Tour Views Farm Technology

Floyd County farmers and agribusinessmen attended the Floyd County Farm Tour that was held September 13, 1979, according to Steve Herber, Floyd County Extension Agent. The tour originated at the Agriculture building in Floydada and progressed toward the Sandhill Community.

The first stop on the tour was a dryland cotton variety test, conducted on the R.G. Dunlap farm, 3 miles west of Floydada. Fifteen varieties were planted on May 29, and some visible difference could be detected.

The second tour stop was on the Sandhill Farms operated by Roger Dawdy, featuring a center pivot irrigation system. Jon J. La Baume, district conservationist for the Floyd County Soil Conservation Service and Stan McClendon with Lighthouse Electric Coop presented facts and data concerning irrigation systems, pump efficiency, and pumping cost.

Those on the farm tour also observed at the stop the mobil Soil and Water Conservation Laboratory that SCS uses to work with landowners and operators on the South Plains. The mobil lab was built and furnished by the High Plains Underground Water District to assist the SCS and the Water District to train and retrain their personnel in all phases of irrigation found in the South Plains area.

La Baume said that the workshops that they have held is not to tell the farmer he has to do this or that, but with the data obtained the farmer can decide if he is satisfied with his system or not and change it if he desires.

McClendon said he could obtain data on pump efficiency and know how much water was being applied to the land, but the landowner and the pump dealers were the ones who had to decide if a new pump or a reworked one would be better for his operations.

The center pivot system was checked a few weeks ago by SCS personnel by using the mobil lab and found that the pattern efficiency was 73 percent, that the application efficiency was 88.6 percent and by using these two figures the overall efficiency of the system was 64.7 percent. La Baume noted that the 64.7 percent system efficiency was very good for a pivot system and the only data obtained in the test that would be considered "below average" was that there were a few nozzles that were putting out too much water and a few that were putting out too little water, but overall the efficiency was good.

The third stop on the tour was at the Orba Miller farm, where the farmers viewed 12 soybean varieties. This test was also established on May 29 with the help of representatives from the Pfizer and Ring Around Seed Companies. Different maturity groups were also shown in this test.

The last stop on the tour was at the Laron Fulton Farm, south of Sandhill, where nine corn varieties were viewed that were established on May 29 with the help of representatives from the Pfizer and Ring Around Seed Companies. Different maturity groups were also shown in this test.

County To Be Included In Ogallala Study

Floyd County was included in more than 45 High Plains counties where the Texas Department of Water Resources will conduct an intensive field survey of water wells.

The survey, part of a multi-state study to evaluate the vast Ogallala Aquifer, will obtain measurements on the depth to water from the land surface overlying the aquifer. One measurement will be made every 10 square miles.

TDWR personnel will work in the field gathering and recording depth-to-water measurements from wells included in a statewide network of observation wells, and will also attempt to obtain additional measurements from wells not in the network. Measurements are made by lowering a steel tape down the well's casing until it is in contact with the water in the well, observing and recording the depth to the water, and retrieving the tape. The process requires only a few minutes and care is taken not to disturb anything in or around the well.

According to a TDWR spokesman, the department has received warm cooperation from the many well owners throughout the High Plains in its effort to document changes in water levels through its annual measurement program in the statewide network of observation wells, and is seeking and confident of receiving the same cooperation from well owners whose wells are not in the network but who will be visited during the coming fall and winter months.

Cooperating in the program are the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in Lubbock, the North Plains Ground Water Conservation District No. 2 in Dumas, and the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District No. 3 in White Deer. Each district will be responsible for measuring wells in its area.

In addition to Floyd, counties included in the Texas study are: Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dallam, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Ector, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Gray, Hale, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hockley, Howard, Hutchinson Lamb, Lipscomb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher, Terry, Wheeler, and Yoakum.

Louis Pyle Turns In First Cotton Ginning At Floydada Co-op

could be seen rolling down the final chute to the press. The fibers were just a trickle at first, but came faster and faster until it made a steady flow like an endless blanket of fleece.

Checking the results of the first ginning, gin employees looked pleased with the output.

"Pretty nice cotton," commented one. At 11:30 the first bale came out of the press, weighing in at 395.5 pounds.

