

Additional Building Planned At Texas A&M Regional Training Center Here

Additional 5,000 square foot structure will be added to the existing note and additional rental would be paid to allow this note to run concurrently with the original note on the training center facilities in Floydada.

company that cost of the proposed development company to have its attorney draft a proposal to amend the original lease agreement and add the proposal facility.

The property will be owned by Floydada Development Co. and leased to Texas A&M University.

As manager of the local training center, Stovall is to work with the Floydada Development Co. on building specifications and bids.

Wentreck asked that the new structure "be compatible" with the existing building.

The new facility, approximately 5,000 square feet, is anticipated to cost $30,000 to $35,000. It is to be used for additional training sessions.

GROWTH FORESEEN

"If the legislature is at all favorable, we (Texas A&M) hope to have a full-time manager budgeted into the year beginning September 1. This would allow the center to show additional growth," Wentreck stated.

He commended Stovall for his management role, adding that he was forced to carry out teaching responsibilities as well as serving as manager under the present plan.

City Lets Sub-Station Contract

Floydada City Council voted Tuesday night during a called meeting to accept the bid of an Amarillo firm, McKinley Sales, to supply material for a sub-station which is to be erected in order that the city may purchase coal-produced power from Southwestern Public Service Co.

The bid was for $191,375. A $1,450 escalation is possible, depending on length of delivery time and inflation.

Electrical engineer Quinton Colwell discussed bids with the city governing body before recommending the alternate number two proposal of McKinley Sales.

Five firms submitted proposals, although one was disqualified because it indicated incomplete transformers only.

RTE is the transformer manufacturer. The Amarillo firm's bid called for a September 1979 delivery date.

MATERIALS ONLY
The contract signed Tuesday night is for materials only, delivered to the Floydada site. A contractor to be named later will use these materials for erecting the sub-station and ties.

Colwell noted that the projected system would handle up to "twice the present load" — present peak load in 4400 KW — without using the city generating plant to produce electricity.

He termed this "a much more reliable situation" for the city because of the two power sources, Southwestern Public Service Co. and the city plant.

Bids were opened Tuesday of last week and examined by city officials and Colwell. Awarding of the contract was delayed until this week's special meeting to allow the electrical engineer time to analyze bids.

City Manager Bill Feuerbacher said in an earlier meeting when the council voted on this course of action that he believed purchase of more economical coal-produced power would represent a saving to the city. A portion of the electricity will continue to be produced in the city plant.

Joe Smith of First Southwest Co., financial advisor to the city, also was present at the Tuesday night session.

INDUSTRIAL FUNDING

Feuerbacher outlined a new federal program which entitles cities to seek an industrial grant from the federal government to assist in attracting additional payrolls. He told the group that a prospect with a substantial payroll is interested in a Floydada location if financing can be secured.

The city manager asked the council to authorize Mayor Parnell Powell to sign a contract with a Tyler firm to act as consultant in seeking eligibility for the federal grant. There would be no obligation, he said, if the grant is not secured.

Feuerbacher added that there would be no expense incurred by City of Floydada.

Council authorized Mayor Powell to sign a contract with the consulting firm.

EMPLOYEE INSURANCE

Also during the Tuesday night session, the council adopted a new insurance plan for city employees. This is a group plan through Texas Municipal League.

The entire city governing body was present for the meeting, conducted by Mayor Powell. Council members in attendance were Jerry Thompson, Carl Jarrett, Johnny Bill Sue, Leroy Burns, and Wayne Russell, as well as Feuerbacher and City Secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart.

QUALIZATION BOARD

Business Manager Tommy Cathey recommended Mal Jarboe, Sammy Hale, and Doris Jones as members of the equalization board, with Melvin Lloyd at alternate. Cathey suggested that the equalization board be in session beginning at 9 a.m. July 10 in the administration office.

Both recommendations were adopted by the board.

Cathey also reported that he had received a "ballpark figure" on replacing present lighting in Graves Gymnasium with mercury vapor lamps. The board authorized him to seek bids on this project.

Trustees recommended that "Fighting Whirlwind" awards be presented in tennis and golf. At present, these awards are given to athletes chosen in the football, basketball, and track programs.

