydada,

Lockney Clinic Addition Revealed

Dr. Gary Mangold Will Join Father On Hospital Staff

H. E. Frizzell, chairman of the board of Lockney General Hospital District, and D. M. Cogdell Jr., chairman of the board of Martha Ann Cogdell Hospital Trust, announce the gift of $150,000 by the Cogdell Trust to the Lockney hospital district.

These funds are to be used for expanding the clinic facilities of Lockney General Hospital.

Members of the advisory board of the Cogdell Hospital Trust are: Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cogdell Jr. of Floyd County, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Cogdell and Mrs. E. A. Birdwell of Briscoe County.

Size of the planned clinic addition is 4,118 square feet. Plans call for the structure to be added to the north and west of the present clinic building.

According to Gayle Fortenberry, hospital administrator, an application for certificate of need is now in Austin for approval by the Texas Health Facilities Commission. A copy of the plan is at South Plains Health Systems Agency in Lubbock.

The state commission bases its approval on recommendations by the area health systems agency.

Approval is expected by April 27, and construction "will begin as soon as possible." Estimated completion time is six months, Mrs. Fortenberry said.

If plans are approved, the present clinic area would be converted to office space, making room for offices now located in the hospital basement. The medical records, book-keeping and regular insurance offices would be moved "upstairs."

The administrator's and business manager's offices would be relocated in the new portion. This would allow more waiting room space in the hospital lobby, officials note.

The clinic lab and x-ray department would be expanded 12 feet to the north.

The new facilities would make it possible to bring two more doctors into the Lockney clinic, according to Frizzell.

One of the new physicians will be Dr. Gary Mangold, who is scheduled to begin his practice in Lockney "even before the new clinic is completed."

Dr. Mangold, a son of Lockney General Hospital Chief of Staff Dr. W. J. Mangold and Mrs. Mangold, is to complete his three-year residency in family practice June 30 at John Peter Smith Hospital. He expects to open his Lockney practice July 1.

Primer Iglesia Bautista Revival To Start Friday

The Primer Iglesia Bautista, located at Third and Shurbert in Floydada, will be having revival services March 30 and 31 and April 1 at 8 p.m. "Everyone is cordially invited to come and listen to the word of God preached by a dynamic man of God, Rev. Robert Smith of Levelland," church members said.

Rev. Smith is the oldest of seven brothers, five of whom are in the Lord's service as preachers.

"Rev. Smith started his ministry in a small church with three families", official state, adding: "Since then the Lord has blessed them in such a way that the little church has moved to Levelland where the Sunday School attendance has reached the 250 mark."

Rev. Smith has also sponsored a radio program for 10 years. He and his wife have four children.

HAVE A GOOD WEEK

R-E-S-P-E-C-T

by Suzanne Dyess
[Reprinted from the WHIRL]

Respect is an ancient tradition which, ideally, is bestowed upon a culture's authoritative members because they have the experience and knowledge that others lack.

However, a few students at FHS seem to regard respect as an archaic and no longer applicable term.

There have been several instances recently where students have made, in my opinion, embarrassing spectacles of themselves in front of a classroom. These students continued to ignore requests by the teachers to do as they were told. In the end, the teachers had no alternative but to erupt in a rage, much to the obvious delight of the disruptive students.

These outbursts are not only frustrating for the teachers—they are irritating to the remainder of the class. This type of unruly behavior shows a lack of self-control on the part of the students.

It is up to the pupils to bridle their tempers and realize that teachers are the symbols of authority in our school. Until this is achieved, the degree of understanding between students and teachers will suffer.

SEEKING A BUSINESS?

Would you like to have a business which provides tremendous public service and staggering profit potential?

A business which provides services and supplies universally needed by farmers?

A business which requires an investment of only "wheels", high intelligence, (or bull-dog determination) and sufficient financial status to "operate" as you learn.

A business for which 14 years of farm-sized proof is available to use in persuading your neighbors that they can farm more profitably by making a few simple, low-investment changes in their soil management practices?

A business with the evidence from carefully conducted controlled tests right in Floyd County to use in persuading? Evidence of net profit increase on soybeans of $40 an acre; on cotton, of $72 an acre? Evidence that your neighbors can return their soils to the levels of fertility which formerly produced 1.5 bales of dry-land cotton with only 13 inches of rain?