Tax Statements To Be Late

Floyd County tax statements will be mailed a week or two late, according to Jonelle Fawver, the Floyd County tax assessor-collector.

The delay is a result of having to separate the South Plains and Dougherty school rolls and complying with House Bill 1060 concerning school homestead exemptions and state personal property exemptions, Mrs. Fawver said.

SPAG Director To Be Elected

Representatives of minority organizations and of organizations having substantial interest in minority affairs are invited to attend a meeting in the District Courtroom, Crosby County Courthouse, Crosby, Texas, on September 27, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. to participate in the election of one individual to the Board of Directors of the South Plains Association of Governments as a representative of Floyd, Motley, Crosby, Lynn, King, and Garza Counties.

Farmers Group Rebuffs Carter Nomination

President Jimmy Carter's nomination of Hugh Cadden to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) has been protested by Grain Sorghum Producers Association Executive Director Elbert Harp.

In a telegram to the President, Harp said, "Grain Sorghum Producers Association asks that a bona fide farmer be appointed to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission."

"The regulations that are developed by the Commission have such a dramatic influence upon farm income," stated Harp, "that a person familiar with the problems of farmers should be appointed instead of legal or regulatory specialists."

Hugh Cadden is an attorney and has been special assistant to CFTC Chairman James Stone. His appointment must be approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Pfc. McCormick Receives Merit Promotion

Marine Pfc. Michael D. McCormick, son of Delmas and Pauline McCormick of 901 W. Georgia, Floydada, Texas, was meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the ten and one-half-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

A 1977 graduate of Floydada High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1979.

October Proclaimed Co-Op Month

Austin.....October is Cooperative Month in Texas and across the nation as proclaimed by most of the country's governors.

Governor Bill Clements, in his official proclamation, urged the people of Texas to "give special recognition to the constructive and responsible roles of agricultural cooperatives in the economic progress of our State."

"Texas has more than 440 cooperatives operating and serving over 133,000 members," according to Bruno Schroeder, executive vice president of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives.

"These cooperatives are doing a business volume of almost 1.7 billion dollars annually," he said.

Cooperatives in Texas range from farmer-owned gins, elevators and compresses to marketing, supply and credit organizations. Health, housing, insurance, electric, telephone and other service cooperatives are becoming more and more important to all Texas citizens.

"Cooperative Month," said Schroeder, "is a good way to remind the people of Texas just how important cooperatives are to our well-being."

Albert Scheele Is Elected To Sorghum Board

A Floyd County man was among four candidates elected this month to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Albert Scheele, of Lockney, received 282 votes in the 29-county election by grain producers to entitle him to a six-year term on the board.

Also named to the producers board were Dennis Anthony, of Friona, John Gilbreath, of Hart and Steve Lee, of Hale Center.

There were 398 votes cast in the election with a maximum of two votes going to any one of the sixteen write-in candidates.

The canvassing committee members were Rodrick Shaw, Lubbock County judge; Randy Upshaw, Lubbock County agent; Bob Gray, Texas Department of Agriculture assistant marketing director and Elbert Harp, TGSPB executive director.

The TGSPB works to solve production problems, develop new markets for sorghum and provide information on grain marketing.

Water Authority

Bond Specialist Tells Cities 'Decision Must Be Made'

The mayors, city councils, representatives of the Mackenzie Water Authority board which includes the membership cities of Floydada, Lockney, Silverton and Tulla came together in a meeting at the Mackenzie Lake Tuesday night to hear bond specialist Joe Smith of First Southwest Company.

Smith told the group that due to skyrocketing inflation and declining underground water levels for this area, some decision should be made now about a treatment plant and pipelines from the lake to the membership cities.

Smith outlined both tax and water rate increases should the decision be made now. The city councils have agreed to make further research and come up with a decision for or against a bond issue very soon. More details of the meeting next edition.

Editorial The Real American Spirit

The American spirit we so often celebrate in the U.S. is that of the individual. The individual carries a host of inalienable rights in this country, and rightly so. We are a country of individuals.