Regular school board meetings were changed to 8 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. Previously, they were held on the second Monday.

Jim Word met with the board to inquire about the purchase of a school bus for the Boy Scouts. The matter was tabled until the June meeting.

President Travis Jones was in charge of the meeting. Other board members in attendance were: Martha Farris, Harvey Allen, Weldon Pruitt, Betty Holmes, and June Ware.

At 7 o'clock trustees boarded a school bus to view recent improvements at the various school plants. They saw the renovated junior high science room, concession stand-restrooms at the track, resurfaced tennis courts at junior high, new sidewalks and waiting area for bus students at R.C. Panhandle Firemen's Group Elects Bobby Welborn Officer

Bobby Welborn was elected Saturday as fourth vice president of the Panhandle Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association. Elections were held during the group's annual convention in Amarillo.

"This is a super, super honor," fellow firemen report.

The Floydada man was nominated by the State Firemen's Association president. He is expected to move of the ladder of command as vice presidents and became president of the Panhandle group in four years.

Welborn was unanimously elected, a feat which had "never before happened."

Also, this was the first time for a man to have been elected during his initial year as a candidate.

Welborn is the first Floydada man to have been elected an officer in the Panhandle Firemen's and Fire Marshall's Association. Nineteen hundred firemen, representing 54 fire departments, are members of the organization.

Il Penseroso Has School Party

Keeping to this year's theme, "School Year", Il Penseroso Junior Study Club ended their club with an End of School Party at Gayle Jackson's home.
All members came to the party dressed as kids; toddlers to girly frills to tomboys with baseballs and one shiny black eye. Janette Workman was voted best costume (a toddler complete with pacifier).
Activities began as Ginger Mathis took first prize in coloring with Super Rabbit. First, second, and third place for decorated lunch boxes went to Judy Jackson, Kim Lambert, and Sandy Adrian. Time out was observed for refreshments of fried chicken, potato salad, and beans, with school boxes serving as relish dishes. Completing the meal was homemade ice cream and a "school book" cake made by Lisa Mosley.
Meanwhile, back at the playground, Reeda Kay Smith, Cheryl Bradley, and Judy Jackson excelled in playing "Jacks", and a slightly dizzy Peggy Lambert got A-plus in Musical Chairs. A delightful puppet show, giving clues to the identity of Club Woman of the Year, was performed by Judy Jackson and Gayle Jackson. This honor was awarded to Lisa Mosley for her outstanding service.
Reeda Kay Smith won the annual Friendship Quilt. Kay Martin passed the final exam (little known facts about club members) with top honors.
As current president, Anita Bigham presided at installation of new officers. Anita

ARE WE READY FOR THE UFW?

After 22 negotiating sessions, 28 Imperial Valley lettuce growers were still looking at UFW demands that had the potential to increase farm labor costs as much as 200 percent. Even though the growers' second offer of an 11 percent wage increase went unanswered, union negotiators screamed "Bad-faith" bargaining.

The magnitude of UFW demands for wage and piece work increase, limited work weeks and overtime compensation are distressing enough, but the union's apparent disregard for the farm worker's welfare during the negotiations is frightening. From the beginning of the 2 month old lettuce strike, striking farm workers have pursued a steady course of intimidation and violence. Yet, even after one death; 30 injured persons and $400,000 worth of property damage caused by vandals, UFW spokesman Mark Grossman was quoted while attending the union's first organizing convention in Texas, "We're going to repeat our California experience."

After speaking to one Imperial Valley lettuce grower who asked not to be named, it seems this "California experience" that Grossman is so anxious to bring to Texas would best be avoided rather than repeated. The grower had this to say, "You read about the big things in the paper, but there is a lot more going on than that. Strikers split into small groups to gang up on workers during the day, break locks and flood fields during the night. Recently a gang of four men pulled a farm worker off his tractor while he was raking hay. They beat him pretty badly."

Union spokesman claim strikers entered the fields to "talk" to workers, only when workers refused to come out. Apparently union members believe they have an inalienable right to trespass as well as to expect farm workers to come flocking from the fields like mindless sheep to gather around their flag. Quite to the contrary! Trespassing on private property is, by law, a punishable offense and farm workers do, indeed, have minds of their own — often choosing not to talk to union organizers simply because they want nothing to do with them.