Floyd County farmers need the help of the person or group which can implement FERTIMAX soil-management. Send your references, name and address to

Local Educators Attend TSTA 100th Anniversary Celebration

Texas State Teachers Association recently held its 100th annual state convention in Houston. The convention marked the beginning of the observance of TSTA's 100th birthday anniversary. The Association originated with a meeting of 40 teachers at Mexia on June 25, 1880. TSTA's 100th birthday observance will be concluded with the March, 1980 state convention in Fort Worth, except for a special program on June 28, 1980 for the dedication of a historical marker in Mexia.

Three teachers from the Floydada Local TSTA Association attended the three day meeting. Tom Powell represented the local group as a voting delegate. Mrs. Sue Lovell, who is a member of the State Human Relations Committee, and Mrs. Lu Ann Collins also attended. Mrs. Lovell served as one of four members on the State Certification Commission. Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. Collins served on the committee for the drawing of a marker from the local area to be applied to the convention site for the drawing of a marker with policies of

Are You Ready To Invest In Real Estate?

[Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of five articles on real estate investments.]

"Before investing in any asset, an individual should determine his emotional and financial readiness to invest," advises Dr. Richard Floyd, real estate economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"This willingness and ability will be determined by the individual's values, emotions and financial status."

People invest because they seek alternative forms of money storage, points out Floyd. Over time, people's wants and needs change. Therefore, additional resources may be required to meet these desires. Investment is a method of generating additional income.

The economist poses a number of questions that an individual should be able to answer before investing in an asset such as real estate:

—Do you have adequate insurance? Insurance needs vary according to family size, age distribution, financial goals and exposure to risk.

—Do you have sufficient emergency funds? An untimely cash outlay can force liquidation of assets, resulting in substantial losses.

—Can you accept risk, and how much? Risk-taking is a part of everyday life, but each person accepts different degrees of risk.

—Do you have time to research and manage your investment? In most cases, professional management may not be financially feasible for investors owning a small number of properties.

—Do you anticipate any unusual expenses? Large cash outlays to meet anticipated temporary expenditures require flexible investment strategies.

—Finally, how much capital do you plan to invest initially, and how much are you willing to set aside for future investments? Available funds often limit the nature of the assets which an investor can obtain as well as income opportunities he can explore.

"If you are emotionally and financially prepared to invest, real estate offers an excellent opportunity for the small investor to hedge against inflation and provide for some additional income," believes Floyd.

Nationally, the largest group of living veterans served in World War II, now numbering 12,866,000, with 717,000 in Texas, and whose average age is now 58 years of age. The second largest group served during the Viet-nam era and totaled 8,779,000 nationally, with 441,000 in Texas.

These are followed by the Korean Conflict with 5,893,000 nationally and 247,000 in Texas; 653,000 from World War I, with 39,000 living in Texas, with an average age of 83 years; 278 veterans of the Spanish-American War in 1898, with only about 8 living in Texas, all of whom are close to 100 years of age.

Presently residing in Texas are also some 168,000 veterans who served between the end of the Korean Conflict in 1955 and the beginning of the Vietnam Era on August 5, 1964, and 10,000 who have served since the end of the Vietnam Era (1975).

These veterans, along with their immediate families, comprise almost one-half of the total population in Texas.

Crosbyton Bank Announces Major Extension Project

A major expansion and remodeling has begun at the Citizens National Bank of Crosbyton. Following completion of the project in late summer, the bank will utilize some 35,000 square feet of office and parking facilities in providing services to its customers. Among the major additions will be installation of a modern remote drive-in teller facility.

The expansion project will feature additional office space and customer service areas and a complete renovation of the interior and exterior of the existing facility. Portions of the renovation will include expanded teller facilities, new private loan offices, entirely new customer service areas and expanded bookkeeping capabilities. A new and enlarged community room and conference room will be an added attraction for customers of the bank.

Pharr Construction Company of Lubbock has been awarded the general contract for the construction and remodeling. Whittaker & Hall, Architects, of Lubbock, have provided a master plan to enhance the total bank services offered by Citizens National.

President Joe Cargile stated that the commitment by the Citizens National to provide new and modern banking facilities is indicative the support and confidence shown by its customers in the continued growth of the bank.

'DOIN GREAT JOB'
Rep. Foster Whaley State Capitol Bldg. Austin, Texas 78711

Hang in there! You're doing a great job. I especially appreciate your short and to the point columns that enable me to run a lot more of them than I can most of the long-winded political news stories I get by the ream.

By the way, any support you might give to House Bill 347 introduced by Rep. Uher of Baytown and its companion, Senate Bill 560, sponsored by Bob Price of Pampa, which were in committee as of March 5, 1979, will be greatly appreciated by the undersigned, if you feel they have merit.