There is, however, another American spirit which should be recognized. That is the cooperative spirit. To develop this country, individuals cooperated with each other to clear land, build homes, and to do other things that they couldn't do alone. In America's earliest history, settlers cooperated to settle the wilderness, but mostly they cooperated to survive. Later they got together in business organizations to compete with economic forces which threatened their individual economic existence.

Those business organizations are called cooperatives. They enable Americans to work together to help themselves. Since October has been declared Cooperative Month by most governors in the U.S., including Bill Clements, this is a good time to take a closer look at what cooperatives mean to all of us.

Today, fifty million Americans belong to some 40,000 cooperatives across the nation. These members are advocates of the cooperative way to provide themselves and their families with goods and services and to help market much of this country's quality foods and fiber. Owned and operated by the people they serve, cooperatives efficiently and economically meet a broad range of needs — marketing farm products and obtaining farm supplies and services, credit, telephone and electric services, food, housing, health care, and insurance.

Here, there, everywhere — in towns, cities and countryside — big cooperatives and little cooperatives are busy serving members, their communities, and the public.

They deserve a great big hand.

Group Calls Report 'Serious Indictment of Of Program'

The President of Texas Farmers Union told a Crosbyton audience Saturday night that the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Office of the Inspector General's Report on the Cotton Research and Promotion Program is a serious indictment of the administration of that program.

Jay Naman, of Waco, addressing the annual meeting of the Crosby County Farmers Union at the elementary school in Crosbyton, cited instances of wasteful expenditure of funds, blatant favoritism, and the invasion of the privacy of farmers requesting refunds from the Inspector General's report.

"It is obvious that the report from the office of the Inspector General pictures such irresponsible and cavalier treatment of cotton producers' funds that the Administration and Congress must immediately look at a complete overhaul of the program."

Responding to a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland last week that USDA and the Cotton Board had reached an agreement to take the "first step" in strengthening the administration of the Cotton Research and Promotion Program, Naman said that he was pleased that the Secretary of Agriculture was pursuing the recommendations of the Office of the Inspector General, but that he felt that what had been agreed on was little more than

"cosmetic" treatment to the problems involved with the program.

"The serious defects in the Cotton Research and Promotion Program which have been exposed by the Inspector General go far beyond what can be remedied by the regular submission of reports on projects, budgets, meetings and other administrative matters. The problem strikes at the very heart of the structure of the Cotton Board and Cotton, Inc.," Naman said.

The state farm leader said that the only way to restore the integrity of the Cotton Research and Promotion Program would be to give farmers the right to democratically elect their representatives to serve on the Cotton Board and on the Cotton Inc. Board. He said that this, along with the authority to recall the program by producer referendum each five years, would restore its control to the cotton farmers who fund the program.

"The tragedy of what has happened to the Cotton Research and Promotion Program lies in the fact that many valuable research and promotion activities that are helping to turn around the competitiveness of cotton with synthetics will probably go down the drain because the administration of the program has become a national disgrace. It will doubtlessly lose the confidence and support of cotton farmers."

Concerning the church yard near the school. Some have been turning (their cars) on the church lot, which piles up the gravel, leaves it very rough and disfigures the yard.

AUSTIN — Work crews have yet to cap the off-shore oil well spewing barrels of crude daily into the Gulf of Mexico, but all the early indications of a courtroom collision between Gov. Bill Clements and Texas Attorney General Mark White apparently will be realized.

White told reporters last week he will sue SEDCO, the drilling company founded by Clements, and Mexico's nationally owned oil company PEMEX sometime this fall.

SEDCO is now run by the governor's son, B. Gill Clements, while the governor's stock is in a "blind trust." Though the governor may never appear in the courtroom, the political effect of the lawsuit will re-main the same: one of the state's top Democrats will confront the top Republican state official.

Will Allege Negligence
White said he will allege negligence on the part of SEDCO, which had leased the off-shore rig used by PEMEX to drill the blown-out well.

"It (the blow-out) wasn't an act of God. This thing occurred apparently because of mismanagement, negligent operation, negligently maintained equipment, whatever," White said.

He added that SEDCO's subsequent sinking of the damaged rig in deep international waters on July 12 "cast grave suspicions on everything they (SEDCO officials) have said" about the company's role in the blow-out.