Farm labor strikes seldom settle without leaving a bitter taste in somebody's mouth, usually the grower's. However, in light of the present situation, there is no denying the UFW's existence — they're here to stay. In 1975, there were perhaps 5 UFW contracts signed in California. Today there are over 195 such contracts involving some 30,000 UFW members working in citrus, grapes, fruit, row crops, poultry and some contiguous packing houses. If history can be trusted and I believe it can, union contracts are no panacea for farm labor problems.

With a certain degree of realism, the UFW can be equated to the fish in a farm pond; drain the water from the pond and the fish will die. Just as surely as the fish drew life from the water, the UFW draws life from conflict. Chavez knows only too well that there is only so much water in the pond and that if his union is to continue its growth, he must either seek out or create new conflict.

This was the situation in the Imperial Valley when labor agreements expired in January and union negotiators demanded an increase in minimum wages to $5.20/hour. They weren't looking for viable solutions to farm labor problems. Instead, they were looking to create the sort of labor conflict the union has found so critical to its prosperity.

Inconsistent with UFW demands for more money, both government and private surveys show conclusively that the average farm worker feels that money is only the fourth most important issue for labor dispute. Ahead of money are fair treatment (1), job security (2), and personal recognition (3). These findings are well documented and provide valuable guidelines for making farm labor relations an integral part of good agri-business management.

The reasons are clear. Farm workers that have developed a sense of pride and association with their work, as well as their employer, are undeniably more dependable; more productive; and less apt to cause management problems. Good labor relations programs are a simple matter of preventing labor conflict. They require both time and money, but pay off in the long run with increased labor efficiency and higher levels of production, not to mention the incalculable bliss of not having the UFW around.

Historically speaking, unions have displayed a disturbing tendency to become more and more self-serving in their quest for size and power. The UFW is proving to be no exception and perhaps this is fortunate. After the recent display of intimidation and violence toward farm workers during the lettuce strike, the UFW's self-interest became evident. Now that the true union colors are showing, it's time for growers to take the offensive and institute effective labor relations programs that minimize costly labor conflict by keeping the UFW out of their fields.

Congressional Comment

I have introduced a bill (H.R. 3809) in the House of Representatives this past week entitled the Producer Elected Farm Policy Advisory Board Act of 1979. This bill will establish a vehicle whereby the nation's farmers and ranchers can bring direct producer input into the decision making processes of the Department of Agriculture on policies, procedures, programs, and practices.

I believe this will help to alleviate a common complaint from farmers and ranchers that the secretary and the department are not responsive to the needs of agriculture.

I have provided that the board will function for a period of five years, after which the Congress may review the board's record of achieving the objectives set forth in the bill prior to extending the authority of the board or letting it expire.

I feel that this bill will help to reduce the number and improve the credibility of existing appointed advisory groups in the USDA and will allow the nation's agricultural producers direct input by their elected representatives in the decision making processes of the Nation's agricultural policies.

Bonnie Julian Relives Hawaii Trip

by Bonnie Julian

A lovely dream came true for me in March, when the Florida Julians invited me to accompany them to Hawaii for a weeks vacation, a trip my nephew David was awarded by his company, The Caterpillar Company in Miami. His wife, Judy, his 10-year-old daughter Susan, his Mother Carla, and myself, made up the party.

I flew from Lubbock, early Wednesday morning, March 7, to the huge Dallas airport, where I met my folks from Florida. We went aboard a Braniff 747 jet around noon, bound for Honolulu, Hawaii, nonstop. We were to be on Maui, one of the eight islands of the Hawaiian group, and over 250 were aboard the jet plane. There were many things to keep us all occupied during the long hours, as we flew across the United States and then across the great Pacific Ocean. Delicious dinners were served, with snacks, cold drinks, coffee and fruit offered during the afternoon. Also, a movie was shown. The flying was smooth, and we arrived at the Honolulu airport in the early evening, and were greeted and presented leis.