My thinking is that these bills address themselves to a dire need of our Highway Patrolmen. These bills will raise the income of our troopers to a living wage. At this time, it seems the Highway Patrol is losing valuable experienced officers due to low pay.

Let me hear from you. Sincerely,
William L. Howe

If OSHA Visited Noah's Ark . . .

By BRIAN ROBERTSON
Just as Noah had finished building the ark and rounding up the animals, he was visited by two OSHA agents. The Office of Safety and Health Administration workers arrived to inspect the craft and give it their approval before it set sail.

"I'm Agent Younger," one man said, shaking Noah's hand. "We want you to understand we're here to make sure this ark is safe. We're doing it for your own good."

"That's right," the other man said. He was carrying a wheelbarrow full of books.

"Who's he?" Noah asked.

"That's Agent Hudson. He carries along the OSHA standards wherever we go."

"I really don't have time to talk with you," Noah said, carrying two dogs, a male and female, on the ark. "It looks like rain, you know."

"This will just take a second." "That's what the man from the city said when he came to give me a construction permit," Noah sighed. "It took him three days and I had to pay seventy-five duckets to boot."

"Well, we will just be a moment," Agent Younger promised. "Now, the first thing is the gangplank. Hudson here nearly fell off. You'll have to install some safety railings on that thing."

"I don't know if I have time," Noah said. "Of course you will. It only takes a few seconds to be safe."

"But once I set sail I won't need the gangplank."

"That's another thing. We couldn't help but notice you're out here in the desert. You mind tell us what you plan to do with an ark?"

"Well," Noah said, remembering he was to keep quiet, "I just want to be ready in case a water pipe breaks."

"Look over here," Hudson called out. The two men hurried over. "I don't think this wood will pass inspection."

"I have it from high authority it will do the job nicely," Noah said.

"Well, we'll have to check the books on this and see. Now, Mr. Noah, about how big is this ark?"

"Exactly three hundred cubits long and fifty cubits across and thirty cubits tall."

Hudson began looking through one of his guidebooks. "I'm not sure exactly what a cubit is," he admitted. "Could you give me that in feet and inches?"

"Not right off the top of my head," Noah answered. "I see," Agent Younger said, making a notation in his notebook. "We'll have to check that out. Right off, I'd say you don't have enough room. Also, is that the only exit you have?"

"That's all I was told to build."

"Well, you've got to have another exit there someplace. This ark is a real firetrap, you know. Only one window on this side, Mr. Noah. You've got to have more escape routes."

"I see," Noah replied. "Don't get us wrong. Younger laughed. "It's a fine job of craftsmanship, but you just need a little correction here and there."

Now, I suggest you put in a fire pole outside that window for starters."

"What are all these animals?" Hudson asked.

"Pets," Noah said. "Go on in and take a look around," Younger said to Hudson. "See how the inside is set up."

Hudson nodded and disappeared. Younger made a few more notes in his book and looked around some more. "Now, Mr. Noah, are you the pilot of this ship?"

"In a way."

"Well, you'll have to wear some kind of hardhat. Anybody who works up on the main deck will have to wear protective head gear."

"I'll keep that in mind," Noah said. "I assume you've taken a Coast Guard boating safety course."

"Never got around to it. When you get to be six hundred years old you don't have as much spunk as you used to."

"Six hundred?" Younger made another notation. "No age discrimination intended. Mr. Noah, but make sure you wear your safety goggles at all times."

Agent Hudson stumbled out of the ark, his fingers over his nose. "I think we've finally found a real problem," he gasped. "The bottom of the ark is pretty dirty."

"I'm afraid we'll have to cite you with some violations."

"Why don't you come back later," Noah said. "It's starting to rain and at my age I could catch a nasty cold."

Easter Seal Telethon Earns $635

Floyd County residents opened their pocketbooks and their hearts to the tune of $635 Saturday night and Sunday for the National Easter Seal Telethon.

County headquarters were established at the Floyd County Farm Bureau office in Floydada to accept phone contributions. Floydada Lions Club sponsored the project in this county. They were assisted by Alpha Mu Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Telephones were manned throughout the telethon.

Lion Boss Paul Westbrook singled out three youngsters — Jeff Galloway, Scott Smith, and Brad McNeill — for praise. The trio collected "about $100" during two hours of solicitation Sunday.

"We appreciate everyone doing their part," Westbrook said.

VAN MOORE'S collection of rocks and shells are on display in the Floyd County Library in Floydada. The 10-year-old is shown with his collection.