White said he expects to delay until after President Jimmy Carter and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo meet Sept. 28 and 29.

Clements in Yugoslavia
Clements, meanwhile, has been unavailable for comment while leading a Texas delegation tour of several Communist-block countries. Reports indicate he is optimistic about future joint U.S.-Yugoslavia ventures.

When he returns he will find a message on his desk from Speaker of the House Bill Clayton saying there is no political support for a special session of the Texas Legislature.

Clements had promised to call the legislators back to Austin to pass an initiative and referendum bill, among other issues, but Clayton advises the legislators who failed to reach agreement on the issue last spring would probably not resolve the issue in a

Floyd Philosopher Figures Out A Way To Head Off A Panic In Case Gold Becomes Plentiful

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on White River ponders the gold situation this week, more or less.

Dear editor:
While reading about the skyrocketing price of gold the other night I had a sudden, disturbing thought.

As everybody knows, gold which sold the other day for $375 an ounce or $6,000 a pound or $12,000,000 a ton is worth so much because it's scarce. Except for capping teeth or being made into jewelry, it doesn't have much widespread use. What can you do with a bar of gold except look it up in a vault and gloat over it? Its sole value is that it's scarce and you've got it and nobody else has.

Then a thought occurred to me. Say a company is strip-mining for coal and a bulldozer operator, trying to dodge an environmentalist, veers off the lease and hits a vein of gold. Not just a few nuggets but tons and tons of the stuff — enough gold to make the present supply look like a penny to a billionaire.

Gold then of course becomes as worthless as the sands of Arabia. We

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm

To paraphrase an old story, there was once a man who built a mighty house; a beautiful house complete with scores of rooms, enough, in fact, for every man, woman and child in the village.

And the people were in awe of the gift and they rushed to move into their new homes, as their old ones were in sad repair and they could not afford to rebuild.

But, while that towering house was a masterpiece of gingerbread from the doorstep to the highest turret, the builder had put all of his money into the beautiful shell of the house and had neglected to construct a foundation.

The house and all of the people came tumbling down.

That may be a rather simplistic way of describing the construction of some of our nation's economic and tax policies in recent years, but the description fits. While the Federal Government has concentrated on fancy gingerbread, very pleasing to the general populace, it has neglected the underlying foundation.

We are now facing an economic slowdown, along with rampant inflation and declining productivity. During past periods of recession, the Congress has built a gingerbread house in an attempt to solve the problems by settling on programs aimed at stimulating the economy through increased Federal spending.

But rather than solving the problem, these measures have fueled inflation because more consumer dollars are being chased by fewer goods. Pumping up the demand for goods only gives short-term relief to a sagging economy and does nothing to correct the structural inefficiencies in the marketplace — the foundation — that are responsible for stagnating growth.

It is time for the rebuilding of the

Olton Better Than They Look, 'Winds Ready

Football coach L.G. Wilson predicted that Olton would defeat their current opponent. But, he said, the team is ready to play good

"Two good running backs also returned this year," Wilson noted. They are Charles Brown, a 180-pound senior, and Danny Garcia, a state golden gloves boxing champion.

"Just because someone can box, doesn't mean he can play football," Wilson said, "but in Garcia's case he can."

On the defense, Olton has a strong line nucleus. Wilson said, in Marty Walters, a 195-pound linebacker and Gregg Davis, a 190-pound tackle teaming up with Stoebel on safety.

Wilson said the 'Winds would counter the double threat from Olton with a balanced running and passing attack.

"Our basic strategy will be to try and control the ball," he said. "If the fine continues to block like last week we should be able to run and pass successfully."

"We'll go into the game with a balanced attack and take what they give us," Wilson said. "If they take the running game away, then we'll pass. We'll just see what will go in the first quarter and take it from there."

"We can go either way," he said. "We have good running and good passing."

Despite the hot weather, Wilson said the past week's workout showed good confidence and leadership on the squad.

"The kicking game looked 100 percent better. I'm real pleased with that aspect," he said.

With the injuries last week, Wilson had to make a few adjustments in his lineup.