We all flew in a smaller plane that took us to Maui, the Valley Island, where we were met at the airport by a bus which took us to the beautiful Maui Surf, the hotel where we were to stay. This was in the small town of Kaanapali, a quaint resort on Maui. We were all very tired and by the time we ate and were retired to our rooms on the sixth floor, we got to bed by ten o'clock, which was about 3 a.m. by our time.

town of Lahaina, where we had delicious food and shopped to our heart's content one whole day.

Another day David took us all to the dormant crater of Haleakala, a volcanic mountain, where at the summit it was 10,000 feet and very cold. On the mountain we saw silversword, a beautiful flower which only grows in volcanic ash. There were hundreds of thousands of acres of waving green sugar cane.

The cane was nearly ready for harvest time. The weather was warm and lovely. We had rain only one day, when we saw the most beautiful rainbow, which seemed to touch down on a building near our hotel. It stayed clear and had startling colors for such a long time.

Food on the island was delicious, with pineapple, papaya, and all kinds of tropical fruits served in abundance. The days flew by as we toured the island, and one day we rode the "Sugar Cane Train", a Lahaina-Kaanapali and Pacific railroad which ran through the emerald green mountain sides and around the seashore. The whole island was a paradise of magnificent flowers. Among the most beautiful were the anthurium; and the state flower which is the hibiscus. The green velvet sugar cane fields were clear up high on the mountains sides and they were on the side of our hotel, with the beautiful, serene Pacific Ocean on the other side.

Most of the cars we saw were the smaller model cars. Even modest homes there, we learned, were twice as high as in the states. Buildings on Maui are restricted, as they do not want them to have sky scrapers and buildings over six stories. Maui is a quiet, peaceful island, and the people were so friendly and pleasant. We enjoyed so much one night a dinner engagement at the hotel with a Polynesian orchestra and hula hula girls. Each day shopping was a joy as we hunted for coral and other gifts to bring home to loved ones.

The flight home was a little rougher than when we went over. We flew home by night, leaving Honolulu in the evening, and flying over the Pacific Ocean all night, arriving in Dallas in the early morning of March 14.

As I left my Florida family they went east and I went west to our homes and families, and I could hardly believe I had been thousands of miles away, across the huge ocean, to a fairland of beauty and warmth. As it was quite cold by the time I had reached Lubbock, I realized winter was still here! It was very good to be on home soil, and to see my family and loved ones here, but I will always have the wonderful memory of a fabulous trip to a lovely place.

since we had lost five hours flying west to Hawaii. It took us two days to get over the "jet lag" as it is called.

We took advantage of every minute of every day as we shopped at the Maui Surf, visited the interesting spots around the area, and especially in the whaling village did we find much to see and to buy. David rented a car and took us shopping in the

By Mrs. Clyde Bagwell

May 14 — Weather conditions are still uncertain for cotton farmers. Most dry land farmers say their ground is too dry to plant; some irrigation farmers have cotton planted and up.

Word has come to us of the death of Raymond Baker, father of Mrs. Phillip Wilson. He died Monday morning at Caprock Hospital. We sympathize with the family at this time of sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Watts and children and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Linch and children went to White River Lake Saturday night and spent the night and Sunday on a camping trip.

Mother's Day dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cozby and Kara were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Cozby, also his sisters, Susan Cozby, and Carol Wilmeth of Lubbock.

In the late afternoon on Mother's Day Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cozby and Kara visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gene Carthel.

Sunday, Mrs. Jewell Teague and Mrs. Ethel Graham had dinner together at the home of Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Walton Wilson visited Mrs. Bill Tye Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Blum went to Amarillo late Saturday afternoon and spent the night and Sunday in the home of their granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abel.

Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy and their son Charles Beedy went out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Mize for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Warren of Lubbock came up Sunday afternoon and visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Warren.

Charles Beedy of the Beedy Ranch near Claude came Wednesday night and stayed until Monday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy.

Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Walls went to Plainview Sunday where they met a group of their family at a cafeteria. All enjoyed Mother's Day dinner together. Others present for this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Walls, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walls, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Walls and family and Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Walls.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Walls went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Walls for a short visit. On the way home they visited in Lockney with Mrs. Walls' niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reecer.

Larry DuBois of Denver, Colorado, came Saturday morning and stayed Sunday with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Edell DuBois. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Craig DuBois and children also visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edell DuBois.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Mize Thursday.