"Everybody except Tracy Womack is ready to go," the coach said. "But that hurts us because he is instrumental in offense, defense and punting."

"However, I'm real pleased with the great job Mark Nutt did last week filling in for Moody Younger and Andre Ledbetter going in for Womack. Fortunately, we didn't have to punt in the last half, with both our punters out."

The defensive squad will comprise ends Jeff Rainey and Neal Becker; tackles Tim Radloff and Keith Nixon; linebackers Duncan Woody, Moody Younger, Danny Nutt and Mark Nutt; halfbacks Joey Luna (or possibly Troy Marquis) and Mike Self; and safety Todd Beedy.

Joey Luna will handle the extra points, field goals and kickoffs.

Crane Permit Needed Again

Sportsmen participating in the sandhill crane hunt which opens Oct. 30 in ZONE A (west zone) and Dec. 4 in ZONE B will need a crane permit.

The free crane permit can be obtained by writing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Wildlife Division, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744. Each applicant must include his or her name, address, and county of residence.

The ZONE A crane season will continue through Jan. 30, 1980. The ZONE B (east zone) crane season is set for Dec. 4, 1979 - Jan. 30, 1980.

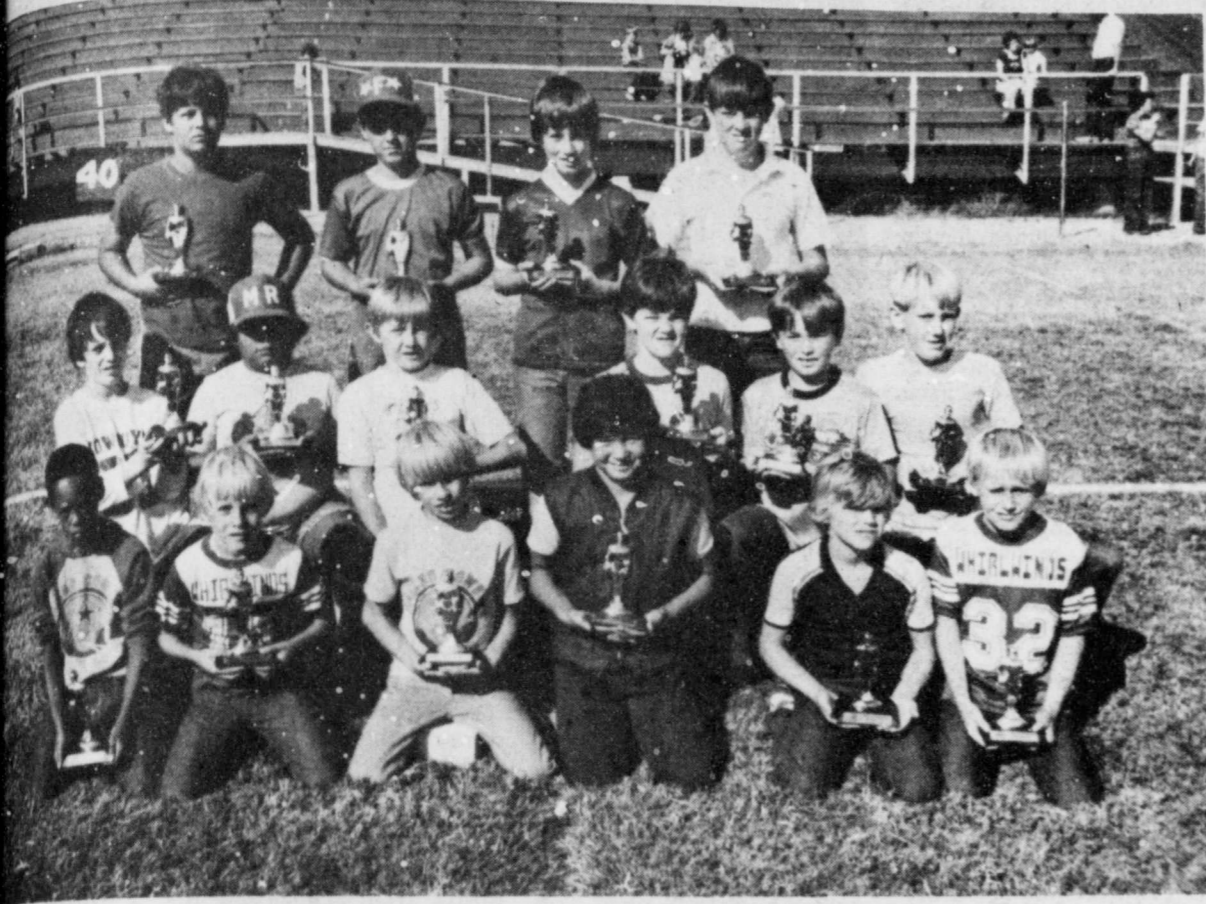

The daily bag limit for cranes is three and the possession limit has been set at six.

Firearms restrictions for crane hunters are similar to waterfowl hunters which allows shotguns (10 gauge and smaller) plugged to a three-shell capacity (including the magazine and chamber) or longbows and arrows.

Even though the cranes are migratory game birds, they are not classified as waterfowl and, consequently, cranes hunters will not be required a federal migratory game bird/conservation stamp.

Lubbock district game wardens have already spotted sandhill cranes on some of the South Plains playa lakes. This could be an indication of an early fall since the cranes are not normally seen coming into Texas until the middle of October.

Above-average rainfall on the South Plains has left the playa lakes in good shape for the birds. However, a survey near the better known playa lakes indicates less grain and more cotton which will affect the cranes movements during the fall and winter months.

DeLara Julian Weds William E. Barnes

The First Baptist Church was the setting at 7 p.m. Saturday for the marriage of DeLara (Dee) Sheree Julian and Dr. William E. Barnes. Dr. Robert Sloan led the couple in repeating double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Julian of Roscoe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Les Barnes of Puyallup, Washington.

Highlighting the altar was an arch canopy entwined with lemon leaves, English ivy, boxwood greenery and gypsophelia. A background of cathedral candelabras flanked by arches of candles were trimmed to match the center setting. Arrangements of Rubrum lillies, candlelight gladiolus, suede rose carnations, candles and emerald greenery accented the musician lofts on each side.

Pews were marked with votive candles in Colorado spruce, suede rose carnations and gypsophelia.

Meredith Miller of Abilene was at the guest register table which was laid with a lace cloth from Brussels, Ireland. Marking the table center was a bottled arrangement of silk flowers topped with votive candles.

Robert Williams, organist and Mrs. Don Pesnell, pianist, rendered nuptial selections. The organist played the processional, "Trumpet Voluntary." Mrs. Pesnell accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Wilson of Abilene as they sang "It Seems I've Always Loved You." and "Saviour Like A Shepard Lead Us."

After prayer of blessing as the couple knelt, the organist accompanied Mrs. Wilson as she sang "At This Altar." The recessional "Wedding March" was by the organist.

Bride
Entering with her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of candlelight satapau and imported chantilly lace. The moulded bodice was overlaid with lace which traced the petal neckline. The full gathered Bishop sleeves were caught at the wrist with wide cuffs of lace. A wide band of lace on the circular skirt formed an apron effect in the front. The lace was repeated on the skirt which flowed into a chapel length train. Hand-clipped lace medallions were scattered on the gown. Seed pearls enhanced the lace trim.

She chose a fingertip length veil of illusion framed in lace.

The bride carried a crescent of candlelight roses, stephanotis, gypsophelia, Rubrum lillies and huckleberry accented with satin streamers and white English ivy.

The bride's something new was her gown, something blue was her garter, a gift from Mrs. Martin Brooks, something old was a pearl necklace, which had been a wedding gift from her father to her mother, something borrowed were pearl earrings from her maternal grandmother, Mrs. M.M. Julian of South Plains.

Attendants
The bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Ken Roberts of Abilene and bridesmaids were Janie Payne and Lynn Soisson both of Abilene, Kristi and Mitzie Julian of Floydada, cousins of the bride.

Flower girl was Charissa Sloan. She wore a candlelight organza frock.

Ringbearer was David Young of Abilene, cousin of the bride.