Mrs. Ruby Sullivan of Wellington and Mrs. Bill Gordon of Las Vegas, Nevada, were Sunday dinner guests and visitors for the afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook. Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Gordon are cousins of Mrs. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Crabtree, Becky, Sam and Anissa visited his mother, Mrs. Kate Crabtree, Sunday and had dinner with her.

yard by a vote of 92 to 46. This bill would have resulted in doing away with our home-stead laws. It would have made older people in their declining years vulnerable to crooks and fast-talkers. Unscrupulous lenders could have really taken advantage of anyone who got in a financial bind.

Had this bill passed, a companion bill was waiting in the calendars committee that would have placed a proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot, which the people could vote on in the next general election.

To me, it was the most dangerous piece of legislation of come before the House, and I voiced strong opposition to it at both the front and back microphones on the floor of the House.

Unfortunately, not all bad bills are killed. One got by this week with a few votes to spare. This bill (H.B. 1358) obligated the State of Texas for an initial one million dollars for constructing and developing a large state veterans' cemetery in Nueces County. But even worse, it obligated the state government for the perpetual annual care of the cemetery.

Burns Tour GM Plant

Leroy Burns attended a GM meeting in Oklahoma City Tuesday May 8. Later in the week, he was joined by his wife Loretta and Dale and Sheryl Derryberry and their son Shane. Shane, who is eight months old, accompanied his parents and grandparents on a tour of the GM plant. He was the first baby to tour the facility.

Thursday and Friday, Derryberry attended a training session on 1980 automobiles at the GM Training Center. While in Oklahoma City the group visited in the home of Frank Jordan.

Today 50% of the patients with cystic fibrosis can expect to live beyond eighteen years of age. In 1955, when the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation was formed, CF patients usually died in infancy. Funds raised through the Breath of Spring Bike-A-Thon to be held on May 19 will enable the programs of research and care to make further great strides in the life expectancy of CF patients. Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

We have spent most of this week getting ready for Nursing Home Week. We have a program planned for each day and hope to have a large number of relatives and friends in our home during the week. We did take time out to go to Petersburg on our bus trip Wednesday. It was quite windy, but we enjoyed the ride. Those who made the trip were Docia Manning, Juanita Bailey, Anis Franks and Victoria Asher.

Tuesday afternoon the residents enjoyed two movies "Hang Gliding" and "The Wonderful World of Wildlife in Texas." Both films were great.

We would like to thank Mrs. Rubie Ratjen and Mrs. John Lloyd for the beautiful flowers, and thanks to Hester Moore for the books and curtains.

Thursday was bingo day and Clara Williamson was big winner with three games; Victoria Asher and Geneda Roberts tied with two games each; and Emmitt Lawrence, Ray Reed, Mamie Gray and Anis Franks tied with one game each.

Friday afternoon we honored our mothers with a party in the dining room. We presented the youngest mother, Juanita Bailey, the oldest, Mrs. Effie Smith, and the mother with the most children, Ida Womack, with silk carnations. Banana nut bread and lemon aid were served as refreshments. Special guests, at the party were Margie and Bill Womack, Val Dorden, Ruby Davis, Donna Ellis, Edith Marrs, Evelyn Huggins, Ardis Daniels, Windy Beshirs and Shirley Varner.

I also would like to thank Donna and Shirley for their help. Without it I could not have made it.

We have two new residents, Mr. Travis Collins of Floydada, who lives in Room 8 down the north hall, and Mrs. Ellie Hargis who lives in Room 3 down the west hall.

We would like to thank Mona Dean's fourth period class for their visit Friday afternoon.

Visitors this week were: Ed and Faye Walters, Evelyn Crull, Hazel Bradley and Kim, Cora and Thanie Smallwood, Sherry Colston, Flo Ella Jarboe, Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Hartness, Dana Ellis and Jo Lee and Wendie Beshirs, Wes and Mary Adams, Mrs. Luther Lancas-

HAT DAY was observed Monday at the Floydada Nursing Home and most of the residents adorned headwear of various designs. This was one of several activities being held during Texas Nursing Home Week.