Best man to the bridegroom was Dr. Craig Mills of Abilene, and groomsmen were Dr. Denny Holder of Abilene, Dr. Don Bennett, Dr. Rick Schaffer, both of Colorado City and Dickie Julian, brother of the bride.

Candles were lighted by Greg and Jeff Althof, cousins of the bride.

Guests were seated by

Daylon Althof and James Cleckler both of Roscoe and Gary Kafer of Gatesville.

Mothers
The mother of the bride chose a huckleberry colored gown and the bridegroom's mother was in a taupe gown. They both wore orchid corsages.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in fellowship hall of the church.

In a garden setting the decorations featured a flowing fountain with greenery and a birdbath holding satin roses.

The bride's table was laid with a white floor length cloth and centered with silver candelabras holding suede rose candles and adorned with Rubrum lillies, huckleberry mini carnations and gypsophelia.

Silver and crystal appointments were used to serve the four-tiered cake topped with silk wedding bells. Punch, mints and spiced pecans were also served.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a floor length candlelight cloth edged with ribbons. A copper honey-moon car centered the table. German chocolate cake was served with coffee from a copper service.

A round lace-covered table held frosted grapes and a variety of cheeses.

Serving were Mmes. David Duncan, Beep Cain, Randy Whorton, Daylon Althof, Scott Fullwood, Keith Hackfeld, Paul Hurst, Misses Teresa McFaul, Nanette Brunton, Becky Gardner, and Mary Althof.

In the houseparty were Mmes. Ernest Parrott, Laura

Mrs. William E. Barnes

Linam, Doyle Edminston, Rudy Roughton, Zane Richburg, Eugene Fullwood, Paul Spencer, Phil Haynes, Lewis Kirby and Wilbert Althof.

Tim and Clay Julian passed out roses to guests and parchments were presented by Scott Young.

When the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Dallas, the bride was wearing a huckleberry and suede rose colored ensemble. She wore matching accessories.

When the couple returns they will be at home in Commerce.

Open House Honors Mrs. Boedeker

By MARIE HARRIS
Herald Staff Writer

An independent little Plainview lady, who will be 95 Tuesday would like to live in Ruidoso, N.M. if she were younger. The trees and streams there remind Mrs. T.H. Boedeker of her native land, Germany.

She and her daughter and son-in-law, Louise and Jim Hodel with who she makes her home, spent a week at Ruidoso in August.

Did she go to the horse races? "I rode too many horses when I was a girl," was her reply.

MRS. BOEDEKER was honored with an open house celebrating her 95th birthday Sunday afternoon at the Hodel home, 1403 Holiday St., Plainview.

"Another pretty place is Phoenix," said white-haired Mrs. Boedeker. "She likes to get out and go", added her daughter, "and she goes every time the car does."

Mrs. Boedeker walks with a walker after breaking her hip in November. She is able to take care of herself, despite surgery at 90, and mishaps throughout her life, including being in three car accidents. "I was crippled up—in the first wreck had a broken thigh—but I always came out alive!" she exclaimed.

EVEN AS A child, Mrs. Boedeker was accident prone. The former Emma Schmidt, she was born in Province Posen in East Prussia Sept. 25, 1884 and in 1890, when she was 6 years old, came to America and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schmidt. Aboard the Elby, a German ship which brought them to New York in 22 days from Bremen, Emma was nearly washed overboard when a big wave knocked her down, but a sailor saved her. "I was just prowling around the ship," she recalled. "The sailors always had something to give me."

From New York City, the Schmidts sailed to Galveston aboard an American ship, Vera, and settled in Brenham where her mother's sister and family had already come. Emma's father, a farmer, died when she was 12 years old, and her mother and all the children had to work in the fields. Emma picked cotton and chopped weeds. "That's all I knew," she said. "We worked not only in the day but also at night."

She remembers that they had enough to eat, but it was not always what one would want. "In those days there was not much food anyway," Mrs. Boedeker explained. "My mother always fixed buttermilk soup, potatoes and bread and what she cooked was good. We had no canned goods then." Emma learned to cook, not from her mother, but while working in a cafe in Summerville.

MRS. BOEDEKER reminisced about how she raised cabbages and put them in a trench, covered with two layers of dirt and they kept all winter. Sometimes she made as many as 55 gallon barrels of sauerkraut, put grape leaves on the top and the kids would come by and grab a handful. The Boedekers had their own cattle and hogs for meat. "We killed seven hogs one year," she commented.

"Mother made such good bread, pies and cobblers," Mrs. Hodel said. Her baking ability apparently rubbed off on Mrs. Hodel who is chief baker at Furr's Cafeteria. Hodel is maintenance man at Furr's.

Emma had very little schooling. Most of what she had was as a very small child in Germany where she was taught by a pastor. She was baptized in the Lutheran Church in Germany and at 15 was confirmed and now is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Plainview.

AFTER THEIR MARRIAGE, Aug. 17, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Boedeker lived in Channing five years, where he operated a meat market and helped build the courthouse. They came to Plainview in 1908 and moved to Waco in 1911. They returned to this area in 1915 and farmed about 15 miles northeast of Plainview in Floyd County. Boedeker died Dec. 24, 1959 and she continued to live on the farm two years. In 1962 Mrs. Boedeker moved to Plainview and lived alone until making her home with her daughter 12 years ago.

Her other children are Edwin Boedeker, precinct judge in Lubbock; Charlie Boedeker, who farms in the Providence Community; Bill Boedeker of Levelland, district attorney in Hockley County; Helen McDonald of Lockney; and Emma Bontke of Kress. She has 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Of her three brothers and one sister, the last one, Willie Schmidt of Plainview, died in June 1978.

MRS. T.H. BOEDEKER was 95 years old Tuesday.

Local Hair Dressers Attend Expo

Pat Cochran and Donna Lipham, hair stylists at Chez Pat in Floydada, attended a hair styling show in San Antonio the weekend of September 15. The event, given by six supply companies, was called 'Expo - 79' and featured the latest in hair styles.

According to fashion writers, "Long hair is back, but not with the stick-straight, ironed look of the '60s or the blowzy frizz of yesterday... This season's fashionable woman controls her tresses with intricate braiding or soft, flattering waves."

PERMANENT PRESS — HOW TO BUY, SEW — Easy-care permanent press fabrics need special buying and sewing "know-how" — to avoid possible problems.

CHOOSING PATTERNS — For permanent press — or durable press — fabrics, choose a pattern with few seams and details. Avoid those with topstitching or pleats — or sharp creases or long zippers in straight seams. Consider designs with button closures instead of zippers.

Bias darts and seams look better than straight ones which tend to pucker.

CHOOSING FABRIC — Buy only fabrics that are on-grain, since permanent press fabrics cannot be straightened.

Make sure the crosswise grain is at a right angle to the selvage.

Avoid fabrics with uneven color or strong chemical odor.

Examine the fold made when the fabric was rolled onto the bolt. Since the fold may be impossible to press out, be sure the garment design avoids using the fold.

Also, look for fabrics with soil-release finishes aid stain removal in laundering.

Finally, ask for care labels with the fabric. Sew them to the garment for reference.

CHOOSING NOTIONS — Select permanent press interfacing and trims, washable buttons and notions with the same easy-care qualities as the fabric.

PRESHRINK FABRIC, NOTIONS — Before cutting, preshrink all fabrics, trims and zippers — by following the fabric's washing and drying instructions.

LAYOUT AND CUTTING — If a plaid or repeat design is off-grain, place the pattern so it follows the design rather than the grainline.

Otherwise, lay out the

BY MRS. CLYDE BAGWELL

September 24 — Talking around over the community we found some farmers have their wheat sown, but most think it is a bit too early. We are having lovely Indian summer weather at the time. Last week we had some rather cool fall nights, but by the calendar, fall began Sunday September 23.

We sympathize with the family of Elbert Parks, whose funeral was held Saturday afternoon at Calvary Baptist Church at 2:30. We have known the Parks family nearly 50 years.

Ricky Upton of West Texas State at Canyon, and Lyn Allen of L.C.C. of Lubbock opens the weekend with Ricky's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Blum. Ricky and Lyn are residents of Los Alamos, New Mexico, when they are not in college.
